AUTHOR'S PREFACE.

When in 1889 I brought out the part of my work containing the account of Noun Morphology, I had in my mind, and partly on paper, a simpler plan for the remainder of the work than that which the reader has before him. I meant it to include the presentation of the forms of declension and conjugation, and little more. In view of the confusion and uncertainty that reigned in this department, where many questions of origin and history seemed utterly unsettled, I then thought it best to restrict the work to these limits; and I only hoped that perhaps after the lapse of years, if a second edition should be called for, the further developement of a science which had already made such rapid progress would have put me in a position to give a practical and useful history of Noun and Verb Inflexion. But in the course of my work I was gradually converted from this pessimism; the difficulties no longer seemed insurmountable; and I at length decided to attempt a more complete account, not merely exhibiting the results of the different developements, but even now as far as possible tracing their course. Thus the work grew; and thus it comes about that the size of the latter part is so greatly out of proportion to that of the former.

In giving up my first plan, I was influenced not a little by my belief, that from a comprehensive work such as this,

AUTHOR'S PREFACE.

When in 1889 I brought out the part of my work containing the account of Noun Morphology, I had in my mind, and partly on paper, a simpler plan for the remainder of the work than that which the reader has before him. I meant it to include the presentation of the forms of declension and conjugation, and little more. In view of the confusion and uncertainty that reigned in this department, where many questions of origin and history seemed utterly unsettled, I then thought it best to restrict the work to these limits; and I only hoped that perhaps after the lapse of years, if a second edition should be called for, the further developement of a science which had already made such rapid progress would have put me in a position to give a practical and useful history of Noun and Verb Inflection. But in the course of my work I was gradually converted from this pessimism; the difficulties no longer seemed insurmountable; and I at length decided to attempt a more complete account, not merely exhibiting the results of the different developments, but even now as far as possible tracing their course. Thus the work grew; and thus it comes about that the size of the latter part is so greatly out of proportion to that of the former.

a work in which it is sought to present the facts and problems of language in connected form, more might reasonably be expected than what I had at first proposed. A student might fairly ask that the many questions which await an answer should not be simply avoided, but that some honest attempt should be made to advance a step towards their answering. It must surely be useful that he should not only read that which can be called certain, not only be taught well established facts, but that he should at the same time find the various problems and puzzles, with which the study of Indo-Germanic inflexion abounds, at least briefly mentioned and conveniently arranged. So will the scholar guard best against the mistake which not the best scholar is wholly free from, the danger that in trying to bring order and light into his palace of knowledge, he may leave some dark riddle unattempted, and only move it from one corner to another. If amidst these shifting theories I have often taken a decided stand, and declared myself for one or other of them, adding therewithal other and many new views and explanations, I am yet far from believing that I have placed beyond all doubt the view which I have preferred. In these matters to indicate a path for future research or simply to establish a prima facie case is far harder than most people think; and many a theory which seemed to be fixt on the firmest foundation and to offer no point to attack, has been broken down in the end. I can only hope that the mistakes which these volumes must inevitably contain, may help to supply the means for their own correction.

A few of my readers perhaps may wonder why certain new and some very recent theories upon Ablaut, proethnic Accent, formation of Roots and Suffixes, and other such matters, have in these last volumes been either altogether disregarded or only just glanced at. A good deal of the most recent work I would indeed have included in this last volume but that it had to be finished in 1891.¹⁾ In other cases I saw before me hypotheses, which attractive as they are, and fruitful as they may prove to be, at the time of their publication were too slightly worked out by their authors, and had been too little tested to allow of my making them the basis of my own account. In this volume I have practically not touched the newest theories of Ablaut; I confess that I approach the glib and symmetrical systems of Ablaut Series (cp. Bartholomae in Bezzenberger's Beiträge, xvii 105) with very little confidence, and I must refer to what is said on this matter in Vol. I § 309. Even a question of Verb Morphology so important as the form of proethnic Roots (whether they were monosyllabic or not) I have left on one side; I believe neither the one thing nor the other, but only that in the present state of our knowledge we can know nothing about it. If in spite of this I have used hyphens freely, I would remind the reader that the hyphen means a real point of composition in such words as Διός-κουροι, τοῦ-το, ἀνα-βάλλω, ἔ-φερον, but in ἄγ-ο-μεν or ῥέθ-ο-μεν it only shows the etymological and morphological likeness of certain elements. And though I now as ever call -ο- in ἄγ-ο-μεν a suffix, I do not thereby commit myself to the statement that such elements were originally independent words. See I § 14 pp. 16 ff., II § 8 pp. 18 ff.

Whether in all these things I have been so happy as to hit the golden mean, scholars must decide. Bearing in mind

1) Since then I have had to do without any systematic examination and use of the new works which keep streaming in, or my book would never have come to an end. Only now and then have even the more important works been used, such as those of Bartholomae, Bechtel, Buck, Johansson, G. Meyer, Per Persson, von Planta, W. Schulze, Streitberg, and others; Streitberg's work Zur Germanischen Sprachgeschichte first reached me (in proof sheets) after my book was in print as far as the Additions and Corrections; in these I was able to make reference to it. However, I was glad to observe that I am in agreement with many others in matters not a few.

the paramount object of this work. I would rather be blamed for giving too little space to the newest speculations than give any reason for the reproach that I have allowed them too much.

A word is necessary as to the principle on which the labours of my fellow-workers have been cited or not cited in the text. Compliments have not been wanting that in giving various theories and views I have not always given the name of him who first suggested them, or mentioned others who before me had thought of much the same thing. My principle has been as a rule not to mention the originator of each view, or all those who ante me mea scripsere, except in such cases as Verner's Law, which I mention under his name. My book does not in the least aspire to be a compendious history of the new school of philology, or to display the part each of us has taken in the gathering of the spoil. Where reference is made in the text to the works of other scholars, this is done for practical ends and no other.

In these last two volumes I have had from Thurneysen the same generous and ready help as before in all that refers to Keltic. Here, as before, the reference to his advice in a few special paragraphs does not in any degree express my obligation to his aid. If the treatment of Irish questions (for I have rarely touched on the British dialects) is at all on a level with recent research, and sometimes even carried beyond it, this is due to Thurneysen. But I must again beg that he be not held responsible for any errors I may have made in using his communications, or for anything but the paragraphs in which his own words are given. I have also to thank Hübschmann for a number of communications on Armenian.

In the text a number of corrections (mostly in unimportant details) have been silently made, which I have received from reviews and from private letters of fellow-scholars,¹⁾ among whom I would specially name Messrs. Conway, Holthausen, Leskien, Leumann, Osthoff, and Rouse. More detailed additions which should bring the first parts of the work up to date, I am obliged to forego, since thanks to the rapid progress of our science, whole paragraphs and pages would have to be remodelled. Naturally enough I am now in a position to improve upon many of the views I formerly exprest, particularly in the Phonology (Vol. I) publisht six years ago. Some of these I have expressly corrected, some tacitly. The reader should therefore consult in each case the explanation which I have given latest.

LEIPZIG, July 2. 1892.

K. BRUGMANN.

1) Lith. galù ('I can') and the like forms are not misprints or oversights; see I § 26 p. 29. To avoid misunderstanding, I again call attention to the fact that while for (Ger. aus) denotes a regular phonetic connexion, instead of (Ger. für), denotes analogical substitution. Thus "φιλούμεν for φιλόμεν", but "Att. δαίμοσι instead of pr. Gr. δαίμα-σι*".

TRANSLATORS' PREFACE.

The List of Additions and Corrections given in the concluding part of the German edition have been here put in their proper place in the text. Some few alterations have also been made, with Prof. Brugmann's sanction, by way of making clear what from its terseness might have been misunderstood. A list of misprints is given, but I fear there must be others: I hope that these will be forgiven, in view of the exceeding difficulty of correcting proof with so many different diacritical marks.

It may be well to point out that the word "Reduplicator" has been used as equivalent to Reduplicating Syllable or Syllable of Reduplication; and that "Phrase" has been extended to apply to a short complete sentence which fuses into a single word, as ferē-lam, dātāsmi (see page 444).

In this volume as before I have to thank Mr. Conway for valuable help.

The Indices are nearly ready, and it is hoped they may be published along with this volume, or at least with small delay thereafter.

AUTHOR'S PREFACE.

When in 1889 I brought out the part of my work containing the account of Noun Morphology, I had in my mind, and partly on paper, a simpler plan for the remainder of the work than that which the reader has before him. I meant it to include the presentation of the forms of declension and conjugation, and little more. In view of the confusion and uncertainty that reigned in this department, where many questions of origin and history seemed utterly unsettled, I then thought it best to restrict the work to these limits; and I only hoped that perhaps after the lapse of years, if a second edition should be called for, the further developement of a science which had already made such rapid progress would have put me in a position to give a practical and useful history of Noun and Verb Inflexion. But in the course of my work I was gradually converted from this pessimism; the difficulties no longer seemed insurmountable; and I at length decided to attempt a more complete account, not merely exhibiting the results of the different developements, but even now as far as possible tracing their course. Thus the work grew; and thus it comes about that the size of the latter part is so greatly out of proportion to that of the former.

a work in which it is sought to present the facts and problems of language in connected form, more might reasonably be expected than what I had at first proposed. A student might fairly ask that the many questions which await an answer should not be simply avoided, but that some honest attempt should be made to advance a step towards their answering. It must surely be useful that he should not only read that which can be called certain, not only be taught well established facts, but that he should at the same time find the various problems and puzzles, with which the study of Indo-Germanic inflexion abounds, at least briefly mentioned and conveniently arranged. So will the scholar guard best against the mistake which not the best scholar is wholly free from, the danger that in trying to bring order and light into his palace of knowledge, he may leave some dark riddle unattempted, and only move it from one corner to another. If amidst these shifting theories I have often taken a decided stand, and declared myself for one or other of them, adding therewithal other and many new views and explanations, I am yet far from believing that I have placed beyond all doubt the view which I have preferred. In these matters to indicate a path for future research or simply to establish a prima facie case is far harder than most people think; and many a theory which seemed to be fixt on the firmest foundation and to offer no point to attack, has been broken down in the end. I can only hope that the mistakes which these volumes must inevitably contain, may help to supply the means for their own correction.

A few of my readers perhaps may wonder why certain new and some very recent theories upon Ablaut, proethnic Accent, formation of Roots and Suffixes, and other such matters, have in these last volumes been either altogether disregarded or only just glanced at. A good deal of the most recent work I would indeed have included in this last volume but that it had to be finished in 1891.¹⁾ In other cases I saw before me hypotheses, which attractive as they are, and fruitful as they may prove to be, at the time of their publication were too slightly worked out by their authors, and had been too little tested to allow of my making them the basis of my own account. In this volume I have practically not touched the newest theories of Ablaut; I confess that I approach the glib and symmetrical systems of Ablaut Series (cp. Bartholomae in Bezzenberger's Beiträge, xvii 105) with very little confidence, and I must refer to what is said on this matter in Vol. I § 309. Even a question of Verb Morphology so important as the form of proethnic Roots (whether they were monosyllabic or not) I have left on one side; I believe neither the one thing nor the other, but only that in the present state of our knowledge we can know nothing about it. If in spite of this I have used hyphens freely, I would remind the reader that the hyphen means a real point of composition in such words as Διόσ-κouroi, τοῦ-το, ἀνα-βάλλω, ἔ-φερον, but in ἄγ-ο-μεν or φέρ-ο-μεν it only shows the etymological and morphological likeness of certain elements. And though I now as ever call -o- in ἄγ-ο-μεν a suffix, I do not thereby commit myself to the statement that such elements were originally independent words. See I § 14 pp. 16 ff., II § 8 pp. 18 ff.

Whether in all these things I have been so happy as to hit the golden mean, scholars must decide. Bearing in mind

1) Since then I have had to do without any systematic examination and use of the new works which keep streaming in, or my book would never have come to an end. Only now and then have even the more important works been used, such as those of Bartholomae, Bechtel, Buck, Johansson, G. Meyer, Per Persson, von Planta, W. Schulze, Streitberg, and others; Streitberg's work Zur Germanischen Sprachgeschichte first reached me (in proof sheets) after my book was in print as far as the Additions and Corrections; in these I was able to make reference to it. However, I was glad to observe that I am in agreement with many others in matters not a few.

the paramount object of this work, I would rather be blamed for giving too little space to the newest speculations than give any reason for the reproach that I have allowed them too much.

A word is necessary as to the principle on which the labours of my fellow-workers have been cited or not cited in the text. Complaints have not been wanting that in giving various theories and views I have not always given the name of him who first suggested them, or mentioned others who before me had thought of much the same thing. My principle has been as a rule not to mention the originator of each view, or all those who ante me mea scripsere, except in such cases as Verner's Law, which I mention under his name. My book does not in the least aspire to be a compendious history of the new school of philology, or to display the part each of us has taken in the gathering of the spoil. Where reference is made in the text to the works of other scholars, this is done for practical ends and no other.

In these last two volumes I have had from Thurneysen the same generous and ready help as before in all that refers to Keltic. Here, as before, the reference to his advice in a few special paragraphs does not in any degree express my obligation to his aid. If the treatment of Irish questions (for I have rarely touched on the British dialects) is at all on a level with recent research, and sometimes even carried beyond it, this is due to Thurneysen. But I must again beg that he be not held responsible for any errors I may have made in using his communications, or for anything but the paragraphs in which his own words are given. I have also to thank Hübschmann for a number of communications on Armenian.

In the text a number of corrections (mostly in unimportant details) have been silently made, which I have received from reviews and from private letters of fellow-scholars,¹⁾ among whom I would specially name Messrs. Conway, Holthausen, Leskien, Leumann, Osthoff, and Rouse. More detailed additions which should bring the first parts of the work up to date, I am obliged to forego, since thanks to the rapid progress of our science, whole paragraphs and pages would have to be remodelled. Naturally enough I am now in a position to improve upon many of the views I formerly express, particularly in the Phonology (Vol. I) published six years ago. Some of these I have expressly corrected, some tacitly. The reader should therefore consult in each case the explanation which I have given latest.

LEIPZIG, July 2. 1892.

K. BRUGMANN.

1) Lith. galù ('I can') and the like forms are not misprints or oversights; see I § 26 p. 29. To avoid misunderstanding, I again call attention to the fact that while for (Ger. aus) denotes a regular phonetic connexion, instead of (Ger. für), denotes analogical substitution. Thus "φιλούμεν for φιλιούμεν", but "Att. δαίμονι instead of pr. Gr. δαίμα-σι*".

TRANSLATORS PREFACE.

The List of Additions and Corrections given in the concluding part of the German edition have been here put in their proper place in the text. Some few alterations have also been made, with Prof. Brugmann's sanction, by way of making clear what from its terseness might have been misunderstood. A list of misprints is given, but I fear there must be others: I hope that these will be forgiven, in view of the exceeding difficulty of correcting proof with so many different diacritic marks.

It may be well to point out that the word "Reduplicator" has been used as equivalent to Reduplicating Syllable or Syllable of Reduplication; and that "Phrase" has been extended to apply to a short complete sentence which fuses into a single word, as ferē-jam, dātāmi (see page 444).

In this volume as before I have to thank Mr. Conway for valuable help.

The Indices are nearly ready, and it is hoped they may be published along with this volume, or at least with small delay thereafter.

The list of Additions and Corrections given in the concluding part of the German edition have been here put in their proper place in the text. Some few alterations have also been made, with Prof. Brugmann's sanction, by way of making clear what from its terseness might have been misunderstood. A list of misprints is given, but I fear there must be others; I hope that these will be forgiven, in view of the exceeding difficulty of correcting proof with so many different diacritic marks.

It may be well to point out that the word "Reduplicator" has been used as equivalent to Reduplicating Syllable or Syllable of Reduplication; and that "Phrase" has been extended to apply to a short complete sentence which fuses into a single word, as ferē-bam, dātāsmi (see page 444).

In this volume as before I have to thank Mr. Conway for valuable help.

The Indices are nearly ready, and it is hoped they may be published along with this volume, or at least with small delay thereafter.

AUTHOR'S PREFACE.

When in 1889 I brought out the part of my work containing the account of Noun Morphology, I had in my mind, and partly on paper, a simpler plan for the remainder of the work than that which the reader has before him. I meant it to include the presentation of the forms of declension and conjugation, and little more. In view of the confusion and uncertainty that reigned in this department, where many questions of origin and history seemed utterly unsettled, I then thought it best to restrict the work to these limits; and I only hoped that perhaps after the lapse of years, if a second edition should be called for, the further developement of a science which had already made such rapid progress would have put me in a position to give a practical and useful history of Noun and Verb Inflexion. But in the course of my work I was gradually converted from this pessimism; the difficulties no longer seemed insurmountable; and I at length decided to attempt a more complete account, not merely exhibiting the results of the different developements, but even now as far as possible tracing their course. Thus the work grew; and thus it comes about that the size of the latter part is so greatly out of proportion to that of the former.

a work in which it is sought to present the facts and problems of language in connected form, more might reasonably be expected than what I had at first proposed. A student might fairly ask that the many questions which await an answer should not be simply avoided, but that some honest attempt should be made to advance a step towards their answering. It must surely be useful that he should not only read that which can be called certain, not only be taught well established facts, but that he should at the same time find the various problems and puzzles, with which the study of Indo-Germanic inflexion abounds, at least briefly mentioned and conveniently arranged. So will the scholar guard best against the mistake which not the best scholar is wholly free from, the danger that in trying to bring order and light into his palace of knowledge, he may leave some dark riddle unattempted, and only move it from one corner to another. If amidst these shifting theories I have often taken a decided stand, and declared myself for one or other of them, adding therewithal other and many new views and explanations, I am yet far from believing that I have placed beyond all doubt the view which I have preferred. In these matters to indicate a path for future research or simply to establish a prima facie case is far harder than most people think; and many a theory which seemed to be fixt on the firmest foundation and to offer no point to attack, has been broken down in the end. I can only hope that the mistakes which these volumes must inevitably contain, may help to supply the means for their own correction.

A few of my readers perhaps may wonder why certain new and some very recent theories upon Ablaut, proethnic Accent, formation of Roots and Suffixes, and other such matters, have in these last volumes been either altogether disregarded or only just glanced at. A good deal of the most recent work I would indeed have included in this last volume but that it had to be finished in 1891.¹⁾ In other cases I saw before me hypotheses, which attractive as they are, and fruitful as they may prove to be, at the time of their publication were too slightly worked out by their authors, and had been too little tested to allow of my making them the basis of my own account. In this volume I have practically not touched the newest theories of Ablaut; I confess that I approach the glib and symmetrical systems of Ablaut Series (cp. Bartholomae in Bezzenberger's Beiträge, xvii 105) with very little confidence, and I must refer to what is said on this matter in Vol. I § 309. Even a question of Verb Morphology so important as the form of proethnic Roots (whether they were monosyllabic or not) I have left on one side; I believe neither the one thing nor the other, but only that in the present state of our knowledge we can know nothing about it. If in spite of this I have used hyphens freely, I would remind the reader that the hyphen means a real point of composition in such words as Διός-κονροι, τοῦ-το, ἀνα-βάλλω, ἔ-φερον, but in ἄγ-ο-μεν or φέρ-ο-μεν it only shows the etymological and morphological likeness of certain elements. And though I now as ever call -ο- in ἄγ-ο-μεν a suffix, I do not thereby commit myself to the statement that such elements were originally independent words. See I § 14 pp. 16 ff., II § 8 pp. 18 ff.

Whether in all these things I have been so happy as to hit the golden mean, scholars must decide. Bearing in mind

1) Since then I have had to do without any systematic examination and use of the new works which keep streaming in, or my book would never have come to an end. Only now and then have even the more important works been used, such as those of Bartholomae, Bechtel, Buck, Johansson, G. Meyer, Per Persson, von Planta, W. Schulze, Streitberg, and others; Streitberg's work Zur Germanischen Sprachgeschichte first reached me (in proof sheets) after my book was in print as far as the Additions and Corrections; in these I was able to make reference to it. However, I was glad to observe that I am in agreement with many others in matters not a few.

the paramount object of this work, I would rather be blamed for giving too little space to the newest speculations than give any reason for the reproach that I have allowed them too much.

A word is necessary as to the principle on which the labours of my fellow-workers have been cited or not cited in the text. Complaints have not been wanting that in giving various theories and views I have not always given the name of him who first suggested them, or mentioned others who before me had thought of much the same thing. My principle has been as a rule not to mention the originator of each view, or all those who ante me mea scripsere, except in such cases as Verner's Law, which I mention under his name. My book does not in the least aspire to be a compendious history of the new school of philology, or to display the part each of us has taken in the gathering of the spoil. Where reference is made in the text to the works of other scholars, this is done for practical ends and no other.

In these last two volumes I have had from Thurneysen the same generous and ready help as before in all that refers to Keltic. Here, as before, the reference to his advice in a few special paragraphs does not in any degree express my obligation to his aid. If the treatment of Irish questions (for I have rarely touched on the British dialects) is at all on a level with recent research, and sometimes even carried beyond it, this is due to Thurneysen. But I must again beg that he be not held responsible for any errors I may have made in using his communications, or for anything but the paragraphs in which his own words are given. I have also to thank Hübschmann for a number of communications on Armenian.

In the text a number of corrections (mostly in unimportant details) have been silently made, which I have received from reviews and from private letters of fellow-scholars,¹⁾ among whom I would specially name Messrs. Conway, Holthausen, Leskien, Leumann, Osthoff, and Rouse. More detailed additions which should bring the first parts of the work up to date, I am obliged to forego, since thanks to the rapid progress of our science, whole paragraphs and pages would have to be remodelled. Naturally enough I am now in a position to improve upon many of the views I formerly exprest, particularly in the Phonology (Vol. I) publisht six years ago. Some of these I have expressly corrected, some tacitly. The reader should therefore consult in each case the explanation which I have given latest.

LEIPZIG, July 2. 1892.

K. BRUGMANN.

1) Lith. galù ('I can') and the like forms are not misprints or oversights; see I § 26 p. 29. To avoid misunderstanding, I again call attention to the fact that while for (Ger. aus) denotes a regular phonetic connexion, instead of (Ger. für), denotes analogical substitution. Thus "φιλούμεν for φιλέμεν", but "Att. δαίμονι instead of pr. Gr. δαίμα-σι*".

Works dealing specially with the formation of Tense or Mood, or of Persons, and so forth, will be cited below in their proper place.

the first personal pronoun). Personal endings make the chief difference between Verbs and Nouns or Pronouns.

But it would be a mistake to explain all the Indo-Germanic personal endings which we find actually used as being without exception personal pronouns. Once the Verb was created by aid of real personal pronouns, forms of different origin might be associated with it, and used as though they had a personal pronoun tacked on to the end. In this way, to take an example, the Latin participial form legi-minī = Gr. λεγόμενοι -μεναι was associated with the indicative legor etc. (see II § 71 p. 165); and the Romans felt no difference between -minī and -mur or -ntur. Again, many different languages employ infinitive forms, which are cases of nomina actionis, as imperatives used of a particular person. In the same way it is probable that some of the personal endings which have come down from the parent language were not really personal pronouns to begin with.

Another point is to be noticed. There are some forms without any personal ending at all which have been used like genuine verbal forms from the parent language onwards. The 2nd sing. imperative pr. Idg. bhere* (= Skr. bhāra Gr. φείρε etc.) is simply the present stem. It must be a survival from the time when tense-stems could be used as independent words. Undoubtedly bhere* had at first a wider use, which narrowed by degrees to the use which it must have had ever since the end of the proethnic period. In the end, the form was quite clearly marked off from all others of its verbal system by the absence of any inflexion, in the same way as the voc. ἦππε or the nom. χίρῳ were distinguished from all other of their associated cases (see III § 186 pp. 62, 63).

Remark. Although personal endings were a sine qua non for the use of a verb form as an ordinary sentence (except bhere* and a few others like it), or as a copula in a sentence, still a sentence could exist without them. At all periods, the Indo-Germanic languages have used sentences that had no finite verb at all. See Paul, *Principien*² pp. 99 ff.

§ 462. The Verb Infinite consisted of noun forms, chiefly nomina agentis or actionis. The difference between these and nouns in the ordinary sense is that these share in certain verbal peculiarities; they have tense, they distinguish between momentary, continuous, or inceptive actions, they have voice, and can govern nouns. The participles were already a large and ramifying group in the parent language; and time has brought about no important change in them. But most of the forms classed as infinitives have arisen since the protothnic period came to an end.

The distinction between the finite verb and the verb infinite is not always kept; for, as we saw in § 461, forms of the latter kind sometimes came to be used in the same way as forms with genuine personal endings. Nor is a line always drawn between the verb infinite and nouns; this we saw in vol. II § 144 pp. 456 f., and § 156 pp. 470 f.

The forms of the Verb Infinite have been discussed under the head of Stem-Formation and Inflexion, so far at least as concerns their formative and inflexional suffixes. We have now to examine the points which mark them as members of a verbal system, connecting, for example, λείπων with λείπω, λιπών with έλιπον, λείψων with λείψω. But for convenience' sake verbal nouns will be only cited now and then while we deal with the various groups of the verb infinite, and the whole of them will be afterwards collected and examined in detail.

Verbal Compounds, such as would be formed by joining a real verb-stem to a form of the finite verb, and would answer to O.Pers. hama-pita = Gr. όμο-πάτωρ among noun compounds, never existed as a distinct category, either in the later stages of the parent language, or since. The only exceptions are reduplicated verb forms such as Skr. dár-darti 'he bursts, breaks to pieces', so far as these can rightly be called compounds (§ 464). We must however not forget that the reduplication of uninflected "roots" was certainly older, on the whole, than the fusion of roots with personal pronouns into verbal forms.

Whether the tense sign -s- in Gr. δείκ-σω ἔ-δεικ-σα etc. was the verb subst. es-; whether -dh- in Skr. sā-dhati Gr. ἔσθω (√ed-) ἔ-σχε-θον O.C.Sl. i-dā etc. is the verb dhē- 'τιθέναι'; and whether these originally acted as auxiliaries, are questions which must be left alone. Even if this be the truth about them, they must have sunk to the level of inflexions long before the end of the proethnic period, and they could no longer be the type for compounds consisting of verb + verb.

Nor do we find in the periods for which there is direct evidence either noun stems compounded with genuine verb forms, or genuine verbal stems compounded with nouns. We cannot class under the second head words like Gr. ἀρχέ-κακος (from ἄρχω), ἐπιχαυρέ-κακος (from ἐπιχαίρω), Στησ-αγούρης (from ἔ-στησα), H.G. wetz-stein 'whetstone' melk-fass 'milkpail' (from wetze, melke). These are due merely to a perversion or interpretative corruption, and the imitation of older compounds which had a noun stem for the first member. They are not real compounds of a verbal stem with a noun. See II § 30 pp. 51 ff., § 41 pp. 74 f., § 47 p. 86.¹⁾

Forms of the finite verb are clearly seen in composition only in the following classes of words; and here too one of the two parts has usually sunk to a kind of suffix or prefix.

1. A Verb form is compounded with Adverbial words; as Gr. ἄν-εἰμι Lat. ab-eo, Lat. ne-scio, pr. Idg. é-dh̥om* = Gr. ἔ-δοκον (I regard the augment as a temporal particle); Pruss. quoitī-lai 'he may wish, he might wish', pr. Idg. bhéret-u* Skr. bhārat-u, — and also -i in bhéret-i* bhéres-i* (beside bhéret* bhéres*) was probably a demonstrative particle.

1) There is a new essay by W. Christ, Abhängigkeitskomposita des Griechischen, Berichte der k. bayer. Akad., 1890 pp. 187 ff. I cannot agree with the theory for which Christ takes up the cudgels again (pp. 184 ff.), that Ἀγέ-λαος arose from the imperative phrase ἄγε λείον, and that ἀρχι-θύωρος came from ἄρχε-θύωρος; by phonetic change of e to i.

2. A Verb form is compounded with a Case, being itself the final member of the compound. The case, at the time of combination, was either a living case, or some kind of infinitive. Examples: Skr. dātāsmi (periphrastic future) for dātāsmi 'dator sum', Lat. possum for potis sum, vēnun-do vēnum-do pessun-do, Lat. arē-bam arē-facio O.C.Sl. nesē-achu (III § 275 p. 177), Fr. aimerai (O.Fr. amerai) for amāre habeo, Lith. opt. 1st pl. sùktum-bime, etc.

The line between these two classes is not absolutely fixed, as we see from such words as Skr. astam-ēti 'goes down' (of the sun), which has for its first part āsta-m 'to one's house, home'.

Remark. There is no class of Verbal Compounds answering to Class I of Noun Compounds (ὁμο-πάτωρ), which might have been a model for later formations. It seems therefore best not to give a special chapter to Verb Compounds, as was done to Nouns, but to describe the various kinds in the place they most naturally come, along with the Tenses, the Personal Endings, or as it may be.

One point, however, should be touched on here. It is a matter of wider interest, and well illustrates an important principle of word-formation. When a sentence becomes a single word, it may be treated like a simple word, and it may be inflected or otherwise modified just as the simple word can. Lith. dū-k 'give' eĩ-k 'go' (both imperative), consisting of the 2nd sing. dū* (cp. Lat. ce-do) and ei* + the particle -k, are the foundation for a 2nd pl. dūkite, eĩkite etc.; and again eĩksz 'come here', which itself is eĩ-k + szē 'here', produced eĩksz-te. Pruss. quoitĩ-lai 'he might wish' (lai = O.C.Sl. li 'vel, aut') suggested the 2nd sing. quoitĩ-lai-si and 2nd pl. quoitĩlai-ti. Slav. daj-mi and Mod. Gr. δός-μου 'give me' produced the 2nd pl. daj-mi-te and δός-ου-τε. Of the same kind were Gr. 3rd pl. ἀγέρω-ν ἀγέρω-σαν (2nd sing. ἄγερτω-ς Hesych). Lat. 2nd pl. agitō-te, since Idg. aġe-tōd* was a compound of the imperative aġe* with the adv. (abl.) tōd* 'thence, then'. Also, according to Osthoff and Bugge, Gr. δεδώκαυεν δεδώκατε; they explain δεδώκε as δεδω* = Skr. dadā(u) + the particle κ = Lat. ce in cedo. Analogous forms of nouns or pronouns are: Gr. οὔτο-ς αὐτῇ acc. τοὔτο-ν Boeot. οὔτο-ν etc., formed from the nom. ōv-to* av-to*, whose second part was a particle (cf. O.C.Sl. kū-to 'who'), see II § 4 p. 9, III § 415 p. 337; Mid. Ir. instr. pl. donafī-b built up on O.Ir. donaiib-(h)í, see footnote on page 357; O.H.G. gen. deses dat. desemo following de-se 'this' with the particle se, see III § 414 pp. 335 f.; Skr. dat. asmā-bhṡyam Lesb. nom. ἄμμε-ς following acc. us-me* (Lesb. ἄμμε) with the particle sme, see § 436 pp. 367 f., § 443 p. 379; Pol. gen. sing. sztukamięsy following nom. sztukamięsa 'a piece of meat', where mięsa is the gen. of mięso.

REDUPLICATED VERB-FORMS.

Reduplication, the repetition of a word or other element of speech with the same grammatical force, to express that an action or state is repeated, or to intensify it, is certainly older than the modes of forming cases or parts of the finite verb which we actually see in use. It had at first no special connexion with either verbs or nouns, but was used with both; verb types such as Skr. dár-dar-ti 'it bursts, breaks up' da-dhṛṣ-imá 'we have ventured' ci-kít-ē 'he knows', and noun types like Skr. dar-dar-a-s 'broken' da-dhṛṣ-á-s 'venturesome, bold' ci-kít 'knowing' may have been formed quite independently of each other. Compare II § 6 pp. 12 ff., § 51 ff. pp. 94 ff.¹⁾

Root reduplication in verbs came to be very important, and this very early in the history of the parent language, because it was turned to account in the formation of tenses.

1) Works on Reduplication in general have been cited in the footnote to vol. II page 12. On Verbal Reduplication see the following. A. It was used to distinguish various kinds of action, and also the time at which the action took place. For these purposes Reduplication was very widely used, not only in the parent language but in most of its offshoots far on into the historical period. The wide use of verbal reduplication gave great impulse to similar reduplication in nouns. Noun-reduplication was at first a principle not very active or far-reaching; but thus reinforced it lasted much longer than it would have done, and in later times, under the influence of reduplicated forms in the verb infinite, reduplicated noun-forms appeared again where the proethnic reduplicated type had lost all its reproductive power. Examples are Gr. κρηρᾶν-μός (Eur.) κρηρᾶν-μα (Aristoph.) 'cry, outcry', κρηρᾶν-της 'one who cries aloud' (Aristoph.) beside κρηρᾶν-ός κρηρᾶν-α, πειρᾶν-της 'trust' (Josephus, Philo) beside πειρᾶν-ός πειρᾶν-α, Mod.H.G. zitterig 'tremulous' beside zittere 'I tremble' = pr. Germ. ti-trō-mi*.

§ 465. The following Idg. types may be distinguished, according to the form of the reduplication:

I. Root-syllable and reduplication-syllable show the same vowel, or two ablaut-grades of the same vowel.

a. The Root begins and end in a consonant, and the syllable of reduplication, or Reduplicator, ends in a consonant which is taken from the final of the Root (we count as consonants the second part of the diphthongs ai au and so forth). Of this there are three varieties; the first being a fairly exact reduplication, the second replacing a liquid by a nasal in the reduplicator, and the third inserting ī.

1. Aryan. Sanskrit bad-badhé 3rd sing. of badh- 'press'. dār-dar-ṣi 2nd sing. of dar- (√der-) 'split, break', tar-tūr-ya- 3rd pl. of tar- (√ter-) 'pass over', vār-vṛt-ati 3rd pl. of vart- (√uert-) 'vertere', mar-mṛj-yá-tē 3rd sing. of marj- (√merg-) 'wipe'. jan-ghan-ti 3rd sing. of han- (√ghen-) 'strike, kill', nam-namī-ti 3rd sing. of nam- (√nem-) 'bend', dán-daś-āna-s partic. of dāś- (√da'ñk-) 'bite', jañ-jabh-yá-tē 3rd sing. of jambh- (√ġembh-) 'snap'. vē-vē-ti 3rd sing. of vī- 'appetere', vē-vī-ya-tē 3rd sing. of vī- 'flutter', nē-nik-tē 3rd sing. of nij- ($\sqrt{neig-}$) 'wash'. nō-nu-mas 1st pl. of nu- 'cry out', cō-škū-yā-tē 3rd sing. of sku- 'cover', šō-šuc-āna-s partic. of šuc- 'light, brighten', a-nō-nud-ya-nta 3rd pl. of nud- 'push'. Avestic car°-ker°-mahī 1st pl. of kar- 'think of' (Skr. imper. ca-kṛ-dhi). daē-dōiš-t 3rd sing. of dis- ($\sqrt{deik-}$) 'show' (Skr. 3rd sing. dē-diṣ-tē). zao-zao-mī 1st sing. of zu- 'call' (Skr. jō-havī-mi).

Greek πορ-φύρω 'I move restlessly' for -φύρω*: cp. Skr. jār-bhurī-ti 'moves convulsively, throbs, palpitates'. μυρ-μύρω 'I roar, murmur' for -μύρω*: cp. Lat. murmurāre, O.H.G. murmurōn (§ 595). γαρ-γαίρω 'I swarm' for -γαρρω* (γάργαρα neut. pl. 'swarm'). γαγ-γαίνειν 'τὸ μετὰ γέλωτος προσπαίζειν' Hesych. (Schmidt conjectures γαγγανεύειν): cp. O.C.Sl. ga-gnaja 'I murmur, growl' (adj. gagnivŭ). παμ-φαίνω 'I shine clearly' for -φανρω*, Epic partic. παμφανόων; the root was bha-, and the nasal of the verb was therefore a present-suffix, see §§ 601, 611. ἄττω Hom. αἶσσω 'rush, run at something' i. e. fai-fix-ρω* (I § 96 p. 90, § 131 pp. 119 f.) may be connected with Skr. vē-vij-yā-tē (vij- 'quicken, burst out') by assuming an Idg. ua^hiq-ua^hig- (cp. I § 469. 7 p. 346).

Remark. The origin of ai and oi is obscure in the reduplicating syllable of the following words: μαι-μάω, παι-πάσσω, παι-πάλλω, δαι-δύσασθαι ('ἐλπεσθαι' Hesych.), ποι-φύσσω, ποι-πνύω and others. The i-diphthong recalls a reduplicative i in Skr. bhdri-bhr-ati and in Skr. bi-bhar-ti Gr. γι-γνο-μαι. See § 473 Rem. p. 17.

Latin. mur-murāre (murmur): cp. Gr. μυρμύρω O.H.G. murmurōn. tin-tinnāre tin-tināre, tin-tinnire beside tinnire.

Keltic. Mid.Ir. der-drethar 'there is a sound, or a cry', s-pret. derdrestar, cp. II § 52 pp. 94, 95.

Germanic. O.H.G. mur-murōm mur-mulōm 'I murmur' (Mid.H.G. murmer murmel 'murmur, growl'): cp. Gr. μυρμύρω Lat. murmurāre. O.H.G. rērēm 'I bleat, bellow, roar', pr. Germ. 1st sing. raī-rēiō*, cp. Litt. rėjū 'I bellow'. This verb changed its inflexion on the analogy of verbs like pr. Germ. pulē-iō* (Goth. pula O.H.G. dolēm), see §§ 592, 708, 739; hence A.S. rārian, with the same change to the 2nd weak conjugation as is seen in đolian and some others.

Slavonic. O.C.Sl. glagolja 'I speak' for gol-golja* (gla- golŭ 'word'); mrŭmŭrja 'I gnaw, nibble'; gagnaja 'I murmur, growl', cp. above, Gr. γαγαίνειν.

§ 466. 2. The reduplicating syllable has a Nasal instead of a Liquid; see I § 282 p. 226. Skr. cañ-cūryatē 'moves quickly or repeatedly'. Gr. γογ-γίλλω 'I round' (γόγγυλος 'round'), ρο-ρογιζω 'I murmur'. Lat. gin-grīre.

This nasal reduplication passed on from roots ending in a nasal (see § 465) or a liquid to a few others: as Skr. jañjap-yātē from jap- 'whisper, say half-aloud', dandahīti dandahyatē from dah- 'burn' (which seemed natural in Skr. after such a form as dan-daś- from √deñk- 'bite'), Gr. γογ-γύζω 'I growl'.

§ 467. 3. In Sanskrit, i or ī is often inserted between the reduplicating syllable and the root; the Vedic language has ī before single consonants, i before more than one (compare Wackernagel, Das Dehnungsgesetz, p. 18). E. g. bhāri-bhr-ati 3rd pl. of bhar- 'carry', vārī-vrj-at- partic. of varj- 'turn, twist', ghāni-ghn-at- partic. of han- 'strike, kill', ganī-gan-ti 3rd sing. gāni-gm-at- partic. of gam- 'go', kāni-krad-yā-māna- partic. of krand- 'bellow', nāvī-nō-t 3rd sing. of nu- 'cry out'.

Where -ī- comes after the root syllable, -ī- is never found after the syllable of reduplication; thus we have only nō-narī- and navī-nō-.

Forms with an aspirate at the beginning of the reduplicator, such as bhāri-bhr-ati ghāni-ghn-at-, are the older and are phonetically correct; but those like dāvi-dhv-at- and pānī-phaṇ-at- have been altered, the former from dhāvi-dhv-at-* following dō-dhavī-ti (cp. I § 480 pp. 354 f.), the latter from phānī-phaṇ-at-* following pam-phaṇ-at- (cp. I § 475 p. 350). Thus at a later stage we find barī-bhar-ti instead of bhāri-bhar-ti too.

How to regard this ī is not quite clear. Thus much, however, seems to me certain, that it is the same as an ī, also of varying quantity, which characterises Class III of our reduplicated forms; and I shall give in the Remark to § 473 a conjecture as to its origin.

§ 468. 4. Gr. ἐγρη-γῶσα 'I am awake' has the suffix -ē in the reduplicating syllable after the root (§§ 587 ff.), cp. ἐγρη-σσω 'I am awake', beside ἐγρ-ε-το 'awoke', ἐγείρω 'I arouse' for *ἐγ-ερ-ιω. Perhaps the same -ē is contained in Skr. carā-carā-s 'going far away', ghanā-ghanā-s 'killing easily' and similar words (cp. sarī-srīpā-s 'creeping, crawling' and the like).

§ 469. b. The Root begins and ends in a consonant, and contains an i- or u-diphthong. This diphthong is represented in the reduplicator by i and u sonant, sometimes ī and ū, not followed by any consonant. Skr. bi-bhē-mi 'I fear' 3rd dual bi-bhi-tas partic. bī-bhy-at conj. 3rd sing. bī-bhay-a-t, O.H.G. bi-bē-m 'I shake'. Skr. dī-dhy-ē 'I behold', Avest. dī-ḍaēiti 'beholds'. Skr. pret. a-ci-kṣip-a-t from kṣip- 'throw', a-rī-riṣ-a-t from rīṣ- 'be hurt'. Skr. desid. tī-tik-ṣa-tē from tij- 'be sharp'. Gr. πι-πῖ-σσω 'I give to drink': cp. Skr. 2nd pl. pi-py-a-ta 2nd sing. pī-pi-hi (pī- 'make overflow, give plenty to drink'). δι-ζομαι 'I seek, strive' (orig. 'gaze at something') for δι-δι-ο-μαι* (on δι-ζημι see § 594): cp. Skr. 2nd sing. di-dī-hi 3rd pl. dī-dy-ati, dī- 'shine, be bright' (ācha dī- 'direct one's mind to'). Goth. rei-rái-p 'shakes, trembles': cp. Skr. lē-lāya-ti 'moves, trembles' with reduplication of the type of a (1) above (§ 465); the inflexion reira reirāis etc. is explained by the analogy of verbs like paha 'taceo', see §§ 592, 708, 739. Skr. ju-hó-ti 'offers', pret. a-cu-krudh-a-t from krudh- 'grow angry', a-dū-duṣ-a-t from duṣ- 'grow bad, perish', desid. bu-bhut-sa-ti from budh- 'wake, learn'.

Remark 1. Despite such forms as Skr. ῥι-ῥι-ῥ a-pi-plav-a-m Gr. τι-τύσκειται πινύσκει (cp. II § 52 Rem. p. 97), I yet believe that where the i-roots had originally i in the reduplication, u-roots had u. The palatal consonant in the reduplicator of verbs whose root initial is a velar consonant does not prove that ju-hó-ti is instead of ji-hó-ti*, a-cu-krudh-a-t instead of a-ci-krudh-a-t*, or bu-bhut-sa-ti instead of bi-bhut-sa-ti* (cp. bī-bhar-ti a-pi-sprīṣ-a-t etc., § 473); for ku- may have become cu- on the analogy (say) of a-ci-krad-a-t, and of perfect forms such a cu-krōdha cu-krudhur where cu- is instead of ca-* = Idg. qe-* (cp. Rem. 2).

Remark 2. i or u in the reduplicator of perfects like the following is not original: Skr. ri-réca cu-krōdha i-yāja u-vāca Lat. sci-cidi tu-tudi, O.Ir. ro chuala for cu-clova*, see § 851, 868, 878.

§ 470. c. The Root begins in a sonant and ends in a consonant, and so also the Reduplicator.

1. Roots ending in a single consonant. Skr. ál-ar-ti 'moves', ám-am-a-t 'he was hurt'. Armen. ar-ar-i 'I made' (pres. ar-ne-m), beside Gr. ἀρ-αρ-ίσκω 'I join to', ἤρ-αρ-ο-ν ἀρ-αρ-εῖν; perf. ἄρ-ῖρ-α. Gr. ἡγ-αγ-ο-ν ἀγ-αγ-εῖν from ἄγω 'I lead', ὠρ-ορ-ο-ν ὀρ-ορ-εῖν from ὀρ-ορ-εῖν 'I arouse', perf. ὄρ-ωρ-α 'I have arisen, I move', ὄπ-ωπ-α 'I have seen, see'.

2. Where roots end in two consonants, only the first appears in the reduplicator (cp. Skr. vár-vart-ti from $\sqrt{\text{vart}}$ etc., § 465). Gr. ἄλ-αλκ-ε 'he warded off'. Skr. perf. ān-áśa (pres. aś-nó-ti 'attains' for ñk-*) O.Ir. perf. t-ānac 'I came' (-c for -nc-) Gr. aor. ἐν-εγκ-εῖν 'to bring' (cp. Skr. ānāśu Gr. κατ-ήροκα § 846), Skr. perf. ān-āñja (uñj- 'anoint'). On the analogy of these perfects arose in Sanskrit ān-arca (arc- 'shine, praise'), see § 851.

§ 471. II. The reduplicating syllable ends in e or ē, no matter to what vowel grade the root belongs. This was the kind of reduplication used for the Perfect and for certain classes of the Present and Aorist, both in the parent language and later. I have by no means convinced myself that ē belonged originally only to forms with ē in the root syllable, and that it was the echo of the root; nor that its use with other roots is due to analogy. See § 473, Remark.

First, forms with e short in the reduplication.

Perfect. Skr. ba-bhūva Gr. πε-φύασι, $\sqrt{\text{bhe}}$ 'become, be'. Skr. ta-sthimá Gr. ἔ-σταμεν Lat. ste-timus, $\sqrt{\text{stā}}$ 'stand'. Gr. πέ-πᾶγα πέ-πηγα Lat. pe-pigi Goth. fai-fah, $\sqrt{\text{pāk-}}$ pāg- 'make fast'. Gr. γέ-γενμαι O.Ir. do-roigu for ró-gegu* (§ 878), $\sqrt{\text{gēu}}$ 'taste, try, enjoy'. Gr. λέ-λοιπα, $\sqrt{\text{leiq-}}$ 'leave'. O.Lat. pe-pugl. By late re-formation, as has been pointed out (§ 469, Rem. 2), we get Skr. ri-réca cu-krōdha i-yāja u-vāca Lat. sci-cidi pu-pugi tu-tudi, O.Ir. ro chuala.

Pr. Ar. sa-zd-* (= Avest. hazd-) became Skr. sēd-, e. g. 1st pl. sēdimá (I § 591 p. 447), and pr. Ar. ia-īt-* became Skr. yēt-, as mid. yēt-ē (Avest. 1st pl. act. yaēp-ma). ē, which here and in similar examples is regular, spread by analogy, and thus we get pētímá instead of pa-pt-imá (the older form, used along with the later), $\sqrt{\text{pat-}}$ 'fly, fall', and nēšimá, from $\sqrt{\text{naš-}}$ 'be destroyed'. Then again ē in Irish arose by compensatory lengthening, as perf. ro gēnar 'natus sum' for ge-gn-* ($\sqrt{\text{ġen-}}$), see I § 523 p. 380, § 620 p. 467. Lat. sēdimus might be derived from se-zdimus* (I § 594 p. 450), and lēginus vēnimus be explained on the same principle as Skr. pētímá. But of Germ. forms like Goth. sētum (sat 'I sat') mētum (mat 'I measured') qēmum (qam 'I came'), and of Lith. forms like part. sėd-ęs (sėdu 'I sit') bėg-ęs (bėgu 'I run') kėl-ęs (kelù i. e. kel-ĭù* 'I lift') vėm-ęs (vemiù 'I break wind'), there is none which can be due to compensatory lengthening in these several languages. We must therefore assume that here the unreduplicated root with Idg. ē, the 3rd strong grade of the e-series, acted as the weak stem for the perfect. This form of the root is quite clearly the perfect stem in Skr. sāh-vás- beside pres. sāh-a-ti = Idg. sēġh-e-ti*, and in O. Ir. ro mīdar 'iudicavi' beside Gr. μῑδ-ε-ται, and others. See § 480 Rem., and § 494. mēt- in Goth. mētum must therefore be identified with O. Ir. mīd- Gr. μῑδ-. Weak reduplicated stems often became hard to pronounce; and hence they were often exchanged for this kind of unreduplicated form in the Germanic and Baltic branches, and perhaps in Latin too. See further in §§ 848 and 893.

The discovery of these doublet stems in the Idg. perfect, se-zd- and sēd-, makes it anything but certain that ēd-* was a contraction of reduplicated e-ed-* in Skr. ādima Lat. ēdimus Goth. -ētum Lith. ėdęs O. C. Sl. jadŭ (from $\sqrt{\text{ed-}}$ 'eat'). ēd-* may have been a stem like sēd-*; and this to me seems more likely to be true. See § 848. 3.

Present and Aorist. Skr. 3rd pl. sa-śc-ati 3rd sing. sá-śc-a-ti Gr. ἐ-σπ-ουτο, $\sqrt{\text{seq-}}$ 'sequi'. Gr. ἐῖπ-α (Gort. προ- -ἐπιπάρω) stem Idg. ue-ug-*, Skr. á-vōc-a-t Gr. ἐ-επι-ο-ν stem Idg. ue-ug-o-*, √ueg- 'speak' (cp. §§ 557, 561).

§ 472. ē is less frequent than e in the reduplicator. Many perfects in the Vedas have ā = Idg. ē, as dā-dhara (dhar- 'hold'), mā-mṛjur (marj- 'wipe'), vā-vaśur (vaś- 'desire'); an example of this kind in Avestic is Gāthic 3rd sing. vā-ver'zōi (var'z- 'work').

The same ā is found in Intensives through all periods of Sanskrit; e. g. dā-dhar-ti beside dar-dhar-ti, bā-badh-ē beside bad-badh-ē (bādh- 'press, oppress'), pā-pac-ya-tē (pac- 'cook'). A similar agreement between the reduplicators of the perfect and the present intensive is seen in perf. dī-dhuy-a and pres. intens. dī-dhē-ti, from dhi- 'think'. It is obvious that the closely allied in meaning of the completed perfect (or present perfect) and the intensive had some part in the spread of reduplicating ā in the Vedic perfect.

Analogous Greek forms are the perfect ἐγρή-γερ-μαι from √ger- 'awake', which agrees with Skr. jā-gār-a jā-gr-vās- (present jā-gar-ti jā-gr-hi), and the Homeric present δη-δέχ-αται 'they welcome' (§ 560).

Remark. Some have wished to see this redupl. ē in other Greek perfects. But the view is unsafe. See the Author, Gr. Gr.² § 131 p. 164. Nothing much is proved by Cret. ἀπ-ήσσελε (Cauer, Del.² no. 132. 5) and ἡ-γασσαι ἡ-γασμένος (J. Baunack, Berl. Phil. Wochenschr., 1887, col. 60; Th. Baunack, Philologus XLIX 594), since it is very doubtful whether they come from ah-σσελ-* and gh-γασσ-* (cp. § 476, Rem. 2).

§ 473. III. The Reduplicator ends in i or ī, the Root having a different vocalism. This is the prevailing mode, and has been since proethnic times, with certain classes of aorist and present stems. I am very far from satisfied with the view that this ī originally was used only with roots containing i (as Skr. bi-bhē-ti, type I b. § 469), which it merely echoed, and that it only spread to other roots by analogy.

Remark. The ī of Skr. ā-jī-jana-t bi-bhar-ti Gr. γί-γνο-μαι, as has been said in § 467 pp. 13 f., I would identify with ī in the Skr. intensives bhāri-bhar-ti bhāri-bhr-ati etc. These and the like reduplicative syllables may once have had a real independence, and -ī -ī may have been some inflexion, perhaps a case ending. These were doubtless sentences of the same kind as Lith. dėktė dēga 'it burns up clear' (§ 260. p. 161), Umbr. subocau suboco 'invoco invocatione, I appeal appealingly'; for similar phrases from other languages, see Pott, Doppelung, 151 ff.

If this is correct, the ī of ḡī-ḡen-* and similar forms originally came from roots ending in a vowel, such as dī-dō-* (διδωμι), dhī-dhē-* (τιθήμι). When the cohesion between the parts had become so firm that the i-case was regarded as being simply a "reduplication", — this idea was greatly encouraged by the use of real reduplications of the type of I b, as bhī-bhāi-* bhī-bhī-* — two results might follow: (1) forms like ḡī-ḡen-* bhī-bher-* came into existence, and (2) with roots beginning in a sonant a simple ī was used for reduplicating, e. g. ī + oq-* becoming iq-* (Skr. ik- Gr. iπ-) even in the parent speech, and such forms as Skr. īy-arti Gr. i-αῖω (see p. 19). Further, (3) in Sanskrit, or perhaps earlier still, the use of (say) tarī- and tar- as variant reduplicators (tari-tr-at- and tar-tarī-ti tār-tur-āna-s) led to the making of marī-mṛj- (instead of marji-mṛj-*) beside mar-mṛj-, and the like. Does ai in Gr. μαι-αῖω παι-παῖσσι παι-παῖλλω etc. represent another case ending, and are the words formed on the same principle as we are supposing these with -ī to be? If so, o in the oi of ποι-πνύω ποι-φύσσω must be ascribed to the influence of πορ-φύρω μορ-μόρω γογ-γύλλω etc.; for ποι-φάσσω : γορ-γύρω = ποι-φύσσω : μορ-μόρω.¹⁾

If this be really the origin of redupl. ī, the question arises whether e and ē in words like Gr. πε-πιάσθαι and ἐγῆ-γεῖναι Skr. jā-gāra (type II, see §§ 471–2) may not be the case-ending of a root noun. As before, we should have to start from roots ending in a vowel, from groups such as dē + dō- (Gr. δέ-δοκα Skr. da-dāi).

Skr. tī-ṣṭh-a-ti Gr. τῆ-στη-μι Lat. si-stō O.Ir. do-airissid (I § 109 e p. 103, § 516 p. 377) O.H.G. se-stōm (pr. Germ. si-stō-mi*, I § 35 p. 35), √stā- 'stand'. Skr. bī-bhar-ti Gr. ἑσ-πιγῶναι (§§ 539, 542), √bher- 'ferre'. Skr. jī-jan-a-t á-jī-jan-a-t Gr. γί-γν-ο-μαι Lat. gi-gn-ō O.Ir. gi-gnid, √ḡen- 'beget'. In Sanskrit thematic aorists the quantity fluctuated; i before more than one consonant, and before a single consonant when a long syllable followed; ī before a single consonant followed by a short syllable (cp. Wackernagel, Dehnungsg. p. 18); e. g. á-pi-sprś-a-t (sparś- 'touch') and á-di-dikṣ-a-t (dikṣ- 'be consecrated'), but á-jī-jan-a-t. Greek has ι only in πί-πτ-ω 'I fall' (cp. Skr. á-pī-pat-a-t); but here ī may have been borrowed from ῥί-πτω, which was connected with it in meaning; if so, it is no example of the principle we are discussing.

1) Another explanation of this ī is given by Per Persson, Stud. zur Lehre von der Wurzelerweiterung, p. 216 footnote 1. Per Persson's is really not very different from mine.

Presents with -s- (§§ 666 ff.). Skr. ji-jñā-sa-tē from jñā- 'learn, know', dī-dā-sa-ti dī-tsa-ti from dā- 'give', mī-mā-sa-tē from man- 'think'. O.Ir. no-gigius 'I will pray' for -gigetsō*, beside no guidiu 'I pray'.

Presents with -sk- (§ 678). Gr. δι-δάσκω 'I teach' (perf. δι-δάχα), Lat. discō for di-tc-scō* (perf. di-dicī).

The i-vowel alone is used for the reduplication with roots beginning in a sonant. Skr. īpsati (cp. apsanta § 659) beside āp-nō-ti 'acquires', īrtsati beside ṛdh-nō-ti 'thrives' fut. ardhiṣ-yatē; with ikṣatē 'sees' (cp. O.Pers. patiy-aršaiy § 559) is connected Gr. ἵπ- in Hom. ὀπ-ἵπ-εῖω 'I ogle' (παρθεῖν-οπιῖης),¹⁾ which is an analogical re-formate like ὄπ-ωπα instead of ὠπα*, ἰδ-ῥδῶς instead of ῥδῶς*. Skr. īy-ar-ti beside ār-ti from ar- 'set in motion', Avest. 3rd sing. conj. uz-yarāp i. e. -iyar-āp; Skr. īy-ē-ti beside ē-ti 'goes', the only evidence for which is its 2nd sing. pret. āiy-ē-ṣ (R.V., v. 2. 8), Avest. 3rd pl. conj. yeyan = Ar. iy-ay-ān* (Bartholomae, Ar. Forsch. II 71 f.); Gr. ἰ-αῖω 'I spend the night', ἰάσκειν ἄγειν (Hesych.) for i-ay + σκω*; O.Ir. i-orr fut. of orgim 'I destroy, kill' (beside O.H.G. arg 'that which is bad'). The former group, with the reduplication vowel and root vowel contracted together, was certainly proethnic: ip-* and iq-* for ĩ-əp-* ĩ-əq-*, or something of the kind. But it is possible that Skr. īy-arti and others of that type are a re-formation of later date, like Goth. perf. ai-áuk from áuka 'I increase', -ai-áik from -áuika (af-áika 'I deny, refuse').

On the difference between Gr. τί-θῆμι, with orig. i in the reduplicator, and Skr. dá-dhati Lith. 2nd pl. dè-ste with orig. e, see § 538.

It has been pointed out (§ 469 Rem. 1, p. 14) that i is found in the reduplicator even where the root contains u-vocalism. But, as I said in that place, I regard Skr.

ju-hó-ti, a-cu-krudh-a-t, bu-bhut-sa-ti and similar forms as being genuine proethnic types, and not as having changed i to u.

§ 474. IV. A fourth type, of unknown origin, is represented by a considerable number of forms in Sanskrit, and by two in Greek. (Cp. Bezzenberger, Bezz. Beitr. III 310).

Skr. desid. aśiśiṣa-ti from aś- 'eat', the grammarians also cite aniniṣa-ti from an- 'breathe', arjhiṣa-ti for arjihijhiṣa-ti* (I p. 480 p. 354) from arh- 'deserve, be worth' and others; aor. arpipa-t (unaugmented) beside arpáyati 'sets in motion, shakes' (§ 797), in grammars also ānina-t, ārjha-t, āubjija-t (ubj- 'keep down, squeeze together') and others.

Gr. ἐρῶταχο-ν from ἐρῶμαι 'I hold back' and ἐνίππο-ν from ἐνίπτω 'I address'; beside ἐνέππο-ν, type I c (§ 470).

§ 475. A few remarks are now needed on the way in which Consonant Initials are treated in Reduplication.

1. There was originally no difference between the beginning of root and reduplicator, when the root began with one consonant, as dō- 'give' Skr. dā-dāti, Gr. δί-δομι, Lat. de-dit Osc. de-ded, O.C.Sl. 3rd pl. da-dētū. But a great many differences were brought about by phonetic change. For instance, in Greek and Sanskrit the initial of the Reduplicator was affected by the principle of dissimilation of aspirates which held in those languages, e. g. Sanskrit dúdhāti for dha-dhati*, babháva for bha-bháva* (I § 480 p. 354),¹⁾ Gr. τιθῆμι for θι-θῆμι*, πείσσω for πῑ-πῑσσω* (I § 496 pp. 364 f.). We were introduced in vol. I p. 483 footnote 1 to a dissimilation peculiar to Irish, -roinasc for -ró-nenasc*, -roichan for -ró-cechan*; compare § 878, below. The Root-initial is changed e. g. in pr. Idg. si-zd-ō* (✓ sed- 'sit') = Gr. ἵζω (I § 590 p. 447, § 593 p. 449). It often happened, however, that a difference brought about by phonetic change was obliterated afterwards; as in Ved. perf. mid. si-sic-ē instead of si-šic-ē from sic- 'pour',¹⁾ Gr. Gort. ῑί-ῑεῑῑαι instead of ῑί-ῑεῑῑαι* Att. τί-ῑεσῑαι (I § 496 p. 365, the Author, Gr. Gr.² pp. 73 f.), Ion. perf. βέβα-μεν instead of ῑε-βα-μεν* = Idg. ge-gm-* from √gem- 'go' (I § 428 b, p. 316), Umbr. ře-ře 'dedit' instead of te-ře* cp. teṛust dīrsust 'dederit' (I § 369 Rem. 3 p. 281).

Remark. We may not assume that in Idg. pi-b-e-ti* (Skr. pībati Lat. bibit O.Ir. ibid) b is simply for p by dissimilation. It is quite possible that b came from the imperative pi-b-dhi* (for pi-p-dhi*), cp. § 539.

476. 2. Where a root begins in more than one consonant, only the first of them is reduplicated. This rule held in the proethnic language and holds in its branches too. Examples:

Skr. śu-śrāva Gr. κέ-κλυτε O.Ir. ro chuala for cu-clova* from √kleu- 'hear'. Skr. á-su-srōt from sru- 'flow'. Gr. κέ-κρυμαι from κρίνω 'I sentence', ἔλγθι 'be gracious' for σι-σλγ-θι* (I § 565 p. 423). O.Ir. ad-ge-grannatar 'persecuti sunt', ro selach 'I struck down' i. e. se-šlach (I § 576 pp. 431 f.). Goth. gai-grōt from grēta 'I cry', faí-flōk from flōka 'I lament', saí-slēp saí-zlēp from slēpa 'I sleep'.

Skr. sa-smāra from smar- 'remember', a-śi-śnat from śnath- 'pierce'. Gr. ἐίμαρται 'it is fated' for σε-σμαρται* (I § 565 p. 422), πέ-πνίγμαι from πνίγω 'I choke', ποιπνύω 'I pant'. Mid.Ir. ro senaich 'stillavit' i. e. se-šnaich (I § 576 p. 431).

Skr. di-dvēṣu from dviṣ- 'hate', sa-svāna from svan- 'sound', partic. śá-śvasat- from śvas- 'puff, pant, blow'; ta-tyajē from tyaj- 'forsake', sa-syandē from syand- 'move on'. Hom. δείδμεν i. e. δέ-δφιμεν from √dyei- 'frighten' (I § 166 p. 147). O.Ir. do-sefainn -sephainn from do-sennim 'I hunt, drive' for syend-* or syemn-* (I p. 175 p. 154, II § 613).

Skr. ci-kṣāya from kṣi- 'possess', ca-kṣāṇa from kṣan- 'hurt, wound', Gr. κέ-κτινμαι from κτάομαι 'I get, win' (cp. I § 554 pp. 407 f., Kretschmer Kuhn's Zeitschr. xxxi 433).

1) We are not at liberty to explain si-sic-ē by saying that sa- = Idg. se- was the reduplicator in pr. Aryan (§ 851).

Avest. hi-štaiti O.Pers. a-i-štatā (I § 558 Rem. 1 p. 410), Gr. ἱ-στημι ἔ-στηκα, Lat. si-stō Umbr. se-stu 'sisto', O.Ir. do-airissid sessam for si-st-* (I § 109 e p. 103, § 516 p. 377), from $\sqrt{stā}$ - 'stand'. Avest. partic. hi-spōsemna- from $\sqrt{spek}$ - 'conspicere'. O.Ir. se-scaind 'he leapt'.

There are several variations from this type, of which the chief here follow.

The first is the commonest of them all (it is found in Sanskrit, Greek, Italic, Germanic), and perhaps began in the proethnic period. When a root began with s + an Explosive, both were often taken on into the Reduplicator, instead of simply the s. Thus Goth. staī-stald from stalda 'I possess', skat-skáip from skáida 'I divide'. In Sanskrit, Greek, and Italic dissimilation came in and destroyed the likeness of root and reduplicator; s was dropped either in the reduplicator (so Sanskrit, Greek, Latin) or in the root (Italic). Skr. ta-sthāú ti-ṣṭha-ti from sthā- 'stand', ca-skánda, 2nd and 3rd sing. káni-ṣkan, cani-ṣkada-t from skand- 'leap', pa-spydhē from spardh- 'vie, strive for', pani-ṣpadá-s 'quivering' from spand- 'quiver'. This example of the principle of dissimilation Greek and Latin show only in a few nouns: κορυμβία 'shreds of leather' qui-squiliae, κα-σαύδις 'leek' are examples (Fritsche, Curt. Stud. vi 319 f.). With s dropt in the root-syllable Lat. ste-ti sti-ti Umbr. stīti-steteies Lat. spo-ponū sci-cidī. Compare Osthoff, Paul Braune's Beitr. viii 540 ff.; I do not think that his hypothesis is overthrown by Meringer in Zeitschr. öst. Gymn., 1887, pp. 371 f.

Remark 1. The reason why the present Lat. si-stō kept the old method, while stetī stitī did not, was that this was the only reduplicated present with a root beginning in s + explosive. Observe too that all its perfect forms were once distinguished by the vowel e in the reduplicator instead of i (§ 471).

Secondly, when a verb stem beginning in two consonants simplified these to one in its unreduplicated forms, the reduplicated forms were treated as though the verb began originally in one consonant (§ 475). Gr. Dor. πέ-παμαι 'I possess, have authority over' instead of πε-παμαι* i. e. ke-kua-* (cp.

Skr. -śi-śvi-ś), because in the present and other tenses kṛā-* became πᾱ- (I § 166 p. 147, § 654. 4 pp. 500 f., II § 117 pp. 370, 371). σε-σόβημαι for τε-σοοβ-* (cp. Skr. ta-tyāja) following σοβέω 'I scare away' ground-form tjogéjō* (I § 459 p. 337). τε-θίγῃκα Thess. πε-φιράκον[τες] beside θίγῃ Thess. φίρ 'wild beast' for Idg. ǵh₁ǵēr-* O.C.Sl. zvērī Lith. žvērī-s (see Buck, Amer. Journ. Phil. xi 211 ff.), so that the reduplication would properly have been κτ-. Locr. partic. φε-φάδηκότα following φάδανω (ἀνδάνω) 'I please' from ✓suād- (cp. Skr. sa-svadē). ρί-ριπται (Pindar) following ρίπτω 'I throw' for φοίπτω*; and Att. ῥοοιπται instead of the regular (f)ευρίπται* (the Author, Gr. Gr.² p. 31). νι-νῆχθαι from νῆχω 'I swim' for σνᾶχω* (Skr. 3rd pl. sa-sn-ur). Lat. me-mor memoria formed from a perfect me-morī*, which probably arose on the analogy of unreduplicated forms with mer- for smer- (cp. merda for smerdā* etc., I § 570 p. 427), cp. Skr. sa-smāra. O.Ir. perf. 3rd sing. riv 'gave away, sold' from ✓per- instead of i-r* for pi-pr-e* on the principles laid down in I § 339 p. 268, cp. § 878 below.

An exceptional type of reduplication is sometimes seen in Greek where verbs beginning in more than one consonant often have ε- for their reduplication, instead of one consonant + ε, even where the known phonetic laws did not demand that the consonant should drop. Examples are: ε-βλάστηκα beside βε-βλάστηκα, ε-γραμμαι (Cret. and elsewhere) beside γε-γραμμαι, ε-γρονκα, ε-κτημαι beside ζε-κτημαι, ε-σσυμαι (✓qieμ-). Probably ε-ροοωγα (φορηγ-) and ε-ροῖγα (φοῖπ-) are of this sort, since there is no trace of f having been used and dropped in these forms. See Curtius' Verb II² 144 ff. Lastly we must mention ε-σταλκα, ε-σπαρμαι, ε-ροῦγχα (orig. σε-σρε-) and the like, beside ἀγέσταλκα ἐγέσταλκα (inser.), and ε-στηκα ε-σταμεν. The last perfect kept its spiritus asper because ῑ-στημι ῑ-σταμεν had it.¹⁾

1) In Boeotian or Laconian we must add to the perfect the aorist form ἔστακα for ῑστακα*. Hesychius' gloss ἔστακαν ἔστησαν should probably be assigned to one or other of these dialects (cp. I § 566 p. 423).

Remark 2. It is an obvious suggestion that in ἐβλάστηκα etc. we have the augment in place of the reduplication, since in verbs with a vowel initial the augmented preterite and the perfect came to have the same beginning: e. g. ἤρεθον: ἤρεθισμαι (ἐρεθίζω), ἤσκησα: ἤσκημαι (ασκέω), αἶψ-ικόμην: ὀψ-ίγμαι. But if so we should expect similar forms in verbs which began with one consonant, and such forms as *ἐ-βηκα instead of βέ-βηκα (see § 475).¹⁾

We cannot suppose that the form ἔ-ρεωγα stands for *fε-ρεωγα, and that it gave the type for ἐ-βλάστηκα etc., because the dialect of Gortyn a has ἔ-γραμμαι, and this dialect kept initial f before an e-sound.

The Cretan perfects ἀπ-ήσπελκε ἔ-γρατται mentioned in § 472 Rem., page 17 above, with ἔ-, only give a fresh problem to solve.

§ 477. The Augment (αὐξησης), as it is called, is a syllable, Idg. *e- = Skr. a- Armen. e- Gr. ἐ-, which prefixed to verbal forms serves to mark past time.

1) ἔλογχα instead of ἐλογχα in two late sepulchral inscriptions is probably not a mistake in the graving, but a misformation, due to contamination of the perfect ἐλογχα or εἰληχα at a time when this kind of perfect had become unfamiliar. (Thumb, Mitteil. des deutsch. arch. Inst. in Athen, xvi 176).

Bumke, De augmento verbi Herodotei, Braunsberg 1835. H. Lhardy, Quaestionum de dialecto Herodoti caput primum: De augmento, Berl. 1844.

It was originally an independent word, an adverb, followed by the verb, which then became enclitic; e. g. é liqet* 'he left' (Armen. e-liḵ Gr. ἔ-λιπε), and it may be compared with the Irish particle ro (= Gr. πρό) which is used before verbs of the historic tenses. But in all the languages which have kept the Augment, it has become an inflexional prefix (cp. II § 4 page 6). A trace of its original adverbial character remains in the accentuation of Greek forms like παρ-έ-σχον ('I offered'), which involves the same principle as that of παρ-έν-θες ('put in between') and of Skr. sam-ā-cinutē ('he heaps together, collects').

As to the origin of this adverb e*, and of ē*, which as we shall see later was used in the same way in the parent language, only uncertain conjectures are possible.

Remark. Older explanations are cited by Curtius, Verb I² 109 ff. Sayce's new suggestions do not commend themselves to me (see page 24 footnote). It would be best to regard e* as a locative of the pron. stem o-, with temporal meaning (see III § 409 p. 329); compare te* (Lith. tē O.C.Sl. te) from to-* and the like (III § 424 p. 349). The relation of e*:ē* has plenty of parallels, as te*:tē*, ne*:nē* (III p. 349 footnote, § 415 Rem. p. 337). Compare also Per Persson, Studia etymologica, p. 78.

If the verb had other prefixes besides the Augment, this stood immediately in front of the verb. But sometimes a verb compounded with a preposition became to all intents and purposes a simple form, and then the augment came right in front. Skr. a-pīḍaya-t 'pressed' for pi-zd-* ('sit upon'), Gr. ἔ-πίσσειν for π(ι)εδ-, see § 795. Skr. epic a-sambhramat 'he trembled'. Gr. Att. ἔ-καθ'εβδον beside καθ-ηῦδον 'I slept'. When the structure of verbs was thus forgotten, there could even be a double augment: Skr. epic apraīṣīt beside praīṣīt = pra-diṣīt 'he drove out', Gr. ἤν-ειχέμεν 'I endured'. The same thing occurs in reduplicated forms; see § 850.

Avest. a-berem O.Pers. a-baram, Gr. ἄ-φερων. 3rd sing. Skr. á-da-dhāt á-dhāt Armen. e-d Gr. ἔ-τιθει 1st pl. ἔ-θεμεν, √ dhē 'place'. 3rd sing. Skr. á-bōdhat a-buddha a-būbudhat Gr. ἔ-πεύ-θετο ἔ-πύθετο ἐπέπυστο, √ bheydh- 'awake, notice'. 3rd sing. Skr. á-diṣṭa a-dikṣat Gr. ἔ-δείκνυ ἔ-δειξτ, √ deik- 'show, point'. 3rd sing. Skr. á-gan Armen. e-kn, √ gem- 'go, come'. 3rd sing. Armen. e-tes Gr. ἔ-δέχετο, √ derk- 'see'.

All that is left of the augment outside of these three groups are a few obscure Germanic forms: Goth. iddja 'he went' = Skr. á-yāt (I § 142 p. 127), A.S. 3rd pl. eódun = Goth. iddjēdun, cp. §§ 587, 592, 886 Rem. But these are not free from doubt, because we find in Sanskrit epics the unaugmented form iyā-t as well as a-yā-t (with iy- instead of y- like iy-ē, § 493). So iddja too may represent the unaugmented Idg. ijē-t*.

In Greek, i- was often obscured by being contracted with the following vowel, after σ or φ which once began the root had dropped (cp. I § 165 p. 146, § 564 p. 421, § 603 pp. 455 f.); e. g. εἰόμην for i-(σ)επομᾶν* from ἐπομαι 'sequor', εἶπον for i-(σ)επον* from εῖπω 'serpo', εἶδον 'I saw' for i-(φ)ιδον* (Hom. εἶδον, Lesb. εῖδον), εἰργαζόμην for i-(φ)εργαζομην* (an inser. of Hermione has ἐφ'εργάσατο) from ἐργάζομαι 'I work'. On εἶθιζον 'I was accustomed', orig. i-σφεθιζον*, εἵλκον 'I dragged', orig. i-σφελκον*, compare I § 563. 7 p. 420, and the Author Gr. Gr.² § 13 p. 33. The aspirate of εἰόμην εἵλκον εἶπον, like that of ἐγκα ἥκα pl. εἶμεν (for i-(σ)η- i-(σ)ε-, from ἵημι 'I send forth' for σι-σιμι*) is doubtless due to the transference of the internal h (i-hepomān* etc.) to the beginning; so it was in ιέρω-ς for ihēro-ς* (Skr. iṣṭrā-s) and other words, see Kretschmer, Kuhn's Zeitschr. xxxi 421.

In Greek, again, the augmented preterites of verbs which have lost their initial consonant are often treated like those of verbs that never had any (§ 480). This is commonest in later times. An example is Att. ᾤκησα instead of i-(φ)οι-κησα*, from (φ)οιζέω 'I live, dwell', following such forms as οἰδῶσα (οἰδέω 'I swell': Armen. aitnum 'I swell' O.H.G. eiz 'sore, abscess').

§ 479. In Vedic, some verbs beginning with v, y, or r have a- for their augment; as á-erṇak from erṇákti 'turns round' (see Delbrück, Ai. Verb., 79). a- is also found as augment with verbs beginning in ā, ī, r; as āunat from unátti 'wets' (see § 481). That this a- was original, at least in some of these forms, is made probable by the use of ḡ- instead of é- not infrequently before Greek verbs with initial u. Examples: Hom. ἦεἰδῃ 'he knew' for ḡ-féidḡ*;¹⁾ Att. εἶδον 'I saw' εἶλων 'I was captured' for ḡ-(h)oráon* ḡ-(h)aláon* (I § 611 p. 462); the aspirate in the last two is to be explained like that of εἰπούμην ἐγκα (§ 478). Words like ἡργαζόμην (beside εἰργαζόμην) are less certain. It is true this form may be derived from ḡ-(f)erg-*; but so may it be an ad-formate of verbs which began with e- in the pre-Greek period (cp. ῥαχσα § 478, above).

On the relation of ē-* and e-* see § 477 with the Remark, page 25.

Remark. On Greek forms with ḡ- compare G. Meyer, *Gr. Gr.*² pp. 421 ff.; the Author, *Gr. Gr.*² p. 150, and the works there cited.

Another view, which I think not probable, is that certain verbs with initial f have a prothetic z-, and that from these were made preterites with the temporal augment (ἦεἰδῃ being to ἐκείναις: what ἔρευσθον is to ἐρεῖθω ✓ reudh-, cp. I § 626 pp. 470); afterwards, according to this view, other verbs with initial f but without prothetic z- took ḡ- for augment.

On the other hand, I agree with those who refuse to see the Idg. augment ē-* in ἦ-βουλόμην 'I wished', ἦ-δυνάμην 'I could', and ἦ-μελλον 'I intended, I was to' do so and so. These forms occur in Attic from 300 B.C. onwards, and ἦμελλον as early as Hesiod (Theog. 478, 888, 898). It is a fair conjecture that these were modelled on ἦ-θέλω 'I wished', from θέλω. In this Verb ἦ- was no augment but a preposition, another ablaut-form of ω- in ω-πρὸς etc., and identical with Skr. ā 'to towards'. The z- of z-θέλω is a third ablaut-form of the same prefix, to be compared with a in Avest. a-sān- etc.; but the use of ḡ- with θέλω was confined to its preterite in prehistoric times, because ἦθέλω : ἦθέλω seemed to be related as were ἔρεζω : ἔρεζον. Cp. Osthoff, Perf. 129, 604; Bartholomae, Ar. Forsch. II 169; above, vol. III § 246 p. 145.

1) Some scholars would write εἰεἰδῃ in the Aeolic fashion, for which there is no authority at all. Attic ἦεἰ cannot be contracted from εἰεἰδ- but only from ἦεἰδ-.

sentences of the same kind as Lith. dektè dēga 'it burns up clear' (§ 260. p. 161), Umbr. suboco suboco 'invoco invocatione, I appeal appealingly'; for similar phrases from other languages, see Pott, Doppelung, 151 ff.

If this is correct, the ī of gī-ġen-* and similar forms originally came from roots ending in a vowel, such as dī-dō-* (διδωμι), dhī-dhē-* (τ'θρην). When the cohesion between the parts had become so firm that the ī-case was regarded as being simply a "reduplication", — this idea was greatly encouraged by the use of real reduplications of the type of I b, as bhī-bhū-* bhī-bhī-* — two results might follow: (1) forms like gī-ġen-* bhī-bher-* came into existence, and (2) with roots beginning in a sonant a simple ī was used for reduplicating, e. g. ī + oq-* becoming iq-* (Skr. ik- Gr. ιπ-) even in the parent speech, and such forms as Skr. īy-arti Gr. ι-αῖω (see p. 19). Further, (3) in Sanskrit, or perhaps earlier still, the use of (say) tarī- and tar- as variant reduplicators (tari-tr-at- and tar-tarī-ti (tár-tur-āna-s) led to the making of marī-mṛj- (instead of marjī-mṛj-*) beside mar-mṛj-, and the like. Does ai in Gr. μαι-αῖω παι-παῖσσω παι-πάλλω etc. represent another case ending, and are the words formed on the same principle as we are supposing these with -ī to be? If so, o in the oi of ποι-πνύω ποι-φύσσω must be ascribed to the influence of πορ-φύρω μορ-μύρω γογ-γύλλω etc.; for παι-παῖσσω : γυρ-γυῖρω = ποι-φύσσω : μορ-μύρω.¹⁾

If this be really the origin of redupl. ī, the question arises whether e and ē in words like Gr. πε-πέσαι and ἐγί-γεγμαι Skr. jā-gāra (type II, see §§ 471—2) may not be the case-ending of a root noun. As before, we should have to start from roots ending in a vowel, from groups such as dē + dō- (Gr. δε-δωκα Skr. da-dāu).

Skr. tī-ṣṭh-a-ti Gr. τῖ-στη-μι Lat. si-stō O.Ir. do-airissid (I § 109 e p. 103, § 516 p. 377) O.H.G se-stōm (pr. Germ. si-stō-mi*, I § 35 p. 35), √stā- 'stand'. Skr. bi-bhar-ti Gr. ἐσ-πιφράναι (§§ 539, 542), √bher- 'ferre'. Skr. jī-jan-a-t ā-jī-jan-a-t Gr. γί-γν-ο-μαι Lat. gi-gn-ō O.Ir. gi-gnid, √ġen- 'beget'. In Sanskrit thematic aorists the quantity fluctuated; i before more than one consonant, and before a single consonant when a long syllable followed; ī before a single consonant followed by a short syllable (cp. Wackernagel, Dehnungsg. p. 18); e. g. á-pi-sprś-a-t (sparś- 'touch') and á-di-dikṣ-a-t (dikṣ- 'be consecrated'), but á-jī-jan-a-t. Greek has ī only in πῑ-πτ-ω 'I fall' (cp. Skr. á-pī-pat-a-t); but here ī may have been borrowed from ῑῑ-πτω, which was connected with it in meaning; if so, it is no example of the principle we are discussing.

Presents with -s- (§§ 666 ff.). Skr. ji-jñā-sa-tē from jñā- 'learn, know', dī-dā-sa-ti dī-tsa-ti from dā- 'give', mī-mā-sa-tē from man- 'think'. O.Ir. no-gigius 'I will pray' for -gigetsō*, beside no guidiu 'I pray'.

Presents with -sk- (§ 678). Gr. δι-δάσκω 'I teach' (perf. δε-δίδαχα), Lat. discō for dī-tc-scō* (perf. dī-dicī).

The i-vowel alone is used for the reduplication with roots beginning in a sonant. Skr. īpsati (cp. apsanta § 659) beside ap-nō-ti 'acquires', īrtsati beside ṛdh-nō-ti 'thrives' fut. ardhiṣ-yatē; with īkṣatē 'sees' (cp. O.Pers. patiy-axšaiy § 559) is connected Gr. ἵπ- in Hom. ὀπ-ἵπ-εῖω 'I ogle' (παρῳθεν-οπιπης),¹⁾ which is an analogical re-formate like ὀπ-ωπα instead of ὠπα*, ἰδ-ῥδω instead of ῥδω*. Skr. īy-ar-ti beside ār-ti from ar- 'set in motion', Avest. 3rd sing. conj. uz-yarāp i. e. -iyar-āp; Skr. iy-ē-ti beside ē-ti 'goes', the only evidence for which is its 2nd sing. pret. āiy-ē-ṣ (R.V., v. 2. 8), Avest. 3rd pl. conj. yeyan = Ar. iy-ay-ān* (Bartholomae, Ar. Forsch. II 71 f.); Gr. ἰ-αῖω 'I spend the night', ἰάσκειν ἄγειν (Hesych.) for i-ay + skw*; O.Ir. i-orr fut. of orgim 'I destroy, kill' (beside O.H.G. arg 'that which is bad'). The former group, with the reduplication vowel and root vowel contracted together, was certainly proethnic: ip-* and iq-* for ī-əp-* ī-əq-*, or something of the kind. But it is possible that Skr. īy-arti and others of that type are a re-formation of later date, like Goth. perf. ai-āuk from āuka 'I increase', -ai-āik from -āika (af-āika 'I deny, refuse').

On the difference between Gr. τί-θῆμι, with orig. i in the reduplicator, and Skr. dā-dhāti Lith. 2nd pl. dè-ste with orig. e, see § 538.

It has been pointed out (§ 469 Rem. 1, p. 14) that i is found in the reduplicator even where the root contains u-vocalism. But, as I said in that place, I regard Skr.

ju-hó-ti, a-cu-krudh-a-t, bu-bhut-sa-ti and similar forms as being genuine proethnic types, and not as having changed i to u.

§ 474. IV. A fourth type, of unknown origin, is represented by a considerable number of forms in Sanskrit, and by two in Greek. (Cp. Bezzenberger, Bezz. Beitr. III 310).

Skr. desid. aśiśiṣa-ti from aś- 'eat', the grammarians also cite aniniṣa-ti from an- 'breathe', arjhiṣa-ti for arjhijhiṣa-ti* (I p. 480 p. 354) from arh- 'deserve, be worth' and others; aor. arpipa-t (unaugmented) beside arpáyati 'sets in motion, shakes' (§ 797), in grammars also ānina-t, arjiha-t, aubjiṣa-t (ubj- 'keep down, squeeze together') and others.

Gr. ἐρεταχο-ν from ἐρεχω 'I hold back' and ἐνένταπο-ν from ἐνέντω 'I address'; beside ἐνέντω-ν, type I c (§ 470).

§ 475. A few remarks are now needed on the way in which Consonant Initials are treated in Reduplication.

1. There was originally no difference between the beginning of root and reduplicator, when the root began with one consonant, as dō- 'give' Skr. dá-dati, Gr. δί-δομι, Lat. de-dit Osc. de-ded, O.C.Sl. 3rd pl. da-dētŭ. But a great many differences were brought about by phonetic change. For instance, in Greek and Sanskrit the initial of the Reduplicator was affected by the principle of dissimilation of aspirates which held in those languages, e. g. Sanskrit dádhati for dha-dhāti*, babháva for bha-bháva* (I § 480 p. 354),¹⁾ Gr. τίθημι for θι-θημι*, πέποιθα for πι-πυατι* (I § 496 pp. 364 f.). We were introduced in vol. I p. 483 footnote 1 to a dissimilation peculiar to Irish, -roinasc for -ró-nenasc*, -roichan for -ró-cechan*; compare § 878, below. The Root-initial is changed e. g. in pr. Idg. si-zd-ō* ($\sqrt{\text{sed-}}$ 'sit') = Gr. ἴζω (I § 590 p. 447, § 593 p. 449). It often happened, however, that a difference brought about by phonetic change was obliterated afterwards; as in Ved. perf. mid. si-sic-ē instead of si-šic-ē from sic- 'pour',¹⁾ Gr. Gort. θί-θεθθαί instead of τί-θεθθαί* Att. τί-θεσθαί (I § 496 p. 365, the Author, Gr. Gr.² pp. 73 f.), Ion. perf. βέβα-μεν instead of δε-βα-μεν* = Idg. ge-gm-* from √gem- 'go' (I § 428 b, p. 316), Umbr. ře-ře 'dedit' instead of te-ře* cp. teřust dīrsust 'dederit' (I § 369 Rem. 3 p. 281).

Remark. We may not assume that in Idg. pi-b-e-ti* (Skr. pibati Lat. bibit O.Ir. ibid) b is simply for p by dissimilation. It is quite possible that b came from the imperative pi-b-dhi* (for pi-p-dhi*), cp. § 539.

476. 2. Where a root begins in more than one consonant, only the first of them is reduplicated. This rule held in the proethnic language and holds in its branches too. Examples:

Skr. śu-śráva Gr. κέ-κλυτε O.Ir. ro chuala for cu-clova* from √kley- 'hear'. Skr. á-su-srōt from sru- 'flow'. Gr. κέ-κρομαι from κρίρω 'I sentence', ἔλγθι 'be gracious' for αι-ελγ-θι* (I § 565 p. 423). O.Ir. ad-ge-grannatar 'persecuti sunt', ro selach 'I struck down' i. e. se-šlach (I § 576 pp. 431 f.). Goth. gaí-grōt from grēta 'I cry', faí-flōk from flōka 'I lament', saí-slēp saí-zlēp from slēpa 'I sleep'.

Skr. sa-smāra from smar- 'remember', a-śi-śnat from śnath- 'pierce'. Gr. εἴμαρται 'it is fated' for σε-σμαρται* (I § 565 p. 422), πέ-πνίγμαι from πνίγω 'I choke', ποιννύω 'I pant'. Mid.Ir. ro senaich 'stillavit' i. e. se-šnaich (I § 576 p. 431).

Skr. di-dvēṣa from dvīṣ- 'hate', sa-svāna from svan- 'sound', partic. śā-śvasat- from śvas- 'puff, pant, blow'; ta-tyajē from tyaj- 'forsake', sa-syandē from syand- 'move on'. Hom. δείδμεν i. e. δέ-δφμεν from √dyei- 'frighten' (I § 166 p. 147). O.Ir. do-sefainn -sephainn from do-sennim 'I hunt, drive' for syend-* or syemmn-* (I p. 175 p. 154, II § 613).

Skr. ci-kṣāya from kṣi- 'possess', ca-kṣāṇa from kṣan- 'hurt, wound', Gr. κέ-κρημαι from κτάομαι 'I get, win' (cp. I § 554 pp. 407 f., Kretschmer Kuhn's Zeitschr. xxxi 433).

Avest. hi-štaiti O.Pers. a-ī-štata (I § 558 Rem. 1 p. 410), Gr. ἵστημι ἔστηκα, Lat. si-stō Umbr. se-stu 'sisto', O.Ir. do-airissid sessam for si-st-* (I § 109 e p. 103, § 516 p. 377), from $\sqrt{\text{stā}}$ 'stand'. Avest. partic. hi-spōsemna- from $\sqrt{\text{spek-}}$ 'conspicere'. O.Ir. se-scaind 'he leapt'.

There are several variations from this type, of which the chief here follow.

The first is the commonest of them all (it is found in Sanskrit, Greek, Italic, Germanic), and perhaps began in the proethnic period. When a root began with s + an Explosive, both were often taken on into the Reduplicator, instead of simply the s. Thus Goth. stai-stald from stalda 'I possess', skai-skáip from skáida 'I divide'. In Sanskrit, Greek, and Italic dissimilation came in and destroyed the likeness of root and reduplicator; s was dropped either in the reduplicator (so Sanskrit, Greek, Latin) or in the root (Italic). Skr. ta-sthāú ti-ṣṭha-ti from sthā- 'stand', ca-skánda, 2nd and 3rd sing. káni-ṣkan, cani-ṣkada-t from skand- 'leap', pa-spydhē from spardh- 'vie, strive for', pani-ṣpadá-s 'quivering' from spand- 'quiver'. This example of the principle of dissimilation Greek and Latin show only in a few nouns: κορυμβάτιον 'shreds of leather' qui-squiliae, κα-οκάνδις 'leek' are examples (Fritsche, Curt. Stud. vi 319 f.). With s dropt in the root-syllable Lat. ste-ti sti-ti Umbr. stiti-steteies Lat. spo-pondi sci-cidi. Compare Osthoff, Paul Braune's Beitr. viii 540 ff.; I do not think that his hypothesis is overthrown by Meringer in Zeitschr. öst. Gymn., 1887, pp. 371 f.

Remark 1. The reason why the present Lat. si-stō kept the old method, while steti stiti did not, was that this was the only reduplicated present with a root beginning in s + explosive. Observe too that all its perfect forms were once distinguished by the vowel e in the reduplicator instead of i (§ 471).

Secondly, when a verb stem beginning in two consonants simplified these to one in its unreduplicated forms, the reduplicated forms were treated as though the verb began originally in one consonant (§ 475). Gr. Dor. πέ-πᾶμαι 'I possess, have authority over' instead of κε-πᾶμαι* i. e. ke-kṛa-* (cp.

Skr. -śi-śvi-ṣ-), because in the present and other tenses kṣā-* became πᾱ- (I § 166 p. 147, § 654. 4 pp. 500 f., II § 117 pp. 370, 371). σε-σόβημαι for τε-σοσβ-* (cp. Skr. ta-tyāja) following σοβέω 'I scare away' ground-form tjogéjō* (I § 459 p. 337). τε-θήρᾱκα Thess. πε-φειράκον[τες] beside θίρ Thess. φείρ 'wild beast' for Idg. ǵh₁uēr-* O.C.Sl. zvērī Lith. žvērī-s (see Buck, Amer. Journ. Phil. xi 211 ff.), so that the reduplication would properly have been τε-. Locr. partic. τε-φασκότα following φασάναω (ἀνδάνω) 'I please' from √sṃād- (cp. Skr. sa-svadē). ρί-ριπται (Pindar) following ρίπτω 'I throw' for φρίπτω*; and Att. ῥοριπται instead of the regular (φ)ενρίπται* (the Author, Gr. Gr.² p. 31). νι-νιχθαι from νίχω 'I swim' for οῖαχω* (Skr. 3rd pl. sa-sn-ur). Lat. memor memoria formed from a perfect me-morī*, which probably arose on the analogy of unreduplicated forms with mer- for smer- (cp. merda for smerdā* etc., I § 570 p. 427), cp. Skr. sa-smāra. O.Ir. perf. 3rd sing. rir 'gave away, sold' from √per- instead of i-r* for pī-pr-e* on the principles laid down in I § 339 p. 268, cp. § 878 below.

An exceptional type of reduplication is sometimes seen in Greek where verbs beginning in more than one consonant often have ι- for their reduplication, instead of one consonant + ε, even where the known phonetic laws did not demand that the consonant should drop. Examples are: ι-βλάστηκα beside βε-βλάστηκα, ἔ-γραμμαι (Cret. and elsewhere) beside γέ-γραμμαι, ι-γνώκα, ἔ-κτεμαι beside κέ-κτεμαι, ἔ-σσυμαι (√qīeu-). Probably ἔ-ορωγα (φρηγ-) and ἔ-ορῖμα (φρῖπ-) are of this sort, since there is no trace of φ having been used and dropped in these forms. See Curtius' Verb II² 144 ff. Lastly we must mention ἔ-σταλκα, ἔ-σαρμαι, ἔ-ρυνήκα (orig. σι-σσυ-) and the like, beside ἀφέσταλκα ἐφέσταλκα (inser.), and ἔ-στηκα ἔ-σταμεν. The last perfect kept its spiritus asper because ἱ-στημι ἱ-σταμεν had it.¹⁾

1) In Boeotian or Laconian we must add to the perfect the aorist form ἱτάκα for ἱτάκα*. Hesychius' gloss ἱτακᾶν ἱτακᾶν should probably be assigned to one or other of these dialects (cp. I § 566 p. 423).

Remark 2. It is an obvious suggestion that in ιβλίστηκα etc. we have the augment in place of the reduplication, since in verbs with a vowel initial the augmented preterite and the perfect came to have the same beginning: e. g. ἤρεθον: ἤρεθισμαι (ἔρεθίσω), ἤσκησα: ἤσκημαι (ἄσκειω), ἀφ-ἰκούην: ἀφ-ἰγυμαι. But if so we should expect similar forms in verbs which began with one consonant, and such forms as ἔ-βηκα* instead of βί-βηκα (see § 475).¹⁾

We cannot suppose that the form ἔ-ρεωγα stands for f-ερεωγα*, and that it gave the type for ἔ-βλίστηκα etc., because the dialect of Gortyn a has ἔ-γρῆσαι, and this dialect kept initial f before an e-sound.

The Cretan perfects ἀπ-ἤστειλε ἔ-γρᾶτται mentioned in § 472 Rem., page 17 above, with ἔ-, only give a fresh problem to solve.

§ 477. The Augment (αὔξησις), as it is called, is a syllable, Idg. e-* = Skr. a- Armen. e- Gr. ἐ-, which prefixed to verbal forms serves to mark past time.

1) ἔλογχα instead of ἐλόγγα in two late sepulchral inscriptions is probably not a mistake in the graving, but a misformation, due to contamination of the perfect ἐλόγγη or ἐλιγχα at a time when this kind of perfect had become unfamiliar. (Thumb, Mitteil. des deutsch. arch. Inst. in Athen, xvi 176).

Lhardy, Quaestionum de dialecto Herodoti caput primum: De augmento, Berl. 1844.

It was originally an independent word, an adverb, followed by the verb, which then became enclitic; e. g. é liqet* 'he left' (Armen. e-liĕ Gr. ἔ-λιπε), and it may be compared with the Irish particle ro (= Gr. πό) which is used before verbs of the historic tenses. But in all the languages which have kept the Augment, it has become an inflexional prefix (cp. II § 4 page 6). A trace of its original adverbial character remains in the accentuation of Greek forms like παρ-έ-σπον ('I offered'), which involves the same principle as that of παρ-έ-ν-θε ('put in between') and of Skr. sam-ā-cinutē ('he heaps together, collects').

Remark. Older explanations are cited by Curtius, Verb I² 109 ff. Sayce's new suggestions do not commend themselves to me (see page 24 footnote). It would be best to regard e* as a locative of the pron. stem o, with temporal meaning (see III § 409 p. 329); compare te* (Lith. tē O.C.Sl. te) from to*- and the like (III § 424 p. 349). The relation of e* : ē* has plenty of parallels, as ie* : tē*, ne* : nē* (III p. 349 footnote, § 415 Rem. p. 337). Compare also Per Persson, Studia etymologica, p. 78.

If the verb had other prefixes besides the Augment, this stood immediately in front of the verb. But sometimes a verb compounded with a preposition became to all intents and purposes a simple form, and then the augment came right in front. Skr. a-pīdaya-t 'pressed' for pi-zd-* ('sit upon'), Gr. ἰ-πίεζον for π(ο)εδ-, see § 795. Skr. epic a-sambhramat 'he trembled'. Gr. Att. ἰ-καθεύδον beside καθ-ηύδον 'I slept'. When the structure of verbs was thus forgotten, there could even be a double augment: Skr. epic apraīṣīt beside praīṣīt = pra-āīṣīt 'he drove out', Gr. ἦν-εἰχέμην 'I endured'. The same thing occurs in reduplicated forms; see § 850.

§ 478. The augment with verbs beginning in a Consonant. Examples: Pr. Idg. é bherom* 'I bore': Skr. á-bharam

Kloppe, Dissert. de augmento Herodoteo, cp. I. II., Schleusingen 1848.

§ 479. In Vedic, some verbs beginning with v, y, or r have a- for their augment; as ā-crynak from vyṇākti 'turns round' (see Delbrück, Ai. Verb., 79). a- is also found as augment with verbs beginning in ā, ī, r; as āūnat from unātti 'wets' (see § 481). That this a- was original, at least in some of these forms, is made probable by the use of ṛ- instead of ī- not infrequently before Greek verbs with initial μ. Examples: Hom. ῥεῖδῃ 'he knew' for ṛ*-(F)εῖδῃ;¹) Att. εἶδον 'I saw' εἶλον 'I was captured' for ṛ*-(h)οραον ṛ*-(h)αλον (I § 611 p. 462); the aspirate in the last two is to be explained like that of εἰπόμεν ἐγκα (§ 478). Words like ῥογαζόμεν (beside εῖογαζόμεν) are less certain. It is true this form may be derived from ṛ*-(F)εγγ-; but so may it be an ad-formate of verbs which began with e- in the pre-Greek period (cp. ῥαζσα § 478, above).

Remark. On Greek forms with ṛ- compare G. Meyer, *Gr. Gr.*² pp. 421 ff.; the Author, *Gr. Gr.*³ p. 150, and the works there cited.

Another view, which I think not probable, is that certain verbs with initial F have a prothetic ī-, and that from these were made preterites with the temporal augment (ῥεῖδῃ being to ῥεῖσάμενος; what ῥεῖσθον is to ῥεῖσθω ✓ reudh-, cp. I § 626 pp. 470); afterwards, according to this view, other verbs with initial F but without prothetic ī- took ṛ- for augment.

On the other hand, I agree with those who refuse to see the Idg. augment ē-* in ῥεῖσόμεν 'I wished', ῥεῖνόμεν 'I could', and ῥεῖλλον 'I intended, I was to' do so and so. These forms occur in Attic from 300 B.C. onwards, and ῥελλον as early as Hesiod (Thesg. 478, 888, 898). It is a fair conjecture that these were modelled on ῥεῖσθον 'I wished', from ῥεῖσθω. In this Verb ṛ- was no augment but a preposition, another ablaut-form of ω- in ωφελίω etc., and identical with Skr. ā 'to towards'. The ī- of ῥεῖσθον is a third ablaut-form of the same prefix, to be compared with a in Avest. a-sās- etc.; but the use of ṛ- with ῥεῖσθω was confined to its preterite in prehistoric times, because ῥεῖσθω : ῥεῖσθον seemed to be related as were ῥεῖσθω : ῥεῖσθον. Cp. Osthoff, Perf. 129, 604; Bartholomae, Ar. Forsch. II 169; above, vol. III § 246 p. 145.

1) Some scholars would write εἰεῖδῃ in the Aeolic fashion, for which there is no authority at all. Attic ῥεῖδῃ cannot be contracted from ῥεῖδ- but only from ῥεῖδ-.

§ 480. In verbs with initial Sonant the augment has everywhere ceased to be a separate syllable. It was contracted with the root-initial in the original language (cp. I § 114 p. 107).

Examples. Pr. Idg. ēsṃ* for e esṃ* or ē esṃ*, cp. pres. es-mi* = Skr. āsmi etc.: Skr. āsam Avest. 3rd sing. ās O.Pers. aham i. e. āham, Gr. Hom. ἦα Att. ἦ 3rd sing. Dor. ἦς; ¹⁾ cp. O.C.Sl. -jachū for ēsom* in imperfects like nesěachū (§§ 493, 510, 903). Pr. Idg.: ēim* from eḱ-mi* 'I go': Skr. āyam 3rd sing. āīt Avest. 3rd sing. āip O.Pers. ayam i. e. āyam, Gr. ἦα instead of ḱa* for ḱu* (§ 502); compare Lith. ėjaũ 'I went' from the stem eḱ-ā-* (§ 586). Gr. ῥιζων from ῥιζω 'I strive'. O.C.Sl. s-aorist jasū = ēt-so-m*, ✓ed- 'eat'.

It is extremely probable that the same augment is seen in Lithuanian present forms of the substantive verb beginning with ē-, as pl. ěsame ěsate dual ěsava ěsata beside ěsame etc. and ěsme (ěsme) etc. Like O.C.Sl. -(j)achū -(j)aše etc. (see above), these were originally imperfect. But after all the other preterites of present stems with thematic vowel had fallen into disuse, this imperfect of es- was quite isolated; step by step it gave way to buvaũ, while at the same time the forms which ended like those of the present system came to be used as equivalent to them; and later the participle ěsąs was formed and used side by side with ěsąs, and in some dialects ěsù ěsì beside esù esì. Perhaps Lat. ēs 'thou art' (also ēs) is also an augmented form, and represents Idg. ēs-s.*²⁾

Remark. Osthoff (Perf., 184 ff.) assumes that Lat. ēs ēst ēstis from edō, and Lith. ėdmi ėdu etc. O.C.Sl. jamī (ēmī) are forms of the augmented imperfect used as present. I think that their ē- may very well have this origin. But another supposition is quite as good, nay

1) We are certainly tempted to follow Bopp, Lagarde, and Bugge, and add Arm. ēi 'eram' 3rd sing. ēr; but Idg. ē seems always to become Arm. i. Compare Hübschmann, Kuhn's Zeitschr. xxiii 12.

2) So too the augment has crept into the present and future in Modern Greek, as αἶ; ἐβλέπω, θὰ αἶ; ἐδύσω (Hatzidakis, Kuhn's Zeitschr. xxx 375); and so the augment of Armen. e-kn 'he came' and e-d 'he placed' has found its way into allied forms, as fut. ekic and edic (Hübschmann, Arm. Stud. i 28; Bugge, Kuhn's Zeitschr. xxxii 38).

better — that they represent the ablaut-grade Idg. ēd-. Then ēdmi : edmi* (Skr. ádmi) as Skr. imper. mid. sák-śra : sák-śva (✓ segh-), and as Skr. sāhati : sāhatē (Gr. ἔχεται), dhāvati : dhavatē (Gr. δαίω), Gr. μῆδουμαι : μῆδουαι, Lith. bėgu : Gr. φείδουαι, and so forth (§ 471 p. 16); and, if so, the ēd- of ēdmi* must be identified with that of the s-aorist Lat. ēssēm O.C.Sl. jesū (ēsū), and probably with that of the perfect forms Lat. ēdi, Lith. ėdęs O.C.Sl. judū (ēdū); see loc. cit. above. One view only I must distinctly oppose; the view of those who regard this root as not belonging to the recognised e-series, but to an ē-series, and who regard Skr. ádmi as not original, while the edmi* of Latin and Balto-Slavonic is. Compare § 494.

How came this ē-grade (mēd- etc.) to exist in e-roots? It is impossible to say. It is found, in the proethnic stage and later, not only in the present and aorist, but in the perfect too (§ 848. 3), and also in nouns (e. g. Gr. μῆδος μῆστορ Armen. mid); and we have no right to limit this ē to any single tense. It is certainly remarkable that the perfect forms with ē never had the reduplication (Skr. sāh-rās- etc.). But there are other original unreduplicated perfects, as for example moide* 'knows') see loc. cit.).

What was originally the quality of the resultant vowel, when an augment was contracted with the initial a- or o- of a root, it is hard to say. The Aryan languages of course always have ā-, whether the root began in e, o, or a; as Skr. ājat from ājati 'he drives' Gr. ἄγει, āpasyat from apasyāti 'is active' Lat. operātur. In Armenian, verbs beginning with a- have apparently no augment in the preterite, as ac 'he led', ar 'he took' and 'he anointed' anç 'παρῆλθε'; we also find a re-formation with augment ē-anç (with later ē instead of e). Greek forms like ἄγων Ion. ἄγον (from ἄγω 'I lead'), ὤζων (from ὀζω 'I smell'), ὤδησα (from οἰδέω 'I swell') are suspicious, because their long vowel might come from analogy, once such forms as esti* (ἔστι) : ēst* (ἦς) had produced a belief that the lengthening of an initial vowel marked the past tense. Beyond all doubt this is the cause of the long vowel in such words as ἱκέτευσσα (from ἱκετεύω 'I beseech') and ἑμεναίουν (ἑμεναιῶ 'I sing the bridal song'); compare what is said in § 643 on ὄρ-νῦ-μι : ὄρ-νῦ-μεν.

§ 481. In the plural and dual of the pret. of es-mi* 'I am' and eḡ-mi* 'I go', if Idg. e-* is allowed to be their augment, we should expect forms like Skr. á-sma* á-san*, Gr. ἔμεν* Lesb. ἔμμεν* and Skr. éma* á-yan*, Gr. ἐμεν*, cp. pres. 1st pl. Skr. s-más, i-más and the unaugmented imperf. Skr. Ved. s-an Avest. h-en and Avest. i-ta Gr. ἔ-τηρ. One such form is Avest. ahma Gathic ēhma = pr. Ar. a-sma*. Otherwise we find only ásma ásan áima áyan, Avest. 3rd dual āitem, O.Pers. 3rd pl. aha aya i. e. doubtless aha áya, Gr. ἡμεν ἦστε, O.C.Sl. 2nd pl. -(j)as-te. If we suppose that the augment here was ē (cp. § 477 and Rem. p. 25, § 479 pp. 26 f.), the sing. and dual-pl. agree in their initial syllable right back as far as the parent speech. However, it is possible, and probably better, to assume that the long vowel came from the singular, the initial of ásam ἦα as compared with ásmi εἶμι being classed in the popular imagination with that of the preterites ájam ánam ἦσαν etc., which had a long initial vowel in all persons.

Remark 1. η in ἡμεν ἦτε must be a re-formation (cp. I § 611 p. 461). But there is no need to bring in the influence of the sing. ἦα, since ē* + i-ent may conceivably have been the 3rd plural (cp. § 1020. 1. a).

Remark 2. Osthoff's view (Perf., 151 f.) that Skr. ásta Gr. ἦστε came from é esté*, and that esté* was the weak-grade form of ✓es- with secondary or bye-accent, is no longer tenable. See Bartholome, Bezz. Beitr. xvii 105.

In Sanskrit, verbs beginning with ā-, i-, or ṛ- have āu-, āi-, and ār- in their augmented preterite. áúnat from unátti 'wets' (ud-). áúhat from úhati 'removes, pushes'. áíchat from icháti 'wishes'. áśata from īśatē 'owns'. árchat from ṛcháti 'reaches, gets'. The augment here was probably ē; see § 479 above, on á-ryñak etc. Other attempts to explain these are given by Schleicher Comp.⁴ p. 738 (cp. J. Schmidt, Vocalismus, I 44) and Bartholomae, Ar. Forsch. II 74 f.

§ 482. In Herodotus are a series of apparently unaugmented forms, of which αῖτε (αἰτέω 'I ask'), εὔχετο (εὐχομαι 'I pray'), αὐξετο (αὐξέω 'I increase') are examples. These may be quite regular, and come from older forms with initial āi-, ēu-, āu-, as laid down in vol. I § 611 p. 461.

The vowels in the first syllable of such forms as Att. ἦτουν (αἰτέω), ἦνξάμην (εὐχομαι), ἦξον (αὐξέω), and ἦντησα (ἀντάω 'I meet'), ἦρχον (ἄρχω 'I lead'), ὥρουν (ὀρνέμι ὀρνύω

'I arouse, set a-going') is due to the analogy of ἡγόν : ἄγω, ἡρίζον : ἐρίζω etc. ἡμεν ἡτε are discussed in § 481 with the Remark, just above.

§ 483. The Augment Omitted. In the parent language the augment could be dispensed with. The forms with which it was used were not confined to the expression of any particular tense or time, and they could be used for the past without any augment. This was easy enough if past time were unmistakeably indicated by the context, or by some other expression in the sentence, such as Skr. purā Gr. πάρως. Compare § 909.

The use of both augmented and unaugmented forms (as é-bherom* and bhérom* in the sense of 'I carried') continued in the separate languages, and survivals of it occur right down into the historic period. The facts are as follows.

In Sanskrit of the Vedic period both modes of expression are used together; in the Rig-Veda they are about equally balanced. But even in Vedic we can see a growing preference for forms with the augment. In the Brahmanas and in Epic poetry the augment is rarely omitted. And in later or classical Sanskrit, which was ruled by the native grammarians, augmented forms alone are used. In Avestic the double usage is also found, though the augment occurs rarely in comparison with the number of times it is omitted. But Old Persian seems to know no preterites save those which have an augment (a few forms in this language are doubtful).

In Armenian the augment was kept only before monosyllabic verbal forms which kept their root vowel, or before those which without it would not have been a complete syllable. Thus the 3rd sing. aor. e-liĕ = Gr. ἔλινε has it, but 1st sing. liĕ has it not.¹⁾ It is found in other persons besides the 3rd sing. with the aorists of the roots dhē- 'place', dō- 'give', and gem- 'come'; thus 1st sing. e-di e-tu e-ki 3rd sing. e-d e-t e-kn. That the augment was kept or dropt according to the number of syllables in the word is clear from 1st pl. tuaġ beside sing. 1st pers. e-tu 2nd e-tur 3rd e-t pl. 2nd e-tuġ 3rd e-tun, and by comparison with 1st pl. e-daġ e-kaġ (beside e-di e-ki). The augment of edi and eki passed into other parts of the verb, for which see page 28, footnote 2.

In the Greek of Homer and the later epic poets, the use of the augment is artificial. In the later epic it is less and less omitted as the language approaches more nearly to ordinary prose. In prose, augmented forms predominated from the very first. The only exceptions are the pluperfect, which shows the old variation, e. g. πεπόνθη πεπόνθειν with ἔ-πεπόνθη ἔ-πεπόνθειν, and the iterative preterite in -σκον in Herodotus, as φεύγεσκον, which never has the augment. Perhaps the reason for these exceptions was that the forms of the 2nd plural and dual pluperfect (§ 836) and φευγέσχετε φευγόμεσθον could have only one meaning, while τρέπετε τρέπετον, τράπετε τράπετον, τρέψατε τρέψατον could be either indicative or imperative. This made the augment useful to make the sense clear. In Sanskrit and Old-Persian there was the same ambiguity (e. g. Skr. bhárata = ábharata, and also imperative); and there too a desire for clearness may have caused the augmented forms to become by degrees the only mode of expressing past action.

In all other branches of our group unaugmented forms gained the day. The scanty and obscure remnants of the augmented class have already been given. Examples of unaugmented forms are:

Latin. -bam in plantā-bam for fy-a-m* 'I was' (§ 583). dixit: Gr. ἔειξε ἔ-δειξε (§§ 823, 867. 3). scidit: Skr. chidá-t á-chida-t (§§ 523, 528, 867. 5).

Old-Irish. s-aorist ro-char 'he loved' for -caras-t* (§ 840).

Old High German. teta O.Sax. deda 'I did', if it is an imperfect like Greek τίθην ἔ-τίθην (§§ 545. 886), and O.H.G. O.Sax. wissun 'they knew', if it be for uits-ŋt* (§ 837). Compare Kluge in Paul's Grundr. i 375.

Lithuanian. būvo 'he was' for bhuṣa-t*: cp. Lat. -bat; minė 'he thought, devised' for mynē-t*: cp. Gr. μάνη ἐ-μάνη (§ 587). Old Church Slavonic. bě 'he was' for bhūē-t*: cp. Gr. φύη ἐ-φύη (§ 587); aor. vezŭ 'I carried, vexi': Skr. vāha-m ā-vaha-m (§ 514); s-aorist dēchŭ 'I laid': Skr. dhāsam ā-dhāsam (§ 812).

FORMATION OF THE TENSE STEM.¹⁾

GENERAL REMARKS.

1) Many works on the Present Stem (Imperfect-Present and Aorist-Present) include a more or less general discussion of tense formation, and it is not always easy to choose where to name them. For this reason, works on the Present Stem will here be included along with those on Tense-Formation in general. For works on the sio-Future, see § 747; for the s-Aorist § 810; for the Perfect, § 843 (the Germanic weak preterite § 907).

notice, learn'). Often the same form is imperfect in one language and aorist in another; the forms é-gene-t ($\sqrt{\text{gen-}}$ 'gignere') and é-dyke-t* ($\sqrt{\text{denk-}}$ 'bite') are imperfect in Sanskrit (ájanat ádaśat), and aorist in Greek (ἔγενετο ἔδανε). Or the same form is both, in one and the same language; Skr. á-pa-t 'drank' is imperfect of the pres. pá-ti, and aorist of the pres. pítha-ti. What the meaning of a given form was, whether imperfect or aorist, depended on its relation to others. See Delbrück, Ai. Verb. p. 16, Ai. Tempuslehre p. 5. For our purpose, then, the stems of the present and the strong aorist go together; and where it is advisable to refer to the difference in the kind of action implied, we shall use the terms imperfect-present and aorist-present.

Some of the forms which in grammars of this or that language are called Future Indicative were originally Con-junctives. For example, Lat. eris agē-s. These will be found under Con-junctive (§§ 910 ff.). In form they belong to the Present. In the same place will be found the Idg. series of Verbs built up with the suffix -sio-, as Skr. dā-syāmi Lith. dāsyti etc. These forms stand on the same level as -so- and -sio- are the same as the suffixes used in the present tense; -sio- is built up with -sio-, as -njo- is of -n(o)- etc. These forms are treated under the Present Tense.

With the stems which strictly speaking be classed the aorist, the future stems may be separated from the present as aorist stems. They are regular in future stems; and in whole language follow the same principle as the present. The future stems will be found in Class XIX of Present Stems (§§ 910 ff.). A more complete list is given all the same to this Aorist (§§ 810 ff.), but merely to assist in getting a general view of this large group of forms.

As to the proethnic Perfect, as dedorke* = Skr. dadārśa (Gr. δέδορκε (✓ derk- 'see'), it is distinguished from present forms by its grade of ablaut in the singular indicative active, by some special personal endings in the indicative, and (if we include the verb infinite) by a peculiar formation in the participle active. The remaining forms of the perfect system, with which we must include the pluperfect, have exact counterparts in the system of the present, and nothing but its use can tell us whether a given one of these forms is perfect, present, or aorist; even the reduplication with e is not confined to the perfect (§ 471 pp. 15 f.). Often the kind of action denoted is so little obvious, that grammarians doubt whether to class certain forms under Perfect or Present Stem (cp. Delbrück, Altind. Verb. 122 f., Whitney's Sanskrit Gram. § 868, Curtius *Verb II*² 24 f.). It is clear that notwithstanding these points of contact between the two classes, a special chapter must be given to the perfect, on account of the peculiarities which it has.

We therefore divide Verb Forms, from the point of view of the Formation of these Tenses, into three groups:

- I. Present (including Imperfect- and Aorist-Present).
- II. s-Aorist.
- III. Perfect.

§ 486. Before we proceed to our subject in detail, two distinctions must be explained which are usually made, and to which some attention must be given in discussing Tense Morphology. These are (1) the distinction between Primitive or Primary verbs, and Derivative or Secondary verbs (Denominative or Deverbative): (2) that between Root-Determinatives, and Tense-Suffixes, or the elements used in forming a tense stem.

§ 487. First — Primitive and Derivative Verbs. Primitives, such as es-ti* 'est' and age-ti* 'agit', are contrasted with two classes of derived verbs: (1) a class which in the formation of the stem is wholly verbal, as much as are the primitives; as Sanskrit Desideratives and Intensives (nī-nī-ṣa-ti nē-nī-yā-tē from nīya-ti 'leads'), and Inchoatives in Latin (gemiscō from gemō); (2) those which clearly contain a Noun Stem, called Denominatives: as Skr. gatu-yā-ti 'procures access' from gātú-ṣ 'access'. Gr. ποιαίνω 'I tend' from ποιμήν 'herdsman', Lat. planta-t from planta.

(1) The formation of Desideratives, Inchoatives, Intensives, Iteratives, Frequentatives, Causatives and the rest is in principle absolutely the same as that of the so-called Primitive verbs connected with them. There is a distinction, however, in the meaning of the present tense; in these verbs the present had a second special meaning in addition to that of time. This distinguished them from the primitives, which had a simpler meaning in the present, and the formation with some special meaning became a more or less fertile type. But they were not originally derived from their primitives for the express purpose of conveying this new meaning; the new meaning, indeed, does not always date from the protothnic stage at all, but belongs to a later period, and it often has nothing to do with the form, but depends on other circumstances. This is the case with Lat. inchoatives in -scō (§ 674). Thus it is clear that we cannot use this different meaning as a principle of classification; our aim is historical, and we base our classification on the conditions which prevailed in the protothnic stage, and as far as possible on etymology. We must then be content to point out the special meaning where it is of any importance, and, wherever it is possible, to explain how the meaning came in.

(2) It is less easy to classify the second group of forms, and to find out how far indicative stems, which we see combined with personal endings into a word, are purely verbal, and how far they are wholly or partly nominal. If we could only see which were based on noun stems and which derived from verbs, this would of course be the main principle of distinction.

There is no manner of doubt that the Idg. languages had not only denominative verbs with an additional suffix between stem and personal ending — such as Skr. gātu-yá-ti apas-yá-ti ('is active', from ápas- 'work') Lith. pāsako-ju ('I recount' from pāsaka 'account'), which have -io- between stem and ending — but also others where the personal suffix was added immediately to the noun stem. Such forms are Lat. planta-s planta-t etc. from planta, O.H.G. salbō-s 'thou anointest' salbō-t etc. from salba 'ointment', Lith. jūsto 'he girds' jūsto-me from jūsta 'girdle', Aeol. τίμα-μεν 'we honour' from τίμα 'honour'. Also Skr. mārga-ti 'tracks, traces' from mārga-s 'path, track', phala-ti 'bears fruit' from phāla-m 'fruit', Gr. θέρμυ-το 'grew warm' from θερμός, ἔχρησμε 'was useful' beside χρησμέω, Skr. jīva-ti Lat. viri-t O.C.Sl. žive-tū 'lives' from jī-vā-s vī-vo-s ži-vū 'alive'. With very good reason, all forms with a thematic vowel, and therefore all presents formed by -o- -no- -to- -io- etc., have been explained as noun-stems with added personal endings (so, for example, Curtius Verb I² 14 f., 161, 239, 296): as specimens take Skr. āja-ti 'drives' Gr. ἄγει Lat. agi-t with Skr. ajā-s 'driver' Gr. ἄγός Lat. prōd-igu-s; Skr. paṇa-tē 'buys' with paṇa-s 'wager, stipulation' Lith. peļna-s 'profit' (I § 259 p. 212), Skr. vēna-ti 'yearns' with vēnā-s 'yearning', Goth. frathni-þ 'asks' with Skr. praśnā-s 'question'; containing -yno- -eno- -ono- (Class XIV): compare Skr. kṛpāna-te 'he acts pitifully, begs' with kṛpānā-s 'pitiful, poor', Gr. θηγάνει 'sharpens' with θήγανον 'something to sharpen with, whetstone', Goth. us-lūkni-þ 'opens itself' with us-lūkn-s 'open', Lith. kūpinu 'I heap up' with kūpina-s 'heaped'; Skr. vṛṣṭa-tē 'turns round' with vṛṣṭā-s 'bond, noose', Gr. ἔβλαστε 'grew, sprouted' with βλαστός 'bud, sprout'; Skr. pāya-ti 'stinks' with pāya-m 'ill smelling discharge, matter'. Even some non-thematic and primitive stems have the same kind of relation to noun stems. For example take Skr. dhṛṣṇu-mās 'we are brave' and dhṛṣṇú-ṣ 'brave'. The root-extending suffix -a-, in bhuṇ-a-* bhu-a-* (Lith. būvo Lat. -bat), tr-a-* (Skr. trā-sva imper. 'preserve, save', Lat. in-trā-mus trā-ns) it seems necessary to identify with the feminine suffix -a-, compare Skr. jī-jyāu 'he has overcome' (fut. jyā-

sing. e-d e-t e-kn. That the augment was kept or dropt according to the number of syllables in the word is clear from 1st pl. tuaġ beside sing. 1st pers. e-tu 2nd e-tur 3rd e-t pl. 2nd e-tuġ 3rd e-tun, and by comparison with 1st pl. e-daġ e-kaġ (beside e-di e-ki). The augment of edi and eki passed into other parts of the verb, for which see page 28, footnote 2.

In the Greek of Homer and the later epic poets, the use of the augment is artificial. In the later epic it is less and less omitted as the language approaches more nearly to ordinary prose. In prose, augmented forms predominated from the very first. The only exceptions are the pluperfect, which shows the old variation, e. g. πεπόνθη πεπόνθειν with ἰ-πεπόνθη ἰ-πεπόνθειν, and the iterative preterite in -σκον in Herodotus, as φεύγεσκον, which never has the augment. Perhaps the reason for these exceptions was that the forms of the 2nd plural and dual pluperfect (§ 836) and φευγέσχετε φευγίσκετον could have only one meaning, while τρέπετε τρέπετον, τράπετε τράπετον, τρέψατε τρέψατον could be either indicative or imperative. This made the augment useful to make the sense clear. In Sanskrit and Old-Persian there was the same ambiguity (e. g. Skr. bhárata = ábharata, and also imperative); and there too a desire for clearness may have caused the augmented forms to become by degrees the only mode of expressing past action.

In all other branches of our group unaugmented forms gained the day. The scanty and obscure remnants of the augmented class have already been given. Examples of unaugmented forms are:

Latin. -bam in plantā-bam for fy-ā-m* 'I was' (§ 583). dixit: Gr. διῆξε ἰ-διῆξε (§§ 823, 867. 3). scidit: Skr. chidá-t á-chida-t (§§ 523, 528, 867. 5).

Old-Irish. s-aorist ro-char 'he loved' for -caras-t* (§ 840).

Old High German. teta O.Sax. deda 'I did', if it is an imperfect like Greek τίθην ἰ-τίθην (§§ 545. 886), and O.H.G. O.Sax. wissun 'they knew', if it be for uits-qt* (§ 837). Compare Kluge in Paul's Grundr. I 375.

Lithuanian. būvo 'he was' for bhuuā-t*: cp. Lat. -bat; minė 'he thought, devised' for m̃nē-t*: cp. Gr. μᾶν ἔ-μᾶν (§ 587). Old Church Slavonic. bě 'he was' for bhyē-t*: cp. Gr. φῆν ἔ-φῆν (§ 587); aor. vezŭ 'I carried, vexi': Skr. vāha-m ā-vaha-m (§ 514); s-aorist děchŭ 'I laid': Skr. dhāsam ā-dhāsam (§ 812).

GENERAL REMARKS.

§ 484. In classifying forms of a verbal system the grammars regard meaning rather than form. The result is that forms which are closely connected in structure and in derivation have often to be kept apart, and at the same time notice, learn'). Often the same form is imperfect in one language and aorist in another; the forms é-gene-t ($\sqrt{g}$ gen- 'gignere') and é-dṇke-t* ($\sqrt{d}$ deñk- 'bite') are imperfect in Sanskrit (ájanat ádaśat), and aorist in Greek (ἐγίνετο ἔδανε). Or the same form is both, in one and the same language; Skr. á-pā-t 'drank' is imperfect of the pres. pā-ti, and aorist of the pres. pība-ti. What the meaning of a given form was, whether imperfect or aorist, depended on its relation to others. See Delbrück, Ai. Verb. p. 16, Ai. Tempuslehre p. 5. For our purpose, then, the stems of the present and the strong aorist go together; and where it is advisable to refer to the difference in the kind of action implied, we shall use the terms imperfect-present and aorist-present.

1) Many works on the Present Stem (Imperfect-Present and Aorist-Present) include a more or less general discussion of tense formation, and it is not always easy to choose where to name them. For works on the sio-Future, see § 747; for the s-Aorist § 810; for the Perfect, § 843 (the Germanic weak preterite § 907).

Some of the forms which in grammars of this or that language are called Future Indicative were originally Con-junctive; for example, Lat. eri-s agē-s. These will be found under Con-junctive (§§ 910 ff.). In form they belong to the Present. In the same place will be found the Idg. series of forms built up with the suffix -sjo-, as Skr. dā-syāmi Lith. dū'-siu 'dabo'. The -sjo- stands on the same level as -so- -sko- and other formative suffixes used in the present tense; it is probably made up of -s(o)- + -jo-, as -njo- is of -n(o)- + -jo- (§ 743). Thus these futures are treated under the Present Tense.

With the Present also should strictly speaking be classed the s-Aorist. Its characteristic s cannot be separated from the s which is so common in present and regular in future stems; and its whole inflexion follows the same principle as the present. The s-aorist would properly go with Class XIX of Present Stems (cp. §§ 655, 656). A separate chapter is given all the same to this Aorist (§§ 810 ff.), but merely to assist in getting a general view of this large group of forms.

As to the proethnic Perfect, as dedorke* = Skr. dadārśa Gr. ῑῑδορκε (✓ derk- 'see'), it is distinguished from present forms by its grade of ablaut in the singular indicative active, by some special personal endings in the indicative, and (if we include the verb infinite) by a peculiar formation in the participle active. The remaining forms of the perfect system, with which we must include the pluperfect, have exact counterparts in the system of the present, and nothing but its use can tell us whether a given one of these forms is perfect, present, or aorist; even the reduplication with e is not confined to the perfect (§ 471 pp. 15 f.). Often the kind of action denoted is so little obvious, that grammarians doubt whether to class certain forms under Perfect or Present Stem (cp. Delbrück, Altind. Verb. 122 f., Whitney's Sanskrit Gram. § 868, Curtius *Verb II*² 24 f.). It is clear that notwithstanding these points of contact between the two classes, a special chapter must be given to the perfect, on account of the peculiarities which it has.

We therefore divide Verb Forms, from the point of view of the Formation of these Tenses, into three groups:

- I. Present (including Imperfect- and Aorist-Present).
- II. s-Aorist.
- III. Perfect.

§ 486. Before we proceed to our subject in detail, two distinctions must be explained which are usually made, and to which some attention must be given in discussing Tense Morphology. These are (1) the distinction between Primitive or Primary verbs, and Derivative or Secondary verbs (Denominative or Deverbative): (2) that between Root-Determinatives, and Tense-Suffixes, or the elements used in forming a tense stem.

§ 487. First — Primitive and Derivative Verbs. Primitives, such as es-ti* 'est' and āge-ti* 'agit', are contrasted with two classes of derived verbs: (1) a class which in the formation of the stem is wholly verbal, as much as are the primitives; as Sanskrit Desideratives and Intensives (nī-nī-ṣa-ti nē-nī-yá-tē from náya-ti 'leads'), and Inchoatives in Latin (gemiscō from gemō): (2) those which clearly contain a Noun Stem, called Denominatives; as Skr. gātu-yá-ti 'procures access' from gātu-ṣ 'access', Gr. ποιμαίνω 'I tend' from ποιμήν 'herdsman', Lat. planta-t from planta.

(1) The formation of Desideratives, Inchoatives, Intensives, Iteratives, Frequentatives, Causatives and the rest is in principle absolutely the same as that of the so-called Primitive verbs connected with them. There is a distinction, however, in the meaning of the present tense; in these verbs the present had a second special meaning in addition to that of time. This distinguished them from the primitives, which had a simpler meaning in the present, and the formation with some special meaning became a more or less fertile type. But they were not originally derived from their primitives for the express purpose of conveying this new meaning; the new meaning, indeed, does not always date from the proethnic stage at all, but belongs to a later period, and it often has nothing to do with the form, but depends on other circumstances. This is the case with Lat. inchoatives in -scō (§ 674). Thus it is clear that we cannot use this different meaning as a principle of classification; our aim is historical, and we base our classification on the conditions which prevailed in the proethnic stage, and as far as possible on etymology. We must then be content to point out the special meaning where it is of any importance, and, wherever it is possible, to explain how the meaning came in.

(2) It is less easy to classify the second group of forms, and to find out how far indicative stems, which we see combined with personal endings into a word, are purely verbal, and how far they are wholly or partly nominal. If we could only see which were based on noun stems and which derived from verbs, this would of course be the main principle of distinction.

There is no manner of doubt that the Idg. languages had not only denominative verbs with an additional suffix between stem and personal ending — such as Skr. gātu-yá-ti apas-yá-ti ('is active', from ápas- 'work') Lith. pāsako-ju ('I recount' from pāsaka 'account'), which have -jo- between stem and ending — but also others where the personal suffix was added immediately to the noun stem. Such forms are Lat. plantā-s planta-t etc. from planta, O.H.G. salbō-s 'thou anointest' salbō-t etc. from salba 'ointment', Lith. jū'sto 'he girds' jū'sto-me from jū'sta 'girdle', Aeol. τίμα-μεν 'we honour' from τίμα 'honour'. Also Skr. mārga-ti 'tracks, traces' from mārga- 'path, track', phala-ti 'bears fruit' from phāla-m 'fruit', Gr. θέρμε-το 'grew warm' from θερμός, ἔχραυμε 'was useful' beside χραυμέω, Skr. jīva-ti Lat. vīvi-t O.C.Sl. žive-tŭ 'lives' from jī-vā-s vī-vo-s ži-vŭ 'alive'. With very good reason, all forms with a thematic vowel, and therefore all presents formed by -o- -no- -to- -jo- etc., have been explained as noun-stems with added personal endings (so, for example, Curtius Verb I² 14 f., 161, 239, 296): as specimens take Skr. ajā-ti 'drives' Gr. ἄγει Lat. agi-t with Skr. ajā-s 'driver' Gr. ἀγός Lat. prōd-igu-s; Skr. paṇa-tē 'buys' with paṇa-s 'wager, stipulation' Lith. pešna-s 'profit' (I § 259 p. 212), Skr. vēna-ti 'yearns' with vēnā-s 'yearning', Goth. frāhni-þ 'asks' with Skr. praśnā-s 'question'; containing -uno- -eno- -ono- (Class XIV): compare Skr. kṛpāṇa-te 'he acts pitifully, begs' with kṛpāṇā-s 'pitiful, poor', Gr. θηγάνει 'sharpens' with θήγανον 'something to sharpen with, whetstone', Goth. us-lūkni-þ 'opens itself' with us-lūkn-s 'open', Lith. kūpinu 'I heap up' with kūpina-s 'heaped'; Skr. vṛṣṭa-tē 'turns round' with vṛṣṭā-s 'bond, noose', Gr. ἐβλαστε 'grew, sprouted' with βλαστός 'bud, sprout'; Skr. pūya-ti 'stinks' with pūya-m 'ill smelling discharge, matter'. Even some non-thematic and primitive stems have the same kind of relation to noun stems. For example take Skr. dhṛṣṇu-mās 'we are brave' and dhṛṣṇú-ṣ 'brave'. The root-extending suffix -a-, in bhuy-a-* bhu-a-* (Lith. būvo Lat. -bat), tr-a-* (Skr. trā-sva imper. 'preserve, save', Lat. in-trā-mus trā-ns) it seems necessary to identify with the feminine suffix -ā-, compare Skr. jī-jyāú 'he has overcome' (fut. jyā-

-sya-ti etc.) Gr. Ion. βε-βίη-ται (aor. βίη-σατο etc.) with fem. Skr. jyā- jiyā- 'power, superiority' Gr. βίᾱ from $\sqrt{\text{gei-}}$ (Skr. jāy-a-ti ji-nā-ti and others). So also -es-, which extends the root in u-es-* 'clothe' (Skr. vās-tē Gr. ἐπι-εσται and other words) must be the same as the neuter suffix -es-, and the tense-formative -as- in Skr. á-jāriṣ-ur 'they have grown old' the same as -as- the neuter suffix (Gr. γηρας). Many other proofs will meet us in the course of our enquiry.

It need hardly be said that these denominatives or noun-verbs did not all appear at the same time. The different types of formation belong to very different periods; and in the earliest strata, e. g. in verbs of Class II such as Skr. āja-ti Lat. agi-t, their noun origin was forgotten even in the proethnic language.

But of what verbs, then, can we be certain that when their stem was fused with a personal pronoun it was a verb and not a noun? Of none at all. Even where the stem is the bare root, reduplicated or not, as in es-ti* ἔσ-τι, stā-t* στᾷ, bhibhai-ti* Skr. bībhē-ti, the stem may be regarded as a nomen actionis or agentis (cp. the Root Nouns, II §§ 159 ff., pp. 478 ff.).

In the formation of those verbs which are traditionally called Denominative there is nothing to distinguish them from what are classed as primary verbs. Lat. plantā-s is just like intrā-s hiā-s, Aeol. ἐτῆμα-μεν like ἔδωκα-μεν ἔτλη-μεν, Lith. jũ'sto like bijōs lūdo. Even the present formation with -jo- is nothing peculiar to the denominative class. We see in Skr. apas-yā-ti pṛtanā-yā-ti Gr. ὀνομαίνω etc. the same present secondary suffix -jo- as we see in reduplicated forms such as Skr. dēdiṣ-yā-tē Gr. γαργαίρω (Class XXVII), in forms such as Skr. grbhā-yā-ti, pass. trā-yā-tē, Gr. δραῖω for δρα-ίω*, ἰώμαι for ἰα-ίω* (Class XXVIII), and in futures such as Skr. ta-s-yā-tē vēd-iṣ-yā-ti (Class XXX). Lat. plantō (for plantā-jo*) Skr. pṛtanā-yā-ti are related to Lat. plantā-s Lith. jũ'sto just as Lat. intrō (for intrā-jo*) Skr. trā-yā-tē to Lat. in-tra-s Skr. tra-ti trā-sva, as Skr. dēdiṣ-yā-tē to dēdiṣ-ṭē, and as Skr. fut. vēdiṣ-yā-ti to aor. á-vēdiṣ-ma.

That the term Denominative Verbs cannot be restricted to one special mode of inflexion is clear from many other instances where verbs have been derived from nouns by simply imitating the inflexion of any Primary Verb. Primary verbs in -éjō (Causatives, and Intensives or Iteratives) were the model for Skr. mantráya-tē 'he takes counsel, advises' from mántra-s, and Goth. fulljan O.C.Sl. plūni-ti 'to fill' from full-s plūnū. In Gothic, primary verbs like af-lifnan were the model for fullnan 'to become full' from full-s; in Lithuanian, kūpin-ti etc. were the model for such derivatives as līnksmin-ti 'to make cheerful' from līnksma-s, and virstū vīrsti etc. for gelstū gelsti 'to become yellow' from gelta-s. These and similar re-formations will be discussed in § 793. They were due to the fact that there were nouns from the same root as some of the primary verbs, and from these they were believed to be derived. Then real denominatives were formed and used along with these apparent ones.

Thus in our classification of verbs, which depends first and foremost upon differences of inflexion, no use can be made of the traditional distinction between Primary and Denominative.

Even if the term Denominative were to be restricted to its common application it would be misleading. The feeling of a speaker for his language can give no help here. Often it cannot be made out whether the speaker regarded a given form as Denominative or not; his feeling often changed according to suggested associations; and if feeling of this sort were made the standard, we should often enough be led to class with Denominatives verbs which were only so by false analogy, and to class as Primary some which were undoubtedly derived from a noun. If again we took as our standard not the feeling of the speaker, but the actual formation of the words, we should be no nearer to getting a settled boundary line. It is easy to say, let those verbs be called denominative which contain noun formative suffixes, thus showing their noun origin, words that is like Gr. τῆμάω from τῆ-μή, ποιμαίνω from ποι-μήν, or Goth. fullnan from full-s (ground-form pl-no-s*). But not to mention that this criterion excludes verbs derived from root nouns, little is gained by this mode of classification; for the task of historical grammar is not so much to analyse the forms and to describe their etymological structure, as to discover their origin and growth. In numberless instances doubts arise as to the correctness of our terminology. The commonest example is that of two classes of verbs running together, a primary and a denominative; e. g. in Greek, verbs in $-\acute{\epsilon}\lambda\tilde{\iota}\tilde{o}$ and verbs in $-e-\acute{\lambda}\tilde{o}$ both become $-\acute{\epsilon}\omega$; in Germanic, verbs in $-\acute{\lambda}\tilde{o}$ $-\acute{\epsilon}\lambda\tilde{i}\tilde{o}$ and those in $-e-\acute{\lambda}\tilde{o}$ $-i-\acute{\lambda}\tilde{o}$ both became (Goth.) $-ja$; in Lithuanian, verbs in $-\acute{\epsilon}\lambda\tilde{i}\tilde{o}$ and verbs in $-a-mi$ ($-a-\acute{\lambda}\tilde{i}\tilde{o}$) both became $-au$ (inf. $-y-ti$). Here the question whether a given verb is primary or denominative is absurd, because it may quite well have been both. For instance, Lith. bradaũ bradyti 'to wade about' may be derived both from bradà subst. 'wading' on the analogy of jũ'stau jũ'styti 'to gird', a denominative from jũ's-ta 'girdle', and from brədũ 'I wade' on the analogy of $-manaũ -manjti$, the old "primary" $\acute{\epsilon}\lambda\tilde{i}\tilde{o}$ -byeform of menũ 'I remember'; and Greek $\tau\rho\sigma\pi\acute{\epsilon}\omega$ may come from $\tau\rho\acute{o}\pi\omicron-\varsigma$ on the analogy of $\nu\sigma\sigma\acute{\epsilon}\omega : \nu\acute{o}\sigma-\tau\omicron-\varsigma$, and from $\tau\rho\acute{\epsilon}\pi\omega$ on the analogy of $\varphi\omicron\varrho\acute{\epsilon}\omega$ (= Skr. bhārāya-ti): $\varphi\acute{\epsilon}\rho\omega$.

But however faulty our grammatical terminology may be, we cannot afford to dispense with it altogether in a book like this. I shall keep the term Denominative for verbs derived from nouns in the later periods, when the verb stem was still more or less felt to be originally a noun; for instance, Skr. gātu-yá-ti, Gr. $\tau\acute{\iota}\mu\acute{\alpha}\omega$, and Lat. planta-t.

§ 488. Turn we now to the distinction drawn between Root-Determinatives and Suffixes or other elements used in forming the Tense Stem.

What is usually understood, or may be understood, by the term Root-determinative has been set forth in II § 8 Rem. 2 pp. 20 f. A reference should be added to Curtius, Greek Etymology² pp. 59 ff., and Fick, Wörterb. IV³ 44 ff.¹

1) Another work, systematic, and valuable in spite of much bold conjecture, is Per Persson's Studien zur Lehre von der Wurzelweiterung

These elements may appear in any part of the verb. For instance, from Idg. rē-dh-* 'take counsel' come Skr. á-rādha-t rādhnō-ti rādhya-tē rātsyá-ti, rarādh-a, á-rātsī-t, rāddhá-s rāddhvā etc.; from Idg. sr-ey-* sr-u- 'flow' come Skr. sráva-ti, sraviṣyá-ti, susráv-a, srutá-s etc. But they are sometimes found only in present or aorist forms, and disappear in the rest; as Lat. per-cellō for cel-dō* beside perf. -culi, Lith. vér-du 'I boil' beside pret. viriaũ inf. viř-ti, O.C.Sl. ži-va 'I live' beside aor. ži-chũ inf. ži-ti.¹⁾ Again, present formative-suffixes, to use the stock phrase, spread beyond their own proper area both in the original language and later. These two reasons make it impossible always to keep Root-Determinatives distinct from Present Formative-Suffixes; the origin of both, by the way, is equally obscure. The tense which we call Present was almost always the foundation for the whole structure of the Verb and its associated noun forms; and the spread of root determinatives over all the verbal system is due to the same principle which from Skr. pí-nva-ti 'fattens' makes the perfect pininva and the participle pinvi-tá-s, and makes Skr. á-yunak-ṣ-mahi Lat. jūnx-ī Lith. jūnk-siu from yunaktē jungō jūngiu (✓jeug- 'iungere').

There is something else which shows the impossibility of carrying out the usual distinction between Determinatives and ordinary Inflexions. In discussing the inflexion of the present in primary classes of verbs, it is too common to find the first syllable of a form taken for the uninflected kernel of it. Because in bhereti* 'fert', the syllable bher- is this kernel, that is, the root, therefore in treseti* (Skr. trāsati Gr. τρᾶσι) the syllable tres- is called the root; then, because there is not the same syllable in Skr. tar-alá-s 'moving to and fro, und Wurzelvariation, Upsala 1891. This has reached me too late for anything more than occasional use. With his treatment of the main questions of principle as set forth on pages 202 and following, I agree.

1) In Lat. vi-rō too the *yo-*suffix was once confined to the present. vīzi vīctum are re-formates, for vī-si* ri-tum*. See Osthoff, Paul-Braune's Beitr. viii 274; Stolz, Lat. Gr.² p. 383.

trembling' Gr. τρ-έμω Lat. tr-emō Lith. tr-imū 'I tremble', -es- is called a "determinative", whilst in Skr. vás-tē 'clothes himself' Gr. ἐπί-εσται ($\sqrt{em-}$, in Lith. au-nū Lat. ex-uō) -es- is not so called because these verbs are looked upon as parallel to forms like es-ti*. But inasmuch as tres-* and yes-* run right through the whole system of their verbs, they have become "roots". And there is no more reason for separating Skr. 1st sing. tr-ásē v-ásē from 1st sing. yaj-asē ṛñj-asē than for separating (say) bhū-ō* (Lat. -bō O.C.Sl. 3rd pl. bq) Skr. á-hv-a-t Gr. ἐ-πλ-ε from bher-ō* (Gr. φείρ-ω) Skr. á-vid-a-t. We always hear of an "s-suffix" in such words as Skr. yaj-asē; but why? Simply because the ending -asē is not the first syllable of the word. The ē of pl-ē* 'fill' (Skr. prá-si Gr. πλῆ-το Lat. -plē-s) is called part of the Root; but it is the same ē which we have in myn-ē* Gr. ἐ-μάνη Lith. mìn-ē), tak-ē* (Lat. tac-ē-s O.H.G. dag-ē-s), where it is called Inflexion. And the "determinative" -dh- is called inflexional in Gr. φλεγέθω νεμέθομαι πελάθω, but not in ἐ-δρα-θo-ν ἐ-δαρ-θo-ν, or ᾠχ-θo-μαι. The question whether a verbal element, which can be analysed no further, is or is not a separate syllable has, it is true, some importance; for it influenced the grouping of the forms in the speaker's memory, and this affected the developement of a language in many ways: e. g. the root in Lith. v-ejū O.C.Sl. v-ŷja 'I wind, turn' (= Skr. v-áya-ti 'weaves'), since it formed in itself no syllable, did not follow the course taken by the other verbs in -éjō (Class XXXII) in Balto-Slavonic. But this cannot justify the making a distinction, as is so often done, between things which are clearly connected. Dealing as we do with the parent language, and from this point investigating the growth of the Verbal System, we must discuss together Skr. v-ásē and yaj-asē, Greek πλ-ῆ-το ἐ-βλ-η and ἐ-μάνη ἐ-βάλ-η.

If, as it seems right to do, a special Present Class is given to és-ti* 'is' (Skr. ás-ti, $\sqrt{es-}$), another to yemā-ti* 'vomits' (Skr. vámi-ti, $\sqrt{yem-}$), and a third to bhsē-ti* 'chews up, devours' (Skr. psá-ti, $\sqrt{bha^s-}$ seen in bá-bhas-ti), it is only consistent to distinguish each of the following as another class of Present

Stems: — a u-: eu-class for Skr. sr-áva-ti Gr. $\rho\acute{-}\acute{\epsilon}(F)\epsilon\iota$ 'flows' Skr. á-su-srō-t from $\sqrt{\text{ser-}}$ seen in Skr. sí-sar-ti, for Skr. dr-áva-ti 'runs' á-du-dr-uva-t from $\sqrt{\text{der-}}$, seen in Skr. dr-á-ti dr-ama-ti 'runs', and others; an m-class for Skr. dr-ama-ti Gr. $\acute{\epsilon}\text{-}\delta\rho\text{-}\alpha\mu\omicron\text{-}\nu$ from the above mentioned der-, for Gr. $\tau\rho\text{-}\acute{\epsilon}\mu\omega$ Lat. tr-emō Lith. tr-imù 'I tremble' from $\sqrt{\text{ter-}}$, seen in Skr. tar-ald-s 'moving to and fro, trembling' tr-ása-ti 'trembles', and others; a y-class (probably connected closely with the u-: eu-class) for Skr. jí-va-ti Lat. vī-vi-t O.C.Sl. žī-ve-tŭ 'lives' from $\sqrt{\text{gei-}}$, seen in Avest. gay-a 'life' jy-āiti- 'life' Gr. $\zeta\eta\bar{\iota}$ (for $\ast\text{gi-}\bar{\epsilon}$), O.C.Sl. žī-ti 'to live', for Avest. ni-šaurvaiti 'defends' Skr. dhárva-ti 'harms' bhárvasi 'chews, destroys' etc. In the same way we come to a p-class, a bh-class, a k-class, and so forth. But this principle will not be consistently carried out, for two reasons. First, in these and many similar classes which might be made only a few examples occur, and thus for our period such formative elements as these can hardly be said to have any real productive power. Secondly, any attempt to make such a classification complete would lead us into labyrinths of root-analysis which would properly be without the scope of a compendium like the present. Roots with this kind of Determinatives, then, which we do not place in any separate class, we shall generally assume to be incapable of further analysis; and thus we place (say) Gr. $\tau\rho\text{-}\acute{\epsilon}\mu\omega$ in the same division as $\nu\acute{\epsilon}\mu\omega$ and $\gamma\acute{\epsilon}\mu\omega$.

§ 489. The formation of the Moods, the stems of the Injunctive, Conjunctive, Optative, and Imperative, will follow that of the Tense Stem (§§ 909 ff.). It must however, be here pointed out that the elements which are generally regarded as mood-formative are sometimes etymologically the same as in the indicative. Injunctive and Indicative forms, of course, cannot be separated. And it is beyond all doubt that the short Conjunctive vowel (Gr. $-\epsilon\text{-}$ $-o\text{-}$), as in $\ast\text{es-e-ti}$ Skr. ásati Lat. erit (indic. $\ast\text{es-ti}$ 'est'), Hom. $\acute{\alpha}\text{-}\lambda\epsilon\text{-}\tau\alpha\iota$ (indic. $\acute{\alpha}\lambda\text{-}\tau\omicron$ 'sprang'), is the same as what is called the thematic vowel in the Indicative (as $\ast\text{ag-e-ti}$ Skr. ájati Lat. agit).

Further, I hold that the conjunctive vowel -ā- in Lat. ferā-s etc. is the same as -ā- found after weak root-forms in the indicative (Classes X and XI), and also the same as the ā which forms feminine nouns (§ 487 pp. 41 f.); thus Lat. fu-ā-mus belongs to the same class of words as the Indic. Lat. -bā-mus (for fu-ā-mos*) and Lith. bùv-o-me (§ 578), and that Lat. poscat for porscā-t*, the indic. O.H.G. forscōt 'demands', and the Skr. fem. pycha 'question' (common ground-form pyk-skā-*) in point of etymology must all go together. So also the Italic conjunctive -ē- is to be identified with the Indicative -ē- (Classes X and XI), and so forth.

In all these cases it were proper to keep together whatever forms are etymologically akin. But if we did so, a student who is used to the practice observed hitherto, of arranging forms according to their function, would hardly be able to find his way. So I prefer to give this up, and simply call attention to etymology and structure where it is convenient to do so.

THE PRESENT STEM.

IMPERFECT PRESENT AND AORIST PRESENT.¹⁾

§ 490. The classes of the Present Stem are very commonly divided into two groups:

(1) Thematic, or verbs in -ō (Bopp's First Main Conjugation); and

(2) Non-thematic, or verbs in -mi (Bopp's Second Main Conjugation).

The first group has in the Indicative -o- or -e- just before the personal ending; but -ō is the ending of the 1st person singular. These vowels were distributed amongst the persons of the singular and plural (we may leave the dual out for the present) in very much the same way as they are in Greek; -e- in the 2nd person of both, and the 3rd singular, -o- in the 1st persons (but 1st sing. pres. act. -ō) and in the 3rd plural:

1) For works bearing on this subject, see footnote to page 33.

compare 2nd sing. ἔφθε-ς φέρε-αι ἐφέρε-ο (for the indic. pres. act. cp. Goth. baíri-s), 2nd pl. φέρε-τε ἐφέρε-τε φέρε-σθε ἐφέρε-σθε, 3rd sing. ἔφθε φέρε-ται ἐφέρε-το (for the indic. pres. act. cp. Goth. baíri-þ); 1st sing. (φέρω) ἔφερο-ν (φέρω-μαι ἐφερό-μην), 1st pl. φέρο-μεν ἐφέρο-μεν φερό-μεθα ἐφερό-μεθα, 3rd pl. φέρο-ντι (φέρουσι) ἐφερο-ν φέρο-νται ἐφερο-ντο. The variation -e- : -o- is the rule in all the present o-suffixes except -ῖο-, where instead of it there is sometimes -i- -ῖ-; see § 702. The Con-junctive shows a long vowel before the personal endings, as 1st and 2nd pl. Gr. φέρω-μεν φερώ-μεθα φέρη-τε φέρη-σθε Lat. ferā-mas ferā-tis Skr. bhárā-ma bhárā-mahāi bhárā-tha bhárā-dhvāi. The Optative has the thematic vowel -o-, and between it and the personal ending ῖ, which, when the personal ending began in a consonant, combined with the thematic vowel into a diphthong and a single syllable, as 2nd sing. Gr. φέροι-ς Goth. baíraí-s Skr. bhárē-ṣ.

To the second group belong all present stems which have no thematic vowel before the personal ending in the Indicative. The personal endings were mostly the same as in the first group. There is a strange difference in the first person singular pres. indic., which had in the parent language, as it has in Greek, the ending -mi; Gr. εἶ-μι τίθη-μι δάμνη-μι στέργω-μι etc., not like φέρω βόσκω τύντω πορέω. In most non-thematic conjugations, the indicative had, and retains, a vowel grading; the syllable just before the personal ending, whether root or suffix, had the strong grade (and accent) in the singular of the active, and the weak grade (no accent) in the active dual and plural: compare Skr. act. sing. 1st pers. dvēṣ-mi ('I hate') á-dvēṣ-am 2nd dvēk-ṣi á-dvēṣ 3rd dvēṣ-ti á-dvēṣ, but pl. 1st pers. dviṣ-más á-dviṣ-ma etc., dual 1st pers. dviṣ-vás á-dviṣ-va etc., mid. sing. 1st pers. dviṣ-ē á-dviṣ-i etc.; act. sing. 1st pers. kṛ-nó-mi ('I make') á-kṛ-ṇav-am 2nd kṛ-ṇó-ṣi á-kṛ-ṇō-ṣ 3rd kṛ-ṇó-ti á-kṛ-ṇō-t, but pl. 1st pers. kṛ-ṇu-más á-kṛ-ṇu-ma etc., dual 1st pers. kṛ-ṇu-vás á-kṛ-ṇu-va etc.; mid. sing. 1st pers. kṛ-ṇv-é á-kṛ-ṇv-i etc. On the whole it may be said that the Con-junctive formed with -e- and -o- had the strong stem in active and middle; as 3rd sing. act. dvēš-a-t(i) kṛ-ṇáv-a-t(i) mid. dvēš-a-tē kṛ-ṇáv-a-tē. The optative had in the singular active -iē- -iē-; in the other active forms and in the middle it had -ī- before personal endings beginning in a consonant and -i- or -i- before a sonant; always with the weak form of the present stem: e. g. act. 1st sing. dviš-yā-m kṛ-ṇu-yā-m 1st pl. dviš-ī-mā* kṛ-ṇv-ī-mā* (what we actually find are dviš-yā-ma kṛ-ṇu-yā-ma, contrast Lat. s-ī-mus beside s-iē-m), mid. 3rd sing. dviš-ī-tā kṛ-ṇv-ī-tā 1st sing. Avest. tanuya i. e. ta-nv-iy-a.

Every class of non-thematic presents with vowel gradation had parallel to it another class, which may be regarded as formed by adding the thematic vowel to the weak stem. Very often the same verb has both. Examples: Skr. vēt-ti (vid-mās): vid-ā-ti, √ ueid- 'know, learn'; Gr. ἵ-σταν-αι: Skr. tī-ṣth-a-ti, √ stā- 'stand'; Skr. 3rd pl. sá-śc-ati: 2nd sing. sá-śc-a-si Gr. ἑ-σπο-ι-το, √ seq- 'sequi'; Skr. r-ṇō-ti: r-ṇv-ā-ti, √ er- 'move'; Skr. mṛ-ṇā-ti: mṛ-ṇ-ā-ti 'crushes'; Skr. yunák-ti: yuñj-a-ti Lat. jung-i-t, √ jeug 'iungere'. These two kinds hang closely together, and cannot be treated apart.¹⁾ I therefore choose a mode of classification which takes as its principle some common points of structure or etymology other than the presence or absence of a thematic vowel. Thus one group will comprise presents which have a nasal-formative (as Skr. mṛṇá-ti mṛṇá-ti ṣṇó-ti ṣṇá-ti yundk-ti yuñja-ti); it is clear that this element was the same in all of them.

1) The closest contact between them is in the 3rd pl. active and the partic. pres. active. I now depart from my previous view set forth in I § 226 p. 193, II § 125 p. 395 (and elsewhere); I now hold with Streithberg (Idg. Forsch. I 82 ff.) that the strong suffix-forms of these parts of non-thematic verbs (3rd pl. act., and pres. act. partic.) were -enti -ent and -ent-, e. g. s-énti* 'sunt' partic. nom. pl. s-ént-es*. It is possible that there were variants, also of the strong grade, -onti -ont and -ont-. Then -ent-: -out-: -nt- as in the gen. abl. sing. -es: -os: -s (III § 228 pp. 111 f.). If so, it is very possible that we should class together with the non-thematic conjugation e. g. Lat. sunt sunt, sōns, O.C.Sl. sqti (sq/ū) sy, and analyse them s-onti* s-ont-s*; that is to say, regard them as parallel to forms like es-t jes-ti (jes-tu). They would belong to both conjugations. This is, however, only a possibility; and I have accordingly treated forms with -o-, like Lat. sunt, in each case as thematic) and thematic only (below, §§ 492 ff.).

1) Less probably, some scholars take (a-)dhat to be dhatt* = dha-dh + t*, i. e. formed from the weak present stem dha-dh-* (cp. a-dha-t-tam).

Imperative: Lith. stó-k. — With thematic vowel: Skr. āsth-a-t, Avest. a-xšt-a-p mid. xšt-a-ta (xšt- instead of št-, see Bartholomae Handb. § 100 Anm. 3 p. 43, and št- instead of st- following compounds like paiti-štā-).

§ 494. As the examples in § 493 shew, roots of the e-series took regularly the e-grade (1st strong grade) in strong forms. But probably in the parent language there were forms with the 3rd strong grade, or ē-grade, also in use.

First we notice Lat. ēs-t Lith. ės-t O.C.Sl. jas-tŭ from ✓ed- 'eat', on which see § 480 Rem. p. 27; the normal form was Skr. ād-mi át-ti (§ 498). Skr. ās-tē Gr. ἦσ-ται 'sits' 3rd pl. ās-atē ἦ-αται are usually connected with es-ti* 'is'. The rough breathing in Greek must then be explained as due to the analogy of the root ἔδ- = sed-* 'sedere' (I § 564 Rem. 3 p. 421³⁾). But some forms of the Greek word may be derived at once from the root sēd-, which occurs not only in the perfect Goth. sēt-um Lith. sēd-ēs, but in the Lith. pres. sėdmi 'I sit' 3rd sing. sėst, side by side with which in the usual fashion we have Skr. 2nd sing. sát-si. Skr. imper. mid. sāk-šva beside indic. 2nd sing. sák-ši from sah- 'overpower'. Skr. tāš-ṭi Avest. injunctive tāš-t beside Skr. tákṣa-ti 'shapes, forms'. Skr. dāš-ṭi 'pays homage to' from ✓dek-, see § 639. Further, the Skr.

(cp. G. Meyer, Berl. Phil. Wochenschrift 1892 col. 312 f., Thurneysen Wochenschr. class. Phil. 1892 col. 290 f.), it is a question whether zoto should not be regarded as dō-to* (cp. the s-aorist zonasto 'donavit').

1) Probably to the same class belongs Avest., being daduyē 2nd pl. indic. pres. mid. See Bartholomae, Idg. Forsch. I 495.

2) Fick's connexion of this verb with Skr. partic. cit-tá-s is worthless (Fick, Gött. gel. Anz. 1881 p. 1426, Wtb.⁴ I 20 f.).

3) In the English translation of this note, 'Spiritus Asper' is a clerical error for 'Spiritus Lenis'.

present forms with āu instead of ō, as stāu-ti 'praises' (3rd pl. stuv-ānti mid. stu-tē, beside which are found 2nd sing. stō-ši conj. stāv-a-t) and snāu-ti 'drips' (cp. Gr. ρέω ρέουμαι), also mārṣ-ti 'wipes' (3rd pl. mṛj-ānti).¹

Along with these non-thematic ē-forms stand usually others with the thematic vowel; thus, Lith. ėd-u beside ėd-mi, sėd-u beside sėd-mi, Skr. as-a-tē beside ās-tē, dāś-a-ti beside dāś-ti, sāh-a-ti beside sāk-ṣva, mārj-a-ti beside mārṣ-ti. Compare Gr. μῆδοναι etc., § 514.

§ 495. In all languages, as we shall see, it is common for the strong stem to spread into what should be weak-stem forms, but the reverse is rare.

We should especially mention here that the strong-grade ā, ē, and ō spread from roots ending in them to the weak persons which properly had a. This re-formation brought about some confusion with Class X, where there is no gradation.

Skr. 1st pl. á-sthā-ma Gr. ἑστημεν instead of a-sthī-ma* ē-stā-mēn* (cp. § 493 pp. 53 f.). The difference between ἑστημεν and ἑθεμεν ἑδομεν was due to the intransitive meaning of ἑστην, and to the powerful attraction of a word closely connected in meaning — ἔβην ἔβημεν (Skr. ágām ágāma); cp. the Author, Kuhn's Zeitschr. xxv 220, Osthoff's Perfect 373 f., and below, § 497 Rem. As regards Lat. stā-mus beside dā-mus, see §§ 505, 584 Rem.

In Sanskrit we find also á-dhā-ma á-dā-ma instead of a-dhi-ma* a-di-ma* (cp. § 493 p. 53), and similarly ā instead of i in the plural and dual active of all roots ending in (Aryan) -ā. Compare opt. 1st pl. s-yā-ma, instead of s-ī-ma*, following s-yā-m, § 940.

Unlike Gr. φημι 'I say': φαμέν, which undoubtedly has original gradation (cp. O.H.G. bannu = bhā-nūō*, Gr. φαίνο bhā-nīō*, see §§ 611, 654), all recorded forms of Skr. bhā-ti 'shines' follow Class X, as pl. bhā-nti imper. bhā-hi partic.

1) The ablaut of stāu-ti and mārṣ-ti is exactly parallel to that of the s-Aorist. See § 811.

trembling' Gr. τρ-έμω Lat. tr-emō Lith. tr-imù 'I tremble', -es- is called a "determinative", whilst in Skr. vás-tē 'clothes himself' Gr. ἐπί-εσται ($\sqrt{em-}$, in Lith. au-nù Lat. ex-uō) -es- is not so called because these verbs are looked upon as parallel to forms like es-ti*. But inasmuch as tres-* and ues-* run right through the whole system of their verbs, they have become "roots". And there is no more reason for separating Skr. 1st sing. tr-ásē v-ásē from 1st sing. yaj-asē ṛñj-asē than for separating (say) bhū-ō* (Lat. -bō O.C.Sl. 3rd pl. bq) Skr. á-hv-a-t Gr. ἐ-πλ-ε from bher-ō* (Gr. φέρ-ω) Skr. á-vid-a-t. We always hear of an "s-suffix" in such words as Skr. yaj-asē; but why? Simply because the ending -asē is not the first syllable of the word. The ē of pl-ē* 'fill' (Skr. prá-si Gr. πλῆ-το Lat. -plē-s) is called part of the Root; but it is the same ē which we have in mṛn-ē* Gr. ἐ-μάνη Lith. mìn-ē), tak-ē* (Lat. tac-ēs O.H.G. dag-ēs), where it is called Inflexion. And the "determinative" -dh- is called inflexional in Gr. φλεγέθω νεμέθομαι πελάθω, but not in ἐ-δρα-θον ἔ-δαρ-θον, or ᾄχ-θο-μαι. The question whether a verbal element, which can be analysed no further, is or is not a separate syllable has, it is true, some importance; for it influenced the grouping of the forms in the speaker's memory, and this affected the development of a language in many ways: e. g. the root in Lith. v-ejù O.C.Sl. v-ŕja 'I wind, turn' (= Skr. v-áya-ti 'weaves'), since it formed in itself no syllable, did not follow the course taken by the other verbs in -éjō (Class XXXII) in Balto-Slavonic. But this cannot justify the making a distinction, as is so often done, between things which are clearly connected. Dealing as we do with the parent language, and from this point investigating the growth of the Verbal System, we must discuss together Skr. v-ásē and yaj-asē, Greek πλ-ῆ-το ἔ-βλ-η and ἐ-μάν-η ἔ-βάλ-η.

If, as it seems right to do, a special Present Class is given to és-ti* 'is' (Skr. ás-ti, $\sqrt{es-}$), another to uema-ti* 'vomits' (Skr. vámi-ti, $\sqrt{uem-}$), and a third to bhsē-ti* 'chews up, devours' (Skr. psá-ti, $\sqrt{bha^s-}$ seen in bá-bhas-ti), it is only consistent to distinguish each of the following as another class of Present

Stems: — a u-: eu-class for Skr. sr-áva-ti Gr. $\rho\acute{\epsilon}\text{-(f)}\epsilon\iota$ 'flows' Skr. á-su-srō-t from $\sqrt{\text{ser-}}$ seen in Skr. sí-sar-ti, for Skr. dr-áva-ti 'runs' á-du-dr-uva-t from $\sqrt{\text{der-}}$, seen in Skr. dr-á-ti dr-ama-ti 'runs', and others; an m-class for Skr. dr-ama-ti Gr. $\epsilon\text{-}\delta\rho\text{-}\alpha\mu\omicron\text{-}\nu$ from the above mentioned der-, for Gr. $\tau\rho\text{-}\acute{\epsilon}\mu\omega$ Lat. tr-emō Lith. tr-imù 'I tremble' from $\sqrt{\text{ter-}}$, seen in Skr. tar-alá-s 'moving to and fro, trembling' tr-ása-ti 'trembles', and others; a y-class (probably connected closely with the u-: eu-class) for Skr. jī-va-ti Lat. vī-vi-t O.C.Sl. ži-ve-tŭ 'lives' from $\sqrt{\text{gei-}}$, seen in Avest. gay-a 'life' jy-aiti- 'life' Gr. $\zeta\eta$ (for $*\text{gi-}\acute{\epsilon}$), O.C.Sl. ži-ti 'to live', for Avest. nī-šaurvaiti 'defends' Skr. dhūrva-ti 'harms' bhārvati 'chews, destroys' etc. In the same way we come to a p-class, a bh-class, a k-class, and so forth. But this principle will not be consistently carried out, for two reasons. First, in these and many similar classes which might be made only a few examples occur, and thus for our period such formative elements as these can hardly be said to have any real productive power. Secondly, any attempt to make such a classification complete would lead us into labyrinths of root-analysis which would properly be without the scope of a compendium like the present. Roots with this kind of Determinatives, then, which we do not place in any separate class, we shall generally assume to be incapable of further analysis; and thus we place (say) Gr. $\tau\rho\text{-}\acute{\epsilon}\mu\omega$ in the same division as $\nu\acute{\epsilon}\mu\omega$ and $\gamma\acute{\epsilon}\mu\omega$.

§ 489. The formation of the Moods, the stems of the Injunctive, Conjunctive, Optative, and Imperative, will follow that of the Tense Stem (§§ 909 ff.). It must however, be here pointed out that the elements which are generally regarded as mood-formative are sometimes etymologically the same as in the indicative. Injunctive and Indicative forms, of course, cannot be separated. And it is beyond all doubt that the short Conjunctive vowel (Gr. $-\epsilon-$ $-o-$), as in $*\text{es-e-ti}$ Skr. ásati Lat. erit (indic. $\text{es-ti}$ 'est'), Hom. $\acute{\alpha}\text{-}\lambda\epsilon\text{-}\tau\alpha\iota$ (indic. $\acute{\alpha}\lambda\text{-}\tau\omicron$ 'sprang'), is the same as what is called the thematic vowel in the Indicative (as $\text{ag-e-ti}$ Skr. ájati Lat. agit).

Further, I hold that the conjunctive vowel -ā- in Lat. ferā-s etc. is the same as -ā- found after weak root-forms in the indicative (Classes X and XI), and also the same as the ā which forms feminine nouns (§ 487 pp. 41 f.); thus Lat. fu-ā-mus belongs to the same class of words as the Indic. Lat. -bā-mus (for fu-ā-mos*) and Lith. būv-o-me (§ 578), and that Lat. poscat for porscā-t*, the indic. O.H.G. forscōt 'demands', and the Skr. fem. prchā 'question' (common ground-form prk-skā-*) in point of etymology must all go together. So also the Italic conjunctive -ē- is to be identified with the Indicative -ē- (Classes X and XI), and so forth.

In all these cases it were proper to keep together whatever forms are etymologically akin. But if we did so, a student who is used to the practice observed hitherto, of arranging forms according to their function, would hardly be able to find his way. So I prefer to give this up, and simply call attention to etymology and structure where it is convenient to do so.

THE PRESENT STEM.

IMPERFECT PRESENT AND AORIST PRESENT.¹⁾

§ 490. The classes of the Present Stem are very commonly divided into two groups:

- (1) Thematic, or verbs in -ō (Bopp's First Main Conjugation); and
- (2) Non-thematic, or verbs in -mi (Bopp's Second Main Conjugation).

The first group has in the Indicative -o- or -e- just before the personal ending; but -ō is the ending of the 1st person singular. These vowels were distributed amongst the persons of the singular and plural (we may leave the dual out for the present) in very much the same way as they are in Greek; -e- in the 2nd person of both, and the 3rd singular, -o- in the 1st persons (but 1st sing. pres. act. -ō) and in the 3rd plural:

1) For works bearing on this subject, see footnote to page 33.

compare 2nd sing. ἐφέρε-ς φέρε-αι ἐφέρε-ο (for the indic. pres. act. cp. Goth. bairi-s), 2nd pl. φέρε-τε ἐφέρε-τε φέρε-σθε ἐφέρε-σθε, 3rd sing. ἐφέρε φέρε-ται ἐφέρε-το (for the indic. pres. act. cp. Goth. bairi-þ); 1st sing. (φέρω) ἔφερον (φέρω-μαι ἐφερό-μην), 1st pl. φέρω-μεν ἐφέρω-μεν φερό-μεθα ἐφερό-μεθα, 3rd pl. φέρου-σι (φέρουσι) ἔφερον φέρον-ται ἐφέρου-ντο. The variation -e- : -o- is the rule in all the present o-suffixes except -ιο-, where instead of it there is sometimes -i- -i-; see § 702. The Con-junctive shows a long vowel before the personal endings, as 1st and 2nd pl. Gr. φέρω-μιν φερώ-μεθα φέρη-τε φέρη-σθε Lat. ferā-mas ferā-tis Skr. bhārá-ma bhārá-mahāi bhārá-tha bhārá-dhvaī. The Optative has the thematic vowel -o-, and between it and the personal ending i, which, when the per-sonal ending began in a consonant, combined with the thematic vowel into a diphthong and a single syllable, as 2nd sing. Gr. φέρου-ς Goth. bairái-s Skr. bhāré-ṣ.

To the second group belong all present stems which have no thematic vowel before the personal ending in the Indicative. The personal endings were mostly the same as in the first group. There is a strange difference in the first person singular pres. indic., which had in the parent language, as it has in Greek, the ending -mi; Gr. ἐλ-μι τίθη-μι δάμνη-μι στέργω-μι etc., not like φέρω βόσκω τύπτω πορέω. In most non-thematic conjugations, the indicative had, and retains, a vowel grading: the syllable just before the personal ending, whether root or suffix, had the strong grade (and accent) in the singular of the active, and the weak grade (no accent) in the active dual and plural: compare Skr. act. sing. 1st pers. dréṣ-mi ('I hate') á-dreṣ-am 2nd drék-ṣi á-dvēt 3rd dréṣ-ti á-dvēt, but pl. 1st pers. drīṣ-más á-dviṣ-ma etc., dual 1st pers. dviṣ-vás á-dviṣ-va etc., mid. sing. 1st pers. dviṣ-é á-dviṣ-i etc.; act. sing. 1st pers. kṛ-nó-mi ('I make') á-kṛ-ṇav-am 2nd kṛ-nó-ṣi á-kṛ-nó-ṣ 3rd kṛ-nó-ti á-kṛ-nó-t, but pl. 1st pers. kṛ-ṇu-más á-kṛ-ṇu-ma etc., dual 1st pers. kṛ-ṇu-vás á-kṛ-ṇu-va etc.; mid. sing. 1st pers. kṛ-ṇo-é á-kṛ-ṇo-i etc. On the whole it may be said that the Con-junctive formed with -e- and -o- had the strong stem in active and middle: as 3rd sing. act. dvīṣ-a-t(ī) (kr-nūc-a-t(ī)) mid. dvīṣ-a-tē kr-nūc-a-tē. The optative had in the singular active -iē- -iē-; in the other active forms and in the middle it had -i- before personal endings beginning in a consonant and -i- or -i- before a sonant; always with the weak form of the present stem: e. g. act. 1st sing. dvīṣ-yā-m kr-nū-yā-m 1st pl. dvīṣ-ī-māi kr-nū-ī-mā (what we actually find are dvīṣ-yā-mā kr-nū-yā-mā, contrast Lat. s-i-mus beside s-i-e-m), mid. 3rd sing. driṣ-ī-tā kr-nū-ī-tā 1st sing. Avest. tanuya i. e. ta-nr-iy-a.

Every class of non-thematic presents with vowel gradation had parallel to it another class, which may be regarded as formed by adding the thematic vowel to the weak stem. Very often the same verb has both. Examples: Skr. vēt-ti (vid-mās): vid-ā-ti, √ueiḍ- 'know, learn'; Gr. ἵστημι: Skr. tī-ṣṭh-a-ti, √stā- 'stand': Skr. 3rd pl. sá-śc-ati: 2nd sing. sá-śc-a-si Gr. ἵσθι: √seq- 'sequi'; Skr. r-ṇó-ti: r-ṇv-á-ti, √er- 'move'; Skr. mṛ-ṇá-ti: mṛ-ṇ-á-ti 'crushes'; Skr. yunák-ti: yunāj-a-ti Lat. jung-i-t, √jeug 'iungere'. These two kinds hang closely together, and cannot be treated apart.¹⁾ I therefore choose a mode of classification which takes as its principle some common points of structure or etymology other than the presence or absence of a thematic vowel. Thus one group will comprise presents which have a nasal-formative (as Skr. mṛṇá-ti mṛṇá-ti ṛṇó-ti ṛṇá-ti yundák-ti yuñja-ti); it is clear that this element was the same in all of them.

1) The closest contact between them is in the 3rd pl. active and the partic. pres. active. I now depart from my previous view set forth in I § 226 p. 193, II § 125 p. 395 (and elsewhere); I now hold with Streitberg (Idg. Forsch. I 82 ff.) that the strong suffix-forms of these parts of non-thematic verbs (3rd pl. act., and pres. act. partic.) were -enti -ent and -ent-, e. g. s-énti* 'sunt' partic. nom. pl. s-ént-es*. It is possible that there were variants, also of the strong grade, -onti -ont and -ont-. Then -ent-: -ont-: -ṇ- as in the gen. abl. sing. -es: -os: -s (III § 228 pp. 111 f.). If so, it is very possible that we should class together with the non-thematic conjugation e. g. Lat. sunt sunt, sōns, O.C.Sl. sąti (sąti) sy, and analyse them s-onti* s-ont-s*; that is to say, regard them as parallel to forms like es-t jes-ti (jes-tu). They would belong to both conjugations. This is, however, only a possibility; and I have accordingly treated forms with -o-, like Lat. sunt, in each case as thematic) and thematic only (below, §§ 492 ff.).

1) A different explanation of these Sanskrit forms may be found in Bartholomae's Ar. Forsch. II 73 f.

pp. 29 f.; Alban. 3rd sing. iš for es-t* (G. Meyer, in the first work cited above, p. 91). Conjunctive: 3rd sing. Skr. ās-a-ti ās-a-t Lat. (fut.) er-i-t (cp. indic. dhégh-mi* 'I burn': Skr. 2nd sing. dhák-ṣi Lith. deg-mì. The conjunctive implied by these forms is hidden in the indic. Skr. dáh-a-ti Lith. deg-ù. The weak form d(h)gh-* cannot be found; we have evidence for it in Avest. 3rd pl. imper. sc-antū beside 1st sing. indic. hax-mī (pr. Ar. sak-mi*) from $\sqrt{\text{seq-}}$ 'sequi', Skr. 3rd pl. á-kṣ-an 3rd sing. mid. gdha i. e. ghs + ta* (I § 591 p. 449) beside 3rd sing. á-ghas from ghas- 'eat'.

dhē-t* é-dhē-t* 'he placed' 2nd pl. dha-té*: Skr. dhá-t á-dha-t 3rd sing. mid. á-dhi-ta 2nd sing. imper. dhi-ṣvá, Armen. 1st sing. e-di 3rd sing. e-d, Gr. 2nd pl. ἔ-θῆ-τε 3rd sing. mid. ἔ-θῆ-ρο (θῆ- instead of θα-*, I § 109 c pp. 101 f., the Author Gr. Gr.² pp. 27 f.), Lat. con-di-mus (I § 370 p. 282). Optative: Avest. d-ya-p. Imperative: Lith. dė-k. — With thematic vowel Skr. práti dh-a-t, a-dh-a-t,¹⁾ Lat. 1st sing. con-d-ō 3rd pl. -d-u-nt, Avest. opt. 2nd sing. d-ōi-š.

dō-t* é-dō-t* 'he gave' 2nd pl. dā-té*: Skr. á-da-t 3rd sing. mid. á-di-ta, Armen. 1st sing. e-tu 3rd sing. e-t, 1st pl. pres. ta-mk, Gr. 2nd pl. ἔ-δο-τε 3rd sing. mid. ἔ-δο-ρο (δο- instead of δα-, cp. on θε-, above),²⁾ Lat. da-mus red-dimus. Optative:

1) Less probably, some scholars take (a-)dhat to be dhatt* = dha- -dh + t*, i. e. formed from the weak present stem dha-dh-* (cp. a-dha-t-tam).

2) Pauli (Altital. Forsch. III 258) compares Venetian zoto 'dedit' with Gr. δίδωμι. Admitting that the explanation is in the main correct present forms with āu instead of ō, as stāū-ti 'praises' (3rd pl. stuv-ānti mid. stu-tē, beside which are found 2nd sing. stō-ṣi conj. stāv-a-t) and snāu-ti 'drips' (cp. Gr. ρέω ρεύσομαι), also mārṣ-ti 'wipes' (3rd pl. mṛj-ānti).¹⁾

Along with these non-thematic ē-forms stand usually others with the thematic vowel; thus, Lith. ėd-u beside ėd-mi, sėd-u beside sėd-mi, Skr. ās-a-tē beside ās-tē, dāś-a-ti beside dāṣ-ti, sāh-a-ti beside sāk-ṣva, mārj-a-ti beside mārṣ-ti. Compare Gr. μῖδοναι etc., § 514.

§ 495. In all languages, as we shall see, it is common for the strong stem to spread into what should be weak-stem forms, but the reverse is rare.

We should especially mention here that the strong-grade ā, ē, and ō spread from roots ending in them to the weak persons which properly had ə. This re-formation brought about some confusion with Class X, where there is no gradation.

Skr. 1st pl. á-sthā-ma Gr. ἑσθημεν instead of a-sthi-ma* ἑσθᾶμεν* (cp. § 493 pp. 53 f.). The difference between ἑσθημεν and ἑ-θεμεν ἑ-δομεν was due to the intransitive meaning of σθην, and to the powerful attraction of a word closely connected in meaning — ἐβην ἐβημεν (Skr. ágām ágāma); cp. the Author, Kuhn's Zeitschr. xxv 220, Osthoff's Perfect 373 f., and below, § 497 Rem. As regards Lat. stā-mus beside dā-mus, see §§ 505, 584 Rem.

In Sanskrit we find also á-dhā-ma á-dā-ma instead of a-dhi-ma* a-di-ma* (cp. § 493 p. 53), and similarly ā instead of i in the plural and dual active of all roots ending in (Aryan) -ā. Compare opt. 1st pl. s-yā-ma, instead of s-ī-ma*, following s-yā-m, § 940.

Unlike Gr. φημι 'I say': φαμεν, which undoubtedly has original gradation (cp. O.H.G. bannu = bhā-nūō*, Gr. γαίρω bhā-nōō*, see §§ 611, 654), all recorded forms of Skr. bhā-ti 'shines' follow Class X, as pl. bhā-nti imper. bhā-hi partic.

1) The ablaut of stāū-ti and mārṣ-ti is exactly parallel to that of the s-Aorist. See § 811.

bhā-ta-s etc. We must therefore assume for this Skr. verb a stem bh-ā-, i. e. an extension of the root by the ungraduated suffix -ā- (bhā-ti: bhā f. = psā-ti: psā f.), which is also possible for Lat. fā-tur for and O.C.Sl. ba-ja 'fabulor' (§ 706).¹⁾

§ 496. The strong stem is remarkable in Skr. śē-tē Avest. soe-tē Gr. sei-tai 'lies' (cp. Skr. perf. śi-śy-ē, -śi-ś 'lying') beside Skr. sāp-a-tē Gr. Hom. xe-o-ita opt. xe-o-i-ro. Very numerous explanations are suggested in vol. I § 598 p. 453, and by Menzinger in the Zeitschr. öst. Gymn. 1888, p. 134. Perhaps the irregularity was due to a very early change from thematic to non-thematic conjugation, which was suggested by sei-tai for sei-tai. I believe that this same change must be assumed for sei-tai (lied and other poets) beside sei-tai (cp. sei-tai sei-tai), and for sei-tai (only in sei-tai) beside sei-tai (cp. sei-tai).²⁾ It is beyond all doubt that sei-tai is sei-tai in Nonnus, and other such forms in later Greek poetry (Rzach. Gram. Stud. zu Apoll. Skr. 1887), and in some Lithuanian presents in -mi (§ 511).

śe-mā-k 'he washes himself' (Skr. śās-tē Gr. ēpi-satai ēpi-ro) cannot be analysed u-es-tai* (§ 656).

§ 497. Like i-mahē (Gr. i-o-mēn § 493 pp. 51 f., § 914), many other forms show the weak-grade with bye-accent. Thus Skr. i-mā-ma Gr. i-o-mēn Umbr. fū-tu 'esto' Lith. bū-k 'be' from bheu-* 'become, be'; compare the sing. with the same grade of root Skr. ā-bhū-t (Gr. ē-qū (cp. perf. Skr. 2nd sing. ā-bhū-tha), without question somewhat influenced by preterites of Class X (§§ 597 ff.) such as Skr. ā-dr-ā-t ā-dr-ā-ma (cp. ā-t ā-gl-ā-ma (Gr. ē-dp-ā ē-dp-ā-mēn ē-βλ-η ē-βλ-η-mēn).

1) bha-* means 'to show, send forth, make known'. If we connect with it Skr. bhānati 'sounds, calls out' (Osthoff, Perf. 353, Whitney, Skr. Roots 109 f.), this must be taken as an extension bh-eno-* or bh-eno-* (§ 619). With the same extension Moulton connects Lat. sonstra (Proceed. Camb. Phil. Soc. 1890, May 22, p. 9).

2) The 3rd pl. mid. Ved. d-jan-ata beside d-jan-a-nta may be similarly taken. It is true that the word may quite well be derived from c-ggan-ata* (cp. d-jan-ata).

Also from $\sqrt{er}$ - 'set in motion' (ἔρετο · ὠρομένη, ἔρη · ὀρουμένη Hesych., Skr. ār-ti aor. mid. ār-ta) we have an Idg. mid. $\sqrt{t}$ -ai: Skr. īr-tē imper. īr-śva Avest. ar-śva partic. Skr. īr-nā-s, Gr. ὄρ-σο partic. ὄρ-μενο-ς inf. ὄρ-θαι (I § 306 pp. 241 f.). The Skr. īr- Gr. ὄρ- were used before sonants too, instead of $\sqrt{ir}$ - ár- (for $\sqrt{ir}$ -), which gives us such forms as Skr. 3rd pl. īr-atē (cp. Skr. á-bhūv-am instead of á-bhuv-am following á-bhū-ś etc.) 3rd sing. īr-a-tē, Gr. ὄρ-ο-ι-το ὄρ-η-ται; another re-formation is the augment in ὠροτο (*ὄροτο orig. without augment = $\sqrt{t}$ -tō). A Germanic form of this kind is A.S. ear-ð 'thou art', see § 509. In the same relation as ὄρ-ο-ι-το bears to ὄρ-σο, ἔ-μολ-ο-ν stands to ἔ-βλω · ἐφάνη, ὤχετο, ἔστη Hesych., since βλω- represents an Idg. $\sqrt{ml}$ - (cp. I § 306 p. 243).

On de Saussure's hypothesis, bhū- was the weak grade of bheṃ- (Skr. fut. bhavi-śyá-ti etc.), and $\sqrt{r}$ - the weak grade of er- (Skr. fut. ari-śyá-ti etc.), and so on.

Remark. To this list of forms I have hitherto added Skr. á-gā-ma Gr. ἔ-βη-μεν, 3rd sing. á-gā-t ἔ-βη (cp. á-bhū-t ἔ-φῦ), equating gā- βη- = $\sqrt{qñ}$ - (I § 253 p. 206). But another hypothesis appears to be preferable from Skr. ji-gā-ti Gr. Hom. βι-βῆ-, Skr. vi-gā-man- n. 'step' Gr. βῆ-μα, Skr. perf. mid. ja-gē, and others of the like nature. This is, that there were original variants $\sqrt{gā}$ - and $\sqrt{gem}$ -, like $\sqrt{drā}$ - and $\sqrt{drem}$ - 'run' (§ 488 p. 47, § 579). It would be easy to decide this point, if only $\sqrt{gā}$ - could be found outside of Aryan and Greek. The derivation of Lett. gāju 'I went' is doubtful (see Wiedemann, Das lit. Praet., 141 f.), and it is worse than unsafe to adduce O.H.G. pfad 'path' (Fick, Wtb. I⁴ 33).

§ 498. Aryan. $\sqrt{qer}$ - 'make': Skr. 2nd sing. kár-ši 2nd 3rd sing. á-kar 2nd pl. kṛ-thá 3rd pl. á-kr-an 3rd sing. mid. á-kṛ-ta, Avest. 3rd sing. cor-ē = pr. Ar. $\sqrt{car}$ -t (I § 94 p. 89, § 647. 7 pp. 493 f.); on O.Pers. 1st pl. a-kū-mā 3rd sing. a-kū-tā see Bartholomae, Ar. Forsch. II 67 f. Imperative: Skr. kṛ-dhṛ, mid. kṛ-śvā Avest. ker-ē-švā. Conjunctive: Skr. kár-a-ti Avest. 1st sing. carānī (cp. indic. Skr. kar-a-ti á-kar-a-t, imper. 2nd sing. O.Pers. pari-karā). Optative: Skr. 1st pl. kr-iyā-ma. Skr. kar- always instead of regular car- (kept in Avestic) from the weak stem, but á-kar-ma kár-ta have -ar- on the analogy of the strong. On the difficult forms Skr. kur-más kur-vás (whence sing. kur-mi) opt. kur-yā-m etc., see I § 289 p. 231,

bhā-ta-s etc. We must therefore assume for this Skr. verb a stem bh-ā-, i. e. an extension of the root by the ungraduated suffix -a- (bhā-ti : bhā f. = psā-ti : psā f.), which is also possible for Lat. fā-tur for and O.C.Sl. ba-ja 'fabulor' (§ 706).¹⁾

§ 496. The strong stem is remarkable in Skr. śē-tv Avest. saē-tē Gr. κεῖ-ται 'lies' (cp. Skr. perf. śi-śy-ē, -śi-ś 'lying') beside Skr. śāy-a-tē Gr. Hom. κε-ο-νται opt. κε-ο-ι-το. Very uncertain explanations are suggested in vol. I § 598 p. 453, and by Meringer in the Zeitschr. öst. Gymn. 1888, p. 134. Perhaps the irregularity was due to a very early change from thematic to non-thematic conjugation, which was suggested by ās-tē ῆσ-ται 'sits'. I believe that this same change must be assumed for γέν-το ἔ-γεν-το (Hesiod and other poets) beside γένε-το ἑ-γένε-το (cp. 3rd dual γεγά-την), and for σεῦ-ται (only in Soph. Tr. 645) beside σεύ-ε-ται (cp. σύ-το).²⁾ It is beyond all doubt seen in ἄμειπ-το = ἀμείβε-το in Nonnus, and other such forms in late Greek poetry (Rzach, Gram. Stud. zu Apoll. Rhod., 164), and in some Lithuanian presents in -mi (§ 511).

Remark. ues-tai* 'clothes himself' (Skr. vas-tē Gr. ἐπι-εσται φο-το) is not of this class, as it must be analysed u-es-tai* (§ 656).

§ 497. Like ī-mahē (Gr. ἱ-ο-μεν § 493 pp. 51 f., § 914), many other forms show the weak-grade with bye-accent. Thus Skr. ā-bhū-ma Gr. ἐ-φῦ-μεν Umbr. fū-tu 'esto' Lith. bū-k 'be it' from √bhey- 'become, be'; compare the sing. with the same grade of root Skr. ā-bhū-t Gr. ἐ-φῦ (cp. perf. Skr. 2nd sing. ba-bhū-tha), without question somewhat influenced by preterites of Class X (§§ 597 ff.) such as Skr. ā-dr-ā-t ā-dr-ā-ma ā-gl-ā-t ā-gl-ā-ma Gr. ἔ-δρ-α ἔ-δρ-α-μεν ἔ-βλ-η ἔ-βλ-η-μεν.

1) √bhā- means 'to show, send forth, make known'. If we connect with it Skr. bhānati 'sounds, calls out' (Osthoff, Perf. 353, Whitney, Skr. Roots 109 f.), this must be taken as an extension bh-eno-* or bh-uno-* (§ 619). With the same extension Moulton connects Lat. fenestra (Proceed. Camb. Phil. Soc. 1890, May 22, p. 9).

2) The 3rd pl. mid. Ved. ā-jan-ata beside ā-jan-a-nta may be similarly taken. It is true that the wor! may quite well be derived from e-ḡjan-nto* (cp. ā-jñ-ata).

Also from $\sqrt{er}$ 'set in motion' ($\epsilon\rho\epsilon\tau\omicron \cdot \acute{\omega}\rho\mu\acute{\eta}\theta\eta$, $\epsilon\rho\sigma\eta \cdot \acute{\omega}\rho\mu\acute{\eta}\sigma\eta$ Hesych., Skr. ár-ti aor. mid. ár-ta) we have an Idg. mid. $\sqrt{er}$ -taj: Skr. ír-tē imper. ír-šva Avest. ar^e-šva partic. Skr. ir-ṇá-s, Gr. ōρ-σo partic. ōρ-μενo-ς inf. ōρ-θαι (I § 306 pp. 241 f.). The Skr. ir- Gr. ōρ- were used before sonants too, instead of $\sqrt{ir}$ -ár- (for $\sqrt{yr}$ -), which gives us such forms as Skr. 3rd pl. ír-atē (cp. Skr. á-bhūv-am instead of á-bhuv-am following á-bhū-š etc.) 3rd sing. ír-a-tē, Gr. ōρ-o-ι-το ōρ-η-ται; another re-formation is the augment in ōρto ($\sqrt{ar}$ orig. without augment = $\sqrt{er}$ -tó). A Germanic form of this kind is A.S. ear-ð 'thou art', see § 509. In the same relation as ōρ-o-ι-το bears to ōρ-σo, $\sqrt{er}$ -mol-o-v stands to $\sqrt{er}$ -βλω $\cdot \epsilon\rho\acute{\alpha}\nu\eta$, $\epsilon\rho\chi\epsilon\tau\omicron$, $\epsilon\sigma\tau\eta$ Hesych., since βλω- represents an Idg. $\sqrt{m}$ - (cp. I § 306 p. 243).

On de Saussure's hypothesis, bhū- was the weak grade of bhey- (Skr. fut. bhavi-šyá-ti etc.), and $\sqrt{er}$ - the weak grade of er- (Skr. fut. ari-šyá-ti etc.), and so on.

Remark. To this list of forms I have hitherto added Skr. á-gā- -ma Gr. $\sqrt{er}$ -βῆ-μεν, 3rd sing. á-gā-t $\sqrt{er}$ -βῆ (cp. á-bhū-t $\sqrt{er}$ -βῆ), equating gā- $\beta\eta-$ = $\sqrt{er}$ - (I § 253 p. 206). But another hypothesis appears to be preferable from Skr. jī-gā-ti Gr. Hom. $\beta\eta-\beta\acute{\alpha}\acute{\alpha}$, Skr. vī-gā-man- n. Skr. ás-ma ás-ta ás-an O.Pers. 3rd pl. aha i. e. āha, cp. § 481 pp. 29 f., also unaugmented Avest. 3rd sing. as 3rd pl. h-en Skr. s-án: on the 2nd and 3rd sing. Skr. ás-i-š ás-i-t, see § 574. Imperative: Avest. z-dī; Skr. ēdhī for az-dhi* (I § 591 p. 447) instead of regular dhi* following the analogy of forms with strong root. ✓ed- 'eat': Skr. ád-mi át-ti. So in all the weak persons ad-, as 3rd pl. ad-anti 2nd pl. at-tá imper. ad-dhī, obviously because such forms as ta dhi were not clear enough (cp. above, Skr. ēdhī). Conjunctive: ad-a-ti ad-a-t (cp. 2nd sing. mid. ad-a-sva Gr. ēd-ω Lat. ed-ō Goth. it-a). On the relation between ád-mi and Lat. ēst Lith. ėst, see § 480 Rem. pp. 28 f., § 494 pp. 54 f.

Skr. dhák-ṣi and others of the same sort, see § 493 p. 53. Skr. bhi-ṣak-ti 'heals' (bhi- is a bye-form of abhi) was no longer recognised for a compound, hence 3rd sing. a-bhiṣṇak R.-V. x, 131.5, following Class XV, and bhēṣajá-s 'healing'.

✓dhē- dō-, Skr. dha- dā- Iran. dā- (in Iranian the two stems ran into one, and it is no longer possible to distinguish their meaning exactly), see § 493 p. 53. Skr. á-dhā-t dhāt-á-dā-t pl. á-dhā-ma á-dā-ma, Avest. dā-þ dā-mā O.Pers. a-dā; on ā in the plural, see § 495 p. 55; mid. Skr. á-dhi-ta á-di-ta, imper. dhi-švā. Conjunctive: Skr. dhā-ti pl. mid. dhā-mahē Avest. dā-ūtē mid dā-itē (§ 933). Optative: Avest. d-yā-þ.

✓dā- 'separate, divide up' (Gr. δα-μο-ς δῆ-μο-ς): Skr. dā-ti 3rd pl. dā-nti (like á-dhā-ma, above), mid. 1st pl. á-di-mahi (cp. partic. di-ná-s di-ta-s Gr. δα-τ-ο-μαι).

Sometimes in place of -i = Idg. -ə in roots of the latter kind, Sanskrit has -ī: á-dhī-mahi from ✓dhē-, mī-mahē from ✓mē- 'measure' (3rd sing. mā-ti), dī-šva from ✓dō-, á-dī-mahi from ✓dā-. This ī was connected with a very wide-spread Sanskrit re-formation.

There was a certain element used in root-extension, found in the parent language, and appearing in Sanskrit under the forms of -ī- and -i-. Whether it be dubbed Root-Determinative or Suffix, matters nothing (see § 488 pp. 44 ff.). Examples of its use are pī- 'swell, give to drink' from ✓pō- (pi-pī-tē pi-yā-tē pi-tá-s pi-pi-hí pi-nva-ti), rī- 'run, flow' from ✓er (rī-ya-tē rī-tí-š ri-ṇá-ti rí-t-), śrī- 'boils' beside śy-tá-s. Another form of this determinative in Sanskrit, as Bartholomae has pointed out (Stud. zur idg. Spr., II 63 ff.), is ai, seen in the Vedic preterites á-śar-āi-t 'he broke up' beside a-śar-i-t śár-ī-tōš, and áj-āi-š 'thou dravest' (unaugmented); and this word is closely connected with Gr. ἀγ-ί-νω ἀγ-ί-νέ-ω (cp. § 801.¹) We shall meet the grade -ī- in several other categories of Sanskrit forms.

Now this -ī-, originally only a variant of Ar. -i- = Idg. -i-, encroached upon Ar. -i- = Idg. -ə-, so that in Aryan ī as well as i was found in the same ablaut series with ā.¹⁾ Hence arose the above named forms ádhi-mahi instead of ádhimahi beside ádham etc., and hence śi-śī-hi śt-śī-tē* instead of śi-śī-hi* śi-śī-tē* (cp. śi-tá-s) beside śi-śā-ti (§ 538), mṛ-ṇī-más instead of mṛ-ṇi-más* (cp. Gr. -ρα-μεν) beside mṛ-ṇá-mi (§ 597), á-starī-ṣ instead of a-stariṣ* (§ 839). Last of all, -ī- even pushed out a = ə in the root of forms like pass. dha-ya-tē* = Avest. da-ye-tē (I § 109. a. p. 101), and so we have dhī-yá-tē (§§ 707, 709).

1) It is probable that another strong grade of the same determinative is contained in the Idg. present in -éjō (as Skr. śv-áya-ti vart-áya-ti Lat. qu-eo mon-eō), to which belonged a participle in -i-to-s and -ī-to-s (Class XXXII). And I would now (with Bezenberger, Zur Gesch. der lit. Spr., 195) recognise a form exactly answering to Skr. ájāi-š in Gr. ἀγμ-: ἀγμ- (for -ēj-s -ēj-t); see § 987. 1, and § 995. 2.

It is true that there are other instances besides these of variation between Idg. i and ī; for instance, in the syllable of reduplication, §§ 467, 469, 473. Whether these had anything to do with associating ī with i = ə, and if so, how far, I leave an open question.

§ 499. A few more examples may here be added to those already given of the confusion between weak and strong stem.

Strong Stem instead of Weak. Skr. 2nd dual spar-tam beside spr-tam from spar- 'save, win'.²⁾ Avest. 3rd sing. mid. man-tā beside Skr. á-ma-ta from man- 'think'. Skr. 1st pl. á-hē-ma (cp. 3rd pl. á-hy-an) from hi- 'impel'. Skr. 2nd pl. stō-ta (cp. 2nd dual stu-tam) Avest. 1st pl. mid. stao-maidē from stu- 'praise' (cp. Skr. stāu-ti § 494 p. 54). Skr. 2nd pl. vart-ta (cp. 3rd pl. á-vṛt-ran) from vart- 'vertere'. Avest. 2nd pl. sas-tā beside Skr. śas-ta from √kens- 'foretel' (§ 493 p. 52). Skr. 1st pl. chēd-ma from chid- 'cut'. Skr. 2nd pl. mid. vōḍhvam beside ūḍhvam 2nd dual act. vōḍham (I § 404. 2 pp. 298 f., § 482 p. 356) compared with 2nd sing. vákṣi, √uegh- 'vehere'. Skr. 3rd sing. mid. á-tak-ta beside ták-ti 'runs, pushes, shoots', √teq-, cp. the weak grade tq- in Avest. partic. perf. ta-ḥk-uš- (I § 473. 2 p. 349).

1) Bartholomae (loc. cit.) assumes ā : i to be an orig. ablaut; he believes ā came from āi in Idg., and e. g. Lat. erās (contrasted with Skr. āsī-ṣ) is derived by him from esāi-s*. I cannot approve this theory.

2) Avestic mid. 3rd sing. var-tā 1st pl. var-maidi, compared with Skr. á-vṛ-ta, are not safe examples to cite in proof of this re-formation, because var- may come from vṛ-*.

Weak Stem instead of Strong: much rarer. Skr. i-mi beside ē-mi from i- 'go' (already cited, § 498 p. 59). Skr. 3rd sing. á-vrk beside várk (mid. á-vrk-ta) from varj- 'twist' (but vice versa 2nd dual vark-tam instead of vrk-tam). Avest. 2nd sing. a-per's instead of a-fraš* ground-form e-prek-s* from ✓prek- 'ask' (vice versa, 3rd sing. mid. fraš-tā instead of per's-tā*).

§ 500. In Aryan, the ever increasing use of thematic forms was helped on by the like endings -am in the first person singular, and -anti -an in the third plural. Sometimes the desire for clear expression came in too. Thus Skr. 2nd and 3rd sing. áda-s áda-t drove out āt* (both persons) from ✓ed- 'eat' (1st sing. ād-am 3rd pl. ād-an),¹⁾ and in Avestic -aitē -ata (= Skr. -atē -ata), endings of the 3rd pl. middle, were almost entirely dropped in favour of the thematic endings -antē -anta, by which the plural was more clearly marked; e. g. ānh-antē as contrasted with Skr. ās-atē 'they sit' (§ 1067. 1).

Much the same may be said of the other non-thematic present classes. Compare particularly the Avest. 3rd pl. of Classes III and V, in -anti -enti instead of -aiti (= Skr. -atī), §§ 540, 556, 1018. 1. b.

§ 501. Armenian. e-kn 'he came': Skr. á-gan, common ground-form e-gem-t*, see § 493 p. 51; the 1st sing. eki and 3rd pl. ekin are said to be adformatives of edi edin (see below); Bugge, Kuhn's Zeitschr. xxxii 75.

em 'am': Skr. ás-mi, see § 493 p. 52; 2nd sing. es for es-si* (I § 559 p. 416); 3rd sing. ē following berē 'fert' for bhere-ti* (vice versa, 2nd sing. beres follows es); 3rd pl. en doubtless for Idg. s-enti* (Bugge, Kuhn's Zeitschr. xxxii 71), cp. § 1019.

e-di 'I placed': Skr. á-dhā-m, see § 493 p. 53; 2nd sing. e-di-r 3rd sing. e-d 2nd pl. e-di-ṛ 3rd e-di-n. di- = Idg. dhē-* (I § 71 p. 62), and thus the strong stem has here passed into the plural. The same is true of e-tu 'I gave': Skr. á-dā-m, see § 493 p. 53; 2nd sing. e-tu-r 3rd sing. e-t 2nd pl. e-tu-k̄ 3rd pl. e-tu-n; tu- = Idg. dō-* (I § 87 p. 84). But ta- = Idg. dō-* is the stem of the present 1st pl. ta-mā 'damus', whence a appears instead of u in the singular tu-m (I § 109. a. p. 101).

gom 'I am' is compared by Hübschmann (Arm. Stud. I 25, 61) with Gothic visa 'I remain, tarry'; and he conjectures that it is derived from ues-mi*; Bugge (as cited, page 7) offers another explanation, but hardly improves upon this.

§ 502. Greek. κτεν 'kill' = Skr. kṣan-: 1st pl. ἐ-κτα-μεν, 3rd sing. ἀπ-ἐ-κτα-το = Skr. á-kṣa-ta, 2nd sing. ἐ-κτά-θης = Skr. á-kṣa-thās (§ 503). The Homeric 3rd pl. ἐκτᾶν, conj. 1st pl. κτέομεν, partic. -κτάς follow the analogy of roots in -ā (ἔ-qān etc.), like γέγα-κα (Pindar) from √γε- etc. (the Author, Gr. Gr.² p. 47). — With thematic vowel ἐ-κταν-ο-ν.

Remark. The Homeric 1st sing. -εκταν and 3rd sing. εκτα are peculiar. a is certainly short only in O 432 (ναί, ἐπεὶ ἄνδρα κατέκτα Κυθρόου Σαΐου). Is it possible that the original forms were ἐκταν εκτα with Aeolic a, which would be re-formates of the same nature as 3rd pl. ἐκτᾶν? Or is ἐκτα a re-formate like Skr. á-ryk beside várk (§ 499 p. 63), and -εκτᾶν due simply to the analogy of ἐκτᾶ?

√ger- 'swallow': ἐ-βρω ἐφαγεν, ἔδαξε, διέσπασεν; βρω- = q̄-*, weak grade like q̄v- in ἔ-q̄v, § 497 p. 56.

ελ-μ 'I will go', Idg. éj-mi*, see § 493 p. 52, 2nd sing. ελ for ελ-(ο)*, 3rd sing. ελ-σι; pl. 1st person ἔ-μεν 2nd ἔ-τε; 3rd pl. ἔσσι either for ij-avti* (Idg. ij-énti*) or instead of ávti* (Idg. i-enti*) with i prefix following ἔ-μεν ἔ-τε. Pret. 1st sing. ἦα instead of ἦα* for ḡk-a* (Skr. áy-am) following forms with a personal ending beginning in a consonant, such as ἦ-μεν (on the augment see § 480 p. 28, § 481 pp. 29 f.); unaugmented 3rd dual ἔ-την. Imperative ἔ-θι: Skr. i-hí. The old conj. and opt., answering to Skr. áy-a-ti and i-yá-t, are not found. Partic. fem. Ἐπι-ιουσα, epithet of Demeter, for i-av-ta*: Skr.

g-at-ti. — With thematic vowel: indic. pres. εἰσ-ίουσι pret. Hom. ἔ-ε ἦ-ε ἦ-ομεν Att. imper. ἰ-ό-ντων opt. ἔ-ο-ι partic. ἰ-ό-ντ- (cp. J. Baunack, Curt. Stud. x 96 ff., Rhein. Mus. xxxvii 472), and compare conj. ἔ-ω ἔ-ω-μεν.

φθει- 'destroy' = Skr. kṣay-: 3rd sing. mid. ἔ-φθι-το: Skr. imper. kṣi-dhī. Conjunctive φθι-ε-ται; in Skr. we should expect kṣay-a-tē* on the analogy of kṣi-dhī (cp. indic. kṣay-a-ti). Partic. φθι-μενο-ς. — Whether φθίω (ἔφθιεν, Σ 446) is φθι-ω or φθι-ιω is not clear; cp. § 527 Rem.

✓ λεμ- 'loose': mid. 3rd sing. λύ-το λῦ-το, 3rd pl. λύ-ντο (cp. § 1068).

1st pl. ἴδ-μεν (Att. ἴσμεν) 2nd pl. ἴσ-τε may be connected with the sing. uejd-mi* or old-a, it matters not which; see § 493 p. 52.

εἰμι 'I am', Idg. és-mi*, see § 493 p. 52. 2nd sing. εἶ for é(σ)ι* = Skr. ási, also εἶς (εἶς) and έσ-σι, see § 987. 1. 3rd sing. έσ-τι (έσ-τι): Skr. ás-ti. 1st pl. εἰμὲν (Dor. εἰμέε) for έσμεν* shows the strong stem for the weak (cp. O.Icel. er-u § 507), like the 2nd pl. έσ-τε and the 3rd pl. Ion. έασι for έσαντι*; Att. έσμεν follows έστέ in having σ. The 3rd pl. Dor. έντι Att. έσι instead of έντι* = Goth. sind, Idg. s-enti* (§ 1020. 1); for the breathing compare όντ- instead of ό-ν-τ-* § 493 p. 53. With 3rd pl. Dor. έντι goes the participle Dor. έντ-, nom. pl. έντ-ε whose fem. έσσα is a transformation of άσσα* (cp. Skr. s-at-ti). Pret. 1st sing. Hom. ἦα Att. ἦ for έσ-η*, 3rd sing. Dor. ἦς for έσ-τ*, 1st pl. ἦμεν for ἦσ-μεν* (I § 565 p. 410), 2nd pl. ἦσ-τε, 3rd pl. Dor. etc. ἦν for ἦ(σ)-εν* = Skr. ás-an (§ 1020. 1), also Boeot. παρ-εῖαν for ἦαν* (§ 1021. 1); for the augment, see § 480 p. 28, § 481 pp. 29 f. 1st sing. ἦν 2nd pl. ἦτε are re-formates caused by preterites like ἐβλην, Class X, the point of contact being ἦμεν. The 3rd sing. Hom. ἦεν Att. ἦν is probably identical with 3rd pl. Dor. ἦν for ἦ(σ)-εν*; the Indicative had adopted -αν (-σαν) in other forms in place of 3rd pl. -εν (§ 1021), and thus ἦεν ceased to be a clear plural, beginning with sentences like ἃ δὴ τετελεσμένα ἦεν (Σ 4), ένθα μάλιστα μάχη

bhā-ta-s etc. We must therefore assume for this Skr. verb a stem bh-ā-, i. e. an extension of the root by the ungraduated suffix -ā- (bhā-ti: bhā f. = psā-ti: psā f.), which is also possible for Lat. fā-tur for and O.C.Sl. ba-jā 'fabulor' (§ 706).¹⁾

§ 496. The strong stem is remarkable in Skr. śé-tē Avest. saē-tē Gr. κεῖ-ται 'lies' (cp. Skr. perf. śi-śy-ē, -śi-ś 'lying') beside Skr. śáy-a-tē Gr. Hom. κέ-ο-νται opt. κέ-ο-ι-το. Very uncertain explanations are suggested in vol. I § 598 p. 453. and by Meringer in the Zeitschr. öst. Gymn. 1888, p. 134. Perhaps the irregularity was due to a very early change from thematic to non-thematic conjugation, which was suggested by ás-tē ῆ-ο-ται 'sits'. I believe that this same change must be assumed for γέν-το ἔ-γεν-το (Hesiod and other poets) beside γένε-το ἰ-γένε-το (cp. 3rd dual γεγάτην), and for σεῦται (only in Soph. Tr. 645) beside σεύ-ε-ται (cp. σύ-το).²⁾ It is beyond all doubt seen in ἄμειπ-το = ἀμυίβ-το in Nonnus, and other such forms in late Greek poetry (Rzach, Gram. Stud. zu Apoll. Rhod., 164), and in some Lithuanian presents in -mi (§ 511).

Remark. ues-tai* 'clothes himself' (Skr. vas-tē Gr. ἐνδ-εσται ἐσ-το) is not of this class, as it must be analysed u-es-tai* (§ 656).

§ 497. Like ī-mahē (Gr. ἴ-ο-μεν § 493 pp. 51 f., § 914), many other forms show the weak-grade with bye-accent. Thus Skr. á-bhā-ma Gr. ἔ-qv-μεν Umbr. fū-tu 'esto' Lith. bū-k 'be it' from √bhey- 'become, be'; compare the sing. with the same grade of root Skr. á-bhā-t Gr. ἔ-qv (cp. perf. Skr. 2nd sing. ba-bhā-tha), without question somewhat influenced by preterites of Class X (§§ 597 ff.) such as Skr. á-dr-ā-t á-dr-ā-ma á-gl-ā-t á-gl-ā-ma Gr. ἔ-δρ-α ἔ-δρ-α-μεν ἔ-βλ-η ἔ-βλ-η-μεν.

1) √bhā- means 'to show, send forth, make known'. If we connect with it Skr. bhānati 'sounds, calls out' (Osthoff, Perf. 353, Whitney, Skr. Roots 109 f.), this must be taken as an extension bh-eno-* or bh-ṇno-* (§ 619). With the same extension Moulton connects Lat. fenestra (Proceed. Camb. Phil. Soc. 1890, May 22, p. 9).

2) The 3rd pl. mid. Ved. á-jan-ata beside á-jan-a-nta may be similarly taken. It is true that the word may quite well be derived from e-ḡṇn-nto* (cp. á-jñ-ata).

Also from $\sqrt{er}$ - 'set in motion' (ἐρετο · ὠρέθη, ἔρη · ὀρέθη Hesych., Skr. ār-ti aor. mid. ār-ta) we have an Idg. mid. $\sqrt{er}$ -ta₁: Skr. īr-tē imper. īr-šva Avest. ar^ē-šva partic. Skr. īr-ṇā-s, Gr. ὄρ-σο partic. ὄρ-μενο-ς inf. ὄρ-θαι (I § 306 pp. 241 f.). The Skr. īr- Gr. ὄρ- were used before sonants too, instead of $\sqrt{ir}$ - ār- (for $\sqrt{gr}$ -), which gives us such forms as Skr. 3rd pl. īr-atē (cp. Skr. ā-bhūv-am instead of ā-bhuv-am following ā-bhū-š etc.) 3rd sing. īr-a-tē, Gr. ὄρ-ο-ι-το ὄρ-η-ται; another re-formation is the augment in ὤρο (*ὄρο orig. without augment = $\sqrt{r}$ -tō). A Germanic form of this kind is A.S. ear-ð 'thou art', see § 509. In the same relation as ὄρ-ο-ι-το bears to ὄρ-σο, ἔ-μολ-ο-ν stands to ἔ-βλω · ἐφάνη, ἔχρετο, ἔστη Hesych., since βλω- represents an Idg. $\sqrt{ml}$ - (cp. I § 306 p. 243).

On de Saussure's hypothesis, bhū- was the weak grade of bheṃ- (Skr. fut. bhavi-šyā-ti etc.), and $\sqrt{r}$ - the weak grade of er- (Skr. fut. ari-šyā-ti etc.), and so on.

Remark. To this list of forms I have hitherto added Skr. ā-gā--ma Gr. ἔ-βη-μεν, 3rd sing. ā-gā-t ἔ-βη (cp. ā-bhū-t ἔ-φῦ), equating gā- βη- = $\sqrt{gm}$ - (I § 253 p. 206). But another hypothesis appears to be preferable from Skr. jī-gā-ti Gr. Hom. β-βᾶ:, Skr. vi-gā-man- n. 'step' Gr. βῆ-μα, Skr. perf. mid. ja-gē, and others of the like nature. This is, that there were original variants $\sqrt{gā}$ - and $\sqrt{gem}$ -, like $\sqrt{drā}$ - and $\sqrt{drem}$ - 'run' (§ 488 p. 47, § 579). It would be easy to decide this point, if only $\sqrt{gā}$ - could be found outside of Aryan and Greek. The derivation of Lett. gāju 'I went' is doubtful (see Wiedemann, Das lit. Praet., 141 f.), and it is worse than unsafe to adduce O.H.G. pfad 'path' (Fick, Wtb. I⁴ 33).

§ 498. Aryan. $\sqrt{qer}$ - 'make': Skr. 2nd sing. kār-ši 2nd 3rd sing. ā-kar 2nd pl. kṛ-thā 3rd pl. ā-kr-an 3rd sing. mid. ā-kṛ-ta, Avest. 3rd sing. cor^ēh = pr. Ar. $\sqrt{car}$ -t (I § 94 p. 89, § 647.7 pp. 493 f.); on O.Pers. 1st pl. a-kū-mā 3rd sing. a-kū-tā see Bartholomae, Ar. Forsch. II 67 f. ✓ed- 'eat': Skr. ád-mi át-ti. So in all the weak persons ad-, as 3rd pl. ad-anti 2nd pl. at-tá imper. ad-dhi, obviously because such forms as ta dhi were not clear enough (cp. above, Skr. ēdhī). Conjunctive: ad-a-ti ad-a-t (cp. 2nd sing. mid. ad-a-sva Gr. ἔδω Lat. ed-ō Goth. it-a). On the relation between ád-mi and Lat. ēst Lith. ēst, see § 480 Rem. pp. 28 f., § 494 pp. 54 f.

Skr. dhákṣi and others of the same sort, see § 493 p. 53. Skr. bhi-śak-ti 'heals' (bhi- is a bye-form of abhi) was no longer recognised for a compound, hence 3rd sing. a-bhiṣṇak R.-V. x, 131.5, following Class XV, and bhēṣajá-s 'healing'.

✓dhē- dō-, Skr. dha- da- Iran. da- (in Iranian the two stems ran into one, and it is no longer possible to distinguish their meaning exactly), see § 493 p. 53. Skr. á-dha-t dhát á-da-t pl. á-dha-ma á-dā-ma, Avest. dā-ḥ da-mā O.Pers. a-dā: on ā in the plural, see § 495 p. 55; mid. Skr. á-dhi-ta á-di-ta, imper. dhi-ṣvā. Conjunctive: Skr. dhā-ti pl. mid. dhā-mahē Avest. dā-ūī mid dā-ūīḥ (§ 933). Optative: Avest. d-yā-ḥ.

√dā- 'separate, divide up' (Gr. δα-μo-ς δῆ-μo-ς): Skr. dā-ti 3rd pl. dā-nti (like á-dhā-ma, above), mid. 1st pl. á-di-mahi (cp. partic. di-ná-s di-ta-s Gr. δα-τ'ο-μαι).

Sometimes in place of -i = Idg. -ə in roots of the latter kind, Sanskrit has -ī: á-dhī-mahi from √dhē-, mī-mahē from √mē- 'measure' (3rd sing. mā-ti), dī-ṣva from √dō-, á-dī-mahi from √dā-. This ī was connected with a very wide-spread Sanskrit re-formation.

There was a certain element used in root-extension, found in the parent language, and appearing in Sanskrit under the forms of -ī- and -i-. Whether it be dubbed Root-Determinative or Suffix, matters nothing (see § 488 pp. 44 ff.). Examples of its use are pī- 'swell, give to drink' from √pō- (pi-pī-tē pī-yā-tē pī-lá-s pī-pi-hí pi-nva-ti), rī- 'run, flow' from √er (rī-ya-tē rī-ti-ṣ rī-ñā-ti rī-t-), śrī- 'boils' beside śy-tá-s. Another form of this determinative in Sanskrit, as Bartholomae has pointed out (Stud. zur idg. Spr., II 63 ff.), is āi, seen in the Vedic preterites á-śar-āi-t 'he broke up' beside a-śar-ī-t śar-ī-tōṣ, and áj-āi-ṣ 'thou dravest' (unaugmented); and this word is closely connected with Gr. ἀγ-έω ἀγ-ίρω (cp. § 801).¹⁾ We shall meet the grade -ī- in several other categories of Sanskrit forms.

Now this -ī-, originally only a variant of Ar. -i- = Idg. -i-, encroached upon Ar. -i- = Idg. -ə-, so that in Aryan ī as well as i was found in the same ablaut series with ā.¹⁾ Hence arose the above named forms ādhimahi instead of ādhimahi beside ādhām etc., and hence śi-śī-hi śī-śī-tē* instead of śi-śi-hi* śi-śi-tē* (cp. śi-tā-s) beside śi-śā-ti (§ 538), mṛ-ṇī-mās instead of mṛ-ṇi-mās* (cp. Gr. -ρα-μεν) beside mṛ-ṇā-mi (§ 597), á-starī-ṣ instead of a-stariṣ* (§ 839). Last of all, -ī- even pushed out a = ə in the root of forms like pass. dha-ya-tē* = Avest. da-ye-tē (I § 109. a. p. 101), and so we have dhī-yá-tē (§§ 707, 709).

1) It is probable that another strong grade of the same determinative is contained in the Idg. present in -éjō (as Skr. śv-áya-ti vart-áya-ti Lat. qu-eū mon-eō), to which belonged a participle in -i-to-s and -ī-to-s (Class XXXII). And I would now (with Bezzenger, Zur Gesch. der lit. Spr., 195) recognise a form exactly answering to Skr. ájāi-ṣ in Gr. ἄγν-; ἄγν (for -ēj-s -ēj-t); see § 987. 1, and § 995. 2.

It is true that there are other instances besides these of variation between Idg. i and ī; for instance, in the syllable of reduplication, §§ 467, 469, 473. Whether these had anything to do with associating ī with i = ə, and if so, how far, I leave an open question.

§ 499. A few more examples may here be added to those already given of the confusion between weak and strong stem.

Strong Stem instead of Weak. Skr. 2nd dual spar-tam beside spr-tam from spar- 'save, win'.²⁾ Avest. 3rd sing. mid. man-tā beside Skr. á-ma-ta from man- 'think'. Skr. 1st pl. á-hē-ma (cp. 3rd pl. á-hy-an) from hi- 'impel'. Skr. 2nd pl. stō-ta (cp. 2nd dual stu-tam) Avest. 1st pl. mid. stao-maidē from stu- 'praise' (cp. Skr. stāu-ti § 494 p. 54). Skr. 2nd pl. vart-ta (cp. 3rd pl. á-vṛt-ran) from vart- 'vertere'. Avest. 2nd pl. saṣ-tā beside Skr. śas-ta from √kens- 'foretel' (§ 493 p. 52). Skr. 1st pl. chēd-ma from chid- 'cut'. Skr. 2nd pl. mid. vōḍhvam beside ūdhvam 2nd dual act. vōḍham (I § 404. 2 pp. 298 f., § 482 p. 356) compared with 2nd sing. vákṣi, √uegh- 'vehere'. Skr. 3rd sing. mid. á-tak-ta beside ták-ti 'runs, pushes, shoots', √teq-, cp. the weak grade tq- in Avest. partic. perf. ta-ḥk-uš- (I § 473. 2 p. 349).

1) Bartholomae (loc. cit.) assumes ā : i to be an orig. ablaut; he believes ā came from āi in Idg., and e. g. Lat. erās (contrasted with Skr. āsī-ṣ) is derived by him from esāi-s*. I cannot approve this theory.

2) Avestic mid. 3rd sing. var-tā 1st pl. var-maidi, compared with Skr. á-vṛ-ta, are not safe examples to cite in proof of this re-formation, because rar- may come from vṛ-*.

Weak Stem instead of Strong: much rarer. Skr. i-mi beside é-mi from i- 'go' (already cited, § 498 p. 59). Skr. 3rd sing. á-vrk beside várk (mid. á-vrk-ta) from varj- 'twist' (but vice versa 2nd dual vark-tam instead of vrk-tam). Avest. 2nd sing. a-per's instead of a-fraš* ground-form e-prek-s* from √prek- 'ask' (vice versa, 3rd sing. mid. fraš-tā instead of per's-tā*).

§ 500. In Aryan, the ever increasing use of thematic forms was helped on by the like endings -am in the first person singular, and -anti -an in the third plural. Sometimes the desire for clear expression came in too. Thus Skr. 2nd and 3rd sing. áda-s áda-t drove out āt* (both persons) from √ed- 'eat' (1st sing. ád-am 3rd pl. ád-an),¹ and in Avestic -aitē -ata (= Skr. -atē -ata), endings of the 3rd pl. middle, were almost entirely dropped in favour of the thematic endings -antē -anta, by which the plural was more clearly marked; e. g. āh-antē as contrasted with Skr. ās-atē 'they sit' (§ 1067. 1).

Much the same may be said of the other non-thematic present classes. Compare particularly the Avest. 3rd pl. of Classes III and V, in -anti -enti instead of -aiti (= Skr. -ati), §§ 540, 556, 1018. 1. b.

§ 501. Armenian. e-kn 'he came': Skr. á-gan, common ground-form e-gem-t*, see § 493 p. 51; the 1st sing. eki and 3rd pl. ekin are said to be adformates of edi edin (see below); Bugge, Kuhn's Zeitschr. xxxii 75.

em 'am': Skr. ás-mi, see § 493 p. 52; 2nd sing. es for es-si* (I § 559 p. 416); 3rd sing. ē following berē 'fert' for bhere-ti* (vice versa, 2nd sing. beres follows es); 3rd pl. en doubtless for Idg. s-enti* (Bugge, Kuhn's Zeitschr. xxxii 71), cp. § 1019.

e-di 'I placed': Skr. á-dhā-m, see § 493 p. 53; 2nd sing. e-di-r 3rd sing. e-d 2nd pl. e-di-kē 3rd e-di-n. di- = Idg. dhē-* (I § 71 p. 62), and thus the strong stem has here passed into

1) Similarly, the forms with an i-determinative, ás-i-š ás-i-t 'eras erat' establish themselves in place of ás (Vedic for both persons); see § 574.

Pr. Ar. as-ti*, Idg. es-ti*, see § 493 p. 52. Skr. sing. ás-mi ási ás-ti pl. s-más s-thá s-dnti, Avest. sing. ahmi ahi asti pl. mahi (I § 558.3 p. 414) stā henti, O.Pers. sing. amīy (I § 558.3 p. 415) ahy astiy 3rd pl. hatiy i. e. hantiy; O.Pers. 1st pl. amahy with a- from the singular. Pret. Skr. 1st sing. ás-am 3rd sing. ás O.Pers. 1st sing. aham i. e. āham Avest. 3rd sing. as (I § 647.7 pp. 493 f., § 649.6 p. 496), pl. Skr. ás-ma ás-to ás-an O.Pers. 3rd pl. aha i. e. āha, cp. § 481 pp. 29 f., also unaugmented Avest. 3rd sing. as 3rd pl. h-en Skr. s-án; on the 2nd and 3rd sing. Skr. ás-ī-ś ás-ī-t, see § 574. Imperative: Avest. z-dī; Skr. ēdhi for az-dhi* (I § 591 p. 447) instead of regular dhi* following the analogy of forms with strong root. Conjunctive: Skr. ás-a-ti ás-a-t Avest. anah-a-itī anah-a-ḥ O.Pers. ah-a-tiy. Optative: Skr. s-yā-t s-iyā-t Avest. h-yā-ḥ.

✓ ed- 'eat': Skr. ád-mi át-ti. So in all the weak persons ad-, as 3rd pl. ad-anti 2nd pl. at-tá imper. ad-dhi, obviously because such forms as ta dhi were not clear enough (cp. above, Skr. ēdhi). Conjunctive: ad-a-ti ad-a-t (cp. 2nd sing. mid. ad-a-sva Gr. ἔδω Lat. ed-ō Goth. it-a). On the relation between ád-mi and Lat. ēst Lith. ėst, see § 480 Rem. pp. 28 f., § 494 pp. 54 f.

Skr. dhákṣi and others of the same sort, see § 493 p. 53. Skr. bhi-ṣak-ti 'heals' (bhi- is a byc-form of abhi) was no longer recognised for a compound, hence 3rd sing. a-bhiṣnak R.-V. x, 131.5, following Class XV, and bhēṣajā-s 'healing'.

✓ dhē- dō-, Skr. dhā- dā- Iran. dā- (in Iranian the two stems ran into one, and it is no longer possible to distinguish their meaning exactly), see § 493 p. 53. Skr. á-dha-t dhát-á-da-t pl. á-dhā-ma á-dā-ma, Avest. dā-ḥ dā-mā O.Pers. a-dā; on ā in the plural, see § 495 p. 55; mid. Skr. á-dhi-ta á-di-ta, imper. dhi-švā. Conjunctive: Skr. dhā-ti pl. mid. dhā-mahē Avest. dā-itī mid dā-itē (§ 933). Optative: Avest. d-yā-ḥ.

✓dā- 'separate, divide up' (Gr. ḍā-μo-ς δῆ-μo-ς): Skr. dā-ti 3rd pl. dā-nti (like á-dhā-ma, above), mid. 1st pl. á-di-mahi (cp. partic. di-nā-s di-ta-s Gr. δα-τ'ο-μαι).

Sometimes in place of -i = Idg. -ə in roots of the latter kind, Sanskrit has -ī: á-dhī-mahi from ✓dhē-, mī-mahē from ✓mē- 'measure' (3rd sing. mā-ti), dī-šva from ✓dō-, á-dī-mahi from ✓dā-. This ī was connected with a very widespread Sanskrit re-formation.

There was a certain element used in root-extension, found in the parent language, and appearing in Sanskrit under the forms of -ī- and -i-. Whether it be dubbed Root-Determinative or Suffix, matters nothing (see § 488 pp. 44 ff.). Examples of its use are pī- 'swell, give to drink' from ✓pō- (pi-pī-tē pī-yā-tē pī-lā-s pī-pi-hi pī-nva-ti), rī- 'run, flow' from ✓er (rī-ya-tē rī-ti-ṣ rī-ṇā-ti rī-t), śrī- 'boils' beside śr-tā-s. Another form of this determinative in Sanskrit, as Bartholomae has pointed out (Stud. zur idg. Spr., II 63 ff.), is ai, seen in the Vedic preterites á-śar-ai-t 'he broke up' beside a-śar-i-t śár-ī-tōṣ, and áj-āi-ṣ 'thou dravest' (unaugmented); and this word is closely connected with Gr. ἀγ-ίνομ ἀγ-ίνομ (cp. § 801).¹⁾ We shall meet the grade -ī- in several other categories of Sanskrit forms.

Now this -ī-, originally only a variant of Ar. -i- = Idg. -i-, encroached upon Ar. -i- = Idg. -ə-, so that in Aryan ī as well as i was found in the same ablaut series with ā.¹⁾ Hence arose the above named forms ādhi-mahi instead of ādhimahi beside ādhām etc., and hence śi-śī-hi śt-śī-tē* instead of śi-śi-hi* śi-śi-tē* (cp. śi-tā-s) beside śi-śā-ti (§ 538), mṛ-ṇī-mās instead of mṛ-ṇi-mās* (cp. Gr. -va-μεν) beside mṛ-ṇā-mi (§ 597), á-starī-ṣ instead of a-stariṣ* (§ 839). Last of all, -ī- even pushed out a = ə in the root of forms like pass. dha-ya-tē* = Avest. da-ye-tē (I § 109. a. p. 101), and so we have dhī-yá-tē (§§ 707, 709).

1) It is probable that another strong grade of the same determinative is contained in the Idg. present in -éiō (as Skr. śv-áya-ti cart-áya-ti Lat. qu-eō mon-eō), to which belonged a participle in -i-to-s and -ī-to-s (Class XXXII). And I would now (with Bezenberger, Zur Gesch. der lit. Spr., 195) recognise a form exactly answering to Skr. ájāi-ṣ in Gr. ἀγ-ι-: ἀγ-ι (for -ēi-s -ēi-t); see § 987. 1, and § 995. 2.

It is true that there are other instances besides these of variation between Idg. i and ī; for instance, in the syllable of reduplication, §§ 467, 469, 473. Whether these had anything to do with associating ī with i = ə, and if so, how far, I leave an open question.

§ 499. A few more examples may here be added to those already given of the confusion between weak and strong stem.

Strong Stem instead of Weak. Skr. 2nd dual spar-tam beside spr-tam from spar- 'save, win'.²⁾ Avest. 3rd sing. mid. man-tā beside Skr. á-ma-ta from man- 'think'. Skr. 1st pl. á-hē-ma (cp. 3rd pl. á-hy-an) from hi- 'impel'. Skr. 2nd pl. stō-ta (cp. 2nd dual stu-tam) Avest. 1st pl. mid. stao-maidē from stu- 'praise' (cp. Skr. stāu-ti § 494 p. 54). Skr. 2nd pl. vart-ta (cp. 3rd pl. á-vṛt-ran) from vart- 'vertere'. Avest. 2nd pl. sas-tā beside Skr. śas-ta from √kēns- 'foretel' (§ 493 p. 52). Skr. 1st pl. chēd-ma from chid- 'cut'. Skr. 2nd pl. mid. vōdhvam beside ūdhvam 2nd dual act. vōdham (I § 404.2 pp. 298 f., § 482 p. 356) compared with 2nd sing. vákṣi, √vegh- 'vehere'. Skr. 3rd sing. mid. á-tak-ta beside ták-ti 'runs, pushes, shoots', √teq-, cp. the weak grade tq- in Avest. partic. perf. ta-ḥk-uš- (I § 473.2 p. 349).

1) Bartholomae (loc. cit.) assumes ā:ī to be an orig. ablaut; he believes ā came from āḱ in Idg., and e. g. Lat. erās (contrasted with Skr. āsī-ṣ) is derived by him from esāḱ-s*. I cannot approve this theory.

2) Avestic mid. 3rd sing. var-tā 1st pl. var-maidi, compared with Skr. á-vṛ-ta, are not safe examples to cite in proof of this re-formation, because rar- may come from vṛ-*.

Weak Stem instead of Strong: much rarer. Skr. i-mi beside é-mi from i- 'go' (already cited, § 498 p. 59). Skr. 3rd sing. á-vyk beside várk (mid. á-vyk-ta) from varj- 'twist' (but vice versa 2nd dual vark-tam instead of vyk-tam). Avest. 2nd sing. a-per's instead of a-fraš* ground-form e-prek-s* from $\sqrt{\text{prek-}}$ 'ask' (vice versa, 3rd sing. mid. fraš-tā instead of per's-tā*).

§ 500. In Aryan, the ever increasing use of thematic forms was helped on by the like endings -am in the first person singular, and -anti -an in the third plural. Sometimes the desire for clear expression came in too. Thus Skr. 2nd and 3rd sing. áda-s áda-t drove out āt* (both persons) from $\sqrt{\text{ed-}}$ 'eat' (1st sing. ád-am 3rd pl. ád-an),¹⁾ and in Avestic -aitē -ata (= Skr. -atē -atu), endings of the 3rd pl. middle, were almost entirely dropped in favour of the thematic endings -antē -anta, by which the plural was more clearly marked; e. g. ānh-antē as contrasted with Skr. ás-atē 'they sit' (§ 1067. 1).

Much the same may be said of the other non-thematic present classes. Compare particularly the Avest. 3rd pl. of Classes III and V, in -anti -enti instead of -aiti (= Skr. -ati), §§ 540, 556, 1018. 1. b.

§ 501. Armenian. e-kn 'he came': Skr. á-gan, common ground-form e-gem-t*, see § 493 p. 51; the 1st sing. eki and 3rd pl. ekin are said to be adformates of edi edin (see below); Bugge, Kuhn's Zeitschr. xxxii 75.

em 'am': Skr. ás-mi, see § 493 p. 52; 2nd sing. es for es-si* (I § 559 p. 416); 3rd sing. ē following berē 'fert' for bhere-ti* (vice versa, 2nd sing. beres follows es); 3rd pl. en doubtless for Idg. s-enti* (Bugge, Kuhn's Zeitschr. xxxii 71), cp. § 1019.

e-di 'I placed': Skr. á-dhā-m, see § 493 p. 53; 2nd sing. e-di-r 3rd sing. e-d 2nd pl. e-di-ṛ 3rd e-di-n. di- = Idg. dhē-* (I § 71 p. 62), and thus the strong stem has here passed into the plural. The same is true of e-tu 'I gave': Skr. á-dā-m, see § 493 p. 53; 2nd sing. e-tu-r 3rd sing. e-t 2nd pl. e-tu-k 3rd pl. e-tu-n; tu- = Idg. dō-* (I § 87 p. 84). But ta- = Idg. dā-* is the stem of the present 1st pl. ta-mā 'damus', whence a appears instead of u in the singular ta-m (I § 109. a. p. 101).

1) Similarly, the forms with an i-determinative, ás-i-ṣ ás-i-t 'eras erat' establish themselves in place of ás (Vedic for both persons); see § 574.

gom 'I am' is compared by Hübschmann (Arm. Stud. I 25, 61) with Gothic visa 'I remain, tarry'; and he conjectures that it is derived from mes-mi*; Bugge (as cited, page 7) offers another explanation, but hardly improves upon this.

§ 502. Greek. κτεν- 'kill' = Skr. kṣan-: 1st pl. ἐ-κτα-μεν, 3rd sing. ἀπ-έ-κτα-το = Skr. á-kṣu-ta, 2nd sing. ἐ-κτα-θης = Skr. á-kṣa-thās (§ 503). The Homeric 3rd pl. ἐκτᾶν, conj. 1st pl. κτέωμεν, partic. -κτάς follow the analogy of roots in -ā (ἐ-γᾶν etc.), like γέγᾶ-κα (Pindar) from √γεν- etc. (the Author, Gr. Gr.² p. 47). — With thematic vowel ἐ-κταν-ο-ν.

Remark. The Homeric 1st sing. ἐκταν and 3rd sing. ἐκτα are peculiar. a is certainly short only in O 432 (ναί, ἐπεὶ ἄνδρα κατέκτα Κυθήροισι ζαθέουσιν). Is it possible that the original forms were ἐκταν ἐκτα with Aeolic a, which would be re-formates of the same nature as 3rd pl. ἐκτᾶν? Or is ἐκτᾶ a re-formate like Skr. á-ryā beside várk (§ 499 p. 63), and -ἐκτᾶν due simply to the analogy of ἐκτᾶ?

√ger- 'swallow': ἐ-βρω ἐφαγεν, ἔδακε, διέσπασεν; βρω- = gǵ-*, weak grade like φῶ- in ἐ-φῶ, § 497 p. 56.

ελ-μι 'I will go', Idg. éǵ-mi*, see § 493 p. 52, 2nd sing. εἶ for eí-(σ)*, 3rd sing. εἶ-σι; pl. 1st person ἔ-μεν 2nd ἔ-τε; 3rd pl. ἔσσι either for ǵ-avti* (Idg. ǵ-énti*) or instead of ávti* (Idg. ǵ-enti*) with i prefix following ἔ-μεν ἔ-τε. Pret. 1st sing. ἦα instead of ǵa* for ǵk-a* (Skr. áya-am) following forms with a personal ending beginning in a consonant, such as ἦ-μεν (on the augment see § 480 p. 28, § 481 pp. 29 f.); unaugmented 3rd dual ἔ-την. Imperative ἔ-θι: Skr. i-hí. The old conj. and opt., answering to Skr. áy-a-ti and i-yá-t, are not found. Partic. fem. Ἐπι-ίασσα, epithet of Demeter, for i-av-ia*: Skr.

g-at-ī. — With thematic vowel: indic. pres. εἰσ-ίονσι pret. Hom. ἴ-ε ἦ-ε ἦ-ομεν Att. imper. ἰ-ό-ντων opt. ἴ-ο-ι partic. ἰ-ό-ντ- (cp. J. Baunack, Curt. Stud. x 96 ff., Rhein. Mus. xxxvii 472), and compare conj. ἴ-ω ἴ-ω-μεν.

φθει- 'destroy' = Skr. kṣay-: 3rd sing. mid. ἔ-φθι-το: Skr. imper. kṣi-dhī. Conjunctive φθί-ε-ται; in Skr. we should expect kṣay-a-tē* on the analogy of kṣi-dhī (cp. indic. kṣay-a-ti). Partic. φθι-μενο-ς. — Whether φθίω (ἐφθιεν, Σ 446) is φθι-ω or φθι-ιω is not clear; cp. § 527 Rem.

✓λεψ- 'loose': mid. 3rd sing. λύ-το λῦ-το, 3rd pl. λύ-ντο (cp. § 1068).

1st pl. ῥ-μεν (Att. ῖσμεν) 2nd pl. ῖσ-τε may be connected with the sing. μειδ-μι* or οἶδ-α, it matters not which; see § 493 p. 52.

εἰμι 'I am', Idg. és-mi*, see § 493 p. 52. 2nd sing. εἶ for ἰ(σ)μ* = Skr. āsi, also εἶς (εἷς) and ἔσ-σι, see § 987. 1. 3rd sing. ἔσ-τι (ἔσ-τι): Skr. ās-ti. 1st pl. εἰμὲν (Dor. εἰμῆς) for ἔσμεν* shows the strong stem for the weak (cp. O.Icel. er-u § 507), like the 2nd pl. ἔσ-τε and the 3rd pl. Ion. ἔασσι for ἔσαντι*; Att. ἔσμεν follows ἔσπε in having σ. The 3rd pl. Dor. ἐντι Att. εἰσι instead of ἔντι* = Goth. sind, Idg. s-enti* (§ 1020. 1); for the breathing compare ὄντ- instead of ὄ-ν-τ-* § 493 p. 53. With 3rd pl. Dor. ἐντι goes the participle Dor. ἐντ-, nom. pl. ἐντ-ες whose fem. ἔσσα is a transformation of άσσα* (cp. Skr. s-at-ī). Pret. 1st sing. Hom. ἦα Att. ἦ for ἔσ-η*, 3rd sing. Dor. ἦς for ἔσ-τ*, 1st pl. ἦμεν for ἦσ-μεν* (I § 565 p. 410), 2nd pl. ἦσ-τε, 3rd pl. Dor. etc. ἦν for ἦ(σ)-εν* = Skr. ās-an (§ 1020. 1), also Boeot. παρ-εῖαν for ἦαν* (§ 1021. 1); for the augment, see § 480 p. 28, § 481 pp. 29 f. 1st sing. ἦν 2nd pl. ἦτε are re-formates caused by preterites like ἐβλην, Class X, the point of contact being ἦμεν. The 3rd sing. Hom. ἦεν Att. ἦν is probably identical with 3rd pl. Dor. ἦν for ἦ(σ)-εν*; the Indicative had adopted -αν (-σαν) in other forms in place of 3rd pl. -εν (§ 1021), and thus ἦεν ceased to be a clear plural, beginning with sentences like ἃ δὴ τετελεσμένα ἦεν (Σ 4), ἐνθα μάλιστα μάχη καὶ φύλοπις ἦεν (N 789). In the dialect of Herodotus ἦα became εἶα (I § 611 p. 462), whence by analogy εἶα-ς εἶα-τε, cp. § 504. On ἦσθα and Hom. ἔησθα ἔην ἔην, see §§ 583, and 858. 2. Imper. ἴσθι for Idg. z-dhi* with prothetic vowel (I § 626 p. 470); and Hecataeus has ἔσθι with the strong stem introduced. The old conjunctive (Skr. ás-a-ti ás-a-t Lat. er-i-t) was lost in the historic period, and in its place we find εἶω ἔωμεν ὦ ὦμεν like Skr. as-ā-t. Opt. εἶην for *ἔσ-ιην- or ἔσ-ιην- with the strong tense-stem (cp. § 943). — There is connexion between 1st pl. ἐμὲν in Callimachus, the Thess. 1st sing. ἐμὶ, and Hom. inf. ἔμεν ἐμεναι: either on the analogy of εἰσὶ: τιθεῖσι (Dor. ἐντὶ: τίθεντι) and of εἶην: τιθείην, infinitives were formed to match with τίθεμεν and τιθέμεν τιθέμεναι (cp. Mess. conj. ἦνται and Hom. conj. μετ-ήω (§ 934); or the parallel forms εἶσαι: ἴασαι, εἶω: ἴω and so forth gave the impression that the two verbs were distinguished by having one ε and the other ι before the same endings, and thus ἐμὲν and ἔμεν(αι) came into existence on the analogy of ἴμεν (1st pl.) and ἴμεν(αι). In any case, ἐμὶ was not made until after ἐμέν. — The enclisis of εἰμὶ, as of φημὶ, is due to the fact that the finite verb was always enclitic in the original language; see I § 669 p. 534, and Wackernagel, Kuhn's Zeitschr. xxiii 457 ff. — On the thematic forms (s-o- and es-o-*), see § 493 p. 53.

ῆ 'said' (with pr. Greek ἦ) for *ἦκ-τ (I § 652.5 p. 496), cp. Skr. áh-a Lat. ājō. The ablaut in the root needs explaining (cp. Lat. ad-āgium: prōd-igium). In the mould of φῆν φηρην, φημὶ, φησὶ beside φῆ φῆη (pr. (tr. φᾱ-) were cast ἦν, ἦμὶ, ἦοι.

√dhē- 'place': ἔ-θε-μεν etc., see § 493 p. 53. Similarly, from √sē- 'send forth, let go, sow': εἴμεν pr. Gr. *ἔ-(σ)ε-μεν (cp. § 478 p. 26), unaugmented καθ-ε-μεν ἀφ-έ-την, ξέν-ε-το; Fick's comparison (Wtb. I⁴ 13 f.) with Skr. sā- in áva-sā- 'let go' (3rd sing. á-sā-t 2nd dual sí-tam) is unsafe.

√dō- 'give': ἔ-δο-μεν etc., see § 493 p. 53. Similarly from √kō- 'to be sharp, have one's wits sharpened by experience' (Gr. κῶ-vo-ς, Lat. cōs ca-tu-s, O.Ir. cath 'wise'): ἰ-κο-μεν · ἡσθόμεθα and κόν · εἰδός Hesych., cp. partic. δόν.

§ 503. A number of forms of the 2nd sing. pret. mid. with the personal ending -θης = Skr. -thās were the foundation for the θην-aorist, ἰ-κτά-θης = Skr. á-kṣa-thās beside ἀπ-έκτατο (§ 502 p. 64), ἰ-τά-θης = Skr. á-ta-thās from ✓ ten- 'stretch', ἰ-φθί-θης beside ἔ-φθι-το (§ 502 p. 65), ἰ-σῦ-θης beside ἔ-σσυ-το ἔ-σν-το (§ 504), ἰ-τέ-θης = Skr. á-dhi-thās beside ἔ-θι-το from ✓ dhē- 'place' (§ 493 p. 53), ἰ-δό-θης = Skr. á-di-thās beside ἰ-δο-το from ✓ dō- 'give' (§ 493 p. 53), ἰ-στά-θης = Skr. á-sthi-thās from ✓ stā- 'stand' (§ 493 p. 54). See §§ 589 and 1049. 2.

§ 504. Some preterite tenses of this sort form a subclass apart, in having developed from the -a of the 1st pers. sing. and -av in the 3rd plural, a flexion like the s-aorist (-σα -σας etc.), in which the strong stem appeared instead of the weak in the active plural and dual and in the middle voice.

Of the same sort are the reduplicated ῥῥ-α ῥῥα etc., and ῥῥ-α ῥῥα ῥῥα = ue-ue-*: see §§ 557, 569. Parallel to ῥῥ-α is the form ῥῥ-α, which is not reduplicated, but is derived from another root and compounded with the preposition ῥ- (the Author, Idg. Forsch. I 174): ῥῥα too received the inflexion of the s-aorist.

It is easy to understand how this amalgamation with the s-aorist came about, if we may assume that the first step was to change the 3rd person singular active. This would become ῥ-α(α)*, and if in its stead was used a form with the thematic vowel, ῥ-α (beside ῥ-α Hesiod), and similarly ῥ(ῥ) (from ῥῥ) replaced ῥ-α*, and ῥῥ (beside ῥῥ) replaced ῥ-α*, and so forth, the rest followed naturally: for -α in the first and -α in the third person brought the forms into direct relation with the s-aorist. ῥῥ ῥῥ are late, and copied straight from ῥῥ ῥῥ.

Remark. According to Fick (Göt. gel. Anz. 1881, pp. 1432 f.) and others, in all these preterites the 2nd sing. (-α), 2nd pl. (-α), etc., contain original dissyllabic roots ending with α (= Gr. α), in which case they will belong to our Class IX. For instance, ῥῥ in ῥῥ is connected by these scholars with Skr. bhar- in bhar-. This view seems to me less probable. Even granting it, however, confusion with the s-aorist is not by any means excluded.

✓ bher- 'bear': Lat. fer-t: Skr. bhár-ti; 2nd pl. fer-tis imper. fer-te have taken the strong stem, like Gr. φῑῑ-α (§ 502 p. 64), and like Skr. 2nd dual bhar-tám beside the regular bhṛ-tám. The 2nd sing. indic. fer-s and the 2nd sing. imper. fer both represent the Idg. injunctive bher-s*: fer is regular (as par for pars* and the like, I § 655 p. 506), but fer-s has had -s added again.¹⁾ In the pres. indic., ferō ferimus ferunt have a thematic vowel. Umbr. fertu 'ferto' may be identical with Lat. fer-tō, or it may be the same as the thematic Gr. φερε-τω (see I § 633 p. 474).

Lat. 2nd sing. vei-s vī-s (beside in-vītu-s), alien forms absorbed into the conjugation of volō: Skr. vē-ti 'presses on, strives' 3rd pl. vy-ánti.

✓ ei- 'go': 2nd 3rd sing. Lat. ei-s ī-s and i-t ground-forms ei-s* and ei-ti*, see § 493 p. 51. The ī- (also written ei-) of the present of the Latin finite verb, ī-mus ī-tis ī-tur ī-te etc., should strictly be i-, cp. Skr. i-más etc. This is doubtless not the (weak grade) ī of Skr. ī-mahē Gr. ῥ-ο-μεν (p. 52), but the strong grade ei-, cp. Pelign. ei-te 'ite'. The rare Lat. 3rd

1) Compare Umbr. heris — heris 'vis — vis' = 'vel — vel'. Originally it was no doubt a question: 'will you have this? will you have that?'

2) I do not consider that proof has been shown for deriving velim from volim* by vowel assimilation. vel shows that Latin had the grade uel- in this root.

3) A different account of Lat. nōli may be seen in Kuhn's Zeitschr. xxx 313 (Wackernagel's), and Stolz, *Lat. Gr.*² pp. 378, 379.

1st sing. Lat. est Umbr. est Osc. est Lat. est Skr. asti § 493 p. 52. 2nd sing. es for es-ti* Lat. es the latter perhaps augmented § 480 p. 28. Weak stem s- in the 3rd pl. Umbr. est Osc. est. The 2nd pl. Lat. es-tis has taken the strong stem. Like Gr. ἐσ-τε. Conjugatives: Lat. erō er-is etc. with future meaning (§ 910). Optatives: 2nd sing. Lat. s-ir-is s-i-is Umbr. sir si sei, see § 946. To the the thematic stem s-o- belong 1st sing. Lat. s-u-m Osc. sūm sum for s-o-m*, the injunctive form. 1st pl. Lat. sumus simus (so too possumus possimur, cp. volumus volimus above) for s-o-mos*, 3rd pl. Lat. s-o-nt sunt Falisc. sunt, partic. Lat. sōns sont-is (cp. the Author, Bericht der sächs. Ges. der Wiss., 1890, pp. 230 ff.).

Remark 1. Side by side with potis sum (potis 'mighty, powerful, able' = Gr. πότις), for which a plural potis sumus was formed instead of potes sumus* after potis had crystallised (cp. Skr. dātāsmas 'we will be giving' instead of dātārah smas, and like phrases), was a variant pote sum. pote is an adverb (acc. sing. neut. for poti*, or loc. in orig. -e, see III § 260 p. 160), cp. bene sum, tūtō sum. potisset potisse are for potis 'aet 'see, cp. situst for situs 'st. But potes potest potestis come from pote es etc. So also possum possum (whence possem posse by complementary analogy) come from potsum* potsum*, pote-sum, pote-sim. It is doubtful, however, whether -e disappeared by regular syncope, or whether potest : est suggested potsum* : sum (I § 501 p. 367).

Vel- 'eat': ēs ēst ēstis ēste, pass. ēstur (on -st- instead of -ss- -s- see I § 501 Rem. 2 p. 368); with thematic vowel edō edimus edunt, also edis edit etc. See § 480 Rem. pp. 28 f., § 494 pp. 54 f., § 498 p. 60. Optative: ed-i-m ed-ī-mus instead of d-ī-*, perhaps to distinguish this optative from the old optative of dō 'give' (see below).

1) I § 110 page 105 should be corrected by this statement.

✓ dhē- 'place': Lat. con-di-mus con-di-tis crēdimus for fa-mos fa-tes: Gr. ἔ-θε-μεν, see § 493 p. 53. The forms -dō -dis -dit -dunt are thematic.

✓ dō- 'give': Lat. da-mus da-tis red-dimus -ditis: Gr. ἰ-δο-μεν, see § 493 p. 53.¹⁾ Imperative: ce-dō (2nd pl. ce-tte for ce-date ce-dite, I § 633 p. 474), see § 957. The old optative stem d-ī-* (cp. Avest. 3rd sing. d-ya-þ) is found in Osc. da-did 'dedat'; to this the conj. da-dad Lat. dē-dat is related like Lat. ed-ā-mus : ed-ī-mus (see above). The old singular forms dō-m *dō-s dō-t are gone; we have instead dō dās dat. The last two represent the stem used in composition for the conjunctive, d-ā- (cp. -bas for bhū-ā-s* indic. beside conj. fu-ā-s, see § 578); and these created dō on the analogy of stō : stās, flō : flās etc. In composition, we see the same inflexion as legō has: vēn-dō red-dō -dis -dit -dimus -diti -dunt. But undoubtedly -dimus -ditis are what -damus -datis must regularly become, cp. fut. O.Lat. reddibō for red-dabō*.

Remark 2. The compounds of dhū- and dō- were confused in Latin, beginning with the 1st and 2nd plural; -di- = fa- dhā- and = da- dā-. Compare Darmesteter, De conj. Lat. verbi dare, Paris 1877; Postgate, Dare, 'to give' and -dere 'to put', Trans. Phil. Soc. 1880—81 pp. 99 ff.; Thielmann, Das verbum dare im Lat., Leipzig 1882; the Author, Liter. Centr. 1882 col. 1389 ff.

Whether the forms stā-s stā-t from ✓ stā- 'stand' are rightly placed here with the rest, as is suggested by Skr. ā-sthā-t and Gr. ἔ-στη (§ 493 p. 54), is very doubtful because of stā-mus stā-tis. One cannot see why an orig. stā-mus* (cp. dā-mus) should have been altered (ἔστημεν as compared with ἔδομεν is quite a different thing, see § 495 p. 55); and so it a preference to rather the whole present of this verb as to as-ti* see § 504 Rom. § 7.6. This is supported by Umbr. as-ti.

1) Bréal (Mém. Soc. Ling., vii 326) thinks he may regard as an un-augmented preterite dat in Vergil's cratera antiquom quem dat Silonia Dido (Aen. ix 286). Many points in Vergil's manner are in favour of Bréal's assumption (see Ladewig on Aen. i 79, ii 275, Kühner Ausf. Gr. ii 90).

§ 506. Keltic. as 'to help' 3rd sing. O. Ir. is as-ti. as is for es-ti*. 3rd pl. O. Ir. it O. Cymr. ist for -enti* (III p. 196, footnoted). The a- of the Irish preterite sing. 1st pers. am 2nd at (3rd relat. as), plur. 1st ammi 2nd adib (3rd rel. atay), is from -e. The form am then had no -i at the end: and since it is usually written am with one m, it seems to have had m spirant, like Mid. Cymr. myr. It must therefore not be derived from esmi*. The 2nd sing. s Mid. Cymr. cyt may contain the pronoun of the 2nd person and may thus be explained as esi-t-*. Mid. Cymr. 1st sing. myr seems to be due to the analogy of the 2nd sing. Is it on the same? Others regard these forms as coming from the as as gi. The 1st pl. ammi Mid. Cymr. ym may be esmi*. In the 2nd pl. adib, -b is certainly an affixed personal pronoun, and so the ending of the 2nd pl. = -ti -sib (ground-form es-si*, the suffix re-formed on the analogy of the 1st pl. see § 474). This brings us back to an imaginary ground-form es-si-sib* = so-, which would be a re-formate following the 3rd pl. es-si-sib* and so perhaps the 1st pl. should be derived from es-si-sib*, a later contamination.

Again, the Keltic t-preterite, as it is called, is partly of the same kind. In the 3rd sing. of this preterite, the ending -t is said to represent the middle ending -to* (Strachan, Bezz. Beitr. xii 128 ff., and Zimmer, Kuhn's Zeitschr. xxx 204 ff.): e. g. O. Ir. as-bert 'dixit' Mid. Cymr. kymberth 'sumpsit' for kymberth* from √ bher-. When -t ceased to be understood as a personal ending, the other persons which completed the tense were formed on the model of stems ending in -t: O. Ir. sing.

1st pers. -burt 2nd -birt, plur. 1st -bartmar 2nd -bartid* 3rd -bartatur. Compare Lith. eiù 'I go' formed from eĩ-t 'he goes' = Skr. é-ti § 686 Rem. 2, Gr. éðéθην from ĩ-ðó'-θης; = Skr. á-di-thās § 589. In forms like as-bert Strachan sees root-aorists of this class, Zimmer s-aorists (ber-s-to*). As a matter of fact, both these aorists may have been the source for some preterites such as these. To our Class I belong O.Ir. ro-ēt 'he took' for -em-to*, Mid.Cymr. gwan-t 'percussit, ferit'.

§ 507. Germanic. √ uel- 'wish': opt. Goth. viljau pl. vilei-ma O.H.G. 2nd and 3rd sing. wili O.Icel. 1st sing. vilja. The strong stem (cp. Skr. vr-iyā-t vr-ī-ta), like that of Lat. velim, is due to a confusion with the indic. uel-(i)ō-* uel-ī-* (O.H.G. willu O.C.Sl. velja). See § 493 p. 51, § 505 p. 69, § 928.

√ gem- 'go, come': opt. A.S. cyme = Goth. kumjan*: Skr. gam-yá-m, see § 493 p. 51.

√ es- 'to be', see § 493 p. 52. The indicative forms are Goth. im, is, ist, sijum sium, sijuþ siuþ, sind; O.H.G. bim, (bist bis), ist, birum, birut, sint; O.Icel. em, est, es (Run. is). From erum, erod erud, ero eru. First it must be mentioned that the O.H.G. 2nd sing. bist bis belongs to a present to be described below in §§ 707 and 722, formed from √ bhey-, namely 1st sing. bhū-iō* 2nd sing. bhū-ī-si* etc. (A.S. 1st sing. béo 2nd sing. bis 3rd sing. bið, O.Ir. biu etc.), and that the similarity of bis and is* (= Goth. is) produced b-im b-irum b-irut. 1st sing. Goth. im O.H.G. (b-)im for immi* ismi* = Skr. ás-mi (I § 582 Rem. 2 p. 436); O.Icel. em instead of regular im* following the plural forms which begin with e, whence also the e in est and es. Whether the 2nd sing. Goth. is comes from Idg. esi* or es-si* (see § 984.1), cannot be decided: O.Icel. est like O.H.G. bist has -t on the analogy of the preterite (§ 990.3); on the very rare O.Icel. 2nd sing. es, see Noreen in Paul's Grundr. I 515. The 3rd sing. Goth. O.H.G. ist is for Idg. es-ti*; O.Icel. es (Run. is) A.S. O.Sax. is are doubtless the old injunctive Idg. es-t*; the 3rd pl. O.Icel. er-o is also injunctive (other explanations are suggested by J. Schmidt, Kuhn's Zeitschr. xxv 593; von Fierlinger, ibid.

xxvii 440 footnote 2; Noreen, loc. cit.; Osthoff, Perf. 428 f.). In the plural, the weak stem is seen in Goth. s-ind O.H.G. s-int = Idg. s-enti*. O.Icel. ero eru is pr. Germ. iz-unþ* (§ 1025. 1 b), an injunctive in which the strong stem has taken the place of the weak (cp. Gr. ἔασι, § 502 p. 66). As the ending of izunþ* agreed with the so-called preterite-presents, such as Goth. mun-un (§ 508), on their analogy the 1st pl. O.Icel. erom O.H.G. (b-)irum and the 2nd pl. O.Icel. erod O.H.G. (b-)irut appeared. These forms then produced O.H.G. Frank. sind-un O.Sax. A.S. sind-un. Goth. sijum sijup are probably transformed from iz-um iz-uþ, caused partly by sind, partly by the feeling that the opt. sijau sijais etc. should contain a stem sij-. — The optative has always a weak root: 1st sing. Goth. s-sijau O.H.G. s-t O.Icel. s-jā; on the inflexion, see § 947. — Partic. s-und-* = Idg. s-nt-* in Goth. sunjis 'true' for sund-ja-* = Skr. sat-yá- 'true'; also thematic s-o-nt-* in sanþ-a-* 'true, truthful' A.S. sōð O.Icel. samr (cp. § 493 p. 53).

O.H.G. tuom 'I do' (O.Sax. A.S. dō-m) must be derived from √dhē-, along with the pret. te-ta and the subst. tā-t (Goth. ga-dē-di-) and others, but its vowel makes it impossible to derive the word from dhū-mi*. Perhaps it contains dh-ā-* (Class X, § 585), found in other parts of the verb as a conjunctive stem (Lat. con-da-m -dā-mus); cp. Lat. 2nd sing. d-a-s 'thou givest' = conj. (red-)dās (§ 505 p. 71, § 937).

Remark. On O.H.G. stām stem 'I stand' and gām gem 'I go', see § 708. They certainly do not belong to this class of presents.

§ 508. Some Preterite-Presents may also be placed in this class. Goth. mun-un 'they think', opt. 1st pl. mun-ei-ma: Skr. mid. 3rd sing. á-ma-ta partic. man-dā-s, √men- 'think, mean'. Goth. ga-daurs-un O.H.G. gi-turrun 'they dare', opt. Goth. ga-daurs-ei-ma O.H.G. gi-turr-ī-m: Skr. partic. dhṛṣ-ānā-s, √dhers- 'dare'. Goth. vit-un O.H.G. wizz-un 'they know', opt. Goth. vit-ei-ma O.H.G. wizz-ī-mēs: Skr. cēt-ti opt. vid-yā-t etc., see § 493 p. 52; the weak forms of this verb were present and perfect at the same time.

If this view be right, Goth. mun-un ga-daúrs-un vit-un were originally injunctive, like Icel. er-o er-u (§ 507 p. 73). We shall meet again with present forms among the preterite-presents (§§ 646, 887, 893).

Remark. Germ. ar- was probably not a perfect stem, which would have been ōr-. This is said to correct the note in Idg. Forsch. I 81.

Von Fierlinger (Kuhn's Zeitschr. xxvii 436 ff.) deduces some other presents with weak stem and secondary accent, from thematic forms with peculiar vocalism. Thus, for Goth. fara 'I fare, go', ✓per- (in Gr. περάω 'I pass through' etc.), he assumes an older present stem pǵ-, 1st pl. pǵ-més (cp. Skr. 2nd sing. pár-ṣi).

§ 510. Balto-Slavonic. To Idg. ueǵd-mi* 'I see' belong Lith. veizd-mi, and imperative Lith. veizdi reizd O.C.Sl. viždī, — the imperative forms have non-original strong stem, and the O.C.Sl. form has ž instead of z, see § 493 p. 52, §§ 949, 962. An undoubted re-formate is Lith. pa-výzdmi instead of pa-výdžiu 'invideo', also used (cp. § 511).

Idg. es-mi* 'I am', see § 493 p. 52. The Lithuanian forms here to be cited are scattered over various dialects. 1st sing. Lith. es-mì O.C.Sl. jes-mǐ; on the analogy of thematic verbs with -u Lith. esmū (like Lett. esmu Pruss. asmu), and then a 2nd person esmì was made on the analogy of sukì : sukù. 2nd sing. Lith. esì (Pruss. assai assei asse essei) O.C.Sl. jesi, see § 991. 3rd sing. Lith. ēs-ti ēs-t (Pruss. ast est) O.C.Sl. jes-tū. The 1st and 2nd pl. may have taken es- instead of s- in pr. Balto-Slav.: Lith. ēs-me ēs-te (Pruss. asmai, astai asti estei) O.C.Sl. jes-mŭ jes-te. Partic. Pruss. -sins dat. -sentismu: cp. Lat. -sēns and Gr. Dor. ἴρι-ες (p. 50 footnote). —

Of the same sort are the reduplicated ἤν-εγκ-α ἤνεγκας etc., and εἶπ-α εἶπας (φηπ- = me-mq-*); see §§ 557, 569. Parallel to ἤνεγκα is the form ἤν-εκα, which is not reduplicated, but is derived from another root and compounded with the preposition ἐν- (the Author, Idg. Forsch. i 174); ἤνεκα too received the inflexion of the s-aorist.

It is easy to understand how this amalgamation with the s-aorist came about, if we may assume that the first step was to change the 3rd person singular active. This would become *ἐν-ει(κτ), and if in its stead was used a form with the thematic vowel, ἐν-εικε (beside συν-ενέμεται Hesiod), and similarly ἔχ(ε)ε (from ἔχ(ε)ον) replaced *ἐ-χευ, and ἔσσευε (beside ἐσσινώμην) replaced *ἐ-σσευ, and so forth, the rest followed naturally: for -α in the first and -ε in the third person brought the forms into direct relation with the s-aorist. ἔας ἔατε are late, and copied straight from ἔχεας ἔχ(ε)ατε.

REMARK. According to Fick (Gött. gel. Anz. 1881, pp. 1432 f) and others, in all these preterites the 2nd sing. (-α-ς), 2nd pl. (-α-τε), etc., contain original dissyllabic roots ending with ε (= Gr. α), in which case they will belong to our Class IX. For instance, χεφα- in ἔχεας is connected by these scholars with Skr. havi- in haviṣ-. This view seems to me less probable. Even granting it, however, confusion with the s-aorist is not by any means excluded.

✓bher- 'bear': Lat. fer-t: Skr. bhár-ti; 2nd pl. fer-tis imper. fer-te have taken the strong stem, like Gr. φέρ-τε (§ 502 p. 64), and like Skr. 2nd dual bhar-tám beside the regular bhṛ-tám. The 2nd sing. indic. fer-s and the 2nd sing. imper. fer both represent the Idg. injunctive bher-s*: fer is regular (as par for pars* and the like, I § 655 p. 506), but fer-s has had -s added again.¹⁾ In the pres. indic., ferō ferimus ferunt have a thematic vowel. Umbr. fertu 'ferto' may be identical with Lat. fer-tō, or it may be the same as the thematic Gr. φερε-τω (see I § 633 p. 474).

Lat. 2nd sing. vei-s vī-s (beside in-vītu-s), alien forms absorbed into the conjugation of volō: Skr. vē-ti 'presses on, strives' 3rd pl. vy-dnti.

✓ ei- 'go': 2nd 3rd sing. Lat. ei-s ī-s and i-t ground-forms eī-s* and eī-ti*, see § 493 p. 51. The ī- (also written ei-) of the present of the Latin finite verb, ī-mus ī-tis ī-tur ī-te etc., should strictly be i-, cp. Skr. i-más etc. This is doubtless not the (weak grade) ī of Skr. ī-mahā Gr. ἰ-ο-μεν (p. 52), but the strong grade eī-, cp. Pelign. ei-te 'ite'. The rare Lat. 3rd

1) Compare Umbr. heris — heris 'vis — vis' = 'vel — vel'. Originally it was no doubt a question: 'will you have this? will you have that?'

2) I do not consider that proof has been shown for deriving velim from volim* by vowel assimilation. rel shows that Latin had the grade uel- in this root.

3) A different account of Lat. nōlī may be seen in Kuhn's Zeitschr. xxx 313 (Wackernagel's), and Stolz, Lat. Gr.² pp. 378, 379.

pl. ūt was coined to complement īnus on the strength of stā-nt : stā-mus, plē-nt : plē-mus etc.

Partic. īnus like prae-s-ēns (II § 126 p. 306, and IV p. 50, footnote). With thematic vowel ēō for ēi-ō*, ēunt, partic. ēunt-is etc., and the conj. ēunt: cp. Skr. indie. mid. āy-a-tē, ambū ambūnt are doubtless not to be compared with Gr. īn āō-īnōn etc. (pp. 52, 65): they must be a re-formation following finio, the compound being treated like a simple word.

✓ es- 'be': 3rd sing. Lat. es-t, Umbr. est est Osc. est ist: Skr. ās-ti, § 493 p. 52. 2nd sing. es for es-s*, also ēs, the latter perhaps augmented (§ 480 p. 28). Weak stem s- in the 3rd pl. Umbr. s-ent Osc. s-et. The 2nd pl. Lat. es-tis has taken the strong stem, like Gr. ēs-tē. Conjunctive: Lat. erō er-is etc. with future meaning (§ 910). Optative: 2nd sing. Lat. s-iēs-s s-i-s Umbr. sir si sci, see § 946. To the the thematic stem s-o- belong 1st sing. Lat. s-u-m Osc. sūm sum for s-o-m*, the injunctive form, 1st pl. Lat. sumus simus (so too possumus possimus, cp. volumus volimus above) for s-o-mos*,¹⁾ 3rd pl. Lat. s-o-nt sunt Falisc. sunt, partic. Lat. sōns sont-is (cp. the Author, Bericht der sächs. Ges. der Wiss., 1890, pp. 230 ff.).

Remark 1. Side by side with potis sum (potis 'mighty, powerful, able' = Gr. πό-τε-ς), for which a plural potis sumus was formed instead of potēs sumus* after potis had crystallised (cp. Skr. dātāsmaḥ 'we will be giving' instead of dātārah smaḥ, and like phrases), was a variant pote sum. pote is an adverb (acc. sing. neut. for poti*, or loc. in orig. -ē, see III § 260 p. 160), cp. bene sum, tūtō sum. potisset potisse are for potis 'aset 'ase, cp. situst for situs 'st. But potes potest potestis come from pote es etc. So also possum possim (whence possem posse by complementary analogy) come from potsum* potsim*, pote-sum, pote-sim. It is doubtful, however, whether -e- disappeared by regular syncope, or whether potest : est suggested potsum* : sum (I § 501 p. 367).

✓ ed- 'eat': ēs ēst ēstis ēste, pass. ēstur (on -st- instead of -ss- -s- see I § 501 Rem. 2 p. 368); with thematic vowel edō edimus edunt, also edis edit etc. See § 480 Rem. pp. 28 f., § 494 pp. 54 f., § 498 p. 60. Optative: ed-i-m ed-i-mus instead of d-i-*, perhaps to distinguish this optative from the old optative of dō- 'give' (see below).

1) I § 110 page 105 should be corrected by this statement.

✓ dō- 'give': Lat. da-mus da-tis red-dimus -ditis: Gr. ἔ-δο-μεν, see § 493 p. 53.¹⁾ Imperative: ce-do (2nd pl. ce-tte for ce-date ce-dite, I § 633 p. 474), see § 957. The old optative stem d-i-* (cp. Avest. 3rd sing. d-yā-p) is found in Osc. da-did 'dedat'; to this the conj. da-dad Lat. dē-dat is related like Lat. ed-ā-mus : ed-ī-mus (see above). The old singular forms dō-m *dō-s dō-t are gone; we have instead dō dās dat. The last two represent the stem used in composition for the conjunctive, d-ā- (cp. -bās for bhū-ā-s* indie. beside conj. fu-ā-s, see § 578); and these created dō on the analogy of stō : stās, flō : flās etc. In composition, we see the same inflexion as legō has: vēn-dō red-dō -dis -dit -dimus -diti -dunt. But undoubtedly -dimus -ditis are what -damus datis must regularly become, cp. fut. O.Lat. reddibō for red-dabō*.

Remark 2. The compounds of dhē- and dō- were confused in Latin, beginning with the 1st and 2nd plural; -di- = fa- dhā- and = da- dā-. Compare Darmesteter, De conj. Lat. verbi dare, Paris 1877; Postgate, Dare, 'to give' and -dere 'to put', Trans. Phil. Soc. 1880—81 pp. 99 ff.; Thielmann, Das verbum dare im Lat., Leipzig 1882; the Author, Liter. Centr. 1882 col. 1389 ff.

Whether the forms stā-s sta-t from ✓ stā- 'stand' are rightly placed here with the rest, as is suggested by Skr. ā-sthā-t and Gr. ἑ-στη (§ 493 p. 54), is very doubtful because of stā-mus stā-tis. One cannot see why an orig. stā-mus* (cp. dā-mus) should have been altered (ἑστημεν as compared with ἑδομεν is quite a different thing, see § 495 p. 55); and so it is preferable to refer the whole present of this verb stō to stā-īō*; see § 584 Rem., § 706. This is supported by Umbr. stahu 'sto'.

1) Bréal (Mém. Soc. Ling., vii 326) thinks he may regard as an augmented preterite dat in Vergil's cratera antiquom quem dat Sidonia Dido (Aen. ix 266). Many points in Vergil's manner are in favour of Bréal's assumption (see Ladewig on Aen. i 79, ii 275, Kühner Ausf. Gr. ii 90).

§ 506. Keltic. ✓es- 'to be',¹⁾ 3rd sing. O.Ir. is O.Cymr. iss is for es-ti*. 3rd pl. O.Ir. it O.Cymr. int for s-enti* (II p. 196, footnote). The a- of the Irish proclitic sing. 1st pers. am 2nd at (3rd relat. as), plur. 1st ammi 2nd adib (3rd rel. ata), is from -e. The form am then had no -i at the end; and since it is usually written am with one m, it seems to have had m spirant, like Mid.Cymr. wyf. It must therefore not be derived from esmi*. The 2nd sing. at Mid.Cymr. wyt may contain the pronoun of the 2nd person, and may thus be explained as esi+t-*. Mid.Cymr. 1st sing. wyf seems to be due to the analogy of the 2nd sing. Is Ir. am the same? Others regard these forms as coming from the root eī- 'go'. The 1st pl. ammi Mid.Cymr. ym may be esmesi*. In the 2nd pl. adib, -b is certainly an affixed personal pronoun, and -di- the ending of the 2nd pl. = -thi -the (ground-form -tesi*, the suffix re-formed on the analogy of the 1st pl., see § 1014). This brings us back to an imaginary ground-form s-e-tesi* + sv-, which would be a re-formate following the 3rd pl. senti*; and so perhaps the 1st pl. should be derived from s-esmesi*, a later contamination.

Again, the Keltic t-preterite, as it is called, is partly of the same kind. In the 3rd sing. of this preterite, the ending -t is said to represent the middle ending -to* (Strachan, Bezz. Beitr. XIII 128 ff., and Zimmer, Kuhn's Zeitschr. xxx 204 ff.): e. g. O.Ir. as-bert 'dixit' Mid.Cymr. kymberth 'sumpsit' for kymberth* from ✓bher-. When -t ceased to be understood as a personal ending, the other persons which completed the tense were formed on the model of stems ending in -t: O.Ir. sing.

1) Compare Zimmer, Kelt. Stud. II 133; Stokes, The Neo-Celtic Verb Subst., 43 ff., Kuhn's Zeitschr. XXVIII 93 ff.; d'Arbois de Jubainville, Mém. Soc. Ling., V 239 f.; Strachan, Bezz. Beitr. XV 114 ff. In the text I follow chiefly information received from Thurneysen.

1st pers. -burt 2nd -birt, plur. 1st -bartmar 2nd -bartid* 3rd -bartatur. Compare Lith. eitù 'I go' formed from eĩ-t 'he goes' = Skr. é-ti § 686 Rem. 2, Gr. ἔδδ'ῃη from ĩ-ḍo'-ḡḡ = Skr. á-di-thās § 589. In forms like as-bert Strachan sees root-aorists of this class, Zimmer s-aorists (ber-s-to*). As a matter of fact, both these aorists may have been the source for some preterites such as these. To our Class I belong O.Ir. ro-ēt 'he took' for -em-to*, Mid.Cymr. gwan-t 'percussit, feriit'.

§ 507. Germanic. √ uel- 'wish': opt. Goth. viljau pl. vilei-ma O.H.G. 2nd and 3rd sing. wili O.Icel. 1st sing. vilja. The strong stem (cp. Skr. vr-iyā-t our-ĩ-ta), like that of Lat. velim, is due to a confusion with the indic. uel-(i)io-* uel-ĩ-* (O.H.G. willu O.C.Sl. velja). See § 493 p. 51, § 505 p. 69, § 928.

√ es- 'to be', see § 493 p. 52. The indicative forms are Goth. im, is, ist, sijun sium, sijup siup, sind; O.H.G. bim, (bist bis), ist, birum, birut, sint; O.Icel. em, est, es (Run. is), erom erum, erod erud, ero eru. First it must be mentioned that the O.H.G. 2nd sing. bist bis belongs to a present to be described below in §§ 707 and 722, formed from √ bheu-, namely 1st sing. bhu-ĩio* 2nd sing. bhu-ĩ-si* etc. (A.S. 1st sing. béo 2nd sing. bis 3rd sing. bið, O.Ir. biu etc.), and that the similarity of bis and is* (= Goth. is) produced b-im b-irum b-irut. 1st sing. Goth. im O.H.G. (b-)im for immi ismi = Skr. ás-mi (I § 582 Rem. 2 p. 436); O.Icel. em instead of regular im* following the plural forms which begin with e, whence also the e in est and es. Whether the 2nd sing. Goth. is comes from Idg. esi* or es-si* (see § 984.1), cannot be decided; O.Icel. est like O.H.G. bist has -t on the analogy of the preterite (§ 990.3); on the very rare O.Icel. 2nd sing. es, see Noreen in Paul's Grundr. I 515. The 3rd sing. Goth. O.H.G. ist is for Idg. es-ti*; O.Icel. es (Run. is) A.S. O.Sax. is are doubtless the old injunctive Idg. es-t*; the 3rd pl. O.Icel. er-o is also injunctive (other explanations are suggested by J. Schmidt, Kuhn's Zeitschr. xxv 593; von Fierlinger, ibid.

xxvii 440 footnote 2; Noreen, loc. cit.; Osthoff, Perf. 428 f.). In the plural, the weak stem is seen in Goth. s-ind O.H.G. s-int = Idg. s-enti*. O.Icel. ero eru is pr. Germ. iz-unþ* (§ 1025. 1 b), an injunctive in which the strong stem has taken the place of the weak (cp. Gr. ἔασι, § 502 p. 66). As the ending of izunþ* agreed with the so-called preterite-presents, such as Goth. mun-un (§ 508), on their analogy the 1st pl. O.Icel. erom O.H.G. (b-jirum and the 2nd pl. O.Icel. erod O.H.G. (b-irut appeared. These forms then produced O.H.G. Frank. sind-un O.Sax. A.S. sind-un. Goth. sijum sijup are probably transformed from iz-um* iz-uþ*, caused partly by sind, partly by the feeling that the opt. sijau sijais etc. should contain a stem sij-. — The optative has always a weak root: 1st sing. Goth. s-ijau O.H.G. s-i O.Icel. s-jā; on the inflexion, see § 947. — Partic. s-und-* = Idg. s-nt-* in Goth. sunjis 'true' for sund-ja-* = Skr. sat-yá- 'true'; also thematic s-o-nt-* in sanþ-a-* 'true, truthful' A.S. sōð O.Icel. samr (cp. § 493 p. 53).

O.H.G. tuom 'I do' (O.Sax. A.S. dō-m) must be derived from ✓dhē-, along with the pret. te-ta and the subst. tā-t (Goth. ga-dē-di-) and others, but its vowel makes it impossible to derive the word from dhw-mi*. Perhaps it contains dh-ā-* (Class X, § 585), found in other parts of the verb as a conjunctive stem (Lat. con-da-m -da-mus); cp. Lat. 2nd sing. d-a-s 'thou givest' = conj. (red-)dās (§ 505 p. 71, § 937).

Remark. On O.H.G. stām stem 'I stand' and gām gem 'I go', see § 708. They certainly do not belong to this class of presents.

§ 508. Some Preterite-Presents may also be placed in this class. Goth. mun-un 'they think', opt. 1st pl. mun-ei-ma: Skr. mid. 3rd sing. ā-ma-ta partic. man-ānā-s, ✓men- 'think, mean'. Goth. ga-daurs-un O.H.G. gi-turrun 'they dare', opt. Goth. ga-daurs-ei-ma O.H.G. gi-turr-ī-m: Skr. partic. dhṛṣ-ānā-s, ✓dhers- 'dare'. Goth. rit-un O.H.G. wizz-un 'they know', opt. Goth. rit-ei-ma O.H.G. wizz-ī-mēs: Skr. vēt-ti opt. vid-yā-t etc., see § 493 p. 52; the weak forms of this verb were present and perfect at the same time.

If this view be right, Goth. mun-un ga-daúrs-un vit-un were originally injunctive, like Icel. er-o er-u (§ 507 p. 73). We shall meet again with present forms among the preterite-presents (§§ 646, 887, 893).

§ 509. Connected with Skr. ír-tē imper. Avest. ar^h-špa Gr. ἄρ-σο, which point to an Idg. mid. pres. ǵ-tai* (mentioned above, § 497, page 57) are A.S. 2nd sing. ear-ð ar-ð ear-t 'thou art' pl. ear-un ar-on with ar- = Idg. ǵ-*. For the meaning cp. Gr. ἄρ-ωρ-α, which in late Greek had also the meaning 'I am'. On the 2nd sing., see § 990. 3.

Remark. Germ. ar- was probably not a perfect stem, which would have been ōr-. This is said to correct the note in Idg. Forsch. I 81.

Von Fierlinger (Kuhn's Zeitschr. xxvii 436 ff.) deduces some other presents with weak stem and secondary accent, from thematic forms with peculiar vocalism. Thus, for Goth. fara 'I fare, go', ✓per- (in Gr. περάω 'I pass through' etc.), he assumes an older present stem pǵ-, 1st pl. pǵ-més (cp. Skr. 2nd sing. pár-ṣi).

§ 510. Balto-Slavonic. To Idg. neid-mi* 'I see' belong Lith. veizd-mi, and imperative Lith. veizdi reizd O.C.Sl. viždī, — the imperative forms have non-original strong stem, and the O.C.Sl. form has ž instead of z, see § 493 p. 52, §§ 949, 962. An undoubted re-format is Lith. pa-výždmi instead of pa-výdžiu 'invideo', also used (cp. § 511).

Idg. es-mi* 'I am', see § 493 p. 52. The Lithuanian forms here to be cited are scattered over various dialects. 1st sing. Lith. es-mi O.C.Sl. jes-mī; on the analogy of thematic verbs with -u Lith. esmū (like Lett. esmu Pruss. asmu), and then a 2nd person esmī was made on the analogy of sukī : sukū. 2nd sing. Lith. esi (Pruss. assai assei asse essei) O.C.Sl. jesi, see § 991. 3rd sing. Lith. ės-ti ės-t (Pruss. ast est) O.C.Sl. jes-tū. Pruss. -sins dat. -sentismu: cp. Lat. -sēns and Gr. Dor. ἴρτ-ες (p. 50 footnote). —

Other presents of this class are found in one only of the two branches, Baltic or Slavonic, not in both;

§ 511. In Lithuanian there is a fine array of present forms of this class, but nearly all are defective and have only one or two persons left, chiefly the first and third. Some of them have come into this class quite late. Compare § 490 p. 56. Lists of mi-forms may be found in Schleicher pp. 250 ff., Kurschat pp. 304 ff., Bezzenberger Beitr. lit. Spr. 198 ff. (a few more come from the dialects).

We begin with those which may be regarded as representing Idg. originals.

pa-relmi 'I will' 2nd sing. pa-velt, refl. 1st sing. velmē-s
Skr. á-ṛ-ta etc., see § 493 p. 51.

ei-mi 'I go': Skr. ē-mi etc., see § 493 p. 51. 2nd sing ei-si 3rd sing. ei-ti ei-t. The strong stem passes into th plural: 1st ei-me 2nd ei-te; but 2nd pl. High Lithuanian eĩste on the analogy of ėste: ėme, dūste: dūme. Old injunctives are ei 'let him go' (te ne ei 'let him not go') ei-mè 'let us go' (dual ei-và). Imper. ei-k = Lat. ī (§ 957). Indic. now usually ei-nū, as Class XIII (§ 615). Pruss. 2nd sing. ēi-sei 3rd sing. ēi-t 1st pl. ēi-mai. Partic. Lith. ent- 'going' (in old printed books) doubtless stands for i-ent-*, first in compounds with prefix ending in a consonant, such as isz-ent- (I § 147 p. 132), cp. p. 50 footnote; but it is possible that it comes from iē-nt-, Class X; see § 593. — i-o- appears to be contained in Pruss. opt. 2nd sing. jeis 2nd pl. jeiti.

lėk-mi 'I remain' 3rd sing. lėk-ti lėk-t: Skr. 2nd dual rik-tam 2nd sing. mid. rik-thas, ✓ leiq- 'linquere'.

raudmi 'I lament' (regularly raumi*, I § 547 p. 401): Avest. 3rd sing. mid. raostā with irregular strong stem (cp. § 499 p. 62), ✓ reyḍ- 'rudere'; cp. Skr. rōdi-ti pl. rudi-mas § 574.

deg-mi 'I burn': Skr. 2nd sing. dhákṣi, see § 493 p. 53.

sėdmi 'I sit' 3rd sing. sėst 1st pl. refl. sėdmė-s: Skr. 2nd sing. sāt-si, ✓ sed 'sedere', see § 494 pp. 54 f.

jūs-mi 'I gird' (beside jūs-siu): Avest. 3rd sing. yās-ti, stem jōs-. Compare § 656.

The imperatives dē-k 'lay' (inf. dē-ti, ✓ dhē-) and dū-k 'give' (inf. dū-ti, ✓ dō-), of which the latter must be compared with Lat. ce-do, show the same formation as ei-k (= Lat. ī). O.Lith. dū-di dū-d 'give' doubtless = dō-dhi*. See I § 547 Rem. 1 p. 401, IV §§ 546, 957, 962.

Some other presents of the same sort, to which there is nothing which answers outside the Baltic group, may here be named: bar-mi 'I scold' 3rd sing. ap-bart, ✓ bher- (Lat. feriō), bar- for bhṛ-*; snėk-ti 'it snows', ✓ sneigh-; mėg-mi 'I sleep' 3rd sing. mėkt 2nd pl. mėkte; ráug-mi 'I belch', ✓ reug- (Gr. ῥεύουαι);¹⁾ sėrg-mi 'I protect, watch' 3rd sing. sėrkti; kósmi 'I cough' (Skr. kās-a-tē).

1) On account of a form riáuymi, Wiedemann (Lit. Praet. 186) derived this word from a groundform rēug-mi* (cp. § 494 pp. 54 f.): which is very dubious.

xxvii 440 footnote 2; Noreen, loc. cit.; Osthoff, Perf. 428 f.). In the plural, the weak stem is seen in Goth. s-ind O.H.G. s-int = Idg. s-enti*. O.Icel. ero eru is pr. Germ. iz-unþ* (§ 1025. 1 b), an injunctive in which the strong stem has taken the place of the weak (cp. Gr. ἔασι, § 502 p. 66). As the ending of izunþ* agreed with the so-called preterite-presents, such as Goth. mun-un (§ 508), on their analogy the 1st pl. O.Icel. erom O.H.G. (b-)irum and the 2nd pl. O.Icel. erod O.H.G. (b-)irut appeared. These forms then produced O.H.G. Frank. sind-un O.Sax. A.S. sind-un. Goth. sijum sijunþ are probably transformed from iz-un iz-uþ, caused partly by sind, partly by the feeling that the opt. sijau sijáis etc. should contain a stem sij-. — The optative has always a weak root: 1st sing. Goth. s-ijau O.H.G. s-i O.Icel. s-jā; on the inflexion, see § 947. — Partic. s-und-* = Idg. s-yt-* in Goth. sunjis 'true' for sund-ja-* = Skr. sat-yá- 'true'; also thematic s-o-nt-* in sanþ-a-* 'true, truthful' A.S. sōð O.Icel. sannr (cp. § 493 p. 53).

O.H.G. tuom 'I do' (O.Sax. A.S. dō-m) must be derived from √dhē-, along with the pret. te-ta and the subst. tā-t (Goth. ga-dē-di-) and others, but its vowel makes it impossible to derive the word from dhē-mi*. Perhaps it contains dh-ā-* (Class X, § 585), found in other parts of the verb as a conjunctive stem (Lat. con-da-m -da-mus); cp. Lat. 2nd sing. d-a-s 'thou givest' = conj. (red-)dās (§ 505 p. 71, § 937).

Remark. On O.H.G. stām stem 'I stand' and gām gem 'I go', see § 708. They certainly do not belong to this class of presents.

§ 508. Some Preterite-Presents may also be placed in this class. Goth. mun-un 'they think', opt. 1st pl. mun-ei-ma: Skr. mid. 3rd sing. á-ma-ta partic. man-ānā-s, √men- 'think, mean'. Goth. ga-daúrs-un O.H.G. gi-turrun 'they dare', opt. Goth. ga-daúrs-ei-ma O.H.G. gi-turr-ī-m: Skr. partic. dhṛṣ-ānā-s, √dhers- 'dare'. Goth. vit-un O.H.G. wizz-un 'they know', opt. Goth. vīt-ei-ma O.H.G. wizz-ī-mēs: Skr. vēt-ti opt. vid-yā-t etc., see § 493 p. 52; the weak forms of this verb were present and perfect at the same time.

If this view be right, Goth. mun-un ga-daiurs-un vit-un were originally injunctive, like Icel. er-o er-u (§ 507 p. 73). We shall meet again with present forms among the preterite-presents (§§ 646, 887, 893).

Remark. Germ. ar- was probably not a perfect stem, which would have been ōr-. This is said to correct the note in Idg. Forsch. I 81.

Von Fierlinger (Kuhn's Zeitschr. xxvii 436 ff.) deduces some other presents with weak stem and secondary accent, from thematic forms with peculiar vocalism. Thus, for Goth. fara 'I fare, go', ✓per- (in Gr. περάω 'I pass through' etc.), he assumes an older present stem pǵ-, 1st pl. pǵ-més (cp. Skr. 2nd sing. pár-ṣi).

§ 510. Balto-Slavonic. To Idg. uejd-mi* 'I see' belong Lith. veizd-mi, and imperative Lith. veizdi reizd O.C.Sl. viždĭ, — the imperative forms have non-original strong stem, and the O.C.Sl. form has ž instead of z, see § 493 p. 52, §§ 949, 962. An undoubted re-formate is Lith. pa-výzdmi instead of pa-výdžm 'invideo', also used (cp. § 511).

Idg. es-mi* 'I am', see § 493 p. 52. The Lithuanian forms here to be cited are scattered over various dialects. 1st sing. Lith. es-mi O.C.Sl. jes-mĭ; on the analogy of thematic verbs with -u Lith. esmū (like Lett. esmu Pruss. asmu), and then a 2nd person esmi was made on the analogy of sukì : sukù. 2nd sing. Lith. esi (Pruss. assai assei asse) O.C.Sl. jesi, see § 991. 3rd sing. Lith. ēs-ti ēs-t (Pruss. ast est) O.C.Sl. jes-tŭ. The 1st and 2nd pl. may have taken es- instead of s- in pr. Balto-Slav.: Lith. ēs-me ēs-te (Pruss. asmai, astai asti estei) O.C.Sl. jes-mŭ jes-te. Partic. Pruss. -sins dat. -sentismu: cp. Lat. -sēns and Gr. Dor. ἴντ-εç (p. 50 footnote). —

*s-o- in O.C.Sl. 3rd pl. sqtũ partic. Lith. sąs sanccio O.C.Sl. sy sqsta. *es-o- in Lith. 1st sing. esù 1st pl. ėsame 2nd pl. ėsate partic. ėsąs. It is not clear whether Lith. opt. (permissive) 3rd sing. tesẽ 'sit' is to be analysed te-sẽ (cp. Pruss. 2nd pl. opt. sai-ti) or as t-esẽ. With augment pr. Balto-Slav. *es-o-m etc.: in O.C.Sl. this occurs in the imperfects nesẽ-achũ -aše -aše pl. -achomũ -ašete -achq, unthematic 2nd pl. -as-te also found (so too the dual has both -asta -aste and -ašeta -ašete), see § 903; in Lith. the preterite ẽ- passed into the present, esù est ėsa ėsame ėsate partic. ėsąs, see § 480 p. 28. — On Lith. 3rd sing. grà, which comes from the root of Skr. ír-tē Avest. ar^ē-šva Gr. ōq-ωq-a A.S. ear-d, see J. Schmidt in Kuhn's Zeitschr. xxv 595 f.

The present of ✓ed- 'eat' was in pr. Balto-Slav. ēd-mi*; for its ē see § 480 Rem. pp. 28 f., § 494 p. 54. Lith. sing. 1st pers. ėmi 'I devour' 3rd sing. ėsti est pl. 1st ėme 2nd ėste dual 1st ėdva 2nd ėsta (on ėdmi ėdme see I § 547 p. 401); O.C.Sl. sing. 1st pers. jamŕ 2nd jasi 3rd jastũ pl. 1st jamũ 2nd jaste 3rd jad-ętũ (on 1st dual javě instead of jadvě*, see I § 547 Rem. 3, p. 401). — Also thematic Lith. ėdu ėdi etc., Pruss. opt. 2nd pl. ilaiti O.C.Sl. partic. jady jadašta.

Other presents of this class are found in one only of the two branches, Baltic or Slavonic, not in both: rāudmi 'I lament' (regularly raumi*, I § 547 p. 401): Avest. 3rd sing. mid. raostā with irregular strong stem (cp. § 499 p. 62), √ reyd- 'rudere'; cp. Skr. rōdi-ti pl. rudi-mas § 574.

deg-mi 'I burn': Skr. 2nd sing. dhákṣi, see § 493 p. 53.

jūs-mi 'I gird' (beside jā'siu): Avest. 3rd sing. yās-ti, stem jōs-. Compare § 656.

The imperatives dě-k 'lay' (inf. dě-ti, √ dhē-) and dū-k 'give' (inf. dū-ti, √ dō-), of which the latter must be compared with Lat. ce-do, show the same formation as ei-k (= Lat. ī). O.Lith. dū-di dū-d 'give' doubtless = dō-dhi*. See I § 547 Rem. 1 p. 401, IV §§ 546, 957, 962.

Some other presents of the same sort, to which there is nothing which answers outside the Baltic group, may here be named: bar-mi 'I scold' 3rd sing. ap-bart, √ bher- (Lat. feriō), bar- for bh̥-*; snėk-ti 'it snows', √ sneigh-; mėg-mi 'I sleep' 3rd sing. mėkt 2nd pl. mėkte; rāug-mi 'I belch', √ reyg- (Gr. ῥεύουαι);¹⁾ sėrg-mi 'I protect, watch' 3rd sing. sėrkti; kósmi 'I cough' (Skr. kās-a-tē).

1) On account of a form riāugmi, Wiedemann (Lit. Praet. 186) derived this word from a groundform rēug-mi* (cp. § 494 pp. 54 f.); which is very dubious.

All these verbs have in Lithuanian, beside this present formation, another with the same meaning, which in High Lithuanian is almost the only one. It is certainly no mere chance that in so many presents of the mi-class, the bye-form is a verb in -iu with accentuated root (1st pl. -i-me Class XXVI § 727), as sėdžiu, sėrgiu, kósiu, žýdžiu (žýdmi 'I bloom'), cziaudžiu (cziaudmi 'I sneeze'), stóviu (stóvmi 'I stand'), mėrdžiu (mėrdmi 'I lie a-dying') etc. With these verbs in -iu, the 2nd and 3rd sing. ran together and became indistinguishable in form (2nd sing. -i for -i-i*, 3rd sing. -i for -i-t*), and it is probable that it was a wish to keep these persons distinct which first produced the non-thematic forms in most of these verbs. Perhaps on the analogy of sést(i) (sėdmi) beside sėdžiu was formed sėrkt(i) etc.

Observe also tenk-mi instead of tenkù 'I last' (pret. tekaũ inf. tèkti), and the 2nd pl. gėlbste (gėlpste), from gėlbmi 'I help' 3rd sing. gėlbt(i) gėlpt(i), — for its s, compare that of ei-s-te § 511 p. 77.

§ 512. Slavonic. The form only without parallel in Lithuanian is se-tŭ 'inquit', explained in § 493 p. 52.

Class II: Root + Thematic Vowel forming the Present Stem.

§ 513. This class of present stems, invariably the largest in all Indo-Germanic languages, falls into two divisions, according as the accent falls (A) upon the root syllable or (B) upon the thematic vowel. When the root carried the accent, it was of the strong grade (1st strong grade in the e-series), but weak grade if the accent fell upon the thematic vowel; e. g. (A) bhéydh-o-* = Skr. bódh-a- Gr. πεῦθ-ο- (bódh-a-ti πεύθ-ο-μαι πεύθ-ε-σθαι); (B) bhudh-ó-* = Skr. budh-á- Gr. πυθ-ό- (budh-á-nta ἐ-πύθ-ε-το πυθ-έ-σθαι), from √bheydh- 'wake, notice, learn'. The indicative often gives both forms from the same root, particularly often in Aryan and Greek. This we see in the above example; others are Skr. tár-a-ti : tir-á-ti 'oversteps, passes', kārṣ-a-ti : krṣ-ā-ti 'draws, ploughs', sārp-a-ti 'crawls' : ā-syp-a-t ; (tr. Att. τρέπ-ω : Dor. τράπ-ω (instead of τραπ-ω*) 'I turn', λείπ-ω 'I leave' inf. λείπ-ειν : ἔ-λειπ-ο-ν inf. λείπ-ειν, ἔχ-ω 'I have' inf. ἔχ-ειν : ἔ-σχ-ο-ν inf. σχ-ειν ; Lat. ic-ō : ic-ō, rūd-ō (O.H.G. riužu) : rud-ō √ reud-.¹⁾ Goth. veiha 'I fight' pr. Germ. uēix-ō* : O.Icel. veg 'I compel' pr. Germ. uiğ-ō*, Goth. trud-a 'I tread' : O.H.G. trit-u ; O.C.Sl. der-a 'I tear' : Czech dr-u Serv. -dr-em, O.C.Sl. žid-a 'I wait' (Lith. geidžiu) : žid-a, Lith. mėlž-u 'I milk' : O.C.Sl. mlūz-a. The two kinds are often found in different languages with the same root ; as from √ dhreugh- 'hurt, deceive' Aryan has only drughō-*, Skr. 2nd sing. druh-a-s etc., and Germanic only dhreughō-*, O.H.G. triugu.

To decide the historical relation of these two kinds, two facts have to be taken into account. First, that in Aryan and Greek, Type B constantly expressed aorist action, and A present action.²⁾ Secondly, that type A is conjunctive to indicative forms of Class I, and B often occurs as a variant indicative stem along with stems of Class I, no distinction being drawn between these two present stems in meaning ; see §§ 493 ff. How these facts are to be explained is still obscure. Only thus much may be called probable, that Type A had originally both indicative and subjunctive meaning (cp. § 489 pp. 47 f., §§ 578, 910).

Remark. Because of the frequency with which these two types (II A and B) are found in the same verb, many scholars, among them Fick and Paul, have supposed that from different persons of the same stem, we have the two stems bhēyudh-o bhēyudh-e- and bhudh-ō bhudh-ē- by levelling ; originally, they assume, the varying accent produced bhēyudh-o* and bhudh-ē-* (e. g. 1st pl. bhēyudh-o-mos* but 2nd pl. bhudh-ē-te*) ; then, by levelling, we have 2nd pl. bhēyudh-e-te* beside bhudh-ē-te* following bhēyudh-o-mos*, and vice versa we have bhudh-ō-mos* beside

1) I here assume that icō comes from eicō* and rūdō from roydō* reydō*. But this is not certain ; for i und ū may represent Idg. i und ū.

2) Type B is found distinguishing the aorist sense from other present stems, and not only those of the A type ; as Skr. āchida-t Lat. scidi-t (§ 528), but pres. Skr. chināt-ti opt. chindē-ta Lat. scindō.

bhédh-o-mos* following bhudh-é-te*, and so on.¹⁾ This must have happened, if it did happen, in the proethnic language, because even then the type bhudhó-* had become associated with aoristic action, and bhédh-o-* with the meaning of the conjunctive.

To explain the relation of II A and B, others call attention to the change of accent in the Balto-Slavonic present indicative, as Lith. vedù vedì vėda. But the original accent of the Balto-Slavonic verb, which is the important point, has not yet been made out for certain; the only certain point is that the 1st sing. accented its final, Lith. vedù sukù = Russ. vedú skú. And even if the accentuation varied then in the different persons, how can it be proved that this mode was older than the Sanskrit?

The same double forms are seen in Class XIII (as Gr. δύλωμαι : βούλωμαι, § 607), and Class XXVI (as O.H.G. wirk(i)u: Goth. vaúrkja, § 705). What may be the cause of the difference is no less dark in these than in the other.

§ 514. Class II A: the Root Syllable accented and in the strong Grade. Some forms are used as both indicative and conjunctive, as. indic. Skr. áy-a-tē Lat. eō eunt, conj. Skr. áy-a-ti áy-a-t (beside indic. é-ti); see § 493 ff. Here we confine ourselves to o-forms with indicative meaning.

Since the preterites ἐγενόμην 'I became' ἔθενον 'I struck' ἔλαον 'I seized' were used as aorists, their infinitives and participles were accented like forms of Class II B: γενέσθαι, ἐλαύν, θενών instead of γενέσθαι*, ἐλών*, θενών*. As regards the aorists ἔτεκον 'I bore, begot' and Dor. Lesb. ἔπετον 'I fell' (τεκεῖν, πετών), these may possibly belong by rights to II B, and may have exchanged their ə for e (cp. 1) Vol. I § 379 Rem. p. 286, should be corrected. It can hardly be right to separate žega from degù, as Miklosich does (Etym. Wörterb. 407).

2) A comparison of un-vunands with forms like kunnum = Idg. gñ-nu-més* (§ 646) shews that n and m following ñ and ṃ as transition-consonants or consonant glides were pronounced more weakly than when they had their ordinary value. Thus it would be better to write uñ-ó-, and on the same principle bhu-ó- (= Skr. bhuv-a-t), du-ó-* (= Gr. δύω) rather than bhuy-ó-* duy-ó-*. The difference is seen in pr. § 527. Greek. Here the original distinction of accent between II A and II B is seen in the infinitive, but hardly anywhere else; e. g. λείπειν : λεπ-εῖν (cp. I § 676 Rem. 1 p. 541). But in Greek this distinction was seized upon and connected with the distinction between present and aorist; so much so, that when verbs of II A were used as aorists, or verbs of II B for the present, their accent was changed; thus we have γεν-έ-σθαι, not γέν-ε-σθαι* (see § 518 p. 83), and γράφ-ε-σθαι γλήφ-ε-σθαι instead of γραφ-έ-σθαι* and γλωφ-έ-σθαι* (cp. § 775 Rem.). In the finite verb, the original accent of II B remained in a few imperatives like ἰδ-έ, see § 958. It is difficult to judge whether the old accent remains in words whose root has ceased to form a separate syllable, as 3rd sing. σχ-έ-το conj. σχ-ῶ from √seǵh-, because the accent must rest on this syllable in any case (cp. I § 676 Rem. 1 p. 543).

Remark 1. The same cause which changed γραφῶν γραφεῖν* to γράφω and γράφειν, acted upon all other classes of thematic stems where the thematic vowel originally carried the accent, causing a change of accent whenever these stems were used as imperfect-presents. Thus we have δάκνουν instead of δακ-υῶν* cp. Skr. gṛ-ñā-ta (§ 611), τίκνουν instead of τικῶν* τινῶν cp. Skr. ṭ-ñā-ti (§ 652), ἴσκων instead of ισκῶν* φικ-ακῶν* cp. Skr. ṭ-chā-ti (§ 673), βαίνων instead of βαινῶν* βαν-ῶν* cp. Skr. -gam-yā-tē (§ 713), ἄπτων instead of ἄπτῶν* φαι-φικ-ῶν* cp. Skr. vē-vij-yā-tē (§ 730), ἰαίνων instead of ι(σ)-αν-ῶν* cp. Skr. iṣ-aṇ-yā-ti (§ 743). This applies to all denominative verbs (Class XXXI), as ὄραων ὀρεῶν φιλέων *φιλῶν*¹⁾ κοιῶν φίτῶν ὀνομαῖων ἀγγέλλων instead of ὄραῶν* φιλεῶν* etc., compare Skr. ṛṣtanā-yā-ti vasna-yā-ti arāti-yā-ti gātu-yā-ti vṛṣaṇ-yā-ti adhvar-yā-ti. For these denominatives another fact has to be taken into account. In protothnic Greek, verbs in -ίω like φιλέω had become indistinguishable from verbs of Class XXXII, in -έιō, as φορέω = Skr. bhārāyāmi (§ 801); and even before the accent was seized upon to help in distinguishing aorist from present, φιλεῶν* may have become φιλέων by analogy of φορέων, and then the verbal nouns of other denominative classes may have been drawn into the same circle of attraction.

ἔ-πταρ-ο-ν 'I sneezed' πταρ-εῖν from √pster-. ἔ-βαλ-ο-ν 'I threw' βαλ-εῖν from √gel-. ἔ-πλ-ε ἔ-πλ-ε-το 'versabatur' from

1) Observe that the circumflex of these contracted nom. sing. masc. forms, ὄρεῶν φιλῶν, supports the theory of a change of accent here set forth. The old accentuation of the thematic vowel would have produced ὄρων* φιλῶν* like ἰουῶ; for ἰσταῶ.

'wakes, awakes, is observant' Avest. mid. baodaitē: Gr. πύθ-ε-ται 'learns, discovers', Goth. ana-biuda 'I bid, command', O.C.Sl. bljud-e-tŭ 'observes', with secondary (l)j, $\sqrt{bheudh-}$. Skr. pāt-a-ti 'flies' Avest. pat-e-nti 'they fall, run' O.Pers. ud-apatata 'he raised himself': Gr. πέτ-ε-ται 'flies', Lat. pet-ō. Skr. āj-a-ti 'leads, drives' Avest. azaiti: Armen. acem etc., see § 514 p. 80. Skr. ārḥ-a-ti 'earns, deserves' Avest. ar'jaiti: Gr. pret. ἤλφ-ο-ν 'I earned', $\sqrt{algh-}$.

§ 516. Sanskrit had so many presents of Class II A with ā in the root syllable, that other stems which had originally a unaccented in the root, accented it on their analogy; e.g. dāṅk-é-ti* 'bites' properly becomes daśāti*, but what we find is dāśati, cp. also daś-a-ti from deṅk-e-ti*. See I § 672 p. 537. But this retraction of accent is found with other root vowels as well, not a only; as gīrāmi beside girāmi (§ 525); cp. hīnv-a-ti hī-nv-a-nti in contrast with hī-nō-ti hī-nv-ānti § 651.

§ 517. Armenian. berem 'I bring, carry': Skr. bhārāmi etc., see § 514 p. 80. celem 'I split', beside Lith. skelū (skel-iū) 'I split'. e-ker 'he ate': Skr. 3rd sing. gar-a-t (should be jar-a-t*, but follows girā-ti and others), $\sqrt{ger-}$. e-tes 'he saw' (tes- for ters-*, I § 263 p. 214): Skr. ā-darś-a-t, Gr. δέξ-ε-ται, O.Ir. con-dercar 'conspicitur', $\sqrt{derk-}$. liz-em 'I lick': Gr. λίχ-ω.

Remark. Whether the i of gitem 'I know' was Idg. e_i, which would connect the verb with Skr. vēd-a-tē Gr. εἶδ-ε-ται, or Idg. o_i, which would make it a transformation of the perfect (Gr. οἶδα), is not to be decided, Bartholomae's efforts notwithstanding (Bezz. Beitr. xvii 94 f.). The meaning does not prove a perfect origin for it.

§ 518. Greek. δέφ-ω 'I flay'; Goth. ga-taira O.H.G. zīr-u 'I tear to pieces, I destroy'. O.C.Sl. der-e-tŭ 'tears to pieces'. οτέν-ω 'I groan, bewail': Skr. stan-a-ti 'thunders, roars'. ῥέ(F)-ει ῥεῖ 'flows': Skr. srāv-a-ti. ῥί(F)-ω 'I run': Skr. dhav-a-tē 'streams, flows' (on dhāv-a-ti see § 480 Rem. p. 29). τέφ-ω 'I satisfy, please': Skr. tārp-a-ti. ἀμέλγ-ω 'I milk': O.H.G. mīlch-u, Lith. mélž-u. εἶδ-ο-μαι 'I appear, am like': Skr. vēd-a-tē. πείθ-ω 'I persuade': Lat. fid-ō, Goth. brīd-a (Gr.² p. 31): Skr. ḍṣ-a-ti, Lat. ūr-ō, ✓eys-; εὔω for εὐῆō* as εἰπόμην for ἐπεπόμην*, see § 478 p. . ἐρενύθ-ω 'I redden, make red': O.Icel ryð (inf. rjōða), ✓reudh-. στέγ-ω 'I cover': Skr. sthaḡ-a-ti (grammarian's word), Lat. teg-ō. ἐχ-ω 'I hold, have': Skr. sáh-a-tē 'overcomes' (on sāh-a-ti see § 480 Rem. p. 29). ζε-ω 'I seethe, boil': Skr. a-yas-a-t, O.H.G. jis-u gis-u, ✓jes-. αἶθ-ω 'I burn', ✓aidh- (I § 93 p. 87, § 318 p. 237). τήκ-ω 'I melt' Dor. τάκ-ω, λήγ-ω 'I cease', ✓slēg- (I § 565 p. 423).

Since the preterites ἐγενόμην 'I became' ἔθενον 'I struck' ἔιλον 'I seized' were used as aorists, their infinitives and participles were accented like forms of Class II B: γενέσθαι, ἐλὼν, θενὼν instead of γένεσθαι*, ἔλων*, θένων*. As regards the aorists ἔτεκον 'I bore, begot' and Dor. Lesb. ἔπετον 'I fell' (τεκεῖν, πετών), these may possibly belong by rights to II B, and may have exchanged their ə for e (cp. Bartholomae, Bezz. Beitr. xvii 109). Compare § 527.

Umbr. conj. ferar 'let him bear' (fertu 'ferto' for fere-tōd*?): Skr. bhár-a-ti etc., see § 514 pp. 80 f.). col-ō for quel-ō* (I § 172.3 p. 152): Skr. cár-a-ti 'moves, goes', Gr. πέλ-ε-ται 'is in motion, versatur' (this should really be τελ-, but follows the analogy of ἐ-πλ-ε-το etc., see I § 427 b with Rem. 1, pp. 313 f.), ✓qel-. § 520. Keltic. Irish Presents of the 1st and 3rd conjugations (o- and *io-*stems) are so often confused that the distinction between them cannot be made of any practical use. This makes it quite uncertain whether the following specimens belonged to Class II originally or not.

2) A comparison of un-vunands with forms like kunnum = Idg. gn-nu-més* (§ 646) shews that n and m following u and u as transition-consonants or consonant glides were pronounced more weakly than when they had their ordinary value. Thus it would be better to write uyn-ō-, and on the same principle bhu-ō- (= Skr. bhuv-a-t), du-ō* (= Gr. δύω) rather than bhuu-ō-* duu-ō*. The difference is seen in pr. Remark. After what has been said in I § 313 p. 251 and other places, it must seem doubtful whether such a word as Skr. pác-a-ti 'requit' represents original pég-e-ti* (II A), or orig. peq-é-ti* (II B) with weak grade stem and secondary accent, the word accent having been afterwards retracted. I hold that Bartholomae is right in allowing only a as the weak grade with secondary accent for roots of the form peq- (Bezz. Beitr., xii 109 ff.), which brings presents like pác-a-ti under II A. Bartholomae, page 117, conjectures that an Ar. sid-d* = sád-d-* from ✓séd- 'cut' is contained in Avest. hiđ-a-iti.

Armenian. mal-em 'I crush, shatter' √mel-: Lat. mol-o etc., see § 523 p. 86. barj-i 'I raised' (pres. barnam for barj-na-m*): Skr. byh-a-ti 'strengthens, lifts up', √bhergh-. e-git 'he found' (pres. gt-anem): Skr. á-vid-a-t etc., see § 523 p. 87. e-liḱ 'he left' (pres. lḱ-anem): Gr. ε-λεπ-ο-ν inf. λεπ-εῖν, √leig-. e-fuk 'he spewed' (pres. tk-anem).

§ 527. Greek. Here the original distinction of accent between II A and II B is seen in the infinitive, but hardly anywhere else; e. g. λείπ-ειν : λιπ-εῖν (cp. I § 676 Rem. 1 p. 541). But in Greek this distinction was seized upon and connected with the distinction between present and aorist; so much so, that when verbs of II A were used as aorists, or verbs of II B for the present, their accent was changed; thus we have γεν-έ-σθαι, not γέρ-ε-σθαι* (see § 518 p. 83), and γράφ-ε-σθαι γλύφ-ε-σθαι instead of γραφ-έ-σθαι* and γλυφ-έ-σθαι* (cp. § 775 Rem.). In the finite verb, the original accent of II B remained in a few imperatives like ἰδ-έ, see § 958. It is difficult to judge whether the old accent remains in words whose root has ceased to form a separate syllable, as 3rd sing. σχ-έ-το conj. σχ-ῶ from √segh-, because the accent must rest on this syllable in any case (cp. I § 676 Rem. 1 p. 543).

Remark 1. The same cause which changed γραφῶν γραφεῖν* to γράριον and γράφειν, acted upon all other classes of thematic stems where the thematic vowel originally carried the accent, causing a change of accent whenever these stems were used as imperfect-presents. Thus we have δάκνων instead of δακ-νών* cp. Skr. gṛ-ñá-ta (§ 611), τίνων instead of τινών* τινφών* op. Skr. ṛ-ñá-ti (§ 652), ῥικων instead of ῥικῶν* ῥικ-ρκῶν* op. Skr. ṛ-chá-ti (§ 673), βαίνων instead of βαινῶν* βαν-κῶν* op. Skr. -gam-yá-tē (§ 713), ἄττων instead of ἄττων* ῥαι-ῥικῶν* op. Skr. vē-vij-yá-tē (§ 730), λάττων instead of ῥ(σ)-αν-κῶν* op. Skr. iṣ-an-yá-ti (§ 743). This applies to all denominative verbs (Class XXXI), as ὀρέων ὀρέω φιλῶν φιλέω ¹⁾ κονῶν κνῶν ὀνομαῖων ἄγγελλων instead of ὄρεῶν* φιλεῶν* etc., compare Skr. ṛṇtanā-yá-ti vāsna-yá-ti anāti-yá-ti gālu-yá-ti vṛṣan-yá-ti adhvar-yá-ti. For these denominatives another fact has to be taken into account. In prosthic Greek, verbs in -έω like φιλέω had become indistinguishable from verbs of Class XXXII, in -έω, as φορέω = Skr. bhārāyāmi (§ 801); and even before the accent was seized upon to help in distinguishing aorist from present, φιλεῶν* may have become φιλέων by analogy of φορέων, and then the verbal nouns of other denominative classes may have been drawn into the same circle of attraction.

ἔ-πταρ-ο-ν 'I sneezed' πταρ-εῖν from √pster-. ἔ-βαλ-ο-ν 'I threw' βαλ-εῖν from √gel-. ἔ-πλ-ε-το 'versabatur' from

1) Observe that the circumflex of these contracted nom. sing. masc. forms, ὀρέων φιλῶν, supports the theory of a change of accent here set forth. The old accentuation of the thematic vowel would have produced ὄρεῶν* φιλεῶν* like ἱσταῖς for ἱσταῖς.

✓qel-. ἔ-ταμ-ο-ν 'I cut' ταμ-εῖν from ✓tem-. ἔ-θαν-ο-ν 'I died' θαν-εῖν instead of *φαν-, beside ἐ-θeno-ν from ✓ghen- (I § 429 Rem. 1 p. 317): Russ. žnu 'I cut off' for gñn-a*, see § 534. ἔ-κταν-ο-ν 'I killed' κταν-εῖν from κτεν-, beside 1st pl. ἔ-κτα-μεν Class I § 502 p. 64. ἀν-οίγω 'I open' for ō-fir-ω*, cp. 'I came' beside fut. ἐλεύσομαι. κρύθ-ε 'he hid' beside κρύθ-ω. ἔ-σχ-ο-ν 'he held, had' σχ-εῖν, beside ἔχ-ω, ✓segh-. ἔ-πι-ε-το 'he flew' πτε-ε-σθαι beside πέτε-ται. Partic. μακ-ών 'bleating, crying' beside μακάομαι.

With the secondary ending of the 2nd sing. middle: ἰ-σχ-ε-ῖθης beside ἰ-σχ-ε-το; ἐρρέθης ἐρέθης i. e. e-ur-e-thēs* from ✓uer- 'say' (εἶρω), see § 589. Whether these very forms were some of the original types which produced the whole series of aorists in -θην, is of course doubtful; -thēs seems originally to have belonged only to non-thematic stems (§ 1047. 2).

Remark 2. It is hard to classify forms in -ω -ιο-ν and -τω -υο-ι, along with which forms in ι and υ are common. There is nothing a priori against assuming that these have the suffix -jo- (Class XXVI), and that -i- fell out between vowels; indeed, this must be done for forms like Lesb. φύω (I § 130 p. 118). πίομαι πίμεν beside πλούαι ἐπιον may be illustrated by Skr. pī-yá-tē, θύω beside θύω by Skr. dhū-yá-tē, λύω beside λύω by O.Icel. lý-ja 'destroy, crush' (see § 707, and Osthoff, M. U. iv 12 ff.). But i and ū may come from forms of Class I, by presents passing from this class into the thematic conjugation, cp. for example πῖ-ι-μεν thematic and πῖ-θι non-thematic, λύω thematic and λῦ-το not (also λῦ-το, for λύω cp. Lat. luō so-luō so-lvō), ὤ-ριον 'I roar' (also variant ὤρειον, cp. Skr. ruv-á-ti) but Skr. opt. rū-yā-t (Lat. rū-mor Goth. rū-na). Then these i- and *ū-*forms would naturally be compared with ὄροισι beside ὄρ-σο, ῖ-μολο-ν beside ῖ-βλω, and other such, see § 497 p. 57. Another possibility is that the long vowel came in by analogy of other tenses, λύω following λῦ-σσι, θύω following θύ-σσι, just as we see Att. γέυω (not γέω*) by analogy of γεύ-σσι (the Author, Gr. Gr.³ p. 31), and Lesb. ἰδικῆι (instead of ἰδικῆι) by analogy of ἰδικῆ-σσι (§ 775).

1) Since only the 3rd sing. nivit occurs, there is the possibility of its being a denominative nivire (Thurneysen, Über die Herkunft und Bildung der lat. Verba auf -iō, p. 8).

2) The ✓seuḡ-, discussed by Osthoff in Paul-Braune's Beitr. viii 279 f., must be kept quite distinct.

Then again, it is probable the 3rd sing. and 1st pl. of certain Latin perfects, which were originally thematic aorists, belong to this class of forms. tuli-t tuli-mus, see tulō above. fidi-t fidi-mus: Skr. opt. bhid̥y-am beside á-bhēt 'he split'. scidi-t scidi-mus: Skr. á-chid-a-t 'he cut off'. Compare § 867.

§ 529. In Italic it is often doubtful whether a verb belongs to II A or II B; as in the following instances. Lat. oc-culō, which may represent either *-celō (cp. O.Ir. cel-im O.H.G. hil-u § 520 p. 84) or *-cĭlō. ad-venat Osc. kúm-bened 'convēnit', see § 523 p. 86. Lat. glūb-ō, cp. O.H.G. chliubu and A.S. clafe § 527, p. 90 (cp. p. 79 footnote 1, on īcō rūdō). This doubt is most common with verbs in -uō, because -uō in unaccented position may come from *-ouō (*-euō) or from *-auō (I § 172.1 p. 152). Thus clu-ō 'I am called, pass for' (Gr. κλύω and κλέι(φ)μαι), 'ru-ō 'I snatch, tear, carry off, root up' (Gr. ῥεύω 'pull, draw' O.C.Sl. rŭv-e-tŭ 'evellit' and Skr. rāv-a-ti 'he dashes to pieces'), nu-ō (Skr. nāv-a-tē 'moves'), clu-ō 'I purify' (Skr. śruv-a-ti 'melts'), in-gruō (Litt. grīuvē 'I break down' § 535), plu-i-t (cp. plovē-bat § 514 p. 80). Lastly, some verbs may belong to the io-class, as suō cp. Goth. siu-ja etc. § 707.

§ 530. The quality of the thematic vowel should be observed in the 1st pl. sumus sĭmus (possumus possĭmus), volumus volĭmus, quaesumus as contrasted with ferĭmus etc. In these u and i are used to represent a sound between the two (as in māgnificus māgnificus, maximus maximus), which was here the regular descendant of Idg. -o- (cp. Gr. q-īq-o-μεν). The assumption that -i- in leg-i-mus is due to the analogy of leg-i-tis, and replaced u i, is not supported by ferimus beside fertis as compared with volumus : vultis. sumus must in time have got a distinct u (by analogy of sum and sunt, where u is regular for o in a closed syllable); for the Romance languages show sometimes a form which must come from sumus (Span. Port. somos etc.), sometimes one which must come from sĭmus (Roumanian semă etc.). On the whole subject see L. Havet, Mém. Soc. Ling. vi 26 f.

Also the West-Germ. ending of the 2nd sing. O.H.G. -is A.S. -es as contrasted with Norse -r (for -z), and the A.S. ending of the 3rd sing. -eð, which point to pr. Class III.

Reduplication ending in -ī or -ū + simple Root forming the Present Stem.

§ 536. We begin with words from roots containing i or u, which have the same vowel in the reduplication; see § 469, page 14. Next follow stems which have i in the reduplication, but some other vowel in the root; see § 473 pages 17 ff.

Class IV, non-thematic, bears the same relation to this as Class II to Class I (§ 491 p. 50).

§ 537. Roots with i- and u-vowels. Only in Aryan and Germanic.

Pr. Idg. bhi-bhāi-mi* 'I quake, am afraid' 1st pl. bhi-bhi-més* 3rd pl. bhi-bhī-nti*: Skr. bi-bhē-mi 3rd dual bi-bhi-tas 3rd pl. bi-bhy-ati, and O.H.G. bi-bē-m, which fell under the influence of verbs in which -ēm was a suffix, and so lost the gradation of its stem.¹⁾ Conjunctive: Skr. bi-bhay-a-t. Optative: Skr. bi-bhi-ya-t. — With thematic vowel Skr. 3rd sing. bi-bhy-a-ti.

Aryan. Skr. ci-kē-mi 'I observe, notice' 3rd sing. imper. mid. ci-ki-tam 2nd sing. imper. act. ci-kī-hi; conj. Avest. ci-kay-a-þ. Skr. á-dī-dhē-t 'he looked' 1st pl. dī-dhi-mas mid. pres. dī-dhy-ē pret. á-dī-dhī-ta; conj. dī-dhay-a-t. Skr. á-dī-dē-t 'he appeared' 3rd pl. dī-dy-ati imper. dī-di-hī di-dī-hī; conj. dī-day-a-t; — with thematic vowel Gr. δī-ζ-o-μαί 'I seek, strive' (orig. 'look out for something') for δī-δi-o-μαί* (see § 469 p. 14, § 549). Skr. dī- and dhī- both became dī- in Avestic cp. Avest. dādāiti = Skr. dádhati and dádati, § 540): di-ḍāciti; — with thematic vowel imper. di-ḍy-a, cp. conj. di-ḍy-a-þ. Skr. vi-vēṣ-ṭi 'works' 1st pl. vi-viṣ-mas, conj. 2nd sing. vi-vēṣ-a-s. iy-ē-ti 'goes' only found in the 2nd sing. pret. āiy-ē-ṣ, Avest. 3rd pl. conj. yeyan = Ar. iḡ-ai-ā-n* (§ 473 p. 19).

1) Cp. § 465 p. 12, § 469 p. 14, § 739 on O.H.G. rērēm and Goth. reira.

Skr. ju-hā-mi 'I offer, sacrifice' 1st pl. ju-hā-mās 3rd pl. jū-hr-ati. conj. 2nd pl. ju-har-a-tha. opt. 1st pl. ju-hā-yā-ma. 1st pl. ju-hā-māsi from hā- 'call'. 3rd pl. sū-ṣr-ati from su- 'press'.

Sometimes a strong stem has got into the place of the weak (cp. § 499 p. 62). as Avest. 2nd sing. mid. jū-ṣar-ši from ji- 'live', Skr. 2nd pl. ju-hā-ta from hā- 'offer, sacrifice'. 2nd sing. yu-yō-dhi 2nd dual yu-yō-tam from yu- 'keep off'.

Remark. k in Skr. ci-kē-mi (✓qē-), and γ in Avest. ji-ṣar-ši (✓qē-) are taken from the perfect, where they were regular before o in the sing. indic. active (I § 445 ff. pp. 331 ff.). In considering ji-ṣar-ati (§ 540), if its root belonged to the e-series, we must remember that one of the stems of this verb is jighr-, and gh was regular there: so with jā-gar-ti from ✓ger- we must remember the stem jā-gr- (§ 560).

§ 538. Roots with other Vowels.

In Aryan. roots with a long a-vowel have generally in the reduplication a = Idg. e instead of i, when the weak stem in the root syllable had not i. Examples: Skr. dā-dā-ti mid. dā-t-tē from ✓dō- 'give', jā-hā-ti pl. ja-hi-mas from Ar. ḥā- 'leave, give up'. But on the contrary śi-śā-ti imper. śi-śi-hi mid. śi-śi-tē from ✓kō- 'whet, sharpen'. In the latter word we see the Idg. root-determinative i, which so often forced its way into the place of Ar. i = Idg. a (see § 498 pp. 61 f.); and this i is regularly echoed by i in the reduplicator; compare śi-śi-hi with dī-dī-hi from dī- 'appear'. Skr. ja-hi-tam beside regular ja-hi-tam (see Whitney, Sanskrit Roots, p. 204) has been altered by the influence of the mid. jī-hi-tē (§ 540), similarly ra-rī-dhvam by that of ri-rī-hi (rā- 'give').

So too the ✓dhē- 'place' in Balto-Slavonic reduplicates with e, as Lith. 2nd pl. dē-ste like O.H.G. da-tthā.

These forms with e belong to Class V, not like Gr. δί-δομι τί-θημι etc. It seems to me impossible to decide whether in Idg. the same present stem had both i and e in its reduplicated forms, as dhi-dhē-ti* and dhe-dhē-ti*, or whether e only came in by analogy of Class V, and is of later date than the parent language. If the latter, then the influence of perfects with e in the reduplicator must be taken into account (§ 555).

Compare Gr. ἔλαθι = *σι-σλα-θι and Lesb. ἔλλαθι = *σε-σλα-θι § 542.

Under these circumstances, I cite Aryan and Balto-Slavonic forms both in Class III and Class V.

ni-nes-mi* from √nes- 'go towards' (Gr. νέ-ο-μαι Skr. nás-a-tē): Skr. 3rd pl. mid. nīś-atē 'they touch their bodies, kiss' partic. nīś-āna-s. — Gr. νίσομαι 'I go back, return' for νι-νσ-ιο-μαι* (the Author, Gr. Gr.² § 45. 5 p. 61) contains a stem νι-νσ-* or νι-νσ-ο-* (see § 733).

dhi-dhē-mi* 'I place' 1st pl. dhi-dh-més* and doubtless dhi-dh-més*¹⁾ 3rd pl. dhi-dh-ṇti*: Skr. dā-dhā-mi da-dh-más (cp. 2nd pl. mid. da-dhi-dhōē) dā-dh-ati, Gr. τί-θη-μι τί-θε-μεν, O.H.G. te-ta O.Sax. de-da perhaps for dhi-dhē-* (§§ 545, 886), Lith. 2nd pl. dēste i. e. de-d+te*. Optative: Skr. da-dh-yā-t. — With thematic vowel Skr. dā-dh-a-ti Lith. de-d-ù.

si-sē-mi* 'I send forth, let go, throw, sow' 1st pl. si-s-més* and doubtless si-sə-més*: Gr. ῖ-η-μι ῖ-ε-μεν (Lat. serimus for si-sa-mos*? § 543). — With thematic vowel Lat. serō for si-s-ō*.

di-dō-mi* 'I give' 1st pl. di-d-més* and doubtless di-də-més*, 3rd pl. di-d-ṇti*: Skr. dā-dā-mi da-d-más dā-d-ati, Gr. δί-δω-μι δί-δο-μεν, 2nd pl. Lith. dūste and O.C.Sl. daste instead of deste* (§ 546). Optative: Skr. da-d-yā-t. — With thematic

1) This form may be due to the analogy of dho-mé(m), cp. ῖ-θε-μεν. But it does not follow, as some have said, that the form cannot be original.

Vest. ti-ti-ti 'dat'. cp. Lith. Lett. da da da § 546.

Gr. i-arr-ai i-ara-uer, O.H.G. ti-ti-ti may be added, and perhaps ti-ti-ti — With thematic vowel Skr. ti-ti-a-ti

It is implied by such forms as Skr. pi-p-and-s: to this may be referred (cf. § 594 Rem.). With thematic vowel ti instead of pi-b-ō* O.Ir. 3rd sing. ibid (cf. § 525 p. 263). Perhaps the 2nd sing. imper. pi-b-dhy-*, forms which must have been a pi-b-dhy- the original non-thematic persons, caused some variation in the sound. 1) In these -b- was regular, because b had been assimilated to the following voiced sound. In the same principle we have explained the variants dekṇt-* (Gr. dekad-) and dekṇd- (Gr. dekad-), as being due to cases which had a dh-suffix, such as the instr. pl. dekṇd-bhi(s)* (cf. § 525 p. 262). Then p must have levelled out b in the non-thematic conjugation (Skr. pi-p-atē), because this was closely connected with pi-ti* (Skr. pi-ti), and was especially exposed to the influence of the reduplicated perfect (Skr. pa-p-ē Gr. πῆ-ρα). Similarly, Gr. πό-σσω 'I feed, tend' may be connected with Skr. pi-ti 'tends' through the imperative b-dhi*.

§ 540. Aryan. Skr. ji-ghar-ti 'smells' 3rd pl. ji-ghr-ati; with thematic vowel ji-ghr-a-ti: on gh, see § 537 Rem. p. 98. Skr. ti-tar-ti 'gets over', partic. ti-tr-at-. Skr. iy-ar-ti, for its reduplication see § 473 p. 19. Skr. 2nd and 3rd sing. di-dhar 2nd pl. di-dhy-tā from dhar- 'hold fast'. Skr. imper. pi-prg-dhi from par- 'to mix'.

1) There is no reason that I know of why we should suppose that our prehistoric ancestors had this imperative very often on their lips. But be it remembered that from the one imperative form dēhi 'give' in Pali, the whole of the present tense, dēmi dēsi etc., has sprung into existence (E. Kuhn, Beitr. zur Pali-Gramm., 98).

Skr. sí-ṣak-ti Avest. hi-ṣax-ti, √seq- 'accompany' (cp. Skr. 2nd pl. sá-ṣc-ati, Class V, § 555). Skr. vi-vak-ti from √ueq- 'speak'. Avest. 2nd pl. injunct. nista = nīsta* i. e. ni-nd* + ta from nad- 'roar, abuse'; — with thematic vowel Skr. 3rd sing. ní-nd-a-ti § 550. Avest. 3rd sing. injunct. di-das from das- 'consecrate, offer up'.

Roots in Ar. -ā reduplicate with i in Sanskrit when the weak forms have i as root-determinative (§ 538 p. 98). √mē- 'measure' mid. 3rd sing. mí-mī-tē 3rd pl. mí-m-atē; — with thematic vowel opt. mí-m-ē-t. √kō- 'sharpen, whet' śi-śā-ti imper. śi-śi-hí; — with thematic vowel 3rd pl. śi-ś-a-nti. jí-hi-tē 'yields, departs' 3rd pl. jí-h-atē beside act. já-hā-ti ja-hi-mas (ja-hī-tam and other forms have i by analogy of the middle, see § 538 p. 98).

√dhē- 'place' and √dō- 'give' (almost indistinguishable in Iranian, because of the change of dh to d, I § 481 p. 355): Skr. dá-dha-ti dá-dā-ti Avest. da-ḍa-iti O.Pers. pret. a-da-da. 1st pl. Skr. da-dh-más da-d-más Avest. da-ḍ-mahi, in the Gathas da-d'-mahī; mid. 3rd sing. Skr. dhattē Avest. dazdē from dhē- (I § 482 Rem. 1 p. 356), Skr. dattē Avest. dastē from dō-. Imperative: Skr. dhēhi for pr. Ar. dha-z-dhi* from dhē-, and dēhi for pr. Ar. da-z-dhi* from dō-, Avest. da-z-di; Skr. has also the re-formate daddhi instead of dhēhi and of dēhi both (I § 476 p. 351, § 482 Rem. 1. p. 356). In Skr. we also find da-dhi- (cp. Gr. τι-θε-), e. g. da-dhi-dhvē da-dhi-ṣvá beside dha-d-dhvē dha-t-sva. 3rd pl. Skr. dá-dh-ati dá-dh-atē dá-d-ati dá-d-atē (Avest. da-ḍ-enti da-d-entē, cp. § 500 p. 63, § 1018. 1. b). Optative: Skr. da-dh-yā-t da-d-yā-t Avest. Gath. daidyā-ḥ. — With thematic vowel dá-dh-a-ti dá-dh-a-tē dá-d-a-ti dá-d-a-tē, Avest. da-ḥ-a-iti da-ḥ-a-itē, which forms are also conjunctive (§§ 931 f.)

§ 541. Confusion of Strong and Weak Stem.

Strong instead of Weak: Skr. 2nd pl. íy-ar-ta, imper. śi-śā-dhi, 2nd pl. dá-dhā-ta á-da-dhā-ta dá-dā-ta á-da-dā-ta.

Weak instead of Strong: Skr. Ep. da-d-mi Avest. 3rd sing. dazdī (√dhē-) and dasti. These forms are due to the analogy ἰ-δ-ου-μι I place' ἰ-δ-ο-μεν ἰ-δ-ε-ται, ἰ-δ-ου-μι I send forth'

 ἰ-δ-ου-μεν ἰ-δ-ε-ται, ἰ-δ-ου-μι I give' ἰ-δ-ο-μεν ἰ-δ-ο-ται, ἰ-δ-ου-μι I place' ἰ-δ-ο-μεν ἰ-δ-ε-ται, see § 539 p. 100. Hom.
 ἰ-δ-ου-μι ἰ-δ-ου-μεν imper. 3^d sing. ἰ-δ-ε-τω from √dē- 'bind'.
 In the stems ἰ-δ-ου- and ἰ-δ-ο- δ and ο have taken the place of a previous α - Idg. α, as in ἰ-δ-ε-μεν ἰ-δ-ο-μεν § 493
α and ο and in ἰ-δ-ο-ται ἰ-δ-ο-ται § 556: cp. Skr. da-dhi-dhve and da-dhi. The loss of forms without α, answering to the Skr. and da-dhi etc., is a consequence of the different forms which were of the persons of this tense assumed in due course; we should have by rule τιδμεν* θιστε*; διδμεν* διστε*, ιμεν* ιστε*.
 cp. pl. τιδτε διδτε instead of τι-θ-ατι* δι-δ-ατι*, see § 1032. Sometimes the strong stem prevails, or words follow the analogy of Classes X and XI: Hom. partic. τι-θ-η-μενο-ς instead of τι-δ-η-μενο-ς, imper. δι-δω-θι (like Pali da-dā-hi).
 On the analogy of verbs in -τω -ου -αιω: pres. τιθει διδω, perf. ετιθη ειδω, imper. τιθει διδου ιστα, inf. τιθειν ειδεν, partic. Delph. διδόουσαι; and then again ετιθεις -ει and ἔει -ει produced the 1st sing. ἔτιθτιν and ἔειν after the model of ἦειν 'I went' as compared with ἦεις ἦει.

As regards ῥίσσαι beside Skr. 3rd pl. nīs-atē, see § 539 p. 99, § 733.

§ 543. Italic. There are no forms at all which can be certainly placed in this class. The conjugation was thematic, that of Class IV; as 1st sing. Lat. si-st-ō Umbr. se-st-u. However, as we must regard red-dimus red-ditis, notwithstanding reddunt, as descended from red-dāmus red-dātis (§ 505, p. 71), so we may regard serimus seritis, sistimus sistitis as derived regularly from si-sā-mos si-sā-tes (Gr. ἱ-ε-μεν -τε), si-stā-mos -tes* (Gr. ἱ-στα-μεν -τε).

§ 544. Keltic. The thematic type is seen in O.Ir. i-b-i-d (§ 554), and the extension with -iō- in -airissiuir (§ 733).

ā-conjunctives are the future Mid. Ir. gignid 'nascetur' for gi-gen-ā-ti*, O.Ir. fo-didmae 'patieris' 3rd pl. fo-didmat (from pres. fo-daim 'patitur'), see Thurneysen, Kuhn's Zeitschr. xxxi 77 ff. They have the look of conjunctives belonging to thematic Class IV A. But probably the conjunctive vowel ā had here taken the place of older -o- -e- (by association with the unreduplicated conj. imperf., -genad, and the reduplicated conjunctive of Class IV B or Class VI, bēra); then the forms will originally have been like Skr. bi-bhar-a-t, and gignid must be closely connected with Avest. zī-zan-a-ḥ zī-zan-a-nti Skr. ā-jī-jan-a-t (§ 548).

§ 545. Germanic. O.H.G. se-stō-m 'sisto, I arrange, design', √stā-, with gradation lost, see § 539 p. 100. Whether O.H.G. te-ta O.Sax. de-da 'did' is an imperf. like Gr. τι-θην or an old perfect, remains doubtful; see § 886.

§ 546. Balto-Slavonic. A few relics are the presents of √dhē- 'set, place' and dō- 'give', but with e in the reduplicator (§ 538 p. 98).

In pr. Balto-Slavonic the forms were dhe-dh-mi* and de-d-mi, which may be compared with Skr. da-d-mi and Avest. dazdī dasti (§ 541 pp. 101 f.). But they did not, as these did, arise only by the weak stem spreading into the singular, but from this and another cause together; the other cause was, that the 2nd sing. middle, which originally had the weak stem, had got an active meaning (see § 991 on Lith. desē-s dūsi O.C.Sl. dasi). And since dhe-dh-mi* became dedmi* in pr. Balto-Slav. (I § 549 p. 402), the two verbs were confused in the present, and the same forms served for both (cp. Avest. dadāiti = Skr. dādhati and dādati, § 540 p. 101).

However, it was only in the meaning of 'I lay' that dedmi* survived for any time. Lith. sing. 1st pers. dēmi for dedmi*, 2nd reflex. desē-s for de-t-sē-s*, 3rd dēsti dēst, 2nd pl. dēste. Now the verb is mostly thematic, de-d-ū dedi dēda etc. And dēmi 3rd sing. dēsti too took ē from non-present forms dējau dēsiau and the like, just as Gr. Lesb. ἀδινῶ instead of ἀδινέω follows ἀδινῶ-σω, and γεύω instead of γέω* follows γεύσω etc. (§ 775). But in Slavonic we have deždetŭ = de-d-je-tŭ*, following the jo-class (§ 733).

In the meaning 'I give', dedmi* was changed to dōdmi* in pr. Balto-Slavonic by analogy of non-present forms with dō-. There is a reason why the vowel of the root got into dedmi 'I give' and not into dedmi* 'pono'. It is that the difference between the vowel of the first syllable of the present and that of the other tenses was in dedmi* 'pono' only one of quantity, but in the other it was a difference of quality also; dedmi*: aor. dē-s-* was backed up by such verbs as tekō*: aor. tēk-s-* (O.C.Sl. teką tēchŭ), but there was no parallel for dedmi*: aor. dō-s-*. Lith. sing. 1st pers. dŭmi, 2nd dūsi for dū-t-si*, 3rd dūsti dūst, pl. 1st dūme, 2nd dūste; dŭmi dūme for dūdmi dūdme. Now generally thematic, dūdu etc. (also Lett. dūdu). O.C.Sl. damŭ dasi dastŭ damŭ daste dadetŭ; damŭ damŭ have -m- for -dm-. Partic. thematic dady (da-dašta) like Lith. dŭdŭs. As regards 1st dual Lith. dŭva O.C.Sl. davě, see I § 547 p. 401.

Remark. The forms of the 2nd pl. found in old Lith. books, desti(e) and dūsti(e) instead of dēste and dūste, were derived from the 3rd sing. and pl. on the analogy of tūri-t(e):tūri, to distinguish more clearly 2nd plural from 3rd singular and plural.

Class IV.

Reduplication ending in -ī or -ā + Root + Thematic Vowel, forming the Present Stem.

§ 547. This class, like Class II, falls naturally into two sections, according as the root has the strong or the weak grade. The strong form, as in Class II, is the same as that of the non-thematic Conjunctive. Compare § 513 pp. 78 ff.

§ 548. A. Strong Root Syllable.

In Aryan, this section includes a large class of forms, the Sanskrit Causative Aorist; an aorist formation which generally is found along with the present formed by -āya- (§§ 795 ff.). As to the varying quantity of the reduplicating vowel, see § 473 pp. 17 f.

Skr. 3rd pl. mid. á-bī-bhay-a-nta beside bi-bhē-ti 'fears'. Imperative: mid. pi-práy-a-sva beside á-pi-prē-t 'he satisfied, pleased'. á-cu-cyav-a-t beside 3rd pl. á-cu-cyav-ur from cyu- 'to move, stir'.

Skr. á-ti-tar-a-t Avest. ti-tar-a-ḥ from Skr. ti-tar-ti 'gets over or beyond'. Skr. pī-par-a-t from pī-par-ti 'fills', á-dī-dhar-a-t beside 2nd and 3rd sing. dī-dhar from dhar- 'hold fast'. Avest. bī-bar-āmi (cp. Skr. conj. 2nd sing. bi-bhar-ā-si) beside Skr. bī-bhar-mi 'I carry'. Skr. a-jī-jan-a-t 'was born' Avest. zī-zan-a-ḥ 3rd pl. zī-zan-a-nti, √ ḡen-.

Skr. á-pī-pat-a-t, √ pet- 'fly', á-sī-ṣad-a-t, √ sed- 'sit'.

On the Irish conjunctive, used for the future, of which we have an example in gignid 'nascetur' for gi-gen-ā-ti*, see § 544, page 103.

Germanic. Apparently we have a form of this sort in Goth. rei-rái-ḥ 'moves, trembles', connected with Skr. lē-láy-a-ti 'wavers, trembles'; it may come from pr. Germ. rī-rēi-ō* (§ 469 p. 14, § 708). But this is not a certainty, because it has not yet been made out to what vowel series the root belongs (in Sanskrit we see a pret. á-lē-lē-t, § 568).

Idg. bhr̥zg-é-ti* or bhr̥gg-é-ti (cp. Thurneysen, Kuhn's Zeitschr. xxx 353). á-vrt-a-t, $\sqrt{\text{uert-}}$: does Lat. vortō (beside vertō) come from pre-Italic urt-ō*? 3rd pl. spūrdh-ā-n beside spārdh-a-tē 'strives', spūrdh- = sp̥rdh-*, cp. partic. sp̥rdh-ānā-s. 3rd sing. (aor.) bhraś-a-t 'fell' beside pres. bhráś-a-tē. viś-á-tē 'enters', Avest. vīs-aītē. Skr. á-sic-a-t 'he poured out': O.H.G. sīg-u 'I fall down, trickle' pr. Germ. sīkō*, $\sqrt{\text{seiḡ-}}$. Partic. diś-á-māna-s, $\sqrt{\text{deiḡk-}}$: cp. O.Icel. tega 'to show' (beside tjā = Goth. teihan, II A). bhuj-á-ti 'bends, pushes away', Avest. būj-a-p 'pushed away': Gr. ἔφυγ-ο-ν 'I fled' inf. φυγ-εῖν, A.S. būz-e 'I bow', $\sqrt{\text{bheug-}}$ bheug-. Skr. 2nd sing. druh-a-s, Avest. dru-žaiti, $\sqrt{\text{dhreugh-}}$ 'deceive, lie'. Skr. gāh-a-ti 'hides' (for accent see § 525) 2nd sing. guh-a-s, Avest. mid. ā-guz-ē. From $\sqrt{\text{dō-}}$ 'give' Skr. āda-t (ā + a-d-a-t), Avest. 2nd sing. opt. dōi-š: Lat. red-dō, see § 493 pp. 53 f. From $\sqrt{\text{stā-}}$ 'stand' Skr. āstha-t Avest. a-xšt-a-p, see § 493 p. 54. Skr. -h-a-ti in ujha-ti 'lets go' for ud + jhati*, beside jā-hā-ti 'leaves'.

§ 525. Many forms of this class have in Sanskrit the accent of II A; as dás-a-ti $\sqrt{\text{deñk-}}$, gír-āmi beside gir-āmi (§ 523 p. 86), bhúv-a-t (p. 86), kýp-a-tē 'laments'. Compare § 516, page 82.

Remark. After what has been said in I § 313 p. 251 and other places, it must seem doubtful whether such a word as Skr. pác-a-ti 'coquit' represents original péq-e-ti* (II A), or orig. peq-é-ti* (II B) with weak grade stem and secondary accent, the word accent having been afterwards retracted. I hold that Bartholomae is right in allowing only a as the weak grade with secondary accent for roots of the form peq- (Bezz. Beitr., xvii 109 ff.), which brings presents like pác-a-ti under II A. Bartholomae, page 117, conjectures that an Ar. sid-d* = səd-ō-* from $\sqrt{\text{sed-}}$ 'sit' is contained in Avest. hiđ-a-iti.

§ 526. Armenian. mal-em 'I crush, shatter' $\sqrt{\text{mel-}}$: Lat. mol-ō etc., see § 523 p. 86. barj-i 'I raised' (pres. barnam for barj-na-m*): Skr. bṛh-a-ti 'strengthens, lifts up', $\sqrt{\text{bhergh-}}$. e-git 'he found' (pres. gt-anem): Skr. á-vid-a-t etc., see § 523 p. 87. e-liḡ 'he left' (pres. lḡ-anem): Gr. ἔλιπ-ο-ν inf. λιπ-εῖν, $\sqrt{\text{leiḡ-}}$. e-ḡuk 'he spewed' (pres. ḡk-anem).

§ 527. Greek. Here the original distinction of accent between II A and II B is seen in the infinitive, but hardly anywhere else; e. g. λείπ-ειν : λείπ-εῖν (cp. I § 676 Rem. 1 p. 541). But in Greek this distinction was seized upon and connected with the distinction between present and aorist; so much so, that when verbs of II A were used as aorists, or verbs of II B for the present, their accent was changed; thus we have γεν-έ-σθαι, not γέν-ε-σθαι* (see § 518 p. 83), and γράφ-ε-σθαι γλύφ-ε-σθαι instead of γραφ-έ-σθαι* and γλυφ-έ-σθαι* (cp. § 775 Rem.). In the finite verb, the original accent of II B remained in a few imperatives like ἰθ-έ, see § 958. It is difficult to judge whether the old accent remains in words whose root has ceased to form a separate syllable, as 3rd sing. σχ-έ-το conj. σχ-ῶ from √segh-, because the accent must rest on this syllable in any case (cp. I § 676 Rem. 1 p. 543).

Remark 1. The same cause which changed γραφῶν γραφεῖν* to γράφω and γράφειν, acted upon all other classes of thematic stems where the thematic vowel originally carried the accent, causing a change of accent whenever these stems were used as imperfect-presents. Thus we have δάκνων instead of δακ-νῶν* cp. Skr. gṛ-ñá-ta (§ 611), τίνων instead of τινῶν* τιν-ῶν* cp. Skr. ṛ-ñá-ti (§ 652), ῥικων instead of ῥικῶν* ῥικ-ῶν* cp. Skr. ṛ-chá-ti (§ 673), βυλίων instead of βαινῶν* βαιν-ῶν* cp. Skr. -gam-yá-tē (§ 713), ἄττων instead of ἄττων* ἄτ-των* cp. Skr. vē-vij-yá-tē (§ 730), ἰατρων instead of ἰ(σ)-αν-ῶν* cp. Skr. iṣ-āṇ-yá-ti (§ 743). This applies to all denominative verbs (Class XXXI), as *ὄρων ὁρῶν φιλέων φιλῶν*¹⁾ κονῶν κτῖνῶν ὀνομαῖων ἀγγέλλων instead of ὄρων* φιλέων* etc., compare Skr. ṛṇānā-yá-ti vāsna-yá-ti arāti-yá-ti gāu-yá-ti vṛṣaṇ-yá-ti adhvā-yá-ti. For these denominatives another fact has to be taken into account. In protoethnic Greek, verbs in -έω like φιλέω had become indistinguishable from verbs of Class XXXII, in -έῖω, as φορέω = Skr. bhārāyāmi (§ 801); and even before the accent was seized upon to help in distinguishing aorist from present, φιλέων* may have become φιλέων by analogy of φορέων, and then the verbal nouns of other denominative classes may have been drawn into the same circle of attraction.

ἔ-πταρ-ο-ν 'I sneezed' πταρ-εῖν from √pster-. ἔ-βαλ-ο-ν 'I threw' βαλ-εῖν from √gel-. ἔ-πλ-ε ἔ-πλ-ε-το 'versabatur' from

1) Observe that the circumflex of these contracted nom. sing. masc. forms, ὄρων φιλῶν, supports the theory of a change of accent here set forth. The old accentuation of the thematic vowel would have produced ὄρων* φιλῶν* like ἑταῶς for ἑταῶς.

Skr. -h-a-ti in ujha-ti 'lets go' for ud* + jhati, beside jā-hā-ti 'leaves'.

§ 525. Many forms of this class have in Sanskrit the accent of II A; as dāś-a-ti √ deñk-, gīr-āmi beside gīr-āmi (§ 523 p. 86), bhūp-a-t (p. 86), kṛp-a-tē 'laments'. Compare § 516, page 82.

§ 527. Greek. Here the original distinction of accent between II A and II B is seen in the infinitive, but hardly anywhere else; e. g. λείπ-ειν : λιπ-εῖν (cp. I § 676 Rem. 1 p. 541). But in Greek this distinction was seized upon and connected with the distinction between present and aorist; so much so, that when verbs of II A were used as aorists, or verbs of II B for the present, their accent was changed; thus we have γεν-έ-σθαι, not γέν-ε-σθαι* (see § 518 p. 83), and γράφ-ε-σθαι γλώφ-ε-σθαι instead of γραφ-έ-σθαι* and γλυφ-έ-σθαι* (cp. § 775 Rem.). In the finite verb, the original accent of II B remained in a few imperatives like ἰώ-έ, see § 958. Skr. vē-vij-yá-tē (§ 730), ῖαττων instead of (α)-αν-ῖων* cp. Skr. iṣ-āṇ-yá-ti (§ 743). Whether these very forms were some of the original types which produced the whole series of aorists in -σθην, is of course doubtful; -thēs seems originally to have belonged only to non-thematic stems (§ 1047. 2).

REMARK 2. It is hard to classify forms in -τω -το-ν and -νω -νο-ν, along with which forms in i and e are common. There is nothing a priori against assuming that these have the suffix -io- (Class XXVI), and that -i- fell out between vowels; indeed, this must be done for forms like Lesb. φύω (I § 130 p. 118). πίομαι πίμεν beside πλουαι λπιοι may be illustrated by Skr. pī-yá-tē, φύω beside φύω by Skr. dhū-yá-tē, λύω beside λύω by O.Icel. lý-ja 'destroy, crush' (see § 707, and Osthoff, M. U. iv 12 ff.). But i and ū may come from forms of Class I, by presents passing from this class into the thematic conjugation, cp. for example πι-ί-μεν thematic and πι-θι non-thematic, λύω thematic and λῦ-το not (also λύ-το, for λύω cp. Lat. luō so-luō so-lvō), ὤ-ρῶ 'I roar' (also variant ὤρειω, cp. Skr. ruv-á-ti) but Skr. opt. rū-yā-t (Lat. rū-mor Goth. rū-na). Then these i- and *ū-*forms would naturally be compared with ὄροιο beside ὄρ-οο, ἱ-μοιο-ν beside ἱ-βλιω, and other such, see § 497 p. 57. Another possibility is that the long vowel came in by analogy of other tenses, λύω following λῦ-σσι, φύω following φῦ-σσι, just as we see Att. γέωω (not γέω*) by analogy of γέυ-σσι (the Author, Gr. Gr.³ p. 31), and Lesb. ᾠδῖκεῖ (instead of ᾠδῖκεῖ) by analogy of ᾠδῖκεῖ-σσι (§ 775).

§ 528. Italic. Lat. vol-ō vol-u-nt, ✓uel-, see § 493 p. 51. mol-ō: Armen. malem etc., see § 523 p. 86. tul-ō O.Lat., ✓tel-. -bō, future ending, for bhū-ō*, see § 523 pp. 86 f. lu-ō so-luō so-lvō: cp. Gr. λύ-ω 'I loose' § 527 Rem. currō doubtless for cors-ō*, cp. ac-cersō § 662. nivī (O.Lat.) for nigv-i-t* (with variant ningu-i-t, Class XVI): Gr. νίq-ει 'it snows' (also νείq-ει, II A), O.Ir. snigid 'it drops, rains', ✓sneigh-.¹⁾ di-vidō (Umbr. vetu 'dividito' II A, see the Author, Ber. sächs. Ges. Wiss., 1890, p. 211), beside Skr. vidh- 'to become empty of, to lack' pres. vindhá-tē Class XVI. rudō: Skr. rud-á-ti, see § 523 p. 87. sūg-ō: O.Ir. sūg-im O.H.G. sūg-u A.S. sūg-e sūc-e O.C.Sl. sūsā 'I suck'; we must suppose a root seuq- or seuq̃-.²⁾ Lat. Osc. s-u-m Lat. s-u-mus s-u-nt, ✓es-, see § 523 p. 87. co-inquō probably for in-squō*, beside secāre. pac-i-t O.Lat. (beside pang-ō Class XVI), ✓pak- pāq̃-; tag-i-t O.Lat. (beside tang-ō Class XVI), cp. te-tigi-t Gr. τε-ταγ-ών 'grasping' Class VI (§ 564).

1) Since only the 3rd sing. nivī occurs, there is the possibility of its being a denominative nivire (Thurneysen, Über die Herkunft und Bildung der lat. Verba auf -iō, p. 8).

2) The ✓seuq-, discussed by Osthoff in Paul-Braune's Beitr. VII 279 f., must be kept quite distinct.

Then again, it is probable the 3rd sing. and 1st pl. of certain Latin perfects, which were originally thematic aorists, belong to this class of forms. tuli-t tuli-mus, see tulō above. fidi-t fidi-mus: Skr. opt. bhidēy-am beside á-bhēt 'he split'. scidi-t scidi-mus: Skr. á-chid-a-t 'he cut off'. Compare § 867.

§ 529. In Italic it is often doubtful whether a verb belongs to II A or II B; as in the following instances. Lat. oc-culō, which may represent either -celō* (cp. O.Ir. cel-im O.H.G. hil-u § 520 p. 84) or -cflō*. ad-venat Osc. kúm-bened 'convēnit', see § 523 p. 86. Lat. glūb-ō, cp. O.H.G. chliubu and A.S. clafe § 527, p. 90 (cp. p. 79 footnote 1, on icō rūdō). This doubt is most common with verbs in -uō, because -uō in unaccented position may come from -ouō* (-euō*) or from -ayō* (I § 172.1 p. 152). Thus clu-ō 'I am called, pass for' (Gr. κλύω and κλέ(F)ουαι), 'ru-ō 'I snatch, tear, carry off, root up' (Gr. ῥύω 'pull, draw' O.C.Sl. rŭp-e-tŭ 'evellit' and Skr. rāv-a-ti 'he dashes to pieces'), nu-ō (Skr. nāv-a-tē 'moves'), clu-ō 'I purify' (Skr. śrūp-a-ti 'melts'), in-gruō (Litt. griŭvū 'I break down' § 535), plu-i-t (cp. plovē-bat § 514 p. 80). Lastly, some verbs may belong to the io-class, as suō cp. Goth. siu-ja etc. § 707.

§ 530. The quality of the thematic vowel should be observed in the 1st pl. sumus sīmus (possumus possīmus), volumus volīmus, quaesumus as contrasted with ferīmus etc. In these u and i are used to represent a sound between the two (as in māgnificus māgnificus, maxumus maximus), which was here the regular descendant of Idg. -o- (cp. Gr. q-íq-o-μεν). The assumption that -i- in leg-i-mus is due to the analogy of leg-i-tis, and replaced u i, is not supported by ferīmus beside fertis as compared with volumus : vultis. sumus must in time have got a distinct u (by analogy of sum and sunt, where u is regular for o in a closed syllable); for the Romance languages show sometimes a form which must come from sumus (Span. Port. somos etc.), sometimes one which must come from sīmus (Roumanian semū etc.). On the whole subject see L. Havet, Mém. Soc. Ling. vi 26 f.

O.Ir. marim 'I remain' (also conjugated in the a-class), ground-form sm̥r̥r-ō* √ smer-. ad-gaur 'convenio' for-con-gur 'I command', ground-form g̥r̥r-ō*, cp. Skr. g̥r̥- 'voice'. Mod. Cymr. malaf 'I grind, grind to powder' √ mel-: Armen. malem etc., see § 523 p. 86).¹⁾ Mid.Ir. blegain 'I milk': Skr. m̥r̥j-á-ti etc., see § 523 p. 87. Gr. νίω 'I wet, wash', Class XXVI, √ neig-. snigi-d 'it drops, rains': O.Lat. nivi-t § 528 p. 91.

§ 532. Germanic. In pr. Germanic the accent still lay upon the thematic vowel, which is proved by a number of forms like O.Icel. veg as contrasted with Goth. veiha from √ ueiq- (§ 513 p. 79). Also the West-Germ. ending of the 2nd sing. O.H.G. -is A.S. -es as contrasted with Norse -r (for -z), and the A.S. ending of the 3rd sing. -eð, which point to pr. Germ. -i-si* and -i-pi*, are in some cases to be referred to verbs which in pr. Germ. belonged to Class II B; see § 990. 1. § 998. 1.

§ 535. In Lithuanian, i and u in the root syllable were often lengthened. skylù 'I fall in debt' instead of skil-ù*, compare Goth. skulan, see § 532 p. 93; kylù 'I raise myself' instead of kil-ù*, √ gel-; svyrù 'I get the better' instead of svir-ù*, √ sŭer-. griūvù 'I break down' instead of griuv-ù*: Lat. in-gruō, see § 529 p. 92; blūvù 'I break out into bellowing or bleating' klūvù 'I stick fast to anything, hang on to' beside O.C.Sl. bljŭ-e-tŭ kljŭ-e-tŭ, see § 534 p. 95. See Leskien, Arch. slav. Phil. v 530, and Wiedemann, Lit. Prät. 71 ff., where the pretty conjecture is offered that on the analogy of pairs of forms like pres. gyjù (gy-jù): pret. gijaũ (gij-aũ), a present skylù was formed for skilaũ, a present griūvù for griuvaũ, and so forth.

In Slavonic, it is often doubtful whether a verb belongs to A or B. This is the case with přj-e-tŭ 'drinks', břj-e-tŭ 'strikes', whose -řj- may be orig. -ij- or orig. -ej- (I § 68 p. 60); cp. Leskien as above cited, pp. 501 ff.; Skr. páy-a-tē supports the derivation of přj-e-tŭ from pej-e-ti* (§ 522 p. 85). The same doubt meets us in forms with -ę- in the root syllable, since this may be orig. either -ŭ- or -en-, e. g. blęd-e-tŭ* 'wanders' from √ bhlendh- (see § 532 p. 94); cp. lęć-e-tŭ 'bends', § 637.

Class III.

Reduplication ending in -ī or -ā + simple Root forming the Present Stem.

§ 536. We begin with words from roots containing i or u, which have the same vowel in the reduplication; see § 469, page 14. Next follow stems which have i in the reduplication, but some other vowel in the root; see § 473 pages 17 ff.

Class IV, non-thematic, bears the same relation to this as Class II to Class I (§ 491 p. 50).

§ 537. Roots with i- and *u-*vowels. Only in Aryan and Germanic.

Pr. Idg. bhi-bhái-mi* 'I quake, am afraid' 1st pl. bhi-bhi-més* 3rd pl. bhi-bhi-ṛti*: Skr. bi-bhē-mi 3rd dual bi-bhi-tas bi-bhi-tas 3rd pl. bī-bhy-ati, and O.H.G. bi-bē-m, which fell under the influence of verbs in which -ēm was a suffix, and so lost the gradation of its stem.¹⁾ Conjunctive: Skr. bi-bhay-a-t. Optative: Skr. bi-bhi-yā-t. — With thematic vowel Skr. 3rd sing. bi-bhy-a-ti.

Aryan. Skr. ci-kē-mi 'I observe, notice' 3rd sing. imper. mid. ci-ki-tam 2nd sing. imper. act. ci-kī-hi; conj. Avest. ci-kay-a-p. Skr. á-dī-dhē-t 'he looked' 1st pl. dī-dhi-mas mid. pres. dī-dhy-ē pret. á-dī-dhī-ta; conj. dī-dhay-a-t. Skr. á-dī-dē-t 'he appeared' 3rd pl. dī-dy-ati imper. dī-dī-hī dī-dī-hī; conj. dī-day-a-t; — with thematic vowel Gr. δί-ζ-ο-μαι 'I seek, strive' (orig. 'look out for something') for δι-δ-ο-μαι* (see § 469 p. 14, § 549). Skr. dī- and dhī- both became dī- in Avestic cp. Avest. dādāiti = Skr. dādhati and dādati, § 540): dī-ḍaēiti; — with thematic vowel imper. dī-ḍy-a, cp. conj. dī-ḍy-a-p. Skr. vi-vēṣ-ṣi 'works' 1st pl. vi-viṣ-mas, conj. 2nd sing. vi-vēṣ-a-s. iy-ē-ti 'goes' only found in the 2nd sing. pret. āiy-ē-ṣ, Avest. 3rd pl. conj. yeyan = Ar. iḡ-aḡ-ā-n* (§ 473 p. 19).

1) Cp. § 465 p. 12, § 469 p. 14, § 739 on O.H.G. rērēm and Goth. reira.

Skr. ju-hō-mi 'I offer, sacrifice' 1st pl. ju-hu-más 3rd pl. jū-hv-ati, conj. 2nd pl. ju-hav-a-tha, opt. 1st pl. ju-hu-yā-ma. 1st pl. ju-hā-māsi from hā- 'call'. 3rd pl. sū-ṣv-ati from su- 'press'.

Sometimes a strong stem has got into the place of the weak (cp. § 499 p. 62), as Avest. 2nd sing. mid. ji-yaē-ša from ji- 'live', Skr. 2nd pl. ju-hō-ta from hu- 'offer, sacrifice', 2nd sing. yu-yō-dhi 2nd dual yu-yō-tam from yu- 'keep off'.

Remark. k in Skr. ci-kē-mi (✓gei-), and γ in Avest. ji-yaē-ša (✓gei-) are taken from the perfect, where they were regular before o in the sing. indic. active (I § 445 ff. pp. 331 ff.). In considering ji-ghar-ti (§ 540), if its root belonged to the e-series, we must remember that one of the stems of this verb is jighr-, and gh was regular there; so with jā-gar-ti from ✓ger- we must remember the stem jā-gr- (§ 560).

§ 538. Roots with other Vowels.

In Aryan, roots with a long a-vowel have generally in the reduplication a = Idg. e instead of i, when the weak stem in the root syllable had not ī. Examples: Skr. dā-dā-ti mid. dā-t-tē from ✓dō- 'give', jā-hā-ti pl. ja-hi-mas from Ar. zhā- 'leave, give up'. But on the contrary śi-śā-ti imper. śi-śī-hi mid. śi-śī-tē from ✓kō- 'whet, sharpen'. In the latter word we see the Idg. root-determinative ī, which so often forced its way into the place of Ar. i = Idg. e (see § 498 pp. 61 f.); and this ī is regularly echoed by i in the reduplicator; compare śi-śī-hi with dī-dī-hi from dī- 'appear'. Skr. ja-hī-tam beside regular ja-hi-tam (see Whitney, Sanskrit Roots, p. 204) has been altered by the influence of the mid. ji-hī-tē (§ 540), similarly ra-rī-dhvam by that of ri-rī-hi (rā- 'give').

So too the ✓dhē- 'place' in Balto-Slavonic reduplicates with e, as Lith. 2nd pl. dē-ste like O.H.G. da-tthā.

These forms with e belong to Class V, not like Gr. δί-δομι τί-θημι etc. It seems to me impossible to decide whether in Idg. the same present stem had both i and e in its reduplicated forms, as dhi-dhē-ti* and dhe-dhē-ti*, or whether e only came in by analogy of Class V, and is of later date than the parent language. If the latter, then the influence of perfects with e in the reduplicator must be taken into account (§ 555).

Compare Gr. ἔλαθι = *σι-σλα-θι and Lesb. ἐλλαθι = *σε-σλα-θι § 542.

Under these circumstances, I cite Aryan and Balto-Slavonic forms both in Class III and Class V.

ni-nes-mi* from √nes 'go towards' (Gr. νέ-ο-μαι Skr. nás-ā-tē): Skr. 3rd pl. mid. nīs-atē 'they touch their bodies, kiss' partic. nīs-āna-s. — Gr. νίσομαι 'I go back, return' for νι-νσ-ιο-μαι* (the Author, Gr. Gr.² § 45.5 p. 61) contains a stem νι-νσ-* or νι-νσ-ο-* (see § 733).

dhi-dhē-mi* 'I place' 1st pl. dhi-dh-més* and doubtless dhi-dhā-més*¹⁾ 3rd pl. dhi-dh-nti*: Skr. dā-dhā-mi da-dh-más (cp. 2nd pl. mid. da-dhi-dhvē) dā-dh-ati, Gr. τί-θη-μι τί-θε-μεν, O.H.G. te-ta O.Sax. de-da perhaps for dhi-dhē*- (§§ 545, 886), Lith. 2nd pl. dēste i. e. de-d+te*. Optative: Skr. da-dh-yā-t. — With thematic vowel Skr. dā-dh-a-ti Lith. de-d-ù.

si-sē-mi* 'I send forth, let go, throw, sow' 1st pl. si-s-més* and doubtless si-sē-més*: Gr. ῖ-η-μι ῖ-ε-μεν (Lat. serimus for si-sa-mos*? § 543). — With thematic vowel Lat. serō for si-s-ō*.

di-dō-mi* 'I give' 1st pl. di-d-més* and doubtless di-dā-més*, 3rd pl. di-d-nti*: Skr. dā-dā-mi da-d-más dā-d-ati, Gr. δί-δο-μι δί-δο-μεν, 2nd pl. Lith. dūste and O.C.Sl. daste instead of deste* (§ 546). Optative: Skr. da-d-yā-t. — With thematic

1) This form may be due to the analogy of dhā-mé(m), cp. ῖ-θε-μεν. But it does not follow, as some have said, that the form cannot be original.

vowel Skr. dā-d-a-ti Sabell. (Vest.) di-d-e-t 'dat', cp. Lith. Lett. dūdu and O.C.Sl. partic. dady gen. dadašta § 546.

si-stā-mi* 'I place, sisto': Gr. ἵστανμι ἵσταμεν, O.H.G. se-stō-m. Skr. 1st sing. tī-ṣṭhāmi may be added, and perhaps Lat. sistimus (§ 543). — With thematic vowel Skr. tī-ṣṭh-a-ti Lat. si-st-ō Umbr. se-st-u.

Idg. pi-pō-mi* 'I drink' is implied by such forms as Skr. mid. 3rd pl. pi-p-atē partic. pi-p-ānā-s; to this may be referred Falisc. pipafo 'bibam' (§ 594 Rem.). With thematic vowel Skr. pi-b-a-ti Lat. bibō instead of pi-b-ō* O.Ir. 3rd sing. ibid for pi-b-e-ti*, although the -b- of these words is certainly obscure (cp. I § 325 p. 263). Perhaps the 2nd sing. imper. pi-b-dhi* and 2nd pl. mid. pi-b-dhy-*, forms which must have had a place among the original non-thematic persons, caused some confusion in the sound.¹⁾ In these -b- was regular, because -p- had been assimilated to the following voiced sound. On the same principle we have explained the variants deḱṇt-* (Skr. daśat-) and deḱṇd- (Gr. δέξω), as being due to cases which had a bh-suffix, such as the instr. pl. deḱṇd-bhi(s)* (II § 123 p. 392). Then p must have levelled out b in the non-thematic conjugation (Skr. pi-p-atē), because this was closely associated with pō-ti* (Skr. pā-ti), and was especially exposed to the influence of the reduplicated perfect (Skr. pa-p-ē Gr. πέποινα). Similarly, Gr. βόσκω 'I feed, tend' may be connected with Skr. pā-ti 'tends' through the imperative b-dhi*.

§ 540. Aryan. Skr. jī-ghar-ti 'smells' 3rd pl. jī-ghr-ati; with thematic vowel jī-ghr-a-ti: on gh, see § 537 Rem. p. 98. Skr. tī-tar-ti 'gets over', partic. tī-tr-at-. Skr. īy-ar-ti, for its reduplication see § 473 p. 19. Skr. 2nd and 3rd sing. dī-dhar 2nd pl. dī-dhṛ-tā from dhar- 'hold fast'. Skr. imper. pi-prg-dhi from parc- 'to mix'.

1) There is no reason that I know of why we should suppose that our prehistoric ancestors had this imperative very often on their lips. But be it remembered that from the one imperative form dēhi 'give' in Pali, the whole of the present tense, dēmi dēsi etc., has sprung into existence (E. Kuhn, Beitr. zur Pali-Gramm., 98).

Skr. śi-śak-ti Avest. hi-šax-ti, $\sqrt{\text{seq-}}$ 'accompany' (cp. Skr. 2nd pl. sá-śc-ati, Class V, § 555). Skr. vi-vak-ti from $\sqrt{\text{ueq-}}$ 'speak'. Avest. 2nd pl. injunct. nista = nīsta* i. e. nī-nd+ta* from nad- 'roar, abuse'; — with thematic vowel Skr. 3rd sing. nī-nd-a-ti § 550. Avest. 3rd sing. injunct. di-das from das- 'consecrate, offer up'.

Roots in Ar. -ā reduplicate with i in Sanskrit when the weak forms have ī as root-determinative (§ 538 p. 98). $\sqrt{\text{mē-}}$ 'measure' mid. 3rd sing. mī-mī-tē 3rd pl. mī-m-atē; — with thematic vowel opt. mī-m-ē-t. $\sqrt{\text{kō-}}$ 'sharpen, whet' śi-śā-ti imper. śi-śi-hi; — with thematic vowel 3rd pl. śi-ś-a-nti. jī-hi-tē 'yields, departs' 3rd pl. jī-h-atē beside act. jā-hā-ti ja-hi-mas (ja-hī-tam and other forms have ī by analogy of the middle, see § 538 p. 98).

§ 541. Confusion of Strong and Weak Stem.

Strong instead of Weak: Skr. 2nd pl. īy-ar-ta, imper. śi-śā-dhi, 2nd pl. dā-dhā-ta ā-da-dhā-ta dā-dā-ta ā-da-dā-ta.

Weak instead of Strong: Skr. Ep. da-d-mi Avest. 3rd sing. dazdī ($\sqrt{\text{dhē-}}$) and dasti. These forms are due to the analogy of ád-mi át-ti and the like, the reduplication having been lost sight of in the (pr. Ar.) forms dhadh-mas(i) dad-mas(i) opt. dhadh-yā- dad-yā- conj. dhadh-a- dad-a-, which were conceived to be simple roots (cp. the end of § 540). This also produced the forms Skr. pass. dad-yá-tē partic. dat-tá-s from $\sqrt{d\bar{o}}$ -, and Avest. inf. dastē from $\sqrt{d\bar{o}}$ - and inf. dazdē from $\sqrt{dh\bar{e}}$ - (cp. Bartholomae, Ar. Forsch. III 48).

§ 542. Greek. From roots ending in -r and -l we have only the weak stem, the strong forms following Class XI. Thus -πί-πλα-μεν 'we fill' -πί-πλα-ται: Skr. pi-pr-más; πί-φρα-μεν* 'we bring': Skr. bi-bh-más (§ 539, p. 99). But -πί-πλη-μι instead of πι-πελ-μι* from the stem pl-ē-*, cp. unreduplicated Skr. prā-si á-prā-t Gr. πλή-το Lat. im-plē-tur. -πί-προ-μεν 'we kindle', sing. -πί-προ-μι, $\sqrt{per-}$ (Mod. Slov. perēti 'moulder' O.C.Sl. para 'steam'). The nasal in πίμ-πλαμεν πίμ-προμεν comes from πιμπλάνω, see § 621. ἴλαθι 'be gracious' ἴλατε ἴλαμαι for σι-σλα-* (I § 565 p. 422), $\sqrt{sel-}$, cp. Lesb. ἔλλα-θι for σε-σλα-θι*, Class V.

τί-θη-μι 'I place' τί-θε-μεν τί-θε-ται, ῖ-η-μι 'I send forth' for σι-ση-μι ῖ-ε-μεν ῖ-ε-ται*, δί-δω-μι 'I give' δί-δο-μεν δί-δο-ται, ῖ-στη-μι 'I place' ῖ-στα-μεν ῖ-στα-ται, see § 539 p. 100. Hom. 3rd sing. δί-δη imper. 3rd sing. δι-δέ-ντων from $\sqrt{d\bar{e}}$ - 'bind'. In the stems τι-θε- ί-ε- δι-δε- δι-δο-, ε and ο have taken the place of a previous α = Idg. ə, as in ἔ-θε-μεν ἔ-δο-μεν § 493 p. 53, and in τέ-θε-ται δέ-δο-ται § 856: cp. Skr. da-dhi-dhvé ja-hi-mas. The loss of forms without ə, answering to the Skr. da-dh-más etc., is a consequence of the different forms which some of the persons of this tense assumed in due course; we should have by rule τιθμεν θιστε; διδμεν διστε, ῖμεν ῖσσι. 3rd pl. Dor. τίθεντι δίδοντι instead of τι-θ-ατι* δι-δ-ατι*, see § 1020. Sometimes the strong stem prevails, or words follow the analogy of Classes X and XI: Hom. partic. τι-θή-μενο-ς instead of τι-θέ-μενο-ς, imper. δί-δω-θι (like Pali da-da-hi). On the analogy of verbs in -εω -οω -αω: pres. τιθεῖ διδότ, imperf. ἐτίθει ἔει ἐδίδον, imper. τίθει δίδου ῖστα, inf. τιθεῖν συν-ιέν, partic. Delph. διδέουσαι; and then again ἐτίθεις -ει and ἔεις -ει produced the 1st sing. ἔτίθειν and ἔειν after the model of ἦειν 'I went' as compared with ἦεις ἦει.

As regards νίσσομαι beside Skr. 3rd pl. nīs-atē, see § 539 p. 99, § 733.

§ 543. Italic. There are no forms at all which can be certainly placed in this class. The conjugation was thematic, that of Class IV; as 1st sing. Lat. si-st-ō Umbr. se-st-u. However, as we must regard red-dimus red-ditis, notwithstanding reddunt, as descended from red-dāmus red-dātis (§ 505, p. 71), so we may regard serimus seritis, sistimus sistitis as derived regularly from si-sā-mos si-sā-tes (Gr. ἴ-ε-μεν -τε), si-stā-mos -tes* (Gr. ἴ-στα-μεν -τε).

§ 544. Keltic. The thematic type is seen in O.Ir. i-b-i-d (§ 554), and the extension with -io- in -airissiur (§ 733).

a-conjunctives are the future Mid. Ir. gignid 'nascetur' for gi-gen-a-ti*, O.Ir. fo-didmae 'patieris' 3rd pl. fo-didmat (from pres. fo-daim 'patitur'), see Thurneysen, Kuhn's Zeitschr. xxxi 77 ff. They have the look of conjunctives belonging to thematic Class IV A. But probably the conjunctive vowel a had here taken the place of older -o- -e- (by association with the unreduplicated conj. imperf., -genad, and the reduplicated conjunctive of Class IV B or Class VI, bēra); then the forms will originally have been like Skr. bi-bhar-a-t, and gignid must be closely connected with Avest. zī-zan-a-p zī-zan-a-nti Skr. ā-jī-jan-a-t (§ 548).

§ 545. Germanic. O.H.G. se-stō-m 'sisto, I arrange, design', √sta-, with gradation lost, see § 539 p. 100. Whether O.H.G. te-ta O.Sax. de-da 'did' is an imperf. like Gr. τί-θην or an old perfect, remains doubtful; see § 886.

§ 546. Balto-Slavonic. A few relics are the presents of √dhē- 'set, place' and dō- 'give', but with e in the reduplicator (§ 538 p. 98).

In pr. Balto-Slavonic the forms were dhe-dh-mi* and de-d-mi, which may be compared with Skr. da-d-mi and Avest. dazdī dasti (§ 541 pp. 101 f.). But they did not, as these did, arise only by the weak stem spreading into the singular, but from this and another cause together; the other cause was, that the 2nd sing. middle, which originally had the weak stem, had got an active meaning (see § 991 on Lith. desē-s dāsi O.C.Sl. dasi). And since dhe-dh-mi* became dedmi* in pr. Balto-Slav. (I § 549 p. 402), the two verbs were confused in the present, and the same forms served for both (cp. Avest. dađaiti = Skr. dádhati and dádāti, § 540 p. 101).

However, it was only in the meaning of 'I lay' that dedmi* survived for any time. Lith. sing. 1st pers. dēmi for dedmi*, 2nd reflex. desē-s for de-t-sē-s*, 3rd dēsti dēst, 2nd pl. dēste. Now the verb is mostly thematic, de-d-ū dedī dēda etc. And dēmi 3rd sing. dēsti too took ē from non-present forms dējau dēsiau and the like, just as Gr. Lesb. ἀδινῶ instead of ἀδινέω follows ἀδινῆ-σῶ, and γεῖω instead of γέω* follows γεῖσῶ etc. (§ 775). But in Slavonic we have deždetŭ = de-d-je-tŭ*, following the jo-class (§ 733).

In the meaning 'I give', dedmi* was changed to dōdmi* in pr. Balto-Slavonic by analogy of non-present forms with dō-. There is a reason why the vowel of the root got into dedmi 'I give' and not into dedmi* 'pono'. It is that the difference between the vowel of the first syllable of the present and that of the other tenses was in dedmi* 'pono' only one of quantity, but in the other it was a difference of quality also; dedmi*: aor. dē-s-* was backed up by such verbs as tekō*: aor. tēk-s-* (O.C.Sl. tekā tēchŭ), but there was no parallel for dedmi*: aor. dō-s-*. Lith. sing. 1st pers. dŭmi, 2nd dūsi for dŭ-t-si*, 3rd dŭsti dŭst, pl. 1st dŭme, 2nd dŭste; dŭmi dŭme for dūdmi dūdme. Now generally thematic, dŭdu etc. (also Lett. dūdu). O.C.Sl. damŭ dasi dastŭ damŭ daste dadgtŭ; damŭ damŭ have -m- for -dm-. Partic. thematic dady (da-dašta) like Lith. dŭ'dāš. As regards 1st dual Lith. dŭva O.C.Sl. davē, see I § 547 p. 401.

Remark. The forms of the 2nd pl. found in old Lith. books, destit(e) and dūstīt(e) instead of dēste and dŭste, were derived from the 3rd sing. and pl. on the analogy of tūrī-t(e): tūrī, to distinguish more clearly 2nd plural from 3rd singular and plural.

Class IV.

Reduplication ending in -ĩ or -ũ + Root + Thematic Vowel, forming the Present Stem.

§ 547. This class, like Class II, falls naturally into two sections, according as the root has the strong or the weak grade. The strong form, as in Class II, is the same as that of the non-thematic Conjunctive. Compare § 513 pp. 78 ff.

§ 548. A. Strong Root Syllable.

In Aryan, this section includes a large class of forms, the Sanskrit Causative Aorist; an aorist formation which generally is found along with the present formed by -áya- (§§ 795 ff.). As to the varying quantity of the reduplicating vowel, see § 473 pp. 17 f.

Skr. 3rd pl. mid. á-bī-bhay-a-nta beside bi-bhē-ti 'fears'. Imperative: mid. pi-práy-a-sva beside á-pi-prē-t 'he satisfied, pleased'. á-cu-cyav-a-t beside 3rd pl. á-cu-cyav-ur from cyu- 'to move, stir'.

Skr. á-ti-tar-a-t Avest. ti-tar-a-p from Skr. ti-tar-ti 'gets over or beyond'. Skr. pī-par-a-t from pī-par-ti 'fills', á-dī-dhar-a-t beside 2nd and 3rd sing. dī-dhar from dhar- 'hold fast'. Avest. bī-bar-ami (cp. Skr. conj. 2nd sing. bi-bhar-ā-si) beside Skr. bī-bhar-mi 'I carry'. Skr. a-jī-jan-a-t 'was born' Avest. zī-zan-a-p 3rd pl. zī-zan-a-nti, √ ḡen-.

Skr. á-pī-pat-a-t, √ pet- 'fly', á-sī-ṣad-a-t, √ sed- 'sit'.

On the Irish conjunctive, used for the future, of which we have an example in gignid 'nascetur' for gi-gen-ā-ti*, see § 544, page 103.

Germanic. Apparently we have a form of this sort in Goth. rei-rái-p 'moves, trembles', connected with Skr. lē-lāy-a-ti 'wavers, trembles'; it may come from pr. Germ. rī-rēi-ō* (§ 469 p. 14, § 708). But this is not a certainty, because it has not yet been made out to what vowel series the root belongs (in Sanskrit we see a pret. á-lē-lē-t, § 568).

§ 549. B. Weak Root Syllable.

Roots with i- and u- vowels. Avest. imper. di-đy-a (conj. di-đy-a-p), Gr. διζουαι for di-đk-o-uai* beside Avest. diđaēti, see § 537 p. 97; di-ζη-uai (Class XI): di-ζ-o-uai: Avest. diđaēti = -ni-nλn-μi: Skr. á-pi-pr-a-ta: Skr. pi-par-ti. Skr. jī-ghy-a-ti 'drives on' beside hi-nō-ti Class XVII; gh instead of h (I § 445 p. 331, § 454 p. 335) answers to k in the 3rd pl. ci-ky-ati, see § 537 Rem. p. 98. Also Skr. aorists such as á-ši-śriy-a-t from śri- 'lean' (cp. á-ši-śrē-t), á-ci-kṣip-a-t from kṣip- 'throw', á-rī-riṣ-a-t from riṣ- 'take hurt', á-śu-śruv-a-t from śru- 'hear', á-cu-krudh-a-t from krudh- 'grow angry', á-dū-duṣ-a-t from duṣ- 'grow bad, go to rack and ruin'.

Pr.Idg. gi-ġn-ō*, √ ġen- 'gignere': Gr. γί-γν-ο-μαι Lat. gi-gn-ō, cp. gi-ġen-o-* § 548. si-zd-ō*, √ sed- 'sit': Skr. sīdati instead of sīd-a-ti* (I § 591 p. 447, § 593 p. 449, compare Bartholomae in Bezz. Beitr. xvii 117), Gr. ῖζω i. e. hizdō (I § 593 p. 449), Lat. sīdō (I § 594 p. 450).¹⁾ ni-nd-ō* 'I scold, blame' beside Skr. nad- 'shriek, roar' Gr. ὀροσθε 'ye blame, scold' for ὀροδ- (cp. Avest. 2nd pl. nista = nīsta*, § 540 p. 101): Skr. nīnd-a-ti 'scolds, abuses', with which became associated nīd- 'reviling, rebuke' á-nēd-ya-s 'blameless' and other similar words, Gr. nīndō*, whence ὀνειδος 'blame'.²⁾ si-st-ō*, √ stā- 'stare': Skr. tī-ṣṭh-a-ti Lat. si-st-i-t; pi-b-e-ti*, √ pō- 'drink': Skr. pi-b-a-ti Lat. bi-b-i-t O.Ir. i-b-i-d, see § 539 p. 100.

1) Bechtel does not convince me that I am wrong in supposing the Idg. form to be si-zd-ō* (Bechtel, Hauptprobl. der Idg. Lautlehre, 254). That aīdīmai comes from aīzd- or aīsd- is unproven. Compare Idg. Forsch. I 171 f.

2) This conjecture (cp. Osthoff, Perf. 394 f., and Bartholomae, Ar. Forsch. II 84, Bezz. Beitr. xvii 116) seems to me more likely than that suggested by others (as Fick, Wtb. I⁴ 96), namely, that Skr. nīnd-a-ti was formed from a √ neīd- on the principle of Class XVI. The Skr. re-formation perf. ni-nīnd-a etc. may be compared with perf. sīd-atur fut. sīd-iṣya-ti beside sīd-a-ti.

Another group of forms which comes in here is composed of such Skr. aorists as á-vī-vyt-a-t from vart- 'vertere', á-cī-kṛp-a-t from kalp- 'help', á-pi-sprś-a-t from sparś- 'touch', á-ci-krad-a-t from krand- 'roar'. A great many others were cast in the same mould as these; for instance, á-mī-mṛṇa-t from mṛ-ṇā-ti 'crushes'.

§ 552. Greek. γί-γν-ο-μαι, see § 550. μῑ-μν-ω beside μῑν-ω 'I remain'. ἔ-σχω beside ἔχω (σεχω*) 'I hold, have', √ segh-. πί-πτ-ω 'I fall'; whether ι was original (cp. Skr. á-pī-pat-a-t, § 548 p. 105) is very doubtful; see § 473 p. 18. τίκτω 'I beget' for τε-τε-ω* beside ἔ-τεκ-ο-ν, cp. the Author, Gr. Gr.² § 62 p. 74. λάχω 'I cry out, shriek' for φ-φαχω*, cp. δυσ-ῥηής (cp. W. Schulze, Kuhn's Zeitschr. xxix 230 ff.).

On present stems extended by the suffix -ιο- see § 733.

§ 553. Italic. Lat. gi-gn-ō, see § 550. Lat. sūdō for si-zd-ō*, the second sibilant of which is kept in Umbr. ander-sistu 'intersidito' for -sizd(e)tō* (cp. ander-sesust 'intersederit'): ¹⁾ Skr. śīd-a-ti etc., see § 550. Lat. serō 'I sow' for si-s-ō*, beside Gr. ἵ-η-μι, § 539 p. 99. Lat. bibō instead of pi-b-ō*: Skr. pī-b-a-ti etc., see § 539 p. 100; for the assimilation of p- to -b-, cp. Umbr. řeře 'dedit' instead of teře* (fut. perf. teṛust dīrsust). Vest. dī-d-e-t 'dat' (Pelign. dīda 'det' Umbr. dīrsa dērsa teṛa 'det' dīrstu teṛtu 'dato'), beside Gr. δί-δω-μι, § 539 p. 99. Compare § 871, on Osc. fi-fik-us.

1) For this explanation of the Umbrian form I have to thank a former pupil, Dr. von Planta. See now his dissertation, Vocalismus der osk.-Umbr. Dialekte, Strassburg 1892, pp. 214, 277, and his Grammatik.

§ 554. O.Ir. i-b-i-d 'bibit' for pi-b-e-ti*: Skr. pi-b-a-ti etc., see § 539 p. 100. As to -airissim -airissiur 'I stand, remain standing, exist', see § 733.

Futures like do-bēr 'I will give' may be also added; they were originally ā-conjunctives of this class. See § 565.

Class V:

Reduplication in -e (-ē) + simple Root, used for the Present Stem.

§ 555. This class has a very close connexion with the Perfect. The two are distinguished in the indic. present by different personal endings (cp. Skr. 3rd pl. sá-śc-ati: perf. 3rd pl. sa-śc-úr, from $\sqrt{\text{seq-}}$ 'be with, accompany'), and in the vocalisation of the singular, as 3rd sing. Idg. se-seq-ti* (Skr. sa-sak-ti*): perf. se-soq-e* (Skr. sa-sac-a*). But there was no difference at all between the Preterite of Class V and the Preterite of the Perfect Class (pluperfect), nor between their Conjunctive, Optative, and Imperative moods. Perhaps there was originally only Class VI, which now appears complementary to the fifth class (Skr. sá-śc-a-ti Gr. ἔσθ-ο-ι-το), but then had the same relation to the perfect as Class II to I, Class IV to III; and then perhaps the indic. present forms of the fifth class were coined on the analogy of classes I and III.

Skr. dā-dhā-ti 'places' dā-dā-ti 'gives' Avest. da-dā-iti, see § 540 p. 99. Skr. jā-hā-ti 'leaves, gives up' 1st pl. jā-hi-mas 3rd pl. jā-h-ati, Avest. za-zā-iti; — with thematic vowel, Skr. jā-h-a-ti.

§ 557. Greek. Lesb. ἔλλαθι 'be gracious' for σε-σλα-θι, pl. ἔλλατε, beside ἴλαθι Class III, § 542 p. 102. κέ-κλυ-θι 'hear', pl. κέ-κλυ-τε; but Skr. á-śu-śrav-ur belong to Class III. ἔλπ-α 'I spoke' (Cret. Gort. προ-φειπάτω) contains a stem *ue-μq- (as regards φειπ- for *μῆμq-, see the Author, Kuhn's Zeitschr. xxv 306, Gr. Gr.² p. 157; Wackernagel, Kuhn's Zeitschr. xxix 151 f.; Meillet, Mém. Soc. Ling. vii 60); this weak stem eventually ran right through (cp. Skr. da-d-mi § 541 p. 101, Lith. dėmi for de-d-mi* § 546 p. 104); the -α of ἔλπ-α-ς εἴπ-α-τε is to be explained as in ἔχενας, see § 504 p. 67; — with thematic vowel, Skr. á-vōc-a-t Gr. ἔ-ειπ-ο-ν, see § 661.

§ 558. Keltic. Original Conjunctives of this class (cp. Skr. ba-bhas-a-t) are the Irish reduplicated futures, Mid.Ir. ge-gn-a 'vulnerabo' O.Ir. do-gega 'eligam' etc. They originally had the thematic vowel, which they exchanged for a in the same way as did the future of which gignid is an example, Class III § 544. However, the e of the reduplicator is doubtless, as Thurneysen says, a mutation of i (Kuhn's Zeitschr., xxxi 77 f.); then the forms are not different from gignid and others of that kind.

§ 559. Balto-Slavonic. Lith. dėsti 'lays' for dhe-dh+ti* instead of dhe-dhē-ti*, Lith. dū'sti O.C.Sl. (Russ.) dasť 'gives' for dō-d+ti* instead of de-dō-ti*, see § 546 pp. 103 f.

§ 560. Forms with Idg. ē instead of e in the Reduplication (§ 472 p. 17). These are Intensives in Sanskrit; e. g. Skr. dā-dhar-ti beside (dar-dhar-ti) from dhar- 'hold fast', 3rd pl. nā-nad-ati from nad- 'shriek, roar'; cp. Avest. partic. pā-per't-āna- neut. used as a subst. 'fighting'.

Skr. jā-gar-mi 'I watch' 3rd pl. jā-gr-ati imper. jā-gr-hi, and an irregular form with weak stem, jā-gr-mi; — thematic jā-gr-a-ti. Compare perf. jā-gār-a Gr. ἐγγ-γεο-μαι. On the g of jā-gar-mi, see § 537 Rem. p. 98.

Remark. The fut. jāgarīṣyati perf. jajāgāra may be compared with laṣīṣyati lalāṣa beside laṣati for le-ls-e-ti*, with jahiṣyati ājījahat beside ja-h-a-ti (§ 562), and others like them; see § 752.

A Greek intensive of this sort is Hom. δη-δέχ-αται 'they welcome, greet' imperf. δη-δεκ-το (read δη-, not δει-, — so J. Wackernagel), from δέχομαι δέχομαι 'I receive'.

Class VI.

Reduplication in -e (-ē) + Root + Thematic Vowel forming the Present Stem.

§ 561. On the relation of this class to the last, see § 555.

Pr. Idg. ghe-ghn-o-* from √ ghen- 'strike, kill': Skr. partic. ja-ghn-a-nt- (cp. jt-ghn-a-tē § 551 p. 107), Gr. ἔ-πε--qv-o-v inf. πε-φν-έ-μεν; conj. Avest. ja-γν-ā-ḥ. ue-ug-o-* from √ ueq- 'speak': Skr. á-vōc-a-t, Gr. ἔ-ειπ-ο-ν εἰπ-ο-ν inf. εἰπ-εῖν (on ειπ- for ue-ug-* see § 557). se-sq-o-* from √ seq- 'be with, accompany': Skr. sá-śc-a-ti, Gr. ἔ-σπ-ε-το opt. ἔ-σπ-ο-ι-το inf. ἔ-σπ-έ-οθαι. Skr. dá-dh-a-ti 'places', Lith. de-d-ù, √ dhē-.

§ 562. Aryan. Skr. partic. ja-ghn-a-nt-, Avest. 3rd pl. ja-γν-e-nti conj. ja-γν-ā-ḥ: Gr. ἔ-πε-φν-ο-ν etc., see § 561. Skr. á-vōc-a-t, Avest. vaoc-a-ḥ imper. vaoc-ā: Gr. ἔ-ειπ-ο-ν, see § 561. Skr. yēṣ-a-ti 'boils' for pr. Ar. ja-iṣ-a-ti* ground-form je-js-e-ti* from √ jes- (Skr. yás-ya-ti Gr. ζέω), cp. with jo-extension Avest. yaēšyēiti § 733; Skr. á-yēṣ-a-t served as model for á-nēṣ-a-t from naṣ- 'to be destroyed' (Avestic has naṣa-ḥ, regular), and the perfect nēṣ-úr follows sēd-úr yēm-úr, unless it is preferable to derive á-nēṣa-t directly from the perfect stem, and regard it as a pluperfect (§ 854). Skr. laṣa-ti 'desires' probably for la-lṣ-a-ti* (I § 259 p. 212), cp. la-las-a-s 'covetous' Gr. λιλαιόμαι 'I desire' for λi-λασ-ιο-μαι* (§ 733). Skr. á-pa-pt-a-t, √ pet- 'shoot through the air, fly'. Skr. sajjatē 'hangs to something, sticks' for sa-zj-a-* (I § 591 pp. 448 f.), $\sqrt{\text{seg-}}$ (Lith. seg-ù 'I fasten'). Skr. dá-dh-a-ti 'places' dá-d-a-ti 'gives' Avest. da-ḥ-a-iti from $\sqrt{\text{dhē-}}$ and $\sqrt{\text{dō-}}$, see § 540 p. 99, § 561. Skr. ja-h-a-ti 'leaves, gives up'; see § 556 p. 109. Skr. rā-r-a-tē from rā- 'pour', cp. 2nd pl. ra-rī-dhvam (§ 538 p. 98).

With a = Idg. ē in the reduplication (cp. § 560) Skr. jā-gr-a-ti 'wakes' and Avest. 3rd sing. conj. vaurāitē (for vā-ṣr-*) from var- 'choose' (cp. Bartholomae, Bezz. Beitr. XIII 79 f.).

§ 563. Greek. ἔ-πε-φν-ο-ν, ἔ-ειπ-ο-ν, ἔ-σπ-ε-το, see § 561. This type of aorist was fertile in the Homeric dialect, and in the poetic style developed out of it (cp. Curtius, Verb., II² 29 ff.). We may add: ἐ-κέ-κλ-ε-το from κέλ-ο-μαι 'I call, summon, ask', πε-παλ-ών from πάλλω 'I swing, brandish' ($\sqrt{\text{pel-}}$), τε-τάρπ-ε-το from τέρπω 'I satisfy, refresh, please', πε-πίθ-ο-ι-το πε-πιθ-ών from πείθω 'I persuade', πε-πύθ-ο-ι-το from πεύθω 'I learn'. λέ-λαθ-ο-ν from λήθω 'I am hidden'. τε-ταγ-ών 'grasping'.

In the later language we find presents in connexion with these aorists, as πέφνω, κέκλωμαι. ἔζομαι is one of this sort; for ἔ-zd-ο-μαι, from $\sqrt{\text{sed-}}$ 'sit' (§ 556 p. 108), unless the form comes from ἔδ-λο-μαι* = O.H.G. sizzu Class XXVI (§ 721).

§ 564. Italic. Lat. tendō Umbr. ostendu 'ostendito' (I § 499 p. 366) is often derived from te-tñ-ō* ($\sqrt{\text{ten-}}$),¹⁾ to which Gr. τι-ταίνω would be related in the same way as λilαίνομαι to Skr. laṣati (§ 562), cp. Skr. ta-tán-a-t; others analyse ten-dō, and refer it to class XXV (cp. II p. 161 footnote 2, IV § 696); and now R. S. Conway identifies it with Gr. τείνω for ten-īō* (Class. Rev., v 297), as G. Curtius had done before him.

More certain examples may be found among the Latin perfects, as te-tig-i-t, te-tig-i-mus: Gr. τε-ταγ-ών, πε-pul-i-t: Gr. πε-παλ-ών. See § 867.

1) Bartholomae (Stud. idg. Spr. II 95) assumes that te-tñō* by analogy of forms with ten- became tentñō*, and hence tendō.

§ 565. Keltic. In this class we may place the Irish a-conjunctive with future meaning. O.Ir. dobēr 'I will give' 1st pl. do-bēram for bhe-bhr-a-*, √ bher- 'ferre'. fris-gēra 'respondebit' beside pres. 3rd sing. fris-gair. nad-cēl 'quod non celabo' beside pres. celim. Mid.Ir. fo-dēma 'patietur' beside fo-daim 'patitur'. As regards the compensatory lengthening in these forms, see I §§ 523, 526 pp. 380 f. It is true that the Irish sound-laws do not make it certain that e was the original reduplicating-vowel of this conjunctive. It may have been i, and Thurneysen (Kuhn's Zeitschr., xxxi 81) assumes this in view of gignid etc. (§ 544 p. 103). Since in the reduplicated present both e and i have always been used side by side (cp. Skr. ja-ghn-a-nt- and jī-ghn-a-tē § 561 p. 110), it is hardly possible to draw the line.

§ 566. Balto-Slavonic. Lith. de-d-ù 'I lay': Skr. dā-dh-a-ti; Lith. dū'd-u 'I give' O.C.Sl. partic. dad-y 'giving'. See § 546 p. 104.

Class VII.

Complete Reduplication + Root forming the Present Stem.

§ 567. On the form of reduplication used in this and the following thematic Class see §§ 465—467, 470, 474.

§ 568. Roots beginning in a Consonant. Certain examples only in Aryan (Intensive Verbs).

Skr. car-kar-mi imper. car-kṛ-tād, Avest. 1st pl. car'-ker'-mahī from kar- 'think of, remember'. Skr. 3rd sing. mid. sar-sṛ-tē sar-sr-ē from sar- 'flow'. Skr. jān-ghan-ti conj. jān-ghān-a-t

1) The second syllable of the Avestic form shows irregularly the strong grade, unless -dṛ-iē-t* (I § 308 pp. 241 f.) is to be assumed for the ground-form (cp. Skr. dir-yā-t á-dar-dir-ur dar-dir-a-t).

Skr. partic. mid. jō-huv-āna-s from hū- 'call'; — with thematic vowel Skr. jō-hur-a-t. Avest. zao-zao-mī 'I pour out, consecrate'. Sanskrit has also some forms with ī after the reduplication (§ 467 p. 13). barī-bhar-ti 3rd pl. bhāri-bhr-ati from bhar- 'ferre'. Partic. ghāni-ghn-at- beside jān-ghan-ti (p. 112). nāvi-nō-t beside nō-nu-mas (see above). varī-vart-ti beside vār-vart-ti (above). kāni-kranti for kāni-krad-at- from krand- 'roar'.

Skr. āl-ar-ti 'raises itself'.

Gr. ἤν-εγχ-α 'I brought' partic. mid. ἐν-εγχ-άμενο-ς, Idg. en-eñk-*. With ἤνεγχα-σ -ατε etc. compare ἔχενας εἶπας etc. § 504 p. 67. Whether the Skr. 2nd and 3rd sing. anaṣ 3rd dual anaṣ-ṭam conj. 1st pl. anaṣ-ā-mahāi, which belong to the same root, are reduplicated or not, is a question. anaṣ- may be derived from en-ñk-, or from enek- (cp. Gr. δι-ηγχε-ής).

Avest. naē-miž-a-iti 'washes' beside Skr. nē-nēk-ti mid. nē-nik-tē: cp. conj. vōi-vīd-a-itē beside Skr. partic. vē-vīd-ana-s from vid- 'find'.

Armen. ar-ar-i aor. of ar-ne-m 'I make', Gr. ῥο-αο-ο-ν inf. αο-αο-εἶν aor. of αο-αο-ίσκω 'I fit'. Skr. am-am-a-t aor. of am- 'injure' (pres. amī-ti) Gr. ἤγ-αγ-ο-ν ἄγ-αγ-εῖν from ἄγ-ω 'I lead'.¹⁾ 3rd pl. ἄκ-άχ-ο-νρο from ἄκ-αχ-ίζομαι 'I am troubled'. ἄλ-αλκ-ε 'I warded off'. ῥν-εγκ-ο-ν 'I brought'. ἐν-εγκ-εῖν beside ῥν-εγκ-α (§ 569). Compare § 470.

Skr. anin-a-t (prāṇina-t) from an- 'breathe', arjij-a-t from arj- (ṛj-) 'direct, procure', ubbij-a-t from ubj- 'keep down', and other examples, only found in the grammarians. Gr. ἐρῶκακ-ο-ν from ἐρύκ-ω 'I hold back', ἡνίπαπ-ο-ν from ἐνίπ-τω 'I address'. Compare § 474 p.

B. CLASS IX.

ROOT + -ṇ- OR ROOT + -ī-, WITH OR WITHOUT REDUPLICATION, FORMING THE PRESENT STEM.

§ 572. We have here two classes of forms to deal with; examples of which are (1) Skr. vāmi-ti Gr. ἄγα-μαι, and (2) Skr. amī-ti.

The first has a after the root. Whether this a was part of the root, as some scholars too confidently assert, or a true suffix (I § 14 p. 17), is doubtful. In Greek along with α are found both ε and ο. Bartholomae seems to be right in seeing here the Idg. e and o (Bezz. Beitr. xvii 109 ff.).

-ṇ- was never found except before personal endings which began with a consonant; cp. Skr. rōdi-ti pl. rud-anti.

Forms with -ī- are only found in Aryan. This vowel, Idg. i, was certainly a suffix of some kind ('root-determinative'); a general discussion of it has been given above, § 498 pp. 61 f. Used in the same way we find ai in Sanskrit (āj-ai-ṣ), perhaps the same as ei in Gr. ἄγ-ει-ς ἄγ-ει (see p. 61 footnote). But it cannot be made in the least probable that -ī- was ever confined to the plural and dual active and the middle of all three numbers, or -ai- to the singular active, like Skr. kṛ-ṇu-mās etc. as contrasted with kṛ-nō-mi; -ī- is particularly common in the singular active in Sanskrit.

1) On Benfey's Skr. āj-ij-a-t, see Hübschmann, Idg. Vocalsyst., 66; Bartholomae, Bezz. Beitr. xvii 116 f.

The spread of -ī- in Sanskrit was due in great part to a confusion with -i- = -ə-. We have therefore to compare, say, śami-ṣva : śamī-ṣva with Skr. á-dhi-mahi : á-dhī-mahi.

It is not always possible to say whether -ī- was attached to a form in pre-Aryan times, or took the place of i = ə in Aryan itself. Thus -ə- and -ī- may here be comprehended in one class.

§ 573. To forms without Reduplication we cannot point with any confidence except in Aryan and Greek. But Bugge conjectures that some such are contained in the Arm. 2nd aorist mid., e. g. cnay from pres. cnani-m 'pario, gigno, nascor': cna- for genə-* (cp. § 583 p. 125). See Bugge, Indogerm. Forsch., I p. 439.

§ 574. Sanskrit. Forms with -i-. vāmi-mi vāmi-ti (3rd pl. vam-anti, pret. á-vam-i-t), beside Gr. ἐμέω. áni-ti 'breathes' 3rd pl. an-ánti (pret. án-i-t). Imper. stani-hi from stan- 'thunder'. Imper. śami-ṣva from śam- 'take pains'. rōdi-ti 'laments, cries'. 1st pl. rudi-mas 3rd pl. rud-anti imper. rudi-hi (pret. á-rōd-i-t). svápi-ti 'sleeps'. śvasi-ti 'snorts' imper. śvasi-hi instead of śuṣi-hi* cp. mid. śuṣ-ē (pret. á-śvas-i-t). Also śṛ-ṇv-i-ṣé beside śṛ-ṇv-i-ré like ja-jñ-i-ṣé beside ja-jñ-i-ré. On iṣ-i-té beside iṣ-ṭé, see § 853.

-i- in these Verbs is not usually confined to the present stem. Compare śami-ṣva with śami-tá-s á-śami-ṣ-ṭa (Gr. ῥάμω-το-ς), jáni-ṣva with jani-tár- jani-ṣyá-ti (Gr. γενέ-τορ Lat. geni-tor).

To these I add a few forms which both Indian grammarians and European scholars call parts of the iṣ- aorist, to wit: 2nd sing. varti-thās from vart- 'vertere', á-jay-i-t from ji- 'conquer', á-tāri-ma from tar- 'move across, place or pass over', and like forms, along with the 2nd pl. mid in -idhvam instead of -idhvam (§ 839) given by the Indian grammarians, e. g. ábōdhi-dhvam. It is true the popular feeling associated these with the s-aorist, as it did the forms á-dhi-thas á-dhi-ta á-kr-thas á-kr-ta; but neither of the two kinds had any real connexion in form with it (§ 816).¹⁾ Perhaps this apparent connexion was cemented by the original 2nd sing. of the iṣ-aorist, ending in -iṣ* (for -iṣ-ṣ*) which may have been unconsciously analysed into -i-ṣ* (§ 839); cp. ándit following ándiṣ for a-naiṣ-ṣ* (§ 816).

-ī- is commonest in the 2nd and 3rd sing. pret. active (cp. the above examples). am-ī-ti 'injures' (3rd pl. am-ánti) imper. am-ī-ṣva. Imperative: śam-ī-ṣva -dhvam beside śami-ṣva (p. 115). tav-ī-ti 'thrives, is strong'. 3rd dual á-grh-ī-tām 'they seized' mid. 2nd sing. grh-ī-thās grh-ī-ṣva, 3rd sing. á-grabh-ī-t, cp. grbh-ī-tá-s grah-ī-ṣya-ti á-grabh-ī-ṣ-ur. ás-ī-t 'erat'.

The verb bráv-ī-ti 'says' has -ī- only in those persons which elsewhere have -i-, and obviously follows the i-verbs: thus bráv-ī-mi -ī-ṣi -ī-ti, á-brav-ī-ṣ -ī-t, but á-brav-am brā-más bruv-ánti. Compare Avest. mraom i. e. mrav-em = á-brav-am, mid. mruyē i. e. mruv-ē (Bartholomae, Handb. § 92 p. 40) = bruv-é, mrūtē mrū-ta = Skr. brū-tē á-brū-ta and mrao-ṣ mrao-ḥ as contrasted with á-brav-ī-ṣ -ī-t, like Skr. 3rd sing. ás contrasted with ás-ī-t; but Avestic itself has a similar ī-form in vyā-mrvīta (Y. 12. 6.), if Bartholomae rightly takes this as 3rd sing. mid. imperf. (see Kuhn's Zeitschr. xxviii 37, Stud. Idg. Spr. ii 127). By levelling we have Skr. imper. bravi-hi instead of brū-hi, and brū-mi instead of bráv-ī-mi.

From presents in -aya-ti: Skr. ānay-ī-ṣ from āna-ya-ti 'leaves unfulfilled', dhvanay-ī-t from dhvanaya-ti 'envelops', cp. opt. mid. kamay-ī-ta § 951.

This i- and ī-inflection spread widely in Sanskrit because it often served to renew distinctions which had been worn away by phonetic change: ásīṣ ásīt are clear; ás for 2nd and 3rd person both, is not.

On the place which preterite forms in -ī-ṣ -ī-t filled in the s-aorist, see § 839.

1) á-jayi-t: 3rd pl. á-jayiṣ-ata = Gr. ἐ-κέρμα-το (κερμα-9εα): 2nd sing. mid. ἐ-κέρμασ-9η; (κερμασ-το-ε), see § 840.

§ 575. Greek. The ə-flexion holds ground in the middle voice. κρέμα-μαι 'I hang' (cp. fut. κρεμά-ω, κρεμά-θρᾱ 'hanging basket'). ἄγα-μαι 'I revere, honour'; ἀγα- doubtless for ηγᾱ-*, from the root of μέγα; then ἄγα-μαι: a possible μεγα-μι* as Skr. rudi-mas : rōdi-mi. Aor. ἐπριά-μην 'I bought' beside Skr. krī-ñā-ti 'buys' fut. krē-šyá-ti O.Ir. cre-nim 'I buy' conj. 3rd sing. -cria for cri-ā-t*.

The active forms perhaps became thematic in prehistoric times: ἐμέω 'I spew' instead of φεμε-μι*: Skr. vámi-mi, cp. ἔμε-σσα; δαμάω 'I subdue' instead of δαμα-μι*, cp. δάμα-σσα παν-δαμά-τωρ; ἐλάω 'I drive' instead of ἐλα-μι*, cp. ἐλα-σσα ἐλα-τήρ; ἀρόω 'I plough' instead of ἀρο-μι*, cp. ἀρ-ηρο-μένο-ς ἥρο-σα ἄρο-τρο-ν. On -ε- and -ο- beside -α- see § 572 p. 114. But the σσ-aorist makes it possible to regard these forms as originally ending in -εσ-ω -ασ-ω -οσ-ω, and answering to Skr. tarás-a-ti arcas-ē. See §§ 661, 842.

Remark. Many other forms seem to be of this group, but their explanation is obscure. See, for example, § 550 p. 106 for ὄνο-σαι ὄνο-νται, Osthoff Perf. 371, 409 for πίτα-μαι, the Author in Kuhn's Zeitschr. XXIII 587 ff. for ἔρα-μαι. On ἔ-χεα-ς ἔ-χία-μεν and the like, which some scholars place in this category, see § 504 p. 67.

§ 576. In Latin, Germanic and Balto-Slavonic -ə- and Idg. -o- (in Latin, Idg. -e- as well) must necessarily run together into the same sound. Thus it is always possible that verbs which in these languages belong to Class II originally had -ə- and belonged properly to the ninth class. Lat. vomi-t vomī-mus cp. Skr. vámi-ti. Goth. -anan 'breathe, blow' cp. Skr. áni-ti (1st pl. -ana-m like ani-mas), O.H.G. riozan 'cry, weep' cp. Skr. rōdi-ti, A.S. svefan O.Icel. sofa 'sleep' cp. Skr. svápi-ti. Lith. 3rd sing. raūda 'cries, weeps' Lett. rāud, beside O.H.G. riozan and Skr. rōdi-ti. Certainty is very far from possible here; indeed, even in Sanskrit these roots can be inflected like Class II: vam-a-ti, án-a-ti an-ā-ti, rōd-a-ti rud-a-ti, sváp-a-ti.

§ 577. Forms with Reduplication only found in Sanskrit; all have -i-.

-ī- in the 2nd and 3rd sing. of some preterites which are usually called pluperfect: as á-ja-grabhī-t (1st sing. á-ja-grabh-am) from grabh- 'seize', á-bu-bhōjī-ṣ from bhuj- 'bend'.

Intensive: rā-padī-ti from rad- 'speak', pā-patī-ti from pat- 'fly'. Compare § 560 pp. 109 f. Intensive: dar-darī-ti from dar- 'split' beside dār-dar-ṣi, tar-tarī-ti (and with irreg. strong stem, 2nd dual tartarī-thas) from tar- 'step over', nan-namī-ti from nam- to 'bow, bend oneself', rā-ravī-ti from ru- 'roar, cry', jō-havī-ti from hū- 'call'. Compare § 568 p. 113. The root syllable is never followed by -ī- when the reduplication ends in ī: cp. § 467 p. 13.

C. CLASSES X AND XI.

ROOT + -ā-, -ē-, OR -ō- FORMING THE PRESENT STEM.

§ 578. We have here to examine forms such as Gr. ἔ-δῶ-α-ν, ἔ-βλ-η-ν, ἔ-σβ-η-ν, ἔ-γιν-ω-ν. These vowels¹⁾ -ā-, -ē-, and -ō- never had any gradation, and the long vowel always runs right through all numbers of active and middle in the Indicative. But some modifications have arisen by a certain law affecting the European languages, by which long vowels were shortened before n or i + consonant; as Gr. 3rd pl. ἔ-γινον for ἔγινω-ν(τ)*, opt. 1st pl. γνοῖμεν for γινωκ-μεν* (I §§ 611, 612, 614, 615 pp. 461 ff.).

Originally the root had always its weak grade. In the aorists here cited it has ceased to be a syllable. But a syllable it still is in some forms, as bhuyā-*: Lat. (conj.) fua-s Lith. būvo (beside bhuyā-* in Lat. -ba-s); ijē-*: Skr. iyā-t, cp. perhaps Goth. iddja, whose i- may also be an augment (e-) (beside ijē-* in Skr. yā-ti); myñē-*: Gr. ἰ-μάνη Lith. miné; liqē-*: Gr. ἑ-λίπη Lat. lice-t; Gr. ἑ-βάλ-η (beside ἑ-βλ-η).

These suffixes had properly nothing to do with either aorist or present meaning. This is clear because they never have been confined to one particular stem. We find them in the Perfect, as Skr. pa-prāú Gr. πέ-πλη-νται; in the Aorist, as Skr. 3rd sing. á-prā-s Gr. ἔ-πλη-σ-α; in the Participle, as Skr. prā-tá-s Lat. im-plētu-s; and in the Present, Skr. 2nd sing. prā-si Lat. im-plē-s from stem pl-ē-* 'fill' $\checkmark$ pel-. Often it is just in the present stem that the stems formed with these suffixes do not occur; for instance, we have Skr. fut. hv-ā-sya-tē O.C.Sl. aor. zŭv-a-chŭ Skr. hv-ā-tar- O.C.Sl. zŭv-a-telŭ 'caller', but pres. Skr. hāv-a-tē O.C.Sl. zov-e-tŭ 'calls'; Skr. jñ-ā-tí-ś 'near kinsman' Gr. κασί-γνητο-ς γν-ω-τό-ς 'kinsman, brother' Goth. knōþs (Stem kn-ō-di-) 'stock, tribe' from $\checkmark$ ġen- 'gignere'; Gr. ἐν-σπῆ-σω 'I will say' O.Icel. skald 'poet' for pr. Germ. skē-đlā-* (Lidén, P.-B. Beitr. xv 507) from $\checkmark$ seq- 'say' pres. ἐν-έπω.

1) The newest theory on "Root-Forms in ā-" may be seen by referring to Kretschmer, Kuhn's Ztschr. xxxi 403 ff.

These forms with -ā- in Italic, Keltic, and Slavonic are also used for the Conjunctive. Besides Lat. fuā-s given above we may cite tulā-s (cp. Gr. Dor. ἔ-τλā-ς). It is no more strange to find these suffixes in two moods than to find -e- and -o- in both indicative and conjunctive.

So with the -ē- which meets us in Italic future and conjunctive series, as Lat. fut. so-lv-ē-s conj. ī-r-ē-s Osc. sakraíte fusíd (§ 926), must be identified with -ē- in ἔ-βλ-η-ν ἰ-μάν-η-ν; compare Lat. ed-e-t with Lith. pret. ėd-ė, Osc. fu-i-d 'sit' (i = ē) with Gr. pret. ἐ-φύ-η.

Greek, in the mood answering to the Latin a-conjunctive, has a variation, sometimes -η- and sometimes -ω-; as λίπη-τε λίπω-μεν. Perhaps there were originally two sets of conjunctive forms, one with -ē- and one with -ō-; and from these a mixed paradigm was made, -ē- or -ō- being taken according as the corresponding indicative form had -e- or -o-. If so, the conjunctive λίπη-τε must be really the same as the aorist passive (έ) λίπη-τε, Lat. fuā-s the same as -bās, tulā-s the same as Gr. (έ-) τλā-ς. There was a closer connexion between -ē- and -ō- than either of them had with -ā-, as is proved by such forms as ġi-ē-* Gr. ζῆ: ġi-ō-* ζώ-ω, bhs-ē-* Gr. βῆ: bhs-ō-* ψιω-ρό-ς (other examples in § 587).

It would probably be much easier to thread our way through this labyrinth if we knew which of the three sounds is represented by the -ā- of Aryan conjunctives. In the indicative forms, non-Aryan languages often give the clue; thus we derive Skr. prā-si from plē-si* because Greek has πλῆ-ρο and Latin -plē-s, but drā-ti we derive from dr-ā-ti* because of Greek ἔ-δρᾱ-ν.

Such of these forms which serve for the Conjunctive will be left for examination together when we come to the Conjunctive, §§ 918 ff. (cp. § 489 pp. 47 f.).

As has already been mentioned (§ 487 p. 41), I believe that this -ā- suffix is the same as the feminine suffix -ā-; compare Skr. perf. ji-jyāu jyā-sya-ti Gr. Ion. βε-βίη-ται βιή-σατο with the fem. Skr. jyā-, jiyā-, Gr. βιᾶ, from √gei- 'subdue, force' (Skr. jāy-a-ti ji-nā-ti). This is no bolder than to suppose that indic. ἄγ-ο-μεν and conj. εἰδ-ο-μεν contain the same -o- as ἄγ-ό-ς. And some verbal stems with -ē- are actually used as nouns, as Gr. χρ-ή 'necessity' beside κέ-χρη-μαι χρ-ῆ-σθαι; Hom. όμο-κλ-ή, 'loud cry or call' beside Cret. partic. ἀνα-κλή-μενο-ς; Lat. qui-ē-s abl. quiē beside perf. quiē-vī; Skr. ps-ā- 'food' beside ps-ā-ti cp. ψῆ for ψη-ιει*. The same -ē- nouns are seen in Lat. plē-bam, licē-bat, arē-bat, are faciō, O.C.Sl. bē-achŭ žirē-achŭ and the like (§ 896 Rem., §§ 899, 903).

Verbs made with these suffixes are often extended by -iō-; as beside Skr. sn-ā-ti 'washes, bathes' Lat. nā-s nā-mus we have Skr. snā-ya-tē Lat. nō for nā-(i)ō* O.Ir. 3rd sing. snāid; and it is impossible to draw a distinct line between the older inflexion and that with -iō-. Thus we must make frequent comparisons with the iō- conjugation of Class XXVIII.

In one other respect it is difficult, if not impossible, to draw a hard and fast line. The class of verbs to which grammarians mostly restrict the term Denominative are often inseparable from this tenth class and its iō- extension; as Lat. plantō (for plantā-(i)ō plantā-s* etc. from plantā- 'plant' like nōnās etc., Gr. Lesb. ἑ-τίμᾱ-μεν ἑ-τίμᾱ-τε from τίμᾱ- 'honour' like ἔ-δρᾱ-μεν ἔ-δρᾱ-τε, Armen. jana-m jana-mk̄ like mna-m mna-mk̄. That these denominatives had originally only -iō- (or -ie) in all persons cannot be proven (cp. § 487 p. 42); and in view of the great number of forms like Lat. plantā-s plantā-mus without -ie- in the Idg. languages, it is very improbable.

Class X.

Unreduplicated Root + -a- -ē- or -ō- forming the Present Stem.

§ 579. Root + -a-.

Pr. Idg. dr-a-ti* 'runs' (cp. Skr. dr-āva-ti dr-ama-ti etc., § 488 p. 47): Skr. drā-ti imper. drā-hi, Gr. ἔ-δρᾶ-ν ἔ-δρᾶ-μεν. tr-a-ti* (cp. Skr. tar- 'press through, pass over'): Skr. trā-ti 'rescues, saves' (orig. 'lets go through, or gets happily out of') mid. trā-sva trā-dhvam (trā-ya-tē), Lat. in-trā-s -trā-mus (1st sig. -trō for -trā-īō*) and trāns Umbr. traf trahaf 'trans' (orig. nom. sing. of the participle, see Thielmann, Arch. Lat. Lex. iv 248 ff., 358 ff.)¹⁾ sn-a-ti* 'washes, bathes' intr. (cp. Skr. sn-āu-ti 'trickles' partic. sn-u-ta-s, Gr. ν-έω fut. ν-εΐ-σομαι): Skr. snā-ti 3rd dual snā-tas (snā-ya-tē), Lat. nā-s nā-mus (1st sing. nō), cp. Gr. νάω 'I flow' νᾶ-μα. bhū-a- bhuy-a- from √bhū- 'become, be': Lat. -bā-s -bā-mus, O.Ir. 3rd sing. bā ba (conj. and fut.), Lith. būvo 'was' būvo-me; variant bhū-ē- bhuy-ē-, see § 587. sruy-a-* from srey- 'flow': Gr. Epidaur. ἰρρύᾳ 'flowed', Lith. pa-srūvo 'flowed'; variant sruy-ē-* Gr. ἰρρύῃ § 589. g-a-t e-g-a-t 'went' (cp. g-em-*, § 497 Rem. p. 57): Skr. á-gā-t á-gā-ma, Gr. ἔ-βη ἔ-βη-μεν. Sometimes verbs which originally belonged to Class I, and had gradation, were absorbed into this class and lost it: see § 495 p. 55.

Examples of similar conjugation in later denominative verbs from a-stems: 1st pl. Armen. jana-mē, Gr. Aeol. τῖμᾱ-μεν, Lat. plantā-mus, O.Ir. no chara-m, Lith. jǎsto-me.

It is naturally often doubtful whether an a-verb belongs to the Primitive or the Denominative class, to use the terms

1) intrāre extrāre were clearly regarded by the Romans as derived from intrā extrā. But trāns makes it quite as probable that they are compounds of trāre*. F. D. Allen, Am. Journ. Phil. i 143 ff., does not convince me.

in their received sense. For example, Lat. forō forās, O.H.G. borōm borōs 'I bore', common ground-form bhr̥-a-*, beside O.H.G. bora f. 'borer' (cp. § 769).

§ 580. Aryan. Besides those mentioned in § 579, there are few Aryan verbs which can fairly be supposed to have original -ā-, to judge from the cognate languages. Skr. śr-ā-ti (gramm.) beside śrā-ya-ti 'cooks, roasts' from √ker- (Gr. κράσσαι, Skr. śṛ-tá-s); cp. Gr. -κί-κρᾶ-μι 'I mix' Class XI, perf. κί-κρᾶ-ται, ᾶ-κρᾶτο-ς 'unmixt' (= Skr. śrā-tá-s). Skr. ml-ā-ti 'softens, slackens, decays' 3rd pl. ml-ā-nti (beside mlā-ya-ti) from √mel- 'molere', cp. Gr. Dor. βλά-ξ βλη-χρό-ς 'slack, flabby' (O.Ir. mlāith blāith 'soft, tender' perhaps with l̥, I § 306 p. 243). Skr. opt. mndā-yā-t 'commemoret' 3rd pl. mndā-y-ur from √men- 'think', cp. Gr. Dor. perf. μέ-μνᾶ-ται. Skr. dhy-ā-ti beside dhyā-ya-ti 'thinks of' (perf. da-dhyāu) beside á-dā-dhē-t § 537 p. 97, cp. Gr. σᾶ-μα σῆ-μα = Skr. dhy-ā-man- II § 117 p. 370.¹⁾

We subjoin a few more of the forms with -ā- whose suffix may be either Idg. -ā- or Idg. -ē- or -ō-: ghr-ā-ti 'smells' (perf. ja-ghrāu partic. ghrā-tá-s) beside jī-ghar-ti Class III (§ 540 p. 100); dr-ā-ti 'sleeps' (da-drāu drā-ṇa-s) beside Gr. δορ-δάνω Lat. dor-miō (cp. the Author, M. U., I 43); dhm-ā-nt- 'blowing' (da-dhmāu dhma-tá-s) beside dhām-a-ti Class II A; khy-ā-ti 'looks, seems, makes known' (ca-khyāu khyā-tá-s beside á-khy-a-t Class II B (see footnote).

Remark. Denominatives from *ā-*stems of the later stratum in Aryan form the present in -ā-ya-ti, not -ā-ti, see § 766. Forms like mālā-ti 'he is like a wreath' (mālā-) are an artificial product of a late period.

§ 581. Armenian. mna-m 'I remain, await' 1st pl. mna-mē (aor. mna-çi), from the root of Gr. μέν-ω 'I remain', and probably connected directly with Skr. mn-ā- Gr. μν-ā- (§ 580). kea-m 'I live' ground-form gi̯-ā-mi* (Bartholomae, Stud. Idg. Spr., II 134) or gi̯h₂-ā-mi* (cp. Skr. jīvā-tu-ḡ 'life', beside Skr. jīva-ti 'lives' Lat. vīvō, which was derived from

1) Fick, Wtb. I⁴ 32, connects σᾶμα with Skr. khyā-ti, for which see below.

✓ gei- by the suffix -μο-, but was regarded very early as a verb of Class II; cp. § 488 p. 47). orca-m 'I break wind, belch' for oruc-a-m*, cp. O.C.Sl. ryga-ja 'ructo'.

Denominatives with -ā- of the newer stratum are inflected just as these are; as jana-m 'I take pains, strive' 1st pl. jana-mē (jan 'pains, excitement, diligence'), olba-m 'I bewail' 1st pl. olba-mē (olb 'lament'). xroxta-m 'I am haughty, defiant' 1st pl. xroxta-mē (xroxt 'haughty, defiant').

§ 582. Greek. ἔδρα-ν 'I ran' 1st pl. ἔ-δρα-μεν 3rd pl. ἔ-δρα-ν: Skr. drā-ti, see § 579 p. 121. ἔ-τλη-ν Dor. ἔ-τλᾱ-ν 'I endured' 1st pl. ἔ-τλη-μεν 3rd pl. ἔ-τλᾱ-ν, imper. τλη-θι, from ✓ tel- (τολ-μή, τελάσσαι). Hom. πλη-το 'drew near' (cp. Dor. ᾱ-πλᾱ-το-ς πλᾱ-τίο-ν), beside πελάζω 'I bring near'. ἔ-βη-ν Dor. ἔ-βᾱ-ν 'I went': Skr. á-gā-t, see § 579 p. 121. Att. ἔ-γήρα-ν 'I grew old' inf. γηρᾶναι from pres. γηράσκω. Epidaur. ἔ-ερονᾶ: Lith. pa-srūvo 'I flowed'. Hesych. ἐφθιά: ἀπέθανεν (cod. ἐφθιά). Other forms of the same kind collected by Fick in the Gött. Gel. Anz. for 1881, pp. 1430 ff., and Bartholomae, Stud. Idg. Spr., II 128 f.

Denominatives with -ā- belonging to the newer stratum were conjugated in this Class in the Aeolic dialect; e. g. pl. τίμα-μεν τίμα-τε (but att. τιμῶμεν τιμᾶτε). The 1st sing. in -ωμι is a re-formation in place of -ᾱ-μι, and -οιμι instead of -ω-μι. Cp. §§ 589, 775.

Forms passing from Class I to Class X: ἔ-στη-μεν instead of ἔ-στᾱ-μεν*, ἔ-φθη-μεν instead of ἔ-φθᾱ-μεν* (but the middle keeps φθᾶ, as φθᾶ-μενο-ς). See § 495 p. 55.

Remark. Hom. πλήντο instead of πλᾶντο* following πλήμην etc., so ἄνηται ἔμπληντο instead of ἄνενται* -πλεντο*. Similarly opt. ἔμ-πλήντο and μεμνήμην κεκλήμην, see § 944. But some are regular, aor. ἄεισι ἄεντες; δράντες; (on ἔδρα-ν ἔγνω see § 1020. 2). Compare I § 611 Rem. p. 462.

§ 583. Italic. The 1st sing. pres. in -ā-mi* is lost; in its place Latin had always -ā-iō*, which became -ō. Lat. trāns Umbr. traf trahaf, Lat. in-trā-s -trā-mus: Skr. trā-ti; Lat. 1st sing. in-trō beside Skr. trā-ya-tē, see § 579 p. 121. Lat.

fl-ā-s fl-ā-mus, cp. O.H.G. blāu 'I blow' for bhl-ē-ið* and Gr. γλ-ύω 'I abound'. Lat. n-ā-s n-ā-mus: Skr. sn-ā-ti 'washes, bathes', see § 579 p. 121. Ital. fā-* for fū-ā-* from $\sqrt{bhey-}$ 'become, be', pret. fā-m*: Lat. amā-bā-s -bā-mus, Osc. fu-fans 'erant' (§ 899), cp. Lat. conj. fu-ā-s: O.Ir. bā ba etc. (§ 579 p. 121). Lat. hi-ā-s hi-ā-mus, 1st sing. hiō = Lith. žió-ju 'open the mouth', cp. Lat. hī-scō, O.H.G. gi-nō-m gei-nō-m 'I gape'. Lat. inquam for en-sq-ā-m* injunctive, $\sqrt{seq-}$ 'say', cp. in-qui-t in-qui-nt (Class XXVI § 717) Gr. ἐν-σπ-ε (Class II B) ἐν-σπ-ή-σω.

d-ā- from $\sqrt{dō-}$ 'give' is found not only as a conjunctive (Lat. ad-dā-s, Osc. da-dad 'reddat'), but as indicative too, Lat. dās dat. The last two are doubtless injunctive forms (dat instead of dā-d*), and d-ā-s: ad-dā-s = -bā-s: fuā-s, tulā-s: Gr. ἐ-τλ-α-ς.

era-m erā-s is to es-t what ea-m (used for conj.) is to i-t. The use of the injunctive fū-ā-* = Lat. -ba-m for the imperfect certainly had something to do with the use of the injunctive erā- as imperfect. Some scholars (the latest is Bartholomae, Stud. Idg. Spr. II 187 f.) connect eram with Ion. ἐῆν ἔησθα; ἦῆν would be the augmented form; for another possible explanation see § 858. 2.

Other Verbs belonging to this class are: Lat. juvā-s (partic. -jūtū-s perf. jūvī) for d̥jugu-ā-s*: Lith. džiūgo-s 'he broke out into rejoicing' (pres. 1st sing. džiungū-s); lav-ā-s (beside lav-i-s), cp. perf. lāvī; dom-ā-s cub-ā-s mic-ā-s ē-legāns (beside ē-ligere) sec-ā-s (Umbr. pru-sekatu 'prosecato') and others, cp. perf. domuī cubuī micuī secuī. Doubtless we should also place here certain stems which have -ā- all through the verb, as arā-s perf. arāvī partic. arātu-s, cp. Gr. ἀράω 'I plough' (Hom. 3rd pl. ἀρόωσι Heracl. ἀράσσοντι, Sütterlin, Zur Gesch. der Verba denom. im Altgr., I 22), O.C.Sl. orā- 'to plough' in the aor. ora-chŭ partic. pret. act. ora-vŭ inf. ora-ti.

In Latin, there are a number of verbs which have the a-flexion when compounded, but some other when not. Examples: oc-cupāre: capiō, suspiciārī: speciō, prōstīgare: stīgō, com-

-pellāre : pellō, aspernārī : spernō. This difference had probably something to do with a difference of meaning; the compound as contrasted with the simple verb often had a perfect (aorist) meaning. The ā-formation gave an aoristic meaning, and occupāre stands to capiō, much in the same relation as Gr. μανῆναι to μαίνομαι, prōflīgāre to flīgō as λιπῆναι to λείπομαι. The indic. pres. occupa-t is then an aorist formation, like lic-et (Gr. ἐλίπη) beside linquō (§§ 590, 708), conj. ad-venās ē-venās (beside Osc. kúm-bēned 'convenit') beside veniō, tag-i-t beside tangi-t, and the like. This ā-aorist seems to be as old as the ē-aorist: cp. Gr. Epidaur. ἔρρῶ 'he flowed', Lith. pa-srūvo 'he flowed' kīlo 'he raised himself'; perhaps to this class belongs the Armenian a-aorist, as cn-a-y 'genui, natus sum' (Bartholomae, Stud. Idg. Spr., II 130, cp. § 573). Compare further § 708 Rem.

In the whole range of Italic dialects, the later group of denominatives with -ā- went hand in hand with the present flexion of this tenth Class. Lat. plantā-s -ā-mus 1st sing. plantō like in-trā-s etc. Umbr. furfant 'februant' imper. portatu 'portato', Osc. faamat 'habitat' sakarater 'sacrat' imper. deivatud 'iurato'. Compare §§ 738, 777.

§ 584. Keltic. Irish has only one monosyllabic present stem of the same kind as Idg. tr-ā-, to wit, bhū-ā-*. This stem is certainly attested in conjunctive and future use (cp. Lat. fu-a-m), as 3rd sing. bā ba = bhū-ā-t*. Whether it acted also as the preterite copula (cp. Lat. -bam), is doubtful, because its 3rd person singular appears after particles as -bu -bo (e. g. robu robo), which looks like original bhū-t* (Gr. ἔ-φῑ). Most likely the 1st and 3rd sing. ba and 3rd pl. batir, which still have those forms even in Old Irish, should be derived from a preterite bhū-ā-*.

Then there are a few dissyllabic present stems, as O.Ir. scarā- 'sunder, part from' for skyr-ā-* (I § 298. 3 p. 237), scar'im scar'i scar'id scarmme scarthe scar'it for scarā-mi -ā-si* etc., also no scaru for scarā-īō* like Lat. juvō. And again, the same inflexion is used with the later group of denominative verbs, as com-alnaim 'I fill up' (§ 778). Even more clearly than in Irish we see this ā-flexion in the British dialects; 3rd sing. O.Brit. -ot (with o = ā), e. g. O.Bret. cospitiot 'titubat' crihot 'vibrat'.

Remark. Remarkable forms of the verb -tau -tō 'I am' (= Idg. stā-īō*, Class XXVI § 706) are the 3rd sing. at-tā and the plural -tam -tad -tat, which may correspond to Lat. sta-t and stā-mus stā-tis sta-nt. That at-tā comes from stā(ī)e-t* can hardly be proved, and the unaccented -tam -tad -tat need not be shortened by-forms of accented at-tuam, ataīd ataiith, at-taat, which may be secondary re-formates. Still I do not believe that we need assume, parallel to stā-, an original stem st-ā, i. e. an extension of the root by the ā-suffix of this tenth class; but I think that in Italic as in Keltic there was a tendency for verbs to pass from Class XXVI into this, caused by parallel present stems like tr-ā- and tr-ā-īo-. Compare § 505 pp. 71 f., §§ 706, 716, 719.

§ 585. Germanic. No monosyllabic stems of the first stratum, without -īo-, are found at all; unless indeed it be represented by O.H.G. tuo-m from √dhē- (see § 507 p. 74). But the said inflexion has many representatives amongst disyllabic stems (mostly denominatives of the later stratum), cp. Goth. mitō-s 'thou measurest' salbō-s 'thou anointest', mitō-þ salbō-þ, -ō-m -ō-þ, -ō-nd, O.H.G. borō-m -ō-s and so forth (cp. §§ 739, 781).

§ 586. Balto-Slavonic. Monosyllabic stems are declined in Class XXVIII; as Lith. ži-ō-ju 'hio' žió-ji -j(a) -ja-me -ja-te, O.C.Sl. tr-a-ja 'I last, endure' tra-je-ši -je-tū -je-mū -je-te -jatū (cp. § 740). But imperatives like Lith. žió-k = Lat. hiā (§ 957) should be classed here.

Dissyllabic stems without -īo- spread very widely in Baltic. To this class belong a very numerous group of preterites in -au, as Lith. buvaū 'I was' buvaī buvo buvo-me buvo-te: Lat. -b-a-s; pa-srūvo 'flowed': Gr. Epidaur. ἔρρι'α (§ 582 p. 123); džiug-au-s 'I broke out into rejoicing': Lat. juv-ā-s (§ 583 p. 124); gij-au 'I revived' (cp. Avest. jyāiti-s 'life' Gr. ζῆ 'lives' for gi-ē-īe-*, from √gei-); kiļ-au 'I raised myself', vilk-au 'I dragged', snig-o 'it snowed'. With augment ej-au 'I went'

(§ 480 p. 28): Lat. eā- for -eġ-ā-* as conjunctive. Also presents; as bij-aũ-s 'I fear', lind-au 'I am stowed away somewhere'.

These forms had originally secondary personal endings, -ā-m -ā-s -ā-t etc., like Lat. -bam bās. But the 1st and 2nd sing. were transformed, the ending of suk-ū suk-i being added to -ā-. See on this point § 991. 1.

In verbs like bij-aũ-s lind-au, -ā- was carried through the whole verb (fut. bijó-siũ-s lindo-siu etc.). Thus they were related to the ā-preterite (buv-aũ beside fut. bú-siu, džiug-aũ-s beside fut. džiūk-siũ-s), as Lat. ar-ā- to juv-ā- (§ 583 pp. 124 f.).

O.C.Sl. has only one present of this sort, im-a-mŕ 'I have' im-a-ši -a-tŭ -a-mŭ -a-te; parallel stem im-ě- in partic. pret. act. imě-vŭ etc., cp. Lith. pret. 3rd sing. ėm-ė.

Amongst the later Lithuanian denominatives those in -au with inf. -yti, as jũstau 'I gird' (jũstyti) from jũsta 'girdle', see § 782. 4. Another group of later denominatives from stems in -ā- has -o-ju -o-ti; e. g. dovanó-ju 'I present', inf. dovanó-ti, from dovanà, see §§ 769, 783.

§ 587. Root + -ē- or -ō-.

Pr. Idg. gl-ē-ti* from $\sqrt{\text{gel-}}$ 'fall' (cp. Gr. βέλ-ος 'missile' βολ-ή 'throw'): Skr. gl-ā-ti 'falls off, loses strength' (glā-ya-ti), Gr. ἐ-βλη-ν 'I received a blow, I was struck', 1st pl. ἐ-βλη-μεν mid. ἐ-βλη-το, opt. βλείην βλεῖμεν. pl-ē- pl-ō- from $\sqrt{\text{pel-}}$ 'fill' (Goth. fil-u 'much' etc.): Skr. 2nd sing. hortative prā-si aor. á-prā-t, Gr. πλη-το πλη-ντο (§ 582 Rem. p. 123), Lat. im-plē-s -plē-mus -plē-tur (1st sing. plēō for plē-īō*); parallel stem pŕl-ē-* in Lith. pŕlė 'he shed' instead of pilė* (§ 593); pl-ō-* in Lat. plōrāre Goth. flō-du-s 'flood', and doubtless in Gr. ἐπ-έπλων 'I sailed over' pres. πλώ-ω partic. πλω-τό-ς. (s)n-ē- (s)n-ō- 'weave, spin, sew' ((s)n-eġ- in O.C.Sl. nĭ-tŕ 'thread'? cp. Per Persson, Stud. Lehr. Wurzelerw., 64): Gr. 3rd sing. ἔ-ννη Herodian II 507 22 L. (νέω from snē-īō*), Lat. nē-s nē-mus (cp. O.H.G. nāu 'I sew' for (s)nē-īō*); sn-ō-* in O.Ir. snā-the 'thread' O.H.G. snuo-r 'cord, band'; Skr. snā-van- Avest. snā-varē

'band, sinew' may be derived from sn-ē-* on the strength of Gr. νεῖρο-ν 'sinew' (for (σ)νη-φ-ρο-ν*). ġn-ē-* ġn-ō-* 'learn, know' from √ġen- (Avest. ā-zainti-š 'information' Lith. pa-zinti-s 'knowing, knowledge', Skr. 2nd sing. imper. jñ-a Class II B): Skr. opt. jñā-yā-t and jñēyā-t (§ 940), Gr. ἐ-γνώ-ν ἐ-γνώ-μεν opt. γνοῖ-μεν, cp. O.H.G. knāu for ġnē-iō*, O.C.Sl. znajetŭ for ġnō-je-¹⁾* myn-ē-* from √men- 'think' (Gr. μῆν-ος 'mind' etc.): Gr. ἐ-μάνη ἐ-μάνη-μεν, Lith. mîn-ė mîn-ė-me, cp. Goth. 3rd sing. munáip for mun-ē-īi-āi* (§§ 708, 739); also mn-ā-* § 580 p. 122. i-ē-* i-ō-* 'go' from √ei- 'go' (Gr. ἔ-μι): Skr. yā-ti yā-más mid. yā-mahē, Goth. 2nd sing. iddjē-s (§ 478 p. 26), cp. Goth. j-ē-r 'year' and Gr. ὥ-ρο-ς 'year' ὥ-ρᾱ 'season' O.C.Sl. ja-rŭ 'spring'; Lith. jó-ju 'I ride' and Lat. jā-nu-s jānuā doubtless from i-ā-*, from the same √ei- (cp. Lat. conj. e-ā-s). bhū-ē-* bhuy-ē-* from √bhey- 'become, be' (Skr. bhāv-a-ti): Gr. ἐ-φύη ἐ-φύη-μεν, O.C.Sl. 2nd and 3rd sing. imperf. bě for bhūē-s-t* (beside běchŭ běchomŭ etc. like želěchŭ etc. beside želě, dělachŭ etc. beside děla and the like), the same stem in Lat. fē-tu-s; bhū-ō-* perhaps in Gr. φω-λεό-ς O.Icel. bō-l 'resting-place, position'; cp. bhū-ā-* bhuy-ā-* § 579 p. 121. u-ē-* u-ō-* 'to blow' (cp. the Author, M. U. I 27 ff., Per Persson, op. cit., 91, 225): Skr. vā-ti pl. vā-nti (vā-ya-ti), Gr. ἄη-σι mid. ἄη-ται, Lat. ventu-s Goth. vind-s 'wind' for uē-nt-o-* like Gr. ἄ-εντ- for āfē-nt-* (I § 612 p. 462, § 614 p. 464), cp. Goth. vaia for uē-iō* O.C.Sl. vě-je-tŭ; uō-* in Gr. ἄω-ρο-ς 'down, piece of wool' (Goth. perf. vai-vō is doubtless a re-formate following saī-sō from √sē-sō-, see §§ 883, 884). bhs-ē-* bhs-ō-* (cp. I § 552 p. 403) 'pound small, chew, grind up' beside Skr. bā-bhas-ti Class V (§ 556 p. 108): Skr. psā-ti, cp. Gr. ψῆ for ψη-χαι*; bhs-ō-* in Gr. ψά-ω ψά-ζω 'I grind or rub to powder' ψω-ρό-ς 'scabby'. liq-ē-* from √leiq- 'leave' (Gr. λείπ-ω etc.): Gr.

1) It is true that O.H.G. knāu is not an unexceptionable example for ġn-ē-. It might be assumed that this present was formed in connexion with a perfect Goth. kai-knō and on the analogy of sē-iō* (Goth. saia O.H.G. sāu): saī-sō from √sē- (sō-).

ἰ-λῖπ-η-ν -η-μεν, Lat. lic-e-t.¹⁾ Lat. tac-ē-s -ē-mus, O.H.G. dag-ē-s 'thou art silent'. Lat. scat-ē-s -ē-mus, Lith. su-skat-ē 'he leapt up'.

With dissyllabic stems in -ē-, in which the root remained a separate syllable, the ē-suffix does not appear in so many different parts of the verb as with monosyllabic stems. In a number of verbs, especially intransitive verbs, of the European languages, a firm connexion sprang up between present formations with the suffix -iō- and forms with -ē-, as Gr. μαίνομαι ἰμάνην = O.C.Sl. mīnjā mīnē-ti. See § 708.

§ 588. Aryan. Almost all the Sanskrit forms which can with any kind of certainty be placed in this class have been mentioned in § 587. Beside yā-ti we have Avest. yāiti; beside vā-ti, Avest. vāiti 3rd pl. vā-nti.

In this class was conjugated Ar. pā- 'protect', whose -ā-, in view of Gr. πῶν 'herd' (II § 104 p. 315, § 105 Rem. p. 318) seems to look like Idg. -ō-: 2nd sing. Skr. pā-si, Avest. pā-hi, imper. 3rd sing. Skr. pā-tu Avest. pā-tū O.Pers. pā-tūv 2nd sing. Skr. pā-hi O.Pers. pā-dīy 2nd pl. Skr. pā-tā Avest. pā-ta, opt. Avest. pā-yā-ḥ. On πῶν ποι-μήν, compare now Per Persson, in the work so often cited, 118.

§ 589. Greek. Of monosyllabic stems may be further mentioned (cp. § 587): φρ-η- 'bring' from ✓bher- (φέρ-ω): ἐκ-φρ-η-ται 'is let out' partic. ἐπ-εισ-φρεῖς infin. εἰσ-φρῆναι (forms like imper. φρεῖς come by analogy of ἴημι and the like, see the Author, Fleckeisen's Jahrb. 1880, 217 ff.). χρ-η- 'wish, desire' beside Skr. hār-ya-ti 'desires': 2nd sing. χρῆ-σθα, cp. χρῆ for χρη-μει* (Mekler, Beitr. zur Bildung des gr. Verb., pp. 23 f.). κλ-η- 'call' beside καλέω: Cret. part. ἀν-κλή-μενο-ς beside ἀνα-καλέω (Th. Baunack, Philologus XLIX 593 f.), cp. όμο-κλή

1) Bersu (Die Gutturalen, p. 154) denies that licet and linquō are connected, because licet has c, and qu would be expected. I conjecture that there was once a form liciō* (Skr. ric-ya-tē Gr. λίσσωμεν § 707), which came regularly from licy-iō* (as farcīō comes from farcy-iō* § 715). Hence licet. Compare § 708.

(Hom. ὁμοκλέομεν). σβ-η- 'quench' beside σβ-εσ- (§ 643) √seg-: ἔ-σβ-η-ν ἔ-σβ-η-μεν. We must also mention in this place, although it is true they are not all old formations, some forms of the 2nd sing. aor. in -θης = Skr. -thās (see below), as ἐ-βλή-θης beside ἔ-βλη-το, ἐ-νή-θης beside ἔ-ννη, see § 587 p. 127; ἐ-ροή-θης beside Fr-η- 'speak' ῥη-τό-ν = Avest. urvāte-m 'determination, command' (I § 157 p. 141) from √uer- (Gr. εἶρω Lat. ver-bu-m);¹⁾ ἐ-κλή-θης beside κλ-η- 'call' ἀν-κλή-μενο-ς κέ-κλη-μαι ὁμο-κλή (see above).

Of dissyllabic stems we have already mentioned ἐ-μάν-η-ν, ἐ-φύ-η-ν, and ἐ-λίπ-η-ν in § 587. This ē-formation, with intransitive meaning, became fertile (this is what the grammars call the "strong aorist"); a few further examples are ἐ-δάρ-η-ν 'I was flayed' √der-, ἐ-ρρύ-η 'flowed' √srex-, ἐ-τάρπ-η-ν ἐ-τράπ-η-ν 'I enjoyed myself, was glad' √terp-, ἐ-κλάπ-η-ν 'I let myself be deceived, was deceived' √qlep-, ἐ-μίγ-η-ν 'I mixed myself' √meik-, ἐ-ζύγ-η-ν 'had myself yoked, was joined' √jeg-, ἐ-σάπ-η 'rotted' from σήπ-ω 'cause to rot', ἐξ-επλάγ-η-ν 'I was frightened' from pres. ἐκ-πλήττω cp. Lith. plāk-ē 'he struck' (pres. plak-ū). There was a reason why this category should become very large. Medio-passive forms of the 2nd sing. in -θης, as ἐ-δό-θης = Skr. ā-di-thās, ἐ-κτά-θης = Skr. ā-kṣa-thās (Class I), ἐ-βλ-ή-θης beside ἔ-βλ-η-το (Class X), ἐ-σχ-έ-θης beside ἔ-σχ-ε-το (Class II B); and forms from the s-aorists, as ἐρείσθης beside ἐρείσατο (ἐρείδ-ω 'I support, press against'), ἐμείχθης = *ἐ-μεικ-σ-θης beside ἔμεικτο = *ἐ-μεικ-σ-το μίγ-νῦ-μι 'I mix');²⁾ — these were all regarded as being on a par with ἐλίπη-ς etc., and then, by analogy of ἐλίπη-ν ἐλίπη etc. we have ἐδόθην ἐδόθη and so forth, that is, from this grew the whole series of the "weak aorist passive". Compare O.Ir. 1st sing. -burt by analogy of 3rd sing. -bert, where -t is the middle personal ending -to (§ 506 pp. 72 f.), and Lith. 1st sing. eiù by analogy of 3rd sing. ei-t = Gr. εί-σι (§ 686 Rem. 2).

1) ἐρεήθης εἰρεήθης i. e. e-ur-e-thās* follows Class II B (§ 527 p. 90), cp. Skr. ā-khy-a-t beside khy-ā-ti, imper. jñ-a beside jñ-ā-sya-ti, etc.

2) Compare § 836, on ἐκορέσ-θης; and § 840 on ἐκρεμάσ-θης.

Dissyllabic stems with -ō-, are rare in Attic (cp. ἐ-γήρα-ν § 582 p. 123): ἔαλω-ν for ἡ-χαλω-ν* (§ 479 p. 27) 'fell a prisoner, was captured' 1st pl. ἔαλω-μεν partic. αλόντ-; ἐβίω-ν 'I lived' 1st pl. ἐβίω-μεν.

The Aeolic dialect inflects the whole group of newly formed denominatives in -έω and -όω, and the Causatives in -έω (Class XXXII) as though belonging to Class X; e. g. Lesb. φίλη-μι 'I love, am wont' from φίλο-ς, φόρη-μι 'I carry' (Class XXXII), στεφάνω-μι 'I crown' from στέφανο-ς (Att. φιλω for φιλέω, φορῶ for φορέω, στεφανῶ for στεφανόω), 2nd pl. φίλη-τε στεφάνω-τε, 3rd pl. φίλεισι στεφάνοισι for -ενσι* -ονσι* (I § 205 p. 172), mid. φίλη-μαι στεφάνω-μαι. This was a new formation entirely, which came naturally because other tenses than the present were alike in the two classes, for instance ἀήσεται : φιλήσεται, γνώ-σεται : στεφανώ-σεται, and because of the old Aeolic inflexion of ā-stems (§ 578 p. 120); for verbs in -ημι, another factor in the change may have been reduplicated stems like κί-χη-μι Class XI (§ 594), and the singular indic. pres. of verbs in -ημι or -ωμι may have been influenced by τίθη-μι δίδω-μι respectively.¹⁾ However, it must not be forgotten that φιλέετε στεφανόομεν would regularly become φίλητε στεφάνωμεν in Aeolic.

Remark. As regards η ω in forms like ἄνηται, (Lesb.) στεφάνωνται, ἡμ-πλήτο etc., see § 582 Rem. p. 123; and for the 3rd pl. act. pret. ἔμειγεν ἔγγον etc. see § 1020. 2.

590. Italic. Of stems originally monosyllabic I mention a few others (cp. § 587): fl-ē-s fl-ē-mus, connected with O.H.G. blau 'I blow' Gr. φλ-έω φλ-ύω 'I overflow, trickle' and doubtless with fl-ō-s. Compare also spr-ē-vi spr-ē-tu-s from sper-nō; qui-ē-scō qui-ē-vī, connected with Avest. šyēiti-š 'wellbeing, place of delight, home' (II § 100 p. 297) and Gr. τε-τίη-μαι 'I am frightened' (de Saussure, Mém. Soc. Ling., VII 86 f.) beside Goth. hvei-la 'while, time' O.C.Sl. po-koj-ī 'rest'; (g)n-ō-scō (g)n-ō-vī beside Gr. ἐ-γν-ω-ν (§ 587 p. 128).

1) Compare especially 2nd 3rd sing. φίλης φίλη like τίθης τίθη, variants φίλει φίλει; and στεφάνους στεφάνοι like δίδους δίδου. Similarly, we have τίμας τίμαι like ἰστας ἰσται. Then the diphthong passes to the 1st sing., giving στεφάνοιμι τίμαιμι (cp. ἰσταιμι).

Dissyllabic stems, usually with intransitive meaning (cp. the Greek "passive aorist" in -η-ν § 589 p. 130). lic-e-t, Osc. líkitud licitud 'liceto': Gr. ἐ-λίπη, § 587 p. 129. vid-ē-s vid-ē-mus, cp. Lith. pa-vydlē-ti 'invidere' O.C.Sl. vid-ē-ti 'to see'; videō for uid-ē-īō* like Goth. vitái-þ 'looks towards something, observes'; notice Umbr. virseto 'visum'. sil-ē-s; with sileō cp. Goth. sildai-þ 'silet'. rub-ē-s, cp. O.C.Sl. rūd-ē-ti 'redden, blush'. fav-ē-s, cp. O.C.Sl. gov-ē-ti 'religiose vereri', ἐνλαβεῖσθαι, venerari, αἰδεῖσθαι (see Ber. sächs. Ges. Wiss., 1889, p. 47); faveō like govēja. val-ē-s, cp. Lith. gal-ē-ti 'to be able' (not so Bezzenberger in his Beitr. XVI 256). tac-ē-s: O.H.G. dag-ē-s 'art silent'; tac-eō like Goth. þahái-þ; observe Umbr. tašez tases tasis 'tacitus' pl. tasetur 'taciti'. hab-ē-s, Umbr. habe 'habet' habetu habitu 'habeto': O.H.G. hab-ē-s (✓ khap- khab- or khabh- khab-). Further, Lat. clu-ē-s ✓ kley-; torp-ē-s for typ-ē-* (I § 303 p. 241); cand-ē-s doubtless for qūd-ē-* from ✓(s)gend- (Skr. ścand-rá- cand-rá-, cáni-ścad-a-t); liqu-ē-s and others; Osc. loufit 'libet, vel' (Bréal, Mém. Soc. Ling. IV 145 f., 404 f.) beside Lat. lubet, closely connected with Goth. lubáin-s 'hope', and, as we shall see in § 708, with Skr. pres. lúbh-ya-ti; Umbr. trebeit 'versatur' from ✓ treb- 'build', which doubtless comes from treb-ē-ti* rather than treb-ī-ti* 1st sing. treb-īō* (in Class XXVI, § 715). With nasal suffix, Lat. langu-ē-s from ✓ slēg- (§ 632). On this present in -eō compare § 708.

In the same way are inflected a late group of denominative verbs in -eō, and the Causatives in -eō (Class XXXII), e. g. albeō albē-s etc. from albu-s, and moneō monē-s etc. See §§ 777, 802.

§ 591. Keltic. I know nothing that can be classed here. do-gniu 'I do, make, work' 3rd sing. gniith, inflected just like biu, which comes from bhū-ijō* (§ 719), is therefore from gn-ijō* not gn-ē-ijō*.

§ 592. Germanic. Goth. iddja 'I went' iddjē-s (pl. iddjēdum following nasidēdum): Skr. á-yā-m, see § 478 p. 26, § 587 p. 128, § 886 Rem. Goth. vind-s O.H.G. wint O.Icel. vindr 'wind': Lat. ventu-s contains the participle μē-nt-* 'blowing', see § 587 p. 128. Elsewhere, monosyllabic stems only have the io-suffix (Class XXVIII), as Goth. vaia O.H.G. wāu 'I blow' for μē-ijō*.

To this tenth class belong dissyllabic stems in -ē- as inflected in Old High German. dag-ē-m 'I am silent' -ē-s -ē-t -ēm-ēs -ē-t -ē-nt-: Lat. tac-ē-s etc., habē-m: Lat. hab-ē-s, see § 590 p. 132. dol-ē-m 'I suffer, endure', cp. Lith. tylė-ti 'to be still, silent' (long i not original), common ground-form ijl-ē-* from $\sqrt{\text{tel-}}$. leb-ē-m 'I live', cp. O.C.Sl. pri-tipě-ti 'hold or cleave to' Gr. ἀλιφῆναι from ἀλείφω 'anoint, smear' (for the derived meaning compare O.Icel. lifa 'be left over, live'). On these O.H.G. verbs in -ēm and their relation to Goth. verbs in -a-úis (as dagēm: þaha) see § 708.

§ 593. Balto-Slavonic. O.C.Sl. bě 'eras, erat' for bhū-ē-s* bhū-ē-t*, see § 587 p. 128. Lith. ent- 'going' perhaps for i-ē-nt*, beside Goth. iddj-ē-s Skr. y-ā-nt-, see § 511 p. 77.

Then comes the Lith. preterite in -ė (3rd sing.), whose high antiquity in Baltic is vouched for by Pruss. weddē = Lith. vėdė 'he led'. pylė, mėnė, su-skatė were mentioned in § 587, plākė in § 590. Compare further vīrė from vēr-du 'I cook, boil', mīrė from mīr-sztu 'I die', gīmė from gem-ù 'I am born', ginė from gen-ù 'I hunt, drive', tāpė from tamp-ù 'I become' (as to ė in the root-syllable of vėmė from vemiù 'I vomit', gėrė from geriù 'I drink' and the like, see § 894). These forms had originally secondary endings, -ē-m* -ē-s*; the 1st and 2nd sing., however, were transformed, the endings of suk-ù suk-i being added to -ē-, and then -ē-u -ē-i became regularly -iau -ei, as vedžiaù vedėi, viriaù vire

Lastly should be mentioned imperatives like mině-k 'think of' pa-vyde-k 'invidē'; these answer to the Greek and Latin imperatives μύνη-θι vidē (§ 708).

Class XI.

Reduplicated Root + -ā-, -ē-, -ō-, forming the Present Stem.

§ 594. Reduplicator in -i (compare Classes III and IV).

Reduplicated Root + -ā-. Pr. Idg. gi-g-ā-ti* 'goes' (cp. § 497 Rem. p. 57, § 579 p. 121): Skr. jīgā-ti 2nd pl. jīgā-ta (partic. jīg-at- in Class III), Gr. βίβη-σι 3rd pl. Dor. βίβα-ντι (cp. G. Meyer, Gr. Gr.² p. 431), partic. βιβάζ-.

Gr. μίγ-κρᾶ-μι 'I mix' imper. ἐγ-μίκρᾶ, beside Skr. śr-ā-ti Class X (§ 580 p. 122); cp. below, on πίμ-πλη-μι. Gr. δί-ζη-μαι 'I seek, strive' for δι-δῆ-ᾶ-μαι* beside δί-ζο-μαι, Class IV B (§ 549 p. 106) and beside Skr. á-dī-dē-t Class III (§ 537 p. 97); δῆᾶ-* we infer from Aeol. ζάτρημι (Att. ζητέω) and Dor. ζᾶτενύω from the partic. dī-ā-to-*.

Possibly Idg. -ā- is contained in Germ. ti-tr-ō-mi* O.H.G. zittarōm 'I tremble' O.Icel. titra 'I tremble, shake', from √der- 'burst' (cp. Skr. dar- 'push apart, lose one's head, be frightened').

Reduplicated Root + -ē-. Gr. -πί-πλη-μι πίμ-πλη-μι imper. Hom. ἐμ-πίπληθι partic. -πιπλής (Hesiod, Hippocrates) beside πλ-ῆ-το Class X § 587 p. 127. -πί-πρη-μι πίμ-πρη-μι

1) I hold Wiedemann's explanation of -iau to be correct, notwithstanding Streitberg to the contrary (Idg. Forsch., I 287). Streitberg has overlooked one fact: to wit, that the diphthong -ēy in these words first appeared in Baltic, and is not so old as the pre-dialect period of Balto-Slavonic.

'I kindle', $\sqrt{\text{per-}}$. ἔλγμι 'I am gracious' imper. Hom. ἔλγθι for *σι-σλη-, $\sqrt{\text{sel-}}$. κί-χρη-σι 'lends, borrows' Dor. κίγ-χρη-τι, beside χθ-ή and χιθ-νήs 'needy, poor'. τί-τρη-μι 'I bore', $\sqrt{\text{ter-}}$ τίρ-ε-τρο-ν; cp. O.H.G. drāu 'I turn' from the same stem tr-ē- (§ 739). The weak persons of these Greek verbs (and probably of κίγ-κρᾶ-μι too) usually follow Class III, as -πίπλα-μεν = Skr. pi-pr-mās, ἔλα-μαι τίτρα-μαι etc. (ἔλα-θι beside ἔλγ-θι, πιπλάς beside -πιπλείς); this was due to present tenses like ἵστημι ἵσταμεν; Sanskrit offers a parallel in forms of the perfect system like pa-pr-ā pa-pr-āú : pa-pr-vās- (§ 850). See § 542 p. 102, § 621, where too is given the origin of the nasal in the reduplicator of πίμ-πλημι κίγ-κρᾶμι etc.¹⁾

Gr. κί-χ-η-μι 'I reach, find, catch up' 1st pl. κί-χη-μεν partic. κιχήμενος. Origin uncertain.

O.H.G. wi-wint 'whirlwind' beside wint (§ 592 p. 133) was perhaps reduplicated first as a substantive.

Remark. Some verbs of Classes III and IV have an -ā-suffix in Italic in non-present tenses. Umbr. an-dirsafust a-teṛa-fust 'circum-tulerit' for di-d-ā-* from $\sqrt{\text{dō-}}$ 'give' pres. Umbr. Osc. 1st sing. di-d-ō*; Falisc. pipafo 'bibam' cp. Skr. 3rd pl. pi-p-atē Lat. bi-b-i-t § 539 p. 100, § 553 p. 107; Volsc. sistatiens 'statuerunt' from sistā-tens* (Osthoff, Perf. 244) beside Lat. si-st-ō. These ā-stems are identical with the ā-conjunctives of these verbs (Pelign. di-d-a 'det', Lat. bi-b-ā-s, si-st-ā-s) and are proofs of the wide range which the ā-suffix originally had (see § 578 pp. 118 ff.).

§ 595. Fuller Reduplication (cp. Class VII). Skr. dāri-drā-ti beside dr-ā-ti 'runs', yāyā-varā-s 'walking or moving about' from a presumed yā-yā-ti* connected with y-ā-ti 'goes'. Armen. mṛ-mṛ-a-m mṛ-mṛ-a-m 'murmuro, fremo, rugio', Lat. 2nd sing. mur-mur-ā-s, O.H.G. mur-mur-ō-s murmulō-s 'murmurest', beside Gr. μορμύρω for *μορ-μυρ-ω Class XXVII (§ 730). Lat. tin-tinn-ā-s tin-tin-ā-s beside tin-tinn-iō Class XXVII (§ 731). Lat. ul-ul-ā-s, Lith. imper. ul-ūl-ó-k indic. ul-ul-ó-ju (cp. § 735). The Lat. 1st sing., murmurō tintinnō ululō for -ā-īō (cp. Lith. ul-ul-ó-ju) in Class XXVIII (§ 741).

1) Is Thess. inf. ἰσ-κίχρμεν (Collitz, Samml. no. 1557) an adformate of τίθμεν, or did it come from an indic. *κίχρω (cp. πρᾶσσεμεν)?

D. CLASSES XII TO XVIII.

NASAL PRESENT STEMS.

§ 596. Specimen types of words which belong to this section are Skr. mṛ-nā-ti ṛ-nō-ti yunák-ti with the thematic mṛ-nā-ti ṛ-nvā-ti yuñjā-ti; and Skr. kṛp-āṇa-tē.

A few remarks are necessary on these nasal accretions, which beyond all doubt are closely connected together.

(1) Skr. mṛ-nā-ti : mṛ-nā-ti mṛ-ṇ-ānti, ṛ-nvā-ti : ṛ-nō-ti ṛ-nv-ānti, yuñjā-ti : yunák-ti yuñj-ānti = vidā-ti : vêt-ti vid-ānti; that is, there seems to be a definite relation between thematic and non-thematic forms; the thematic stem may be derived from the other by adding the thematic vowel to its weak form. See § 491 p. 50.

(2) The suffix -ney- -nu- is made out of -nā- -nə- -n- (Skr. mṛ-nā-mi Gr. μάρ-να-μαι Skr. mṛ-ṇ-ānti) by adding the suffix or determinative -ey- -u-. This -u- has been discussed, § 488 pp. 44 ff.

We often find -u- and -nu- in the same root; as str-u-* (Goth. stráu-ja) and str-nu-* (Skr. str-ṇō-ti Gr. στόρ-νῦ-μι), from $\sqrt{\text{ster-}}$ 'sternere'; kl-u-* (Skr. śr-ō-ṣi śr-u-dhī) and kl-nu-* (Skr. śṛ-ṇō-ti) from a $\sqrt{\text{kā}^l-}$, never found except with one of these extending suffixes; uel-u-* (Gr. ἐλ-ύω ἐλ-υ-τρο-ν Lat. vol-vō in-volūcru-m) and uḷ-nu- uḷ-nu- (Skr. ṽṛ-ṇō-ti ūr-ṇō-ti) from $\sqrt{\text{uel-}}$ 'turn, twist, wind'; Skr. á-dbh-u-ta-s 'undeceitful, pure, genuine' and dabh-nō-ti from dabh- 'deceive'; qs-u-* (Gr. ξ-ύω) and qs-nu-* (Skr. kṣ-nuv-ānā-s) from $\sqrt{\text{qes-}}$ (II § 8 Rem. 2 p. 20); pī-u-* (Skr. pī-vas-) and pi-nu-* (Skr. pī-nv-a-ti) from pī- 'swell, abound in'. The variant stems in Skr. śr-ō-ṣi and śṛ-ṇō-ṣi may be compared with those in Gr. ῥασ-ύ-ς and Skr. dhṛṣ-ṇū-ṣ (1st pl. dhṛṣ-ṇu-más). Probably one of these parallel stems, say qs-nu-, is a contamination of the other two, qs-ŋ- (Gr. ξ-αίνω ξ-άιν-ιο-ν) and qs-u-, and str-nu- of str-n-* (Skr. str-ñā-ti Lat. ster-nō etc.) and str-u-*;¹⁾ but this must not be taken to imply that the contaminated suffix -n-u- arose in just these roots and no others.

Non-thematic u-flexion is very rare except in monosyllabic stems like Skr. śr-ō-ṣi ā-śr-ō-t śr-u-dhī, where it was dominated by the analogy of verbs with u in the root proper. Examples of stems other than monosyllabic are Skr. tar-u-tē (cp. tāru-ṣantē taru-tar-) beside tār-a-ti, Gr. ἔρ-υ-μαι (cp. ἔρ-υ-μα Skr. var-ū-tra-m var-ū-tār-) beside Skr. vār-a-tē vṛ-ṇō-ti Goth. varja.²⁾ No proof is forthcoming that present stems of this kind were ever a numerous or productive class. It was not until u was joined to n, that the suffix ran through any large number of forms.

Remark. Some scholars, led by de Saussure, hold that strney-* is steru-* with an infix or inserted element -ne-. That is all very well on paper, but under what principle of language known to us it can come passes my comprehension. They refer, of course, to yunāk-ti, from ✓ jeug- jug-*, as a clear instance of inserted sounds. But I cannot admit that the nasal suffix has been inserted here any more than in the stem which I began with. See (5) below, pp. 139 f.³⁾

(3) After a root with final consonant ṇn, en, and doubtless on are found as variants for the initial n of -nā- -no- -ney- -nuo-.

1) Compare Lat. pōpulneus = pōpulnuus + pōpuleus. A large collection of such mixed forms containing formative suffixes of a similar sort, is given by Per Persson, Wurzelerw. pp. 153 f.

2) On Skr. tanōti, which the Indians analysed as tan-ō-ti, see §§ 639, 640. karōti I still hold to be a later re-formate, although Per Persson, op. cit. p. 149, opposes this view. See § 640.

3) Fick is keenest about these "infixes". Thus in one place he speaks of the "repetition of infixed s" in Greek aorists in -σαα and Sanskrit aorists in -siṣam (Gött. Gel. Anz., 1881, p. 1429). Page 1460: infixion is the "oldest and most powerful agent which causes word to grow out of word". Page 1462: "Almost always, where hitherto scholars have seen suffixes, that is, defining words added to the end of another, it is far better to speak of infixes". One question I should like to ask. Where did these infixed sounds come from, and what were they before they were infixed?

For -nā- -n(ə) take the following: Avest. 1st pl. fry-ān-mahī beside frī-nā-iti 'pleases, makes inclined', hv-ān-mahī beside hu-nā-iti 'excites, produces'. For -no-: Skr. iṣ-āna-t 'let him set in motion' cp. iṣ-anya-ti = Gr. laίvw for iō-av-μw* (-yno-), Armen. lē-ane-m 'I leave' (-yno-), Gr. κῶδ-άvw 'I honour, glorify' (-yno-), Goth. ga-vakna 'I awake' (-yno-, -eno-, or -ono-), Lith. kùp-inu 'I heap, hoard' (-yno-), gab-enù 'I bring' (-eno-), O.C.Sl. vrīg-na-ti 'to throw' (probably -ono-, see § 615 Rem.)

For -ney- -nu-: Skr. vānanv-at- 'liking' for uyn-yu-* beside indic. vanō-ti for uyn-ney-ti* from $\sqrt{yēn-}$: Avest. 2nd pl. debe-naōta for db-anau-ta* (-anau- instead of -anu- from the singular) beside Skr. dabh-nō-ti 'hurts'; Avest. partic. mid. zar-anu-mana- beside opt. zar-anaē-mā and Skr. hṛ-ṇī-tē 'growls, grumbles'. For -nyo-: Avest. xw-anva-inti 'they drive on' xw-ēnva-ḥ (pr. Ar. sy-anya-*) beside hu-nao-iti hu-nā-iti: Avest. sp-ēnva-ḥ 'proficiebat' doubtless the same as O.H.G. sp-innu 'I spin' for sp-enyō* beside spannu 'I stretch' for spā-nyō* and beside spanu 'I lure, attract' for spā-nō* (§ 654); O.H.G. tr-innu 'I separate myself from' ground-form dr-enyō* beside Skr. dṛ-ṇā-ti. Greek examples are apparently Hom. ix-άvw for ix-avfω* beside ix-είο-μαι and κixάvw for κix-avfω*, whose ending doubtless comes from -nyō (see § 652), and ξ-έvw-ς ξίvw-ς from the root of Lat. hos-ti-s and Goth. gas-t-s (cp. the Author, Idg. Forsch., I 172 ff.).

Similar groups of suffixes, fuller and weaker, are found in other present classes. -eno- : -no- = -eso- : -so- (Class XX). -yno- : -no- = -iyo- : -io- (Class XXVI).

The only ones of these dissyllabic suffixes which were to any great extent productive were -yno- -eno- (-ono-). These we place in a class by themselves (Class XIV).

(4) In classes where the n-suffix comes after the root syllable, it is not always as described in (3), just above. The root often has attached to it some kind of determinative. Thus we see -i- -ī- (cp. § 498 pp. 61 f.), as in Skr. r-i-ṇva-ti Gr. Lesb. ōq-í-vvw beside Skr. ṛ-ṇā-ti Gr. ōq-vū-μi; Gr. πi-vi-

-μνο-ς for πF-ι-νν-* beside νη-πύ-τιο-ς Skr. pu-nd-ti; Skr. bhr-ti-nd-ti (Avest. brōi-p̄ra- 'axe' O.C.Sl. bri-ti 'shear, shave') beside Gr. φάρο-ς Lat. for-āre; Skr. śr-i-nd-ti beside śṛ-tā-s; Gr. Lesb. κρ-ί-ννω (Lat. dis-crī-men) beside Lith. skir-iū. -s- -es- (cp. §§ 656 ff.), as Skr. i-ś-nd-ti i-śd-tē beside i-nō-ti; Gr. ἐννῶμι (ἐννῶμι) Armen. z-genum common ground-form u-es-neu-* u-es-nu-* beside Lat. ex-uō Lith. au-nū (§ 639). Other examples will be mentioned anon.

(5) Most obscure of all has hitherto remained the "nasal infix", the nasal element, that is, in such words as Skr. yunák-ti yuñj-más and yuñj-á-ti, and its relation to the nasal suffixes in the other Classes.

The strong form, Skr. yunaj- for example, has hitherto been found as a verb stem only in Aryan. Some other languages have been supposed to show traces of it, as Gr. κυνέω and Lat. conquiniscō frūniscor, which are said by some to be for κυνεσ-ω* and quenec-scō* frūneg-scōr*; but this in my opinion is the merest conjecture.¹⁾ If we must compare something from European languages, the most likely forms are the adjective Goth. manag-s O.C.Sl. mūnogŭ 'multus' beside Skr. māha-tē 'is large, generous' maghá-m 'fullness, riches'.

Perhaps these nasal forms are merely a developement of Class XII, by a change in the first instance of, say, jug-n-més* jug-n-té* (-n- the variant of -nə-, cp. Avest. ver^e-n-tē and the like) to junq-més* junq-té*. Then, by analogy of Skr. anák-ti and añj-más and other present forms with nasal in the root,²⁾ we get the sing. yunák-ti. It should be remembered, however, that it is a priori impossible to say whether a in

1) See Johansson, Deriv. Verb. Contr. 108 f., Akademiske afhandlinger til prof. Bugge, 24 ff.; W. Schulze, Quaest. Hom. 15, 42; Fick, Vergl. Wb. I⁴ 381; Kretschmer, Kuhn's Zeitschr. xxxi 470. In discussing κυνέω κυνάα no use can be made of O.Corn. cussin and Mid.Cymr. cussan 'kiss', which are loan-words from the Germanic.

2) With anaj- cp. Goth. anak-s 'suddenly, at once' (Skr. ánjas 'quickly, suddenly'). Skr. 2nd 3rd sing. pret. ānaṣ 1st pl. conj. anaśāmahāi, vy-anaś-i 'penetrate' may be compared with Gr. δι-ηρεκ-ης (§ 569 p. 113).

Skr. yunaj- comes from Idg. -a-, -e-, or -o-. This assumed change of jug-n-* to junq-* must have come about in the parent language; and the singular persons may have been made in the same period. If the forms did grow as I suggest from the Class with -na- -nə- -n-, it would at once become clear why of all the forms containing this suffix in any of its three grades, none is taken from a root with final explosive or fricative (§ 598): from these roots the parent language would then show (say) junq-tai* = jug-n-tai* (Skr. yunak-tē), while others would have the nasal suffix in its proper place, and show the type of uḡ-n-tai* (Avest. ver^e-n-tē).

Another view is set forth by Per Persson, Stud. Lehr. Wurz., 152 f. (cp. too Windisch, Kuhn's Zeitschr. xxi 407). He thinks that in the oldest forms which set the type for the class with Nasal Infix, the root final was a determinative, and the nasal a suffix which was added to the root before the determinative was added. Then forms with the determinative and forms with the nasal were contaminated. Thus limpō* (Lith. limpū Skr. limpāmi) is a sort of combination of forms answering to Lat. li-nō and Lith. li-pū. There is nothing which makes this view impossible.

Yet another hypothesis, the latest, is offered by Osthoff, Anz. für idg. Sprach- und Alterthumskunde, I 83. He suggests that Skr. kṛnātmi- may be $\sqrt{\text{kr-}}$ + present suffix -nat- (stronger form of -nt) + personal ending -mi; and by analogy riñc-más produced riñác-mi. But that there ever was a simple suffix Idg. -net- -nt- is, I hold, quite unproven; see § 685, Rem. 2.

(6) Nasal Present Stems are often found as bases for Nouns. Examples are: Skr. vē-na-ti 'longs' vē-ná-s 'longing', Avest. peš-ana-iti 'fights' beside Skr. pṛt-ana-m 'battle', Gr. ῥή-αίρω 'I sharpen' beside ῥήγ-αρο-ν 'whetstone', Skr. dhṛṣ-ṇō-ti 'is bold' dhṛṣ-ṇu-má-s beside dhṛṣ-ṇú-ṣ 'bold', Skr. pṭ-nva-ti 'makes to swell' beside -pi-nva-s 'making to swell', O.H.G. bannu 'regions under ban, forbidden places' for bha-nuō* beside ban, gen. bannes, 'command enforced by pains and penalties', cp. Gr. ξ-έρφο-ς p. 138. Compare § 487 pp. 40 f.

We shall now discuss the classes of nasal stems one by one. Of these we distinguish seven.

Class XII.

Root + -nā- -nə- -n- forming the Present Stem.

§ 597. The strong suffix was -nā-, the weak form before a sonant was -n-, before a consonant either -nə- (Gr. μάρ-να-ται) or -n- (Avest. ver'-n-tē).

Sanskrit, with -ni- before consonants (e. g. mṛ-ṇī-mās), stands alone. -nī- displaces -ni-* = Idg. -nə- on the same principle as changes śi-śi-hi* to śi-śī-hi, so that we have mṛṇī-mās : mṛṇā-mi like śiśī-hi : śiśā-mi. See § 498 pp. 61 f.

Remark. Wiedemann's view (Lit. Praet. 49) that -ni- changed to -nī- by quantitative analogy of -nā- I hold to be mistaken; and so also Bartholomae's, that mṛ-ṇā-mi : mṛ-ṇī-mās contain a pr. Idg. ablaut, -nā- being for -nāi- (Stud. Idg. Spr., II 75 ff.).

In Avestic, before sonants, not only -n- but -an-, seemingly representing Idg. -en- : fry-an-mahī, see § 596. 3 p. 138.

The Root Syllable has always, and always had, the weak form.

§ 598. Pr. Idg. All the forms which can be proved to be Indo-Germanic come from roots with final liquid, nasal, or vowel (cp. § 596. 5 p. 139).

Skr. mṛ-ṇā-mi 'I grind, crush' 3rd sing. mṛ-ṇā-ti 1st pl. mṛ-ṇī-mās 3rd pl. mṛ-ṇ-ānti, Gr. μάρ-να-μαι 'I fight', partic. Coreyr. and Att. βαρ-νά-μενο-ς for βαρ-να-* (I § 292 p. 233); μόρ-νά-μενο-ς in Hesych. is either Aeolic for μαρ-να- (I § 292 p. 234) or all dialects of Greek for Idg. mṛ-nə-* (cp. Skr. mūr-ṇā-s). — With thematic vowel Skr. mṛ-ṇā-ti.

Gr. πορ-νά-μεν 'πωλεῖν, πορ-νά-μεναι 'πωλούμεναι (Hesych.) are as ambiguous as μορνύμενος; Att. πέρ-νη-μι 'I sell, transfer' with changed root-grade (cp. περάω), O. Ir. re-nim 'I give away, sell' (cp. § 604).

Skr. jā-ṇā-mi 'I learn, know' for gṇ-ṇā-*; compare perhaps Lith. žino 'he knows' for gṇ-ṇā-t* (whence žinau žino-me etc.

Independently the root syllable has a strong grade: partic. mṛ-nā-mi like āp-nā-mi Class XVII, cp. opt. aor. apēyam and ap-nā-mi. But ap- may be preposition ā + ap-.

A few isolated forms in Sanskrit show a change from this class to -nā-: partic. hṛnā-yā-nt- hṛnā-yā-māna-s beside hṛnā-mi and hṛ-ni-tē. With forms like Gr. δαμνάω (§ 598 p. 141), hṛnā-yā-nt- has no very close connexion.

§ 601. Armenian. bar-na-m 'I raise' for barj-na-m* ground-form bhygh-nā-mi*, cp. aor. barj-i. dār-na-m 'I return' for dārī-na-m*, cp. aor. darj-ay. bana-m 'I open' ground-form bhanā-mi* from √bhā- (p. 56 footnote), cp. aor. ba-ç-i: Gr. βάλλω for qa-nō* § 611, O.H.G. ba-nnu § 654. sta-na-m 'I possess, have in my power, buy', cp. aor. sta-ç-ay: Gr. στά-νω 'I place' (G. Meyer, Gr. Gr.² p. 446) Lat. dē-stināre, O.C.Sl. sta-nū 'I place myself'. lua-na-m 'I wash', cp. aor. lūa-mi.

These are inflected like the a-presents mna-m and jana-m (§ 581 p. 122). But the original quantity of the a in -na- cannot be determined; and -na- may be Idg. -nā- or Idg. -nə-.

§ 602. Greek. μάρ-νυ-μαι μαρ-νά-μενο-ς, πορ-νά-μεν πέρ-νυ-μαι, λή-να-μαι see § 598 p. 141. δάμ-νῃ-μι 'I tame' beside δάμασσο-ν; for the root syllable compare κάμ-νω and Skr. śam-nā-tē beside κάμα-το-ς śami-tā-s, ὄμ-νῶ-μι beside ὀμό-τῃ-ς. δύ-να-μαι 'I can' possibly connected with Lat. dū-ru-s; but (Gortyn. ρύ-να-μαι 'I can', probably belongs to some other root.¹⁾

The i of the root-syllabic is strange in the following stems. μί-κ-νῃ-μι 'I mix' beside aor. ἐκέχυσα. πύ-λ-να-μαι 'I draw near quickly' beside aor. ἐπέλασα: cp. Lat. pellō for pel-nō*, O.Ir. ad-ellaim 'I go to, visit' for -(p)el-nā-. κρί-νῃ-μι 'I hang' (wrongly written κρήμνῃ-μι) beside aor. ἐκρέμασα. ὀρί-γ-να-μαι 'I reach or stretch' beside ὀρέγω. πί-τ-νῃ-μι 'I spread' beside aor. ἐπέτασα; thematic ἐ-πι-τ-νῶ-ν πίτ-νω. σεί-δ-να-μαι 'I spread or widen, disperse' beside ἐσέδασα. Various explanations are given: see Osthoff, M. U. II 20; Wackernagel, Kuhn's Zeitschr. xxix 126; Moulton, Am. Journ. Phil. X 284 f., and Class. Rev. III 45; Kretschmer, Kuhn's Zeitschr. xxxi 375 f.

1) Can this be connected with νεῦρο-ν 'sinew, tension, strength'?

With -io-flexion: δαμνάω, κιννάω, ὀριγνάομαι, πιννάω. Compare § 598 end, p. 142.

In δύ-να-μαι, the nasal was not confined to the present stem: δυνᾶτός ἐδυνησάμην ἐδυνήθην ἐδυνάσθην, like ἀγᾶτός ἀγῆτός ἡγάσθην from ἄγα-μαι. Compare § 643, and τανύσσαι (from τα-νύ-μαι).

§ 603. Italic. (1) We find in Latin the non-thematic inflexion of Class XIII: ster-nō (contrast Skr. stṛ-ñā-ti), li-nō (contrast Skr. vi-līnā-ti), pellō for pel-nō* (contrast Gr. πῖλ-να-μαι), sper-nō (contrast O.H.G. spor-nō-m 'I tread, kick'), and no sound-law prevents our putting in this twelfth class ster-ni-mus -ni-tis, deriving them from -na-mos -na-tes (cp. § 505 p. 71, on red-dimus, and § 543 p. 103, on se-ri-mus).

(2) But some compounds are inflected as verbs in -āre. cōn-sternāre, beside O.H.G. stornēm 'attonitus sum' (§ 605) Gr. πτέρω 'I make shy, put in a fright'. in-clīnāre: O.Sax. hli-nō-n 'I lean', cp. Lett. slī-nu (beside slēiju) 'I lean on, support'. dē-stināre, cp. Armen. sta-na-m 'I possess' Gr. στά-νω 'I place' and στα-νύω (§ 601 p. 144). So too com-pellare from pellere, aspernārī from spernere. It is assumed that a similarity in the endings -nā-s(i) -nā-t(i), in this class, and -ā-s(i) -ā-t(i) in Classes X and XI caused a current to set in the direction of the last two (cp. end of § 598). But this does not explain why only compounds were carried by it; and apparently we must not separate pellere: compellare, spernere: aspernārī from fligere: profligare, capere: occupāre and others. The -nā- in cōn-ster-nā-s must therefore be kept quite distinct from -nā- in Skr. śṛ-ñā-mi Gr. δάμ-νῃ-μι. See § 583 pp. 124 f.

indic. ul-ul-ó-ju (cp. § 735). The Lat. 1st sing., murmurō tintinnō ululō for -ā-īō (cp. Lith. ul-ul-ó-ju) in Class XXVIII (§ 741).

D. CLASSES XII TO XVIII.

NASAL PRESENT STEMS.

§ 596. Specimen types of words which belong to this section are Skr. mṛ-ná-ti ṣ-ṇó-ti yunák-ti with the thematic mṛ-ná-ti ṣ-ṇó-ti yunáj-ti; and Skr. kṛp-ána-tē.

A few remarks are necessary on these nasal accretions, which beyond all doubt are closely connected together.

(1) Skr. mṛ-ná-ti : mṛ-ná-ti mṛ-ṇ-ánti, ṣ-ṇó-ti : ṣ-ṇó-ti ṣ-ṇv-ánti, yunáj-ti : yunák-ti yunáj-ánti = vidá-ti : vét-ti vid-ánti; that is, there seems to be a definite relation between thematic and non-thematic forms; the thematic stem may be derived from the other by adding the thematic vowel to its weak form. See § 491 p. 50.

(2) The suffix -ney- -nu- is made out of -nā- -nə- -n- (Skr. mṛ-ná-mi Gr. μάρ-να-μαι Skr. mṛ-ṇ-ánti) by adding the suffix or determinative -ey- -u-. This -u- has been discussed, § 488 pp. 44 ff.

We often find -u- and -nu- in the same root; as str-u-* (Goth. stráu-ja) and str-nu-* (Skr. str-ṇó-ti Gr. στόρ-νῦ-μι), from $\sqrt{\text{ster-}}$ 'sternere'; kl-u-* (Skr. śr-ó-ṣi śr-u-dhi) and kl-nu-* (Skr. śṛ-ṇó-ti) from a $\sqrt{\text{kā}^{\text{r}}\text{-l-}}$, never found except with one of these extending suffixes; uel-u-* (Gr. ἐλ-ύω ἐλ-υ-τρο-ν Lat. vol-vō in-volūcru-m) and ul-nu- uḷ-nu- (Skr. vṛ-ṇó-ti ūr-ṇó-ti) from $\sqrt{\text{uel-}}$ 'turn, twist, wind'; Skr. á-dbh-u-ta-s 'undeceitful, pure, genuine' and dabh-ṇó-ti from dabh- 'deceive'; qs-u-* (Gr. ξ-ύω) and qs-nu-* (Skr. kṣ-nuv-ána-s) from $\sqrt{\text{qes-}}$ (II § 8 Rem. 2 p. 20); pī-u-* (Skr. pī-vas-) and pi-nu-* (Skr. pī-nv-a-ti) from pī- 'swell, abound in'. The variant stems in Skr. śr-ó-ṣi and śṛ-ṇó-ṣi may be compared with those in Gr. θρασ-ύ-ς and Skr. dhr̥ṣ-ñú-ṣ (1st pl. dhr̥ṣ-ñu-más). Probably one of these parallel stems, say qs-nu-, is a contamination of the other two, qs-ŋ- (Gr. ξ-αίνω ξ-άρ-ιο-ν) and qs-u-, and str-nu- of str-n-* (Skr. str-ṇā-ti Lat. ster-nō etc.) and str-u-*;¹⁾ but this must not be taken to imply that the contaminated suffix -n-u- arose in just these roots and no others.

Non-thematic u-flexion is very rare except in monosyllabic stems like Skr. śr-ō-ṣi á-śr-ō-t śr-u-dhí, where it was dominated by the analogy of verbs with u in the root proper. Examples of stems other than monosyllabic are Skr. tar-u-tē (cp. tāru-ṣantē taru-tar-) beside tār-a-ti, Gr. ἔρ-υ-μαι (cp. ἔρ-υ-μα Skr. var-ú-tra-m var-ū-tár-) beside Skr. vár-a-tē vṛ-ṇó-ti Goth. varja.²⁾ No proof is forthcoming that present stems of this kind were ever a numerous or productive class. It was not until u was joined to n, that the suffix ran through any large number of forms.

Remark. Some scholars, led by de Saussure, hold that str-neu-* is steru-* with an infix or inserted element -ne-. That is all very well on paper, but under what principle of language known to us it can come passes my comprehension. They refer, of course, to yunák-ti, from ✓ *jeug- jug-, as a clear instance of inserted sounds. But I cannot admit that the nasal suffix has been inserted here any more than in the stem which I began with. See (5) below, pp. 139 f.³⁾

(3) After a root with final consonant yn, en, and doubtless on are found as variants for the initial n of -nā- -no- -ney- -nū-.

1) Compare Lat. pōpulneu-s = pōpulnu-s + pōpuleu-s. A large collection of such mixed forms containing formative suffixes of a similar sort, is given by Per Persson, Wurzelerw. pp. 153 f.

2) On Skr. tanóti, which the Indians analysed as tan-ō-ti, see §§ 639, 640. karōti I still hold to be a later re-formate, although Per Persson, op. cit. p. 149, opposes this view. See § 640.

3) Fick is keenest about these "infixes". Thus in one place he speaks of the "repetition of infixed s" in Greek aorists in -σαα and Sanskrit aorists in -siṣam (Gött. Gel. Anz., 1881, p. 1429). Page 1460: infixion is the "oldest and most powerful agent which causes word to grow out of word". Page 1462: "Almost always, where hitherto scholars have seen suffixes, that is, defining words added to the end of another, it is far better to speak of infixes". One question I should like to ask. Where did these infixed sounds come from, and what were they before they were infixed?

... class $-so : -so$ (Class XXVD).

The only ones of these dissyllabic suffixes which were to be extensively productive were -uno- -eno- (-ono-). These were treated as a class by themselves (Class XIV).

the n-suffix comes after the root as described in (3), just above. The ya has attached to it some kind of determinative. Thus we see ya-ti (cp. § 498 pp. 61 f.), as in Skr. r-i-ya-ti Gr. ῥι-ντι beside Skr. r-ya-ti Gr. ῥ-ντι;

-μενο-ς for *πF-ι-νν- beside νη-πν'-τιο-ς Skr. pu-nā-ti; Skr. bhr-ī-nā-ti (Avest. brōi-ḫra- 'axe' O.C.Sl. bri-ti 'shear, shave') beside Gr. πάρο-ς Lat. for-āre; Skr. śr-ī-nā-ti beside śṛ-tā-s; Gr. Lesb. αρ-ι-ννω (Lat. dis-crī-men) beside Lith. skir-iū. -s- -es- (cp. §§ 656 ff.), as Skr. i-ṣ-ñā-ti i-ṣā-tē beside i-nō-ti; Gr. ἐννῆμι (ἔννῆμι) Armen. z-genum common ground-form u-es-neu-* u-es-nu-* beside Lat. ex-uō Lith. au-nū (§ 639). Other examples will be mentioned anon.

(5) Most obscure of all has hitherto remained the "nasal infix", the nasal element, that is, in such words as Skr. yunāk-ti yuñj-mís and yuñj-ā-ti, and its relation to the nasal suffixes in the other Classes.

The strong form, Skr. yunaj- for example, has hitherto been found as a verb stem only in Aryan. Some other languages have been supposed to show traces of it, as Gr. κυνέω and Lat. conquiniscō frūniscor, which are said by some to be for κυνε-ω* and quenec-scō* frūneg-scōr*; but this in my opinion is the merest conjecture.¹⁾ If we must compare something from European languages, the most likely forms are the adjective Goth. manag-s O.C.Sl. mūnogŭ 'multus' beside Skr. māha-tē 'is large, generous' maghá-m 'fullness, riches'.

Perhaps these nasal forms are merely a developement of Class XII, by a change in the first instance of, say, jug-n-més* jug-n-té* (-n- the variant of -nə-, cp. Avest. ver'-n-tē and the like) to juṇg-més* juṇq-té*. Then, by analogy of Skr. anāk-ti and añj-más and other present forms with nasal in the root,²⁾ we get the sing. yunāk-ti. It should be remembered, however, that it is a priori impossible to say whether a in

1) See Johansson, Deriv. Verb. Contr. 108 f., Akademiske afhandlingar til prof. Bugge, 24 ff.; W. Schulze, Quaest. Hom. 15, 42; Fick, Vergl. Wb. I⁴ 381; Kretschmer, Kuhn's Zeitschr. xxxi 470. In discussing κυνέω κυνάω no use can be made of O.Corn. cussin and Mid.Cymr. cussan 'kiss', which are loan-words from the Germanic.

2) With anañ- cp. Goth. anak-s 'suddenly, at once' (Skr. āñjas 'quickly, suddenly'). Skr. 2nd 3rd sing. pret. ānaṣ 1st pl. conj. anaśāmahāi, vy-anaś-i 'penetrate' may be compared with Gr. δι-ηρεν-ης; (§ 569 p. 113).

Skr. yunaj- comes from Idg. -a-, -e-, or -o-. This assumed change of jug-n-* to junq-* must have come about in the parent language; and the singular persons may have been made in the same period. If the forms did grow as I suggest from the Class with -nā- -nə- -n-, it would at once become clear why of all the forms containing this suffix in any of its three grades, none is taken from a root with final explosive or fricative (§ 598): from these roots the parent language would then show (say) junq-tai̯* = jug-n-tai̯* (Skr. yurak-tē), while others would have the nasal suffix in its proper place, and show the type of yr-n-tai̯* (Avest. ver^e-n-tē).

Another view is set forth by Per Persson, Stud. Lehr. Wurz., 152 f. (cp. too Windisch, Kuhn's Zeitschr. xxi 407). He thinks that in the oldest forms which set the type for the class with Nasal Infix, the root final was a determinative, and the nasal a suffix which was added to the root before the determinative was added. Then forms with the determinative and forms with the nasal were contaminated. Thus limpō* (Lith. limpù Skr. limpāmi) is a sort of combination of forms answering to Lat. li-nō and Lith. li-pù. There is nothing which makes this view impossible.

Yet another hypothesis, the latest, is offered by Osthoff, Anz. für idg. Sprach- und Alterthumskunde, I 83. He suggests that Skr. kṛnātmi- may be $\sqrt{kr-}$ + present suffix -nat- (stronger form of -nt) + personal ending -mi; and by analogy riñc-más produced riñác-mi. But that there ever was a simple suffix Idg. -net- -nt- is, I hold, quite unproven; see § 685, Rem. 2.

(6) Nasal Present Stems are often found as bases for Nouns. Examples are: Skr. vē-na-ti 'longs' vē-ná-s 'longing', Avest. peš-ana-iti 'fights' beside Skr. pṛt-ana-m 'battle', Gr. $\theta\eta\gamma\alpha\upsilon\omega$ 'I sharpen' beside $\theta\eta\gamma\alpha\upsilon\omega\sigma$ 'whetstone', Skr. dhṛṣ-ñó-ti 'is bold' dhṛṣ-ṇu-má-s beside dhṛṣ-ñú-ṣ 'bold', Skr. pi-nva-ti 'makes to swell' beside -pi-nva-s 'making to swell', O.H.G. bannu 'regions under ban, forbidden places' for bha-nṃō* beside ban, gen. bannes, 'command enforced by pains and penalties', cp. Gr. $\xi\epsilon\rho\phi\omicron\varsigma$ p. 138. Compare § 487 pp. 40 f.

We shall now discuss the classes of nasal stems one by one. Of these we distinguish seven.

Class XII.

Root + -nā- -nə- -n- forming the Present Stem.

§ 597. The strong suffix was -nā-, the weak form before a sonant was -n-, before a consonant either -nə- (Gr. μάρ-ναι-ται) or -n- (Avest. ver'-n-tē).

Sanskrit, with -nī- before consonants (e. g. mṛ-ṇī-más), stands alone. -nī- displaces -ni-* = Idg. -nə- on the same principle as changes śi-śi-hi* to śi-śī-hi, so that we have mṛṇī-más : mṛṇā-mi like śiśī-hi : śiśā-mi. See § 498 pp. 61 f.

Remark. Wiedemann's view (Lit. Praet. 49) that -ni- changed to -nī- by quantitative analogy of -nā- I hold to be mistaken; and so also Bartholomae's, that mṛ-ṇā-mi : mṛ-ṇī-más contain a pr. Idg. ablaut, -nā- being for -nāi- (Stud. Idg. Spr., II 75 ff.).

In Avestic, before sonants, not only -n- but -an-, seemingly representing Idg. -en- : fry-an-mahī, see § 596. 3 p. 138.

The Root Syllable has always, and always had, the weak form.

§ 598. Pr. Idg. All the forms which can be proved to be Indo-Germanic come from roots with final liquid, nasal, or vowel (cp. § 596. 5 p. 139).

Skr. mṛ-ṇā-mi 'I grind, crush' 3rd sing. mṛ-ṇā-ti 1st pl. mṛ-ṇī-más 3rd pl. mṛ-ṇ-ānti, Gr. μάρ-ναι-μαι 'I fight', partic. Corcyr. and Att. βαρ-νά-μενο-ς for βρα-να-* (I § 292 p. 233); μόρ-νά-μενο-ς in Hesych. is either Aeolic for μαρ-να- (I § 292 p. 234) or all dialects of Greek for Idg. mṛ-nə-* (cp. Skr. mūr-ṇā-s). — With thematic vowel Skr. mṛ-ṇā-ti.

Gr. πορ-νά-μεν · πωλεῖν, πορ-νά-μεναι · πωλούμεναι (Hesych.) are as ambiguous as μορνάμενος; Att. πέρ-νη-μι 'I sell, transfer' with changed root-grade (cp. περάω), O. Ir. re-nim 'I give away, sell' (cp. § 604).

Skr. jā-nd-mi 'I learn, know' for gṇ-nā-*; compare perhaps Lith. žino 'he knows' for gṇ-nā-t* (whence žinau žino-me etc.

Skr. yunaj- comes from Idg. -a-, -e-, or -o-. This assumed change of jug-n-* to junq-* must have come about in the parent language; and the singular persons may have been made in the same period. If the forms did grow as I suggest from the Class with -nā -nə -n-, it would at once become clear why of all the forms containing this suffix in any of its three grades, none is taken from a root with final explosive or fricative (§ 598): from these roots the parent language would then show (say) junq-tai* = jug-n-tai* (Skr. yunḱ-tē), while others would have the nasal suffix in its proper place, and show the type of ur-n-tai* (Avest. ver^e-n-tē).

Another view is set forth by Per Persson, Stud. Lehr. Wurz., 152 f. (cp. too Windisch, Kuhn's Zeitschr. xxi 407). He thinks that in the oldest forms which set the type for the class with Nasal Infix, the root final was a determinative, and the nasal a suffix which was added to the root before the determinative was added. Then forms with the determinative and forms with the nasal were contaminated. Thus limpō* (Lith. limpū Skr. limpāmi) is a sort of combination of forms answering to Lat. li-nō and Lith. li-pū. There is nothing which makes this view impossible.

Yet another hypothesis, the latest, is offered by Osthoff, Anz. für idg. Sprach- und Alterthumskunde, I 83. He suggests that Skr. kṛnāmi may be $\sqrt{\text{kr-}}$ + present suffix -nat- (stronger form of -nt-) + personal ending -mi; and by analogy riñc-mās produced riñác-mi. But that there ever was a simple suffix Idg. -net- -nt- is, I hold, quite unproven; see § 685, Rem. 2.

(6) Nasal Present Stems are often found as bases for Nouns. Examples are: Skr. vē-na-ti 'longs' vē-nā-s 'longing', Avest. peš-ana-iti 'fights' beside Skr. pṛt-ana-m 'battle', Gr. θῆγ-άω 'I sharpen' beside θῆγ-αρόν 'whetstone', Skr. dhṛṣ-ṇō-ti 'is bold' dhṛṣ-ṇu-mā-s beside dhṛṣ-ṇú-ṣ 'bold', Skr. pi-nva-ti 'makes to swell' beside -pi-nva-s 'making to swell', O.H.G. bannu 'regions under ban, forbidden places' for bha-nṃō* beside ban, gen. bannes, 'command enforced by pains and penalties', cp. Gr. ξέρφο-ς p. 138. Compare § 487 pp. 40 f.

We shall now discuss the classes of nasal stems one by one. Of these we distinguish seven.

Class XII.

Root + -nā- -nə- -n- forming the Present Stem.

§ 597. The strong suffix was -nā-, the weak form before a sonant was -n-, before a consonant either -nə- (Gr. μάρ-ναι -rai) or -n- (Avest. ver'-n-tē).

Sanskrit, with -nī- before consonants (e. g. mṛ-ñī-más), stands alone. -nī- displaces -ni-* = Idg. -nə- on the same principle as changes śi-śi-hi* to śi-śī-hi, so that we have mṛñī-más : mṛñā-mi like śiśī-hi : śiśā-mi. See § 498 pp. 61 f.

Remark. Wiedemann's view (Lit. Praet. 49) that -ni- changed to -nī- by quantitative analogy of -nā- I hold to be mistaken; and so also Bartholomae's, that mṛ-ñā-mi : mṛ-ñī-más contain a pr. Idg. ablaut, -nā- being for -nāi- (Stud. Idg. Spr., II 75 ff.).

In Avestic, before sonants, not only -n- but -an-, seemingly representing Idg. -en- : fry-qn-mahī, see § 596. 3 p. 138.

The Root Syllable has always, and always had, the weak form.

§ 598. Pr. Idg. All the forms which can be proved to be Indo-Germanic come from roots with final liquid, nasal, or vowel (cp. § 596. 5 p. 139).

Skr. mṛ-ñā-mi 'I grind, crush' 3rd sing. mṛ-ñā-ti 1st pl. mṛ-ñī-más 3rd pl. mṛ-ñ-ānti, Gr. μάρ-ναι 'I fight', partic. Coreyr. and Att. βαρ-νά-μενο-ς for βρα-να-* (I § 292 p. 233); μόρ-νά-μενο-ς in Hesych. is either Aeolic for μαρ-να- (I § 292 p. 234) or all dialects of Greek for Idg. mṛ-nə-* (cp. Skr. mūr-ñā-s). — With thematic vowel Skr. mṛ-ñā-ti.

Gr. πορ-νά-μεν 'πωλεῖν, πορ-νά-μεναι' 'πωλούμεναι' (Hesych.) are as ambiguous as μορνάμενος; Att. πέρ-νη-μι 'I sell, transfer' with changed root-grade (cp. περάω), O.Ir. re-nim 'I give away, sell' (cp. § 604).

Skr. jā-nā-mi 'I learn, know' for ǵh-nā-*; compare perhaps Lith. žino 'he knows' for ǵh-nā-t* (whence žinaũ žino-me etc.

by analogy of bij-aū-s and the like.¹⁾ — With thematic vowel Skr. jā-na-ti Avest. 2nd pl. zā-na-tā, Goth. partic. kunnand-s (indic. kann).

Skr. li-nā-mi 'I stick close to, cower, disappear' vi-lināmi 'melt, disintegrate, go to pieces', Gr. λί-να-μαι τρέπομαι Hesych., O.Ir. le-nim 'adhaereo' (cp. § 604), O.Icel. li-na 'I relax, grow soft'. — With thematic vowel Lat. li-nō (cp. Gr. ἀλίνω 'ἀλείφω' for ἀλι-νλω* § 611).

Skr. kṛi-ṇā-mi 'I buy', O.Ir. cre-nim 'I buy' for cri-na-mi* (cp. O.Ir. crī-thid 'fond of buying'), cp. § 604.

Often a present stem is formed both in this twelfth class and in Class XVII, particularly in Aryan; e. g. Skr. kṣi-ṇā-ti and kṣi-ṇō-ti 'destroys'. Cp. § 605 Rem.

The likeness of the endings in the strong singular persons and those of the corresponding stems of Classes X and XI, in -ā-, caused a number of analogical changes. (1) -nā- passes into the weak persons, as O.H.G. gi-nō-mēs beside gi-nō-m, following zittarō-mēs (cp. § 594 p. 134) and salbō-mēs. (2) An extension with -iō- by analogy of the variation -ā- : -ā-iō- in Classes X and XI, as Gr. δαμνάω instead of δάμνημι, A.S. hlīnie 'I lean' instead of hli-nō-iō.

§ 599. Aryan. Skr. vy-ṇā-ti 'chooses' mid. vy-ṇi-tē, Avest. mid. ver'-n-tē; — with thematic vowel Avest. 3rd sing. pret. mid. fraor'nata = pr. Ar. pra-vy-na-ta*. Skr. pr-ṇā-ti 'fills';²⁾ — with thematic vowel pr-ṇā-ti Avest. imper. per'-nā. Skr. śy-ṇā-ti 'breaks up, crushes, grinds, splits up'; — with thematic vowel imper. śy-ṇa; cp. O.Ir. ara-chrinim 'difficiscor, I decay, break up' § 604. Ar. zā-nā-* 'to know' for gṇ-nā-*, √ gṇ- 'know': Skr. jā-nā-ti, O.Pers. 3rd sing. pret. a-dā-nā: Lith. žino, see § 598 p. 141. Skr. prī-ṇā-ti 'makes glad,

1) zinō- may also be gṇ-n-ā-* (Class X).

2) One is tempted to identify this form with O.H.G. follōm 'I fill'. This is probably at least a derivative from the adj. fol Goth. full-s, like O.Ir. com-alnaim from lān, see § 760.

makes inclined', Avest. frī-nā-ḥ. Skr. jī-nā-ti 'conquers, compels', √ gei-. Avest. injunct. zi-nā-ḥ 'draws away' O.Pers. a-dī-nā; — with thematic vowel O.Pers. a-dī-na-m. Skr. pu-nā-ti 'purifies, clears', cp. Ir. u-nā-d 'to cleanse?' (Fick, Wtb. I⁴ 483, according to Stokes). Skr. dhu-nā-ti moves to and fro, shakes' beside dhu-nō-ti dhū-nō-ti. Skr. grbh-nā-ti grh-nā-ti 'grasps', Avest. ger'wo-nā-iti; — thematic Skr. grh-na-ti. Skr. badh-nā-ti 'binds' for bhṇadh-*, √ bhendh-.

Remark. Skr. muṣṇā-ti 'steals' is derived from the noun mūṣ- muṣ- 'mouse' (II § 160 p. 485). Similar words below in § 793.

§ 600. Strong stem instead of weak. Skr. imper. 2nd sing. grbh-nā-hi instead of grbh-nī-hi, 2nd pl. pu-nā-ta instead of pu-nī-tā. Compare Skr. kṛ-nō-ta instead of kṛ-nu-tā and the like, § 641.

There was naturally a close contact between thematic and non-thematic forms in Aryan, which made it easy for words to pass from one to the other. The 1st person singular and the 3rd plural present, with other forms, and the conjunctive mood, had regularly the same form in both: compare Skr. mṛṇāmi mṛṇānti from both mṛ-nā-ti and mṛ-nā-ti. Thematic stems are specially common in Avestic; compare 3rd sing. mid. ster'-na-tā opt. ster'-nae-ta beside Skr. stṛ-nā-ti 'strews', and 2nd sing. hu-na-hi beside hu-nā-iti 'begets'.

The Sanskrit 2nd sing. imper. active, besides -nī-hi (-nā-hi), has the ending -āná, found in classical Sanskrit with all roots ending in a consonant, as grh-āná badh-āná. Two explanations of these are possible. (1) -āna may = Idg. -one, which may be a thematic imperative of Class XIV, where Slavonic has -ono- (see §§ 615, 624). Or (2), -āna may be -ā = -ṛ- + -na, — -ṛ- being a weak form of the nā-suffix, and -na the same particle which we see with the 2nd pl. in -ta-na (beside -ta). The second view seems better.

Remark. Bartholomae now supports the view which analyses -āna into -ā + na, and identifies -na with -na in -ta-na -tha-na (Stud. Idg. Spr., II 123), and cites by way of illustration the Avestic 2nd sing. imper. bara-nā, a variant for the usual bara = Skr. bhāra. But he explains grhā- as derived from ghṛbhāi-*, where I cannot follow him.

Exceptionally the root syllable has a strong grade: partic. mid. āp-n-āna-s like āp-nō-mi Class XVII, cp. opt. aor. apēyam and āpas- apās-. But ap- may be preposition a + ap-.

A few isolated forms in Sanskrit show a change from this class to -iō-stems: partic. hṛñā-yā-nt- hṛñā-yā-māna-s beside a-hṛ-ñā-t mid. hṛ-ñā-tē. With forms like Gr. δαμνάω (§ 598 p. 142), hṛñā-yā-nt- has no very close connexion.

§ 601. Armenian. baṛna-m 'I raise' for barj-na-m* ground-form bhyḡh-nā-mi*, cp. aor. barj-i. dairna-m 'I return' for darj-na-m*, cp. aor. darj-ay. bana-m 'I open' ground-form bhā-nā-mi* from $\sqrt{bhā-}$ (p. 56 footnote), cp. aor. ba-ç-i: Gr. φαίνω for φα-νιω* § 611, O.H.G. ba-nnu § 654. sta-na-m 'I possess, have in my power, buy', cp. aor. sta-ç-ay: Gr. στά-νω 'I place' (G. Meyer, Gr. Gr.² p. 446) Lat. dē-stināre, O.C.Sl. sta-na 'I place myself'. lua-na-m 'I wash', cp. aor. lua-ç-i.

These are inflected like the ā-presents mna-m and jana-m (§ 581 p. 122). But the original quantity of the a in -na- cannot be determined; and -na- may be Idg. -nā- or Idg. -nə-.

§ 602. Greek. μάρ-να-μαι μαρ-νά-μενο-ς, πορ-νά-μεν πέρ-νη-μι, λῆ-να-μαι see § 598 p. 141. δάμ-νη-μι 'I tame' beside δάμα-σσειν; for the root syllable compare κάμ-νω and Skr. śam-nī-tē beside κάμα-το-ς śami-tā-s, ὄμ-νῦ-μι beside ὀμό-τη-ς. δύ-ια-μαι 'I can' possibly connected with Lat. dū-ru-s; but Gortyn. νύ-να-μαι 'I can', probably belongs to some other root.¹⁾

The i of the root-syllabic is strange in the following stems. μίγ-νη-μι 'I mix' beside aor. ἐκέρασι. πῖλ-να-μαι 'I draw near quickly' beside aor. ἐπέλασα: cp. Lat. pellō for pel-nō*, O.Ir. ad-ellaim 'I go to, visit' for -(p)el-nā-. χοίμ-νη-μι 'I hang' (wrongly written κοήμνημι) beside aor. ἐκρέμασα. ὀρίγ-να-μαι 'I reach or stretch' beside ὀρέγω. πίτ-νη-μι 'I spread' beside aor. ἐπέτασα; thematic ἐ-πιτ-νο-ν πίτ-νω. σείδ-να-μαι 'I spread or widen, disperse' beside ἐσκέδασα. Various explanations are given: see Osthoff, M. U. II 20; Wackernagel, Kuhn's Zeitschr. XXIX 126; Moulton, Am. Journ. Phil. X 284 f., and Class. Rev. III 45; Kretschmer, Kuhn's Zeitschr. XXXI 375 f.

1) Can this be connected with νεῦρο-ν 'sinew, tension, strength'?

With -io-flexion: δαμνάω, κιννάω, ὀριγνάομαι, πιτνάω. Compare § 598 end, p. 142.

In δύ-να-μαι, the nasal was not confined to the present stem: δυνᾶτος ἐδυνήσάμην ἐδυνήθην ἐδυνάσθην, like ἀγᾶτος ἀγῆτος ἡγάσθην from ἄγα-μαι. Compare § 643, and τανύσσαι (from τα-νύ-μαι).

§ 603. Italic. (1) We find in Latin the non-thematic inflexion of Class XIII: ster-nō (contrast Skr. stṛ-ñā-ti), li-nō (contrast Skr. vi-linā-ti), pellō for pel-nō* (contrast Gr. πῖλ-να-μαι), sper-nō (contrast O.H.G. spor-nō-m 'I tread, kick'), and no sound-law prevents our putting in this twelfth class ster-ni-mus -ni-tis, deriving them from -na-mos -na-tes (cp. § 505 p. 71, on red-dimus, and § 543 p. 103, on se-ri-mus).

(2) But some compounds are inflected as verbs in -āre. cōn-ster-nāre, beside O.H.G. stornēm 'attonitus sum' (§ 605) Gr. πτέρω 'I make shy, put in a fright'. in-clināre: O.Sax. hli-nō-n 'I lean', cp. Lett. slī-nu (beside slēiju) 'I lean on, support'. dē-stināre, cp. Armen. sta-na-m 'I possess' Gr. στά-νω 'I place' and στα-νύω (§ 601 p. 144). So too com-pellāre from pellere, aspernārī from spernere. It is assumed that a similarity in the endings -nā-s(i) -nā-t(i), in this class, and -ā-s(i) -ā-t(i) in Classes X and XI caused a current to set in the direction of the last two (cp. end of § 598). But this does not explain why only compounds were carried by it; and apparently we must not separate pellere : compellāre, spernere : aspernārī from fligere : prōfligāre, capere : occupāre and others. The -nā- in cōn-ster-nā-s must therefore be kept quite distinct from -nā- in Skr. ṣṛ-ñā-mi Gr. δάμ-νῃ-μι. See § 583 pp. 124 f.

§ 604. Keltic. O.Ir. re-nim 'I give away, sell' (perf. -rir), le-nim 'adhaereo' (perf. ro lil), cre-nim 'I buy' (perf. -ciuir) Mod.Cymr. prynaf, see § 598 p. 142. gle-nim 'adhaereo'

(perf. ro giuil) Mod.Cymr. glynaf beside O.H.G. chli-nu 'I cleave, stick, smear' (Gr. γλοι-ό-ς 'sticky dampness' O.H.G. chleimen 'plasmare'). O.Ir. be-nim 'I strike, cut' O.Brit. et-binam 'lanio' Mod.Bret. benaff 'I cut', beside Lat. perfringes 'perfringas' (Festus) O.Bret. bi-tat 'resicaret' O.C.Sl. bi-ti 'to strike'. The inflexion of these presents, as Thurneysen shows (Kuhn's Zeitschr. xxxi 87), points to pr. Kelt. -nā-mi -nā-si -nā-ti -nā-mesi* etc., i. e. the weak suffix -nā- = Idg. -nə- had got into the singular.

We must keep these presents distinct from O.Ir. ara-chrinim 'I decay, break up' (beside Skr. śṛ-nā-ti § 599 p. 142), -gninim 'I recognise' (✓ ġen-, cp. Skr. jā-nā-ti with ġñ-* § 598 p. 141) and ro-chluiniur 'I hear' (beside Avest. sru-nao-iti Class XVII, ✓ kley-), which have īo-inflexion. Was there any connexion between the -īo- of this last named present and the old -nu-inflexion? There may be the same relation between -chrinim and Skr. śṛ-nā-mi as between Gr. φαίνω for φα-ν-ιω* and Armen. ba-na-m (§ 611), or between Lat. li-n-iō (beside li-nō) and Skr. vi-linā-ti (§ 598 p. 142, § 743).

§ 605. Germanic. Here, as in Latin, we have sometimes the thematic conjugation of Class XIII, and sometimes the conjugation of Classes X and XI; see § 598 end, p. 142.

O.H.G. spor-nō-m 'I tread, kick' O.Icel. spor-na 'knock against'; thematic variant stem O.H.G. spur-nu and -spirnit conj. -spirne (perf. spur-num O.Icel. perf. spar-n spur-nom) like Lat. sper-nō. O.Sax. mor-nō-n 'I trouble myself, care', A.S. thematic murne. Explanation uncertain: O.H.G. conj. wolle beside Skr. vṛ-ñī-tē 'chooses' (Kluge, Paul-Braune's Beitr., viii 515). O.H.G. gi-nō-m (also gei-nō-m) A.S. ġinie 'I gape'; with -no-, O.Icel. ġī-n O.C.Sl. 3rd sing. zi-ne-tŭ, ✓ ġheĭ-. O.Sax. hli-nō-n A.S. hlinie 'I lean, support myself': Lat. in-clī-na-t. O.Icel. li-na 'I soften': Skr. li-nā-ti etc., see § 598 p. 142. O.Icel. fū-na 'I rot, corrupt' (partic. fū-inn 'rotten'): thematic Lith. pū-nu 'I rot'.

We must add a group of West Germanic verbs in which -kk- -pp- -tt- are due to assimilation of the n of -nā- to an explosive root-final (I § 530 p. 388, § 534 p. 391, § 541 p. 396); as O.H.G. lecchōm 'I lick' ground-form ligh-nā-mi*, zocchōm 'I pull hard, tug' ground-form duk-nā-mi*, Mid.H.G. hopfe (Rhine-Frank. hoppe) 'I hop' ground-form qup-nā-mi*.

Remark. Some forms of these verbs have not broken u and i in the root; as O.H.G. zucchōm, Mod.H.G. zucke beside zocchōm, Mid.H.G. rupfe beside ropfe (ground-form rub-n-*), Mid.H.G. stutze 'I push, strike' (ground-form stud-n-*), Mod.H.G. nicke (ground-form knigh-n-*). I suggest as a possible explanation that there may once have been bye-forms with the present-suffix -neṣ- -nu-, as 1st pl. duk-nu-mes*. Compare Goth. kunnum (gṇ-nu-mes*) beside uf-kunna.

A third group of Germanic present stems is that exemplified by Goth. ṗaha -áis. Goth. maúrndái-ṗ O.H.G. mornēt beside O.Sax. mornōn A.S. murne. O.H.G. hlinēm beside O.Sax. hlinōn A.S. hlinie. O.H.G. stornēm 'attonitus sum, inhiō', beside Lat. cōn-sternāre § 603 p. 145. The transformation in these verbs is due to their intransitive meaning, see § 781.3. The case is different with Goth. uf-kunnái-ṗ 'recognises', as we shall see in § 646.

§ 606. Balto-Slavonic. The thematic type prevails; e. g. Lett. gū-nu 'I snatch' contrasted with Skr. ju-nā-ti 'sets in quick motion, urges', O.C.Sl. zi-ne-tŭ 'yawns, gapes' contrasted with O.H.G. gi-nō-t.

Traces of -nā- are perhaps left in Lith. žino 'he knows' ground-form gṇ-nā-t*: Skr. jā-nā-ti, see § 598 p. 141; and in Lith. ly-nó-ja 'it rains slightly' inf. ly-nó-ti (Lett. li-ná-t) beside lŷ-na 'it rains', kiľnó-ju 'I lift this way and that' beside Lat. ex-cellō for celnō*, łasznó-ja 'it drizzles, trickles a little'.

Remark. kiľnó-ju may also be quite well explained as a derivative from kiľna-s 'high'; and this makes it doubtful whether the "diminutive frequentatives" in -nó-ju ought not to be estimated quite differently and classed elsewhere. But here we must bear one point in mind — this I say with a view to Leskien (Ablaut der Wurzels. im Lit., p. 174) — to wit, that Baltic denominatives often put on the appearance of primary verbs. See § 793. Thus e. g. lynó-ja may quite well be a primary form by analogy of which was formed kiľnó-ju from kiľna-s.

Class XIII.

Root + -no- forming the Present Stem.

§ 607. Stems of this class seem to bear much the same general relation to Class XII as Skr. tī-ṣṭh-a-ti Lat. si-st-i-t to Gr. ἵστησι; see § 491 p. 50.

But certainly not all the stems of this class are stems of Class XII which have taken to thematic inflexion. Amongst them are many whose stem is found as a noun-stem, and was probably only a noun-stem at the first. Take, for example, Skr. vē-na-ti 'longs' beside vē-nā-s 'longing'; paṇa-tē 'trafficks, barter, buys' beside paṇa-s 'wager, bargain, loan' Lith. peľna-s 'gain, profit' (I § 259 p. 211); Goth. frathna O.Icel. fregn 'I ask' beside Skr. praśnā-s 'question'. So too Class XIV (-ṇno -eno -ono-), closely connected with this, is denominative in its origin.

Since it is impossible to distinguish verbs like Skr. mṛ-ṇā-ti (beside mṛ-ṇā-ti mṛ-ṇ-ānti) from those like Skr. vē-na-ti (from vē-nā-s), we shall treat them together.

Parallel variants such as Gr. βόλωμαι δήλωμαι 'I wish' (gl-no* : gel-no-*), O.H.G. wallu 'I heave, toss': willu 'roll, wallow' (ul-no* : uel-no-*) recal similar pairs in Class II, Skr. kṛṣ-ā-ti : kārṣ-a-ti (§ 513 pp. 78 f.), and in Class XXVI, Goth. vaurk-ja : O.H.G. wirk-(i)u (§ 705).

§ 608. First we cite no-forms which occur in more than one language.

stṛ-no-* from √ster- 'sternere': Avest. 3rd sing. mid. ster-na-tā, Lat. ster-nō (with the root-syllable in the strong grade), beside Skr. stṛ-ṇā-ti (§ 600 p. 143). Lat. sper-nō, O.H.G. spur-nu 'I tread, step, kick', fir-spirni-t conj. -spirne (see § 614), beside Skr. sphur-ā-ti 'quickens, throbs'. Lat. li-nō, Lith. lỹ-na 'it rains' (cp. Gr. ἀλίσσω for alu-nuō* § 611), beside Skr. li-nā-ti O.Icel. li-na § 598 p. 142, § 603 p. 145. A.S. gǣ-ne O.Icel. gǣ-n 'I gape, yawn' O.C.Sl. zi-ne-tŭ 'gapes, yawns' beside

O.H.G. gi-nō-m, see § 605 p. 146. Goth. kei-na O.H.G. chī-nu 'I bud', Lith. gy-nu (beside gyjū) 'I revive, recover'. Lat. fallō, O.H.G. fallu, both with -ll- for -ln-, possibly connected with Lith. pū'lu 'I fall' ground-form phōlō*; according to another derivation, fallō is akin to Gr. θολερός 'troubled, impure' Goth. dval-s 'foolish' A.S. dwellan 'check, wander'; if so, the ground-form of fallō must be dhul-nō*.

§ 609. Aryan. To the forms cited in §§ 598 and 599, parallel to forms in Class XII, add the following: 2nd pl. gr-ṇā-tu beside gr-ṇā-ti 'calls, calls upon'; rāṇa-ti 'indulges himself, pleases himself' instead of raṇā-ti* (cp. § 516 p. 82) ground-form rṇ-né-ti* beside ram-ṇā-ti, which must be explained like śam-nī-tē § 602 p. 144 (cp. ra-tā-s for rṇ-ta-s*); ā-mi-na-nta beside mī-nā-ti 'lessens, hurts'; math-na-dhvam beside math-nā-ti and mānth-a-ti 'twirls, moves, shakes'.

Skr. ghūrṇa-ti 'wavers' from ghūr-ṇa-s 'wavering'. vēna-ti 'longs' from vē-nā-s 'longing'. paṇa-tē 'trades' from paṇa-s 'wager'. phanati 'leaps, hops, is in motion' from phanā-s 'snake's hood, nostril' (perhaps cognate with sphurā-ti 'quickens, throbs', and if so, with Lat. sper-nō O.H.G. fir-spirnit, see § 608 p. 148). Compare § 607 p. 148.

§ 610. Armenian. ar-ne-m 'I make', aor. ar-ar-i § 571 p. 113. yar-ne-m 'I raise myself, get up', cp. Skr. ṛ-ṇō-mi Gr. ὄρ-νῦ-μι Class XVII § 639. d-ne-m 'I place', ✓dhē-. With the middle io-extension (§ 711), li-ni-m 'I become' (aor. part. lieal), tani-m 'I lead' (aor. tar-ay).

λάμ-νω 'I take pains, labour', cp. Skr. śam-nī-tē § 602 p. 144.

Dor. βώλεται Att. βούλεται 'I prefer, I wish' ground-form ǵ-ne-*, Dor. δήλεται Delph. δείλεται (Thess. βέλλεται Boeot. βείλετη) ground-form gel-ne-*, see I § 204 p. 170, § 428 b with the Remark p. 316. Hom. Dor. τάμνω Att. τέμνω 'I cut', cp. aor. ταμ-εῖν. Lesb. ἀπ-έλλω Dor. φῆλω Hom. εἴλω 'I press' for fel-no-*.

As we find -η-ιο- (Gr. -αινω) parallel to -ηνο- (Gr. -ανω) — Class XIV, §§ 616 and 621, Class XXIX § 743 — so we have in Greek -η-ιο- instead of -ηνο-. Lesb. κλίννω Hom. Att. κλίνω 'I bend, incline' for κλι-ν-ιω*: Lat. in-clī-nā-re O.Sax. hli-nō-n Lett. slī-nu § 603 p. 145. κρίννω κρίνω 'I separate, choose out, decide', σίννομαι σίνομαι 'I rob' (cp. Kretschmer, Kuhn's Zeitschr. xxxi 420). ἀλίνω 'ἀλείφω' (aor. ἀλῖναι), beside Lat. li-nō etc., see § 598 p. 142, § 608 p. 148. ὀτρύνω 'I drive on' for ō-tṛu-n-ιω* from ✓tuer- tur- (Skr. tvār-a-tē 'hastens' O.H.G. dwir-u 'I turn quickly round, move', Skr. turāṇa-s 'hastening'); with tru- : tur- compare Skr. hru-ṇā-ti : ju-hur-a-s beside hvār-a-tē, Avest. caḥru- Skr. catur- beside catvar- and the like. φαίνω 'I make appear, make visible, show' for φα-ν-ιω*: Armen. ba-na-m O.H.G. ba-nnu, see § 601 p. 144. χαίνω 'I gape' for χα-ν-ιω* with the aor. ἔ-χα-νο-ν, beside χά-σκα χῆ-μη χῶ-ρᾶ: cp. Skr. hī-nā-s 'deserted, lacking' jī-hī-tē 'yields, departs' (§ 540 p. 101). By analogy of κτεν-ιω* (κτείνω) beside aor. ἐ-κτεν-σα (ἐκτεῖνα) fut. κτενε(σ)ω* (κτενῶ), there were made in pr. Greek the aorist ἐκλινσα* ἐφανσα* (ἐκλῖνα ἐφῆνα) and the future κλινε(σ)ω* φανε(σ)ω* (κλινῶ φανῶ) from κλιν-ιω* and φαν-ιω*, and others in the same way.

Remark. φαίνω shews that κλίνω comes from κλι-ν-ιω*. Bartholomae's doubts are unfounded (Stud. Idg. Spr., II 87 f.).

The origin of the Att. ending -ενω is generally uncertain, as it may come from -νω, -νιω, or νῑω (§ 655). In any case, pairs of variants such as βένω δένω θένω beside βίω δίω θίω produced ιθένω ἀρτένω beside ιθύω ἀρτίω, and then the analogy went further, and we have ἡδένω ταχένω etc. Compare Lith. keláunu § 615.

§ 612. Italic. ster-nō sper-nō li-nō fallō see § 608 pp. 148 f.

Other verbs with a weak grade of root: tollō ground-form tǵ-nō* ✓ tel. si-nō, origin obscure (cp. Osthoff, M. U. iv 133 f., Perf. 612). dē-gūnō for gus-nō*, ✓ gēys-.

Other verbs with strong grade of root. pellō for pel-nō* (Umbr. aṛ-peltu 'admoveto'), beside Gr. πῖλ-ρα-μαι, see § 602 p. 144. ex-cellō for cel-nō*, cp. Lith. kilnó-ju § 606 Rem. p. 147.

tem-nō may come from Idg. tem-* or tǵn-*.

Again cer-nō, which is connected with Gr. κρίνω and Lith. skir-iù, may be explained in two ways. If it contains the unextended root, it is on a level with pellō etc. But it may have arisen in composition from crinō* (I § 33 p. 34), in which case it will be analysed cr-i-nō* and be more closely akin to Gr. κρίνω.

Lastly, pandō is doubtful. It is connected with Osc. patensins (Class XIV, § 622). If it comes from pat-nō* (vol. II p. 161 footnote, Bartholomae, Bezz. Beitr. xvii 119), a must be derived from ə on account of Gr. πετάσσαι, and then the root had a weak grade. But pandō may belong to Class XVI; see § 632.

§ 613. Keltic. O.Ir. ser-nim 'sero' 3rd pl. -sernat (cp. Windisch, Ir. Wörterb., p. 770 b). Perhaps sennim (sennaim) 'I drive, hunt' beside O.H.G. swimmu for sǵem-nō* (§ 614 p. 152), cp. Mod. Cymr. chwyfaf 'I move, quiver' for sǵem-* (Thurneysen).

§ 614. Germanic. O.H.G. spur-nu 'I step, kick', and with strong-grade root syllable fir-spirni-t conj. -spirne: Lat. sper-nō, see § 608 p. 148. A.S. mur-ne 'I trouble, grieve', cp. O.Sax. mor-nō-n, see § 605 p. 146.¹⁾ O.H.G. wallu

1) Forms like O.H.G. 1st pl. spurnamēs infin. spurnan partic. fir-spurnan A.S. spurnan murnan are without a-umlaut, by analogy doubtless of the 2nd and 3rd sing. pres. and the plural of the pret. O.H.G. spurnum etc., cp. O.H.G. inf. durfan beside darf durfum, and others. But A.S. has spornan as well as spurnan. Or had the West Germanic originally forms of Class XVII beside those with -no? Compare spurnum with kunnu-m § 646.

Dor. βώλεται Att. βούλεται 'I prefer, I wish' ground-form gǵ-ne-*, Dor. δήλεται Delph. δείλεται (Thess. βέλλεται Boeot. βείλεται) ground-form gel-ne-*, see I § 204 p. 170, § 428 b with the Remark p. 316. § 615. Balto-Slavonic. Here this class is more creative than anywhere else.

Lith. gy-nu 'I revive, recover': Goth. kei-na, see § 608 p. 149. Lith. lỹ-na 'it rains': Lat. li-nō (ibid). O.C.Sl. zi-ne-tũ 'gapes, yawns': A.S. zĩ-ne (ibid). Lett. slĩ-nu 'I lean upon, support': cp. Gr. Lesb. κλί-νω O.Sax. hli-nō-n Lat. in-clĩnāre (§ 603 p. 145, § 611 p. 150); Lett. st-nu 'I bind': cp. Skr. si-nd-ti 'binds, surrounds' ✓ saĩ-; in the two Lettic verbs i doubtless comes from the infinitive (slĩ-t, si-t). Lith. ry-nũ 'I swallow, devour'; O.C.Sl. ri-ne-tũ 'knocks' rinetũ se 'starts' (cp. na-rojĩ 'impetus'). Lith. ei-nũ 'I go': a comparison with Lat. prōd-īnunt is unsafe (see § 1022). O.C.Sl. si-ne-tu 'shines', mi-ne-tũ 'goes by'.

Lith. pũ-nu (beside pũv-ũ) 'I make rotten' cp. O.Icel. fũ-na 'I rot', § 605 p. 146. Lett. gũ-nu 'I snatch' Lith. gáu-nu 'I get' (-áu- from gáu-ti, no doubt): cp. Skr. ju-nd-ti 'sets in quick motion, drives on, presses'. Lith. klũ-nu (beside klũv-ũ) 'I hook on to, remain hanging', griũ-nũ (beside griũv-ũ) 'I knock down', žũ-nũ (beside žũv-u) 'I come to grief', Lett. schũ-nu (beside Lith. siũv-ũ) 'I sew' O.C.Sl. pli-ne-tũ 'spews' for plji-* pljy-* spiũ-* (I § 60 p. 47), and plju-ne-tũ like Lith. spiũu-nu Lett. splau-nu. Lith. au-nũ Lett. áu-nu 'put covering on the feet' ✓ ey-, Lith. ráu-nu Lett. ráu-nu 'pull, tear, snatch out' (beside Lith. Lett. ráu-ju) ✓ rey-, and others (see Bielenstein, Lett. Spr. I 355).

The analogy of ráu-nu: infin. ráu-ti etc. produced Lith. denominative re-formations like keláunu instead of keláuju beside the inf. keláuti 'to travel' (from kēla-s kēle-s 'way'), karaláunu instead of karaláuju beside infin. karaláuti 'to be king' (from karāla-s 'king'). Compare Gr. ἰστένω § 611 p. 150.

Slavonic gives a large number of no-presents from verbs with other finals than -i and -u; planetũ 'blazes up' for pol-ne-tũ*, po-mę-ne-tũ 'thinks upon', vrĩg-ne-tũ 'throws' (✓ uerq-), mlũk-ne-tũ 'grows dumb', za-klenetũ 'shuts' for klep-ne-tũ*, bũnetũ 'awakes' for bũd-ne-tũ*, dvig-ne-tũ 'moves', sũch-ne-tũ 'dries' (intr.). Also from one root in -a: sta-ne-tũ 'places itself', akin to Pruss. stanintei, adverb of the pres. participle, cp. Armen. sta-na-m Gr. στένω Lat. dē-stināre § 611 p. 149.

In Slavonic the no-suffix is not confined to the present stem; it appears elsewhere in the system of the verb, but then in the peculiar shape -nq-. Examples are aor. mi-nq-chŭ partic. pres. mi-nq-vŭ infin. mi-nq-ti sup. mi-nq-tŭ from mi-nq. -nq- is regular only in the infinitive and supine (except sta-ti from sta-nq).

Remark. The following I think is not improbably the history of -nq-. Slavonic once had verbs in -onq* (1st sing. pres.), and their aorist ended in -on-sŭ -qsŭ and their infinitive in -on-ti -qti, parallel to Lith. gyvenù 'I dwell' (fut. -ė-siu infin. -ėn-ti) kùpinu 'I heap' (fut. -į-siu infin. -in-ti), see § 624. Now in the present, -no- levelled out -ono-, which was only used with consonantal roots; but -ono- remained everywhere except in the present. Hence a compromise: an infinitive vrīgqti*, for instance, would be transformed by analogy of vrīgna vrīgneši etc., and become vrīgnati. Afterwards -nq- was extended to verbs from roots ending in a vowel, such as mi-nq, and only sta-nq kept clear of this change (infin. sta-ti). Compare with this § 624 at end, and Wiedemann, Arch. Slav. Phil. x 653 ff.

Lithuanian has no present stems with the suffix -no- from roots with a final explosive or fricative; instead of these the language has forms of Class XVI, such as bundù as against būna in Old Church Slavonic. But there are a few in Lettic, all of them however with an interior nasal, which in most cases certainly belongs to the present suffix and not to the root: brīnu 'I wade' for brīd-nu* brend-nu* beside Lith. brendù and bredù (brīdaŭ brīsti), rūnu 'I find' for rūd-nu* beside Lith. randù (radaŭ rāsti), mīf-nu 'mingo' for menz-nu* beside Lett. mēžŭ (✓ meīgh-), līnu 'I crawl' for līd-nu beside Lith. lendù (līndaŭ līsti). The origin of this kind is obvious; the class with a nasal infix (Class XVI) has been contaminated with the -no-class, like O.C.Sl. seg-nq from ✓ seg- etc. (§ 636), and like Gr. ληπάνω from ✓ leiḡ- etc. (§ 631).

Class XIV.

Root + -yno- -eno- -ono- forming the Present Stem.

§ 616. It is quite clear that this class is derived from nouns; see § 487 p. 41, § 596. 6 p. 140, and below. It is noteworthy that the n-suffix is often extended by -īo-; as Skr. iṣaṇ-yā-ti beside (Ved.) iṣaṇa-t, Gr. ὀλισθαίνω beside ὀλισθάνω, O.H.G. giwahann(i)u 'I recount'. See §§ 618 and 743. This is the same formation as Skr. vithuryā-ti from vithurá-s 'staggering, shaking', Gr. αἰόλλω from αἰόλο-ς, see § 770.

§ 617. Along with -ṇuo- -eno- we find -ṇā- -enā-, inflected in the same way as denominatives from ā-stems. To illustrate, take: Skr. pṛtanā-yā-nt- 'fighting' beside Avest. pešana-iti Skr. pṛtan-yā-ti beside Skr. pṛtana-m pṛtanā- 'fight', Skr. bhandanā-yā-ti 'shouts, cheers' beside bhandána-s 'shouting' bhandinā- 'shout'; Gr. ἐρῦκανάω beside ἐρῦκάνω 'I hold back, bar, stem' (cp. θηγάνω 'I sharpen, whet' beside θήγματον θηγάνη 'whetstone', and δαπανάω 'I spend' beside δάπανον-ς 'extravagant' δαπάνη 'expense'); Lat. runcināre (cp. runcina 'plane') coquināre cārināre farcināre; O.Icel. vakna 'I awake' pret. vakna-ða, Goth. pret. ga-vaknō-da beside pres. ga-vakna; Lett. stiprinó-ju 'I strengthen' infin. stiprinó-ti beside stiprinu (infin. stiprin-ti), gabenó-ju 'I bring together' (infin. gabenó-ti) beside gabenū (infin. gabén-ti); and besides, the Lith. group of preterites, of which examples are 1st pl. stiprino-me gabéno-me, must be added.

Seeing how clear is the denominative character of this fourteenth class, no doubt can be felt that all these verbs are derived from feminine stems. The nearest parallel is found in the verbs which will be discussed in § 769, Skr. priyā-yā-tē Goth. frijō, O.Ir. com-alnaim O.H.G. follōm, and such like. That is to say, Skr. bhandanā-yā-ti stands to bhandána 'shout' and bhandána-s 'shouting' exactly as O.H.G. follō-m 'I fill' to folla 'fullness' and fol 'full', or as wuntōm 'I make wounded, I wound' to wunta 'a wound' and wunt 'wounded'.

Remark. The student must not suppose that I refuse to see the parallelism between ἐρῦκανάω : ἐρῦκάνω and πιτνάω : πίνω; O.Icel. vakna : Goth. ga-vakna and O.H.G. ginō-m : O.Icel. gín; Lith. stiprinó-ju : stiprinu and lynó-ja : lŷna. See the end of § 598, and §§ 602, 605, 606. The origin of the ā-flexion is different in the two sorts, but ā-flexion in the one may well have influenced the other in different languages independently. For instance, Greek verbs of the type of ῥῥυκνᾶω may have been supported by the use of πῑνᾶω, or vice versa.

Skr. bhandanā-yā-tē is not to be classed with hṛñā-yā-nt-, a quite isolated stem; we see this from a variant hṛñi-yā-māna-s (§ 600 p. 144). Such forms as bhandanī-yā-ti* do not exist.

§ 618. I cite first forms which appear in more than one language. Here, as below with forms belonging to one language only (§§ 619 ff.), the extension with -iō- must be cited too (§ 743).

Lat. cruen-tu-s partic. of a present 3^d sing. cruini-t*, Lith. krūvinu 'I make bloody' (partic. krūvinta-s = cruentu-s) from krū-vina-s 'bloody'.

Armen. aroganem 'I sprinkle', Lith. srāvinu 'I make flow', common ground-form sroyunō*, √srey- (cp. Bugge, Idg. Forsch. I 451).

Skr. injunctive iṣāna-t 'let him set in motion, arouse, excite, quicken' and iṣaṇ-yā-ti, Gr. laivō 'quicken, hasten, warm' for iō-av-īō*.

Goth. af-lifna 'I remain over' (pret. -nō-da), Lith. lipinù 'I cause to adhere'.

Goth. áukna 'I increase, grow' (pret. -nō-da), Lith. auginù 'I make grow, rear'.

Gr. αὔαινω 'I make dry, wither' for σασσ-av-īō*, Lett. saūsinu 'I make dry'. Compare Alban. ḡaṇ 'I dry, wither', for saus-nīō* according to G. Meyer (Alb. Wort. 85, Alb. Stud. III 43).

Gr. τερσαινω 'I make dry, dry up', Goth. ga-ḡaúrsna 'I grow dry, wither' (pret. -nō-da).

§ 619. Aryan. Avest. opt. 1st pl. zaranaēma and zaranyē-tē (partic. zaranimna-) from zar- 'grow angry, ill', cp. partic. zaranu-mana- Skr. hṛ-ñī-tē § 596.3 p. 138. Avest. pešana-iti 'fights' beside Skr. pṛtana-m pṛtana- Avest. pešana 'fight, battle' (cp. § 617 p. 155). Skr. kṛpāṇa-tē 'he behaves pitifully, prays' beside kṛpanā-s 'pitiful, miserable' kṛpāṇa-m 'misery'. iṣāna-t 'let him set in motion' and iṣaṇ-yā-ti: Gr. laivō, see § 618. Only with -iō-: turaṇ-yā-ti 'hastens, goes or makes to go quickly' from turāṇa-s 'hastening' (pres. tvār-a-tē 'hastens') cp. Gr. ὀτρύνω § 611 p. 150; bhuraṇ-yá-ti 'he is active' from bhuraṇa-s 'active', and others. Compare Skr. pṛtaṇā-yá-ti bhundaṇā-yá-ti § 617 p. 155.

There is nothing to decide whether this Aryan -ana- represents Idg. -ṇno- or -eno- (those who believe that Idg. o becomes a in open syllables in Aryan will say, or -ono- either). iṣanyá-ti as compared with Gr. laίνω, so far as it goes, favours -ṇno-.

-eno- must be the suffix in Skr. bhána-ti 'sounds, calls out', if this be derived from √bhā-, and analysed bh-ánati; see p. 56 footnote. Perhaps the same suffix is used in some of those forms which are cited by Per Persson, Wurzelerweiterung pp. 70 ff., such as dhvana-ti 'sounds'.

§ 620. Armenian. In this language -ano- = Idg. -ṇno- is a very common present suffix. lĕ-anem 'I leave', aor. 3rd sing. e-lĕk, √leiq-. gt-anem 'I find', aor. 3rd sing. e-git, √yeid-. tĕk-anem 'I spew, spit', aor. 3rd sing. e-tuĕk. kl-anem 'I swallow', aor. 3rd sing. e-kul. hat-anem 'I cut off'. tes-anem 'I see', √derĕ- (I § 263 p. 214). liz-anem 'I lick' for lēz-anem*, √leiqh-.

-anem, like Greek -ανω, is found in some forms which have another present suffix already. As for instance harĕanem 'I ask' beside aor. harĕi, stem pr(ĕ)-sko-* (§ 672), like Gr. ἀνσκάνω beside ἀνέσχω; and very near akin to harĕanem is Avest. per'sanyēiti 'asks', if its -s- = Skr. -ch- (cp. Skr. prachana-m 'an asking') and not Idg. -ĕ- (cp. Goth. frāihna).

-anim (cp. § 711) is a variant of -anem as Gr. -αίνω of -ανω; e. g. meṛ-ani-m 'I die' (aor. meṛ-ay) like Gr. μαρ-αίνω 'I make wither, decay', mac-ani-m 'I cleave to, hang on to, curdle', zerc-ani-m 'I free or save myself, run away'.

§ 621. Greek. In this language too -ano- = Idg. -ṇno- is very common.

ἀλφ-άνω 'I earn'. κεδ-άνω 'I honour, exalt'. κευθ-άνω 'I hide'. θηγ-άνω 'I whet'. ληθ-άνω 'I escape notice'.

The suffix is often used to extend other present stems. For example take the following. ιστ-άνω 'I place' beside ἵ-στη-μι (Class III). ισχ-άνω 'I hold back' beside ἴ-σχ-ω (Class IV). πυνθ-άνομαι 'I learn' λιμπ-άνω 'I leave' from πυνθω* = Lith. -bundū $\sqrt{bheudh-}$ and λιμπω* = Lat. linquō $\sqrt{leiq-}$, and so too κλαγγ-άνω 'I cry out' from κλαγγ-ω* (cp. κλάζω for κλαγγ-ω*) = Lat. clang-ō beside Gr. perf. κέκληγα (Class XVI). αὔξ-άνω 'I increase' beside αὔξω αὔκ-σω (Class XX). άλυσκ-άνω 'I avoid' beside άλύ-σκω (Class XXII). άμαρτ-άνω 'I miss' beside ήμαρ-το-ν (Class XXIV). δυσθ-άνω 'I sleep' beside ἔ-δαρ-θo-ν (Class XXV).

πιμπλάνω πιμπράνω, as compared with πί-πλη-μι πί-πρη-μι were made on the analogy of λιμπάνω, and this served to keep safe the nasal in πίμπλημι πίμπρημι κίγκραμι κίγχρημι (§ 542 p. 102, § 594 pp. 134 f.). Perhaps there was once a form πλα-νω*, parallel to Skr. ṛg-ṛā-ti, which on the analogy of πί-πλη-μι πί-πλα-μεν was transformed to πιπλανω* (cp. the reduplicated τε-τε-αίνω, p. 159), and then came under the influence of verbs like λιμπάνω. The Greeks themselves saw a close connexion between the ending -άνω and a nasal in the first syllable of the word which had it, if this syllable contained a short vowel + explosive; we can see this from the transformation of Att. κιχάνω* (for κι-χανω*, Hom. κιχάνω) into κιγχάνω (§ 652).

With -ανά (see § 617 p. 155): έρυκανάω beside έρυκάνω 'I hold back, bar, stem', δηκανάομαι 'I welcome' beside δηκνύ-μενος (§ 639), ισχανάω beside ισχάνω, and others.

A large number have -αίνω. όλισθαίνω beside όλισθάνω 'I slip'. μελαινω 'I darken' (beside μελάνω? see the commentators on Iliad 12 64), and others (cp. § 776. 6 b).

Amongst these verbs in -αίνω are those whose root no longer forms a separate syllable, some of which are certainly old (cp. Lett. tv-in-ti tr-in-ti § 624). ξ-αίνω 'I scratch, comb' (ξ-άνιο-ν 'comb for carding wool') beside ξ-ύω and ξ-έω ξ-έσ-σαι (Class XX, § 661) from $\sqrt{qes-}$ (II § 8 Rem. 2 p. 20). ἐκ-φλ-αίνω 'I bubble up' beside φλ-ύω Lat. fl-a-s O.H.G. bl-ā-u

Connected with noun stems in -ανο- (§ 487 pp. 40 f., § 596. 6 p. 140). ὀλισθάνω ὀλισθαίνω: ὀλισθανο-ς 'slippery, smooth'. θηγάνω: θήγανο-ν θηγάνη 'whetstone'. μελάνω μελαίνω: μελανο- (μελαν-) 'black'. φασγάνεται ξίφει ἀναιρεῖται Hesych.: φάσγανο-ν 'cutting instrument, or sword'. κυαίνων · ἔχνος ὧν Hesych.: Samian κυανο- in Κυανοπιπών (the Author, Gr. Gr.² p. 32 footnote 1). Compare λευκαίνω with Skr. rōcanā-s 'light, shining', ἀλφάνω with Skr. arhaṇa-m arhaṇā 'tribute of respect'.

Latin verbs in -ināre (§ 617 p. 155): coquināre beside coquere, cārināre beside cārere etc.

§ 623. Germanic. In this class fall Inchoatives formed with an n-suffix (for the term inchoatives as applied to them, see Egge, Amer. Journ. Phil., vii 38 ff.); as Goth. ga-vaknan O.Icel. vakna A.S. wæcnan 'awake'. Since in these and many other words n is not assimilated to the preceding consonant, it follows that there must have been a vowel between than which has suffered syncope (cp. I § 214 p. 181, Kaufmann, P.-B. Beitr. xii 504 ff.). But whether this vowel was a, i, or u, and the suffix accordingly Idg. -ono-, -eno-, or -yno-, remains a question. Furthermore, amongst form like Goth. dis-taurna 'I tear to pieces, crush to pieces', there may be forms with Idg. -no- (cp. Skr. dīr-ṇā-s O.H.G. zor-n, II § 66 p. 141), which would then have to be placed in Class XIII.

1) By this correct vol. I § 488 p. 360, § 492 p. 363, § 639 p. 479.

The old unextended inflexion was regular Gothic only for the present; e. g. ga-vakna -is -iþ etc. Elsewhere Gothic has -nō-, as -vaknōda. Old Icelandic carries -nō- all through the verb, as vakna -naða. In Old High German, on account of a certain change which will be set forth in § 781.3, most of the words in question are absorbed into the ē-conjugation (3rd weak conj.), as wesanēm.

In addition to the words already mentioned — Goth. af-lyna, áuk-na (O.Icel. aukna), ga-þaúrsna (O.Icel. þorna) — the following may be named: Goth. ga-staurkna 'I become stiff, dry up' O.Icel. storkna O.H.G. gi-storchanēm (beside Lith. streg-iu 'I stiffen'). Goth. -brukna intr. 'I break, break to pieces' (beside brika 'I break'). Goth. ga-batna O.Icel. batna 'I improve myself', O.H.G. trunkanēm 'I get drunk'. Beside Goth. us-lūkna 'I open' (intr.) appears us-lūkn-s 'open' (adj.).

These inchoatives are sometimes derived from an adjective, in which case they run in parallel lines with the factitive group in (Goth.) -jan; Goth. fullnan O.Icel. fullna 'get full' beside Goth. fulljan O.Icel. fylla 'make full, fill' from Goth. full-s O.Icel. full-r 'full' (ground-form pł-no-s*), Goth. ga-qiunan 'become alive' beside ga-qiujan 'make alive, quicken' from giu-s (gen. qivis) 'alive', Goth. mikilnan 'grow big' beside mikiljan 'make big' from mikil-s 'big'; cp. Lith. linksminu from liñksma-s and similar forms, § 624.

O.H.G. gi-wahannen 'mention' pret. gi-wuog, A.S. wæcnan 'awaken' pret. wōc, like Gr. ἀλισταίνω (aor. ἤλιτο-ν).

§ 624. Balto-Slavonic. Baltic has -ina = Idg. -yno-, and -ena- = Idg. -eno-.

Lith. krùvinu 'I make bloody' fut. krùvī-siu partic. krùvin-ta-s = Lat. cruen-tu-s, uginù 'I make grow', saūsinu 'I make dry', see § 618 p. 156. kùpinu 'I heap up' from kùpina-s 'heaped up'. trùpinu 'I crumble, break into little bits' from trupinỹ-s 'crumb'. tėkinu 'I make run (on a grindstone), polish' from tėkina-s 'running' (O.C.Sl. tečnũ). bùdinu 'I awake'. lipinù 'I make stick'. The form of the root is noticeable in tr-inù 'I rub' infin. tr-in-ti from $\sqrt{\text{ter-}}$ (Lat. terō), with which compare Gr. τε-τρωίνω 'I bore', and tvīstu 'I swell out' instead of tv-inu*, infin. tv-in-ti, beside Lat. tu-meō; cp. Gr. ξ-αίνω, and its like, § 621 pp. 158 f.

This extraordinarily fertile suffix was used to derive verbs with a factitive meaning from adjectives too (as in Gothic, fullnan etc., § 623); e. g. līnksminu 'I make glad, comfort' from līnksma-s 'joyful', vėninu 'I unite' from vėna-s 'one', tvīrtinu 'I make fast' from tvīrta-s 'fast'; cp. Pruss. swintina 'he hallows' from swints 'holy'.

From verbs like pú-d-inu vėl-d-inu svīl-d-inu was extracted a suffix -dinu, which was largely used. See §§ 700 and 701.

Only Lithuania and Prussia have -ina- (-in-) with non-present stems. For Prussian, compare infin. waidin-t 'to show' partic. pret. act. waidinn-ons from the pres. 3rd sing. waidinna; swintin-t-s 'hallowed' from 3rd sing. pres. swintina. Lettic has for these parts of the verb -ina-, as áudfinu 'I bring up, raise, rear' infin. áudfinát in contrast with Lith. uginù auginti (cp. Goth. lifna lifnōda). Lith. has also a few words with -inoju -inoti, as stiprinóju 'I strengthen' stiprinóti beside stiprinu stiprinti (Lett. stiprinu stiprinát), līnksminóju 'I make glad' līnksminóti (also accented līnksminoju) beside līnksminu.

Rarer than -ina- is -ena-: Lith. gyvenù 'I dwell' gyvėnti (cp. Goth. ga-giuna, § 623 p. 160) and graudenù 'I remind, admonish'; gabenu 'I bring', also gabenóju gabenóti.

That Slavonic once possessed verbs in -onq* infin. -on-ti* -atī* may be assumed, as we have seen in § 615 Rem. p. 154, from such forms as vrīg-na-ti. With this -ono- compare zv-onŭ 'sound' beside zv-ŭnĕti 'sound', containing the suffix -ŭno- (beside zov-q zv-a-ti 'to call', II § 67 p. 154); further, Gr. αὐονή 'dryness' αὐονον ξύλον ξηρόν (Hesych., MS. αὐονος) beside αὐαίνω 'I dry up' (beside Lith. saūsin-ti O.C.Sl. sūchna-ti).

Class XV.

Root + Nasal Suffix forming the Present Stem.

§ 625. Here fall such present stems as Skr. yundáj-mi pl. yuñj-más. This class has hitherto not been certainly proved to belong to any branch but Aryan. Its origin and relation to the other nasal classes has been discussed in § 596.5 p. 139.

§ 626. Aryan. $\sqrt{\text{leig-}}$ 'linquere': Skr. riṇák-ti Avest. irinaxti (I § 260 p. 212), Skr. 1st pl. riñc-más 3rd pl. riñc-ánti pret. 1st pers. sing. á-riṇac-am 2nd and 3rd sing. á-riṇak, conj. riṇác-a-t, opt. riñc-yá-t; — thematic Lat. linqu-ō Pruss. po-linka 'remains'. Skr. bhinád-mi 'I split', imper. bhin(d)dhí, $\sqrt{\text{bheid-}}$; — thematic Prakrit bhind-a-di Lat. find-ō. pináš-mi 'I pound, crush' 3rd pl. piš-ánti (cp. I footnote), injunctive 2nd and 3rd sing. pinák, $\sqrt{\text{peis-}}$; — thematic Skr. a-piš-a-t Lat. pīns-ō. Avest. cinah-mi 'I give information', cp. 3rd sing. cōiš-t 'he informed'. Avest. cinas-ti 'he instructs' 1st pl. mid. conj. cinap-ā-maidē. Skr. ruṇádh-mi 'I stop, stem' 3rd sing. act. ruṇáddhi mid. run(d)dhē; — thematic rundh-a-ti. vyṇáj-mi 'I twist together' 3rd sing. mid. vyṇak-tē, $\sqrt{\text{uerg-}}$, cp. Gr. ῥέμποιαι § 631. tyṇédhi 'shatters' instead of tyṇódhi* (for tyṇaṣ-ḍhi*), 3rd pl. tyh-ánti (see I § 404.2 p. 298); — thematic tyh-a-ti. Avest. weak form mer'æk- mer'nc- from marc- 'destroy'. 3rd pl. act. mer'nc-inti mid. mer'nc-aitē 2nd pl. mid. mer'ng'-duyē, opt. 3rd sing. merqš-yā-ḥ, cp. I § 448 pp. 332 f.,

Remark. On Skr. hinās-ti 3rd pl. hīs-anti see § 667.

Strong stem instead of weak: Skr. 2nd pl. yunāk-ta instead of yunāk-tā.

Class XVI.

Root + Nasal Infix + Thematic Vowel forming the Present Stem.

§ 627. This class stands to the preceding in the same relation as Class II B to Class I, etc., see § 491 p. 50.

As the nasal often spreads from the present to the other parts of the verb, and then to nouns it is often doubtful, where a Root does not contain i, u, a liquid or a nasal, whether the nasal which we see is not really part of the root itself. It is an infix in Lat. pre-hendō -hendī -hēnsu-s Gr. χίσσομαι 'I will seize' (for χενδ+σ-) ἔ-χαδ-ο-ν (χῆδ-) χαρδάνω Alban. ġendem 'I am found' Lett. ġidu 'I understand, conjecture' (for gendu*), which is proved by Lat. praeda (for prae-heda*) Goth. -gita. For Skr. spanda-tē 'throbs' spandaya-ti spanda-s 'a throbbing' pani-ṣpadā-s 'throbbing' (*spad- = spṇd-) Gr. σπενδόνη 'sling' σπαδασμός 'throbbing, eagerness, impatience' (σπῆδ-*)¹⁾ the same is proved by Gr. σπεδ-αρός 'hasty, wild' σποδ-ρός 'powerful'. But it sometimes happens that there are no kindred words which can decide the matter. And then again, to make the ground more slippery under our feet, roots whose nasal we have a right to say belongs to the root itself, make forms without any nasal by analogy. Thus Skr. mamāth-a māthaya-ti instead of mamanth-a manthaya-ti from mathnā-ti mātā-ti, where math- comes from mṛth-* (§ 516 p. 82, § 852); Gr. δῆξομαι instead of δεγξομαι* from δάξ-νω ἔ-δαξο-ν, where δαξ- comes from dḡk-* (I § 224 p. 191).

§ 628. ✓ leip-: Skr. limp-ā-ti 'smears', Lith. limp-ù 'I cling, hold'. ✓ peṭk-: Skr. piś-ā-ti 'adorns, decks, arms',

1) Connect Lat. pendō pependī, pondus?

Lat. ping-ō. $\sqrt{\text{ueid-}}$: Skr. vind-á-ti 'finds', O.Ir. ro-finnadar 'gets to know' (see § 633), cp. Armen. giut 'gain, profit' for uind-* (Hübschmann, Arm. Stud. i 26, 63, 75; Bugge, Idg. Forsch. i 443), Gr. ἰνδ-άλλομαι 'I show myself, appear'. $\sqrt{\text{seiq-seig-}}$ 'trickle down': Skr. siñc-á-ti 'pours out, wets', Goth. sigg-a 'I sink' (part. sagq following band etc., I § 67 Rem. 1 p. 57), Lett. sīku 'I become exhausted, dry up, fall' (of water) for sink-u*, cp. Mid.H.G. sīhte 'shallow' from sing-to-*. $\sqrt{\text{kueit-kueid-}}$ 'shine' (Skr. śvit-aná-s Goth. hveit-s): Skr. śvind-a-tē 'is clear, or white' (gramm.), Lith. szvint-ù 'I become clear'. Skr. a-piṣ-a-t 'I crushed' (beside pi-náṣ-ṭi, § 626), Lat. pīns-ō, cp. Gr. πίσσω πίττω instead of prehistoric πινσ-ιω* (§ 631). Skr. opt. chind-ē-ta beside chi-nád-mi 'I cut off, tear to pieces' (Class XV), Lat. scind-ō, cp. Gr. σχινδ-αλμό-ς 'piece of wood split off, splinter'. Prakr. bhind-a-di beside Skr. bhinád-mi 'I split' (§ 626), Lat. find-ō. $\sqrt{\text{sneigh-}}$: Lat. ningu-i-t, Lith. sniñg-a 'it snows'. $\sqrt{\text{leiq-}}$: Lat. lingu-ō, Pruss. po-linka 'remains' (Skr. riñák-ti § 626), cp. Gr. λμπ-άνω § 631. Lat. string-ō, Lith. string-u 'I remain hanging' (pret. strig-au), beside Lat. striga, Goth. striks 'stroke, line' O.H.G. strihhu 'I draw a line, pass along'; O.C.Sl. strig-a 'I shave, shear' for strinæg-* (I § 229. 4 p. 195) or for streig-?* Lat. dī-stingu-ō, Goth. stigg-a 'I strike, push' O.Icel. stokk 'I leap, push', beside Lat. in-stīgō Skr. tējatē 'is sharp, goads on', cp. Lith. stėngiu § 637. Lat. mingō $\sqrt{\text{meigh-}}$, cp. Lett. mīschu for minziu* § 635. Skr. lump-á-ti 'breaks to pieces', Lat. rump-ō, $\sqrt{\text{reup-}}$. Skr. luñc-a-ti 'pulls, plucks' (gramm.: perf. lu-luñc-ur is found), Lith. runk-ù 'I grow wrinkled', $\sqrt{\text{reug-}}$ reug- (Skr. luk- 'a falling off, disappearance', Lat. rūg-a, Lith. raūka-s 'wrinkle'), cp. Lat. runc-are. Skr. muñc-á-ti 'lets go, frees, gets free, runs away', Lat. ē-mungō, Lett. mūku 'I make off, flee' for munk-u*, $\sqrt{\text{meug-}}$ meug-. Skr. yūñj-a-ti (beside yunák-ti § 625), Lat. jung-ō $\sqrt{\text{jeug-}}$, cp. Lith. jūng-iu 'I yoke to'. Skr. bhuñj-a-ti 'makes to eat or enjoy' (beside bhunák-ti Class XV), Lat. fung-or. Avest. čunj-a-iti 'lays down, frees, saves itself', cp. Gr. περύγγων φρυγγάρω § 631. Lith. bund-ù 'I wake up', cp. Gr. πυνθ-άνομαι § 631.

✓ qert- 'cut': Skr. kṛnt-á-ti 'cuts, splits', Lith. krint-ù 'I fall off, drop' (of leaves, fruit and so forth), Idg. qgnt-é-ti*, cp. I § 285 Rem. p. 228. O.Ir. in-grennim 'I pursue' i. e. ghrendō?* (cp. § 633), O.C.Sl. gręd-a 'I come', originally ghrę-dh-ō* ✓ ghredh-, cp. Goth. gridi- f. 'step, grade' Lat. gradior for ghrdh-iō-* (§ 717). ✓ reġ- 'stretch, extend': Skr. ṛñj-á-ti (beside 3rd pl. mid. ṛñj-atē Class XV), cp. Lith. partic. ĩ-si-rėžė̃s 'having stretched oneself' infin. isz-si-rėszi 'to stretch out' rūžau 'I stretch' derived from a stem rinž-* = Skr. ṛñj- (from riž- = ṛj- were derived rėžiū̃s 'I inflate myself' and rāižau-s 'I stretch myself', cp. below, Goth. þeiha þáih).

Formed from such roots with r we find in several languages present stems with vocalism of the strong grade. These must be regarded as new formations. Examples are: Skr. śrambh-a-tē 'entrusts', Gr. ῥέμβομαι 'I turn myself round', Mid.Ir. dringim 'I ascend', O.H.G. spring-u 'I leap', Lith. dręs-ù 'I am brave'; details will be found under the separate headings.

✓ plāq- plāg-: Lat. plang-ō, Lett. plāku 'I become flat, fall flat down' for plank-u*, cp. Gr. πλάζω 'I strike, knock aside, lead astray' (ἐπλάγξαι πλαγκτός-s) for πλαγγ-ιω* § 631. Lat. clang-ō, cp. Gr. κλαγγ-άνω and κλάζω for κλαγγ-ιω* § 631 (pf. κέκλαγγα), O.Icel. hlakka 'I cry out' (-kk- for -nk-), beside Gr. κλώζω 'I cluck, caw' for κλωγ-ιω*.

Roots ending in a consonant, without liquid, nasal, i, or u (type peq- 'coquere') show an e-vowel. Goth. þeiha O.H.G. dihu 'I thrive' for þinǣh-ō*, earlier þenǣh-ō* (cp. O.Sax. partic. thungan and causative thengiu 'I complete'), from which we have the re-formates þáih dēh etc. (I § 67 Rem. 2 p. 57), Lith. tenkù 'I last out, have enough' infin. tėk-ti, compare O.Ir. tocad Mod.Cymr. tyngned 'luck, happiness' (first for tonketo-*, cp. the Latinised name Tuncetace, inscr. in Wales), which also point to a nasal present stem. Alban. ġend-em 'I am found', Lat. pre-hendō, Lett. gidu 'I understand, conjecture' for gend-u* ✓ ghed-, cp. Gr. χαράω χείσομαι § 631.

Several languages give io-inflection to this type (Class XXIX). Examples: Gr. πρίσσω πρίττω instead of πρινσ-ιω*, πλάζω for πλαγγ-ω*; Lat. vinc-iō, sanc-iō (cp. sacer); Lith. jūng-iu, Lett. mīschu (beside mīnu) 'mingo' for minz-iu*. See § 744.

§ 629. Aryan. Skr. vind-á-ti Avest. vind-a-iti 'finds', $\checkmark$ ueid-; Skr. siñc-á-ti Avest. hinc-a-iti 'pours out', $\checkmark$ seiq-; Skr. kynt-á-ti Avest. ker'nt-a-iti 'cuts', see § 628 where other examples are given. We may also mention the following: Skr. śiṣ-a-ti 'leaves over' beside śinás-ti; und-a-ti 'moistens, wets' beside unát-ti; umbh-a-ti 'holds together, holds in custody' beside 2nd sing. unap; tr̥mp-á-ti 'is satisfied' $\checkmark$ terp-; bṛh-a-ti 'strengthens' $\checkmark$ bhergh-; śynth-a-ti from śrath- 'to become loose or soft'; Avest. mer'nc-a-itē from marc- 'destroy' beside 2nd pl. mid. mer'ng'-duyē (§ 626). Sometimes in Sanskrit the accent is changed to the accent of Class II A, as śumbh-a-ti and śumbh-á-ti 'adorns' (beside śōbh-a-tē), partic. mid. tūñj-a-māna-s (3rd pl. tūñj-átē Class XV, tuj-yá-tē 'is struck, knocked'), dṛh-a-ti beside dṛh-á-ti 'strengthens' (beside dṛh-ya-ti), pr̥ñc-a-ti 'mingles' (beside pr̥nák-ti and pi-pr̥g-dhi). With secondary strong grade vocalism (cp. § 628 p. 165): Skr. śranth-a-tē (gramm.) beside śynth-a-ti, śrambh-a-tē 'entrusts' (cp. nī-śr̥mbhá-s), anu-rañjati 'cleaves truly to, loves' (cp. rāga-s 'colour, passion, love', Gr. ῥέζω ῥέγυα ῥογέυς), Avest. 3rd sing. pret. mor'nd-a-ḥ for mar'nd-a-ḥ* (I § 94.3 p. 89) from mard- 'kill' (or does -ar- = -ṛ-?); of the same sort may be Skr. vánd-a-tē 'praises, honours' beside vád-a-ti ud-yá-tē.

Roots of the type peq- (§ 628 p. 165). Skr. spand-a-tē 'throbs', beside Gr. σπεδ-αρό-ς, § 627 p. 163. stambh-a-tē 'strengthens itself, stands fast, supports itself', beside Lith. steb-iũ-s 'I wonder' stēb-iũ-s 'I keep myself back' stāba-s 'apoplexy'. Sometimes the nasal is only found in non-present forms. Thus from $\checkmark$ seg- 'fasten, hang' (Skr. sajjatē for sa-zj-a-* § 562 p. 110, Lith. segù): Skr. perf. sa-sañj-a aor. a-sañj-i partic. -sañk-tavya-s; from Ar. dabh- or *dhabh-*¹⁾

1) The desiderative forms dhipsati dhīpsati are late re-formates instead of Ved. dipsati, certainly not instead of pr. Ar. dhabh. Compare dhak, p. 171.

'to hurt, deceive' (cp. Skr. á-dbh-u-ta-s § 596. 2, p. 136, desid. Skr. dīpsa-ti Avest. diwža-idyāi § 667, Skr. perf. da-dābh-a, -dābha-s 'hurting', Avest. caus. dābayē-iti): Skr. perf. da-dāmbh-a caus. dambháya-ti dambh-a-s 'deceit'. In such instances, one of two explanations is possible. (1) Either a nasal present which was the origin of these nasal forms has perished. With sañj- compare O.C.Sl. seġ-na § 636; dambh- may be illustrated by Gr. ἀτρέμω 'I hurt, deceive', if the root is dhebh-, and if this Greek word is a contamination of θρε(μ)β- and τε(μ)φ-. (2) Or the nasal came from other words; thus dadāmbha, beside dabhnōti, was formed on the analogy of tastāmbha : stabhnōti, and similar pairs.

§ 630. Armenian. Present stems of this kind I know none; but cp. giut 'profit, gain', which seems akin to uind-ō* (§ 628 p. 164).

§ 631. Greek. Only a few examples of the unextended stem can be found. λινδίσθαι· ἀμιλλᾶσθαι beside λίξουσι· παίζουσι Hesych. for λινδ-ιω?*), connected by Fick with λοίδωρο-ς and Lat. loido-s lūdu-s. σφιγγ-ω 'I tie, fasten', compared with Armen. pirk, for sphig-ro-s*, by Bugge (Idg. Forsch. I 453). With secondary strong-grade vowel (cp. § 628 p. 165): ρέμφομαι 'I turn round, revolve' (ρόμβο-ς 'bull-roarer, wheel') containing Idg. uerg-* from ✓uerg-: Skr. vyṇák-ti 'twists together' infin. vyñj-ásē, Mid.H.G. runke A.S. wrincl 'wrinkle' O.H.G. rench(i)u 'I turn, pull backwards and forwards in turning'. Root of the type peq- (§ 628 p. 165): στέμω 'I shake, misuse, handle roughly' beside στόβο-ς στοβέω στοβάζω.

Passing over to Class XXIX (§ 628 p. 165). πτίσσω πτίττω 'I crush, bruise' instead of πτινσ-ιω* (the Author, Gr. Gr.² p. 61): Skr. a-pīṣ-a-t etc., see § 628 p. 164. πλάζω 'I strike, knock down' for πλαγγ-ιω*: Lat. plang-ō etc., see § 628 p. 165. κλάζω 'I sound, cry out' for κλαγγ-ιω*: Lat. clang-ō etc., see ibid. Perhaps also σκιμπτω 'I throw hard at something' for σκιμπ-ιω*, beside Skr. kṣīp-á-ti 'throws, slings'.

Large numbers pass into Class XIV (§ 621 p. 158). λινπ-άνω 'I leave': Lat. linqu-ō etc., see § 628 p. 164. φνγγ-άνω 'I flee' (Lesb. partic. πεφύγγων): Avest. bunj-a-ti, see § 628 p. 164. πυνθ-άνο-μαι 'I learn': Lith. bund-ù, see § 628 p. 164. κλαγγ-άνω beside κλάζω, see above. θιγγ-άνω 'I touch, feel', cp. ἔ-θιγ-ο-ν. ἐρυγγ-άνω beside ἐρέύγ-ο-μαι 'I belch'. τυγχ-άνω, cp. ἔ-τυχ-ο-ν. λανθ-άνω beside λήθ-ω Dor. λάθ-ω 'I escape notice'. The existence of λανθάνω beside ἔλαθον produced δαγκάνω 'I bite' beside ἔδακον (√ den̄k-), λαγχάνω 'I get by lot' beside ἔλαχον (perf. έλελογχα), and further, χανδάνω 'I hold' beside ἔχαδον, which was itself produced by analogy of χενδ-ω* (cp. fut. χείσομαι) from √ ghed- (cp. § 628 p. 165). I am uncertain about λαμβάνω 'I take' beside aor. ἔλαβον perf. εἴληφα Cret. λέλομβυ (like εἴληχα λίλοχα).

Where no present formation has survived: ἱμψας * ζεύζαω. Θετταλοί Hesych., beside Lat. vinc-iō Skr. vi-vyak-ti 'embraces, surrounds' 3rd dual vi-vik-tá-s, cp. γυμβάναι * ζεύγανα (Hesych.) i. e. γυμβάναι (like τύμπανο-ν).

Lat. vinc-ō perf. vīc-ī, Osc. vinc̄ter 'convincitur', cp. Goth. veih-a 'I fight' Class II A O.H.G. upar-wihit Class II B, √ ueiq- § 532 p. 94. Lat. fiŋg-ō beside fic-tu-s fig-ulu-s, √ dheigh-: O.Ir. dengaim 'I oppress' (so Thurneysen). ling-ō beside ling-urriō, √ leiġh-. tund-ō beside tu-tud-ī. pung-ō beside pu-pug-ī. uc-cumbō beside -cubūt cubāre.

pre-hendō: Alban. gënd-em etc., √ ghed-, see § 628 p. 165.

The fertility of this type in Latin is made clear by fund-ō beside Goth. giuta 'I pour' for gheu-dō* Class XXV § 690. Cp. Goth. standa and the like, § 634 at end.

Passing into Class XXIX (§ 628 p. 165). vinc-iō, beside Skr. vi-vyak-ti vi-vik-tás, see § 631 p. 168. sanc-iō beside sac-er.

So also Mid.Ir. dringim 'I ascend' = O.Ir. dreng(a)im* (drēimm 'clambering' subst.), akin to Skr. darh- 'make fast' pres. dṛh-á-ti dṛh-a-ti (cp. Lith. lipù 'I mount up with my feet, climb' beside limpù 'I remain clinging', O.H.G. chlimbu 'I climb' beside chlību 'I cling').

O.Ir. com-boing 'confringit' (perf. 3rd sing. -baig), cp. Skr. bhanák-ti perf. ba-bhañj-a Armen. bek-anem. tong(a)im 'I swear' beside co-tach 'compact'. in-dlung 'I split' beside in-dlach 'split' subst.

1) Bartholomae (Stud. Idg. Spr., II 96 f.) derives pangō pandō ž-mungō from pank-nō* pant-nō* munak-nō* (cp. O.C.Sl. kre(t)-nā and the like, § 636). This view seems to me unjustifiable until the general principles which govern the interchange of tenues and mediae when root-finals in Indo-Germanic have been made out (I § 469.7 p. 346).

O.Ir. ro-finnadar 'gets to know' is related to Skr. vind-á-ti § 628 p. 164, and seems to have adopted ā-flexion; but compare the Remark, below.

Remark. Thurneysen writes to me: "Grenn- and finna- appear in Old Irish always with nn and never with nd. I hesitate between two explanations. (1) Either nd very early became nn before the accent (the prefix which accented is always ind-, is either inn- or in- when pretonic); or (2) the nasal stood originally after the dental: finna- = vid-nā-* or vi-n-d-nā-*, greenn- = gred-n-* (grid-n-?) or gre-n-d-n-. I am still searching for evidence to decide the matter." With vindnā-* grendn-* compare Lett. brīnu for brendnu*, O.C.Sl. seḡnq § 615 p. 154, § 636.

Goth. sigq-a O.H.G. sink-u 'I sink', Goth. stigq-a 'I strike', see § 628 p. 164. Goth. fra-slinda O.H.G. slint-u 'I swallow' (re-formed, O.H.G. slunt 'throat'): cp. Mid.H.G. slīte A.S. slīde 'I slide, slip', Lith. slid-ù-s 'slippery, smooth' Lett. slaid-s 'steep'.¹⁾ O.Icel. slepp 'I make slide' pr. Germ. slimpō* (pret. slapp): cp. O.H.G. slifu 'I slide, sink', ✓ sleib-. O.H.G. climbu 'I climb, clamber, ascend': cp. O.Icel. klīf 'I climb' pret. kleif, O.H.G. chlību 'I cling, hold'. ✓ gleip- (gleip- and leip- are p-extensions of ✓ glei- and lei-, cp. § 797). Mod.H.G. blinke 'I glit^{ter}' a weak verb, but originally doubtless strong (re-formate O.H.G. blanch 'bright'): cp. O.H.G. blīhu 'I gleam', Lith. blyksztù 'I turn pale' blaiksztyti-s 'to clear up'. From O.Sax. mengian (Goth. maggjan*) 'to mingle' we must apparently infer mingan* 'to mingle' akin to Skr. miś-rá- 'mixt'; see § 805. (Kluge in his Etym. Dict. explains differently).

Roots with -er- -el- show strong-grade vowels (cp. § 628 p. 165). O.H.G. spring-u 'I leap' instead of pr. Germ. sprunag-ō* ground-form sprægh-ō*: cp. Gr. σπερχομαι 'I hasten' σπερχ-νό-ς 'hasty'. O.H.G. ring-u 'I move to and fro, writhe violently'

1) Osthoff compares fra-slinda with Gr. λυ-μός-ς λυ-τμα (Zeitschr. deutsch. Phil., xxiv 215; Anz. für idg. Spr., i 82). According to this etymology, we should start with a stem slī-t- (cp. τ in λυτμα) which took a nasal infix. Compare below, in this section, on standa (p. 172).

A.S. wrinze 'I turn, press' (cp. Goth. vruggō f. 'knot, noose'): cp. O.H.G. wurg(i)u 'I throttle, choke' Lith. verž-iū 'I tie together, enclose', √ uergh- (I § 285 Rem. p. 228). O.H.G. scrint-u 'I burst, blow up, split, rend' (O.H.G. scrunta 'split, tear, rent'): cp. Lith. skėrdžiu 'I burst, blow up, split', partic. su-skirdės 'blown up, burst open', √ sqerdh- (i. e. sqer+dh-, § 689). Mid.H.G. schrumpfe 'I become wrinkled, shrivel': Pruss. sen-skrempūsnan acc. 'wrinkle, fold' (p, as elsewhere, wrongly written for b), cp. O.Icel. skorp-r 'shrivelled, dry' skorp-na 'I dry up' intr. Russ. skorblyj 'shrivelled', √ sqerb-. Mid.H.G. sprinza O.Icel. spret 'I leap, burst, blow up' doubtless akin to O.C.Sl. pręd-ajā 'I leap, tremble', √ (s)perd- (i. e. (s)per+d- § 700). O.H.G. sling-u 'I move, twist, swing to and fro, crawl' (cp. slango 'snake'), doubtless with Lith. slenkù 'I crawl' akin to Lat. sulcu-s 'furrow, snake's trail'.

Root type peq- (§ 628 p. 165). Goth. þeiha O.H.G. dāhu 'I thrive' pr. Germ. þenχ-ō*: Lith. tenk-ù √ teq-, see § 628 p. 165. Goth. finþa O.H.G. find-u 'I find', as we may conjecture, from √ pet- Gr. πέντω (for the meaning cp. ἐμπνεῖν). A.S. ze-tinge 'I hold on to, press' cp. ze-tengan 'to make fast, add, join to' O.Icel. tengja 'tie or fasten together', beside Skr. dagh- 'reach up to, touch' √ deg- (Skr. 2nd and 3rd sing. dhak is an ad-formate of roots which had both initial and final media aspirata): O.C.Sl. degū 'line, string' ne-dagū 'weakness, sickness'.

Goth. fah-a O.H.G. fāh-u 'I seize' pr. Germ. funχ-ō*, connected possibly with Lat. pang-ō, √ pāk- pāg-, see § 632 p. 165. Compare O.Icel. bang weak verb 'I strike, knock' Mod.H.G. Swiss bang(e) 'I give a knock' (Mid.H.G. bengel 'cudgel'), beside O.H.G. bagu 'I fight, strive', O.Ir. bagim 'I strive', √ bhēgh- bhōgh-.

Secondary jo-flexion (§ 628 p. 165) must be assumed for O.H.G. winch(i)u 'I move sideways, fluctuate, nod, beckon' (pret. in Mid.H.G., pret. and part. in Mod.H.G. also strong — wanc, geuwunken), if it, along with the Lith. ving-i-s m. 'deviation, bend' ving-ù-s 'crooked, bent' (compare vėngiu 'I avoid, do not want to do something' inf. vėnkti), is related to O.H.G. wīhhu 'I shrink, yield' Gr. οἰγνῶμι for ō-fiy-* 'I open' ('make yield'). But these comparisons are doubtful (cp. Fick, Wtb., 1⁴ 541, 547 f.; G. Meyer, Et. Wört. der alb. Spr., 463; Per Persson, Stud. Lehr. Wurzelerw., 174 f.).

Nasal present stems from roots extended by -t-; see § 685. Goth. standa 'I stand' pret. stōþ O.H.G. stantu pret. -stuot (generally with intrusive nasal, stuont) for standō* ground-form stā-n-tō* from √stā-. Goth. vinda O.H.G. wintu 'I wind, turn, wrap, enfold' (pret. vand want), beside Goth. ga-vida 'I tie up' O.H.G. witu 'I tie, bind' from uei- Skr. vī-tá-s 'folded, enclosed' Lith. vej-ù 'I twist a cord' (cp. § 790). O.H.G. swintu 'I vanish, disappear' A.S. swinde beside O.H.G. swī-nu § 614 p. 152. Compare above, O.H.G. scrintu from sqer+dh- p. 171, Mid.H.G. sprinze from sper+d- (ibid.), Lat. fundō from gheq+d- § 632 p. 169, and again O.H.G. chlimbu from glei+p- (above, p. 170), O.C.Sl. tręsq 'I shake, shatter' from tr+es- and Skr. dhvāsa-ti 'disperses, disappears' intr. from dhu+es- (Classes XIX and XX, cp. Per Persson, Wurzel-erweiterung, p. 83).

§ 635. Balto-Slavonic. In Baltic, this present formation is very productive.

Lith. limp-ù 'I cling, hold' (pret. lip-aũ), Lett. stik-u 'I sink down, fall', Lith. szvint-ù 'I grow clear', sniņg-a 'it snows', Pruss. po-linka 'remains', Lith. string-u 'I remain hanging', runk-ù 'I grow winkled', Lett. mūk-u 'I make off, flee', Lith. bund-ù 'I wake up' see § 628 p. 164. Lith. stimp-ù 'I grow stiff' (pret. stip-aũ), tunk-ù 'I grow fat' (tuk-aũ), džiung-ù 'I become glad' (džiug-aũ).

Lith. krint-ù 'I fall off' (krit-aũ): Skr. kṛnt-á-ti, √qert-, see § 628 p. 165. drimb-ù 'I drop in thick drops' (drib-aũ), beside dreb-iù 'I let fall in thick drops' Gr. τρῆq-ε-ραι 'curdles' √dhrebh-. trink-ù 'I go wrong, do not come off' (trik-aũ), beside trāk-a-s 'foolish fellow' trak-ù-s 'foolish, mad' Gr. ἀ-τρῆq-ε-ς 'uninjured, exact, true'. splint-ù 'I spread' intr. (split-aũ), beside splecziù 'I spread', trans.

Roots of the type peq- (§ 628 p. 165). Lith. tenk-ù 'I suffice in some respect, have enough of something' (tek-aũ): Goth.

peiha for pr. Germ. perǝ-ō*, see § 628 p. 165. Lett. gīdu 'I take in, conjecture', see § 628 p. 165. Lith. gend-ù 'I become damaged, split in two' (ged-aũ).

Lett. plūku 'I become flat, fall flat down' for plank-u*: Lat. plang-ō, see § 628 p. 165. Lith. kank-ù 'I hold out, suffice' (kak-aũ).

An indication of the fertility of this type in Lithuanian is the forming of present stems of the kind from nouns (cp. § 793); e. g. rentù 'I get thinner' (retaũ) from rēta-s 'thin, not close', lempù 'I pamper myself' (lepaũ) from lepù-s 'pampered'.

Secondary io-flexion (cp. § 628, p. 165) is found only where the nasal spread beyond the present system. Lith. jūng-iu 'I yoke, put to' (inf. jūnk-ti) beside Skr. yuj-a-ti Lat. jung-ō, Lett. mišchu 'mingo' for minz-iu* (inf. mīš) beside Lat. ming-ō, § 628 p. 164. Lett. kamp-ju 'I seize, grasp' (inf. kampt), beside Lat. cap-iō.

Under the same conditions we have stems adopting to-conjugation (§ 686), where the meaning is intransitive. Lith. jūnkstu (Lett. jūkstu for junkstu*) 'I grow used' (jūnkau jūnkti) beside Lett. jūku for (j)unk-u, akin to O.C.Sl. učq 'I instruct' Skr. uc-ya-ti 'finds pleasure in' ōkas- n. 'pleasure, place of pleasure, home'; cp. O.C.Sl. vyk-nq and Goth. bi-ūhts, which likewise seem to have been nasalised (§ 636). Lith. stīnkstu 'I curdle, congeal, grow stiff' (stīngau stīnkti) beside Gr. στίβω 'I tread something hard' στίβαρό-ς 'firm, pressed, solid' (cp. Lith. stėngiu § 637). sklīstù 'I flow apart' (sklindaũ sklīsti) beside sklīd-ina-s 'full to overflowing' skleidžiũ 'I spread'; a pret. 3rd sing. sklīdu (sklīdō) is also found, pointing to a present sklind-ù*. Lett. stringstu 'I grow tight, dry up' (stringu stringt) beside Lith. string-u 'I remain hanging' (strigau) and streg-iu 'I crystallise, stiffen' (cp. § 628 p. 164). Lith. drīstù 'I grow bold' (drīsaũ drīsti), ✓dhers-. linkstù 'I bend' (linkaũ liñkti) beside Gr. λεκ-άνη 'pan, fan' λοξό-ς 'crooked'; also Lat. lanx with nasal (for lǝq-?*). The model for these presents is seen in blīsta 'it darkens' beside blind-ō ✓ bhlendh-, tīstū 'I stretch myself out' beside tīs-aū stem ten-s-, and the like.

§ 636. This formation is much rarer in Slavonic than it is in Baltic. O.C.Sl. strig-a 'I shear, slave' for string-*? see § 628 p. 164. gręd-a 'I come' (inf. gręsti) for ghyndh- or ghrendh-*: O.Ir. in-grennim, see § 628 p. 165. seđ-a 'I sit' (inf. sešti), ✓ sed-, cp. Pruss. sindats syndens 'sitting' beside sīdāns sīdons = Lett. sēdās. leg-a 'I lie' (inf. lešti), ✓ legh-. tręsą 'I shake, shatter' inf. tręs-ti from tr-es-, unless it comes from trem-so-* (cp. Lith. trimù 'I tremble' Lat. tremō), see § 657. As regards gręd-a lęką 'I bend' pręd-a 'I spin' compare § 637.

Sometimes extended by -io- (§ 628 p. 165). žęždą 'I desire, thirst' for žęd-ia* (inf. žędati) beside Lith. pa-si-gendū 'I miss' and geidžiū 'I long for'. glęždą 'I look, gaze' for ględ-ia* (inf. ględėti) beside Mid.H.G. glinze 'I shine' O.H.G. glizu 'I glitter'. See § 637. With nasal confined to the present system: ob-ręšta 'I find' for ręt-ia*, inf. -rešti aor. -rėti (for the etymology of this verb see § 687).

There is another extension, with -no-. vyk-ną 'I grow used' doubtless derived from vyką* = Lett. jūku for *(j)unk-u, beside učą 'I teach' (§ 635 p. 173). seğ-ną 'I long for' beside Lith. seg-ù 'I fasten', cp. Skr. sa-sañj-a § 629 p. 166. kręną 'deflecto' for kręt-ną* (cp. krātiti 'to twist, turn'), beside Skr. kṛnāt-ti 'turns the thread, spins' kārtana-m. sęk-ną 'I sink' beside Lett. sīku 'I sink, fall' for sink-u*, ✓ seiq- (§ 628 p. 164). ręg-ną 'hisco' beside Lat. ringor (inf. ring-i) ric-tu-s. Compare § 637.

§ 637. Side by side with Lith. drimbū (ground-form dhymbh-ō*) and the like stand forms with e in the root syllable (cp. § 628 p. 165). dręs-ù 'I am bold' (pret. drīs-aū) beside drīs-tū ✓ dhers- § 635 p. 173. brendū (dialectic brindu for brendu) 'I wade' beside brėdū (brid-aū) O.C.Sl. bred-a. lenk-iū 'I bend' (lenkiaū leñkti) beside link-stū ✓ leg- § 635 p. 173. trėndū 'I am devoured by moths or worms' inf. trendė-ti, with trėdė beside Skr. tṛṇatti tard-a-ti § 692. We may assume that drēs-ù for drins-ù* was coined to supplement drīs-aũ on the analogy of renk-ù : rinkaũ, kertũ : kirtaũ etc.; lenk-iũ appears beside linkstũ on the analogy of grēž-iũ 'I turn, twist' beside grīsztiũ 'I turn myself' etc. Slavonic verbs with ę, gręd-a łęk-a, and kręt-a* which appears to be implied by kre-na, may quite well correspond to Lith. drimb-ù or to Lith. drēs-ù.¹⁾

Baltic en Slav. ę is found in present stems from roots with i-vowels both extended and unextended. Lith. senkũ 'I fall, sink' (of water) O.C.Sl. sęk-na 'I sink down' beside Lett. sīku for sink-u* Skr. sīnc-á-ti ✓ seṇq- (§ 628 p. 164). Lith. sprėndžiu 'I grasp with the hand' (sprėsti) O.C.Sl. pręda 'I spin' (pręsti) beside Lith. sprīndi-s m. 'span' Lett. spraid-s 'place where one stands in a narrow compass' debes-spraisli-s 'vault of heaven' O.H.G. spreiten 'stretch out, separate, part asunder'. Lith. pa-si-gendũ 'I miss' O.C.Sl. žęžda 'I desire, thirst' for žed-ię* beside Lith. geidžiu 'I desire' Goth. gáidv n. 'lack' O.H.G. gīt 'eagerness, greed, avarice'. Lith. stėng-iu 'I apply my strength to something' beside stīnkstũ 'I congeal, get stiff' Gr. στέλλω (§ 635 p. 173). Lith. *męz-ù*²⁾ 'mingo' (mīžaũ mīszti) Lett. mīf-nu for menz-nō* beside Lett. mīf-chu for minz-iō* (§ 635 p. 173) Lat. ming-ō Lith. mīžė f. 'cunnus' mīž-iu-s 'penis', ✓ meiğh-. O.C.Sl. glęžda (inf. ględēti) and ględaja (inf. ględati) 'I look, gaze' beside Mid.H.G. glinze 'I shine, glitter' (pret. new formation glanz) O.H.G. glīzu O.Sax. glītu 'I glitter' ✓ ghlejd-. O.C.Sl. reğna 'hisco' (raqũ 'jest', subst.) beside Lat. ringor ric-tu-s. If the Baltic forms stood alone, the explanation would be easy; we might say that the analogy of renk- : rink- etc. produced senk- menž- beside sink- minž-; compare what is said above on drēs-ù. But this explanation does not suit

1) The fact that we find kręt- and not čręt- is not sufficient to prove that the ground-form of kręt- is the weak grade qynt-. Such a form must have become Slav. krīnt-, as dhęns-* becomes Lith. drins-, and qynt-* becomes Lith. krīnt- (I § 285 p. 227). There never was a form kīrnt-, nor yet qręnt-, which Bartholomae suggests as the ground-form of kręt- (Stud. Idg. Spr., II 97).

2) Dialectic minžu = menžu* (vol. I § 285 Rem., p. 227, is wrong).

πλαγγ-ιω*; Lat. vinc-iō, sanc-iō (cp. sacer); Lith. jūng-iu, Lett. mī/chu (beside mī/nu) 'mingo' for minz-iu*. See § 744.

§ 629. Aryan. Skr. vind-á-ti Avest. vind-a-iti 'finds', $\checkmark$ ueid-; Skr. siñc-á-ti Avest. hinc-a-iti 'pours out', $\checkmark$ seiq-; Skr. kṛnt-á-ti Avest. ker^ent-a-iti 'cuts', see § 628 where other examples are given. We may also mention the following: Skr. śīṣ-a-ti 'leaves over' beside śinás-ti; und-a-ti 'moistens, wets' beside unát-ti; umbh-a-ti 'holds together, holds in custody' beside 2nd sing. unap; tṛmp-á-ti 'is satisfied' $\checkmark$ terp-; bṛh-a-ti 'strengthens' $\checkmark$ bhergh-; śynth-a-ti from śrath- 'to become loose or soft'; Avest. mer^enc-a-itē from marc- 'destroy' beside 2nd pl. mid. mer^eṛag^e-duyē (§ 626). Sometimes in Sanskrit the accent is changed to the accent of Class II A, as śumbh-a-ti and śumbh-á-ti 'adorns' (beside śóbh-a-tē), partic. mid. tūñj-a-māna-s (3rd pl. tūñj-átē Class XV, tuj-yá-tē 'is struck, knocked'), dṛh-a-ti beside dṛh-á-ti 'strengthens' (beside dṛh-ya-ti), pṛñc-a-ti 'mingles' (beside pṛñák-ti and pī-pṛg-dhi). With secondary strong grade vocalism (cp. § 628 p. 165): Skr. śranth-a-tē (gramm.) beside śynth-a-ti, śrambh-a-tē 'entrusts' (cp. nī-śymbhá-s), anu-rañjati 'cleaves truly to, loves' (cp. rāga-s 'colour, passion, love', Gr. ῥέζω ῥέγμα ῥογέυς), Avest. 3rd sing. pret. mor^end-a-ḥ for mar^end-a-ḥ* (I § 94.3 p. 89) from mard- 'kill' (or does -ar- = -ṛ-?); of the same sort may be Skr. vánd-a-tē 'praises, honours' beside vád-a-ti ud-yá-tē.

Roots of the type peq- (§ 628 p. 165). Skr. spand-a-tē 'throbs', beside Gr. σπεδ-αρό-ς, § 627 p. 163. stambh-a-tē 'strengthens itself, stands fast, supports itself', beside Lith. steb-iū-s 'I wonder' stéb-iū-s 'I keep myself back' stāba-s 'apoplexy'. Sometimes the nasal is only found in non-present forms. Thus from $\checkmark$ seg- 'fasten, hang' (Skr. sajjatē for sa-zj-a-* § 562 p. 110, Lith. segù): Skr. perf. sa-sañj-a aor. a-sañj-i partic. -sañk-tavya-s; from Ar. dabh- or *dhabh-*¹⁾

1) The desiderative forms dhipsati dhipsati are late re-formates instead of Ved. dipsati, certainly not instead of pr. Ar. dhabh. Compare dhak, p. 171.

'to hurt, deceive' (cp. Skr. á-dbh-u-ta-s § 596. 2, p. 136, desid. Skr. dīpsa-ti Avest. diwža-idyāi § 667, Skr. perf. da-dābh-a, -dābha-s 'hurting', Avest. caus. dabayē-iti): Skr. perf. da-dāmbh-a caus. dambháya-ti dambh-a-s 'deceit'. In such instances, one of two explanations is possible. (1) Either a nasal present which was the origin of these nasal forms has perished. With sañj- compare O.C.Sl. seg-na § 636; dambh- may be illustrated by Gr. ἀτέμβω 'I hurt, deceive', if the root is dhebh-, and if this Greek word is a contamination of θτε(μ)β- and τε(μ)φ-. (2) Or the nasal came from other words; thus dadāmbha, beside dabhnōti, was formed on the analogy of tastāmbha : stabhnōti, and similar pairs.

§ 630. Armenian. Present stems of this kind I know none; but cp. giut 'profit, gain', which seems akin to ḡind-ō* (§ 628 p. 164).

§ 631. Greek. Only a few examples of the unextended stem can be found. λινδέσθαι· ἀμιλλᾶσθαι beside λίζονσι· παίζονσιν Hesych. for λινδ-ιω*?), connected by Fick with λοίδορο-ς and Lat. loido-s lūdu-s. σφίγγω 'I tie, fasten', compared with Armen. pirk, for sphīg-ro-s*, by Bugge (Idg. Forsch. I 453). With secondary strong-grade vowel (cp. § 628 p. 165): ῥέμβομαι 'I turn round, revolve' (ῥόμβο-ς 'bull-roarer, wheel') containing Idg. uerg-* from ✓uerg-: Skr. vrñák-ti 'twists together' infin. vrñj-ásē, Mid.H.G. runke A.S. wrinkle 'wrinkle' O.H.G. rench(i)u 'I turn, pull backwards and forwards in turning'. Root of the type peq- (§ 628 p. 165): στέμβω 'I shake, misuse, handle roughly' beside στόβο-ς στοβέω στοβάζω.

Passing over to Class XXIX (§ 628 p. 165). πτίσσω πτίττω 'I crush, bruise' instead of πτινσ-ιω* (the Author, Gr. Gr.² p. 61): Skr. a-pīṣ-a-t etc., see § 628 p. 164. πλάζω 'I strike, knock down' for πλαγγ-ιω*: Lat. plang-ō etc., see § 628 p. 165. κλάζω 'I sound, cry out' for κλαγγ-ιω*: Lat. clang-ō etc., see ibid. Perhaps also σκιμπτω 'I throw hard at something' for σκιμπ-ιω*, beside Skr. kṣip-á-ti 'throws, slings'.

Large numbers pass into Class XIV (§ 621 p. 158). λιμπ-άνω 'I leave': Lat. linqu-ō etc., see § 628 p. 164. φνγγ-άνω 'I flee' (Lesb. partic. πεφύγγων): Avest. bunj-a-ti, see § 628 p. 164. πυνθ-άνο-μαι 'I learn': Lith. bund-ū, see § 628 p. 164. κλαγγ-άνω beside κλάζω, see above. θιγγ-άνω 'I touch, feel', cp. ἔ-θιγ-ο-ν. ἐρυγγ-άνω beside ἐρεύγ-ο-μαι 'I belch'. τυγχ-άνω, cp. ἔ-τυχ-ο-ν. λανθ-άνω beside λήθ-ω Dor. λάθ-ω 'I escape notice'. The existence of λανθάνω beside ἔλαθον produced δαγκάνω 'I bite' beside ἔδακον (✓ deh̥k-), λαγχάνω 'I get by lot' beside ἔλαχον (perf. λέλογχα), and further, χανδάνω 'I hold' beside ἔχαδον, which was itself produced by analogy of χενδ-ω* (cp. fut. χείσομαι) from ✓ ghed- (cp. § 628 p. 165). I am uncertain about λαμβάνω 'I take' beside aor. ἔλαβον perf. εἴληγα Cret. λέλομβα (like εἴληχα λέλοχα).

Where no present formation has survived: ἱμν'ας * ἕνῳ ἑταλοί Hesych., beside Lat. vinc-iō Skr. vi-vyak-ti 'embraces, surrounds' 3rd dual vi-vik-tá-s, cp. γυμβάναι * ζεύγανα (Hesych.) i. e. φιμβάναι (like τύμπανο-ν).

Lat. frang-ō for bhṛag-ō* beside frag-ili-s, Goth. brika 'I break', ✓ bhreg- (cp. Osthoff, M.U. v p. 111).

Lat. pang-ō beside pe-pig-i Gr. πήγ-νθ-μι 'I fix', ✓ pāk-pāg-; akin are doubtless Goth. faha O.H.G. fahu 'I grasp, seize' (cp. Skr. pāśa- 'cord, line') for pr. Germ. fanx-ō*, with partic. O.H.G. gi-fangan. tang-ō beside te-tig-i in-teger (Umbr. antakres 'integris'), con-tāgiu-m. plang-ō beside plag-a: Lett. plāku, see § 628 p. 165. lamb-ō, beside O.H.G. laſſu 'I lick' perf. luof, √ lab-. Perhaps also pandō beside pateō and beside Osc. patensíns 'aperirent', which comes from patynō* or patenō* (§ 622 p. 159); cp. § 612 p. 151;¹⁾ and of-fendō, see § 696.

pre-hendō: Alban. ġend-em etc., √ ghed-, see § 628 p. 165.

The fertility of this type in Latin is made clear by fund-ō beside Goth. giuta 'I pour' for gheu-dō* Class XXV § 690. Cp. Goth. standa and the like, § 634 at end.

Passing into Class XXIX (§ 628 p. 165). vinc-iō, beside Skr. vi-vyak-ti vi-vik-tás, see § 631 p. 168. sanc-iō beside sac-er.

langu-eō (langu-ēscō) perf. langu-ī (beside laxu-s O.H.G. slach 'slack, lazy' and Gr. λήγω 'I cease', √ slēg-), following Class X, § 590 p. 132.

§ 633. Keltic. O.Ir. dengaim 'I oppress' from dhinəghō* (3rd pl. pass. conj. for-diassatar 3rd sing. perf. dedaig): Lat. finġō, see § 632. O.Ir. slucim 'I swallow, gulp' (secondary -io-flexion) Mod.Cymr. llyncaf llyngaf 'devero' from slunəkö*, √ sla^huk- sla^hug-, Gr. ληγαίνω and λογγάρουμαι 'I sob'.

O.Ir. in-grennim 'I pursue' with strong-grade vowel in the root: O.C.Sl. gręd-a, see § 628 p. 165; but compare the Remark. So also Mid.Ir. dringim 'I ascend' = O.Ir. dreng(a)im* (drēimm 'clambering' subst.), akin to Skr. darh- 'make fast' pres. dṛh-á-ti dṛh-a-ti (cp. Lith. lipù 'I mount up with my feet, climb' beside limpù 'I remain clinging', O.H.G. chlimbu 'I climb' beside chlību 'I cling').

O.Ir. com-boing 'confringit' (perf. 3rd sing. -baig), cp. Skr. bhanák-ti perf. ba-bhañj-a Armen. bek-anem. tong(a)im 'I swear' beside co-tach 'compact'. in-dlung 'I split' beside in-dlach 'split' subst.

1) Bartholomae (Stud. Idg. Spr., II 96 f.) derives pangō pandō ē-mungō from panək-nō* pant-nō* munək-nō* (cp. O.C.Sl. krę(t)-nq and the like, § 636). This view seems to me unjustifiable until the general principles which govern the interchange of tenues and mediae when root-finals in Indo-Germanic have been made out (I § 469. 7 p. 346).

O.Ir. ro-finnadar 'gets to know' is related to Skr. vind-á-ti § 628 p. 164, and seems to have adopted ā-flexion; but compare the Remark, below.

Remark. Thurneysen writes to me: "Grenn- and finna- appear in Old Irish always with nn and never with nd. I hesitate between two explanations. (1) Either nd very early became nn before the accent (the prefix which accented is always ind-, is either inn- or in- when pretonic); or (2) the nasal stood originally after the dental: finna- = vid-nā-* or vi-n-d-nā-*, grenn- = gred-n-* (grid-n-?) or gre-n-d-n-. I am still searching for evidence to decide the matter." With vindnā-* grendn-* compare Lett. brīnu for brendnu*, O.C.Sl. seġna § 615 p. 154, § 636.

Goth. sigq-a O.H.G. sink-u 'I sink', Goth. stigq-a 'I strike', see § 628 p. 164. Goth. fra-slinda O.H.G. slint-u 'I swallow' (re-formed, O.H.G. slunt 'throat'): cp. Mid.H.G. slīte A.S. slīde 'I slide, slip', Lith. slid-ū-s 'slippery, smooth' Lett. slaid-s 'steep'.¹⁾ O.Icel. slepp 'I make slide' pr. Germ. slimpō* (pret. slapp): cp. O.H.G. slifu 'I slide, sink', √ sleib-. O.H.G. climbu 'I climb, clamber, ascend': cp. O.Icel. klíf 'I climb' pret. kleif, O.H.G. chlību 'I cling, hold'. √ gleip- (gleip- and leip- are p-extensions of √ glei- and lei-, cp. § 797). Mod.H.G. blinke 'I glit' a weak verb, but originally doubtless strong (re-formate O.H.G. blanch 'bright'): cp. O.H.G. blīhhu 'I gleam', Lith. blyksztū 'I turn pale' blaiksztyti-s 'to clear up'. From O.Sax. mengian (Goth. maggjan*) 'to mingle' we must apparently infer mingan* 'to mingle' akin to Skr. miś-rá- 'mixt'; see § 805. (Kluge in his Etym. Dict. explains differently).

Roots with -er- -el- show strong-grade vowels (cp. § 628 p. 165). O.H.G. spring-u 'I leap' instead of pr. Germ. sprung-ō* ground-form sprūgh-ō*: cp. Gr. σπερχομαι 'I hasten' σπερχ-νό-ς 'hasty'. O.H.G. ring-u 'I move to and fro, writhe violently'

1) Osthoff compares fra-slinda with Gr. λνι-μό-ς λνι-τμα (Zeitschr. deutsch. Phil., xxiv 215; Anz. für idg. Spr., i 82). According to this etymology, we should start with a stem slī-t- (cp. τ in λνιτμα) which took a nasal infix. Compare below, in this section, on standa (p. 172).

A.S. wrinze 'I turn, press' (cp. Goth. vruggō f. 'knot, noose'): cp. O.H.G. wurg(i)u 'I throttle, choke' Lith. verž-iū 'I tie together, enclose', $\sqrt{uergh-}$ (I § 285 Rem. p. 228). O.H.G. scrint-u 'I burst, blow up, split, rend' (O.H.G. scrunta 'split, tear, rent'): cp. Lith. skėrdžiu 'I burst, blow up, split', partic. su-skirdęs 'blown up, burst open', $\sqrt{sqerdh-}$ (i. e. squer+dh-, § 689). Mid.H.G. schrumpfe 'I become wrinkled, shrivel': Pruss. sen-skrempūsnan acc. 'wrinkle, fold' (p, as elsewhere, wrongly written for b), cp. O.Icel. skorp-r 'shrivelled, dry' skorp-na 'I dry up' intr. Russ. skorblyj 'shrivelled', $\sqrt{sqerb-}$. Mid.H.G. sprinza O.Icel. spret 'I leap, burst, blow up' doubtless akin to O.C.Sl. pręd-ajā 'I leap, tremble', $\sqrt{(s)perd-}$ (i. e. (s)per+d- § 700). O.H.G. sling-u 'I move, twist, swing to and fro, crawl' (cp. slango 'snake'), doubtless with Lith. slenk-i 'I crawl' akin to Lat. sulcu-s 'furrow, snake's trail'.

Root type peq- (§ 628 p. 165). Goth. þeiha O.H.G. dīhu 'I thrive' pr. Germ. þenχ-ō*: Lith. tenk-i $\sqrt{teq-}$, see § 628 p. 165. Goth. finþa O.H.G. find-u 'I find', as we may conjecture, from $\sqrt{pet-}$ Gr. πίνρω (for the meaning cp. ἐμπνεσῶν). A.S. ze-tinge 'I hold on to, press' cp. ze-tenzan 'to make fast, add, join to' O.Icel. tengja 'tie or fasten together', beside Skr. dagh- 'reach up to, touch' $\sqrt{deggh-}$ (Skr. 2nd and 3rd sing. dhak is an ad-formate of roots which had both initial and final media aspirata): O.C.Sl. dęgŭ 'line, string' ne-dagŭ 'weakness, sickness'.

Goth. fah-a O.H.G. fah-u 'I seize' pr. Germ. fanχ-ō*, connected possibly with Lat. pang-ō, $\sqrt{pak-}$ pāg-, see § 632 p. 165. Compare O.Icel. bang weak verb 'I strike, knock' Mod.H.G. Swiss bang(e) 'I give a knock' (Mid.H.G. bengel 'cudgel'), beside O.H.G. bagu 'I fight, strive', O.Ir. bagim 'I strive', $\sqrt{bhēgh-}$ bhōgh-.

Secondary io-flexion (§ 628 p. 165) must be assumed for O.H.G. winch(i)u 'I move sideways, fluctuate, nod, beckon' (pret. in Mid.H.G., pret. and part. in Mod.H.G. also strong — wanc, gewunken), if it, along with the Lith. ving-i-s m. 'deviation, bend' ving-i-s 'crooked, bent' (compare vėngiu 'I avoid, do not want to do something' inf. vėnkti), is related to O.H.G. wīhhu 'I shrink, yield' Gr. οἶγνῶμι for ò-F1γ-* 'I open' ('make yield'). But these comparisons are doubtful (cp. Fick, Wtb., 1⁴ 541, 547 f.; G. Meyer, Et. Wört. der alb. Spr., 463; Per Persson, Stud. Lehr. Wurzelersw., 174 f.).

Nasal present stems from roots extended by -t-; see § 685. Goth. standa 'I stand' pret. stōþ O.H.G. stantu pret. -stuot (generally with intrusive nasal, stuont) for standō* ground-form stā-n-tō* from √stā-. Goth. vinda O.H.G. wintu 'I wind, turn, wrap, enfold' (pret. vand want), beside Goth. ga-vida 'I tie up' O.H.G. witu 'I tie, bind' from wei- Skr. vī-tá-s 'folded, enclosed' Lith. vej-ù 'I twist a cord' (cp. § 790). O.H.G. swintu 'I vanish, disappear' A.S. swinde beside O.H.G. swī-nu § 614 p. 152. Compare above, O.H.G. scrintu from sger+dh- p. 171, Mid.H.G. sprinze from sper+d- (ibid.), Lat. fundō from gheu+d- § 632 p. 169, and again O.H.G. chlimbu from glei+p- (above, p. 170), O.C.Sl. tręsq 'I shake, shatter' from tr+es- and Skr. dhvāsa-ti 'disperses, disappears' intr. from dhu+es- (Classes XIX and XX, cp. Per Persson, Wurzel-erweiterung, p. 83).

Lith. limp-ù 'I cling, hold' (pret. lip-aũ), Lett. sīk-u 'I sink down, fall', Lith. sžvint-ù 'I grow clear', sniņg-a 'it snows', Pruss. po-linka 'remains', Lith. string-u 'I remain hanging', runk-ù 'I grow winkled', Lett. mūk-u 'I make off, flee', Lith. bund-ù 'I wake up' see § 628 p. 164. Lith. stimp-ù 'I grow stiff' (pret. stip-aũ), tunk-ù 'I grow fat' (tuk-aũ), džiung-ù 'I become glad' (džiug-aũ).

Lith. krint-ù 'I fall off' (krit-aũ): Skr. kṛnt-á-ti, √qert-, see § 628 p. 165. drimb-ù 'I drop in thick drops' (drib-aũ), beside dreb-iũ 'I let fall in thick drops' Gr. τρεῖς-ε-ται 'curdles' √dhrebh-. trink-ù 'I go wrong, do not come off' (trik-aũ), beside trāk-a-s 'foolish fellow' trak-ù-s 'foolish, mad' Gr. ἀ-τρεχής 'uninjured, exact, true'. splint-ù 'I spread' intr. (splīt-aũ), beside splecziũ 'I spread', trans.

Roots of the type peq- (§ 628 p. 165). Lith. tenk-ù 'I suffice in some respect, have enough of something' (tek-aũ): Goth.

peiha for pr. Germ. perǝχ-ō*, see § 628 p. 165. Lett. gidu 'I take in, conjecture', see § 628 p. 165. Lith. gend-ù 'I become damaged, split in two' (ged-aũ).

Lett. plūku 'I become flat, fall flat down' for plank-u*: Lat. plang-ō, see § 628 p. 165. Lith. kank-ù 'I hold out, suffice' (kak-aũ).

An indication of the fertility of this type in Lithuanian is the forming of present stems of the kind from nouns (cp. § 793); e. g. rentù 'I get thinner' (retaũ) from rēta-s 'thin, not close', lempù 'I pamper myself' (lepaũ) from lepù-s 'pampered'.

Secondary jo-flexion (cp. § 628, p. 165) is found only where the nasal spread beyond the present system. Lith. jūng-iu 'I yoke, put to' (inf. jūnk-ti) beside Skr. yūñj-a-ti Lat. jung-ō, Lett. mi/chu 'mingo' for minz-ju* (inf. mi/ti) beside Lat. ming-ō, § 628 p. 164. Lett. kamp-ju 'I seize, grasp' (inf. kampt), beside Lat. cap-iō.

Under the same conditions we have stems adopting to-conjugation (§ 686), where the meaning is intransitive. Lith. jūnkstu (Lett. jūkstu for junkstu*) 'I grow used' (jūnkau jūnkti) beside Lett. jūku for (j)unk-u, akin to O.C.Sl. uča 'I instruct' Skr. uc-ya-ti 'finds pleasure in' ōkas n. 'pleasure, place of pleasure, home'; cp. O.C.Sl. vyk-nā and Goth. bi-ūhts, which likewise seem to have been nasalised (§ 636). Lith. stīnkstu 'I curdle, congeal, grow stiff' (stīngau stīnkti) beside Gr. στειν 'I tread something hard' σπιβαρό-ς 'firm, pressed, solid' (cp. Lith. stėngiu § 637). sklīstù 'I flow apart' (sklindaũ sklīsti) beside sklīd-ina-s 'full to overflowing' skleidžiu 'I spread'; a pret. 3rd sing. sklīdu (sklīdō) is also found, pointing to a present sklind-ù*. Lett. stringstu 'I grow tight, dry up' (stringu stringt) beside Lith. string-u 'I remain hanging' (strigau) and streg-iu 'I crystallise, stiffen' (cp. § 628 p. 164). Lith. drīstù 'I grow bold' (drīsaũ drīsti), ✓dhers-. linkstù 'I bend' (linkaũ liūkti) beside Gr. λεκ-άνη 'pan, fan' λοξό-ς 'crooked'; also Lat. lanx with nasal (for lǝq-?*). The model for these presents is seen in blīstu 'it darkens' beside blind-ō ✓ bhlendh-, tīstū 'I stretch myself out' beside tīs-aū stem ten-s-, and the like.

§ 636. This formation is much rarer in Slavonic than it is in Baltic. O.C.Sl. strig-a 'I shear, slave' for string-*? see § 628 p. 164. gręd-a 'I come' (inf. gręsti) for ghyndh- or ghrendh-*: O.Ir. in-grennim, see § 628 p. 165. sęd-a 'I sit' (inf. sešti), ✓ sed-, cp. Pruss. sindats syndens 'sitting' beside sīdans sīdons = Lett. sēdāš. lēg-a 'I lie' (inf. lešti), ✓ leg-. tręs-a 'I shake, shatter' inf. tręs-ti from tr-es-, unless it comes from trem-so-* (cp. Lith. trimù 'I tremble' Lat. tremō), see § 657. As regards gręd-a lēk-a 'I bend' pręd-a 'I spin' compare § 637.

Sometimes extended by -io- (§ 628 p. 165). žęžd-a 'I desire, thirst' for žęd-ia* (inf. žędati) beside Lith. pa-si-gendū 'I miss' and geidžiū 'I long for'. glęžd-a 'I look, gaze' for ględ-ia* (inf. ględėti) beside Mid.H.G. glinze 'I shine' O.H.G. glīzu 'I glitter'. See § 637. With nasal confined to the present system: ob-ręšt-a 'I find' for -ręt-ia*, inf. -rešti aor. -rētū (for the etymology of this verb see § 687).

There is another extension, with -no-. vyk-n-a 'I grow used' doubtless derived from vyk-a* = Lett. jūku for *(j)unk-u, beside uč-a 'I teach' (§ 635 p. 173). seg-n-a 'I long for' beside Lith. seg-ū 'I fasten', cp. Skr. sa-saṅj-a § 629 p. 166. kręn-a 'deflecto' for kręn-a* (cp. krātiti 'to twist, turn'), beside Skr. kṛnāt-ti 'turns the thread, spins' kārtana-m. sęk-n-a 'I sink' beside Lett. sīku 'I sink, fall' for sink-u*, ✓ seiq- (§ 628 p. 164). ręg-n-a 'hisco' beside Lat. ringor (inf. ring-i) ric-tu-s. Compare § 637.

§ 637. Side by side with Lith. drimbū (ground-form dhyṃbh-ō*) and the like stand forms with e in the root syllable (cp. § 628 p. 165). dręs-ū 'I am bold' (pret. drīs-aū) beside drīs-tū ✓ dhers- § 635 p. 173. brendū (dialectic brindu for brendu) 'I wade' beside bredū (brid-aū) O.C.Sl. bred-a. lenk-iū 'I bend' (lenkiaū leñkti) beside link-stū ✓ leg- § 635 p. 173. tréndū 'I am devoured by moths or worms' inf. trendē-ti, with trīdē beside Skr. tṛṇatti tard-a-ti § 692. We may assume that drēs-ù for drins-ù* was coined to supplement drīs-aũ on the analogy of renk-ù : rinkaũ, kertù : kirtaũ etc.; lenk-iũ appears beside linkstù on the analogy of grēž-iũ 'I turn, twist' beside grīsztù 'I turn myself' etc. Slavonic verbs with ę, gręd-a lęk-a, and kręt-a* which appears to be implied by krę-na, may quite well correspond to Lith. drimb-ù or to Lith. drēs-ù.¹⁾

Baltic en Slav. ę is found in present stems from roots with i-vowels both extended and unextended. Lith. senkù 'I fall, sink' (of water) O.C.Sl. sęk-na 'I sink down' beside Lett. sīku for sink-u* Skr. siñc-á-ti ✓ seiq- (§ 628 p. 164). Lith. sprėndžiũ 'I grasp with the hand' (sprėsti) O.C.Sl. pręda 'I spin' (pręsti) beside Lith. sprindī-s m. 'span' Lett. spraid-s 'place where one stands in a narrow compass' debes-spraisli-s 'vault of heaven' O.H.G. spreiten 'stretch out, separate, part asunder'. Lith. pa-si-gendù 'I miss' O.C.Sl. žęžda 'I desire, thirst' for žęd-ia* beside Lith. geidžiũ 'I desire' Goth. gáidv n. 'lack' O.H.G. gīt 'eagerness, greed, avarice'. Lith. stėng-iũ 'I apply my strength to something' beside stėnkstù 'I congeal, get stiff' Gr. στειβω (§ 635 p. 173). Lith. *męz-ù*²⁾ 'mingo' (mįzaũ mįszti) Lett. mīf-nu for menz-nō* beside Lett. mīschu for minz-iō* (§ 635 p. 173) Lat. ming-ō Lith. mīžė f. 'cunnus' mīž-iu-s 'penis', ✓ meįgh-. O.C.Sl. glęžda (inf. ględēti) and ględaja (inf. ględati) 'I look, gaze' beside Mid.H.G. glinze 'I shine, glitter' (pret. new formation glanz) O.H.G. glīzu O.Sax. glītu 'I glitter' ✓ ghleīd-. O.C.Sl. reḡna 'hisco' (raḡũ 'jest', subst.) beside Lat. ringor ric-tu-s. If the Baltic forms stood alone, the explanation would be easy; we might say that the analogy of renk- : rinka- etc. produced senk- menž- beside sink- minž-; compare what is said above on drēsù. But this explanation does not suit

1) The fact that we find kręt- and not čręt- is not sufficient to prove that the ground-form of kręt- is the weak grade qrnt-. Such a form must have become Slav. krint-, as dhyns-* becomes Lith. drins-, and qrnt-* becomes Lith. krint- (I § 285 p. 227). There never was a form kīrnt-, nor yet qrnt-, which Bartholomae suggests as the ground-form of kręt- (Stud. Idg. Spr., II 97).

2) Dialectic minžu = menžu* (vol. I § 285 Rem., p. 227, is wrong).

the Slavonic forms, because in Slavonic, before consonants, Idg. in becoms ī, but Idg. ṇ becomes ę (I § 219. 4 p. 186).

Remark. Wiedemann's view (Arch. Slav. Phil. x 652 f., Lit. Praet. 58, 168 f.) — that Idg. in and un before consonants become slav. ę and q, except in final syllables — can hardly be maintained in this connexion, because we have isto = Lett. inkstas, lyko = Lith. lūnka-s Pruss. lunka-n and smrūd-ę (see below). Nor is Streitberg's attempt satisfactory (Idg. Forsch., i 283 f.). Perhaps the problem may be solved thus. We may suppose that originally in and un always became ī and ū; but that later, when in and un were again produced in any way before consonants, these became ę and q. We may suppose that sink- first became sik-*, and afterwards, as the principle of Class XVI still remained active, the nasal crept into the stem anew; compare (say) Gr. Att. ἐρνύμι for φερνύμι*, which took the place of pr. Gr. φερνύμι* (= Ion. ἐρνύμι) for orig. φεσ-νύ-μι* (I § 565 p. 422). Similarly bqđq may come from bhū-dhō* or bhū-dō*, and may have got its nasal only at a late stage of protoethnic Slavonic; though it may equally well be derived from bhū-ā-dhō* or -dō attracted into the nasal class, or from bhūon-dhō* or -dō regarded as an extension of a form bhū-onō* (cp. § 701). Furthermore, for the 3rd pl. smrūd-ętū beside smrūd-i-mū etc. we may assume that the old ending -int(u)* (cp. part. smrūd-ęt- Lith. smird- -int-) first lost its nasal, and then recovered it by analogy of imqū etc.

The etymologies brought up by Wiedemann in his article in the Archiv by way of support to his view are all too uncertain to base any theory upon. O.C.Sl. nažda 'compulsion, force, necessity' I connect with Skr. nādh- nāth- 'to be oppress, in need of help'; tapū 'blunt, dull', with stemp- stemb- in O.H.G. stumpf, Lith. stambū-s 'coarse' stamba-s 'stump'; -dagū 'force, strength' is to be connected with degū 'cord, strap, bridle' (Miklosich, Et. Wort., p. 49 a), and with O.H.G. gi-zengi 'reaching to, touching close' and Skr. dagh- 'to reach' (§ 634 p. 171).

Class XVII.

The Root + -ney- -nu- forming the Present Stem.

Beside -ney- nu-, Aryan has -anau- -anu-. See § 596. 3, pages 137 f.

The Root Syllable had originally the weak grade, except in Skr. daṣ-ṇó-ti Gr. δαξ-νύ-μενο-ς.

§ 639. Pr. Idg. ṛ-nex-* ṛ-nex-*, √er-: Skr. ṛ-ṇó-mi 'I excite, set moving' 1st pl. ṛ-ṇu-más 3rd pl. ṛ-ṇv-ánti mid. 3rd sing. ṛ-ṇu-tě, conj. ṛ-ṇáv-a-t, opt. ṛ-ṇu-yá-t; Gr. ὄρ-νῦ-μι 'I excite, disturb, startle' 1st pl. ὄρ-νῦ-μεν (ὄρ- = ṛ-). — With thematic vowel: Skr. ṛ-ṇv-á-ti.

ṛ-nex-*: Skr. ṛ-ṇó-mi 'I fall in with something, reach, attain', Armen. ar-nu-m 'I take', Gr. ἄρ-νῦ-μαι 'I attain, earn'. Perhaps identical with the previous verb. ἄρ-νῦ-μαι as regards the grade of its root vowel would stand to ὄρ-νῦ-μι as τι-νύ-μεναι to τί-νῦ-νται, and Skr. stṛ-ṇó-mi to Gr. στόρ-νῦ-μι (see below').

stṛ-nex-* stṛ-nex-*, √ster- 'sternere': Skr. stṛ-ṇó-mi, Gr. στόρ-νῦ-μι.

pstṛ-nex-*, √pster- 'sneeze': Gr. πτάρ-νῦ-ται, cp. Lat. thematic ster-nu-ō (sternūtāre).

tṛ-nex-*, √ten- 'stretch, lengthen': Skr. ta-ṇó-mi Gr. τά-νῦ-ται.

sṇ-nex-*, √sen- 'reach a goal, attain, end, complete'. Skr. sa-ṇó-mi, Gr. ἄ-νῦ-μι ἥ-νῦ-το (the regular spir. asp. appears in ἄ-νύ-ω and elsewhere). — Thematic: Gr. ἄνω ἄνω for ἄ-νF-ω*.

qi-nex-*, √qeṇ- 'pay a penalty' etc.: Skr. ci-ṇó-mi, Gr. inf. τι-νύ-μεναι, also with ι mid. τί-νῦ-νται. — Thematic: Skr. ci-nva-ti, Gr. τίνω τίνω for τι-νF-ω*.

mi-nex-*, √meṇ- 'lessen': Skr. mi-ṇó-mi, cp. Gr. μι-νύ-θω (§ 694), Lat. mi-nu-ō.

Skr. kṣi-ṇó-mi 'I destroy', cp. Gr. φθι-νύ-θω (§ 694), thematic φθίνω φθίνω for φθι-νF-ω*.

ghi-nex-*, √ghej-: Skr. hi-ṇó-mi 'I set in motion, drive on', cp. thematic Skr. hí-nv-a-ti, Goth. du-ginna 'I begin'. This comparison I regard as more likely than Bugge's (P.-B. Beitr., xii 405 f.). This scholar, followed by several others, has compared the Germanic verb with O.C.Sl. na-čĭnq (cp. Fick, Wort. I⁴ 382).

The form karō-ṭha is found in the Śākhāyā (cf. § 634) and in the Āgastya (cf. § 634) and is also found in the Śākhāyā (cf. § 634) and in the Āgastya (cf. § 634).

karō-ṭha* is found in the Śākhāyā (cf. § 634) and in the Āgastya (cf. § 634).

Skr. arjān-mi 'I hide, cover, enfold imper. arjān-mi Avest. kar-nu-ān: also Skr. arjān-mi for arjān-mi* pr. Ar. arjān-mi* (I § 157 p. 141. § 306 pp. 241 ff.), like Gr. arjō-vi-pi beside Skr. arjān-mi. Skr. dān-nō-mi beside dhan-nō-mi; thematic Avest. kar-nu-ān. Skr. ta-nō-mi 'I stretch, lengthen' (§ 639 p. 177), conj. Ved. ta-nāc-ā Avest. ta-nu-ān, opt. mid. Skr. ta-nu-ān Avest. tanu-ān i. e. ta-nu-ān

1) For kar, see I § 258, p. 230.

2) For Skr. karō-ṭi karu-ṭha J. Wackernagel offers a very likely conjecture (Kuhn's Litteraturblatt, III 55 f.). He suggests that karō-ṭi becomes in vulgar speech karō-ṭi karu-ṭi, and these became karō-kuru- by analogy of the other forms of the verb, which all had r.

(§ 940). Skr. i-ṇó-ti 'subdues, forces' Avest. i-nao-iti, doubtless akin to Gr. αἵ-νν-μαι 'I grasp, take'; — thematic Skr. i-nv-a-ti. Avest. sri-nao-iti 'bends, directs somewhere', $\sqrt{klei-}$. Skr. su-ṇó-ti 'presses out', 3rd sing. á-su-nu-ta Avest. hu-nū-ta; — thematic Avest. imper. mid. hu-nv-a-rouha (= Skr. su-nv-a-sva*). Skr. dhṛṣ-ṇó-ti 'dares', $\sqrt{dhers-}$, § 639 p. 178. Skr. aś-ṇó-ti 'reaches' Avest. aś-nao-iti, ground-form ṛk-neṣ-ti*, opt. Skr. aś-nu-yá-t Avest. aś-nu-yā-p. Skr. śak-ṇó-mi 'I can'.

In Skr. kṣ-ṇāú-ti 'whets' partic. kṣ-ṇuv-aná-s from $\sqrt{qes-}$ (II § 8 Rem. 2 p. 20), the root has ceased to be a separate syllable; compare perhaps Lat. novā-cula, first for s-neṣ-a-* (Kretschmer, Kuhn's Zeitschr. xxxi 419, 470). au instead of ō arose as in ūrṇāu-ti (beside ūr-ṇó-ti) by analogy of such a present as stāú-ti, see § 494 p. 55. The diphthong was regarded as part of the root proper, hence kṣṇu-tá- (Avest. hu-xšnu-ta 'well sharpened') kṣṇó-tra- and ūrṇu-tya- -ūrnavana- (similar forms in Greek, see § 643 p. 183).

§ 641. Strong suffix instead of weak; Skr. 2nd pl. á-kṛṇō- -ta kṛṇó-ta instead of á-kṛṇu-ta kṛṇu-tá, hinó-ta hinó-tam instead of hinu-tá hinu-tám, Avest. 2nd pl. srinao-ta (O.Pers. 3rd pl. a-kūnav-a a-kūnav-atā I regard as thematic, see § 649). Compare Skr. grbhṇā-hi instead of grbhṇī-hí, and like forms § 600 p. 143. Vice versa, Avest. 2nd sing. ker^enūi-ši contrasted with Skr. kṛṇó-ši.

The strong stem occurs along with the weak in thematic conjugation; e. g. Avest. 2nd sing. pret. act. ker^e-nav-ō. On this matter, refer to §§ 648 and 649.

In the 1st plural and dual, -nu- may drop its -u- before the personal ending, unless the root ends in a consonant; kṛṇmās kṛṇvās kṛṇmáhē kṛṇváhē beside kṛṇu-más etc. sunmās beside sunu-más etc. (but only aś-nu-más aś-nu-vás etc.). The first trace of this new development is one example in Veda, kṛṇmahē. It is possible enough that kṛṇvánti : aśnuvánti suggested kṛṇvās (instead of kṛṇuvās) beside aśnuvās; or that kṛṇuvās became kṛṇvās naturally (cp. Wackernagel, Kuhn's Litteraturbl. III 56), which produced kṛṇmās by analogy. If kṛṇvās did arise by regular change, the variant kṛṇuvās must have been restored on the analogy of kṛṇumās, as kṛṇmas was coined on the analogy of kṛṇvās. However, some influence must have been exerted by the relation of kurmās kurvās kurmāhē kurovāhē to kuruthā kuruthās kurudhvē. kurmās is as early as the Rig-Veda, and kurumās* kuruvās* never seem to have existed at all. I would suggest that the forms with kur- are due to the analogy of the opt. aor. kuryā-t mid. kuri-tā-* (cp. vurī-ta murīy-a); and it would be all the easier to understand how the stems kur- and kuru- = kṛnu- (p. 178 footnote 2) came to be confused, if the imperative kuru represents not only orig. kṛnu, but a form qrr-* + the particle u (cp. the particle -na in Avest. 2nd sing. imper. bara-nā § 600 Rem. p. 143). Compare the references given to explain kurmās in § 498 p. 57.

Remark. Moulton (Am. Journ. Phil., x 283) thinks that -n- in forms such as kṛ-ṇ-mās is the weak form of -nā- (Class XII), and compares Avest. ver^o-n-i-ē. But if only he could point to a Sanskrit example of -n- instead of -ni- in Class XII!

2nd sing. Ved. śṛ-ṇv-i-ṣē (beside śṛ-ṇó-ti 'hears') is an ad-formate of 3rd pl. śṛ-ṇv-i-rē, cp. jajñ-i-ṣē beside jajñ-i-rē (§ 574 p. 115).

On the strong root of Skr. ap-ṇó-mi, see § 600 p. 144; for that of Skr. daś-ṇó-mi, § 639 p. 178.

Reduplicated: Avest. 3rd sing. mid. aś-aś-nu-ta beside aś-nao-iti § 640 (Bartholomae, Kuhn's Zeitschr. xxix 309).

§ 642. Armenian. Verbs in -nu-m (sing. -nu-m -nu-s -nu pl. -nu-mē -nuē -nu-n).

aṛ-nu-m 'I take' (aor. aṛ-i): Skr. ṛ-ṇó-mi etc., see § 639 p. 177. jeṛ-nu-m 'I warm myself, get warm, glow' (cp. jeṛ-m 'warm' = Gr. ῥιρ-μός): Skr. ghṛ-ṇó-mi (gramm.). l-nu-m 'I fill', ground-form plē-nu-*, cp. Lat. plē-nu-s. ait-nu-m 'I swell', cp. Gr. οἰδάω 'I swell'. tañ-nu-m 'I hide myself', cp. Gr. πρήσσω 'I bow, bend'.

z-genum 'I dress myself' (z- is a prefix) for ges-nu-* (I § 561 p. 417): Gr. ἐννέμι (Ennēmi), see § 639 p. 178.

§ 643. Greek. -vū-, which we see in the strong persons of the singular, seems to have pushed out Idg. -ne-, because of the analogy of the forms -vā- : -vā- (Class XII), cp. § 480 p. 29, on ἐμειναιῶν beside ἐμειναιῶ. Even if we supposed that -vū- represents Idg. -nū-, a weak grade, used along with -nu-, we should have to assume that the forms had followed -vā- : -vā-; and Avest. -nū- is not sufficient evidence for an Idg. -nū-. In the 3rd pl., -vv-avti (instead of -v-εvτι* = Skr. -nuv-anti, see § 1021.3) seems to have become regular quite early; once there were in use such forms as τι-vf-avτι* τι-vf-εvτι* = Skr. ci-nv-ānti (cp. § 638 p. 177); as to Ion. ἀγνῶσι Att. ἄγνυνται, see §§ 1020.2 and 1065.2.

Besides the forms mentioned in § 639 — ὄρ-vū-μι, ἄρ-vv-μαι, στόρ-vū-μι, πτόρ-vv-μαι, τά-vv-μαι, ἄ-vū-μι, τι-rv-μεναι τί-vv-νται — there are yet others with weak-grade vowels in the root syllable. θάρ-vv-μαι in Hesychius (-αρ- = -ᾱ-) and θόρ-vv-μαι (-ορ- = -ō-) 'I leap, cover (of animals)' (I § 306 p. 241). κί-vv-μαι 'I move myself'. Cret. 3rd sing. πι-δίκ-vū-τι = Att. ἐπι-δείκνυσι (on πι-, see the Author, Gr. Gr.² p. 219) ✓deĩk-. οἴγνυμι 'I open' Hom. ὦ-(f)ίγ-vv-ντο beside Lesb. inf. ὀ-είγ-ην, originally 'I make yield', beside O.H.G. wīthhu 'I yield, give way'. μίγ-vū-μι 'I mix' beside fut. μείξω, ✓meĩk- meĩḡ-. ὀμόργ-vū-μι 'I wipe' for mǫḡ-*, ✓merḡ-. ἄχ-vv-μαι 'I am grieved, troubled', beside Goth. un-agands 'not fearing' ōg 'I fear'. An old form with strong root (third strong grade) is Hom. δῆκ-vū-μενο-ς 'doing honour to, reverencing, greeting', see § 639 p. 178. Greek new formations with a strong root-form are ὀρέγ-vū-μι 'I reach, stretch out' ✓reḡ-, δείκ-vū-μι 'I show' beside Cret. πι-δίκ-vū-τι, ζεύγ-vū-μι 'I bind' ✓jeuḡ-, πήγ-vū-μι 'I fix' ✓pāḡ- and others. Ion. δέκ-vū-μι 'I show', coming, as we may conjecture, from a ✓dek-, but in use finally confused with δείκ-vū-μι (cp. Fick, Wtb. I⁴ 66). ὀμ-vū-μι 'I swear' beside ὀμο- (ὀμό-σσαι ὀμό-τη-ς), ὀλλ-μι 'I destroy' for ὀλ-vū-μι*

(I § 204 p. 170) beside ὀλε- (ὀλέ-σσαι), like δαμ-ντ-μι beside δαμα-, κάμ-νω beside καμα- (§ 602 p. 144).

The place of (Ion.) ἐννῦμι 'I clothe' for f-es-νῦ-μι* = Armen. z-genu-m (§ 639 p. 178) was in Attic taken by a new form ἐννῦμι; see I § 565 pp. 422 f. The following are forms of the same kind: στέννῦμι 'I quench, stop' for earlier ζέννῦμι i. e. zδέννῦμι (Hesych.)¹⁾ from a stem zq-es-* √seg-, cp. aor. Hom. στέσ-σαι; βδέννῦμαι (gramm.) beside βδ-έω 'pedo' aor. βδ-έσαι for βδ-εσ-, earlier βzd-εσ-, √pezd- 'pedere' (cp. § 661). Further, ζώννῦμι 'I gird'²⁾ beside ζωσ-τήρ Idg. j-ōs- (§ 656). On the model of these were made χορέννῦμι 'I satisfy', πετάννῦμι 'I spread', ῥώννῦμι 'I strengthen', στρώννῦμι 'I strew, spread' and others; and the analogy of ἡμμί-εσα -εσμαι: ἀμμί-έννῦμι gave rise to χορέννῦμι beside ἐκόρεσα κεκόρεσμαι, etc.

A present πί-νῦ-μι* is represented by πιννμένην·συνετήν Hesych., compare πυ-νυ-τό-ς 'enlightened, sensible' πινύσσω πίννσι-ς. This, along with νῦ-πύ-τιο-ς 'senseless, under age, minor' and νῦ-πιό-ς (same meaning) for νῦ-πῦ-ιο-ς* (I § 166 p. 147), is akin to Skr. pu-ná-ti 'purifies, clears up' (for the accent cp. Goth. hug-s 'understanding, reason' beside Skr. śúci-ṣ 'pure', § 907). But πινν- does not come from πυ-νυ-* (I § 48 p. 41); the ground-form was pu-i-nu-*, having the same determinative ῥ as we see in Ital. pu-t-īo-s* (Osc. piθhiúí Lat. piu-s, see Bartholomae, Stud. Idg. Spr. II 185) Skr. pav-t-tár-, and in Gr. πύρ Umbr. pir O.H.G. fuir 'fire'. It follows that πίνῦμι*: Skr. pu-ná-mi = Skr. r-i-nva-ti Gr. ὀρίνω: Skr. ṛ-ṇvá-ti Gr. ὀρ-νῦ-μι (cp. § 596. 4 p. 138).

1) Hesychius has ζέιναιμεν·σβέννυμεν which is emended to ζέννυμεν. This emendation is not necessary. There may quite well have been parallel forms, one in Class XII and one in Class XVII, as so often happens in Sanskrit. Then the form ζέννῦμι in the text should be marked with an asterisk.

2) It is quite possible that Att. ὑπο-ζωνύνα[ι] C.I.A. I 77. 9 (second half of the 5th cent. B. C.) may represent the regular form (cp. ἱζωμένοσ, Meisterhans, Gr.², p. 148).

λάζομαι beside λάζομαι 'I take, seize', κτείνεμι beside κτείνω 'I slay' (for κτεν-ιω*) are due to the analogy of τίνομαι τίνομαι (for τι-νF-ο-μαι*): τίννεται τινύμεναι, etc. But καίννμαι 'I surpass, outdo' was formed from κέκασμαι because δέδασμαι has δαί-νν-μαι (§ 707).

On thematic forms in -νF-ω see § 652. As regards those in -νώ, as τανύω ὀμνύω στρογγύω, found in the Homeric dialect and in Attic more and more often from the 4th century B. C. onwards, it is doubtful whether they represent pr. Idg. verbs in -nuṃ-ō, which may have been used side by side with -nṃ-ō as in the 3rd pl. Skr. aś-nuṃ-ánti Gr. ἄγ-νν-ᾶσι beside Skr. ci-nv-ánti. They may equally well be a new formation peculiar to Greek.

From τάννμαι τανύω γάννμαι, whose structure was less clear to the consciousness of those who used them than was that of ὄρ-νῃ-μι ἄγ-νῃ-μι and words of that sort, were formed τανύσσαι τετάνυσται γανύσσεται and so forth on the analogy of ἐρύσσαι ἐρύσται ἐρύσσεται beside the pres. εἰρύνεμαι ἐρύω 'I draw, pull'. Compare Skr. partic. kṣṇu-tá-s from kṣ-ṇāú-ti, fut. aśnuviṣya-tē from aś-nó-mi áṣ-ṭa, ūrṇu-tya- from ūr-ṇāú-ti (§ 640 p. 179), and Greek itself δυνατός ἐδυνησάμην from δύ-να-μαι (§ 602 p. 145).

For μι-νύ-θω φθι-νύ-θω, see § 694.

§ 644. Italic. Only thematic forms occur in this branch; see § 649. An undoubted relic of -ney- is nov-ā-cula, if it is to be connected with Skr. kṣ-ṇāú-ti (§ 640 p. 179).

Remark. Job (Mém. Soc. Ling. vi 353 f.) offers a very dubious suggestion, that in Latin present stems in nu- came directly from those in -no-; he says tol-nu-mus* tol-nu-tis* lead at once to tolnimus* tolnitis* (tollimus tollitis), whence by complementary analogy tollō.

§ 645. Keltic. Not one of the original forms is preserved. On O.Ir. ro-chluiniur 'I hear' (beside Avest. srunaoiti), see § 604 p. 146.

§ 646. Germanic. The plural of certain verbs is of this class. Goth. O.H.G. kun-nu-m 'we learn, know' from gṇ-nu-* seen in blīsta 'it darkens' beside blind-ō √ bhlendh-, tīstū 'I stretch myself out' beside tīś-aū stem ten-s-, and the like.

§ 636. This formation is much rarer in Slavonic than it is in Baltic. O.C.Sl. strig-a 'I shear, slave' for string-*? see § 628 p. 164. gręd-a 'I come' (inf. gręsti) for ghyndh- or ghrendh-*: O.Ir. in-grennim, see § 628 p. 165. sed-a 'I sit' (inf. sešti), √ sed-, cp. Pruss. sindats syndens 'sitting' beside sīdāns sīdons = Lett. sēdās. leg-a 'I lie' (inf. lešti), √ leg-. tręśa 'I shake, shatter' inf. tręś-ti from tr-es-, unless it comes from trem-so-* (cp. Lith. trimù 'I tremble' Lat. tremō), see § 657. As regards gręd-a lęk-a 'I bend' pręd-a 'I spin' compare § 637.

Sometimes extended by -io- (§ 628 p. 165). žęžd-a 'I desire, thirst' for žęd-ia* (inf. žędati) beside Lith. pa-si-gendū 'I miss' and geidžiū 'I long for'. glęžd-a 'I look, gaze' for ględ-ia* (inf. ględėti) beside Mid.H.G. glinze 'I shine' O.H.G. glīzu 'I glitter'. See § 637. With nasal confined to the present system: ob-ręśt-a 'I find' for -ręt-ia*, inf. -rešti aor. -rētū (for the etymology of this verb see § 687).

There is another extension, with -no-. vyk-n-a 'I grow used' doubtless derived from vyk-a* = Lett. jūku for *(j)unk-u, beside uč-a 'I teach' (§ 635 p. 173). seğ-n-a 'I long for' beside Lith. seg-ù 'I fasten', cp. Skr. sa-sañj-a § 629 p. 166. kreñ-a 'deflecto' for kręt-n-a* (cp. krātiti 'to twist, turn'), beside Skr. kṛnāt-ti 'turns the thread, spins' kārtana-m. sęk-n-a 'I sink' beside Lett. sīku 'I sink, fall' for sink-u*, √ seiq- (§ 628 p. 164). reğ-n-a 'hisco' beside Lat. ringor (inf. ring-ī) ric-tu-s. Compare § 637.

§ 637. Side by side with Lith. drimbū (ground-form dhymbh-ō*) and the like stand forms with e in the root syllable (cp. § 628 p. 165). dręś-ù 'I am bold' (pret. drīś-aū) beside drīś-tū √ dhers- § 635 p. 173. brendū (dialectic brindu for brendu) 'I wade' beside bredū (brid-aū) O.C.Sl. bred-a. lenk-iū 'I bend' (lenkiaū leñkti) beside link-stū √ leq- § 635 p. 173. tréndu 'I am devoured by moths or worms' inf. trendē-ti, with trīdē beside Skr. tṛṇatti tard-a-ti § 692. We may assume that drēs-ù for drins-ù* was coined to supplement drīs-aũ on the analogy of renk-ù : rinkaũ, kertù : kirtaũ etc.; lenk-iũ appears beside linkstũ on the analogy of grēž-iũ 'I turn, twist' beside grīszti 'I turn myself' etc. Slavonic verbs with ę, gręd-a lęk-a, and kręd-a* which appears to be implied by krę-na, may quite well correspond to Lith. drimb-ù or to Lith. drēs-ù.¹⁾

Baltic en Slav. ę is found in present stems from roots with i-vowels both extended and unextended. Lith. senkũ 'I fall, sink' (of water) O.C.Sl. sęk-na 'I sink down' beside Lett. sīku for sink-u* Skr. siñc-ā-ti ✓ sejg- (§ 628 p. 164). Lith. sprėndžiu 'I grasp with the hand' (spręsti) O.C.Sl. pręda 'I spin' (pręsti) beside Lith. sprindī-s m. 'span' Lett. spraid-s 'place where one stands in a narrow compass' debes-spraisli-s 'vault of heaven' O.H.G. spreiten 'stretch out, separate, part asunder'. Lith. pa-si-gendũ 'I miss' O.C.Sl. žęžda 'I desire, thirst' for žęd-ia* beside Lith. geidžiũ 'I desire' Goth. gáidv n. 'lack' O.H.G. gīt 'eagerness, greed, avarice'. Lith. stėng-iu 'I apply my strength to something' beside stinkstũ 'I congeal, get stiff' Gr. στεῖβω (§ 635 p. 173). Lith. *męz-ù*²⁾ 'mingo' (mīžaũ mīszi) Lett. mīf-nu for menz-nō* beside Lett. mīschu for minz-iō* (§ 635 p. 173) Lat. ming-ō Lith. mīžė f. 'cunnus' mīž-iu-s 'penis', ✓ meiğh-. O.C.Sl. glęžda (inf. ględēti) and ględaja (inf. ględati) 'I look, gaze' beside Mid.H.G. glinze 'I shine, glitter' (pret. new formation glanz) O.H.G. glīzu O.Sax. glītu 'I glitter' ✓ ghlejd-. O.C.Sl. reğna 'hisco' (rağũ 'jest', subst.) beside Lat. ringor ric-tu-s. If the Baltic forms stood alone, the explanation would be easy; we might say that the analogy of renk- : rink- etc. produced senk- menž- beside sink- minž-; compare what is said above on drēs-ù. But this explanation does not suit

1) The fact that we find kręd- and not čręd- is not sufficient to prove that the ground-form of kręd- is the weak grade qrnt-. Such a form must have become Slav. krīnt-, as dhyns-* becomes Lith. drins-, and qrnt-* becomes Lith. krint- (I § 285 p. 227). There never was a form kirnt-, nor yet qrnt-, which Bartholomae suggests as the ground-form of kręd- (Stud. Idg. Spr., II 97).

2) Dialectic minžu = menžu* (vol. I § 285 Rem., p. 227, is wrong).

the Slavonic forms, because in Slavonic, before consonants, Idg. in becomes ī, but Idg. u becomes e (I § 219. 4 p. 186).

Remark. Wiedemann's view (Arch. Slav. Phil. x 652 f., Lit. Praet. 58, 168 f.) — that Idg. in and un before consonants become slav. e and a, except in final syllables — can hardly be maintained in this connexion, because we have isto = Lett. īnkstas, lyko = Lith. lūnka-s Pruss. lunka-n and smrūd-e (see below). Nor is Streitberg's attempt satisfactory (Idg. Forsch., I 283 f.). Perhaps the problem may be solved thus. We may suppose that originally in and un always became ī and ū; but that later, when in and un were again produced in any way before consonants, these became e and a. We may suppose that sink- first became sik-*, and afterwards, as the principle of Class XVI still remained active, the nasal crept into the stem anew; compare (say) Gr. Att. ἐννύμι for fēnūmi*, which took the place of pr. Gr. fērvūmi* (= Ion. ἐννύμι) for orig. fēn-vū-mi* (I § 565 p. 422). Similarly bqda may come from bhū-dhō* or bhū-dō*, and may have got its nasal only at a late stage of protoethnic Slavonic; though it may equally well be derived from bhū-ā-dhō* or -dō attracted into the nasal class, or from bhūon-dhō* or -dō regarded as an extension of a form bhū-onō* (cp. § 701). Furthermore, for the 3rd pl. smrūd-eū beside smrūd-i-mū etc. we may assume that the old ending -int(u)* (cp. part. smrūd-ei- Lith. smirā- -int-) first lost its nasal, and then recovered it by analogy of imaqū etc.

The etymologies brought up by Wiedemann in his article in the Archiv by way of support to his view are all too uncertain to base any theory upon. O.C.Sl. nāžda 'compulsion, force, necessity' I connect with Skr. nādh- nāth- 'to be opprest, in need of help'; tapū 'blunt, dull', with stem stemb- in O.H.G. stumpf, Lith. stambū-s 'coarse' stamba-s 'stump'; -daqū 'force, strength' is to be connected with dēgū 'cord, strap, bridle' (Miklosich, Et. Wort., p. 49 a), and with O.H.G. gi-zengi 'reaching to, touching close' and Skr. dagh- 'to reach' (§ 634 p. 171).

Class XVII.

The Root + -ney- -nu- forming the Present Stem.

Beside -ney- nu-, Aryan has -anau- -anu-. See § 596. 3, pages 137 f.

The Root Syllable had originally the weak grade, except in Skr. dāś-ñó-ti Gr. δηκ-νύ-μενο-ς.

§ 639. Pr. Idg. ṛ-neu-* ṛ-neu-*, $\sqrt{\text{er-}}$: Skr. ṛ-ñó-mi 'I excite, set moving' 1st pl. ṛ-nu-más 3rd pl. ṛ-nv-ánti mid. 3rd sing. ṛ-nu-té, conj. ṛ-náv-a-t, opt. ṛ-nu-yá-t; Gr. ὄρ-νῦ-μι 'I excite, disturb, startle' 1st pl. ὄρ-νν-μεν (ὄρ- = ṛ-). — With thematic vowel: Skr. ṛ-nv-á-ti.

ṛ-neu-*: Skr. ṛ-ñó-mi 'I fall in with something, reach, attain', Armen. aṛ-nu-m 'I take', Gr. ᾶρ-νν-μαι 'I attain, earn'. Perhaps identical with the previous verb. ᾶρ-νν-μαι as regards the grade of its root vowel would stand to ὄρ-νῦ-μι as τι-νί-μεναι to τί-νν-νται, and Skr. stṛ-ñó-mi to Gr. στόρ-νῦ-μι (see below).

stṛ-neu-* stṛ-neu-*, $\sqrt{\text{ster-}}$ 'sternere': Skr. stṛ-ñó-mi, Gr. στόρ-νῦ-μι.

pster-neu-*, $\sqrt{\text{pster-}}$ 'sneeze': Gr. πτάρ-νν-ται, cp. Lat. thematic ster-nu-ō (sternütäre).

tṇ-neu-*, $\sqrt{\text{ten-}}$ 'stretch, lengthen': Skr. ta-ñó-mi Gr. τά-νν-ται.

sṇ-neu-*, $\sqrt{\text{sen-}}$ 'reach a goal, attain, end, complete'. Skr. sa-ñó-mi, Gr. ᾶ-νῦ-μι ἥ-νν-το (the regular spir. asp. appears in ᾶ-νν-ω and elsewhere). — Thematic: Gr. ἄνω ἄνω for ᾶ-νν-ω*.

qi-neu-*, $\sqrt{\text{qeḥ-}}$ 'pay a penalty' etc.: Skr. ci-ñó-mi, Gr. inf. τι-νν-μεναι, also with i mid. τί-νν-νται. — Thematic: Skr. ci-nva-ti, Gr. τίνω τίνω for τι-νν-ω*.

mi-neu-*, $\sqrt{\text{meḥ-}}$ 'lessen': Skr. mi-ñó-mi, cp. Gr. μι-νν-θω (§ 694), Lat. mi-nu-ō.

Skr. kṣi-ñó-mi 'I destroy', cp. Gr. φθι-νν-θω (§ 694), thematic φθίνω φθίνω for φθι-νν-ω*.

ghi-neu-*, $\sqrt{\text{gheḥ-}}$: Skr. hi-ñó-mi 'I set in motion, drive on', cp. thematic Skr. hí-nv-a-ti, Goth. du-ginna 'I begin'. This comparison I regard as more likely than Bugge's (P.-B. Beitr., xii 405 f.). This scholar, followed by several others, has compared the Germanic verb with O.C.Sl. na-čŕnq (cp. Fick, Wort. I⁴ 382).

dhu-ney-* dha-ney-*, √ dhey-: Skr. dhu-nō-mi dhū-nō-mi 'I shake, shatter', cp. Gr. θέρω and θιρέω 'I move wildly, storm' (§ 652).

dhys-ney-*, √ dhers- 'be bold, dare': Skr. dhṛṣ-ñō-mi 3rd pl. dhṛṣ-ñuv-ānti, O.Sax. 1st pl. durnum* (inferred from the later sing. darn conj. dūrne) = Goth. daúr-z-nu-m* (§ 646).

dēk-ney-*, √ dēk- (Skr. daśas-yā-ti 'shows honour, is gracious or pleasant', Gr. Hom. δα-δέχ-αται δ'ε-ο-μαι § 560 p. 110, Lat. decus): Skr. dāś-nō-mi 'I pay homage to', Gr. Hom. δα-νύ-μενο-ς 'paying homage, greeting' (so read, with J. Wackernagel, in II. 9. 196, Od. 4. 59). The same grade of vowel as in Skr. dāś-ti dāś-vās Hom. δακνόμενος, and other words.

ues-ney-, stem u-es- 'put on a garment' (§ 656): Armen. z-genu-m 'I dress', Gr. ἐννέμι (ἐννέμι).

We often see the same root forming a present both in this class and in Class XII; as Goth. 1st pl. kun-nu-m and Skr. jā-nā-mi √ ḡen-, Avest. sri-nao-iti and O.Sax. hli-nō-n, Skr. str-ñō-mi and str-ñā-mi, mi-nō-mi and mi-nā-mi.

§ 640. Aryan. √ qer- 'make': Skr. kṛ-ñō-mi Avest. ker^o-nao-mi Skr. kṛ-ñv-ānti Avest. ker^o-nv-anti, pret. Ar. ṛ-nay-mi* (I § 157 p. 141, § 306 pp. 241 ff.), like Gr. στόρ-νέμι beside Skr. str-ñō-mi, Skr. dhū-nō-mi beside dhu-nō-mi; — thematic Avest. ver^o-nv-a-iti. Skr. ta-nō-mi 'I stretch, lengthen' (§ 639 p. 177), conj. Ved. ta-nāv-a Avest. ta-nav-a, opt. mid. Skr. ta-nv-īy-á Avest. tanuya i. e. ta-nv-iy-a

1) For kū-, see I § 288, p. 230.

2) For Skr. karō-ti kuru-ṭha J. Wackernagel offers a very likely conjecture (Kuhn's Litteraturblatt, III 55 f.). He suggests that kṛñō- became in vulgar speech kañō- kunū-, and these became karō-kuru- by analogy of the other forms of the verb, which all had r.

(§ 940). Skr. i-ṇó-ti 'subdues, forces' Avest. i-nao-iti, doubtless akin to Gr. αἵρωμαι 'I grasp, take'; — thematic Skr. i-nv-a-ti. Avest. sri-nao-iti 'bends, directs somewhere', √ kṛeḥ-. Skr. su-ṇó-ti 'presses out', 3rd sing. á-su-nu-ta Avest. hu-nū-ta; — thematic Avest. imper. mid. hu-nv-a-ruha (= Skr. su-nv-a-sva*). Skr. dhṛṣ-ṇó-ti 'dares', √ dhers-, § 639 p. 178. Skr. aś-ṇó-ti 'reaches' Avest. aś-nao-iti, ground-form ṛk-neu-ti*, opt. Skr. aś-nu-yā-t Avest. aś-nu-yā-ḥ. Skr. śak-ṇó-mi 'I can'.

In Skr. kṣ-ṇāu-ti 'whets' partic. kṣ-ṇuv-aná-s from √ ges- (II § 8 Rem. 2 p. 20), the root has ceased to be a separate syllable; compare perhaps Lat. novā-cula, first for s-neu-ā* (Kretschmer, Kuhn's Zeitschr. xxxi 419, 470). āu instead of ō arose as in ūrṇāu-ti (beside ūr-ṇó-ti) by analogy of such a present as stāu-ti, see § 494 p. 55. The diphthong was regarded as part of the root proper, hence kṣṇu-tá- (Avest. hu-xṣnu-ta- 'well sharpened') kṣṇó-tra- and ūrṇu-tya- ūrṇavana- (similar forms in Greek, see § 643 p. 183).

§ 641. Strong suffix instead of weak; Skr. 2nd pl. á-kṛṇō-ta kṛṇó-ta instead of á-kṛṇu-ta kṛṇu-tá, hinó-ta hinó-tam instead of hinu-tá hinu-tám, Avest. 2nd pl. srinao-ta (O.Pers. 3rd pl. a-kūnav-a a-kūnav-atā I regard as thematic, see § 649). Compare Skr. gṛbhṇā-hi instead of gṛbhṇī-hi, and like forms § 600 p. 143. Vice versa, Avest. 2nd sing. ker^enūi-ši contrasted with Skr. kṛṇó-ṣi.

The strong stem occurs along with the weak in thematic conjugation; e. g. Avest. 2nd sing. pret. act. ker^e-nav-ō. On this matter, refer to §§ 648 and 649.

In the 1st plural and dual, -nu- may drop its -u- before the personal ending, unless the root ends in a consonant; kṛṇmās kṛṇvās kṛṇmāhē kṛṇvāhē beside kṛṇu-mās etc. sunmās beside sunu-mās etc. (but only aś-nu-mās aś-nu-vās etc.). The first trace of this new development is one example in Veda, kṛṇmahē. It is possible enough that kṛṇvānti : aśnuvānti suggested kṛṇvās (instead of kṛṇuvās) beside aśnuvās; or that kṛṇuvās became kṛṇvās naturally (cp. Wackernagel, Kuhn's Litteraturbl. iii 56), which produced kṛṇmās by analogy. If kṛṇvās did arise by regular change, the variant kṛṇuvās must have been restored on the analogy of kṛṇumās, as kṛṇmas was coined on the analogy of kṛṇvās. However, some influence must have been exerted by the relation of kurmās kurvās kurmāhē kurvāhē to kuruthā kuruthās kurudhvē. kurmās is as early as the Rig-Veda, and kurumās kuruvās never seem to have existed at all. I would suggest that the forms with kur- are due to the analogy of the opt. aor. kuryā-t mid. kurī-tā-* (cp. vurī-ta murīy-a); and it would be all the easier to understand how the stems kur- and kuru- = kṛṇu- (p. 178 footnote 2) came to be confused, if the imperative kuru represents not only orig. kṛṇu, but a form qrr-* + the particle u (cp. the particle -na in Avest. 2nd sing. imper. bara-nā § 600 Rem. p. 143). Compare the references given to explain kurmās in § 498 p. 57.

Remark. Moulton (Am. Journ. Phil., x 283) thinks that -n- in forms such as kṛ-n-mās is the weak form of -nā- (Class XII), and compares Avest. ver^e-n-tē. But if only he could point to a Sanskrit example of -n- instead of -ni- in Class XII!

2nd sing. Ved. śṛ-ṇv-i-ṣē (beside śṛ-ṇō-ti 'hears') is an ad-formate of 3rd pl. śṛ-ṇv-i-rē, cp. jajñ-i-ṣē beside jajñ-i-rē (§ 574 p. 115).

On the strong root of Skr. ap-ṇō-mi, see § 600 p. 144; for that of Skr. dāś-ṇō-mi, § 639 p. 178.

Lat. plē-nu-s. ait-nu-m 'I swell', cp. Gr. οἰδάω 'I swell'. tañ-nu-m 'I hide myself', cp. Gr. πτύσσω 'I bow, bend'.

z-genum 'I dress myself' (z- is a prefix) for ges-nu-* (I § 561 p. 417): Gr. ἐἴνυμι (ἔννυμι), see § 639 p. 178.

§ 643. Greek. -vū-, which we see in the strong persons of the singular, seems to have pushed out Idg. -neṃ-, because of the analogy of the forms -vā- : -vā- (Class XII), cp. § 480 p. 29, on ἵμεναι beside ἵμεναι. Even if we supposed that -vū- represents Idg. -nū-, a weak grade, used along with -nu-, we should have to assume that the forms had followed -vā- : -vā-; and Avest. -nū- is not sufficient evidence for an Idg. -nū-. In the 3rd pl., -vū-anti (instead of -vū-enti* = Skr. -nuv-anti, see § 1021.3) seems to have become regular quite early; once there were in use such forms as ti-vf-anti* ti-vf-enti* = Skr. ci-nv-ánti (cp. § 638 p. 177); as to Ion. ἀγνῶσι Att. ἄγνυνται, see §§ 1020.2 and 1065.2.

Besides the forms mentioned in § 639 — ὄρ-vū-μι, ἄρ-vū-μαι, σφόρ-vū-μι, πτόρ-vū-μαι, τά-vū-μαι, ἄ-vū-μι, τι-vū-μεναι τί-vū-νται — there are yet others with weak-grade vowels in the root syllable. θάρ-vū-μαι in Hesychius (-αρ- = -ᾱ-) and θόρ-vū-μαι (-ορ- = -ῶ-) 'I leap, cover (of animals)' (I § 306 p. 241). κί-vū-μαι 'I move myself'. Cret. 3rd sing. πι-δίκ-vū-τι = Att. ἐπι-δείκνυσι (on πι-, see the Author, Gr. Gr.² p. 219) ✓deĩk-. οἴγνυμι 'I open' Hom. ὠ-(f)ίγ-vū-ντο beside Lesb. inf. ὀ-εἰγ-ην, originally 'I make yield', beside O.H.G. wīthlu 'I yield, give way'. μίγ-vū-μι 'I mix' beside fut. μεῖξω, ✓meĩk- meĩḡ-. ὀμόργ-vū-μι 'I wipe' for mĩḡ-*, ✓merḡ-. ἄχ-vū-μαι 'I am grieved, troubled', beside Goth. un-agands 'not fearing' ōg 'I fear'. An old form with strong root (third strong grade) is Hom. δῆκ-vū-μενο-ς 'doing honour to, reverencing, greeting', see § 639 p. 178. Greek new formations with a strong root-form are ὀρέγ-vū-μι 'I reach, stretch out' ✓reḡ-, δείκ-vū-μι 'I show' beside Cret. πι-δίκ-vū-τι, ζεύγ-vū-μι 'I bind' ✓jeuḡ-, πήγ-vū-μι 'I fix' ✓pāḡ- and others. Ion. δέκ-vū-μι 'I show', coming, as we may conjecture, from a ✓dek-, but in use finally confused with δείκ-vū-μι (cp. Fick, Wtb. I⁴ 66). ὀμ-vū-μι 'I swear' beside ὀμο- (ὀμό-σσαι ὀμό-τη-ς), ὀλλ-vū-μι 'I destroy' for ὀλ-vū-μι*

(I § 204 p. 170) beside ὀλε- (ὀλέ-σσαι), like δάμ-νῃ-μι beside δαμα-, κάμ-νω beside καμα- (§ 602 p. 144).

The place of (Ion.) εἴνῃ-μι 'I clothe' for f-εσ-νῷ-μι* = Armen. z-genu-m (§ 639 p. 178) was in Attic taken by a new form ἐννῃ-μι; see I § 565 pp. 422 f. The following are forms of the same kind: σβέννῃ-μι 'I quench, stop' for earlier ζείνῃ-μι i. e. ζεῖνῃ-μι (Hesych.)¹⁾ from a stem zg-es-* / seg-, cp. aor. Hom. σβέσ-σαι; βδέννῃ-μι (gramm.) beside βδ-έω 'pedo' aor. βδ-έσαι for βδ-εσ-, earlier βzd-εσ-, / pezd- 'pedere' (cp. § 661). Further, ζώννῃ-μι 'I gird'²⁾ beside ζωσ-τήρ Idg. j-ōs- (§ 656). On the model of these were made χορέννῃ-μι 'I satisfy', πετάννῃ-μι 'I spread', ρώννῃ-μι 'I strengthen', στρώννῃ-μι 'I strew, spread' and others; and the analogy of ἡμφί-εσα -εσμαι: ἀμφι-έννῃ-μι gave rise to χορέννῃ-μι beside ἐκόρεσα κεκόρεσμαι, etc.

A present πί-νῷ-μι* is represented by πινυμένην · συνετήν Hesych., compare πι-νν-τό-ς 'enlightened, sensible' πινύσσω πινύσι-ς. This, along with νῃ-πύ-τιο-ς 'senseless, under age, minor' and νήπιιο-ς (same meaning) for νῃ-πf-ιο-ς* (I § 166 p. 147), is akin to Skr. pu-ná-ti 'purifies, clears up' (for the accent cp. Goth. hug-s 'understanding, reason' beside Skr. śúci-ṣ 'pure', § 907). But πινν- does not come from πν-νν-* (I § 48 p. 41); the ground-form was pṃ-i-nu-*, having the same determinative ṛ as we see in Ital. pṃ-ṛ-ḡo-s* (Osc. piñhiúí Lat. piu-s, see Bartholomae, Stud. Idg. Spr. II 185) Skr. pav-ṛ-tár-, and in Gr. πύρ Umbr. pir O.H.G. fuir 'fire'. It follows that πίνῃ-μι*: Skr. pu-ná-mi = Skr. r-i-nva-ti Gr. ὀρίνω: Skr. ṛ-nvá-ti Gr. ὄρ-νῷ-μι (cp. § 596. 4 p. 138).

1) Hesychius has ζεῖναμεν · σβέννυμεν which is emended to ζεῖνυμεν. This emendation is not necessary. There may quite well have been parallel forms, one in Class XII and one in Class XVII, as so often happens in Sanskrit. Then the form ζεῖνῃ-μι in the text should be marked with an asterisk.

2) It is quite possible that Att. ὑπο-ζιονύνα[ι] C.I.A. I 77. 9 (second half of the 5th cent. B.C.) may represent the regular form (cp. ἐζωμένος, Meisterhans, Gr.², p. 148).

λάζνμαι beside λάζομαι 'I take, seize', κτείννμι beside κτείνω 'I slay' (for κτεν-ω*) are due to the analogy of τίνομαι τίνομαι (for τι-νφ-ο-μαι*): τίνννται τινύμεναι, etc. But καίννμαι 'I surpass, outdo' was formed from κέκασμαι because δέδασμαι has δαί-νν-μαι (§ 707).

On thematic forms in -νφ-ω see § 652. As regards those in -νύω, as τανύω ὀμνύω στρωννύω, found in the Homeric dialect and in Attic more and more often from the 4th century B. C. onwards, it is doubtful whether they represent pr. Idg. verbs in -nuṃ-ō, which may have been used side by side with -nu-ō as in the 3rd pl. Skr. aś-nuṃ-ánti Gr. ἄγ-νν-ᾶσι beside Skr. ci-nu-ánti. They may equally well be a new formation peculiar to Greek.

From τάννμαι τανύω γάννμαι, whose structure was less clear to the consciousness of those who used them than was that of ὄρ-νῦ-μι ἄγ-νῦ-μι and words of that sort, were formed τανύσσαι τετάννσται γανύσσειται and so forth on the analogy of ἐρύσσαι ἐρύσται ἐρύσσειται beside the pres. εἰρύμεναι ἐρύω 'I draw, pull'. Compare Skr. partic. kṣṇu-tá-s from kṣ-ṇḁú-ti, fut. aśnuviṣya-tē from aś-nó-mi áś-ṭa, ārṇu-tya- from ār-ṇḁu-ti (§ 640 p. 179), and Greek itself δυνατός ἐδυνησάμην from δύ-να-μαι (§ 602 p. 145).

For μυ-νύ-θω φθι-νύ-θω, see § 694.

§ 644. Italic. Only thematic forms occur in this branch; see § 649. An undoubted relic of -neu- is nov-a-cula, if it is to be connected with Skr. kṣ-ṇḁú-ti (§ 640 p. 179).

Remark. Job (Mém. Soc. Ling. vi 353 f.) offers a very dubious suggestion, that in Latin present stems in nu- came directly from those in no-; he says tol-nu-mus* tol-nu-tis* lead at once to tolnimus* tolnitis* (tollimus tollitis), whence by complementary analogy tollō.

§ 645. Keltic. Not one of the original forms is preserved. On O.Ir. ro-chluiniur 'I hear' (beside Avest. srunaoitī), see § 604 p. 146.

§ 646. Germanic. The plural of certain verbs is of this class. Goth. O.H.G. kun-nu-m 'we learn, know' from ḡṇ-nu-*

-mes (cp. p. 86 footnote 2) as contrasted with Skr. jā-nī-más, Class XII; the parallel weak form Goth. uf-kunna 3rd sing. -kunnái-þ is a new formation from kann kunnum on the analogy of vita vitái-þ to vát vitum. Low Germ. darn 'I dare' conj. dürne gives ground for assuming an O.Sax. durnum* Goth. daúrzu-nu-m* (I § 582 p. 434) = Skr. dhṛṣ-ṇu-más. O.H.G. unnum 'we grant' ground-form ṇ-nu-mes* (cp. O.Icel. of-un-d 'ill-will' beside Goth. ans-t-s O.H.G. ans-t uns-t 'favour, grace' II § 100 p. 303), from the same root as Gr. προσ-νής 'inclined' ἀν-νής 'disinclined'. As these plurals appeared to be of the same kind as the preterite-present, they were conjugated in the same way. Thus arose, by analogy of the singular, Goth. kann O.H.G. kan, Low Germ. darn O.H.G. an. The same principle is neatly used by Kluge (Paul's Grundr. I 377) to explain O.H.G. durfum 'we must', which he regards as a nu-form for þurpum* with -p- for -pp- Idg. -pn- (I § 530 p. 388) = Skr. ṛp-ṇu-más; the student should compare de Saussure, Mém. Soc. Ling. VII 83 ff. Some further uncertain traces of nu-flexion in Germanic are given in § 605 Rem. p. 147, and p. 151 footnote 1.

Otherwise the Germanic branch prefers thematic conjugation (Class XVIII), as Goth. du-ginna (§ 654).

§ 647. Balto-Slavonic. For the remains of the present suffix -nu- in Slavonic see § 649 p. 185.

Class XVIII.

Root + -ney-o- or -nyo- forming the Present Stem.

§ 648. Side by side with -nyo- we meet with -enyo- and -ṇyo-; see § 596 pp. 137 f.

This class, which is based upon Class XVII, falls into two divisions like Class II. O.Pers. a-kā-nav-a-tā stands to Skr. á-kṛ-ṇv-a-ta as Gr. ἐ-πνε(F)-ε to ἄμ-πνε-ε. And just as Skr. ay-a- is at once indicative (áy-a-tē, cp. Lat. eō), and conjunctive to an indic. of Class I (áy-a-t áy-a-ti conj. of é-ti), so Ar. kṛ-

-nav-a- is also conjunctive to an indic. of Class XVII (Skr. kṛ-nāv-a-t conj. of kṛ-nō-ti). Here, as before, there was originally no distinction between the original form of the two moods.

§ 649. Class XVIII A: Suffix -ney-o-.

Aryan. Avest. 2nd sing. pret. act. ker^e-nav-ō imper. ker^e-nav-a, O.Pers. pret. 3rd sing. act. a-kū-nav-a 3rd pl. mid. a-kū-nav-atā (i. e. -a-ntā), 'cp. indic. Skr. kṛ-nō-mi 'I make'; conj. Skr. kṛ-nāv-a-t kṛ-nāv-a-tha Avest. ker^e-nav-a-ḥ O.Pers. 2nd sing. kū-nav-a-hy. O.Pers. 3rd sing. imper. var-nav-a-tām conj. var-nav-a-tiy beside Avest. ver^e-nv-a-itē 'believes' (B). Compare the conj. Skr. aś-nav-a-tha Avest. aś-nav-a-ḥ beside Skr. aś-nō-mi 'I reach', Avest. sri-nav-a-hi beside sri-nao-mi 'I bend, guide in some direction'.

Greek. It has been usual to class here forms like θῦ-νέω 'I move wildly, storm' beside Skr. dhū-nō-ti, κί-νέω 'I move from its place' beside κί-νν-μαι, -νεω being taken to be for -νεF-ω*. But since in all the verbs in question the future, aorist etc. have never -ρευ, as one might expect from πλέω ἐπλευσα and νέω ἐνευσα, but -η- always, and since Lesbian makes the present of them end in -ημι (imper. κίτνη like φίλη), this explanation is at least improbable. I derive -εω from εχω in every case. See § 801.

Italic. Lat. minuō and sternuō, which are connected with Skr. mi-nō-mi Gr. μινύ-θω and Gr. πτάρ-νν-μαι (§ 639 p. 177), can by rule be derived from -ney-ō* (I § 172.1 p. 152). But Osc. menvum 'minuere' makes it at least likely that minuō comes from minuō* as tenuis from tenyi-s* (I § 170 p. 149). The perfect minuī sternuī and the participle minūtu-s are adformatives of statuī statūtu-s: statuō.

Slavonic. O.C.Sl. mi-nujā beside mi-nā 'I go past, pass by, flow by', and partic. pret. pass. kos-novenū 'touched' from pres. kos-nā, point to an older present inflexion -novā -noveši etc. (-nov- for -ney-, I § 68 p. 59). Compare Wiedemann, Arch. slav. Phil., x 653.

§ 650. Class XVIII B: Suffix -ny-o-.

Pr. Idg. Skr. ci-nv-a-ti, Gr. Hom. τίνω Att. τίνω for ti-vf-ω* beside Skr. ci-nō-mi Gr. infin. τι-νύ-μεναι 3rd pl. τί-νυ-νται, § 639 p. 177. Skr. hi-nv-a-ti Goth. du-ginna beside Skr. hi-nō-mi, § 639 p. 177. r-i-ny-e-ti* with root determinative -i- (§ 596. 4 p. 138); Skr. ri-nv-a-ti 'makes run, flow', Gr. Hom. ὀρίνω Lesb. ὀρίνω 'I set in motion' for ōri-vf-ω* (the initial has perhaps been influenced by a word from the same root, ὄρ-νῶ-μα, ground-form ḡ-nu-*, to which it stands related as Hom. ἀγίνω to Cret. ἀγνέω, see §§ 652 and 801), Goth. ri-nna 'I overflow' pr. Germ. ri-ny-ō* (cp. however for the Germanic word § 654 p. 188).

With -eny-o- for the suffix (§ 596. 3 pp. 137 f.), sp-eny-e-ti* from ✓spē- spə- 'bring onwards, stretch' (Lat. spēs spatium etc.): Avest. spēnva-ḥ 'proficiebat' = pr. Ar. spanya-t*, O.H.G. spinnu 'I spin' (cp. O.H.G. spannu = spə-ny-ō* § 654).

§ 651. Aryan. Skr. ṛ-nvā-ti ci-nva-ti hi-nva-ti ā-kṛ-nva-ta i-nva-ti ri-nva-ti, Avest. ver^e-nva-iti hu-nva-nuha see §§ 639, 640, 641, and 650. Skr. pi-nva-ti 'swells, makes abound' beside partic. mid. pi-nv-ānū-s Avest. fra-pinao-iti 'swells, spreads' (intr.). Skr. jī-nva-ti 'sets in motion, pushes on, hastens' beside ji-nō-mi. Skr. imper. mid. du-nva-sva beside du-nō-mi 'I burn'.

Sometimes Sanskrit, like Germanic, has a verb which carries the suffix of the present through the whole verbal system; as pīnva-ti : pīpinva pīnvayati, jīnvati : jīnviṣya-ti jīnvi-tā-s.

Observe the different accent of 3rd pl. hīnva-nti, and hīnv-ānti in Class XVII.

Containing the suffix -eny-o-. Avest. spēnva-ḥ 'proficiebat': O.H.G. spinnu, see § 650; Avest. xwanva-inti 'they drive on' xwēnva-ḥ pr. Ar. sy-anya-*, beside hu-nao-iti hu-nā-iti.

§ 652. Greek. On the treatment of -vf- in the following words, see I § 166 p. 146. ἄνω ἄνω for ā-vfω*, τίνω τίνω for ti-vfω*, φθίνω φθίνω for φθi-vfω*, ὀρίνω ὀρίνω for ōri-vfω*, see §§ 639, 650. φθάνω φθάνω 'I anticipate' for

φθα-νfw*, beside φθα-μενο-ς. δίνω Lesb. δίννω 'I eddy' for δι-νfw*, beside Skr. dī-ya-ti 'flies' Lett. dēi-ju dī-t 'to dance', cp. δῖνο-ς δίνη Lesb. δίννᾱ for δι-νfo-ς δι-νfā*. Hom. ἀγίνω 'I lead, bring' beside ἄγω Cret. ἀγνέω has the same root-determinative as ὀρίνω (on this determinative, which is contained in Skr. áj-ai-š, see § 498 p. 61); and therefore ἀγίνω too must be derived from -νfw*; on the bye-form ἀγινέω, see § 801. With ὀρ-ίνω ἀγ-ίνω ἀγινέω compare the Hesychian glosses ἔξινεν ἐπεσβέννυνεν and ἔξινει ἐπεσβέννυνεν, which point to zq-ĩ-* as variant stem to zq-es-* (§ 643 p. 182). Whether Homer's θένω 'I move wildly, storm', represent orig. dhū-nuō* or dhū-nō -n-ĩō*, Class XIII (cp. Skr. dhū-nō-ti dhu-nō-ti dhu-nā-ti) cannot be decided; in the former case θῦνο-ς 'fury, impetus' should be compared with δῖνο-ς for dī-nuō-s* (see above); for θῖνέω δῖνέω see § 801.

Hom. κίχάνω Att. κίχάνω 'I reach, overtake' for -ανfw* beside κί-χη-μι (§ 594 p. 135). κίχάνω has the first syllable nasalised because, after f had gone, the analogy of verbs like θιγγάνω could act upon it (§ 621 p. 158, § 631 p. 168). Hom. ικάνω 'I arrive, reach' for ικανfw*, bye-form ικνέομαι (§ 801). Both of these present stems may be regarded as ad-formates of φθανfw* (φθάνω φθάνω), because they all had something of the same meaning: on the analogy of φθήσομαι to φθάνω, κίχάνω was formed working backwards from κίχίσομαι, and afterwards ικάνω. But there was another suffix -nuō before Greek became a separate language; and this would become regularly pr. Gr. -ανfw (the Author, Gr. Gr.² § 21. 3 p. 41), see § 596. 3 p. 138.

The suffix is -enuō- in Corcyr. ξ-ένφο-ς, whence Lesb. ξέννο-ς Ion. ξείνο-ς Att. ξένο-ς (I § 166 p. 146), since this word seems to have the same root as Lat. hos-ti-s and Goth. gus-t-s; see § 596. 3 and 6, pp. 138 and 140.

'I go away, cease', O.H.G. bi-linnu 'I cease', beside Skr. vi-lināti 'goes to pieces, dissolves, melts' etc. § 598 p. 142. Goth. vi-nna 'I suffer, feel pain, worry', O.H.G. gi-winnu 'I reach something with trouble, win' (cp. O.H.G. winna 'strife'), beside Skr. vē-ti 'presses on in hostile fashion, conquers, seeks eagerly, tries to win'. All these verbs came under the influence of such others as Goth. binda; hence forms like du-ginna -gann -gunnum -gunnans.

O.H.G. ba-nmu 'I order, command on pain and penalty, summon' (cp. O.H.G. ban, gen. bannes 'command enforced by pains and penalties' A.S. bann 'ban, banns, proclamation'), ground-form bhā-nyō*, √ bhā- bhā-, cp. Armen. ba-na-m § 601 p. 144, Gr. γαίρω for γα-υω* § 611 p. 150. O.H.G. spa-nmu 'I stretch, widen, spread, I am anxious and excited', ground-form spā-nyō*, √ spē- spā-, cp. O.H.G. spa-nu 'I entice, charm' (§ 614 p. 152) and O.H.G. sp-innu (see below). The preterites bian spian follow hialt : haltu and such like forms.

Containing the suffix -enyo- (§ 596. 3 p. 138). O.H.G. sp-innu 'I spin': Avest. spēnva-p, see § 650 p. 186; a variant form is spannu = spā-nyō*, for which see just above. O.H.G. tr-innu 'I separate from, part, depart from' ground-form dr-enyō*, √ der- 'split' (Skr. dr-ṇā-ti).

The existence of the two variants -nyō- and -enyo- in Germanic raises a question as to how Goth. rinna 'I run' and brinna O.H.G. brinnu are to be disposed of. Instead of deriving rinna from r-i-nyō*, and identifying it with Skr. riṇva-ti (§ 650 p. 186), we may assume r-enyō* for its original form, which would bring it closer to Skr. ṛ-ṇv-ā-ti. brinna may come from bhr-enyō*, as it is akin to Lat. fer-mentum ferveō O.Ir. ber-baim 'I cook, boil'; but it may be for bhr-i-nyō* with an i-determinative, cp. O.Icel. br-ī-me 'fire' A.S. br-ī-w O.H.G. br-ī-o 'broth'. The first derivation, from r-enyō* bhr-enyō*, is supported by Goth. r-un-s 'a run, course' A.S. br-yne 'fire, conflagration'.

E. CLASSES XIX TO XXI.

PRESENT STEMS WITH -s.¹⁾

§ 655. A large number of verb classes have an s suffixed to the root. These are both thematic and non-thematic. (1) Non-Thematic Stems: Skr. dvē-ṣ-ti 'hates' (cp. Avest. dvaç-pa 'terror' Gr. Hom. δέ-δδ-μεν or δέ-δδ-μεν 'we fear'), Skr. aor. 1st pl. á-tq-s-mahi ($\sqrt{\text{ten-}}$ 'stretch'), Skr. v-ás-tē 'dresses' ($\sqrt{\text{ey-}}$, Lat. ex-uo), Gr. ῥέα i. e. ῥ-φειδ-ισ-α Idg. es-ḡ*, Skr. á-vēd-iṣ-am. (2) Thematic Stems: O.H.G. din-su 'I pull, tear', Skr. á-ta-tq-sa-t 'he tore, set in motion by force' ($\sqrt{\text{ten-}}$), Skr. desid. ji-gā-sa-ti ($\sqrt{\text{gem-}}$ 'go'), Skr. tr-āsa-ti 'trembles' (cp. tar-alá-s 'trembling, moving to and fro' Lat. tr-emō), Skr. desid. jī-gam-iṣa-ti ($\sqrt{\text{gem-}}$). From these develop extensions of the -s suffix, which themselves run through large groups: -s-īo- -as-īo-, fut. Skr. tq-syá-tē gam-iṣyá-ti; -s-ko-, Lat. (g)nō-scō Gr. γ-γνώ-σκω (cp. Skr. desid. ji-jñā-sa-tē); and others more isolated, as Armen. z-genum Gr. εἰνῶμι (εἰνῶμι) for u-es-neu-* (§ 639 p. 178, § 643 p. 182).

It cannot be definitely proved that in all these forms s has really the same origin. But the negative cannot even be made probable. The clearest indication of the identity of s in the aorist with s in verbs of Classes XIX and XX is given by Skr. á-kr-ṣ-i as compared with ky-ṣ-ē, ák-ṣ-i compared with ak-ṣa-tē, á-mrk-ṣa-t compared with mrk-ṣa-ti, see §§ 656, 659; compare too Lat. vīs-i beside pres. vīsō (§ 662), Lat. aux-i Lith. 1st and 2nd pl. injunct. (fut.) úuks-me -te beside Gr. αῦξω (§ 657). It should further be noticed that a close connexion is often formed with the noun suffix -es-, as in Skr. bhy-āsa-ti

1) Compare Per Persson's new work (Wurzelerweiterung, etc.) pp. 77 ff., where the suffix or determinative s in assumed for other forms besides those which will here be cited. Amongst these are some in which we have regarded the s as part of the root itself; e. g. Skr. várṣa-ti 'it rains', which he derives from the root of Skr. vári 'water, wetness'.

'is afraid' and bhī-ṣ-aya-tē, used as causal of bi-bhē-ti, beside bhy-ās- bhiy-ās- 'fear' instr. bhīṣ-ā (§ 658), in Skr. úk-ṣa-ti 'grows strong' Gr. αὔξω beside Skr. ōj-as- 'strength' (§ 657), and in Skr. indic. á-jāi-ṣ-am beside inf. jī-ṣ-ē, indic. ṛñj-as-ē beside infin. ṛñj-ās-ē, Gr. ἔδειξα beside infin. δειξαι, conj. ferrem beside inf. ferre, conj. agerem beside inf. agere (§ 824). We must not forget that no clear line can be drawn between primary s-verbs and verbs derived from s-nouns, any more than between primary verbs with -ā- and nouns having the same suffix: e. g. Gr. ἔσθ-εσ-ται ἔξ-εσ-ται σθ-εσ-τό-ς ξ-εσ-τό-ς stand to τε-τέλεσ-ται ῥηθ-εσ-ται αἰδ-εσ-τό-ς ἀ-κήδεσ-το-ς related in the same way as πέ-πλ-η-ται Dor. ᾗ-πλ-ᾗ-το-ς to τε-τίμη-ται τίμη-τό-ς.

In this section we take count only of present stems with s final, and those which have a thematic vowel after the s. The compound suffix -s-ko- fills Classes XXII and XXIII; and -s-ṛo- (the future suffix) will be found in the ṛo-class, §§ 747 ff. Stems like u-es-neu-* (εἰνῶμι) are discussed under the heading -neu-, in §§ 639, 642, and 643.

Since the s-aorist in its common form adds the personal endings directly to s, its proper place is here, in Class XIX. It may, however, if preferred, be treated separately in the traditional way, for the reasons given above in § 485, pp. 38 f. See §§ 810 ff.

Class XIX.

Root + -s-, -es-, or -as- forming the Present Stem.

§ 656. Very few additional forms belong to this class besides the preterites which will be discussed in §§ 810 ff.; such, I mean, as Skr. á-ta-s-mahi Gr. ῥηδ-ε-α Skr. á-ved-iṣ-am. Some of them carry the s-element right through the verb system.

Skr. dvē-ṣ-ti 'hates' 3rd pl. dvi-ṣ-ānti, Avest. d^obiṣ-entī, beside Avest. dvaṣ-ḥa 'terror' Gr. δφει- 'to fear'; — thematic,

Skr. dvi-ša-ti. Skr. 3rd pl. á-tvi-š-ur 'they were excited, amazed' beside Avest. ḫwyant- 'terrifying' ḫwya- 'terror'; — thematic, Skr. á-tvi-ša-ta, Gr. partic. σών for σι-σων* pres. στίω instead of σι-σω* (cp. σέ-σεισ-ται etc.), see § 657.

Skr. v-ds-tē 'dresses, clothes himself' Avest. vas-tē, Gr. ἐπί-εσ-ται 2nd sing. ἔσ-σαι from $\sqrt{ey}$ - Lat. ex-uō Lith. au-nū.

Avest. y-ās-ti 'girds' Lith. j-ū's-mi 'I gird' (Att. ζώννυμι instead of ζωσ-νύ-μι*, § 643 p. 182), Idg. j-ōs-ti*, beside Skr. y-āu-ti y-uvá-ti 'binds up', like Skr. r-āsa-ti 'bellows, howls' beside r-āu-ti r-uvá-ti.

Here come a certain number of Vedic middle forms with -s- in the present, those which Grassmann has called "double stems": 1st and 3rd sing. -s-ē partic. -s-āna-. 1st sing. kṛ-ṣ-ē from kár-ti 'makes'. 1st sing. hi-ṣ-ē from hi-nó-ti 'drives on' partic. hiy-āná-s. 1st and 3rd sing. stu-ṣ-ē from stāu-ti 'praises' mid. stu-tē. 1st sing. arcas-ē from árca-ti 'praises'. 1st sing. yajas-ē from yája-ti 'honours, offers'. 1st sing. ṛñjas-ē partic. ṛñjas-āná-s from ṛñjá-ti, $\sqrt{reḡ}$ - 'stretch, reach' (Class XVI § 628 p. 165). 1st sing. pu-nī-ṣ-ē from pu-ná-ti 'purifies' mid. pu-nī-tē. 1st sing. gā-yi-ṣ-ē from gā-ya-ti 'sings'. A similar Avestic form is 1st sing. rānhanh-ōi from rās- 'to grant'.

Class XX.

Root + -so- or -eso- forming the Present Stem.

§ 657. The s-suffix mostly runs through all parts of the verb.

Pr. Idg. From $\sqrt{ten}$ - 'stretch, lengthen out': Skr. tq-sa-ti 'tears, sets moving by force' (not actually found), aor. á-ta-sa-t for tq-se*- (redupl. á-ta-tq-sa-t), Goth. at-pinsa 'I draw towards me', cp. Lith. tęs-iù 'I lengthen, stretch' (infin. tęs-ti), už-tęsa-s 'a shroud', Lat. tōn-sa; cp. aor. Skr. á-tā-s-am 3rd sing. á-tān, Gr. ἔτεινα for ἐ-τεν-σα*. From $\sqrt{bhel}$ - 'shriek, cry, bellow, bleat, low' (O.C.Sl. blē-jā): Skr. bhāṣa-ti 'bellows' (I § 259 p. 211), O.H.G. billu 'I bellow' (-ll- = -lz-, I § 582 p. 436), cp. Lith. baĩ-sa-s 'voice, tone'. From $\sqrt{tuej-}$ (Avest. ḫwyant-): Skr. tvē-ša-ti 'is in violent motion, is amazed' (not actually found), pret. á-tvi-ṣ-ata, Gr. σειω 'I shake, shatter, agitate, molest' for σει-σω* (cp. Solmsen, Kuhn's Zeitschr. xxix 98), σιών for σι-σιών*; cp. Skr. á-tvi-ṣ-ur § 656. From $\sqrt{preu-}$ (Lat. pruina): Skr. plō-ša-ti 'burns, sings', O.H.G. friu-su 'I freeze, am cold', cp. Lat. prūr-iō. From $\sqrt{leq-}$ (Gr. ἀλ-αλκ-εῖν 'ward off'): Skr. rāk-ša-ti 'guards, saves', Gr. ἀλέξω 'I ward off, help'. Connected with Skr. vājāya-ti 'strengthens' ḍjas- 'strength, power, might' Lat. augeō: Skr. úk-ša-ti 'grows strong, increases' partic. uk-ṣá-māṇa-s (perf. vavákṣa) Avest. vax-ša-iti 'makes grow', Gr. ἀ(φ)έξω αὔξω 'I make grow, increase', cp. Lat. aux-iliu-m,¹⁾ Gall. Uxello-dūnu-m 'High-town' O.Ir. ōs uas 'above' (I § 517 p. 377), O.H.G. wah-su Goth. vah-s-ja 'I grow' (pret. vōhs), Lith. áuksz-ta-s 'high'.²⁾ Gr. έψω 'I boil', which, along with Armen. εբem 'I boil' (I § 561 p. 417), we may assign to the root of επω 'I see about, make right, arrange' (Il. 11. 776 ἀμφὶ βοός ἐπειρον κρία) Skr. sáp-a-ti 'makes a fuss about, carries on, sees about something'.

From $\sqrt{ter-}$ (Skr. tar-alá-s 'moving to and fro, trembling' Gr. τρεμέω Lat. tr-emō § 488 p. 45): Skr. tr-ása-ti 'trembles' (also tar-ása-ti § 659), Gr. τρε-ί(σ)ω 'I tremble, flee', O.C.Sl. tręsq 'I shake, shatter' perhaps a re-formate instead of tresq* (§ 636 p. 174); with -s-, Lat. terreō for ter-s-* (cp. Gr. ἐτερσεν ἐφοβήσεν Hesych.). Compare Skr. gr-asa-ti hr-asa-ti bhy-ása-ti Avest. v-anha-itē § 659, Gr. ξ-έ(σ)ω βδ-έ(σ)ω § 661, Lat. qu-ero-r § 662.

1) According to Bréal's convincing explanation, Umbr. orer ose 'his (donis) macte' will fall in this place too. ose = pr. Ital. aukse* may be a vocative, which would make it necessary to start from an adj. aukso-s* meaning 'auctus'; it may also be an imperative like Gr. αὐξε (cp. Lat. auxim). The first view is supported by Lat. macte, a vocative (F. D. Allen, Am. Journ. Phil., 1 135 ff.). Pauli's explanation of ose (Alt. Stud. v 123) does not seem right to me.

2) On the relation between ueg- aug- ameg-, see Per Persson, Wurz., 228.

§ 658. In § 655 it was pointed out that these s-suffixes are probably connected with the noun suffixes -es- -as- -s- (§§ 131 ff.). A few more examples of this may be given:

Skr. ta-sa-ti: Skr. tānas- Lat. tenor. Skr. úk-ša-ti Gr. αὔξω: Skr. ōjas-. Skr. śrō-ša-māna-s O.C.Sl. slu-chŭ (§ 659): Skr. śrāvas- Gr. κλέ(F)ος. Skr. bhú-ša-ti (§ 659): Skr. bhavas- bhúvas-. Skr. dák-ša-ti (§ 659): Skr. daśas-ya-ti Lat. decus. Skr. sák-ša-nt- (§ 659): Skr. sáhas-. O.Pers. patiy-aršaiy (§ 659), Skr. ík-ša-tē (§ 667): O.C.Sl. oko gen. očes-e. Avest. vax-ša-itē (§ 659): Skr. vācas-. Armen. luçi (§ 660): Skr. -rōcas- rōctš- ruciš-ya-s. Lat. vīsō (§ 662): Skr. vēdas- Gr. εἶδος φίλοφος ἴσο-ς for φίτο-φο-ς (p. xiii). O.Icel. inf. hrjōsa (§ 664): Skr. kraviš- Gr. κρέ(F)ας. Compare also Skr. bhartsa-ti (beside bhartsaya-ti) 'attacks sharply, rates, scolds', akin to Lat. fer-iō, Lith. bar-iū 'I scold', and so doubtless derived from some such stem as bhar-tas-* (cp. srō-tas- 'stream') or bhar-dhas-* (cp. rā-dhas- 'grace, gift'). The nouns -taśa-dakṣá- sakṣa- vax-ša- which are connected with taśa-ti dákṣa-ti sákṣa-nt- vaxša-itē were therefore related to *tānas- dāśas- (daśas-ya-ti) sáhas- vācas- in the same way as vat-sá- to Gr. Φέρος, Skr. śir-śá- to śiras-, hō-śá- to haviš-, and so forth (II § 132 p. 190).

Skr. bhāsa-ti (§ 659): bhās- Lat. fās.

Skr. hr-asa-ti (§ 659): hāras-. Skr. yaj-as-ē (§ 656): Skr. yajás-. These are like bhy-āsa-ti beside bhyás- bhiyás- (already mentioned in § 655, page 190).

śrô-ṣi), cp. O.Ir. cluas 'ear' (I § 516 p. 377) O.Sax. hlus-t 'hearing' O.C.Sl. sluchŭ 'hearing, faculty of hearing'. Skr. ghô-ṣa-ti 'cries out, proclaims aloud' (ghôṣa-s 'confused noise, roar of a storm, cry of woe'), beside Goth. gáu-nôn 'to cry for woe'. Skr. bhū-ṣa-ti 'applies himself to, takes trouble about', √ bheṣ- (Skr. bhāra-ti). Skr. sūrka-ṣa-ti 'is anxious about something, takes thought for it, or account of it', beside Goth. saúrg-a 'care', which must be connected with O.Ir. serc 'love' or with Lith. sérgr-iu 'I protect'. Skr. mrak-ṣa-ti mṛk-ṣa-ti 'rubs, strokes', beside mārṣ-ṭi 3rd pl. mṛj-ānti. Skr. akṣa-tē ground-form ṛk-se-tai* beside aś-nô-ti 'reaches' (§ 640 p. 179); from the same root, nák-ṣa-ti 'reaches' beside náś-a-ti Lith. nesz-ù; with these must also be connected Goth. bi-niuhs-ja 'I search out' niuhs-ein-s 'visitation, affliction', which come from nux-s-* = Idg. ṛk-s-* (cp. gi-naúhan 'to suffice'). Skr. mók-ṣa-tē 'gets free from something' (redupl. mú-muk-ṣa-ti § 667), beside muc-á-ti muñc-á-ti. Skr. bhak-ṣa-ti 'enjoys, eats, devours', Avest. bax-ṣa-iti 'divides, receives for share', beside Skr. bháj-a-ti. Skr. dák-ṣa-ti 'acts so as to suit or satisfy somebody' mid. 'plunges, dips, ducks, is dexterous' (dakṣá-s 'dexterous') beside daśas-ya-ti 'is at one's service, shows respect'. Skr. lak-ṣa-tē 'marks', from lag- 'fasten on'. Skr. sák-ṣa-nt- 'overpowering', from sah- 'to overpower'. Skr. injunct. ap-sa-ntu 'they sought to get', beside ap-nô-ti (§ 600 p. 144), cp. the reduplicated īpsa-ti (§ 667). O.Pers. patiy-aršaiy 'I inspect', beside Skr. ák-ṣ-i 'eye' O.C.Sl. oko (gen. očes-e) 'eye', cp. the reduplicated Skr. ík-ṣa-tē (§ 667) and the Gr. imper. aor. ὀψεσθε. Avest. vax-ṣa-itē 'speaks', from vac- 'speak'. Avest. tax-ṣa-iti 'makes run' beside tac-a-iti 'runs' Skr. ták-a-ti. Avest. sax-ṣa-iti 'learns', beside sacaye-iti 'teaches' Skr. śak-nô-ti 'is able', cp. the reduplicated Skr. śikṣa-tē Avest. a-sizša-nt- (§ 667).

The preterite type belonging to this class is productive in Sanskrit, where, with roots which made final kṣ when s was added to them, it was used for the aorist; specially frequent when the root had ṛ, i, or u. Examples: á-mṛk-ṣa-t cp. above, mṛk-ṣa-ti from marj-, á-sprk-ṣa-t from sparś- 'touch', á-ṛk-ṣa-t from varh- 'tear, tear out', á-dik-ša-t from diš- 'show', á-lik-ša-t from lih- 'lick', á-dhuk-šat and á-duk-šat (the latter an ad-formate of the type áduhat, cp. Gr. ἔπεισα instead of *ἐπεισα following πείθω etc., I § 496 p. 364) from duh- 'milk'. The forms dhukšá-n dhukšá-nta, and others like them, are remarkable as having the accent upon the thematic vowel. The aor. á-mṛk-ša-t it related to the pres. mṛk-ša-ti not otherwise than the aor. á-kṛ-ṣ-i to the pres. kṛ-ṣ-ē (§ 656 p. 191). O.Pers. niy-apišam 'I wrote', with š = ḥs, √ peik- (I § 401 p. 297), seems to belong to the same class; as no other persons are preserved, it is possible to assume that this is non-thematic, but the root-vowel is in favour of believing it to be thematic. The aorist use in all these forms is due to the weak grade of root syllable, just as with á-sic-a-t and the like (§ 513 pp. 78 f.). But the imperfect meaning was not excluded either with this type without s or with the s-preterite which we are now dealing with: ádrukša-t is imperfect as well as aorist (Whitney, Am. Journ. Phil. vi 281). On this aorist type in general see § 833.

Skr. bhása-ti 'appears, shines', beside bhā-ti. Skr. rása-tē 'bestows, affords', Avest. 1st sing. rānəhē beside Skr. rā-tē. Skr. hása-tē 'runs in a match', from hā- 'go' ud hā- 'to start up'. rāsa-ti 'roars, bellows' beside rāya-ti; as regards rāsa-ti compare further § 656 p. 191.

Skr. tr-ása-ti 'trembles', also tar-ása-ti (partic. tarásantī Rig-V.): Gr. τρε-ί(σ)ω, see § 657 p. 192. Skr. gr-asa-ti 'swallows, devours', beside gir-á-ti (Class II, § 523 p. 86) √ ger-; akin to Gr. γράω 'esse', perhaps for gr-sō*? Skr. hr-asa-ti 'takes away, diminishes, grows less', beside hár-a-ti 'takes, takes away'. Skr. bhy-ása-ti 'fears' (caus. bhī-ṣaya-tē) beside bi-bhē-ti, cp. § 655 p. 190. Avest. v-anəha-itē beside v-as-tē 'dresses' § 656 p. 191. We should doubtless add vusa-ti 'bellows' beside rāsa-ti and rāu-ti, see § 656 p. 191.

§ 660. Armenian. Besides epem 'I boil' (see § 657 p. 192) may be named the aor. luçi 'I kindled' for leyk-so-* (pres. lučanem), √ leyq- 'lucere', cp. Skr. ruk-ṣá-s 'shining',

§ 650. Class XVIII B: Suffix -ny-o-.

Pr. Idg. Skr. ci-nv-a-ti, Gr. Hom. τίνω Att. τίνω for ti-vf-ω* beside Skr. ci-nō-mi Gr. infin. τι-νῶ-μεναι 3rd pl. τί-νῶ-νται, § 639 p. 177. Skr. hī-nv-a-ti Goth. du-ginna beside Skr. hī-nō-mi, § 639 p. 177. r-i-ny-e-ti* with root determinative -i- (§ 596. 4 p. 138); Skr. ri-nv-a-ti 'makes run, flow', Gr. Hom. ῥοίνω Lesb. ῥοίννω 'I set in motion' for ῥo-vf-ω* (the initial has perhaps been influenced by a word from the same root, ῥο-νῶ-μι, ground-form ṛ-nu-*, to which it stands related as Hom. ῥοίνω to Cret. ῥοίνω, see §§ 652 and 801), Goth. ri-nna 'I overflow' pr. Germ. ri-ny-ō* (cp. however for the Germanic word § 654 p. 188).

With -eny-o- for the suffix (§ 596. 3 pp. 137 f.), sp-eny-e-ti* from √spē- spō- 'bring onwards, stretch' (Lat. spēs spatium etc.): Avest. spēnva-ḥ 'proficiebat' = pr. Ar. spanya-t*, O.H.G. spinnu 'I spin' (cp. O.H.G. spannu = spā-ny-ō* § 654).

§ 651. Aryan. Skr. ṛ-nvā-ti ci-nva-ti hī-nva-ti ā-kṛ-nva-ta ī-nva-ti ri-nva-ti, Avest. ver^e-nva-iti hu-nva-ṇuha see §§ 639, 640, 641, and 650. Skr. pi-nva-ti 'swells, makes abound' beside partic. mid. pi-nv-anī-s Avest. fra-pinao-iti 'swells, spreads' (intr.). Skr. jī-nva-ti 'sets in motion, pushes on, hastens' beside jī-nō-mi. Skr. imper. mid. du-nva-sva beside du-nō-mi 'I burn'.

Sometimes Sanskrit, like Germanic, has a verb which carries the suffix of the present through the whole verbal system; as pīnva-ti: pīpinva pīnvayati, jīnvati: jīnviṣya-ti jīnvi-tā-s.

Observe the different accent of 3rd pl. hīnva-nti, and hīnv-ānti in Class XVII.

Containing the suffix -eny-o-. Avest. spēnva-ḥ 'proficiebat': O.H.G. spinnu, see § 650; Avest. xwanva-inti 'they drive on' xwēnva-ḥ pr. Ar. sy-amya-*, beside hu-nao-iti hu-nā-iti.

§ 652. Greek. On the treatment of -vf- in the following words, see I § 166 p. 146. ἄνω ἄνω for ā-vf-ω*, τίνω τίνω for ti-vf-ω*, ῥοίνω ῥοίνω for ṛo-vf-ω*, ῥοίνω ῥοίννω for ῥo-vf-ω*, see §§ 639, 650. ῥοῖάνω ῥοῖάνω 'I anticipate' for

φθα-νfw*, beside φθα-μενο-ς. δίνω Lesb. δίννω 'I eddy' for δι-νfw*, beside Skr. dī-ya-ti 'flies' Lett. dēi-ju dī-t 'to dance', cp. δῖνο-ς δίνη Lesb. δίννᾱ for δι-νfo-ς δι-νfā*. Hom. ἀγίνω 'I lead, bring' beside ἄγω Cret. ἀγνέω has the same root-determinative as ὀρίνω (on this determinative, which is contained in Skr. āj-āi-ṣ, see § 498 p. 61); and therefore ἀγίνω too must be derived from *-νfw; on the bye-form ἀγινέω, see § 801. With ὀρ-ίνω ἀγ-ίνω ἀγινέω compare the Hesychian glosses ἔζινεν ἐπεσβέννυνεν and ἐξίνει ἐπεσβέννυνεν, which point to zg-ṣ*- as variant stem to zg-es-* (§ 643 p. 182). Whether Homer's θύνω 'I move wildly, storm', represent orig. dhū-nūō* or dhū-nō -n-ṣō*, Class XIII (cp. Skr. dhū-nō-ti dhu-nō-ti dhu-nā-ti) cannot be decided; in the former case θύνο-ς 'fury, impetus' should be compared with δύνο-ς for dī-nūo-s* (see above); for θύνέω δύνέω see § 801.

Hom. κίχάνω Att. κίχάνω 'I reach, overtake' for *-ανfw beside κί-χη-μι (§ 594 p. 135). κίχάνω has the first syllable nasalised because, after f had gone, the analogy of verbs like θιγγάνω could act upon it (§ 621 p. 158, § 631 p. 168). Hom. ίχάνω 'I arrive, reach' for ιχανfw*, bye-form ινέομαι (§ 801). Both of these present stems may be regarded as ad-formates of φθανfw* (φθάνω φθάνω), because they all had something of the same meaning: on the analogy of φθίσομαι to φθάνω, κίχάνω was formed working backwards from κίχίσομαι, and afterwards ίχάνω. But there was another suffix -ννūō before Greek became a separate language; and this would become regularly pr. Gr. -ανfw (the Author, Gr. Gr.² § 21. 3 p. 41), see § 596. 3 p. 138.

The suffix is -εννūo- in Corcyr. ξ-ένφο-ς, whence Lesb. ξέννο-ς Ion. ξέννο-ς Att. ξένο-ς (I § 166 p. 146), since this word seems to have the same root as Lat. hos-ti-s and Goth. gas-t-s; see § 596. 3 and 6, pp. 138 and 140.

'I go away, cease', O.H.G. bi-linmu 'I cease', beside Skr. vi-lindti 'goes to pieces, dissolves, melts' etc. § 598 p. 142. Goth. vi-nna 'I suffer, feel pain, worry', O.H.G. gi-winnu 'I reach something with trouble, win' (cp. O.H.G. winna 'strife'), beside Skr. vē-ti 'presses on in hostile fashion, conquers, seeks eagerly, tries to win'. All these verbs came under the influence of such others as Goth. binda; hence forms like du-ginna -gann -gunnum -gunnans.

O.H.G. ba-nnu 'I order, command on pain and penalty, summon' (cp. O.H.G. ban, gen. bannes 'command enforced by pains and penalties' A.S. bann 'ban, banns, proclamation'), ground-form bhā-nyō*, √ bhā- bhā-, cp. Armen. ba-na-m § 601 p. 144, Gr. gairw for γα-νιω* § 611 p. 150. O.H.G. spa-nnu 'I stretch, widen, spread, I am anxious and excited', ground-form spā-nyō*, √ spā- spā-, cp. O.H.G. spa-nu 'I entice, charm' (§ 614 p. 152) and O.H.G. sp-innu (see below). The preterites bian spian follow hialt : haltu and such like forms.

Containing the suffix -enyō- (§ 596. 3 p. 138). O.H.G. sp-innu 'I spin': Avest. spēnva-ḥ, see § 650 p. 186; a variant form is spannu = spā-nyō*, for which see just above. O.H.G. tr-innu 'I separate from, part, depart from' ground-form dr-enyō*, √ der- 'split' (Skr. dy-ṇā-ti).

The existence of the two variants -nyō- and -enyō- in Germanic raises a question as to how Goth. rinna 'I run' and brinna O.H.G. brinnu are to be disposed of. Instead of deriving rinna from r-i-nyō*, and identifying it with Skr. rinva-ti (§ 650 p. 186), we may assume r-enyō* for its original form, which would bring it closer to Skr. ṛ-nv-ā-ti. brinna may come from bhr-enyō*, as it is akin to Lat. fer-mentu-m ferveō O.Ir. ber-baim 'I cook, boil'; but it may be for bhr-i-nyō* with an i-determinative, cp. O.Icel. br-ī-me 'fire' A.S. br-ī-w O.H.G. br-ī-o 'broth'. The first derivation, from r-enyō* bhr-enyō*, is supported by Goth. r-un-s 'a run, course' A.S. br-yne 'fire, conflagration'.

E. CLASSES XIX TO XXI.

§ 655. A large number of verb classes have an s suffixed to the root. These are both thematic and non-thematic. (1) Non-Thematic Stems: Skr. dvē-ṣ-ti 'hates' (cp. Avest. dvaç-ḥa 'terror' Gr. Hom. δέ-δδι-μεν or δέ-δφι-μεν 'we fear'), Skr. aor. 1st pl. á-tq-s-mahi ($\sqrt{\text{ten-}}$ 'stretch'), Skr. v-ás-tē 'dresses' ($\sqrt{\text{ey-}}$, Lat. ex-uō), Gr. ῥδεα i. e. ῥ-φειδ-εσ-α Idg. es-ṃ*, Skr. á-vēd-iṣ-am. (2) Thematic Stems: O.H.G. din-su 'I pull, tear', Skr. á-ta-tq-sa-t 'he tore, set in motion by force' ($\sqrt{\text{ten-}}$), Skr. desid. ji-gā-sa-ti ($\sqrt{\text{gem-}}$ 'go'), Skr. tr-ása-ti 'trembles' (cp. tar-alá-s 'trembling, moving to and fro' Lat. tr-emō), Skr. desid. ji-gam-iṣa-ti ($\sqrt{\text{gem-}}$). From these develop extensions of the -s- suffix, which themselves run through large groups: -s-ṣo- -es-ṣo-, fut. Skr. tq-syá-tē gam-iṣyá-ti; -s-ko-, Lat. (g)nō-scō Gr. γινώσκω (cp. Skr. desid. ji-jñā-sa-tē); and others more isolated, as Armen. z-genum Gr. ἐννέμι (ἐννέμι) for u-es-neu-* (§ 639 p. 178, § 643 p. 182).

It cannot be definitely proved that in all these forms s has really the same origin. But the negative cannot even be made probable. The clearest indication of the identity of s in the aorist with s in verbs of Classes XIX and XX is given by Skr. á-kṛ-ṣ-i as compared with kṛ-ṣ-ē, ák-ṣ-i compared with ak-ṣa-tē, á-mṛk-ṣa-t compared with mṛk-ṣa-ti, see §§ 656, 659; compare too Lat. vīs-ī beside pres. vīsō (§ 662), Lat. aux-ī Lith. 1st and 2nd pl. injunct. (fut.) áuks-me -te beside Gr. αὔξω (§ 657). It should further be noticed that a close connexion is often formed with the noun suffix -es-, as in Skr. bhy-ása-ti

1) Compare Per Persson's new work (Wurzelerweiterung, etc.) pp. 77 ff., where the suffix or determinative s is assumed for other forms besides those which will here be cited. Amongst these are some in which we have regarded the s as part of the root itself; e. g. Skr. várṣa-ti 'it rains', which he derives from the root of Skr. vári 'water, wetness'.

Since the s-aorist in its common form adds the personal endings directly to s, its proper place is here, in Class XIX. It may, however, if preferred, be treated separately in the traditional way, for the reasons given above in § 485, pp. 38 f. See §§ 810 ff.

Root + -s-, -es-, or -əs- forming the Present Stem.

Skr. dvé-ṣ-ṭi 'hates' 3rd pl. dvi-ṣ-ánti, Avest. d²biš-enti, beside Avest. dvaē-ṣa 'terror' Gr. δφεi- 'to fear'; — thematic,

Skr. dvi-ša-ti. Skr. 3rd pl. á-tvi-š-ur 'they were excited, amazed' beside Avest. ḫwyant- 'terrifying' ḫwyā- 'terror'; — thematic, Skr. á-tvi-ša-ta, Gr. partic. σών for σι-σων* pres. σείω instead of σει-σω* (cp. σέ-σεισ-ται etc.), see § 657.

Skr. v-ás-tē 'dresses, clothes himself' Avest. vas-tē, Gr. ἐπί-εσ-ται 2nd sing. ἔσ-σαι from $\sqrt{ey}$ Lat. ex-uō Lith. au-nū.

Avest. y-ās-ti 'girds' Lith. j-ū's-mi 'I gird' (Att. ζώννυμι instead of ζωσ-νύ-μι*, § 643 p. 182), Idg. j-ōs-ti*, beside Skr. y-āú-ti y-uvá-ti 'binds up', like Skr. r-āsa-ti 'bellows, howls' beside r-āu-ti r-uvá-ti.

Here come a certain number of Vedic middle forms with -s- in the present, those which Grassmann has called "double stems": 1st and 3rd sing. -s-ē partic. -s-āna-. 1st sing. kṛ-š-ē from kár-ti 'makes'. 1st sing. hi-š-ē from hi-nó-ti 'drives on' partic. hiy-āná-s. 1st and 3rd sing. stu-š-ē from stāú-ti 'praises' mid. stu-tē. 1st sing. arcas-ē from árca-ti 'praises'. 1st sing. yajas-ē from yája-ti 'honours, offers'. 1st sing. ṛñjas-ē partic. ṛñjas-āná-s from ṛñjá-ti, $\sqrt{reḡ}$ - 'stretch, reach' (Class XVI § 628 p. 165). 1st sing. pu-nī-š-ē from pu-ná-ti 'purifies' mid. pu-nī-tē. 1st sing. gā-yi-š-ē from gā-ya-ti 'sings'. A similar Avestic form is 1st sing. rānhanh-ōi from rās- 'to grant'.

Class XX.

Root + -so- or -eso- forming the Present Stem.

§ 657. The s-suffix mostly runs through all parts of the verb.

Pr. Idg. From $\sqrt{ten}$ - 'stretch, lengthen out': Skr. tq-sa-ti 'tears, sets moving by force' (not actually found), aor. á-ta-sa-t for tq-se-* (redupl. á-ta-tq-sa-t), Goth. at-pinsa 'I draw towards me', cp. Lith. tęs-tù 'I lengthen, stretch' (infin. tęs-ti), už-tęsa-s 'a shroud', Lat. tōn-sa; cp. aor. Skr. á-tā-s-am 3rd sing. á-tān, Gr. ἔτεινα for ἐ-τειν-σα*. From $\sqrt{bhel}$ - 'shriek, cry, bellow, bleat, low' (O.C.Sl. blě-ja): Skr. bhāša-ti 'bellows' (I § 259 p. 211), O.H.G. billu 'I bellow' (-ll- = -lz-, I § 582 p. 436), cp. Lith. baľ-sa-s 'voice, tone'. From $\sqrt{tuei-}$ (Avest. pwyant-): Skr. tvē-ša-ti 'is in violent motion, is amazed' (not actually found), pret. á-tvi-š-ata, Gr. σειώ 'I shake, shatter, agitate, molest' for σει-σω* (cp. Solmsen, Kuhn's Zeitschr. xxix 98), σών for σι-σών*; cp. Skr. á-tvi-š-ur § 656. From $\sqrt{preu-}$ (Lat. pruīna): Skr. plō-ša-ti 'burns, singes', O.H.G. friu-su 'I freeze, am cold', cp. Lat. prūr-iō. From $\sqrt{leq-}$ (Gr. ἀλ-αλκ-εῖν 'ward off'): Skr. rāk-ša-ti 'guards, saves', Gr. ἀλέξω 'I ward off, help'. Connected with Skr. vajāya-ti 'strengthens' ōjas- 'strength, power, might' Lat. augeō: Skr. úk-ša-ti 'grows strong, increases' partic. uk-šá-māna-s (perf. vavákša) Avest. vax-ša-iti 'makes grow', Gr. ἀ(φ)έξω αὐξω 'I make grow, increase', cp. Lat. aux-iliu-m,¹⁾ Gall. Uxello-dūnu-m 'High-town' O.Ir. ōs uas 'above' (I § 517 p. 377), O.H.G. wah-su Goth. vah-s-ja 'I grow' (pret. vōhs), Lith. áuksz-ta-s 'high'.²⁾ Gr. έψω 'I boil', which, along with Armen. ēpēm 'I boil' (I § 561 p. 417), we may assign to the root of έπω 'I see about, make right, arrange' (Il. 11. 776 ἀμφὶ βοός έπιτον κρία) Skr. sáp-a-ti 'makes a fuss about, carries on, sees about something'.

From $\sqrt{ter-}$ (Skr. tar-alá-s 'moving to and fro, trembling' Gr. τρεμέω Lat. tr-emō § 488 p. 45): Skr. tr-ása-ti 'trembles' (also tar-ása-ti § 659), Gr. τρε-ί(σ)ω 'I tremble, flee', O.C.Sl. tręsa 'I shake, shatter' perhaps a re-formate instead of tresaq* (§ 636 p. 174); with -s-, Lat. terreō for ter-s-* (cp. Gr. ετρεσεν 'εφóβησεν Hesych.). Compare Skr. gr-asa-ti hr-asa-ti bhy-ása-ti Avest. v-araha-itē § 659, Gr. ξ-έ(σ)ω βδ-έ(σ)ω § 661, Lat. qu-ero-r § 662.

1) According to Bréal's convincing explanation, Umbr. orer ose 'his (donis) macte' will fall in this place too. ose = pr. Ital. aukse* may be a vocative, which would make it necessary to start from an adj. aukso-s* meaning 'auctus'; it may also be an imperative like Gr. αὐξε (cp. Lat. auxim). The first view is supported by Lat. macte, a vocative (F. D. Allen, Am. Journ. Phil., 1 135 ff.). Pauli's explanation of ose (Alt. Stud. v 123) does not seem right to me.

2) On the relation between ueg- aüg- aueg-, see Per Persson, Wurz., 228.

§ 658. In § 655 it was pointed out that these s-suffixes are probably connected with the noun suffixes -es- -əs- -s- (§§ 131 ff.). A few more examples of this may be given:

Skr. tq-sa-ti: Skr. tánas- Lat. tenor. Skr. úk-ša-ti Gr. αὔξω: Skr. ójas-. Skr. śró-ša-māṇa-s O.C.Sl. slu-chŭ (§ 659): Skr. śrávas- Gr. ῥέει(F)ος. Skr. bhū-ša-ti (§ 659): Skr. bhavas- bhúvas-. Skr. dák-ša-ti (§ 659): Skr. daśas-ya-ti Lat. decus. Skr. sák-ša-nt- (§ 659): Skr. sáhas-. O.Pers. patiy-aršaiy (§ 659), Skr. ík-ša-tē (§ 667): O.C.Sl. oko gen. očes-e. Avest. vax-ša-itē (§ 659): Skr. vácas-. Armen. luçi (§ 660): Skr. -rōcas- rōciš- ruciš-ya-s. Lat. vīsō (§ 662): Skr. vēdas- Gr. εἶδος Flófos ῥοος for ῥιτοσ-fo-ος (p. xiii). O.Icel. inf. hrjōsa (§ 664): Skr. kraviš- Gr. ῥέει(F)ας. Compare also Skr. bhartsa-ti (beside bhartsaya-ti) 'attacks sharply, rates, scolds', akin to Lat. fer-iō, Lith. bar-iù 'I scold', and so doubtless derived from some such stem as bhar-tas-* (cp. srō-tas- 'stream') or bhar-dhas-* (cp. rā-dhas- 'grace, gift'). The nouns -tāsa-dakṣá- sakṣa- vax-ša- which are connected with tāsa-ti dákṣa-ti sákṣa-nt- vaxša-itē were therefore related to *tánas- dāśas- (daśas-ya-ti) sáhas- vácas- in the same way as vat-sá- to Gr. ῥέρος, Skr. śīr-ṣá- to śīras-, hō-ṣá- to haviš-, and so forth (II § 132 p. 190).

Skr. bhāsa-ti (§ 659): bhās- Lat. fās.

Skr. hr-asa-ti (§ 659): hāras-. Skr. yaj-as-ē (§ 656): Skr. yajás-. These are like bhy-āsa-ti beside bhyás- bhiyás- (already mentioned in § 655, page 190).

śró-ṣi), cp. O.Ir. cluas 'ear' (I § 516 p. 377) O.Sax. hlus-t 'hearing' O.C.Sl. sluchū 'hearing, faculty of hearing'. Skr. ghó-ṣa-ti 'cries out, proclaims aloud' (ghóṣa-s 'confused noise, roar of a storm, cry of woe'), beside Goth. gáu-nōn 'to cry for woe'. Skr. bhū-ṣa-ti 'applies himself to, takes trouble about', ✓ bhey- (Skr. bháva-ti). Skr. sūrḱ-ṣa-ti 'is anxious about something, takes thought for it, or account of it', beside Goth. saurg-a 'care', which must be connected with O.Ir. serc 'love' or with Lith. sérg-iu 'I protect'. Skr. mrak-ṣa-ti mrk-ṣa-ti 'rubs, strokes', beside mārṣ-ṭi 3rd pl. mrj-ánti. Skr. akṣa-tē ground-form ṛk-se-taj* beside aś-nó-ti 'reaches' (§ 640 p. 179); from the same root, nák-ṣa-ti 'reaches' beside nás-a-ti Lith. nesz-ù; with these must also be connected Goth. bi-niuh-s-ja 'I search out' niuh-s-ein-s 'visitation, affliction', which come from nuḥ-s-* = Idg. ṛk-s-* (cp. gi-naúhan 'to suffice'). Skr. mók-ṣa-tē 'gets free from something' (redupl. mú-muk-ṣa-ti § 667), beside muc-á-ti muñc-á-ti. Skr. bhak-ṣa-ti 'enjoys, eats, devours', Avest. bax-ṣa-iti 'divides, receives for share', beside Skr. bháj-a-ti. Skr. dák-ṣa-ti 'acts so as to suit or satisfy somebody' mid. 'plunges, dips, ducks, is dexterous' (ḍakṣá-s 'dexterous') beside daśas-ya-ti 'is at one's service, shows respect'. Skr. lak-ṣa-tē 'marks', from lag- 'fasten on'. Skr. sák-ṣa-nt- 'overpowering', from sah- 'to overpower'. Skr. injunct. ap-sa-ntu 'they sought to get', beside ap-nó-ti (§ 600 p. 144), cp. the reduplicated īpsa-ti (§ 667). O.Pers. patiy-aršaiy 'I inspect', beside Skr. ák-ṣ-i 'eye' O.C.Sl. oko (gen. očes-e) 'eye', cp. the reduplicated Skr. ík-ṣa-tē (§ 667) and the Gr. imper. aor. ὀψεσθαι. Avest. vax-ṣa-itē 'speaks', from vac- 'speak'. Avest. tax-ṣa-iti 'makes run' beside tac-a-iti 'runs' Skr. ták-a-ti. Avest. sax-ṣa-iti 'learns', beside sācayē-iti 'teaches' Skr. śak-nó-ti 'is able', cp. the reduplicated Skr. śikṣa-tē Avest. a-sixša-nt- (§ 667).

The preterite type belonging to this class is productive in Sanskrit, where, with roots which made final kṣ when s was added to them, it was used for the aorist; specially frequent when the root had ṛ, i, or u. Examples: á-mṛk-ṣa-t cp. above, mṛk-ṣa-ti from marj-, á-sprk-ṣa-t from sparś- 'touch', á-vṛk-ṣa-t from varh- 'tear, tear out', á-dik-ša-t from diš- 'show', á-lik-ša-t from lih- 'lick', á-dhuk-šat and á-duk-šat (the latter an ad-formate of the type áduhat, cp. Gr. ἐνείσα instead of ἐφείσα* following πείθω etc., I § 496 p. 364) from duh- 'milk'. The forms dhukṣá-n dhukṣá-nta, and others like them, are remarkable as having the accent upon the thematic vowel. The aor. á-mṛk-ša-t it related to the pres. mṛk-ša-ti not otherwise than the aor. á-kṛ-ṣ-i to the pres. kṛ-ṣ-ē (§ 656 p. 191). O.Pers. niy-apišam 'I wrote', with ṣ = ḥs, ✓peṣk- (I § 401 p. 297), seems to belong to the same class; as no other persons are preserved, it is possible to assume that this is non-thematic, but the root-vowel is in favour of believing it to be thematic. The aorist use in all these forms is due to the weak grade of root syllable, just as with á-sic-a-t and the like (§ 513 pp. 78 f.). But the imperfect meaning was not excluded either with this type without s or with the s-preterite which we are now dealing with: ádrukṣa-t is imperfect as well as aorist (Whitney, Am. Journ. Phil. vi 281). On this aorist type in general see § 833.

Skr. bhāsa-ti 'appears, shines', beside bhā-ti. Skr. rāsa-tē 'bestows, affords', Avest. 1st sing. rānhē beside Skr. rā-tē. Skr. hāsa-tē 'runs in a match', from hā- 'go' ud hā- 'to start up'. rāsa-ti 'roars, bellows' beside rāya-ti; as regards rāsa-ti compare further § 656 p. 191.

Skr. tr-āsa-ti 'trembles', also tar-āsa-ti (partic. tarāsanti Rig-V.): Gr. τρ-έ(σ)ω, see § 657 p. 192. Skr. gr-asa-ti 'swallows, devours', beside gir-á-ti (Class II, § 523 p. 86) ✓ger-; akin to Gr. γαίω 'esse', perhaps for gr-sō*? Skr. hr-asa-ti 'takes away, diminishes, grows less', beside hār-a-ti 'takes, takes away'. Skr. bhy-āsa-ti 'fears' (caus. bhī-ṣāya-tē) beside bi-bhē-ti, cp. § 655 p. 190. Avest. v-anha-itē beside v-as-tē 'dresses' § 656 p. 191. We should doubtless add vusa-ti 'bellows' beside rāsa-ti and rāu-ti, see § 656 p. 191.

§ 660. Armenian. Besides epem 'I boil' (see § 657 p. 192) may be named the aor. luči 'I kindled' for leuk-so-* (pres. lučanem), ✓leuq- 'lucere', cp. Skr. ruk-ṣá-s 'shining', cp. Lith. baľ-sa-s 'voice, tone'. From $\sqrt{tuei-}$ (Avest. puwant-): Skr. tvē-ša-ti 'is in violent motion, is amazed' (not actually found), pret. á-tvi-š-ata, Gr. σειω 'I shake, shatter, agitate, molest' for σει-σω* (cp. From $\sqrt{ter-}$ (Skr. tar-alá-s 'moving to and fro, trembling' Gr. τρ-έμω Lat. tr-emō § 488 p. 45): Skr. tr-á-sa-ti 'trembles' (also tar-á-sa-ti § 659), Gr. τρ-έ(σ)ω 'I tremble, flee', O.C.Sl. trēsā 'I shake, shatter' perhaps a re-formate instead of tresā* (§ 636 p. 174); with -s-, Lat. terreō for ter-s-* (cp. 1) According to Bréal's convincing explanation, Umbr. orer ose 'his (donis) macte' will fall in this place too. ose = pr. Ital. aukse* may be a vocative, which would make it necessary to start from an adj. aukso-s* meaning 'auctus'; it may also be an imperative like Gr. αὐξε (cp. Lat. auxim). The first view is supported by Lat. macte, a vocative (F. D. Allen, Am. Journ. Phil., I 135 ff.). Pauli's explanation of ose (Alt. Stud. v 123) does not seem right to me.

2) On the relation between meg- aug- arieg-, see Per Persson, Wurz., 228.

§ 658. In § 655 it was pointed out that these s-suffixes are probably connected with the noun suffixes -es- -as- -s- (§§ 131 ff.). A few more examples of this may be given:

The nouns -taśa-dakṣá- sakṣa- vax-ša- which are connected with taśa-ti dákṣa-ti sákṣa-nt- vaxṣa-itē were therefore related to *tānas- dāśas- (daśas-ya-ti) sáhas- vācas- in the same way as vat-sá- to Gr. féρος, Skr. śir-śá- to śiras-, hō-śá- to haviṣ-, and so forth (II § 132 p. 190).

The preterite type belonging to this class is productive in Sanskrit, where, with roots which made final kṣ when s was added to them, it was used for the aorist; specially frequent when the root had ṛ, i, or u. Examples: á-mṛk-ṣa-t cp. above, mṛk-ṣa-ti from marj-, á-sprk-ṣa-t from sparṣ- 'touch', á-vṛk-ṣa-t from varh- 'tear, tear out', á-dik-ša-t from diš- 'show', á-lik-ša-t from lih- 'lick', á-dhuk-šat and á-duk-šat (the latter an ad-formate of the type áduhat, cp. Gr. ἔπεισα instead of *ἐπεισα following πείθω etc., I § 496 p. 364) from duh- 'milk'. The forms dhukšá-n dhukšá-nta, and others like them, are remarkable as having the accent upon the thematic vowel. The aor. á-mṛk-ša-t it related to the pres. mṛk-ša-ti not otherwise than the aor. á-kṛ-ṣ-i to the pres. kṛ-ṣ-ē (§ 656 p. 191). O.Pers. niy-apišam 'I wrote', with š = ks, √ peṣk- (I § 401 p. 297), seems to belong to the same class; as no other persons are preserved, it is possible to assume that this is non-thematic, but the root-vowel is in favour of believing it to be thematic. The aorist use in all these forms is due to the weak grade of root syllable, just as with á-sic-a-t and the like (§ 513 pp. 78 f.). But the imperfect meaning was not excluded either with this type without s or with the s-preterite which we are now dealing with: ádhukša-t is imperfect as well as aorist (Whitney, Am. Journ. Phil. vi 281). On this aorist type in general see § 833.

The preterite type belonging to this class is found in Sanskrit, where, with roots which made the preterite by adding to them, it was used for the preterite when the root had r, i, or u. Ex. mrk-ṣa-ti from marj-, á-sprk-ṣa τρεῖ(σ)ω 'I tremble, flee': Skr. tr-āsa-ti, see § 657 p. 192. ξέ(σ)ω 'I shave, smooth' beside ξ-ύω from √qes- O.C.Sl. čes-ati 'to comb, curry' Lith. kas-ýti 'to scratch' (cp. II § 8 Rem. 2 p. 20). βδ-έ(σ)ω 'pedo' for βzd-εσω* from √pezd- Slov. pezdž-ti 'pedere' (I § 594 p. 450).

That some of the trisyllabic presents in -εω making aorist in -εσσα etc., such as καλέω (κάλεσσα) ἀλέω (ἄλεσσα) στερέω (στερίσαι), had originally the ending -εσω (cp. Skr. tarāsa-ti § 659 p. 195, arcas-ē § 656 p. 191), is not improbable; καλέ(σ)ω : κάλεσσα = τρέ(σ)ω : τρέσσα. Compare § 842.

In Greek this -s- is not only found with ἐδείξα and like aorists, but elsewhere too it is a favourite tense suffix. Compare ἐ-σκεδά-σ-θην ἐ-σκέδα-σ-σα, κί-κέρα-σ-ται ἐ-κέρα-σ-σα, ὀμ-ώμο-σ-ται ὥμο-σ-σα, ξυ-σ-τό-ς ἐ-ξύ-σ-θην, εἴρυν-σ-ται ἐρυν-σ-τό-ς ἔρυν-σ-σα. No clear distinction can be made between "Primary" and "Denominative" verbs (cp. τε-τέλεσ-ται beside τέλος, αἰδес-τό-ς beside αἰδώς, ἐ-γελάσ-θην beside γέλως, ἐ-μεθύσ-θην beside Skr. mādhus-), because s in these verbal stems is the same as s in the stems of the cognate nouns, as has already once been said (§ 655 pp. 189 f.).

Compare further the use of the suffixes -εσ- and -η- in stems of the same group, σθ-εσ-τό-ς ἔ-σθ-εσ-σα : ἔ-σθ-η-ν ἔ-σθ-η-κα, ἐ-κάλ-εσ-σα : καλ-ή-τωρ κέ-κλ-η-κα, κε-κόρ-εσ-ται ἐ-κόρ-εσ-σα : κε-κόρ-η-μαι ἀ-κόρ-η-το-ς.

§ 663. Keltic. No s-presents seem to occur. The forms which Windisch (Wtb., p. 593 b) assign to a first person gessim 'I beg' are more probably conjunctive of the s-aorist of guidim (§ 826). On seiss 'placed itself, sat' and 'sits', see § 833.

1) If Germ. χrussa-* 'horse' (O.Sax. O.Icel. hross) is connected with currō, it stands to ac-cersō as Skr. mṛk-śā-s 'comb, currycomb' to mṛak-śa-ti.

add Slav. tręsetŭ 'shakes, shatters' with a nasal infix, unless it is really trem* + sō- (cp. Lith. trimu Lat. tremō), see § 636 p. 174.

The same s is sometimes found also with transformed and derivative verbs, and in nouns; as O.C.Sl. q-cha-ti 'to smell' (cp. Lat. (h)ālō for an-s-lo-*, I § 208 pp. 175 f.; § 588 Rem. 2 p. 444), ja-cha-ti 'vehi' (cp. ja-dq 'vehor' § 701), Lith. baĩ-sa-s 'voice, sound, tone' (cp. § 657 p. 192), O.C.Sl. slu-chŭ 'hearing, faculty of hearing' (cp. § 659 p. 194), O.C.Sl. gla-sŭ 'sound, voice' (I § 585 p. 441).

Class XXI.

Root + -so- -aso-, with reduplication ending in -ĩ (-ũ) forming the Present Stem.

§ 666. This class is represented by the Aryan Desideratives, many of which have little or nothing of the desiderative in their meaning (e. g. Skr. ikṣa-tē 'sees' from √oq-, from which a desiderative stem ic-ikṣ-iṣa- is made anew), and by an Irish future series. The Homeric future ιδω-σω and Attic conjunctive aorist and future ιδάξω can hardly have a direct connexion with these formations.

Very rare indeed are non-thematic forms with reduplication, such as Skr. partic. mid. dī-dhiṣ-āṇa-s beside dī-dhiṣa-ti from √dhē- 'set, lay'.

§ 667. Aryan. The Desiderative type is very prolific in Sanskrit.

√ster- 'sternere' Skr. ti-stīr-ṣa-tē. √uen- 'win, like' Skr. vī-vā-sa-ti, where -vā- = -vq̥-*; in jī-ghā-sa-ti (√ghen- 'strike') mī-mq̥-sa-tē (√men- 'to think') and some other words the nasal came in afterwards by analogy, as it did in vāñcha-ti instead of vācha-ti* § 671. √geṣ- 'compel, subdue' Skr. jī-gī-ṣa-ti. √kleṣ- 'hear' śú-śrū-ṣa-tē, cp. śrō-ṣa-ti § 659 p. 193. √gheṣ- 'pour, offer' Skr. ju-hū-ṣa-ti. √derk- 'see'

Skr. di-dṛk-ṣa-tē. √ ueṛid- 'see, know' Skr. vi-vit-sa-ti, cp. Lat. visō § 662 p. 197. √ meuq- 'loose, set free' Skr. mú-muk-ṣa-ti, cp. mók-ṣa-tē § 659 p. 194. √ dhegh- 'burn' Skr. di-dhak-ṣa-ti. bādh- 'press' Skr. bi-bhat-sa-tē. √ dō- 'give' Skr. dī-t-sa-ti dī-dā-sa-nt-. √ dhē- 'place, lay' Skr. dhī-t-sa-ti dī-dhi-ṣa-ti. From ḡnē- ḡnō- 'noscere' √ ḡen- (§ 587 p. 128) Skr. jī-jñā-sa-te Avest. zī-šnānēhemna- (as regards -šn- see I § 403 p. 298).

On the reduplication of Skr. īkṣa-tē (unreduplicated O.Pers. patiy-axšaiy 'I inspect'), īpsa-ti 'tries to reach' (unreduplicated apsa-nta), īrtsa-ti 'wishes to advance or promote', see § 473 p. 17. Ved. īyakṣa-ti 'wishes to honour' may be regarded as regular for yi-yakṣa-*, since ī- doubtless became i- as yu- became u- (I § 157 p. 141); the forms yi-yakṣa-ti yi-yāsa-ti are reformates following si-sarṅkṣa-ti etc., just as beside the regular ur-āṇá-s we find the re-formate vur-ī-ta.¹⁾ The form in-akṣa-ti 'seeks to gain' is peculiar, cf. perf. ān-ūṣ-a.

Roots beginning and ending in a consonant, and containing no i, u, liquid, or nasal, drop the initial consonant after the reduplicator if the root does not form a syllable by itself (cp. Lat. discō for di-tc-scō* § 678). Skr. śīkṣatē 'learns' Avest. a-sixšant- 'not learning' for pr. Ar. śī-śk-ša-* beside Skr. śak-nó-ti 'is able'; for the loss of the sibilant cp. aor. vykṣi for vyṣk-ṣi* and the fut. vrakṣyā-nt- for vrask-ṣya-nt-* (beside vyṣcá-ti 'tears to pieces' pra-vrask-a-s 'slice, cut' O.C.Sl. vraska 'wrinkle'). Similarly dīpsa-ti dhīpsa-ti Avest. diwša-idyāi beside Skr. dābh-a-ti 'injures', Skr. bhīkṣa-tē 'begs' beside Skr. bhāj-a-ti, līpsa-tē līpsa-tē beside labh-a-tē 'seizes, grasps' and others of the same sort. Some of these forms are certainly irregular. Instead of Skr. pitsa-ti, for example (from pat- 'fly, fall') we should expect pīpsa-ti*, to judge from Avest. naṣšu for naptsu* (I § 471 p. 348).

On the analogy of the forms here mentioned arose Skr.

1) The i- of ī-yakṣa-ti is different from that of ī-yāja, see § 851.

hīsa-ti 'injures, hurts' from han- (ghen-), whose 3rd pl. hīsanti caused the coining of a sing. hinās-ti following Class XV (the 3rd sing. hīs-tē is perhaps like dīdhiṣ-āṇa-s § 660), and further perf. ji-hīs-a etc.

Instead of -sa- after roots with final consonant, the Sanskrit has often -iṣa- (-ṣo-). √ qel- 'to move' ci-cariṣa-ti (beside cicarṣa-ti). √ ḡen- 'gignere' jī-janiṣa-tē. √ meld- 'crush' mi-mardiṣa-ti. vi-vidiṣa-ti beside vivitsa-ti (see above). bi-badhiṣa-tē beside bī-bhatṣa-tē (see above).

The productive power of this desiderative type in Sanskrit is especially clear in forms like ti-tarpayiṣa-ti pi-pāyayiṣa-ti from the causals tarpāya-ti (from tṛp-ṇō-ti 'satisfies itself') pā-yāya-ti (from pā-ti 'drinks').

The desiderative formation was itself often the foundation for a comprehensive verb structure; thus from bhikṣa-tē were formed perf. bi-bhikṣē fut. bhikṣ-iṣya-tē caus. bhikṣ-aya-ti, and from mī-mā-sa-tē were formed aor. á-mīmāṣ-iṣṭa pass mīmāṣ-yá-tē.

§ 668. Keltic. O.Ir. nō-gigius 'I will pray or ask' for gi-get-sō* beside gess- from -guidiu, § 663 p. 197. fo-lilus-[s]a from fo-long- 'bear, endure'. Compare Zimmer, Kuhn's Zeitschr. xxx 128.

F. CLASSES XXII AND XXIII.

PRESENT STEMS WITH -sko-.

§ 669. The -s- of -sko- I regard as the same element which we have discussed under Classes XIX—XXI; and -s-ko- I believe to be an extension like -s-ḡo-. Compare meḡk-sk-* Lat. misceō and meḡk-s-* Skr. mēkṣaya-ti perf. mi-mikṣē from √ meḡk- 'mix'; Lat. dis-pescō for -perc-scō* and Skr. pyk-ṣ- (see Grassmann, Wtb., s. v.); Gr. δι-δά(κ)-οω 'I teach' and Avest. dax-ša-t 'he taught'; Skr. ṛ-chá-ti 'reaches, hits, attains', and ṛ-ṣá-ti ár-ṣ-ti 'moves quickly'

Avest. yā-sa-iti 'goes, goes on' and O.C.Sl. ja-cha-ti 'vehi'; Mid.H.G. lū-sche 'I lurk, watch for' (O.H.G. hlū-skē-n*)¹) and O.H.G. lū-s-trē-n 'I listen, obey' hlo-sē-n 'I attend, listen to' Skr. śrō-ṣa-ti śū-śrū-ṣa-tē from √kleṣ- 'hear'; Armen. ba-çi 'I opened' Gr. φά-σσω 'I make known, say' and Skr. bhāsa-ti; Gr. γνώ-σσω γι-γνώ-σσω Lat. (g)nō-scō and Lat. gnō-ri-tur 'cognitum sive compertum est' (Stolz, Lat. Gr.² p. 375) Skr. ji-jñā-sa-tē from gnē- gnō- 'learn', and others. In view of these, we may derive Lat. mix-tu-s mis-tu-s beside misceō, dis-pes-tu-s beside dis-pescō, pos-tulō Osc. pes-tlú-m 'templum' beside poscō poposcī and doubtless Skr. pr̥ṣ-ṭá-s pr̥áṣ-ṭum beside pr̥chá-ti papracha from stems with no other extending suffix but -s, meik-s-* and so forth; and we need not regard Avest. ter'sa-iti 'is afraid' Lith. triszti 'I tremble, shudder' as being ty-s* + sko- (cp. Skr. tr-ása-ti etc., § 657 p. 192), but must regard it as ty-s-ko-*. The compound suffix -esko- in O.Pers. a-r-asa-m 'I came, arrived at' beside Skr. r-chá-ti, in Avest. iš-asa-iti 'wishes' beside Skr. ichá-ti, in Gr. ἀρεσσω 'I please' φεύγισσω-v 'I fled' corresponds to -eso- in Skr. tr-ása-ti tar-ása-ti and others (§ 655 p. 189, § 657 p. 192, § 659 p. 195).

-k- or -kh- (see below), without -s- preceding, seems often to occur in Greek words. The parallel diminutive suffixes Boeot. -ιχο-ς and Att. -ισκο-ς, and a comparison of πτώ-ξ πτω-κ-ός, πτω-χός (πτωσσιω), with *πτω-σκ-άζω*²), and of γλί-χο-μαι 'I stick, adhere' with γλί-σχ-ρο-ς, justifies our assuming -kho- to be the suffix of γλί-χο-μαι, of νή-χω 'I swim', of σμή-χω 'I rub, stroke, wipe off', and μώ-χω 'I rub or grind to powder', for ψή-χω 'I stroke, curry' and ψώ-χω 'I grind to powder', for τεύ-χω 'I rub away, wear out', and for στεν-άχω 'I groan' (cp. πτελάω and such like words, § 694). In the śró-ṣi), cp. O.Ir. cluas 'ear' (I § 516 p. 377) O.Sax. hlus-t 'hearing' O.C.Sl. sluchŭ 'hearing, faculty of hearing'. Skr. ghó-ṣa-ti 'cries out, proclaims aloud' (ghóṣa-s 'confused noise, roar of a storm, cry of woe'), beside Goth. gáu-nōn 'to cry for woe'. Skr. bhū-ṣa-ti 'applies himself to, takes trouble about', √ bheṣ- (Skr. bháva-ti). Skr. sūr-k-ṣa-ti 'is anxious about something, takes thought for it, or account of it', beside Goth. saúrg-a 'care', which must be connected with O.Ir. serc 'love' or with Lith. sérg-iu 'I protect'. Skr. mrak-ṣa-ti mṛk-ṣa-ti 'rubs, strokes', beside mārṣ-ṭi 3rd pl. mrj-ánti. Skr. akṣa-tē ground-form ṛk-se-tai* beside aś-nó-ti 'reaches' (§ 640 p. 179); from the same root, nák-ṣa-ti 'reaches' beside nás-a-ti Lith. nesz-ù; with these must also be connected Goth. bi-niuhs-ja 'I search out' niuhs-ein-s 'visitation, affliction', which come from nux-s* = Idg. ṛk-s-* (cp. gi-nauhan 'to suffice'). Skr. mók-ṣa-tē 'gets free from something' (redupl. mú-muk-ṣa-ti § 667), beside muc-á-ti muñc-á-ti. Skr. bhak-ṣa-ti 'enjoys, eats, devours', Avest. bax-ṣa-iti 'divides, receives for share', beside Skr. bháj-a-ti. Skr. dák-ṣa-ti 'acts so as to suit or satisfy somebody' mid. 'plunges, dips, ducks, is dexterous' (dakṣá-s 'dexterous') beside daśas-ya-ti 'is at one's service, shows respect'. Skr. lak-ṣa-tē 'marks', from lag- 'fasten on'. Skr. sák-ṣa-nt- 'overpowering', from sah- 'to overpower'. Skr. injunct. ap-sa-ntu 'they sought to get', beside ap-nó-ti (§ 600 p. 144), cp. the reduplicated īpsa-ti (§ 667). O.Pers. patiy-aršaiy 'I inspect', beside Skr. ák-ṣ-i 'eye' O.C.Sl. oko (gen. očes-e) 'eye', cp. the reduplicated Skr. īk-ṣa-tē (§ 667) and the Gr. imper. aor. ὀψεσθε. Avest. vax-ṣa-itē 'speaks', from vac- 'speak'. Avest. tax-ṣa-iti 'makes run' beside tac-a-iti 'runs' Skr. ták-a-ti. Avest. sax-ṣa-iti 'learns', beside sācayē-iti 'teaches' Skr. śak-nó-ti 'is able', cp. the reduplicated Skr. śikṣa-tē Avest. a-sixša-nt- (§ 667).

The preterite type belonging to this class is productive in Sanskrit, where, with roots which made final kṣ when s was added to them, it was used for the aorist; specially frequent when the root had ṛ, i, or u. Examples: á-mṛk-ṣa-t cp. above, mṛk-ṣa-ti from marj-, á-sṛk-ṣa-t from sparś- 'touch', á-vṛk-ṣa-t from varh- 'tear, tear out', á-dik-ša-t from diš- 'show', á-lik-ša-t from lih- 'lick', á-dhuk-šat and á-duk-šat (the latter an ad-formate of the type áduhat, cp. Gr. ἐνείσα instead of ἐφείσα* following πείθω etc., I § 496 p. 364) from duh- 'milk'. The forms dhukšá-n dhukšá-nta, and others like them, are remarkable as having the accent upon the thematic vowel. The aor. á-mṛk-ša-t it related to the pres. mṛk-ša-ti not otherwise than the aor. á-kṛ-ṣ-i to the pres. kṛ-ṣ-ē (§ 656 p. 191). O.Pers. niy-apišam 'I wrote', with š = ks, ✓peṣk- (I § 401 p. 297), seems to belong to the same class; as no other persons are preserved, it is possible to assume that this is non-thematic, but the root-vowel is in favour of believing it to be thematic. The aorist use in all these forms is due to the weak grade of root syllable, just as with á-sic-a-t and the like (§ 513 pp. 78 f.). But the imperfect meaning was not excluded either with this type without s or with the s-preterite which we are now dealing with: ádruk-ša-t is imperfect as well as aorist (Whitney, Am. Journ. Phil. vi 281). On this aorist type in general see § 833.

Skr. bhāsa-ti 'appears, shines', beside bhā-ti. Skr. rāsa-tē 'bestows, affords', Avest. 1st sing. rānhē beside Skr. rā-tē. Skr. hāsa-tē 'runs in a match', from hā- 'go' ud hā- 'to start up'. rāsa-ti 'roars, bellows' beside rāya-ti; as regards rāsa-ti compare further § 656 p. 191.

Skr. tr-āsa-ti 'trembles', also tar-āsa-ti (partic. tarāsantī Rig-V.): Gr. τρ-έ(σ)ω, see § 657 p. 192. Skr. gr-asa-ti 'swallows, devours', beside gir-ā-ti (Class II, § 523 p. 86) ✓ger-; akin to Gr. γρᾶω 'esse', perhaps for gr-sō*? Skr. hr-asa-ti 'takes away, diminishes, grows less', beside hār-a-ti 'takes, takes away'. Skr. bhy-āsa-ti 'fears' (caus. bhī-ṣaya-tē) beside bi-bhē-ti, cp. § 655 p. 190. Avest. v-anha-itē beside v-as-tē 'dresses' § 656 p. 191. We should doubtless add vusa-ti 'bellows' beside rāsa-ti and rāu-ti, see § 656 p. 191.

§ 660. Armenian. Besides epem 'I boil' (see § 657 p. 192) may be named the aor. luçi 'I kindled' for leyk-so-* (pres. lučanem), ✓leyq- 'lucere', cp. Skr. ruk-ṣá-s 'shining', τρο-ί(σ)ω 'I tremble, flee': Skr. tr-āsa-ti, see § 657 p. 192. ξ-έ(σ)ω 'I shave, smooth' beside ξ-ύω from √qes- O.C.Sl. čes-ati 'to comb, curry' Lith. kas-yti 'to scratch' (cp. II § 8 Rem. 2 p. 20). βδ-έ(σ)ω 'pedo' for βzd-εσω* from √pezd- Slov. pezdē-ti 'pedere' (I § 594 p. 450).

Lat. illūstri-s for in-louc-s-tri-*, A.S. līxan lȳxan 'shine' = Goth. liuhs-ja-n* (cp. II § 66 p. 140).

That some of the trisyllabic presents in -εω making aorist in -εσσα etc., such as καλέω (κάλεσσα) ἀλέω (ἄλεσσαν) στερέω (στειρίσαι), had originally the ending -εσω (cp. Skr. tarāsa-ti § 659 p. 195, arcas-ē § 656 p. 191), is not improbable; καλέ(σ)ω : κάλεσσα = τρέ(σ)ω : τρέσσα. Compare § 842.

In Greek this -s- is not only found with ἔδειξα and like aorists, but elsewhere too it is a favourite tense suffix. Compare ἐ-σκεδά-σ-θην ἐ-σκέδα-σ-συ, κί-κίρα-σ-ται ἐ-κέρα-σ-σα, ὀμ-ώμο-σ-ται ὥμο-σ-συ, ξυ-σ-τό-ς ἐ-ξύ-σ-θην, εἴρυν-σ-ται ἐρυν-σ-τό-ς ἔρυν-σ-σα. No clear distinction can be made between "Primary" and "Denominative" verbs (cp. τε-τίλεισ-ται beside τέλος, αἰδεσ-τό-ς beside αἰδώς, ἐ-γέλασ-θην beside γέλως, ἐ-μεθύσ-θην beside Skr. mādhuy-), because s in these verbal stems is the same as s in the stems of the cognate nouns, as has already once been said (§ 655 pp. 189 f.).

Compare further the use of the suffixes -εσ- and -η- in stems of the same group, σβ-εσ-τό-ς ἔ-σβ-εσ-σα : ἔ-σβ-η-ν ἔ-σβ-η-κα, ἐ-κάλ-εσ-σα : καλ-ή-τωρ κέ-κλ-η-κα, κε-κόρ-εσ-ται ἐ-κόρ-εσ-σα : κε-κόρ-η-μαι ἀ-κόρ-η-το-ς.

§ 662. Italic. Lat. vīsō (perf. vīsī), near kin to Goth. ga-veisō 'I look after some one, I visit', doubtless for ueid* + sō (not uīd* + tō, Class XXIV, as Osthoff will have it, Morph. Unt. iv 77), cp. Skr. vi-vīt-sa-ti § 667. quaesō (perf. quaesīvī) for quais-sō*, beside quaer-ō. in-cessō ar-cessō (perf. -cessīvī) from cēd-ō cessī. ac-cersō for -cers-sō* doubtless connected with currō for cors-ō kys-ō*.¹⁾ queror ques-tu-s) for qu-esō(-r)* beside Gr. κω-λύω 'I bewail, cry, shriek' Mid.H.G. hiuweln 'to howl, lament, cry' O.H.G. hūwila hiuwila 'owl'. Compare § 657 p. 192.

§ 663. Keltic. No s-presents seem to occur. The forms which Windisch (Wtb., p. 593 b) assign to a first person gessim 'I beg' are more probably conjunctive of the s-aorist of guidim (§ 826). On seiss 'placed itself, sat' and 'sits', see § 833.

§ 664. Germanic. O.H.G. billu 'I bellow', Goth. at-pinsa 'I draw towards me' O.H.G. dinsu 'I pull, tear', O.H.G. friusu 'I freeze', see § 657 p. 191. Goth. fra-liusa O.H.G. vir-liusu 'I lose' (vir-lus-t 'loss'), beside Goth. lā-n-s f. 'ransom' Gr. λύ-ω Lat. so-lvō etc. O.Icel. hrýs 'I shudder' inf. hrýðsa, from √ greu- Skr. krū-rá-s 'coarse, horrible, gruesome, bloody', cp. Gr. κρυ-σ-ταίνω 'I cause to freeze' Lat. cru-s-ta and Osc. krustatar ('cruentetur' according to Bücheler). O.H.G. wīsu 'I avoid, eschew, shun' beside Lat. vītō, doubtless for ueit-sō* (uīt-sō*), not for ueit* + tō (uīt* + tō) Class XXIV.

Goth. uf-blēsa 'I inflate, blow out' O.H.G. blāsu 'I blow', beside O.H.G. blāu i. e. bhlē-īō*, cp. Mid.H.G. bluo-s-t A.S. blō-s-tma beside Germ. blō-īō* 'I bloom' and Lat. flōs flōreō.

§ 665. Balto-Slavonic. Lith. tēs-iū 'I lengthen' containing tēs-u* = Skr. tq-sa-ti etc., see § 657 p. 191. Lith. tres-iū 'I am in heat', said of bitches, derived from tr-es-e-ti* = Skr. tr-āsa-ti 'trembles' etc., see § 657 p. 192;

1) If Germ. yrussa-* 'horse' (O.Sax. O.Icel. hross) is connected with currō, it stands to ac-cersō as Skr. mṛk-śā-s 'comb, currycomb' to mrak-śa-ti.

add Slav. tręsetŭ 'shakes, shatters' with a nasal infix, unless it is really trem + sō-* (cp. Lith. trimu Lat. tremō), see § 636 p. 174.

The same s is sometimes found also with transformed and derivative verbs, and in nouns; as O.C.Sl. a-cha-ti 'to smell' (cp. Lat. (h)alō for an-s-lo-*, I § 208 pp. 175 f.; § 588 Rem. 2 p. 444), ja-cha-ti 'vehi' (cp. ja-da 'vehor' § 701), Lith. baļ-sa-s 'voice, sound, tone' (cp. § 657 p. 192), O.C.Sl. slu-chŭ 'hearing, faculty of hearing' (cp. § 659 p. 194), O.C.Sl. gla-sŭ 'sound, voice' (I § 585 p. 441).

Class XXI.

Root + -so- -aso-, with reduplication ending in -ī (-ā) forming the Present Stem.

§ 666. This class is represented by the Aryan Desideratives, many of which have little or nothing of the desiderative in their meaning (e. g. Skr. īkṣa-tē 'sees' from √oq-, from which a desiderative stem īc-ikṣ-iṣa- is made anew), and by an Irish future series. The Homeric future ιδάω-σω and Attic conjunctive aorist and future ιδάξω can hardly have a direct connexion with these formations.

Very rare indeed are non-thematic forms with reduplication, such as Skr. partic. mid. dī-dhiṣ-āṇa-s beside dī-dhiṣa-ti from √dhē- 'set, lay'.

§ 667. Aryan. The Desiderative type is very prolific in Sanskrit.

√ster- 'sternere' Skr. ti-stīr-ṣa-tē. √uen- 'win, like' Skr. vī-vā-sa-ti, where -vā- = -v̄-*; in jī-ghā-sa-ti (√ghen- 'strike') mī-mī-ṣa-tē (√men- 'to think') and some other words the nasal came in afterwards by analogy, as it did in vañcha-ti instead of vācha-ti* § 671. √gei- 'compel, subdue' Skr. jī-gī-ṣa-ti. √kleu- 'hear' śū-śrū-ṣa-tē, cp. śrō-ṣa-ti § 659 p. 193. √gheu- 'pour, offer' Skr. ju-hū-ṣa-ti. √derk- 'see'

Skr. dī-dṛk-ṣa-tē. √ ueḍ- 'see, know' Skr. vi-vit-sa-ti, cp. Lat. visō § 662 p. 197. √ meuq- 'loose, set free' Skr. mú-muk-ṣa-ti, cp. mók-ṣa-tē § 659 p. 194. √ dhegh- 'burn' Skr. dī-dhak-ṣa-ti. bādh- 'press' Skr. bī-bhat-sa-tē. √ dō- 'give' Skr. dī-t-sa-ti dī-dā-sa-nt-. √ dhē- 'place, lay' Skr. dhi-t-sa-ti dī-dhi-ṣa-ti. From gnē- gnō- 'noscere' √ gen- (§ 587 p. 128) Skr. ji-jñā-sa-te Avest. zī-šnārahemna- (as regards -šn- see I § 403 p. 298).

On the reduplication of Skr. īkṣa-tē (unreduplicated O.Pers. patiy-aršaiy 'I inspect'), īpsa-ti 'tries to reach' (unreduplicated apsa-nta), īrtsa-ti 'wishes to advance or promote', see § 473 p. 17. Ved. īyakṣa-ti 'wishes to honour' may be regarded as regular for yi-yakṣa*-, since yi- doubtless became i- as yu- became u- (I § 157 p. 141); the forms yi-yakṣa-ti yi-yāsa-ti are reformates following si-saṅkṣa-ti etc., just as beside the regular ur-āṇá-s we find the re-formate vur-ī-ta.¹) The form in-akṣa-ti 'seeks to gain' is peculiar, cf. perf. ān-ūṣ-a.

Roots beginning and ending in a consonant, and containing no i, u, liquid, or nasal, drop the initial consonant after the reduplicator if the root does not form a syllable by itself (cp. Lat. discō for dī-tc-scō* § 678). Skr. śīkṣatē 'learns' Avest. a-siršant- 'not learning' for pr. Ar. śi-śk-ṣa*- beside Skr. śak-nō-ti 'is able'; for the loss of the sibilant cp. aor. vrkṣi for vrṣk-ṣi* and the fut. vrakṣyá-nt- for vrask-ṣya-nt*- (beside vrṣcá-ti 'tears to pieces' pra-vrask-a-s 'slice, cut' O.C.Sl. vraska 'wrinkle'). Similarly dīpsa-ti dhīpsa-ti Avest. diuža-idyāi beside Skr. dābh-a-ti 'injures', Skr. bhikṣa-tē 'begs' beside Skr. bhāj-a-ti, līpsa-tē līpsa-tē beside labh-a-tē 'seizes, grasps' and others of the same sort. Some of these forms are certainly irregular. Instead of Skr. pitsa-ti, for example (from pat- 'fly, fall') we should expect pipsa-ti*, to judge from Avest. naḥṣu for naptsu* (I § 471 p. 348).

On the analogy of the forms here mentioned arose Skr.

1) The i- of i-yakṣa-ti is different from that of i-yāja, see § 851.

hīsa-ti 'injures, hurts' from han- (ghen-), whose 3rd pl. hīsanti caused the coining of a sing. hinās-ti following Class XV (the 3rd sing. hīs-tē is perhaps like dīdhiṣ-āna-s § 660), and further perf. jī-hīs-a etc.

Instead of -sa- after roots with final consonant, the Sanskrit has often -iṣa- (-aso-). √qel- 'to move' ci-cariṣa-ti (beside cicarṣa-ti). √ḡen- 'gignere' jī-janiṣa-tē. √meld- 'crush' mi-mardiṣa-ti. vi-vidiṣa-ti beside vivitsa-ti (see above). bi-badhiṣa-tē beside bī-bhatṣa-tē (see above).

The productive power of this desiderative type in Sanskrit is especially clear in forms like ti-tarpayiṣa-ti pi-pāyayiṣa-ti from the causals tarpāya-ti (from tṛp-ṇō-ti 'satisfies itself') pā-yāya-ti (from pā-ti 'drinks').

The desiderative formation was itself often the foundation for a comprehensive verb structure; thus from bhikṣa-tē were formed perf. bi-bhikṣē fut. bhikṣ-iṣya-tē caus. bhikṣ-aya-ti, and from mī-mā-sa-tē were formed aor. á-mīmāṣ-iṣṭa pass mīmāṣ-yá-tē.

§ 668. Keltic. O.Ir. nō-gigius 'I will pray or ask' for gi-get-sō* beside gess- from -guidiu, § 663 p. 197. fo-lilus-[s]a from fo-long- 'bear, endure'. Compare Zimmer, Kuhn's Zeitschr. xxx 128.

F. CLASSES XXII AND XXIII.

PRESENT STEMS WITH -sko-.

§ 669. The -s- of -sko- I regard as the same element which we have discussed under Classes XIX—XXI; and -s-ko- I believe to be an extension like -s-jo-. Compare meiḱ-sk-* Lat. misceō and meiḱ-s-* Skr. mēkṣaya-ti perf. mi-mikṣē from √meiḱ- 'mix'; Lat. dis-pescō for -perc-scō* and Skr. pyk-ṣ- (see Grassmann, Wtb., s. v.); Gr. δι-δά(κ)-σχω 'I teach' and Avest. dax-ša-t 'he taught'; Skr. ṛ-chá-ti 'reaches, hits, attains', and ṛ-ṣá-ti ár-ṣi-ti 'moves quickly'

Avest. yā-sa-iti 'goes, goes on' and O.C.Sl. ja-cha-ti 'vehi'; Mid.H.G. lū-sche 'I lurk, watch for' (O.H.G. hlū-skē-n*)¹) and O.H.G. lū-s-trē-n 'I listen, obey' hlo-sē-n 'I attend, listen to' Skr. śrō-ṣa-ti śū-śrū-ṣa-tē from $\sqrt{k}ley-$ 'hear'; Armen. ba-çi 'I opened' Gr. γά-σσω 'I make known, say' and Skr. bhāsa-ti; Gr. γνώ-σκω γι-γνώ-σκω Lat. (g)nō-scō and Lat. gnō-ri-tur 'cognitum sive compertum est' (Stolz, Lat. Gr.² p. 375) Skr. ji-jñā-sa-tē from gnē- gnō- 'learn', and others. In view of these, we may derive Lat. mix-tu-s mis-tu-s beside misceō, dis-pes-tu-s beside dis-pescō, pos-tulō Osc. pes-tlú-m 'templum' beside poscō poposcī and doubtless Skr. prṣ-ṭá-s prāṣ-ṭum beside prchá-ti papracha from stems with no other extending suffix but -s-, meḡk-s-* and so forth; and we need not regard Avest. ter'sa-iti 'is afraid' Lith. triszū 'I tremble, shudder' as being ty-s* + sko- (cp. Skr. tr-āsa-ti etc., § 657 p. 192), but must regard it as ty-s-ko-*. The compound suffix -esko- in O.Pers. a-r-asa-m 'I came, arrived at' beside Skr. r-chá-ti, in Avest. iš-asa-iti 'wishes' beside Skr. ichá-ti, in Gr. ἀρ'ίσσω 'I please' φεύγεσσο-ν 'I fled' corresponds to -eso- in Skr. tr-āsa-ti tar-āsa-ti and others (§ 655 p. 189, § 657 p. 192, § 659 p. 195).

-k- or -kh- (see below), without -s- preceding, seems often to occur in Greek words. The parallel diminutive suffixes Boeot. -ιχο-ς and Att. -ισχο-ς, and a comparison of πτώ-ξ πτω-κ-ός, πτω-χός-ς (πτωόσσω), with *πτω-σx-άζω*²), and of γλί-χο-μαι 'I stick, adhere' with γλί-σx-ρο-ς, justifies our assuming -kho- to be the suffix of γλί-χο-μαι, of νή-χω 'I swim', of σμή-χω 'I rub, stroke, wipe off', and σμώ-χω 'I rub or grind to powder', for ψή-χω 'I stroke, curry' and ψώ-χω 'I grind to powder', for τρύ-χω 'I rub away, wear out', and for στεν-άχω 'I groan' (cp. πλάθω and such like words, § 694). In the parallel group come verbs in -σσω such as πτή-σσω ἐγρή-σσω ὀνειρώ-σσω; see § 763 Rem.

It appears that -sko- and -skho- were used as variants in the parent language. Sanskrit has only -skho- (unless perhaps -sko- is the suffix of ṛśád-ti 'tears to pieces'), but both of them seem to occur in Armenian and Greek. Armenian has -sko- in lsem 'I hear' (see p. 201 footnote), -skho- in harçanem; Greek has -sko- in βά-σσε, and -skho- perhaps in πάσχω (see § 673), γλίσχω-ος (cp. γλί-χω-μαι etc., above).

The k-sound was sometimes palatal and sometimes velar in the original language. -sk(h)o- is pointed to by Avest. ter'sa-iti, Lith. triszu, Armen. lsem harçanem; and -sq(h)o- by Skr. mūrkhá-s (beside mārcha-ti) Avest. per'ska (beside per'sa-iti, cp. Bartholomae, Stud. idg. Spr. II 49 f.), Armen. alaçem, Lith. jėszkó-ti O.C.Sl. iska-ti, Lith. treszkù O.C.Sl. trėskù troska; cp. Lith. tvįska 'it lightens' beside Skr. tvíṣ- 'beam, light' Avest. ḡwis-ra- 'sparkling'. The variation of guttural in -k- and -q- has already been touched upon in our discussion of Noun Morphology, II § 90 pp. 274 f. Compare however vol. I § 414 pp. 303 f., § 587 Rem. 2 p. 442, and Bartholomae, op. cit. 48 f.

On the difficult question of the original shape of the sk-suffix we have a new paper by Zubatý, in Kuhn's Zeitschr., xxxi 9 ff.

§ 670. Pr. Idg. In the following sections, I write the original forms always with -sko-, without distinguishing the variants -skō- -sqo- -skho- -sqho- (see § 669).

Roots that are capable of vowel gradation generally have the weak grade before -sko-.

Skr. ichá-ti Avest. isaiti 'desires, wishes', √aīs-, see § 670. Skr. uchá-ti Avest. usaiti 'shines, flashes up' from Ar. uas- 'shine', cp. Lith. aūszo 'it dawned' where sz = šk. Avest. xwafsa-iti; √suep- sup- 'sleep'; tafsa-iti √tep- 'to warm', cp. Lat. tepescō; for the fs in these two present stems cp. Bartholomae, Bezz. Beitr. xiii 74 f. Avest. yāsa-iti 'goes, begins' beside Skr. yā-ti. O.Pers. xšnāsā-tiy conj. 'noscat': Gr. γνώ-σσω etc., see § 670. Avest. xwīsaiti 'sweats' for xwitsa-* (I § 473.2 p. 349) from √sueid- may be one of the same class of forms, or it may contain -so- like vax-ša-iti, § 659, p. 194.

-esko- (§ 669 pp. 200 f.) only in Iranian. O.Pers. a-r-asa-m 'I came, reached' conj. ni-rasātiy beside Skr. ṛ-chá-ti √er-. Avest. iš-asa-iti 'wishes' beside isa-iti Skr. ichá-ti √aīs-; cp. acc. išase-m 'a wish'. Avest. hīš-asa-iti 'has authority over, arranges, understands', √ar. saīš-.

§ 672. Armenian. Here it seems that Idg. -sḥh(o)-* has become -ç-, -sḥ(o)- has become -s-, and -sq(o)- or -sqh(o)- has become -č- (cp. § 669 p. 201).

(1.) -ç- in aorist and present both: harçi 'I asked' pres. harçane-m (§ 620 p. 157): Skr. prchá-ti etc., see § 670 p. 203; it seems to me questionable whether Bugge is right in connecting ançi 'I went' (pres. ançane-m) with Skr. gácha-ti (Kuhn's Zeitschr. xxxii 33). Again, compounded aorists with -ç-, or -aç- -eaç-. ba-çi 'I opened' (pers. ba-na-m § 601 p. 144): Gr. πά-σχω, see § 670 p. 203. mna-çi 'remained, awaited' (pres. mna-m § 581 p. 122), stem mnā- from √men-: cp. Gr. μν-μνή-σχω. l-çi 'I filled' 3rd sing. e-li-ç (pres. l-nu-m § 642 p. 180), stem li- = plē-* from √pel-. ke-çi 'I lived' (pres. kea-m § 581 p. 122) from √geḷ-: similarly Gr. ἀνα-ζωόωμαι 'I revive'. The aorist in -açi, as gitaçi 'I knew'

(pres. gitem), and -eçi (3rd sing. -eaç), as lizeçi 'I licked' (pres. lizem) seem to be of the same character as Lat. verbs in -āscō -ēscō -īscō and Greek in -ασκω -εσκω.

But it must be admitted that an explanation is to seek why this present suffix came to be used with the aorist, and as an aorist suffix became productive. Something of the same sort happened in Greek with the to-suffix; for harçi : harçane-m = ἑ-βλασ-το-ν : βλαστ-άνω, see § 682. It would follow that first harçi as compared with harçanem got the aorist use; and afterwards baçi and others like it were used in the same way. But the problem must remain unsolved so long as the history of the Idg. s-aorist in Armenian has not been traced.

(2). lsem 'I hear' doubtless for klu-skō-* cp. Mid.H.G. lūsche 'I lurk, listen, play eavesdropper', § 669 p. 201.

(3) -ç- for -sq- or -sqh- in present stems with -açe-m, as alaçem 'I beg, pray', and in other compound suffixes (Hübschmann, Arm. Stud. I 94).

§ 673. Greek. βά-σκε βά-σκε-τε 'go thou, go ye': Skr. gá-cha-ti, √gem-, see § 670 p. 203. προ-βλώσκω 'I come forth' for m[̥]-skō*. ἀνα-βρώσκων κατεσθίων (Hesych.) for q[̥]-skō* (cp. βιβρώσκω § 678); θρό-σκω 'I leap' for pr. Gr. th[̥]-skō*; cp. Skr. hūrcha-ti mūrcha-ti § 671 p. 203. λάσκω 'I make a sound, cry out' for lak-skō*, beside ἑ-λακ-ο-ν. ἴσκω 'I make like, consider like' for fik-skō*, also redupl. ἑ-ίσκω § 678, beside ἔοικα, √ueik-. μίσγω 'I mix' instead of μισκω* for μικ-σκω* (γ instead of κ following μίννμι ἐμίγην), √meik-meig-: cp. Lat. miscēō, O.Ir. con-mescatar 'miscentur'. ἐν-θύσκω ἐντυγχάνω Hesych. for θυκ-σκω*, cp. fut. συν-θύξει συναντήσῃ Hesych., beside ἑ-τυχ-ο-ν (cp. Osthoff, Perf. 304 f.). El. πάσκω 'I suffer, experience' i. e. πα(θ)-σκω* beside ἑ-παθ-ο-ν πένθ-ος; Att. etc. πάσχω, which seems to be built up with -skho- (§ 669 p. 202).

φά-σκω 'I make known, assert, say': Armen. ba-çi, √bha-, see § 670 p. 203. χά-σκω 'I gape, yawn', beside ἑ-χαν-ο-ν χή-μη, see § 611 p. 150. βό-σκω 'I feed, pasture' beside βώ-τωρ.

Epir. γν-ώ-σκω (Att. γν-γνώ-σκω) 'I get to know, learn': O.Pers. xšna-sā-tiy etc., see § 670 p. 203. ῥή-σκο-μαι 'I say' stem ῥε-, ✓ῥε-. θρ-ή-σκω ροῶ, θρᾶ-σκειν ἀναμιμνήσκειν Hesych., cp. Curtius Gr. Etym.⁵ 257. In θνή-σκω Dor. θνά-σκω 'I die' there is doubtless not really an ā-suffix, as it may come from ✓ghen- by way of ghē-skō* = φᾶ-σκω* (Osthoff, op. cit. 366 f.).

Att. θρώ-σκω, θρή-σκω Aeol. θναίσκω Ion. χορήσκομαι have altered slightly in form by analogy of -ισκω (ἐύρ-ίσκω etc.), from which they get ι; the same may be said of Att. μινή-σκω Aeol. μινναίσκω (§ 678).

ἀρέ-σκω 'I please'. κορέ-σκω 'I satisfy'. γηρά-σκω 'I grow old'. γενειά-σκω 'I grow a beard'. μεθύ-σκω 'I make drunk'.

Ionic iterative preterite: φεύγεσκον from φεύγω 'I flee', ἐριζέσκον from ἐρίζω 'I strive', βοσκεσκόμην from βοσκω 'I pasture', εἵπεσκον from εἶπον 'I said', αὐδήσασκον beside αὐδήσα 'I spoke, said', φάνεσκον beside ἐφάνην 'I appeared'. As a possible course of the development I suggest the following. The first step was, on the analogy of φη-μι: φά-σκω φά-σκον to form ἴστασκον from ἴστημι; again ἦρεσα: ἀρέ-σκω ἄρεσκον produced καλεσκόμην beside ἐκάλεσα; and γενειάζω: γενειά-σκω γενειάσκον gave rise to ῥίπτασκον from ῥίπτω, and so forth. Each of these has its direct analogue; the next step was to form similar iterative preterites from stems which offered no such analogue among forms with -σκο-.

The origin of -ισκω in forms like εὐρί-σκω 'I find' άλι-σκομαι 'I am caught' is not quite clear; compare the reduplicated ἄρ-αρ-ίσκω 'I join'. I now offer a new conjecture, and give up that which was suggested in vol. II § 90 p. 275. My present view is that ι is the same in this suffix as in ὀρί-ννω ὀρίνω ἀγίνω (§§ 650, 652 p. 186), that is to say, it is the "root determinative" -i-. Then we analyse ἀραρί-σκω as ἄρ-αρί-σκω, and connect it directly with ἀρι-θμός νή-ρι-τος O.H.G. r-i-m 'row, series, number'. See further in § 841, on αἰόθω 'I breathe', for ἄf-i-σ-θω*, and others of the same kind.

Compare O.H.G. lū-s-trē-n as compared with Mid.H.G. la-sche etc., § 669 p. 201. This guides us in our view of Umbr. persnimu imper. 'supplicato', derived from an abstract persni-* (§ 777) made with the suffix -ni- (II § 95 p. 286).

2) Umbr.-Osc. perk- is a contamination of pork- and prek- (Lat. po(r)scō and precāri).

rub-ē-scō beside rub-ē-s O.C.Sl. rūd-ě-ti, con-tic-ē-scō beside tac-ē-s O.H.G. dag-ē-s, and others, see § 590 p. 132. hi-ā-scō beside hi-ā-s hi-ā-tu-s Lith. ži-ó-ju 'I open my mouth', cp. hi-scō above.

A large number of new forms, the Inchoative or Inceptive Verbs, were produced by the analogy of sci-scō : sciō, rubē-scō : rubeō, hiā-scō : hiō and similar parallel stems from one root. Examples of these are obdormiscō from dormiō, flāvescō from flāveō, amāscō from amō. By degrees the endings -iscō -escō -āscō grew quite independent of the character of the stem to which they were affixed, and we get such forms as conticiscō mīlescō. The inceptive meaning was probably not due to anything in the suffix -sco-, but arose from the fact that certain verbs which had it, crēscō ad-olēscō to wit, of necessity implied an inceptive meaning. These verbs suggested a distinction, which was carried on into others, and the inceptive type arose; hence caelum rubescit was distinguished from caelum rubet, and so forth. In late Latin these verbs had a causal meaning, e. g. innotēscō 'I become known', later 'I make known'. On this see Sittl, Arch. Lat. Lexicogr., I 516 ff.

Remark. It is very doubtful whether the Italic branch had forms with Idg. -eskō or forms like Gr. ἐύπλονω. See Sittl, op. cit., pp. 490 ff., Osthoff, Perf. 157, 257 f.

§ 675. Keltic. Only a few present stems have -sko-. O.Ir. nascim 'I bind' perf. ro nenasca-sa, beside nasc 'ring' O.H.G. nuscia 'clasp, buckle, brooch', √nedh-, ground-form ndh+sko-* (see Osthoff, M. U. v p. vi). faiscim (which has adopted io-flexion) Mod.Cymr. guasgaf 'I press, squeeze', possibly akin to Skr. vāh-a-tē 'presses, squeezes'. With ā-flexion con-mescatur 'miscentur' (inf. do mescad), beside Gr. μίσγω √meik-, § 673 p. 205.

§ 676. Germanic. Only a few present stems have -sko-. O.H.G. ir-lisku 'I am extinguished', originally probably 'I lay myself down', ground-form legþ-skō*, beside Goth. ligu 'I lie'.¹⁾ Mid.H.G. krīsche 'I shriek' pr. Germ. krūt-skō*, beside Mid.H.G. krīze 'I shriek'. O.H.G. wascu 'I wash' probably pr. Germ. wat-skō*, beside Skr. unád-mi 'I wet' Goth. vatō O.Ir. usce 'water'. Less certain is Goth. þriska O.H.G. driscu 'I thresh, thrash', which is compared sometimes with Lith. treszkū 'I crackle, crack, crash' O.C.Sl. trěskū 'noise, crash' troska 'thunder-clap', and sometimes with Gr. τρίβω 'I rub' (Idg. trǵō* according to Thurneysen, Kuhn's Zeitschr. xxx 352). If we connect þriska with Lat. terō (Benfey, Gr. Wurzel-lex., II 263), it might be derived from tr-eskō* and compared with O.Pers. a-r-asa-m Gr. ἀρ-έ-σσω etc. (§ 669 p. 201). Lastly, it seems we must place here Goth. ga-þrisqa 'I bear fruit, τεισφορῶ', which Diefenbach connects with A.S. wridan 'to grow' and Skr. vardh- 'to grow' (Vergl. Wörterb. der Got. Spr., I 241).

Many present stems with -sko- have weak inflexion, and apparently were derived from *sko-*nouns. O.H.G. wunsc(i)u 'I wish' from wunsc 'a wish': Skr. vāñcha-ti, see § 671 p. 203. O.H.G. zusc(i)u Mid.H.G. züsche 'exuro, oburo', beside Skr. du-nô-ti 'burns'. Mid.H.G. lüsche 'I lurk, play eavesdropper' beside O.H.G. lū-s-trē-n 'I listen, obey', ✓kley- 'hear' (cp. § 669 p. 201). O.H.G. forscō-n 'I ask' beside forsca 'enquiry, question': Skr. prchá-ti etc., see § 670 p. 203. O.H.G. eiscō-n 'I ask, demand' beside eisca 'request, demand': Skr. ichá-ti etc., see § 670 p. 203. Mid.H.G. rüsche 'I rush, roar', beside A.S. hrāte 'I rush, roar, snore'. Mod.H.G. haschen 'to snatch' = Goth. haf-skōn* from haf- 'capere'. Very uncertain is the comparison of Goth. and-hruska 'I investigate, attempt, essay' 3^d sing. -hruskái-þ with Lat. scrūtārī; see I § 527 p. 383, and Fick, Bezz. Beitr. VII 95 (Thurneysen, Kuhn's Zeitschr. xxx 352 f.).

§ 677. Balto-Slavonic. Here too this class of present stems has quite fallen into the background. We find sometimes

1) According to Osthoff (Wiener Stud. x 174) for les-skō*, akin to Mid.H.G. er-leswen 'to grow weak'.

Lith. -sz- O.C.Sl. -s- = Idg. -sk-, and sometimes Lith. -sk- (-szk-) O.C.Sl. -sk- = Idg. -sq-, see § 669 pp. 201 f.

Lith. tvīška 'flickers, lightens', cp. Avest. ḫwisra- 'gleaming, shining'. Lith. treszkū 'I crackle', cp. § 676. O.C.Sl. iską 'I try': Skr. ichá-ti etc., see § 670 p. 203, cp. Lith. jėszkaū 'I try' inf. jėszkó-ti (like O.H.G. eiscōn) and O.C.Sl. ištą 'I try' for isk-ia* (I § 147 pp. 133 f.).

In addition, compare Lith. aūszo 'it dawned' (pres. aūsz-ta), beside Skr. uchá-ti, § 671 p. 204; gaiszaū 'I loitered, tarried' (pres. gaisz-tū), beside Lat. haereō; driskaū 'I am torn in pieces' possibly from the $\sqrt{\text{der-}}$ whence nu-dirta-s 'flayed' Gr. $\delta\epsilon\phi\omega$.

It is impossible to decide whether the sibilant in Lith. su-miszaū 'I meddled, mixed myself with, got into confusion' (pres. su-misztū), maiszy-ti O.C.Sl. měsi-ti 'to mix' from $\sqrt{\text{meik-}}$ represents Idg. -k- or -k-s- (cp. Skr. mēkṣaya-ti) or -k-sk- (cp. Lat. misceō etc.).

Class XXIII.

Reduplicated Root + -sko- forming the Present Stem.

§ 678. This type is demonstrable only in Greek and Italic. Gr. $\delta\iota\acute{\alpha}\sigma\kappa\omega$ 'I teach' for ḍi-dax-sko* cp. perf. $\delta\epsilon\text{-}\delta\acute{\iota}\delta\alpha\chi\text{-}\alpha$ $\delta\epsilon\text{-}\delta\acute{\iota}\delta\alpha\chi\text{-}\mu\alpha\iota$, Lat. discō for di-tc-scō* cp. perf. didic-i, cp. Avest. dax-ša-t 'I taught' § 669 p. 201. In discō the root syllable is treated exactly as it is in Sanskrit desideratives of the type śikṣatē, see § 667 p. 199. For the a of $\delta\iota\acute{\alpha}\sigma\kappa\omega$ cp. Bartholomae, Bezz. Beitr. xvii 121.

Lat. discō is isolated in Italic; but Greek gives a number of reduplicated forms besides $\delta\iota\acute{\alpha}\sigma\kappa\omega$.

With i as the reduplicating vowel: $\tau\iota\text{-}\tau\acute{\upsilon}\sigma\kappa\omicron\mu\alpha\iota$ 'I make, prepare' ($\tau\epsilon\text{-}\tau\acute{\upsilon}\sigma\kappa\epsilon\tau\omicron$ Hesych.) for ti-tuk-sko-*, beside $\tau\acute{\upsilon}\kappa\text{-}\omicron\varsigma$ 'hammer, pick' Skr. tōk-man- 'shoot, sprout'. $\beta\iota\text{-}\beta\rho\acute{\omega}\text{-}\sigma\kappa\omega$ 'I eat, swallow', cp. $\beta\rho\acute{\omega}\text{-}\sigma\kappa\omega$ for gʷ-scō* § 673 p. 205. $\gamma\iota\text{-}\gamma\nu\acute{\omega}\text{-}\sigma\kappa\omega$ 'nosco', cp. Epir. $\gamma\nu\acute{\omega}\text{-}\sigma\kappa\omega$ § 673 p. 206. $\mu\iota\text{-}\mu\eta\acute{\eta}\text{-}\sigma\kappa\omega$ 'I remind, mention' beside Armen. mna-çi § 672 p. 204. δι-δρά-σκω Ion. δι-δρῆ-σκω 'I run'. On the iota of Att. μιμνήσκω Aeol. μιμναίσκω see § 673 p. 206.

Reduplicated with ε: τε-τύσκετο beside τι-τύσκομαι, see above. ἐ-ίσκω 'I make like' for Fε-Fι(x)-σκω* beside ῥσκω § 673 p. 205. δε-δί-σκομαι 'I fear, am terrified' from √dyei- (cp. Osthoff, Perf. 388 ff.).

ἀρ-αρ-ίσκω 'I join', like εὐρ-ίσκω § 673 p. 206.

G. CLASS XXIV.

ROOT + -to- (-t-) FORMING THE PRESENT STEM.

§ 679. The suffix -to- in verbs is often just as clearly the same as the noun suffix (II §§ 79 ff. pp. 218 ff.) as we found to be the case with -no-, -so-, and -sko-. Compare Gr. ἐ-βλασ-το-ν with βλασ-τός βλάσ-τη.

Non-thematic forms are very rare, and only Aryan, so that I cannot set apart a class for this group alone. Skr. dyu-t-āná-s beside dyó-ta-tē 'shines', á-cē-t-i ct-t-āna-s beside cé-ta-ti 'takes notice of, observes', yá-t-āna-s ya-t-āná-s beside yá-ta-te 'joins itself, strives'. Compare the nouns dyá-t-ct-t-ya-t-, which belong to the same kind as rí-t-hrú-t- II § 123 p. 391; the connexion of the noun suffixes -t- and -to- is obvious.

-to- is confined to the present stem only in Greek, Italic, and Baltic, and there not always.

§ 680. Pr. Idg.¹⁾ sp(h)l-tō* sp(h)l-tō* from √sp(h)el- 'burst, split' (Skr. phál-a-ti 'bursts, splits in two'): Skr. sphuṭa-ti (secondary form sphōṭa-ti) 'bursts' (cp. sphaṭita-s partic. 'split, burst'), O.H.G. spaltu 'I split' (cp. Goth. spilda 'writing tablet'

1) In Per Persson's work on Wurzelerweiterung, pp. 28 ff., the determinative t is assumed for many instances not here given; amongst others, for those in which we have held that t is part of the root proper: e. g. Skr. karta-ti 'cuts' Lith. kertù 'I hew, cut', which are derived from the root of Gr. κείρω; and Skr. várta-tē 'vertitur' Lat. veritō, which are derived from the root of Lat. ver-mi-s.

Mid.H.G. spelte 'lance splinter'). From $\sqrt{qe}$ - (Skr. ci-nō-ti 'ranges side by side, puts in layers, directs one's notice towards'): Skr. cē-ta-ti 'takes note of, observes', O.C.Sl. čī-te-tŭ 'counts, reads, honours', cp. Skr. ci-t-āna-s § 679. Lat. plec-tō 'I twist, twine' beside plicō, O.H.G. flihtu 'I twist' (cp. Goth. flah-ta 'a braid, twist'), cp. Gr. πλεκ-τός 'woven, twisted' πλεκ-τή 'rope, net'; the stem plek- which runs through these is itself an extension of a $\sqrt{pa}$ -, see below. From $\sqrt{pek}$ - (Gr. πέκ-ω 'I comb' Lith. pesz-ù 'I pluck off, tear off, pull out'): Gr. πέκτω (and πεκτέω § 801) 'I comb, shear, pluck, pull', Lat. pec-tō 'I comb, hackle, hack the ground with a mattock', O.H.G. fih-tu 'I fight, do battle' (feh-ta 'a fight').¹⁾ O.H.G. bristu O.Icel. brest 'I break, tear, burst' is very nearly akin to the O.Ir. weak verb brissim 'I break' (-ss- for -st-, I § 516 p. 376), and both must be connected either with Gr. πέρω or with Goth. brika (cp. Stokes, Mém. Soc. Ling., v 419 ff., Per Persson, Wurzelerweiterung 19, 38, and 45); whether brissim originally belonged to the first conjugation and then passed into the third, or whether it was originally denominative, is a doubtful point.

In a few words, -e- is interposed between the root and -to-; cp. Gr. -αχ-ε-το-ς ἰρπ-ε-τό-ν Skr. darś-a-tā-s and the like, II § 79 p. 199; further, Gr. ᾰ(f)-ε-τ-μα ᾰ(f)-ε-τ-μό-ν from u-ē- u-ō- 'blow'. m-e-tō* (beside Gr. ἀμάω 'I mow, gather' ἄν-τλο-ν 'bilge-water', O.H.G. mā-t 'math, mowing', Skr. ām-a-tra-m 'vessel, jug'): Lat. metō (messuī messum), O.C.Sl. mete-tŭ 'turns, verrit' (inf. mesti, sŭ-metŭ 'dung, manure, ordure'), cp. Mod.Cymr. Mod.Bret. medi 'to reap' Mid.Ir. methel 'a party of reapers' O.Corn. midil 'messor'. O.C.Sl. pl-e-te-tŭ 'twines, plaits, braids' (inf. plestī) beside Goth. fal-þa 'I fold' ground-form pľ-tō*, beside Gr. δί-παι-το-ς Skr. puṭa-m 'a fold' and Gr. ά-πλό-ς (III § 182 p. 50), from the same root as plek-Lat. plicō plectō (see above). If this view of pletā is not accepted we must take refuge in the explanation suggested in vol. I § 545 p. 399. For it is impossible, in my opinion, to derive pletā from plektā*, notwithstanding the arguments of Jagić and Miklosich to the contrary (Jagić, Arch. slav. Phil. x 196, and Miklosich, Festgruss an Böhtlingk, 88); compare Kluge, Etym. Wört.⁵ s. v. fallen, and Wiedemann, Lit. Prät. 193.

1) For the meaning 'fight' compare O.H.G. roufen 'pull, pluck', reflex. 'wrestle, fight, cut one's way'. Kluge's view, given in his Dictionary, that fih-tu is connected with Lat. pŭg-nus pŭg-nāre, that from the pl. pret. fuhtum, which was regarded as a similar form to fluhtum, fuhtu* was changed to fih-tu by analogy of fih-tu, does not convince my judgement. On the contrary, I regard fuhtum as an adformate of fluhtum. On O.H.G. fŭst, cited by Kluge, see II § 101 p. 306, III § 164 p. 3.

§ 681. Aryan. Skr. sphuṭa-ti, cē-ta-ti, see § 680. naṭa-ti 'dances, plays' Ved. ṛ-tā-māna-s (compare nṛtya-ti), beside nar-má-s nar-man- n. 'joke, sport'. kuṭa-ti 'curls, twists itself', akin to Lat. cur-vo-s. yá-ta-tē 'unites with, strives', beside ya-tá-s part. of. yam-a-ti, cp. yātāna-s § 679 p. 211. dyō-ta-tē 'shines' á-dyu-ta-t, from dyu- div-, cp. dyutāná-s § 679 p. 211. vēṣ-ta-tē 'wraps itself up, clothes or shrouds itself' (vēṣṭaya-ti viṣṭitá-s) beside veṣ-ṭa-s 'band, cord, covering', which doubtless has nothing to do with viṣ- 'enter', but is connected with Lith. vỹs-ta-s 'woman's bodice, stays' vỹstau 'I swaddle or swathe' a child, from uẽi- 'to wind'. cēṣ-ṭa-ti 'is in motion' (perf. cicēṣṭa) beside cēṣ-ṭa-m 'motion'. lōṣ-ṭa-tē 'heaps up' beside lōṣ-ṭá-s lōṣ-ṭu-ṣ 'clod or lump of earth'; if the same root is contained in another -to-form, Lith. lúsz-tu 'I break' intr. (pret. lúž-an), — compare Skr. lēṣ-ṭu-ṣ 'clod' from riṣ- liṣ- 'tear, break off' — lōṣṭatē must be a derivative from the noun, or at least must have modified its meaning in association with (cp. § 794, on Skr. mānáya-ti).

§ 682. Greek. There are numerous forms in -πι-τω, and a few which have -τω preceded by some other sound than πι. We begin with the latter. πέκ-τω has been mentioned already, § 680 p. 212. ἐμορτεν · ἀπέθανε Hesych., cp. μορ-τό-ς 'mortal'. φάρεκ-το-μαι beside φράσσομαι (= φρακ-ιο-μαι*) 'I shut myself in, fortify myself'. ἐβλαστο-ν, pres. βλαστάνω 'I spring up, arise' (βλαστο-τό-ς 'shoot, bud'), orig. probably 'I get high' (used of buds and shoots), beside βλωθ-ρό-ς 'springing high, grown high' (I § 306 p. 242); ἡμαρ-το-ν Lesb. inf. ἀμβρότην (for *ἀμβρατην, I § 292 p. 233), pres. ἀμαρτάνω 'I miss, err', probably from ἀ-μαρ-το- ἀ-μβρα-το- 'having no share' (from the root of μέρ-ος μύρ-ο-ς), cp. ἀμαρεῖν· ἀμαρτάνειν Hesych. (Curtius, Verb II² 10 ff., and the Author, Sprachwiss. Abhandl. 160); on the present stems βλαστάνω ἀμαρτάνω see § 621 p. 158. Att. ἀνύτω beside ἀ-νύω ἄ-νῦ-μι 'I complete' (§ 639 p. 177) and partic. ἀν-ήνυ-το-ς 'that cannot be completed', and similarly Att. ἀρίτω beside ἀρύω 'I create'.¹⁾

Of the numerous Verbs in -π-τω (Curtius mentions 48 of them), as τύπ-τω 'I strike' σκάπ-τω 'I dig' πέπ-τω 'coquo', those whose root originally ended in a velar have the first claim to a place in our group; such stems are πέπτω from √peq-, βλάπτω beside Skr. marc-. However, it is possible to see the suffix -ιo- (Class XXVI) in every single one; and indeed the denominatives χαλέπτω (from χαλεπό-ς) and ἀστράπτω (from ἀστραπή) in all probability come from *χαλεπ-ιω and *ἀστραπ-ιω (I § 131 p. 119).

Remark. I see no cogent reason for denying that π_h may become π_t (cp. Kretschmer, Kuhn's Zeitschr. xxxi 436 f.). All that can be said against deriving τύπ-τω (cp. τύπ-ο-ς) from *τυπ-ιω is that it may just as well contain the present suffix -τω-. But we cannot derive from forms in -ιω those whose root ended in φ, as κρύπτω, which comes from the root of κρύφα; nor those whose root ended in q or g, as πέπτω beside older πέσσω (√peq-), νίπτομαι beside older νίζω (√neiq-). Still, such forms as κρύπτω can easily be due to the analogy of τύπτω, the point of contact between the stems being κρύψω τύψω etc. (cp. new forms like σφάπτω instead of σφάζω, following φράπτω, § 714); and thus again, in view of πέψω etc., we have no proof that πέπτω νίπτομαι and all the rest are not simply adformates of τύπτω. It is also quite possible (in spite of Kretschmer's arguments, as cited, p. 437) that Hom. ἐνέπτω beside ἐνέσσω (ἐνέσσω?), and beside ἡνέπαπον ἐνέππον, was also an adformate of τύπτω, although in this verb there is no ἐνέψω (for ἐνέψω in Il. 2 137 etc. is not from this stem), and this as far as it goes is in favour of a stem with orig. -τω-.

1) τίπτω does not come in this group; see § 552, page 107.

abl. 'usa, consumpta') perhaps akin to Gr. ol-ro-s 'fate, lot' from $\sqrt{ei}$ - 'go' (Danielsson, Pauli's Alt. Stud. III 198 f.). flec-tō perhaps from the root of falx. plec-to-r 'I am struck, punished', either to be set beside plāga plangō, in which case we must assume that it came from plactor* when used in compounds, without an accent (cp. plicō, I § 65 Rem. 2 p. 53); or akin to Lith. plėsz-iu 'I tear, snatch' (cp. Gr. δέρω 'I flay' and 'cudgel'), in which case it must be pronounced plēctor. nectō belongs to $\sqrt{nedh}$ - 'bind', and in its ending probably imitated plectō; see Ber. sächs. Ges. der Wiss., 1890, p. 236 foot-note 2. With plexu-s i. e. plect+to-*, and ūsus i. e. oi-t+to-*, we naturally compare fassu-s i. e. fa-t+to-*, from fa-teor Gr. -φα-το-s 'said'. Uncertain: Osc. krustatar conj. 'cruentetur' according to Bücheler, akin to Gr. κρυσ-τ-αίνω, § 664 p. 197.

§ 684. Keltic. It is doubtful whether brissim 'I break' originally belongs to this class, see § 680 p. 212.

Remark. The so-called t-preterite, which came out of the 3rd sing. mid. in -to, does not belong to this class. See § 516, page 82.

§ 685. Germanic. O.H.G. spal-tu, flih-tu, fihtu, bris-tu, Goth. falþa O.H.G. faltu see § 680 pp. 212 f. Goth. ga-vida 'I bind up' O.H.G. witu 'I bind' doubtless for ui-tō*, cp. O.H.G. wi-d 'line, cord' wī-da 'withe, willow' [Eng. withy] Skr. vī-tā-s 'enfolded, enveloped' Lith. vej-ù 'I twist a string'; as the present got into the company of giba -gita and suchlike, there were formed Goth. ga-vap O.H.G. wat; cp. below, Goth. vinda. O.H.G. līdu 'I suffer' (O.H.G. leid O.Icel. leið-r 'painful, paining, hated') probably orig. (pr. Germ.) li-pō* and connected with O.H.G. lēwes 'alas' (stem lai-wa-*). Goth. hul-da 'I protect, guard' O.H.G. haltu 'I hold, guard' ground-form kī-tō*, cp. Gr. βου-κόλο-s 'cowherd'. Goth. fra-gilda 'I repay' O.H.G. giltu 'I pay back, give equivalent, offer', pr. Germ. zel-pō* (if we follow the indications given by O.Swed. giälla as compared with O.Icel. gjalda, we must accent the root), akin to Gr. ὠ-φελο-ν ὀ-φλεῖν, $\sqrt{ghel}$ -. Goth. us-alþan-s 'obsolete' and O.Icel. aldenn 'grown old' point to al-þa- as the verbal stem, cp. O.H.G. al-t 'old', beside Goth. a-la 'I grow up'. The ending of a few onomatopoeic verbs, as Goth. kriusta 'I crunch' (krust-s 'a crunching'), O.Icel. gnest 'I crack', seems to be of the same sort as that of O.H.G. bristu O.Icel. brest (O.H.G. brastōn 'to crack, crackle'); compare the Mid.H.G. weak verb krīsten 'groan with pain or exertion' beside krīzen Mid.Dutch criten 'groan, shriek' (-st- is not for -tt-).

Remark 1. O.H.G. wīsu 'I shun', which is connected with Lat. vītō, and which Kluge assign to this class (Paul-Braune's Beitr. ix 152), seems more likely to be of the so-class. See § 664 p. 197.

Extended by an i-suffix: Goth. faúrh-tja O.H.G. furiht(i)u 'I fear' (pret. forah-ta), whence the adj., originally participle, faúrh-t-s O.H.G. foraht 'afraid, afraid'.

The suffixal ending -ntō is common in Germanic: Goth. standa O.H.G. stantu 'I stand' √ sta-, Goth. vinda O.H.G. wintu 'I wind or twist' √ wei-, O.H.G. swintu 'I disappear' beside O.H.G. swī-nu. The forms pret. stōþ and pres. gavida make it probable that the nasal is due to the analogy of Class XVI. For the word swintu, but for no others, we have some ground for assuming that a no-present (Class XIII) has been extended by -to-. See § 634 p. 172, and compare Lith. siuncziù § 686, O.C.Sl. ob-ręštą § 687.

Remark 2. Osthoff's view is that the Idg. had a simple suffix -net- -nt-, which is preserved in the above named Germanic words and in others. This to my mind carries no conviction with it. (See, for Osthoff's arguments, Zeitschr. deutsch. Phil., xxiv 215 ff., and Anzeiger für idg. Spr. und Altertumskunde, i 83.)

§ 686.¹⁾ Balto-Slavonic. In Lithuanian (and Lettic) are numerous present stems in -stu and -sztu with intransitive and inchoative meaning. -stu arose in roots or stems ending in a dental explosive or s, and -sztu in roots with final palatal explosive. virš-tù 'I fall down', pret. virt-aũ. bl̥š-ta 'evening draws on', pret. blind-o. girs-tù 'I get to hear' pret. gird-aũ. ges-tù 'I am quenched, go out', pret. ges-aũ.¹⁾ t̥š-tù 'I stretch, lengthen myself', pret. t̥š-aũ (cp. t̥š-s-iũ § 657 p. 191, § 665 p. 197). lúsz-tu 'I break' intr., pret. lúž-au. -sztu may also come from -stu by the influence of preceding r, as in mirsz-tù 'I forget' pret. mirsz-aũ, beside Skr. marš- (I § 587.1 p. 442).

1) The Lithuanian and Lettic verbs in -tu are very neatly explained by Johansson (Kuhn's Zeitschr. xxxii 507 ff.) as derived from middle forms of the 3rd sing. in -s-to; e. g. 3rd sing. rimsta for rīm-s-to*, cp. Skr. s-aor. d-ra-s-ta; perhaps also forms with no s, as viřsta = uřt+to*, cp. Skr. á-ert-ran. When the injunctive rimsta viřsta had come to be looked on as parallel to bęga sũka (see § 999. 2), the forms rimstu viřstu were coined on the analogy of bęgu sukũ, and so forth.

Verbs in -stu were the starting point for many new formations, as kił-stu 'I raise myself', pret. kił-aũ; styr-stù 'I stiffen', pret. styr-aũ; pa-ž̥i-stu 'I know', pret. pa-ž̥inaũ; rūk-stu 'I grow sour, ferment', pret. rúg-au; džiú-stu 'I grow dry, wither', pret. džiúv-au inf. džiú-ti. New forms in -sztu; m̥r-sztu 'I die', pret. mir-iaũ, cp. Gr. ἐ-μοο-τεν § 682 p. 213.

Often the stems which serve as groundwork for these words already have present formative suffixes; e. g. tv̥i-stu 'I swell out' (pret. tv̥in-aũ) derived from tv̥-inu*, see § 624 p. 161; jũnk-stu 'I grow accustomed' (pret. jũnkau) from jũnku* akin to Skr. uc-ya-ti, v̥š-tù 'I increase, grow larger' from v̥insu* cp. pret. vis-aũ, see § 635 p. 173; aũsz-ta 'day dawns' from a ško-present ausza* connected with Skr. uchá-ti, see § 677 p. 210.

Denominatives too were formed in this class. gelstù 'I grow yellow' pret. geltaũ from gel̥ta-s 'yellow', karstù 'I grow bitter' pret. kartaũ from kartù-s 'bitter', brankstù 'I grow dear' pret. brangaũ from brangù-s 'dear', žũstu 'I fish' pret. žuvaũ from žuv-t-s 'a fish'. Compare § 793.

Remark 1. Bezenberger (Beitr. ix 336) and Wiedemann (Lit. Prāt., 60) deny that the Lithuanian to-present series is connected with those of the other Idg. languages. It certainly is queer that only one Lith. to-present has cognates in other languages, namely mirsztu 'I die', which comes from the same root as Gr. ἐ-μοορε-ν; and this comparison is a very precarious foundation for any theory.

1) Parallel stem, dial. gistu. The i in this and similar forms (see Wiedemann, Lit. Prāt., 8) I regard as a re-formation on the analogy of Lith. roots such as gris- glib- (beside gres- gleb-) with ri li = r̥ l̥. Similarly O.C.Sl. tici etc. following r̥ici, § 534 p. 96.

siuncziū 'I send' (inf. siūsti) doubtless instead of siuntu* like jūng-iu instead of jung-u* etc.; and if this word be connected with Skr. sāv-a-ti suv-ā-ti 'sets in motion, drives, sends' (Wiedemann, Lit. Prät., 84) we should have in su-n-tō* a present like Goth. vi-n-da § 685 p. 216.

Remark 2. The 3rd sing. eī-t(i) 'goes' lēkt-i 'remains' mēk-t(i) 'sleeps' sēs-t(i) 'sits' (§ 511, pp. 76 f.), gave rise to the dialectic forms Lith. eitū eitū eitam eitat, lēktū mēktū sēstu, and so forth, and similarly, in Lettic, 1st pl. īam follows ī-t 'goes' (Bezzenberger in his Beitr. IX 334 ff.). This re-formation, which has an exact parallel in Keltic (§ 506 p. 72), was in some degree due to the to-present stems: -t(i) and -t(a) were regarded as the same in structure.

§ 687. O.C.Sl. čī-tq, m-e-tq, pl-e-tq, see § 680 p. 212. rastq 'I grow' inf. rasti (rastū 'growth', rastī 'usury, interest') for rād + tq*, cp. rodū 'birth'. Mention should also be made of ob-rētū 'I found', if this is to be connected with rējā 'I knock'; to this the present -rēštq (§ 636 p. 174) would have just the same kind of relation as Goth. sta-n-da to stōþ (§ 685 p. 216).

H. CLASS XXV.

Root + -dho- and -do- forming the Present Stem.

§ 688. Although under certain circumstances dh could become d in the parent language (I § 469. 8 p.), that is not the reason why I class -dho- and -do- together now. It is not that I regard them as being always variants of the same suffix; but simply because in some languages dh and d ran together and became indistinguishable, which makes it often quite impossible to say which of the two is used with a given form.

The dh-suffix which we see in forms like Gr. βῆ-θω πῶ-θω πλῆ-θω φλεγῆ-θω has often been derived from $\sqrt{dhē}$ 'place, do' (Skr. dādha-ti etc.), this being deduced from other compounds of this root, both old and new, about which there can be no doubt, as sue-dhē* sue-dhē* suo-dhē* 'make one's own' in Skr. sua-dhā 'custom, wont' Gr. ἔ-θ-ων 'consuetus' ἔ-θ-ος ἥ-θ-

-oç īwo-ḡ-a, Skr. śrād-dadhāmi 'I believe, trust' Lat. crēdō O.Ir. cretim (II § 4 p. 9, § 160.1 p. 479), Avest. yaož-daiti yaož-daḍaiti 'makes something right, purifies' from yaoš = Skr. yōṣ 'weal, luck, happiness'. This may indeed be the real origin of all such stems. The consonant which began the second part of the compound stem became practically the 'root-ending' in βῆρῖθω βέβῆρῖθα, very much in the same way as the p in gōp-a-ti ju-gōp-a gōp-sya-ti etc. from gō-pā- gō-p-ā-.

Just so the suffix -d- may sometimes be the $\sqrt{dō-}$, which in addition to its meaning 'give' had other meanings like those of dhē- (Osthoff, Perf. p. 237), cp. I § 404 pp. 298 f., on Skr. mṛdā-ti pr. Ar. mṛž-da-ti*.

The thematic stems in -o- (-dho-, -do-) were originally not the only ones which contained these additional suffixes. But although not the only stems, thematic stems were commonest of all in this connexion, and without doubt this was generally true in the original language. We shall have occasion to point this out when we find other stems parallel to those in -o-.

§ 689. Pr. Idg. *-dho-.*¹⁾ $\sqrt{uel-}$ 'to wish, rule' (Lat. vel-le O.Ir. flaith 'lordship'): Goth. val-da 'I have power, rule', O.C.Sl. vla-da 'I have power, rule' (for vol-da*), both for uḡ-dh-, cp. Lith. val-d-aũ; parallel stem Lith. vel-du 'I rule' pa-vėltdu 'I inherit' (Pruss. weldūnai pl. 'heritages'). From sger-dh-*, beside Lith. skiř-ti 'to sever, part': O.H.G. scrintu 'I burst, am shattered' by transfer to Class XVI (§ 634 p. 171), Lith. skėrdžiu 'I burst, or blow up', which is derived from a form sker-du* (§ 765). From the root of Skr. yu- 'to mix, stir, disturb': Skr. yō-dha-ti 'gets in motion' (yúdh-ya-tē, 2nd sing. yōt-sī), Lith. ju-dù 'I move trembling', jundù 'I get into a trembling movement, into uproar' (pret. judaũ inf. jùsti) by transfer to Class XVI (§ 635 p. 172), compare Gr. ῥομῖν-η 'battle' i. e. ῥ+σῑῖν-* (II § 115 p. 359), Lat. juba jubeō (Bugge, Bezz. Beitr. xiv 58 f.).¹⁾ From rē- (Lat. reor rē-rī): Skr. á-rā-dha-t 'brought to a happy conclusion, set right' (rādh-ya-tē rādh-nō-ti), Goth. ga-rēda 'I consider, I bestir myself' ur-rēda 'I give judgement, decide' O.H.G. rātu 'I advise, think of, conjecture, prepare carefully', cp. O.C.Sl. raditi 'to consider, care for'. From the same root as Lith. kló-ju 'I spread abroad': A.S. hla-de 'I load, cover with portable things' (ground-form qla-dhō*), O.C.Sl. kla-dq 'I invite, lay down' (cp. Kluge, Etym. Wört. s. v. laden).

1) Per Persson, in his Wurzelerw., pages 35 ff., sees the determinative dh and d in many instances besides those for which they are here assumed. Some of these are words in which dh or d is taken in this book to be part of the root proper; e. g. Skr. gṛdh-ya-ti, which he derives from the root of O.H.G. ger 'desiring', and Gr. μέδω Goth. mita, which he derives from $\sqrt{mē-}$ 'measure'. For a new discussion of forms with determinative d see Johansson, Idg. Forsch. II 42 ff., and 46 ff.

Two other forms, which others with less reason regard as reduplicated, will also come in here: Skr. partic. dōdhat- 'shaking, violent, storming' (dūdh-i-ṣ 'violent') and Gr. θῑσσομαι (for θῑθ-ῑσσομαι*) 'I shake or stir myself', both connected with Skr. dhū- 'to shake'.

§ 690. Pr. Idg. -dō-. $\sqrt{(s)ger-}$ (Gr. σχαίρω 'I leap, jump, dance'): Skr. kūr-da-ti 'jumps, leaps', cp. Gr. κράδ-άω 'I swing, brandish' κόρδ-ᾱξ a kind of dance, Mid.H.G. scherze schirze (weak verb) 'I jump in a lively way'. $\sqrt{mel-}$ (Lat. molō, Skr. mlā-ti 'grows soft, slackens' O.Ir. mlāith 'soft, slack', see § 580 p. 122): Skr. vi-mrada-ti 'softens', A.S. mel-te 'I melt, grow soft' (Goth. ga-maltein-s 'loosening, solution'), cp. Skr. mrđú-ṣ 'soft' compar. mrádīyas-, Gr. ἀμαλδένω 'I soften, weaken' βλαδ-αρό-ς 'slack, loose, loosened', Lat. molli-s for mold-u-i-s*; Skr. mrād- = ml-e-d-* with the same intermediate vowel e which is seen in Gr. ῥ-αχ-ι-θο-ν § 694 Lat. m-e-tō § 680 p. 212; from the same root we have a stem mel-dh-* Skr. márdha-ti 'slackens, gets lazy or sluggish' Gr. μαλθακό-ς 'soft, tender' (beside μαλακό-ς) μάλθων (gen. -ων-ος) 'weakling'

1) Another, but hardly better explanation of jubeō may be seen in Bezenberger's Beitrage, xvi 216 (Froehde).

O.Sax. mildi 'mild, gracious, gentle', so that it is impossible to decide whether -dh- or -d- is contained in O.Ir. meldach 'acceptus, gratus', Lith. meldžiū 'I beg', O.C.Sl. mladū 'tender'. Connected with Lat. sāl sal-is: Lat. sallō for sal-dō* (I § 369 p. 280), Goth. sal-ta 'I salt'. $\sqrt{ghe}$ - 'pour' (Gr. $\chi\acute{\epsilon}\omega$ $\chi\acute{\upsilon}\text{-}\tau\acute{\rho}\alpha$): Lat. fundō (perf. fūdī) conjugated in Class XVI (§ 632 p. 169),¹⁾ Goth. giuta O.H.G. giuzu 'I pour'. $\sqrt{ple}$ - 'float, swim' (Gr. $\pi\lambda\acute{\epsilon}(f)\omega$): O.H.G. fiuzu O.Icel. flyt 'I flow', Lith. plaudžiū 'I wash, purify' (inf. plausti), pludžiū 'I chatter' (inf. plusti), plūstu 'I begin to swim, get swimming' (pret. plūda), cp. O.Ir. do-lod-sa 'ivi' 3rd sing. do-luid § 697. $\sqrt{spre}$ - (Lett. sprau-jū-s 'I rise, spring up', of seed): Mid.H.G. spriuze A.S. sprūte 'I sprout' (A.S. spreót 'stalk, shaft' O.H.G. spriuza 'prop, pillar' O.H.G. sprozzo 'sprout'), Lith. spráudžiū 'I push forcibly into a narrow space, press' (inf. spráusti) sprūstu 'I push my way out of a holdfast or fix, get out' (pret. sprūda). With Lat. clāv-i-s: clau-dō, compare O.Fris. slūte (for sklūt-*) 'I close' (O.H.G. sluizu is doubtless slūzu* transformed by analogy).

Following the same lines of reasoning, I derive Skr. svāda-tē Gr. $\eta\delta\epsilon\text{-}\tau\alpha\iota$ from sua-de-tai* 'enjoys with gusto', and Skr. svāda-ti Gr. $\acute{\epsilon}\delta\alpha\nu\acute{o}\text{-}\varsigma$ 'suavis' from su-e-de-ti* (cp. Skr. mr-a-da-ti above); these forms are obviously akin, and I can see no other way of bringing them together.

§ 691. Aryan. (1.) -dho-. Skr. yō-dha-ti, á-rā-dha-t, dō-dhat-, see § 689. Skr. á-kru-dha-t 'got angry' (krúdh-ya-ti), Avest. xrao-da-itī 'is anxious', $\sqrt{gre}$ - Skr. krū-rā-s 'coarse, rough, terrible, gruesome'. Avest. a-rao-đa-p 'flowed' (raođayē-iti) from srey- Skr. srāv-a-ti (r- = sr-*, cp. O.Pers. rauta- I § 558.3 p. 414), cp. Skr. vi-srúh- 'stream, body of water' (-h- = -dh-, I § 480 p. 354), Gr. $\rho\upsilon\theta\text{-}\mu\acute{o}\text{-}\varsigma$. Skr. srē-dha-ti 'he goes wrong', beside a-srēmán- 'without error, faultless'. Skr. sádha-ti 'gets to the goal, puts in order' may be derived from $\sqrt{sē}$ - (Skr. sā- 'to bring to an end, conclude' vy-ava-sāmi

§ 692. (2.) -do-. Skr. kūr-da-ti, mr-a-da-ti, svā-da-ti sv-ā-da-ti, see § 690 p. 220. Skr. tar-da-ti (gramm.) 'pierces, splits, opens' (trṇāt-ti), akin to tār-a-ti 'traverses', cp. Lith. trėndu 'I am eaten of worms or moths' § 637 p. 174 and tridė 'diarrhoea' pra-trýstu 'I fall ill of diarrhoea' (pret. -trýdau).¹⁾ Skr. khā-da-ti 'bites to pieces, chews' beside khān-a-ti 'digs, grubs'. Skr. mṛdā-ti 'is gracious, pardons' for mṛḷ-ḍa-*,²⁾ cp. Avest. mer'ždika- n. 'grace, pardon', either from the root of merḡ- 'wipe off' Skr. mṛjā-ti 'wipes off, purifies of guilt', or from that of Skr. mṛṣ-ya-tē 'forgets' Lith. mirsz-ti 'to forget' (cp. Lith. už-mirsz-dinu -mirždinu 'I cause to forget'). Skr. īḍa-tē 'honours, praises, prays to' (īḷ-tē) for iḷ-ḍa-tai*, either connected with yāj-a-ti 'honours, reverences, offers' partic. iṣ-ṭā-s Gr. ἄγ-ιος 'honourable, sacred', or with Lat. aes-tumāre Goth. āis-tan weak verb 'to revere, observe, have regard for' O.H.G. ēr-a 'honour'; it should be remarked that the Gothic verb may be derived from Idg. aiz-d-* or from Idg. aiz-t-*, either one or the other. Avest. xraoḷ-da-iti 'hardens' (xružd-ra- 'hard') beside Gr. κρυο-ταίνω 'I make to freeze', in which s is itself an extension (§ 664 p. 197); perhaps from the same root, Skr. krūḍaya-ti 'makes thick' krōḍā-s 'breast, boar'. Lastly, we are doubtless right to add Skr. hṛḍa-māna-s hiḍa-māna-s 'being angry with some one, hostile' Avest. zōiḷda- 'ugly, disagreeable, αἰσχρός'.³⁾

§ 693. 3. -dho- or -do-, uncertain which. To this place belong Avestic verbs. syaz-da-iti 'gives place, disappears', cp.

1) y in -trýstu is not original. By analogy of i-roots were formed trėdūiu 'I have diarrhoea' traidinū 'I excite diarrhoea'.

2) More exactly mṛdā-ti, answering to liḍhā- for liḷḍhā-* (I § 404 pp. 298 f.). The long ṛ is certain from the metre; see Benfey, Vedica und Verwandtes, pp. 1 ff., Oldenberg, Die Hymnen des Rig-Veda, I 477.

3) The unextended root is not really contained in Lith. pa-šeida 'insult, wound' (cp. Zubaty, Bezz. Beitr. xvii 327); this is against the known laws, see I § 476 p. 351 f., and Burg in Kuhn's Zeitschr. xxix 363.

siḍdye-iti siḍdye-iti 'drives away', seems to be akin to Skr. śiṣ- 'to be over, left behind' (śinās-ti śeṣ-aya-ti). vōiḥ-da-iti 'hurls, throws against something', perhaps connected with O.C.Sl. vich-rŭ 'whirlwind' Russ. vichati 'shatter, agitate'.¹⁾ avanuhab-da-itē 'falls asleep', from Ar. suap- 'to sleep' (I § 159 pp. 141 f.). snā-dā-iti 'washes', beside Skr. snā-ti.

§ 694. Greek. (1.) -dho-. ἐ-δρα-θo-ν ἐ-δωρ-θo-ν 'I slept' (pres. δωρ-θ-άνω § 621 p. 158), beside Lat. dor-miō Skr. dr-a-ti. Hom. opt. βε-βρού-θoι-ς 'comedas' (Od. 4. 35) from βι-βρώ-σκω ✓ ger-: cp. Lith. gīr-d-inu gēr-d-inu 'I give to drink' (ger-iū 'I drink'). ἤλυ-θo-ν 'I came', beside προσ-ήλυ-το-ς perf. 2nd pl. ἐλήλυ-τε. ἐρέχ-θω 'I pull to and fro, tear, hurl', doubtless akin to O.H.G. ruc 'jerk, jolt, sudden change of place'. ἐσθω 'esse' (ἐσθ-ίω §§ 713, 765) beside ἐθ-ω. ἄχ-θo-μαι 'I am galled or wearied by burdens', beside ἄχ-νυ-μαι. πλή-θω 'I am full', beside πίμ-πλη-μι. κνή-θω 'I shave, rub, scratch', beside κνή (§ 737). πύ-θω 'I make rot' (perf. πίνυθα), beside πύo-ν 'pus': Lith. pū-d-inu pū-d-au 'I make rot' Lett. pa-pū-d-e 'fallow field' beside pāv-ū 'I make rotten'. βρέ-θω 'I weigh, press hard upon' (perf. βέβριθα), beside βριαρό-ς βαρ-ύ-ς.

ἔσχε-ε-θo-ν 'I held', beside ἔσχε-ε-ς ✓ segh-. κατα-βλ-έ-θει καταπίνει Hesych., beside O.Ir. gelid 'consumit' O.H.G. chela 'throat'. φλεγ-έ-θω 'I burn', beside φλέγω. νέμ-έ-θo-μαι 'I pasture', beside νέμo-μαι. τελ-έ-θω 'I am', beside τίλλω.

-α-θω = -ə-dhō*. πελ-ά-θω 'I draw near', beside πέλα-ς πελά-σσαι. διωκ-ά-θω 'I pursue', beside διώκ-ω. ἀμύνά-θω 'I ward off', beside ἀμύνω. μετα-κί-ά-θω 'I go after, pursue', beside κίω 'I go'. Here perhaps should come γῆθoμαι Dor. γάθoμαι (perf. γέγηθα γέγαθα) and γηθέω 'I enjoy, am pleased', for γᾱf-a-θ-*, beside γαίω 'I take pleasure' for γαf-ιω* and γαῦ-ρο-ς 'proud': Lat. gaudeō for gāvideō* (I § 612 p. 462), — observe that gāvīsus seems to imitate vīsu-s, which would show of buds and shoots), beside βλωθ-ρό-ς 'springing high, grown high' (I § 306 p. 242); ἡμαρ-το-ν Lesb. inf. ἀμβρότην (for *ἀμβρατην, I § 292 p. 233), pres. ἀμαρτάνω 'I miss, err', probably from ἀ-μαρ-το- ἀ-μβρα-το- 'having no share' (from the root of μέρ-ος μύρ-ο-ς), cp. ἀμαρεῖν ἀμαρτάνειν Hesych. (Curtius, Verb II² 10 ff., and the Author, Sprachwiss. Abhandl. 160); on the present stems βλαστάνω ἀμαρτάνω see § 621 p. 158. Att. ἀνύτω beside ἀ-νύω ἄ-νῦ-μι 'I complete' (§ 639 p. 177) and partic. ἀν-ήν-το-ς 'that cannot be completed', and similarly Att. ἀρίτω beside ἀρύω 'I create'.¹⁾

Of the numerous Verbs in -π-τω (Curtius mentions 48 of them), as τύπ-τω 'I strike' σκάπ-τω 'I dig' πέπ-τω 'coquo', those whose root originally ended in a velar have the first claim to a place in our group; such stems are πέπτω from √peq-, βλάπτω beside Skr. marc-. However, it is possible to see the suffix -ι-ο- (Class XXVI) in every single one; and indeed the denominatives χαλέπτω (from χαλεπό-ς) and ἀστράπτω (from ἀστραπή) in all probability come from *χαλεπ-ιω and *ἀστραπ-ιω (I § 131 p. 119).

Remark. I see no cogent reason for denying that π₁ may become π₂ (cp. Kretschmer, Kuhn's Zeitschr. XXXI 436 f.). All that can be said against deriving τύπ-τω (cp. τύπ-ο-ς) from *τυπ-ιω is that it may just as well contain the present suffix -το-. But we cannot derive from forms in -ιω those whose root ended in p, as κρύπτω, which comes from the root of κρύφα; nor those whose root ended in q or g, as πέπτω beside older πέσσω (√peq-), νίπτωμαι beside older νίω (√neig-). Still, such forms as κρύπτω can easily be due to the analogy of τύπτω, the point of contact between the stems being κρύψω τύψω etc. (cp. new forms like σφάττω instead of σφάζω, following φράττω, § 714); and thus again, in view of πέψω etc., we have no proof that πέπτω νίπτωμαι and all the rest are not simply adformates of τύπτω. It is also quite possible (in spite of Kretschmer's arguments, as cited, p. 437) that Hom. ἐνέπτω beside ἐνέσσω (ἐνέσσω?), and beside ἡνέπαπον ἐνένιπον, was also an adformate of τύπτω, although in this verb there is no ἐνέψω (for ἐνέψω in Il. 2 137 etc. is not from this stem), and this as far as it goes is in favour of a stem with orig. -το-.

abl. 'usa, consumpta') perhaps akin to Gr. οἶ-το-ς 'fate, lot' from $\sqrt{ei}$ - 'go' (Danielsson, Pauli's Alt. Stud. III 198 f.). flec-tō perhaps from the root of falx. plec-to-r 'I am struck, punished', either to be set beside plaga plangō, in which case we must assume that it came from plactor* when used in compounds, without an accent (cp. plicō, I § 65 Rem. 2 p. 53); or akin to Lith. plėsz-ti 'I tear, snatch' (cp. Gr. δέρω 'I flay' and 'cudgel'), in which case it must be pronounced plēctor. nectō belongs to $\sqrt{nedh}$ - 'bind', and in its ending probably imitated plectō; see Ber. sächs. Ges. der Wiss., 1890, p. 236 foot-note 2. With plexu-s i. e. plect+to-*, and ūsus i. e. oi-t+to-*, we naturally compare fassu-s i. e. fa-t+to-*, from fa-teor Gr. -φα-το-ς 'said'. Uncertain: Osc. krustatar conj. 'cruentetur' according to Bücheler, akin to Gr. κρουσ-τ-αίρω, § 664 p. 197.

Remark. The so-called t-preterite, which came out of the 3rd sing. mid. in -to, does not belong to this class. See § 516, page 82.

§ 685. Germanic. O.H.G. spal-tu, flih-tu, fihtu, bris-tu, Goth. falþa O.H.G. faltu see § 680 pp. 212 f. Goth. ga-vida 'I bind up' O.H.G. witu 'I bind' doubtless for wi-tō*, cp. O.H.G. wi-d 'line, cord' wi-da 'withe, willow' [Eng. withy] Skr. vī-tā-s 'enfolded, enveloped' Lith. vej-ū 'I twist a string'; as the present got into the company of giba-gita and suchlike, there were formed Goth. ga-vap O.H.G. wat; cp. below, Goth. vinda. O.H.G. līdu 'I suffer' (O.H.G. leid O.Icel. leid-r 'painful, paining, hated') probably orig. (pr. Germ.) li-pō* and connected with O.H.G. lēwes 'alas' (stem lai-wa-*). Goth. hul-da 'I protect, guard' O.H.G. haltu 'I hold, guard' ground-form kī-tō*, cp. Gr. βου-κόλο-ς 'cowherd'. Goth. fra-gilda 'I repay' O.H.G. giltu 'I pay back, give equivalent, offer', pr. Germ. zel-pō* (if we follow the indications given by O.Swed. giälla as compared with O.Icel. gjalda, we must accent the root), akin to Gr. ὤ-φειλο-ν ὀ-φλεῖν, $\sqrt{ghel}$ -. Goth. us-alþan-s 'obsolete' and O.Icel. aldenn 'grown old' point to al-þa- as the verbal stem, cp. O.H.G. al-t 'old', beside Goth. a-la 'I grow up'. The ending of a few onomatopoeic verbs, as Goth. kriusta 'I crunch' (krust-s 'a crunching'), O.Icel. gnest 'I crack', seems to be of the same sort as that of O.H.G. bristu O.Icel. brest (O.H.G. brastōn 'to crack, crackle'); compare the Mid.H.G. weak verb krīsten 'groan with pain or exertion' beside krīzen Mid.Dutch criten 'groan, shriek' (-st- is not for -tt-).

Remark 1. O.H.G. wīsu 'I shun', which is connected with Lat. vītō, and which Kluge assign to this class (Paul-Braune's Beitr. ix 152), seems more likely to be of the so-class. See § 664 p. 197.

Extended by an i-suffix: Goth. faúrh-tja O.H.G. furiht(i)u 'I fear' (pret. forah-ta), whence the adj., originally participle, faúrh-t-s O.H.G. foraht 'afearred, afraid'.

The suffixal ending -ntō is common in Germanic: Goth. standa O.H.G. stantu 'I stand' ✓ stā-, Goth. vinda O.H.G. wintu 'I wind or twist' ✓ uei-, O.H.G. swintu 'I disappear' beside O.H.G. swī-nu. The forms pret. stōþ and pres. gavida make it probable that the nasal is due to the analogy of Class XVI. For the word swintu, but for no others, we have some ground for assuming that a no-present (Class XIII) has been extended by -to-. See § 634 p. 172, and compare Lith. siuncziù § 686, O.C.Sl. ob-ręsta § 687.

Remark 2. Osthoff's view is that the Idg. had a simple suffix -net- -nt-, which is preserved in the above named Germanic words and in others. This to my mind carries no conviction with it. (See, for Osthoff's arguments, Zeitschr. deutsch. Phil., xxiv 215 ff., and Anzeiger für idg. Spr. und Altertumskunde, i 83.)

§ 686.¹⁾ Balto-Slavonic. In Lithuanian (and Lettic) are numerous present stems in -stu and -sztu with intransitive and inchoative meaning. -stu arose in roots or stems ending in a dental explosive or s, and -sztu in roots with final palatal explosive. virš-tù 'I fall down', pret. virt-aũ. blīs-ta 'evening draws on', pret. blind-o. girs-tù 'I get to hear' pret. gird-aũ. ges-tù 'I am quenched, go out', pret. ges-aũ.¹⁾ tīs-tù 'I stretch, lengthen myself', pret. tīs-aũ (cp. tē-s-iũ § 657 p. 191, § 665 p. 197). lúsz-tu 'I break' intr., pret. lúž-au. -sztu may also come from -stu by the influence of preceding r, as in mirsz-tù 'I forget' pret. mirsz-aũ, beside Skr. marš- (I § 587.1 p. 442).

1) The Lithuanian and Lettic verbs in -tu are very neatly explained by Johansson (Kuhn's Zeitschr. xxxii 507 ff.) as derived from middle forms of the 3rd sing. in -s-to; e. g. 3rd sing. rimsta for rṃs-to*, op. Skr. s-aor. d-ra-s-ta; perhaps also forms with no s, as viřsta = uřt-to*, op. Skr. á-ṛt-ran. When the injunctive rimsta viřsta had come to be looked on as parallel to bęga sũka (see § 999. 2), the forms rimstu viřstũ were coined on the analogy of bęgu sukũ, and so forth.

Verbs in -stu were the starting point for many new formations, as kił-stu 'I raise myself', pret. kił-aũ; styr-stù 'I stiffen', pret. styr-aũ; pa-žī-stu 'I know', pret. pa-žinaũ; rūk-stu 'I grow sour, ferment', pret. rúg-au; džiū-stu 'I grow dry, wither', pret. džiūv-au inf. džiū-ti. New forms in -sztu; mīr-sztu 'I die', pret. mir-iaũ, cp. Gr. ἐ-μορ-τεν § 682 p. 213.

Often the stems which serve as groundwork for these words already have present formative suffixes; e. g. tvī-stu 'I swell out' (pret. tvīn-aũ) derived from tv-inu*, see § 624 p. 161; jūnk-stu 'I grow accustomed' (pret. jūnkau) from junku* akin to Skr. uc-ya-ti, vīs-tù 'I increase, grow larger' from vinsu* cp. pret. vis-aũ, see § 635 p. 173; aūsz-ta 'day dawns' from a sko-present ausza* connected with Skr. uchá-ti, see § 677 p. 210.

Denominatives too were formed in this class. gelstù 'I grow yellow' pret. geltaũ from gel̃ta-s 'yellow', karstù 'I grow bitter' pret. kartaũ from kartù-s 'bitter', brankstù 'I grow dear' pret. branguũ from brañgù-s 'dear', žūstu 'I fish' pret. žuvaũ from žuv-ì-s 'a fish'. Compare § 793.

Remark 1. Bezenberger (Beitr. IX 336) and Wiedemann (Lit. Prät., 60) deny that the Lithuanian to-present series is connected with those of the other Idg. languages. It certainly is queer that only one Lith. to-present has cognates in other languages, namely mirsztu 'I die', which comes from the same root as Gr. ἐ-μορτε-ν; and this comparison is a very precarious foundation for any theory.

1) Parallel stem, dial. gistu. The i in this and similar forms (see Wiedemann, Lit. Prät., 8) I regard as a re-formation on the analogy of Lith. roots such as gris- glib- (beside gres- gleb-) with ri li = r l. Similarly O.C.Sl. tīci etc. following rīci, § 534 p. 96.

siuncziū 'I send' (inf. siūsti) doubtless instead of siuntu* like jūng-iu instead of jung-u* etc.; and if this word be connected with Skr. sāv-a-ti suv-ā-ti 'sets in motion, drives, sends' (Wiedemann, Lit. Prät., 84) we should have in su-n-tō* a present like Goth. vi-n-da § 685 p. 216.

Remark 2. The 3rd sing. ēi-t(i) 'goes' lēkt-(i) 'remains' mēk-t(i) 'sleeps' sēs-t(i) 'sits' (§ 511, pp. 76 f.), gave rise to the dialectic forms Lith. eitū eiti eitam ēitat, lēktiū mēktiū sēstu, and so forth, and similarly, in Lettic, 1st pl. ītam follows t-t 'goes' (Bezzenberger in his Beitr. ix 334 ff.). This re-formation, which has an exact parallel in Keltic (§ 506 p. 72), was in some degree due to the to-present stems: -t(i) and -t(a) were regarded as the same in structure.

§ 687. O.C.Sl. čī-tq, m-e-tq, pl-e-tq, see § 680 p. 212. rastq 'I grow' inf. rasti (rastū 'growth', rastī 'usury, interest') for rād + tq*, cp. rodū 'birth'. Mention should also be made of ob-rētū 'I found', if this is to be connected with rējā 'I knock'; to this the present -rēštq (§ 636 p. 174) would have just the same kind of relation as Goth. sta-n-da to stōþ (§ 685 p. 216).

H. CLASS XXV.

Root + -dho- and -do- forming the Present Stem.

§ 688. Although under certain circumstances dh could become d in the parent language (I § 469. 8 p.), that is not the reason why I class -dho- and -do- together now. It is not that I regard them as being always variants of the same suffix; but simply because in some languages dh and d ran together and became indistinguishable, which makes it often quite impossible to say which of the two is used with a given form.

The dh-suffix which we see in forms like Gr. βῆ-θω πῶ-θω πλῆ-θω φλεγέ-θω has often been derived from $\sqrt{dhē}$ 'place, do' (Skr. dādha-ti etc.), this being deduced from other compounds of this root, both old and new, about which there can be no doubt, as sue-dhē- *sue-dhē- sue-dhē- 'make one's own' in Skr. sua-dhā 'custom, wont' Gr. ἔ-θ-ων 'consuetus' ἔ-θ-ος ἥ-θ-

-oṣ śō-ṣ-a, Skr. śrād-dadhāmi 'I believe, trust' Lat. crēdō O.Ir. cretim (II § 4 p. 9, § 160.1 p. 479), Avest. yaož-dāiti yaož-daḍaiti 'makes something right, purifies' from yaoš = Skr. yōš 'weal, luck, happiness'. This may indeed be the real origin of all such stems. The consonant which began the second part of the compound stem became practically the 'root-ending' in βρῖθω βέβρῖθα, very much in the same way as the p in gōp-a-ti jū-gōp-a gōp-sya-ti etc. from gō-pā- gō-p-ā-.

Just so the suffix -d- may sometimes be the $\sqrt{dō}$ -, which in addition to its meaning 'give' had other meanings like those of dhē- (Osthoff, Perf. p. 237), cp. I § 404 pp. 298 f., on Skr. mṛdā-ti pr. Ar. mṛž-da-ti*.

The thematic stems in -o- (-dho-, -do-) were originally not the only ones which contained these additional suffixes. But although not the only stems, thematic stems were commonest of all in this connexion, and without doubt this was generally true in the original language. We shall have occasion to point this out when we find other stems parallel to those in -o-.

§ 689. Pr. Idg. *-dho-.*¹⁾ $\sqrt{yel}$ - 'to wish, rule' (Lat. vel-le O.Ir. flaith 'lordship'): Goth. val-da 'I have power, rule', O.C.Sl. vla-da 'I have power, rule' (for vol-da*), both for $\sqrt{el}$ -dh-, cp. Lith. val-d-aũ; parallel stem Lith. vel-du 'I rule' pa-vél-du 'I inherit' (Pruss. weldūnai pl. 'heritages'). From sger-dh-*, beside Lith. skiř-ti 'to sever, part': O.H.G. scrintu 'I burst, am shattered' by transfer to Class XVI (§ 634 p. 171), Lith. skėrdžiu 'I burst, or blow up', which is derived from a form sker-du* (§ 765). From the root of Skr. yu- 'to mix, stir, disturb': Skr. yō-dha-ti 'gets in motion' (yúdh-ya-tē,

1) Per Persson, in his Wurzelerw., pages 35 ff., sees the determinative dh and d in many instances besides those for which they are here assumed. Some of these are words in which dh or d is taken in this book to be part of the root proper; e. g. Skr. gṛdh-ya-ti, which he derives from the root of O.H.G. ger 'desiring', and Gr. μέδω Goth. mita, which he derives from $\sqrt{mē}$ - 'measure'. For a new discussion of forms with determinative d see Johansson, Idg. Forsch. II 42 ff., and 46 ff.

O.Sax. mildi 'mild, gracious, gentle', so that it is impossible to decide whether -dh- or -d- is contained in O.Ir. meldach 'acceptus, gratus', Lith. meldžiū 'I beg', O.C.Sl. mladŭ 'tender'. Connected with Lat. sāl sal-is: Lat. sallō for sal-dō* (I § 369 p. 280), Goth. sal-ta 'I salt'. √ gheu- 'pour' (Gr. χέω χύ-τρεα): Lat. fundō (perf. fūdī) conjugated in Class XVI (§ 632 p. 169),¹⁾ Goth. giuta O.H.G. giuzu 'I pour'. √ pleu- 'float, swim' (Gr. πλέ(φ)ω): O.H.G. fliuzu O.Icel. flýt 'I flow', Lith. plaudžiū 'I wash, purify' (inf. plaušti), pludžiū 'I chatter' (inf. plūsti), plūstu 'I begin to swim, get swimming' (pret. plūdaŭ), cp. O.Ir. do-lod-sa 'ivī' 3rd sing. do-luid § 697. √ spreu- (Lett. sprau-jū-s 'I rise, spring up', of seed): Mid.H.G. spriuze A.S. sprūte 'I sprout' (A.S. spreót 'stalk, shaft' O.H.G. spriuza 'prop, pillar' O.H.G. sprozzo 'sprout'), Lith. spráudžiū 'I push forcibly into a narrow space, press' (inf. spráusti) sprústu 'I push my way out of a holdfast or fix, get out' (pret. sprúdaŭ). With Lat. clāv-i-s: clau-dō, compare O.Fris. slūte (for sklūt-*) 'I close' (O.H.G. sliuzu is doubtless slūzu* transformed by analogy).

Following the same lines of reasoming, I derive Skr. svāda-tē Gr. ῥδε-ται from suā-de-tai* 'enjoys with gusto', and Skr. svāda-ti Gr. ῥδανό-ς 'suavis' from su-e-de-ti* (cp. Skr. mr-a-da-ti above); these forms are obviously akin, and I can see no other way of bringing them together.

§ 691. Aryan. (1.) -dho-. Skr. yō-dha-ti, á-rā-dha-t, dó-dhat-, see § 689. Skr. á-kru-dha-t 'got angry' (krúdh-ya-ti), Avest. xrao-da-itī 'is anxious', √ greu- Skr. krū-rá-s 'coarse, rough, terrible, gruesome'. Avest. a-rao-đa-p 'flowed' (raođaye-itī) from sreu- Skr. sráv-a-ti (r- = sr-*, cp. O.Pers. rauta- I § 558.3 p. 414), cp. Skr. vi-srúh- 'stream, body of water' (-h- = -dh-, I § 480 p. 354), Gr. ῥυθ-μός-ς. Skr. srē-dha-ti 'he goes wrong', beside a-srēmán- 'without error, faultless'. Skr. sádha-ti 'gets to the goal, puts in order' may be derived from √ sē- (Skr. sā- 'to bring to an end, conclude' vy-ava-sāmi

§ 692. (2.) -do-. Skr. kūr-da-ti, mr-a-da-ti, svā-da-ti sv-ā-da-ti, see § 690 p. 220. Skr. tar-da-ti (gramm.) 'pierces, splits, opens' (trṇāt-ti), akin to tār-a-ti 'traverses', cp. Lith. trėndu 'I am eaten of worms or moths' § 637 p. 174 and tridė 'diarrhoea' pra-trýstu 'I fall ill of diarrhoea' (pret. -trýdau).¹⁾ Skr. khā-da-ti 'bites to pieces, chews' beside khán-a-ti 'digs, grubs'. Skr. mṛdā-ti 'is gracious, pardons' for mṛṣ-ḍa-*,²⁾ cp. Avest. mer'ždika- n. 'grace, pardon', either from the root of merḡ- 'wipe off' Skr. mṛjā-ti 'wipes off, purifies of guilt', or from that of Skr. mṛṣ-ya-tē 'forgets' Lith. mirsz-ti 'to forget' (cp. Lith. už-mirsz-dinu -mirždinu 'I cause to forget'). Skr. īda-tē 'honours, praises, prays to' (īṭ-tē) for iṣ-ḍa-tai*, either connected with yāj-a-ti 'honours, reverences, offers' partic. iṣ-tā-s Gr. ἄγ-ιο-ς 'honourable, sacred', or with Lat. aes-tumāre Goth. áis-tan weak verb 'to revere, observe, have regard for' O.H.G. ēr-a 'honour'; it should be remarked that the Gothic verb may be derived from Idg. aij-d-* or from Idg. ais-t-*, either one or the other. Avest. xraoṣ-da-iti 'hardens' (xruṣd-ra- 'hard') beside Gr. κρυό-ταινω 'I make to freeze', in which s is itself an extension (§ 664 p. 197); perhaps from the same root, Skr. krādaya-ti 'makes thick' krōḍá-s 'breast, boar'. Lastly, we are doubtless right to add Skr. hṛḍa-māna-s hīḍa-māna-s 'being angry with some one, hostile' Avest. zōiḍda- 'ugly, disagreeable, αἰσχροός'.³⁾

§ 693. 3. -dho- or -do-, uncertain which. To this place belong Avestic verbs. syaz-da-iti 'gives place, disappears', cp.

1) y in -trýstu is not original. By analogy of i-roots were formed trėdėiu 'I have diarrhoea' traidinū 'I excrete diarrhoea'.

2) More exactly mṛdā-ti, answering to liḍhā- for liṣḍhā-* (I § 404 pp. 298 f.). The long ṛ is certain from the metre; see Benfey, Vedica und Verwandtes, pp. 1 ff., Oldenberg, Die Hymnen des Rig-Veda, I 477.

3) The unextended root is not really contained in Lith. pa-žeida 'insult, wound' (cp. Zubatý, Bezz. Beitr. xvii 327); this is against the known laws, see I § 476 p. 351 f., and Burg in Kuhn's Zeitschr. xxix 363.

siḍḍye-iti siḍḍye-iti 'drives away', seems to be akin to Skr. śiṣ- 'to be over, left behind' (śinās-ti śeṣ-aya-ti). vōiḥ-da-iti 'hurls, throws against something', perhaps connected with O.C.Sl. vich-rŭ 'whirlwind' Russ. vichatŭ 'shatter, agitate'.¹⁾ avanauhab-da-itē 'falls asleep', from Ar. suap- 'to sleep' (I § 159 pp. 141 f.). sna-dā-iti 'washes', beside Skr. snā-ti.

ἔσχ-ε-θo-ν 'I held', beside ἔσχ-ε-ς ✓ segh-. κατα-βλ-έ-θει καταπίνει Hesych., beside O.Ir. gelid 'consumit' O.H.G. chela 'throat'. φλεγ-έ-θω 'I burn', beside φλέγ-ω. νεμ-έ-θo-μαι 'I pasture', beside νέμo-μαι. τελ-έ-θω 'I am', beside τέλλω.

Here perhaps should come γῆθομαι Dor. γάθομαι (perf. γέγηθα γέγαθα) and γηθέω 'I enjoy, am pleased', for γᾱf-α-θ-*, beside γαίω 'I take pleasure' for γαf-ιω* and γαυ-ρο-ς 'proud': Lat. gaudeō for gāvideō* (I § 612 p. 462), — observe that gāvīsus seems to imitate vīsu-s, which would show it to have been formed at some time when there was a present gāvideō* still in use; as regards the ending -εω -εῶ, see § 801.

μῖ-νύ-θω 'minuo' beside Skr. mi-nō-mi, φθι-νύ-θω 'I destroy' beside φθίνω φθίνω for *φθι-νφ-ω Skr. kṣi-nō-mi, see § 639 p. 177, § 652 p. 186.

βαρύ-θω 'I am weighted' beside βαρύνω βαρύν-ς, cp. end of § 611.

Goth. val-da O.C.Sl. vla-da Lith. vel-du with -dho- § 689 p. 219. ἔ-φλα-δο-ν 'I popped, burst', beside Skr. phal-a-ti 'bursts' or beside φλ-αίνω § 621 p. 158. ἔ-φλι-δε-ν διέρρεεν Hesych. (φλιδ-άνει Hesych., φλιδῆ 'superfluity, abundance') beside Φλίās (Curtius, Gr. Etym.⁵ 301). τένω 'I gnaw', doubtless for τεμ-δω* and connected with τέμ-νω; cp. Lat. tondeō.

-δ- is very common in other formations, both in verbs and nouns. We may mention further κρα-δ-ᾶω κόρ-δ-ᾶξ and ἀμαλ-δ-ένω βλα-δ-αρό-ς § 690 p. 220. Other examples: κλα-δ-άσαι· σεῖσαι Hesych., beside ἀπο-κλάς κλη-ρο-ς 'lot' (a chip or piece of wood, or other substance, broken off): Lat. per-cellō for cel-d-ō* § 696. ἐ-ρρά-δ-αται, ῥάσσετε for ῥάδ+σα-τε*, beside ῥαίνω 'I sprinkle' § 621 p. 159. κε-χλιδ-ύτ-α· ἀνθοῦντα Hesych., χλιδῆ 'softness, luxuriance, wantonness', δια-κεχλοιδώς· διυρρέων ὑπὸ τρυφῆς, from χλίω 'I am soft, effeminate'. μει-δ-άω 'I smile' φιλο-μμειδής, akin to Skr. smáy-a-tē: cp. Lett. smai-da 'a smile' smī-dinā-t smī-dinī-t 'to make laugh'. κλύζω 'I flood' for κλυ-δ-ιω*, κλύ-δ-ων 'wave': Goth. hlū-t-r-s 'pure, clean', connected with O.Lat. cluere 'purgare' and cloāca. ἔκ-φλύζω 'I break out' (of a sore or abscess) for φλυ-δ-ιω*, beside ἐκ-φλύω.

§ 696. Italic. (1.) -dh- in Lat. ju-b-eō, see § 689 p. 220, and probably gaudeō for gāvideō*, see § 694 p. 223.

(2.) -d- in sallō for sal-dō*, fundō fūdī, clau-dō, see § 690 p. 221. per-cellō for cel-dō* from the same root as clad-ēs (I § 306 p. 243), and connected with Gr. κλα-δ- κλα-, see § 695.

cū-dō, once also cau-dō* (Conway, Verner's Law in Italy, p. 72), connected with Lith. kāu-ju 'I strike, forge, fight' O.C.Sl. kov-a 'I forge'.

(3.) -dho- or -do- (doubtful). frendō beside fremō (cf. Osthoff, M. U. v 94 f.), perhaps for fremidō*. caedō, according to Holthausen, P.-B. Beitr. xi 554 f., connected with Mid.Dutch heie 'hammering block' heien 'to strike, ram, stamp' Mid.H.G. heie f. 'mallet, wooden hammer'. Other possible forms are tendō from $\sqrt{\text{ten-}}$, see § 564 p. 111, and dē-fendō of-fendō, which may be connected with Gr. $\theta\epsilon\iota\omega$, and come from $\sqrt{\text{ghen-}}$ (is fēnu-m 'hay' for fen-sno-* or fend+sno-*, meaning 'something cut'?)¹)

§ 697. Keltic. -d- is perhaps the suffix of do-lod-sa 'ivi' beside luath luad 'quick, fleeting', beside O.H.G. fliu-zu § 690 p. 221 (so Zimmer, Kuhn's Zeitschr. xxx 215 f.).

§ 698. Germanic. (1.) -dho-. Goth. val-da O.H.G. waltu 'I rule, hold sway', O.H.G. scrintu 'I burst, blow up', Goth. ga-rēda 'I reflect upon, meditate' O.H.G. rā-tu 'I advise', A.S. hla-de 'I load', see § 689 p. 220. O.Icel. bregð 'I set moving quickly, I swing' A.S. bregde 'I swing, throb' O.H.G. brittu 'I swing, throb' (for -tt- see Braune, Ahd. Gr.² § 164 Anm. 2 p. 135) doubtless for bhregð-* -dhō, beside O.C.Sl. brъz-ŭ 'quick' brъz-ati 'to run quickly'; in Kluge's view of the treatment of pr. Idg. med. asp. + tenuis (Paul-Braune's Beitr. ix 152 f., Paul's Grundr. i 327), another possible ground-form would be bhregð+to* (Class XXIV).

1) If -fendō should be connected with Skr. bādha-tē 'compels, oppresses', the latter must be kept distinct from Skr. vadh- Avest. vaδ- (Gr. $\omega\theta\epsilon\omega$). -fendō, which may have once been -fandō*, would then belong to Class XVI § 632. Yet another explanation is given by Fick, Wtb. i⁴ 463, who compares O.Icel. detta 'to fall down'. Conway, Class. Review v 297, explains tendo -fendō as being for ten-ixō* ghen-ixō* = Gr. $\tau\epsilon\iota\omega$ $\theta\epsilon\iota\omega$.

sluizu 'I shut', see § 690 pp. 220 f. O.Sax. writu O.H.G. rīzu 'I tear, wound, write', cp. Gr. ῥῖ-ρη 'file, rasp' ῥῖ-νό-ς 'hide still on the body' (but δέκου from δέγω). O.Icel. vel-t 'I roll' trans. O.H.G. walzu 'I roll, turn myself', the latter for u̯l-dō*, beside Lith. vėl-ti 'to full, mill' Lett. wėl-t 'to roll, full, mill', compare Lith. vėl-d-inu 'I have something fullled or milled'. Goth. svil-ta 'I die slowly away', O.H.G. swilzu 'I am devoured by fire, I spend myself in coitu, pine away', O.Icel. svelt 'I hunger', beside A.S. swelan 'to smoulder, burn slowly and glow': cp. Lith. svil-d-inu 'I get something singed'. O.H.G. sciu-zu O.Icel. skýt 'I shoot': Lith. szau-d-ỹ-klė 'shuttle' száu-d-au 'I shoot or move again and again' száu-d-inu (causal of the last) Lett. schau-d-e-kli-s 'spooler bobbin' schau-d-r-s 'hasty, hot', beside Lith. száu-ju 'I shoot'. O.H.G. glī-zu O.Sax. glītu 'I gleam, shine', akin to O.Sax. glī-mo 'a gleam or sheen, a brightness'. O.H.G. wā-zu 'I blow' ground-form u̯ē-dō*, connected with O.H.G. wā-u 'I blow' Skr. vā-ti: cp. Lith. vė-d-inù 'I expose to the air, I air'. According Fick Wtb. 1⁴ 539 f., O.H.G. lazu Goth. lēta 'I let', with which we have connected Gr. ληδίζν (§ 521 p. 85), would come from ✓lē-.

§ 700. Balto-Slavonic. When Balto-Slavonic -do- comes from Idg. -dh-o-, and when from Idg. -do-, can only be made out by help of the cognate languages.

(1.) -dho-. Lith. vel-du 'I rule' O.C.Sl. vla-dq 'I rule, hold sway', Lith. skėrdžiu 'I burst' instead of earlier sker-du*, Lith. ju-dù 'I move trembling' jundù 'I begin to move all a-tremble', O.C.Sl. ra-d-iti 'to meditate or reflect upon', see § 689 p. 219. Lith. gìr-d-inu gér-d-inu gìr-d-au 'I give to drink', pú-d-inu pú-d-au 'I cause to rot' Lett. pa-púde 'fallow land', see § 694 p. 223. With Lith. ĩ-stó-d-in-ti 'to give admittance to' Lett. stá-d-i-t 'to set, place, plant' stá-d-s 'a plant' we may compare Gr. στα-θ-ερό-ς 'standing firmly' στα-θ-μός-ς 'standing place'. O.C.Sl. i-dq 'I go' (inf. i-ti) may be closely connected with Gr. ĩ-θ-μα 'course, way, step'.

(2.) -do-. Lith. plau-d-žiu 'I wash, purify' plu-d-žiu 'I chatter' plústu 'I begin to swim' pláu-d-in-ti 'I cause to be rinsed' Lett. plū-d-inā-t 'I make overflow', Lith. sprāu-d-žiu 'I compel' sprūstu 'I rush out of a narrow place', see § 690 p. 221. Lett. smāi-da 'a smile' smī-d-inā-t 'to make laugh', see § 695 p. 224. Lith. vél-d-inu 'I cause to be milled or full', svil-dinu 'I cause to be singed', szau-d-ỹ-klė 'shuttle' Lett. schau-d-r-s 'hot, hasty', Lith. vė-d-inù 'I air', see § 699 p. 226.

Some of these distinctions between orig. -dh- and -d-, made by help of other languages, are naturally very little to be trusted. As -d-ina- was a very fertile suffix in both Lettic and Lithuanian, there need be no very real connexion between such endings as those of svil-dinu and Goth. svil-ta.

§ 701. (3.) In many instances it is quite impossible to distinguish between orig. -dho- and -do-.

On the doubtful points in the explanation of Lith. mel-d-žiu 'I beg' O.C.Sl. mła-dũ 'tender', see § 690, p. 220.

Lith. vér-du 'I boil' pret. vir-iaũ inf. vir-ti. mér-d-žiu and mér-d-mi 'I lie a-dying' (inf. mér-d-ė-ti), from miř-ti 'to die' (Lat. morbu-s for mor-dho-s*?). Lett. e'rfchu 'I separate' for er-d-ju* (pret. e'rdu inf. e'rst), beside Lith. yr-ù 'I separate, myself, set myself free'. Lith. skél-du and skél-d-žiu 'I split, burst' intrans. (inf. skél-d-ė-ti), skél-d-in-ti 'to make or cause to be split', from skelù, i. e. skel-žù* 'I split' (inf. skél-ti).¹⁾ Lith. grimstù 'I sink' pret. grimzdaũ inf. griĩsti, beside Lett. gri'mstu grimu gri'mt, points to a pres. grem-du* or grim-du*; and Lett. gi'nstu 'I perish' pret. gi'ndu inf. gi'n-t to a present gin-du*. Lith. sru-d-žiu 'I make bloody' (inf. srusti) beside pa-srùv-o 3rd sing. 'flowed'. Lith. gě-du 'I sing' and gě-d-mi (3rd sing. gěsti), cp. gaĩda-s 'singer' gaidỹ-s 'cock', akin to Skr. gāya-ti 'sings' gē-ṣṇú-ṣ gē-ṣṇa-s 'singer' (cp. Per Persson, op. cit., 117, 197).

From the series containing -dho- and -do- were formed a large class of Lith.-Lett. Causals and Frequentatives, ending in (Lith.) -d-inu inf. -d-inti, and in (Lith.) -d-au inf. -d-y-ti. Many

1) Per Persson (Wurzelerweiterung, 38) connects skėldėti with Gr. κλαδίσαι, Lat. per-cellō (§ 695 p. 224). If so, its d would come from Idg. d.

Lith. trėndu 'I am eaten of worms or moths' § 637 p. 174 and trėdė 'diarrhoea' pra-trýstu 'I fall ill of diarrhoea' (pret. -trýdau).¹⁾ Skr. khā-da-ti 'bites to pieces, chews' beside khān-a-ti 'digs, grubs'. Skr. mṛdā-ti 'is gracious, pardons' for mṛṣ-ḍa-*,²⁾ cp. Avest. mer'ždika- n. 'grace, pardon', either from the root of merḡ- 'wipe off' Skr. mṛjā-ti 'wipes off, purifies of guilt', or from that of Skr. mṛṣ-ya-tē 'forgets' Lith. mirsz-ti 'to forget' (cp. Lith. už-mirsz-dinu -mirždinu 'I cause to forget'). Skr. īda-tē 'honours, praises, prays to' (īṣ-tē) for iṣ-ḍa-tai*, either connected with yāj-a-ti 'honours, reverences, offers' partic. iṣ-ṭā-s Gr. ἄγ-ιος 'honourable, sacred', or with Lat. aes-tumāre Goth. āis-tan weak verb 'to revere, observe, have regard for' O.H.G. ēr-a 'honour'; it should be remarked that the Gothic verb may be derived from Idg. aiṣ-d-* or from Idg. aiṣ-t-*, either one or the other. Avest. xraoṣ-da-iti 'hardens' (xruṣd-ra- 'hard') beside Gr. κρυο-ταίνω 'I make to freeze', in which s is itself an extension (§ 664 p. 197); perhaps from the same root, Skr. krūḍaya-ti 'makes thick' krōḍā-s 'breast, boar'. Lastly, we are doubtless right to add Skr. hṛḍa-māna-s hīḍa-māna-s 'being angry with some one, hostile' Avest. zōiḥda- 'ugly, disagreeable, αἰσχροός'.³⁾

§ 693. 3. -dho- or -do-, uncertain which. To this place belong Avestic verbs. syaz-da-iti 'gives place, disappears', cp.

1) y in -trýstu is not original. By analogy of i-roots were formed trėdžiu 'I have diarrhoea' traidinū 'I exoite diarrhoea'.

2) More exactly mṛdā-ti, answering to liḍhā- for liṣḍhā-* (I § 404 pp. 298 f.). The long ṛ is certain from the metre; see Benfey, Vedica und Verwandtes, pp. 1 ff., Oldenberg, Die Hymnen des Rig-Veda, I 477.

3) The unextended root is not really contained in Lith. pa-žeida 'insult, wound' (cp. Zubaty, Bezz. Beitr. xvii 327); this is against the known laws, see I § 476 p. 351 f., and Burg in Kuhn's Zeitschr. xxix 363.

siḍḍye-iti siḍḍye-iti 'drives away', seems to be akin to Skr. śiṣ- 'to be over, left behind' (śinās-ti śēṣ-aya-ti). vōiḥ-da-iti 'hurls, throws against something', perhaps connected with O.C.Sl. vich-rŭ 'whirlwind' Russ. vichati 'shatter, agitate'.¹⁾ avanuhab-da-itē 'falls asleep', from Ar. ḡap- 'to sleep' (I § 159 pp. 141 f.). snā-ḍa-iti 'washes', beside Skr. snā-ti.

§ 694. Greek. (1.) -dho-. ἐ-δρα-θo-ν ἔ-δαρ-θo-ν 'I slept' (pres. δαρ-θ-άνω § 621 p. 158), beside Lat. dor-miō Skr. dr-a-ti. Lith. gŭr-d-inu gér-d-inu 'I give to drink' (ger-iù 'I drink'). ἦλν-θo-ν 'I came', beside προσ-ἦλν-το-ς perf. 2nd pl. ἐλήλν-τε. ἐρέχ-θω 'I pull to and fro, tear, hurl', doubtless akin to O.H.G. ruc 'jerk, jolt, sudden change of place'. ἔσθω 'esse' (ἐσθ-ίω §§ 713, 765) beside ἔθ-ω. ἄχ-θo-μαι 'I am galled or wearied by burdens', beside ἄχ-νν-μαι. πλή-θω 'I am full', beside πίμ-πλη-μι. κνή-θω 'I shave, rub, scratch', beside κνή (§ 737). πύ-θω 'I make rot' (perf. πέπῦθα), beside πύo-ν 'pus': Lith. pŭ-d-inu pŭ-d-au 'I make rot' Lett. pa-pŭ-d-e 'fallow field' beside pāv-ŭ 'I make rotten'. βρί-θω 'I weigh, press hard upon' (perf. βέβριθω), beside βριαρό-ς βαρ-ύ-ς.

ἔσχ-s-θo-ν 'I held', beside ἔσχ-ε-ς ✓ segh-. κατα-βλ-έ-θαι καταπίνει Hesych., beside O.Ir. gelid 'consumit' O.H.G. chela 'throat'. φλεγ-έ-θω 'I burn', beside φλέγ-ω. νεμ-έ-θo-μαι 'I pasture', beside νέμ-o-μαι. τελ-έ-θω 'I am', beside τέλλω.

Here perhaps should come γῆθoμαι Dor. γάθoμαι (perf. γέγηθα γέγαθα) and γηθέω 'I enjoy, am pleased', for γαf-α-θ-*, beside γαίω 'I take pleasure' for γαf-μω* and γαῦ-ρο-ς 'proud': Lat. gaudeō for gāvideō* (I § 612 p. 462), — observe that gāvīsus seems to imitate vīsu-s, which would show

O.Icel. vel-t 'I roll' trans. O.H.G. walzu 'I roll, turn myself', the latter for uſ-dō*, beside Lith. vél-ti 'to full, mill' Lett. wél-t 'to roll, full, mill', compare Lith. vél-d-inu 'I have something fulled or milled'. Goth. svil-ta 'I die slowly away', O.H.G. swilzu 'I am devoured by fire, I spend myself in coitu, pine away', O.Icel. svelt 'I hunger', beside A.S. swelan 'to smoulder, burn slowly and glow': cp. Lith. svil-d-inu 'I get something singed'. O.H.G. sciu-zu O.Icel. skjft 'I shoot': Lith. szau-d-ỹ-klė 'shuttle' száu-d-au 'I shoot or move again and again' száu-d-inu (causal of the last) Lett. schau-d-e-kli-s 'spooler bobbin' schau-d-r-s 'hasty, hot', beside Lith. száu-ju 'I shoot'. O.H.G. glī-zu O.Sax. glitu 'I gleam, shine', akin to O.Sax. glī-mo 'a gleam or sheen, a brightness'. O.H.G. wā-zu 'I blow' ground-form uē-dō*, connected with O.H.G. wā-u 'I blow' Skr. vā-ti: cp. Lith. vė-d-inù 'I expose to the air, I air'. According Fick Wtb. 1⁴ 539 f., O.H.G. lazu Goth. lēta 'I let', with which we have connected Gr. ληδεῖν (§ 521 p. 85), would come from ✓lē-.

§ 700. Balto-Slavonic. When Balto-Slavonic -do- comes from Idg. -dh-o-, and when from Idg. -do-, can only be made out by help of the cognate languages.

(1.) -dho-. Lith. vel-du 'I rule' O.C.Sl. vla-dq 'I rule, hold sway', Lith. skėrdžiu 'I burst' instead of earlier sker-du*, Lith. ju-dù 'I move trembling' jundù 'I begin to move all a-tremble', O.C.Sl. ra-d-iti 'to meditate or reflect upon', see § 689 p. 219. Lith. gìr-d-inu gér-d-inu gìr-d-au 'I give to drink', pú-d-inu pú-d-au 'I cause to rot' Lett. pa-púde 'fallow land', see § 694 p. 223. With Lith. ĩ-stó-d-in-ti 'to give admittance to' Lett. stá-d-i-t 'to set, place, plant' stá-d-s 'a plant' we may compare Gr. στα-θ-ερό-ς 'standing firmly' στα-θ-μό-ς 'standing place'. O.C.Sl. i-dq 'I go' (inf. i-ti) may be closely connected with Gr. ἵ-θ-μα 'course, way, step'.

(2.) -do-. Lith. plau-d-žiu 'I wash, purify' plu-d-žiu 'I chatter' plūstu 'I begin to swim' pláu-d-in-ti 'I cause to be rinsed' Lett. plū-d-ind-t 'I make overflow', Lith. spráu-d-žiu 'I compel' sprūstu 'I rush out of a narrow place', see § 690 p. 221. Lett. smāi-da 'a smile' smī-d-ind-t 'to make laugh', see § 695 p. 224. Lith. vėl-d-inu 'I cause to be milled or fulled', svl-dinu 'I cause to be singed', szau-d-ỹ-klē 'shuttle' Lett. schau-d-r-s 'hot, hasty', Lith. vė-d-inù 'I air', see § 699 p. 226.

Some of these distinctions between orig. -dh- and -d-, made by help of other languages, are naturally very little to be trusted. As -d-ina- was a very fertile suffix in both Lettic and Lithuanian, there need be no very real connexion between such endings as those of svl-dinu and Goth. svil-ta.

§ 701. (3.) In many instances it is quite impossible to distinguish between orig. -dho- and -do-.

On the doubtful points in the explanation of Lith. mel-d-žiu 'I beg' O.C.Sl. mā-dū 'tender', see § 690, p. 220.

Lith. vēr-du 'I boil' pret. vīr-iaū inf. vīr-ti. mēr-d-žiu and mēr-d-mi 'I lie a-dying' (inf. mēr-d-ē-ti), from mīr-ti 'to die' (Lat. morbu-s for mor-dho-s*?). Lett. e'rfchu 'I separate' for er-d-žiu* (pret. e'rdū inf. e'rst), beside Lith. yr-ù 'I separate, myself, set myself free'. Lith. skėl-du and skėl-d-žiu 'I split, burst' intrans. (inf. skėl-d-ē-ti), skėl-d-in-ti 'to make or cause to be split', from skelù, i. e. skel-žiu* 'I split' (inf. skėl-ti).¹⁾ Lith. grimstù 'I sink' pret. grimzdaū inf. grīmsti, beside Lett. grī'mstu grīmu grī'mt, points to a pres. grem-du* or grim-du*; and Lett. gi'nstu 'I perish' pret. gi'ndū inf. gi'n-t to a present gin-du*. Lith. sru-d-žiu 'I make bloody' (inf. srusti) beside pa-srūv-o 3rd sing. 'flowed'. Lith. gė-du 'I sing' and gė-d-mi (3rd sing. gėsti), cp. gaīda-s 'singer' gaidỹ-s 'cock', akin to Skr. gāya-ti 'sings' gē-ṣṇú-ṣ gē-ṣṇa-s 'singer' (cp. Per Persson, op. cit., 117, 197).

From the series containing -dho- and -do- were formed a large class of Lith.-Lett. Causals and Frequentatives, ending in (Lith.) -d-inu inf. -d-inti, and in (Lith.) -d-au inf. -d-y-ti. Many of these have been cited already. With -d-inu compare Gr. δαρ-θ-άνω beside ἔ-δαρ-θ-ο-ν (§ 694 p. 223), φλι-δ-άνει beside ἔ-φλι-δ-ε-ν (§ 695 p. 224). The verbs in -d-au -d-y-ti, with frequentative meaning, often show a root syllable of the second strong grade (see § 790), as skál-dyti 'to split again and again' from skél-du 'I split myself' skél-dinu 'I cause to be split'.

To the same dental group belongs the partic. II. pres. act. in -dama-s; here the m-suffix is the same as in věža-ma-s fut. věszi-ma-s etc. (II § 72 p. 166), and had the original middle meaning. Therefore the form skél-dama-s, for example, which is now attached to the verb skelù, originally belonged to skél-du skél-d-žiu just as skél-dinu did.

O.C.Sl. ja-dą 'I ride, vehor'¹) beside inf. ja-ch-a-ti (§ 665 p. 198).²) bąda 'fio' may be derived from $\sqrt{bhey-}$, by assuming bhų-ā-dhō* bhų-ā-dō* (cp. Lat. -bam for bhų-ā-m*) or bhū-dhō* bhū-dō*, which got a nasal in Class XVI (§ 637 Rem., p. 176); or even if we suppose that a present boną* for bhų-onō* (Class XIV, § 624 p. 162) was extended by -dhō or -dō (cp. Lith. kaūtin-drinu 'to cause to be heated' derived from kaūt-inu 'I heat').

I. CLASSES XXVI TO XXXI.

PRESENT STEMS WITH -jo-.

§ 702. This suffix appears in the forms -jo- -je- or -ijo- -ije-. Examples of -jo- are Skr. hár-ya-ti, Gr. χαίρω for χαρ-ιω*, Goth. vaurk-ja, Lith. spir-iù sė-ju O.C.Sl. sě-ja. Of -ijo-: Skr. mr-iyá-tē Gr. ἰσθ-ίω, Lat. suf-fio (for dhų-ijō*) farc-iō, O.Ir. b-iu (for bhų-ijō*), A.S. beó (also for bhų-ijō*). We are reminded of -no-: -njo- (§ 596 p. 138); and the same double forms reappear in the noun-suffix -jo- (I § 117 pp. 109 f., § 120 pp. 111 ff., II § 63 pp. 122 ff., III § 194 p. 74)

1) For the initial, cp. Zubatý, Archiv für slav. Phil., xiii 623.

2) The derivation of Ved. yáda-māna-s yádura-s from yā- 'go' (Grassmann, Wörth., s. v. yād) is extremely doubtful.

which must be the same suffix as this of the verbs (compare such stems as Skr. pū-ya-ti 'stinks' pū-ya-m 'ill-smelling discharge, matter', § 487 pp. 41 f.).

Another point in common between the two suffixes is this. In some forms of the verb-system we find a weak grade, -i-, or -ī-. Examples are: -i-, Lat. 2nd sing. *cap-i-s*¹⁾ from cap-iō, O.H.G. 2nd sing. hev-i-s from heffu (= Goth. haf-ja), Lith. 2nd pl. tik-i-te from tik-iū; examples of -ī-, Lat. 2nd sing. farc-ī-s from farc-iō, O.C.Sl. 2nd sing. vel-i-ši from vel-ja.²⁾ This -ī- is not found in the present system of Aryan or Greek; and it is more than chance that these very languages have discarded the weak forms of the same sort from their declension of noun stems with -īo-.

Details as to the Indicative Present will now be given.

Aryan and Greek as a rule have only -īo- and -īe- interchanged, as in the other thematic classes. E. g. Skr. hár-yā-mi hár-ya-si hár-ya-ti etc., like bhár-a-mi bhár-a-si bhár-a-ti;³⁾ Gr. χαίρω χαίρεις χαίρει etc. like φέρω φέρεις, and so forth.

Latin keeps only -īo- and -ī-; e. g. cap-iō -i-s -i-t -i-mus -i-tis -iu-nt, farc-iō -ī-s -i-t (for -ī-t); parallel to farcīs is Umbr. heris 'vis'.

In Keltic the inflexions are not all quite clear. With -īo- we have nothing but the 1st sing. (O.Ir. -lēciu) for certain; and -ī- can be shown in one or two persons (besides the isolated forms Mod.Cymr. imper. bit bint, see § 719); thus no doubt can be felt that there once existed a series of forms with -īo- : -ī-. We see -i- or -ī- in 2nd sing. imper. O.Ir. lēic, 3rd pl. O.Cymr. scamnehgint 'levant' nertheñt 'they strengthen' (= O.Ir. nertaigit*), cp. 3rd sing. istlinnit 'he makes known'

1) The view that cap-i-t comes from cap-īe-ti* (I § 135 p. 122) must be given up.

2) Goth. vaúrkeis (1st sing. vaúrka) can hardly be compared with such forms as Lat. farcīs O.C.Sl. veliši; it is formed on the analogy of fra-vardeis = Skr. vartaya-si and the like (§ 781. 2).

3) Forms like Avest. irišinti as contrasted with Skr. riṣ-ya-nti prove nothing for Idg. -i- in Avestic. See Bartholomae, Handb. § 95 a Anm. 1 p. 41, and § 290 p. 126.

(O.Ir. sluindid) Mid.Cymr. chwareïd 'plays'. Also O.Ir. 3rd pl. -lēcet may be -lēt-* (-lēnto*), and the 1st pl. -lēcem may be -lēm(s)*; the 3rd sing. -lēci may be derived from -lēt* or -lēt-*. The 1st sing. lēicim is a re-formate, like O.C.Sl. bimī Serv. hvalim (cp. scaraim caraim).

The same variation, -jo- : -i- (see above), is seen in Germanic. But here not only the 1st sing. and 3rd pl. have -jo-, but the 1st pl. as well (O.H.G. heffe-mēs Goth. hafja-m). We should therefore assume as the proethnic scheme in this branch, -jō -i-zi -i-đi -ja-m -i-đi -ja-ndi. The Gothic forms haf-ji-s haf-ji-p are in all probability instead of haf-i-s haf-i-p, on the analogy of hafja hafjam hafjand on the one hand, and satja satjis etc. on other; this view is supported by liga ligis etc. found instead of lig-ja lig-i-s (cp. O.H.G. liggu ligis).¹⁾ Thus it cannot be shewn that Germanic once had the same inflexion as Aryan and Greek.

This variation is found again in Balto-Slavonic; Lith. lėž-iū lėž-i lėž-ia lėž-ia-me lėž-ia-te like sukū sukū sūka sūka-me sūka-te, O.C.Sl. bor-ja bor-je-ši bor-je-tū bor-je-mū bor-je-te bor-ja-tū like bera bere-ši bere-tū bere-mū etc. Also the variation ī, and here Lith. has regularly -i- while Slavonic has regularly ī; Lith. smird-žiu smird-i smird-(i) smird-i-me smird-i-te O.C.Sl. smrīdā smrīd-i-ši smrīd-i-tū smrīd-i-mū smrīd-i-te smrīd-ētū (§ 637 Rem. p. 176).

Lastly, in Armenian -i- (= Idg. -i- or -ī-) runs through all the persons, as xaus-i-m 'loquer' -i-s -i pl. -i-mē -ik -i-n.

In view of these facts it is likely that the parent speech had a twofold inflexion. Some of the jo-presents had -jo- : -je- analogous to the variation between -o- : -e-, and others had -jo- : -ī-. The latter was found, if we may trust the evidence of the Balto-Slavonic group, in such jo-verbs as had an ē-stem as well as a jo-stem, as O.C.Sl. mŋnjā mŋnē-ti; and if this be so, -īo : -ī- must be assumed for Greek stems like μαίνο-μαι (aor. ἐμάνην), cp. §§ 708, 727. As regards the question, which persons took -īo- and which took -ī-, two points may be considered certain. (1) The 1st sing. had -īō or -īīō, and the 3rd pl. -īo-nt(i) or -īīo-nt(i).¹⁾ (2) -ī- was used with the 2nd and 3rd sing. and the 2nd pl., as also in the 2nd sing. imperative (Lat. cape for capi*, farcī, O.Ir. lēic, O.H.G. ligi). The 1st plural seems to have had -īo-. Further details may be sought below.

§ 703. There is none of the formative suffixes of the present stem which is added so often as -īo- to stems which have some other suffix already. Compare Skr. sn-a-ya-tē Lat. nō (for snā-(i)ō*) beside Skr. sn-ā-ti Lat. n-a-s, Skr. jñ-a-yā-tē O.H.G. kn-āu (ground-form ġn-ē-īō*) O.C.Sl. zn-a-je-ti (ground-form ġn-ō-īe-t(u)*) beside Gr. ἐ-γν-ω-ν, Lat. taceō (for tac-ē-īō*) Goth. þahđi-þ (for tak-ē-īe-ti*) beside Lat. tac-ē-s O.H.G. dag-ē-s (Class X §§ 578 ff.); Lesb. κλίννω (for κλι-ν-ιω*) beside O.Sax. hli-nō-n etc. (Classes XII, XIII § 611); Skr. iṣ-aṇ-yā-ti, Gr. ιαίνω (for i(σ)-αν-ιω*) beside Skr. iṣ-aṇa-ti, Gr. ὀλισθ-αίνω beside ὀλισθ-άνω, O.H.G. gi-wah-annu beside Goth. af-lif-na (Class XIV §§ 616 ff.); Greek πτίσσω (instead of πτισσ-ιω*) Lat. pīns-iō beside Lat. pīns-ō, Lith. jūng-iu beside Lat. jung-ō (Class XVI §§ 627 ff.); Skr. i-ṣa-ya-ti beside i-ṣa-ti, Goth. vah-s-ja beside Avest. vax-ša-iti, Lith. tē-s-iū beside Skr. tā-sa-ti Goth. -þin-sa, Skr. tr-as-ya-ti Lith. tr-es-iū beside Skr. tr-āsa-ti Gr. τρ-ί(σ)ω (Class XX §§ 657 ff.), with which is associated the future of which we have examples in Skr. dā-s-yā-ti and Lith. dū'-s-iu (§§ 747 ff.); O.C.Sl. ištā (for isk-īa*) beside iskā (Class XXIII § 677), O.C.Sl. ob-ręsta beside -rē-tū? (Class XXIV § 687); Skr. yú-dh-ya-tē beside yō-dha-ti Lith. ju-dū, Skr. rā-dh-ya-tē beside ā-rā-dha-ti, Gr. ῥο-θ-ίω beside ῥο-θω, κλύ-ζω for κλυ-δ-ιω* as contrasted with ῥ-qli-δο-ν, Lith. spráu-d-žiū beside Mid.H.G. sprie-ze, Lith. skél-d-žiū beside skél-du (Class XXV §§ 688 ff.).

1) I consider Lat. fiunt to represent the old inflexion, and not Osc. fiiet fi[ii]et. The Oscan form took the ending of verbs in -mi, as did censazet. Cp. § 1022.

As a secondary suffix -īo- originally bore the chief accent, which is usually kept in Sanskrit; jñ-ā-yá-ti trā-yá-tē gṛbhā-yá-ti (§§ 734, 736); iṣ-aṇ-yá-ti; fut. dā-s-yá-ti. Thus too the intensive Skr. dē-diṣ-yá-tē is a secondary form as contrasted with dē-diṣ-tē.

This puts in the right light the present formation of later denominatives, which generally have -īo-, and that too with its original chief accent; e. g. Skr. namas-yá-ti arāti-yá-ti pṛtanā-yá-ti gōpā-yá-ti Gr. τελείω for τελεσ-ιω* etc. We thus see that denominatives had originally no special set of inflexions; their present system was the same as that of the Primary classes. Forms like 1st pl. Armen. jana-mē Gr. Aeol. τῆμα-μεν Lat. plantā-mus O.Ir. no chara-m Goth. salbō-m Lith. jū'sto-me were originally on the same level as Skr. dr-ā-mas Gr. ἔδρ-α-μεν Lat. in-trā-mus; and presents like Skr. jīva-ti Lat. vīvi-t O.C.Sl. žive-tŭ (from jī-vá-s etc.) were the same in principle as Skr. āja-ti Lat. agi-t. And to these such īo-forms as Skr. pṛtanā-yá-ti dēva-yá-ti Gr. τῆμαίω φιλέω bore the same relation as Skr. trā-yá-tē to trā-tē (trā-sva), dēdiṣ-yá-tē to dēdiṣ-tē etc.

§ 704. So involved and so intricate are these questions, that it is practically impossible to present the history of the verbal īo-suffix in such a way that it shall be clear in every point, and all the needs of the student be met at once. Such an attempt would make it necessary to treat the same material again and again from different sides; and for this we have not the space. Be it then expressly understood that the classification here given has been made with a view to giving a general grip of the subject; and many important principles have not been made so prominent as might be wished.

We classify Present Stems + secondary suffix -īo- (§ 703) according to the original stems; and we count as separate Present Classes (viz. nos. XXVII to XXX) those in which the īo-suffix, together with the particular kind of stem it may be attacht to, has become a type for forms of some particular kind. This is not the case with the -iō- extension of present stems in -sko-, -to-, or -dho- -do-; wherefore the said stems are only mentioned in an excursus (§§ 762 ff.).

Class XXVI.

Root + -iō- -iio- forming the Present Stem.

§ 705. This Class falls into two divisions, in one of which the root-syllable, and in the other the thematic vowel carries the word accent. The root-syllable when accented has a strong grade of vowel (1st strong grade in the e-series), when unaccented is weak. (A) Accent on Root-Syllable: ghér-iō-* (Skr. hár-ya-ti Umbr. fut. heriest); (B) Accent on Thematic Vowel: ghy-ió-* (Gr. χαίρω). Further examples of (A) are Skr. tán-ya-ti = Gr. στένω, pác-ya-tē, mád-ya-ti (also Goth. hafja O.H.G. heffu 'I lift' pr. Germ. háf-iō* = Lat. cap-iō?); and of (B), Skr. mr-iyá-tē dṛś-yá-tē tud-yá-tē ś-yá-ti (on the obliteration of this orig. difference of accent in Sanskrit, see § 710). A similar double series is seen in Class II, as Skr. kárṣ-a-ti and kṛṣ-á-ti, and in Class XIII, as O.H.G. willu and wallu (§ 513 pp. 78 f., § 607 p. 148).

Gr. χαίρω 'I rejoice', type B. ✓ uer- 'hide, cover': Lat. op-(v)eriō ap-(v)eriō (v dropt after the labial as in piu-s for pu-iō-s*, suf-fiō -bō -bam, see I § 170 pp. 149 f.),¹⁾ Lith. už-veriu 'I close, shut' at-veriu 'I open' (cp. Osc. veru 'portam' Umbr. verof-e 'in portam' and Lith. var̃-tai pl. 'door'). ✓ sten-: Gr. στένω (beside στένω) 'I groan' Aeol. τέννει στένει, βούχεται Hesych., O.C.Sl. sten-jq 'I groan, lament' (inf. stena-ti); the Skr. tán-ya-ti 'groans, roars' (cp. stanayitnú- beside tanayitnú- 'roaring, thundering') may come from ten-iō-* or Remark. On these roots with the variants iū and iū, see Bartholomae loc. cit., Kretschmer in Kuhn's Ztschr. XXXI 386, Per Persson's Wurzelexweiterung 154 ff. As regards the variants siū-iō* and siu-iō*, spīū-iō* and spīu-iō*, it seems most likely that the ending -iū-iō is due to the analogy of those forms where -iū- preceded some sonant; to take an example, Skr. ṣṭhīva-ti being modelled after the fashion of ṣṭhiva-ti ṣṭhivita-s, and sīva-ti following sivaya-ti sivana-m; so also dīva-ti (beside dyū-tā-s) follows -divan- divana-m etc. (cp. Osthoff, M. U. IV 317); vice versa, Lith. siūv-ū instead of siū-ō* is due to the analogy of siū-ti etc.

✓ dhē- (dhā-, cp. Lat. ad-fa-tim) 'suck' dhā-iō*: Skr. dhā-ya-ti 'sucks' (I § 109 p. 161), Goth. da-ddja 'I suckle' (I § 142 p. 127), O.C.Sl. do-ja 'I suckle'; parallel forms of type A are O.H.G. tau 'I suckle' Lett. dē-ju 'I suck' common ground-form dhē-iō*, cp. Skr. dha-yú-ṣ 'thirsty'. ✓ dē- (dā-) 'bind': Skr. d-ya-ti, Gr. dēw for dē-iw* instead of da-iw*, as δε-τό-ς for da-to-ς* = Skr. di-tā-s. ✓ stā- (stā-) 'stare': Skr. pass. sthī-ya-tē instead of stha-ya-tē* (§ 498 p. 61), O.C.Sl. sto-ja 'I stand', probably also O.H.G. stēt (§ 708 p. 240); parallel A-forms, Avest. ā-stā-ya etc., § 706 p. 234.

With some roots ending in a vowel, the i of the present stem, being regarded as the root-final, was allowed to spread through other tenses. Side by side with Skr. d-yā-ti 'divides' (fut. dā-sya-ti etc.) is the by-form dā-ya-tē, i. e. dā-īe-* (I § 109 a. p. 101), whence by analogy dayi-ta-s day-aya-ti; so too we notice cha-ya-ti chayī-tvā chāy-aya-ti beside ch-ya-ti 'cuts up' (partic. chā-ta-s). The pr. Greek form which answered to dā-ya-tē, to wit, dā-iw*, regarded as made up thus dā-iw*, served as the starting point for δαί-σω δαί-τό-ς δαί-νῶ-μι, and from these again we get δαί-ομαι, which became associated in sta-īi-zi* etc. stām stāmēs stānt run parallel to habēm habēmēs habēnt, and stēs stēt to hevis hevit (1st sing. heffu).

The verb gām gēm 'I go' is the exact counterpart of stām stēm in every respect. As to the origin of this verb many different theories have been set forth. If our explanation of stām stēm is right, it is advisable to link gām gēm with Skr. ja-hā-ti 'deserts, gives up' pl. ja-hi-mas aor. á-hā-t, jī-hī-tē 'goes, yields', in which case we must assume the stems gha-īo-* gha-īē-* and gh-ē-*. The latter stem reappears in Gr. κί-χ-η-μι κί-χ-η-μεν, if this verb belongs to the same root (§ 594 p. 135).

In Latin, the whole present scheme has ē-, and the 1st sing., but this person only, has -īo- in addition: videō for -ē-īō*, 2nd sing. vidē-s etc.: Lith. pa-výdžiu -vydē-ti Goth. vita vitái-þ. Compare further rubeō: O.C.Sl. rūžda rūdē-ti, and valeō: Lith. galū galēti, and so forth, § 590 p. 132. Italic likewise had at one time forms with -īo- (and without -ē-) in this group of verbs; this we see from Osc. stait 'stat' stahint 'stant' Umbr. stahitu 'stato'. These imply a stem sta-ē-), which must be regarded as for staī-ē- and compared with O.C.Sl. stoja-ti; that is, it is a contamination of stā-īo-* and st-ē-*. Again, the c of licet beside linquō may perhaps justify our assuming an earlier liciō* for licu-īō* (Skr. ṛicya-tē (Gr. λίσσωμεν); see p. 129 footnote. The o-present Umbr. -habas 'habeas' beside habe 'habet' has been spoken of already (pages 239 f.).

What conclusion is to be drawn from a comparison of the Greek and Balto-Slavonic with Germanic and Italic? It is natural to suppose that the two former divide -īo- and -ē- amongst their forms more nearly as the original language did; and that the latter came to have ē-forms in their present on account of their final confusion of Imperfect-Present with Aorist-Present, and the loss of the augmented preterite as an independent tense. Lat. vidē-s vidē-tis may be called injunctive,

1) For the proof that Osc. ī must be orig. ē, and not orig. ī, I have to thank my pupil G. Bronisch.

one group with δύσσομαι δύσσοσθαι. δα-ί-ο-μαι may be compared with the Lith. gu-i-jù 'I hunt': from gu-jù (gujaũ) = Lett. gu-ju (bye-forms Lett. gũ-nu Lith. gáu-nu, § 615 p. 153) sprang guì-siu guì-ti; from these again come the presents gui-jù and gui-nù. Similarly we find Lith. part. pret. sėj-ęs jój-ęs from sě-ju jó-ju (sėjau jójau). The principle here exemplified throws light on such forms as Skr. dhē-nú-ṣ 'milking' beside Skr. dhá-ya-ti O.H.G. tāu. Compare Per Persson's further remarks on this matter, Wurzelerweiterung pp. 115 ff.

Pairs of forms like Skr. d-yá-ti: dá-ya-tē recal the two forms of the īē-optative, seen for example in Idg. dh-īē-t* and dhā-īē-t*, § 939.

§ 708. A special class of verbs comprises those which have -ē- as parallel suffix to -īō-. Sometimes the -ē- is found only outside the present stem; sometimes both -ē- and -īō- are found in the present, in which case -ē-īō- occasionally takes the place of -ē-. The -īō- in Balto-Slavonic has regularly the ablaut -ī-; and I have already conjectured (§ 702 p. 230) that this ablaut is proethnic in this very class.

-īō- in the present with -ē- outside the present stem is seen in Greek and Balto-Slavonic. Take as examples: Gr. μαίνομαι, ἐ-μάνη-ν μεμάνη-ώς μεμάνη-μαι μανή-σομαι, O.C.Sl. mĭnjā, mĭně mĭně-vŭ mĭně-chŭ (Lith. mīnė minė-siu, on the pres. menù see below). *χαίρω, ἐ-χάρη-ν κexαρη-ώς κexαρή-σω. χαίω (χαF-ίω) ἐ-κάη-ν. Lith. smirdžiu smirdė-ti O.C.Sl. smrĭžda smrĭdē-ti 'to stink'. In Slavonic, beside govlĭjā govē-ti 'venerari, vereri' (: Lat. favēre) we see also govějā, a later re-formate.

In Germanic we have the much discussed class of which one is Gothic haban 'to have' (the 3rd Weak Conjugation).¹⁾

1) See Sievers, P.-B. Beitr. VIII 90 ff.; Mahlow, Lang. Voc. A, E, O, pp. 12 f., 19 ff., and 148 f.; Kögel in P.-B. B. IX 504 ff.; Bremer, ibid. XI 46 ff.; Kluge, in Paul's Grundriss I 379 f.; Streitberg, Germ. Comp. auf -ō-, in the University Calendar of Freiburg in Switzerland, 1890,

Its connexion with the Balt.-Slav. īo : ē-class is shown by such forms as O.H.G. dolēm: Lith. tylėti, O.H.G. lebēm: O.C.Sl. -lǫpěti (Gr. ἀλιφῆ-ναι), Goth. muna munáis: Lith. minėti O.C.Sl. mǫněti (Gr. μανῆ-ναι), Goth. vita viláis: Lith. pa-vydėti O.C.Sl. viděti. īo-structure is seen in forms like O.Sax. 1st sing. hebbiu libbiu pl. hebbiad libbiad A.S. hæbbe libbe; libbiu = O.C.Sl. -lǫplǫq. Then we find -ē- in such as O.H.G. habē-m habē-s etc., and -ē- + -īo- in Goth. 2nd sing. habái-s 3rd sing. 2nd pl. -ái-p (I § 142 p. 126).

Besides these, we find in Germanic other forms which an impartial critic cannot but regard as forms of our Class II; such, for example, are Goth. 1st sing. haba 1st pl. habam 3rd pl. haband, O.H.G. habu A.S. hafu.¹⁾ It is true that the West-Germanic forms could easily be explained as due to the analogy of other verbal forms; but the Gothic ones are incomprehensible if so regarded.²⁾ Now in Balto-Slavonic and Greek, forms of Class II are found associated with ē-forms, as Lith. menù minėti as contrasted with O.C.Sl. mǫnjā mǫněti, O.C.Sl. part. vidomŭ beside vidimŭ from viděti, Gr. ἐθέλω ἐθέλωσιν (§ 727) — compare Umbr. neiřhabas 'ne adhibeant' beside habe 'habet' habetu 'habeto'. Another explanation is therefore possible, and to my mind more likely to be true. It is possible that in Germanic as well, some of the verbs in question had this form of the present stem, and that this o-type was made the rule for all verbs in Gothic. In that case, the relation of Goth. haba (O.H.G. habu) and O.Sax.

pp. 15 f., 18 ff., and 32; Sievers, in Paul Braune and Sievers' Beitr. xvi 257 ff.; Bartholomae, Stud. idg. Spr. ii 143 ff. Hirt, Idg. Forsch. i 204; Streitberg, Zur Germ. Sprachgeschichte, pp. 73 ff.

1) The 2nd and 3rd sing. O.H.G. hebis hebit may be examples either of o-flexion or of īo-flexion. It is quite certain that hebita and ge-hebit are the latter.

2) O.H.G. habu A.S. hafu may be instead of (O.Sax.) hebbiu, as O.H.G. ligu instead of ligg(i)u following ligis etc. On the other hand, we have no right at all to put Goth. haba on the same level as liga instead of liŋja* following ligis etc.

hebbiu might be compared with O.C.Sl. vidomŭ and vidimŭ, or with Lith. 3rd sing. smirda and smirdi. There is yet another possibility. With Streitberg, we may derive hab-and from *-ēndi,¹⁾ and assume that haba habam were formed on the analogy of baira batram : bairand. There is nothing at all to be said for Hirt's conjecture that 1st sing. haba comes from *-ē-m, with secondary personal ending.

That pr. Germanic also knew the inflexion with -ē- + -jo- seems to follow from O.H.G. rērēm 'I bellow, bleat, roar'; this word is akin to Lith. rė-ju, and points to pr. Germ. raǵ-rē-ǵō* (§ 741). Compare further § 548 p. 105, on Goth. rei-ra 'I tremble, quake' 2nd sing. rei-rái-s, which is connected with Skr. lē-láy-a-ti.

In this group falls also O.H.G. stēm stām 'I stand', which varies between ā and ē in all its persons. This must be due to an original series in which some persons had only ē and others only ā. ā comes from pr. Germ. ē, but ē, as the A.S. and O.Fris. ā shows, comes from pr. Germ. aǵ. The verb is intimately connected with O.C.Sl. stojā stōja-ti (for stojē-ti*), in whose present stem stoji- (2nd sing. stoji-ši etc.) = Idg. stā-ǵi-, the ǵ is as regular as in ladi-ji Lith. mō-ji-s and the like (vol. II p. 122 footnote 2); compare Skr. pass. sthī-ya-tē instead of stha-ya-tē* (§ 707 p. 237, § 709). The stojē-* of the infinitive stem cannot be original, because this suffix -ē- which we are now treating was added to the Root (in its weak grade), not to the present stem. stojē-* is then doubtless a contamination of st-ē-* and sto-jī-* (similarly la-jā la-ja-ti 'to bark, give tongue' as contrasted with orig. Lith. ló-ju ló-ti, and Gr. χαίρω ἑχαίρωσα as contrasted with χαίρω, instead of χαρ-ίω*, ἐχαίρων, χαρησοῦμαι, and κίχρωμαι*). The two stems, stā-jo-* and st-ē-*, are combined in the West Germanic present scheme, which before levelling ran something like stām stēs stēt stāmēs stēt stānt (see Bremer, as cited, p. 43), i. e. st-ē-mi* sta-i-zi* etc. stām stāmēs stant run parallel to habēm habēmēs habēt, and stēs stēt to hevis hevit (1st sing. heffu).

1) In view of vind-s for uē-nto-s*, Streitberg assumes that ē becomes a only in syllables not bearing the chief accent (p. 18).

The verb gām gēm 'I go' is the exact counterpart of stām stēm in every respect. As to the origin of this verb many different theories have been set forth. If our explanation of stām stēm is right, it is advisable to link gām gēm with Skr. ja-hā-ti 'deserts, gives up' pl. ja-hi-mas aor. á-ha-t, jí-hī-tē 'goes, yields', in which case we must assume the stems gha-jo-* gha-i-* and gh-ē-*. The latter stem reappears in Gr. xi-χ-η-υι xi-χ-η-μιν, if this verb belongs to the same root (§ 594 p. 135).

In Latin, the whole present scheme has ē-, and the 1st sing., but this person only, has -io- in addition: videō for -ē-iō*, 2nd sing. vidē-s etc.: Lith. pa-výdžiu -vydē-ti Goth. vita vitái-þ. Compare further rubeō: O.C.Sl. rūžda rūdē-ti, and valeō: Lith. galù galėti, and so forth, § 590 p. 132. Italic likewise had at one time forms with -io- (and without -ē-) in this group of verbs; this we see from Osc. stait 'stat' stahint 'stant' Umbr. stahitu 'stato'. These imply a stem sta-ē-* 1), which must be regarded as for stai-ē-* and compared with O.C.Sl. stoja-ti; that is, it is a contamination of sta-jo-* and st-ē-*. Again, the c of licet beside linquō may perhaps justify our assuming an earlier liciō* for licu-iō* (Skr. ricya-tē (Gr. λίσσωμεν); see p. 129 footnote. The o-present Umbr. -habas 'habeas' beside habe 'habet' has been spoken of already (pages 239 f.).

What conclusion is to be drawn from a comparison of the Greek and Balto-Slavonic with Germanic and Italic? It is natural to suppose that the two former divide -io- and -ē- amongst their forms more nearly as the original language did; and that the latter came to have ē- forms in their present on account of their final confusion of Imperfect-Present with Aorist-Present, and the loss of the augmented preterite as an independent tense. Lat. vidē-s vidē-tis may be called injunctive,

1) For the proof that Osc. í must be orig. ē, and not orig. i, I have to thank my pupil G. Bronisch.

and compared immediately with Lith. mìnė mìnė-te Gr. (ἐ)μάρη-ς (ἐ)μάρη-τε, the imperative vidē may be compared immediately with minē-k, which stood to mìnė just as dū'-k to Skr. á-dā-t; and the only difference between O.H.G. habēm habēs etc., or Lat. videt vident, and these Lithuanian and Greek preterites is that they have the primary personal endings. Compare too Lat. tagit beside tangit, and others of the kind (§ 583 p. 125); compare too dat with preterite sense (Veg. Aen. i 79, ix 266, xi 172) like -bat (§ 505 p. 71 with footnote 2). This state of things was partly due to the analogy of ē-verbs with non-syllabic root; these carried the ē-suffix right through the verb; for example, Lat. -pleō for pl-ē-īō -plēs* (Skr. prá-si á-prā-t Gr. πλη-το), Goth. vaia for μ-ē-īō* (O.C.Sl. vě-jq, Skr. vá-ti Gr. ᾄ-σι). If in these the present and preterite both had originally ē, the connexion of the two would be very close when the preterite ceased to form a distinct category; it would then be quite natural for ē-verbs with syllabic root to run the ē right through the present, and, given Lat. vidērem (cp. O.C.Sl. viděchŭ Lith. pa-vidėsiu Gr. Dor. ιδῆσῶ, § 813) and Lat. vidē-bam vidē-bō, to form a present videō vidēs etc. on the analogy of -pleō beside -plērem plē-bam -bō; or suppose we say, quite natural for existing injunctive forms such as vidēs vidētis to be treated as if they were the same in character as -plēs -plētis, and used for the present, soon to be followed up by videō videt etc. which filled the gaps in the system. This levelling and filling up of the gaps was completed in Latin by the beginning of the historical period; but in Germanic it never was completed at all. In Germanic all monosyllabic ē-stems, except two which crystallised, were absorbed by the iō- conjugation (§ 592); so the action of this principle can be clearly seen only with forms which contain -ē- + -iō-, as Goth. vitáis vitáip. The reason why Gothic chose to replace vitaia *vitaiam vitaiaand by vita vitam vitand to complete the tense lay in the number of syllables in these words.

Thus O.Sax. libbin libda is a verb like Goth. vairkja

vaúrhta (§ 722). The reason why we find in parallel use O.H.G. lebēt and Goth. libáip etc. is simply that in these languages there once was a non-present stem lip-ē-*, but no such ē-stem was ever connected with vaúrktan.

We need not be surprised that it was io-stems that became joined with ē-stems in one verbal system. Both these suffixes have at all periods been used by preference in making forms with intransitive meaning. Observe how io is so used in the Aryan ya-passive (§ 710), and ē in the Greek aorist passive with η (§ 589 p. 130).

Lastly, I must foreguard against a misconception. In contrasting io as a present suffix with ē in non-present stems, I must not be understood to mean that all non-present forms originally had -ē-. We have in Greek κέκλυμαι καυτός beside καίω: ἐκάην καήσομαι, μανούμαι μέμνηνα beside μαίνομαι: ἐμάνην μεμάνημαι; so in Latin, vidē vīsu-s beside videō, habui habitu-s beside habēō, in Germanic pret. O.Sax. habda O.H.G. hapta O.Icel. hafða partic. hafðr beside O.Sax. hebbiu: O.H.G. habēm etc. How this ē managed to spread in non-present stems (as καήσομαι beside καίω, μεμανηώς beside μέμνηνα, O.H.G. habēta beside hapta), is a question which need not concern us here.

Remark. In § 583, page 125, we assumed an ā-aorist beside the ē-aorist, and explained -ā- in Lat. occupāre on the same principle as -ē- in vidēre. It is particularly easy to see resemblance between vidēre and arāre. arō arās, arārem: O.C.Sl. orjā oruchū = videō vidēs, vidērem: O.C.Sl. viždā vižechū.

one group with δάσσομαι δάσσοσθαι. δα-ι-ο-μαι may be compared with the Lith. gu-i-jù 'I hunt': from gu-jù (gujaũ) = Lett. gu-ju (bye-forms Lett. gũ-nu Lith. gáu-nu, § 615 p. 153) sprang guì-siu guì-ti; from these again come the presents gui-jù and gui-nù. Similarly we find Lith. part. pret. sėj-ės jój-ės from sě-ju jó-ju (sėjau jójau). The principle here exemplified throws light on such forms as Skr. dhē-mú-ṣ 'milking' beside Skr. dhá-ya-ti O.H.G. tāu. Compare Per Persson's further remarks on this matter, Wurzelerweiterung pp. 115 ff.

Pairs of forms like Skr. d-yá-ti: dá-ya-tē recal the two forms of the īē-optative, seen for example in Idg. dh-īē-t* and dhā-īē-t*, § 939.

§ 708. A special class of verbs comprises those which have -ē- as parallel suffix to -īō-. Sometimes the -ē- is found only outside the present stem; sometimes both -ē- and -īō- are found in the present, in which case -ē-īō- occasionally takes the place of -ē-. The -īō- in Balto-Slavonic has regularly the ablaut -ī-; and I have already conjectured (§ 702 p. 230) that this ablaut is proethnic in this very class.

-īō- in the present with -ē- outside the present stem is seen in Greek and Balto-Slavonic. Take as examples: Gr. μαίνομαι, ἐ-μάνη-ν μεμανη-ώς μεμάνη-μαι μανή-σομαι, O.C.Sl. mǫnĭjā, mǫnĕ mǫnĕ-vŭ mǫnĕ-chŭ (Lith. mǫnĕ mǫnĕ-siu, on the pres. menù see below). χαίρω, ἐ-χάρη-ν κεχαρη-ώς κεχαρή-σω. χαίω (χαF-ιω*) ἐ-χάη-ν. Lith. smirdžiu smirdė-ti O.C.Sl. smrĭždā smrĭdĕ-ti 'to stink'. In Slavonic, beside govlĭjā govĕ-ti 'venerari, vereri' (: Lat. favĕre) we see also govĕjā, a later re-formate.

In Germanic we have the much discussed class of which one is Gothic haban 'to have' (the 3rd Weak Conjugation).¹⁾

Its connexion with the Balt.-Slav. io : ē-class is shown by such forms as O.H.G. dolēm: Lith. tylėti, O.H.G. lebēm: O.C.Sl. -lǫpěti (Gr. ἀλιφῆ-vai), Goth. muna munáis: Lith. minėti O.C.Sl. mǫně-ti (Gr. μανῆ-vai), Goth. vita vildáis: Lith. pa-vyďėti O.C.Sl. vidě-ti. io-structure is seen in forms like O.Sax. 1st sing. hebbiu libbiu pl. hebbiad libbiad A.S. hæbbe libbe; libbiu = O.C.Sl. -lǫplja. Then we find -ē- in such as O.H.G. habē-m habē-s etc., and -ē- + -io- in Goth. 2nd sing. habái-s 3rd sing. 2nd pl. -ái-þ (I § 142 p. 126).

Besides these, we find in Germanic other forms which an impartial critic cannot but regard as forms of our Class II; such, for example, are Goth. 1st sing. haba 1st pl. habam 3rd pl. haband, O.H.G. habu A.S. hafu.¹⁾ It is true that the West-Germanic forms could easily be explained as due to the analogy of other verbal forms; but the Gothic ones are incomprehensible if so regarded.²⁾ Now in Balto-Slavonic and Greek, forms of Class II are found associated with ē-forms, as Lith. menù minėti as contrasted with O.C.Sl. mǫnjā mǫněti, O.C.Sl. part. vidomŭ beside vidimŭ from viděti, Gr. ἐθέλω ἐθέλωσιν (§ 727) — compare Umbr. neiřhabas 'ne adhibeant' beside habe 'habet' habetu 'habeto'. Another explanation is therefore possible, and to my mind more likely to be true. It is possible that in Germanic as well, some of the verbs in question had this form of the present stem, and that this o-type was made the rule for all verbs in Gothic. In that case, the relation of Goth. haba (O.H.G. habu) and O.Sax.

pp. 15 f., 18 ff., and 32; Sievers, in Paul Braune and Sievers' Beitr. xvi 257 ff.; Bartholomae, Stud. idg. Spr. II 143 ff. Hirt, Idg. Forsch. I 204; Streitberg, Zur Germ. Sprachgeschichte, pp. 73 ff.

1) The 2nd and 3rd sing. O.H.G. hebis hebit may be examples either of o-flexion or of io-flexion. It is quite certain that hebita and ge-hebit are the latter.

2) O.H.G. habu A.S. hafu may be instead of (O.Sax.) hebbiu, as O.H.G. ligu instead of ligg(i)u following ligis etc. On the other hand, we have no right at all to put Goth. haba on the same level as liga instead of ligja* following ligis etc.

hebbiu might be compared with O.C.Sl. vidomŭ and vidimŭ, or with Lith. 3rd sing. smirda and smirdi. There is yet another possibility. With Streitberg, we may derive hab-and from -ēndi*,¹⁾ and assume that haba habam were formed on the analogy of baira bairam : bairand. There is nothing at all to be said for Hirt's conjecture that 1st sing. haba comes from -ē-m*, with secondary personal ending.

That pr. Germanic also knew the inflexion with -ē- + -jo- seems to follow from O.H.G. rērēm 'I bellow, bleat, roar'; this word is akin to Lith. rė-ju, and points to pr. Germ. rai-rē-īō* (§ 741). Compare further § 548 p. 105, on Goth. rei-ru 'I tremble, quake' 2nd sing. rei-rái-s, which is connected with Skr. lē-láy-a-ti.

In this group falls also O.H.G. stēm stām 'I stand', which varies between ā and ē in all its persons. This must be due to an original series in which some persons had only ē and others only ā. ā comes from pr. Germ. ē, but ē, as the A.S. and O.Fris. ā shows, comes from pr. Germ. ai. The verb is intimately connected with O.C.Sl. stojā stoj-a-ti (for stojē-ti*), in whose present stem stoji- (2nd sing. stoji-ši etc.) = Idg. stā-ī-, the i is as regular as in ladi-ji Lith. mō-ji-s and the like (vol. II p. 122 footnote 2); compare Skr. pass. sthī-ya-tē instead of stha-ya-tē* (§ 707 p. 237, § 709). The stojē-* of the infinitive stem cannot be original, because this suffix -ē- which we are now treating was added to the Root (in its weak grade), not to the present stem. stojē-* is then doubtless a contamination of st-ē-* and sto-jī-* (similarly la-jā la-ja-ti 'to bark, give tongue' as contrasted with orig. Lith. lō-ju lō-ti, and Gr. χαίρω ἐχαίρω as contrasted with χαίρω, instead of χυρ-ιω*, ἐχάριν, χαρησσομαι, and χούρημαι*). The two stems, stā-jo-* and st-ē-*, are combined in the West Germanic present scheme, which before levelling ran something like stām stēs stēt stāmēs stēt stānt (see Bremer, as cited, p. 43), i. e. st-ē-mi* sta-ī-zi* etc. stām stāmēs stānt run parallel to habēm habēmēs habēnt, and stēs stēt to hevis hevit (1st sing. heffu).

The verb gām gēm 'I go' is the exact counterpart of stām stēm in every respect. As to the origin of this verb many different theories have been set forth. If our explanation of stām stēm is right, it is advisable to link gām gēm with Skr. ja-hā-ti 'deserts, gives up' pl. ja-hi-mas aor. á-hā-t, jī-hī-tē 'goes, yields', in which case we must assume the stems gha-īo-* gha-ī-* and gh-ē-*. The latter stem reappears in Gr. κί-χ-η-υι κί-χ-η-μεν, if this verb belongs to the same root (§ 594 p. 135).

In Latin, the whole present scheme has ē-, and the 1st sing., but this person only, has -īo- in addition: videō for -ē-īō*, 2nd sing. vidē-s etc.: Lith. pa-výdžiu -vydē-ti Goth. vita vitái-þ. Compare further rubeō: O.C.Sl. rŭžda rŭdē-ti, and valeō: Lith. galù galēti, and so forth, § 590 p. 132. Italic likewise had at one time forms with -īo- (and without -ē-) in this group of verbs; this we see from Osc. stait 'stat' stahint 'stant' Umbr. stahitu 'stato'. These imply a stem sta-ē-), which must be regarded as for stai-ē- and compared with O.C.Sl. stojā-ti; that is, it is a contamination of stā-īo-* and st-ē-*. Again, the c of licet beside linquō may perhaps justify our assuming an earlier liciō* for licu-īō* (Skr. ricya-tē Gr. λίσσωμεν); see p. 129 footnote. The o-present Umbr. -habas 'habeas' beside habe 'habet' has been spoken of already (pages 239 f.).

What conclusion is to be drawn from a comparison of the Greek and Balto-Slavonic with Germanic and Italic? It is natural to suppose that the two former divide -īo- and -ē- amongst their forms more nearly as the original language did; and that the latter came to have ē-forms in their present on account of their final confusion of Imperfect-Present with Aorist-Present, and the loss of the augmented preterite as an independent tense. Lat. vidē-s vidē-tis may be called injunctive,

1) For the proof that Osc. í must be orig. ē, and not orig. ī, I have to thank my pupil G. Bronisch.

and compared immediately with Lith. mìnė mìnė-te Gr. (ἐ)υάρη-ς (ἐ)υάρη-τε, the imperative vidē may be compared immediately with minē-k, which stood to mìnė just as dū'-k to Skr. á-dā-t; and the only difference between O.H.G. habēm habēs etc., or Lat. videt vident, and these Lithuanian and Greek preterites is that they have the primary personal endings. Compare too Lat. tagit beside tangit, and others of the kind (§ 583 p. 125); compare too dat with preterite sense (Veg. Aen. i 79, ix 266, xi 172) like -bat (§ 505 p. 71 with footnote 2). This state of things was partly due to the analogy of ē-verbs with non-syllabic root; these carried the ē-suffix right through the verb; for example, Lat. -pleō for pl-ē-iō -plēs* (Skr. prā-si á-prā-t Gr. πλή-το), Goth. vaia for u-ē-iō* (O.C.Sl. vě-jā, Skr. vá-ti Gr. ᾶη-σι). If in these the present and preterite both had originally ē, the connexion of the two would be very close when the preterite ceased to form a distinct category; it would then be quite natural for ē-verbs with syllabic root to run the ē right through the present, and, given Lat. vidērem (cp. O.C.Sl. viděchū Lith. pa-vidėsiu Gr. Dor. ιδησῶ, § 813) and Lat. vidē-bam vidē-bō, to form a present videō vidēs etc. on the analogy of -pleō beside -plērem plē-bam -bō; or suppose we say, quite natural for existing injunctive forms such as vidēs vidētis to be treated as if they were the same in character as -plēs -plētis, and used for the present, soon to be followed up by videō videt etc. which filled the gaps in the system. This levelling and filling up of the gaps was completed in Latin by the beginning of the historical period; but in Germanic it never was completed at all. In Germanic all monosyllabic ē-stems, except two which crystallised, were absorbed by the iō- conjugation (§ 592); so the action of this principle can be clearly seen only with forms which contain -ē- + -iō-, as Goth. vitáis vitáiþ. The reason why Gothic chose to replace vitaia *vitaiaim vitaiaind by vita vitam vitand to complete the tense lay in the number of syllables in these words.

vaúrhta (§ 722). The reason why we find in parallel use O.H.G. lebēt and Goth. libáip etc. is simply that in these languages there once was a non-present stem lip-ē-*, but no such ē-stem was ever connected with vaúrkjan.

We need not be surprised that it was īo-stems that became joined with ē-stems in one verbal system. Both these suffixes have at all periods been used by preference in making forms with intransitive meaning. Observe how īo is so used in the Aryan ya-passive (§ 710), and ē in the Greek aorist passive with η (§ 589 p. 130).

Lastly, I must foreguard against a misconception. In contrasting īo as a present suffix with ē in non-present stems, I must not be understood to mean that all non-present forms originally had -ē-. We have in Greek έκαυμαι καυτός beside καίω: έκάην καήσομαι, μαρούμαι μέμνην beside μαίνομαι: έμάνην μεμάνημαι; so in Latin, vidē vīsu-s beside videō, habui habitu-s beside habeō, in Germanic pret. O.Sax. habda O.H.G. hapta O.Icel. hafða partic. hafðr beside O.Sax. hebbiu: O.H.G. habēm etc. How this ē managed to spread in non-present stems (as καήσομαι beside καίσω, μεμανηώς beside μέμνην, O.H.G. habēta beside hapta), is a question which need not concern us here.

Remark. In § 583, page 125, we assumed an ā-aorist beside the ē-aorist, and explained -ā- in Lat. occupāre on the same principle as -ē- in vidēre. It is particularly easy to see resemblance between vidēre and arāre. arō arās, arārem: O.C.Sl. orjā orachū = videō vidēs, vidērem: O.C.Sl. vižda viděchū.

§ 710. As a general rule, passive forms in Sanskrit accent -īo-, and non-passive forms the root. But this difference in accent had originally nothing to do with active or passive. It depended upon the grade of the root, strong or weak as the case might be. A few forms which are not passive still accent the suffix, as ś-yá-ti mr-iyá-tē, which is a relic of the former state of things. The retraction of accent in dhá-ya-ti (earlier dhā-īé-ti*) dá-ya-tē (instead of dā-īé-tāi*, § 707 p. 237) gṛdh-ya-ti ric-ya-tē etc., which seems proved for proethnic Aryan by the evidence of Avest. pešyēinti, § 709 (I § 260 pp. 212 f.), may be compared with the retraction in dúš-ya-ti gír-a-ti hí-nva-ti gá-cha-ti and the like (§ 516 p. 82).

The reason why the Middle of this particular present class became a Passive system in Aryan, is that the greater number of the verbs in it were intransitive; so in Greek a passive system grew out of an intransitive, I mean the passive aorist in -ην, § 589 pp. 129 f. But not all the forms of the group can be called passive. To mr-iyá-tē 'dies', for instance, the term cannot be applied; nor can it to all aorists in -ην, ῥοοῦν 'flowed' for example.

So constant a mark of the passive did an accentuated -yá- become, that the intransitive pác-ya-tē ric-ya-tē were turned into passives by accenting them pac-yá-tē ric-yá-tē, and the language even tolerated smar-yá-tē, despite its strong root (cp. hár-ya-ti).

In Sanskrit, as in the two Iranian languages, passive forms occur with active personal endings, as well as middle; e. g. Skr. epic dr̥ś-ya-ti 'is seen' (Holtzmann, Gramm. aus dem MBh., 25 f.), Avest. xwar-yē-iti 'is eaten'. It is impossible to understand the forms till we know their accentuation.

Remark. It is sometimes said that the intr. active dáhyati 'burns up' as compared with the pass. dáhyátē 'is burnt', since both practically mean the same thing, was the origin of the active forms with passive meaning, dr̥śyati and the like. This we could only venture to say if we knew for certain that the word was accented dr̥śyati.

§ 711. Armenian. Verbs in -im, which originally had middle or passive meaning: xausim 'loquor', erevim 'I appear'. This i-suffix was put to the same use as -yá- in Sanskrit, for making the passive conjugation. Each active verb in -em became middle or passive by the simple change of e to i. This often resulted in i being added to stems which had already some other present sign: e. g. arñi-m 'I am made, I become' from ar-ne-m 'I make'. The endings -anim and -anem are used side by side, as in Greek -ανω beside -ανω; thus meṛ-ani-m 'I die' (aor. meṛ-ay) like Gr. μαραινω 'I wear away, destroy'.

§ 712. Greek. Type A. στείνω, ἔρδω, λενίσσω, ῥέζω 'I colour', θέσσεσθαι, πέσσω, ᾤζομαι, πλήσσω, κρώζω, see § 706 pp. 233 f., δείρω, τείω, see § 707 p. 236. Att. φθείρω Arcad. φθῆρω Lesb. φθέρω 'I destroy', pr. Gr. φθερ-ω* (akin to Skr. kṣár-a-ti 'flows, dissolves'); parallel B-stem, Dor. φθαίρω. Ion. αίρω Lesb. ἀέρω (ἀέρω?) 'I raise' for ἀ-φερ-ω*; parallel B-stem Hom. Att. αἶρω. πείρω 'I pierce'; cp. O.C.Sl. porjetŭ 'cuts to pieces' (inf. prati) for př-ĭe-*, type B. στέλλω 'I arrange, equip' for στελ-ω*. σέλλω 'I dry'. κτείνω Lesb. κτένω 'I slay'; parallel in type B, Lesb. κταίνω. χέζω 'caco' for χεδ-ω* (perf. κέχοδα). δαίω 'I kindle' for δαF-ω* (perf. δέδηε): cp. Skr. pass. dū-ya-tē, type B. Of the same sort as δαίω are doubtless καίω κάω 'I burn' and κλαίω κλάω 'I weep'; see I § 131 pp. 118 f.

Remark. πλείω χέω and the like, found in the text of Homer and Hesiod (Curtius, Verb I² 304 f.), can be explained πλεF-ω* (Lith. plėti-jū) and so forth. But there is practically no objection to regarding them, as many scholars do, as corruptions for Aeolic forms of Class II, πλεῖω = πλεF-ω*.

§ 713. Type B. χαίρω, σπαίρω, σκάλλω, μαίνομαι, βαίνω, θνήσκω, τίω, φθίω, ράζω* 'I do', φράζω, λίσσωμεν, σχίζω, πιφυζότες, κασσέω, πτένω, δέω, δαίω 'I divide', see §§ 706 f. pp. 233 ff. φθαίρω, αἶρω, κταίνω, see § 712. βάλλω 'I throw' for βαλ-ω* gl-ĭō*, ✓gel-. καίνω 'I kill' probably for καμ-ω*, compare καμiónτες 'the dead' (then ἐκνον got ν from the present): Skr.

śám-ya-ti 'becomes still, is extinguishd' for k̥h̥i-je-ti* (καίνω) differently explained by Kretschmer, Kuhn's Zeitschr. xxxi 428, 432; Fick, i⁴ 43). πτέρω 'I make shy', cp. Lat. cōn-ster-na-re, σύρω 'I drag' cp. σαίρω 'I sweep' (with ρ̥i), σύνλλω 'I tear to pieces, towse, worry' cp. Lith. skelù (skel-iù*) 'I split'; the v of this form needs explanation. δίω 'I beseech, fly, fear' doubtless for di-λω*: Skr. dī-ya-ti 'flies'; of type A, Lett. dēi-ju 'I dance' (inf. dī-t); the forms δίετε δίεται and such like were associated with ἴετε ἴεται, and this caused the formation of ἐν-δέσαν δέιμαι and others by analogy of the parts of ἴημι. φράσσω 'I enclose' for φρακ-λω*: Lat. farc-iō with ar = ḡ, connected with frequ-ēns. μάσσω 'I press, knead' ground-form m̥q̥g-iō* ✓menq-, cp. the forms, belonging to Class XXXII, O.C.Sl. męčq (2nd sing. męči-ši) 'I soften' (inf. męči-ti) Lith. minkau 'I knead' inf. minky-ti). σάζω 'I limp' ground-form sq̥q̥g-iō*, akin to Skr. khínj-a-ti 'limps'. νίζω 'I wash' ground-form nig-iō*: Skr. pass. nij-ya-tē. στιζω 'I prick, pierce' for στιγ-λω*: O.H.G. sticch(i)u 'I stitch' (§ 722). λίσσομαι 'I pray' for λιτ-ιο-μαι, cp. λιτ-έ-σθαι, Class II B. χνίζω 'I scratch, prick, stir up' for χνιδ-λω*, beside O.Icel. hnit 'I knock against, hurt with a knock' Class II A. ὀρύσσω 'I dig' for ὀρωνκ-λω*: Lith. rauk-iù 'I wrinkle', (A). ἀπο-μύττω 'I blow my nose' for μυκ-λω*: Skr. pass. muc-yá-tē 'is set free'; Lith. mauk-iù 'I scratch slightly, touch softly', type A.

The theory that ὄζω 'I swell', for ōd-λω*, does not belong to type A, is doubtful, in spite of an appeal to Lith. ū'd-žiū 'I smell'; it is also uncertain to which section belongs ὄσσομαι 'I see', for oq-iō-* (cp. I § 319 p. 258). It is risky to connect ὄσσομαι with Goth. ah-ja 'I believe, surmise'.

Forms with Idg. -iō-. ἰδ-λω 'I sweat' is usually connected directly with Skr. svid-ya-ti O.H.G. swizzu. If that is so, ἰξ-τῶσαι is due to the analogy of denominatives in -i-iō- and ἰδτω (Aristoph.) is a reformatte like χοντω (§ 775). ἔσθ-τω beside ἔσθω 'esse' for ed* + dhō, cp. § 694 p. 223, § 765. A form qíω* = Idg. bhy-iō* follows from φῖ-ρυ 'sprout, shoot, scion' φῖ-ρυ-ς 'begetter', which must have been derived from it as though the verbal stem were qr- (§ 707 p. 235); a similar origin must be supposed for Lat. fī-tu-m cupī-tu-s and others (§§ 715 ff.).

§ 714. The identity of ending in σφάζω ἔσφαξα (σφαγ- 'slay') and forms like φράζω ἐφραξα (φρακ- 'enclose') produced σφάττω as a bye-form to σφάζω, by analogy with φράττω. Vice versa, we have βράζω in late Greek instead of βράττω (βρατ- 'seethe, bluster, roar') by analogy of such words as φράζω (φραδ- 'give to understand'), because almost all the forms of verbs in -τ-, -θ-, and -δ- are alike except in the present stem, ἔβρασ(σ)α like ἔφρασ(σ)α, and so forth. See Mucke, De Consonarum in Greca lingua geminatione, I (1883) pp. 17 ff.; Osthoff, Perfect 296 ff. and 322 f.

As regards the relation of μαίνομαι to ἐμάνην μεμάρημαι μεμάνηώς μανήσομαι, or of χαίρω to ἐχάρην κεχαρηώς κεχαρήσω, see § 708 pp. 238 ff.

§ 715. Italic. In Latin, post-consonantal -iō became -iō, just as mediu-s* became mediu-s (I § 135 p. 122); thus morior for moriō(r)* mṛiō*. In Oscan, -iō- is seen in heriiad 'velit', and other words.

Lat. in-ciēns for -cu-īe-* (as sociu-s for socu-īo-s*, vol. I loc. cit.) beside qu-eō = Skr. śv-āyāmi (§ 790). So also farcīō for farcu-iō* beside frequ-ēns.

Why we have now -i- and now -ī-, as in cap-i-s farc-ī-s, no rule has so far been discovered to show. Often enough the same verb has both quantities, as morī-mur and morī-mur; so that we find in Latin both the peculiarities which we saw divided between Baltic and Slavonic (Lith. smirdi-me O.C.Sl. smrīti-mū). In Umbrian and Oscan all the recorded forms have -ī- — doubtless an accident: Umbr. heris hereitu heritu beside heriest 'volet' cp. Skr. hár-ya-ti, an-ovihimu 'induimino' (ihi = ī) beside Lith. aviū 'I wear something on my feet' (1st pl. āvi-me).

As the present stems of which Lat. farcīō is one were inflected just like denominatives in -i-īo- (§ 777), it cannot be wondered at that the analogy of these denominatives caused non-present forms with -i- to be coined, such as farci-tus beside fartu-s from farciō; cp. § 713 on Gr. ἔξ-ίδιου and φί-ρυ.

In the lists which follow below, i or ī is added in brackets to show the quantity of the weak-grade vowel in the 2nd singular etc.; and it is stated whether ī is ever found outside the present stem.

§ 716. Type A. Lat. ap-(v)eriō op-(v)eriō (ī, aper-ui aper-tu-s operī-mentu-m): Lith. ùž-veriu, see § 706 p. 233. fer-iō (ī, ferīū feri-tūru-s): Lith. bar-iū 'I scold' O.C.Sl. bor-ja 'I fight' and probably O.Icel. ber 'I strike' (inf. berja) from the ground-form bh̥ṛ-iō*, type B. Ital. her-īo- her-iō- her-ī- in Umbr. heris heriest hereitu Osc. heriad, see § 706 p. 233, § 715. Lat. spec-iō (i, spec-tu-s): Skr. pás-ya-ti, see § 706 p. 234. Umbr. an-ovihimu 'induimino': Lith. av-iū 'I wear something on my feet' (1st pl. āv-i-me inf. avē-ti) and Lett. áu-ju 'I put something on my feet' (1st pl. áu-ja-m inf. áu-t) O.C.Sl. (ob-)u-ja, same meaning (1st pl. -u-je-mū inf. -u-ti). Lat. pav-iō (ī, pavī-vī pavī-tus): Lith. piáu-ju 'I cut, mow, slay' (piū-ti-s 'slice, harvest'). haur-iō (ī, haus-tu-s haurī-tu-s). jac-iō (i, jac-tu-s). crōc-iō (ī, subst. crōcī-tu-s), see § 706 p. 234.

To the same group must belong Lat. nōlī nōlīte, from a lost verb velīō*; cp. O.C.Sl. velja velē-ti 'to command', O.H.G. 1st sing. willu 'I wish' Goth. viljan viljands, see § 505 p. 69.

stō (Idg. stā-iō*) came under the influence of presents like in-trō for tr-a-iō*; hence stās etc. See § 584 Rem. p. 126. A similar explanation may be given of for fatur, see § 495 p. 56 and § 706 p. 234.

§ 717. Type B. Lat. mor-ior (i or ī, mor-tuo-s morī-tūru-s), Avest. mer^h-yē-iti, see § 707 p. 235. or-ior (i or ī, or-tu-s ori-tūrus), ground-form ṛ-iō-*, akin to Skr. ṛ-ṇō-mi § 639 p. 177. par-iō (i, peperī par-tu-s pari-tūru-s, pariret) for pṛ-iō* (I § 306 p. 242). re-periō 'I bring to light again, find' suō (sū-tu-s) and spuō (spū-tu-s) probably for sū-(i)ō spū-(i)ō as neō for nē-(i)ō*: Gr. κασσάω πτῶω etc., see § 707 p. 236.

(i, -pertu-s): Lith. per-iù (1st pl. pēr-i-me) type A. fīō fī-s fiere fierī (fī-tu-m, cp. Gr. φῖ-τω § 713 p. 247): O.Ir. b-iu etc., Idg. bh_u-iō*, see § 707 p. 235; f-iō f-iunt (instead of f-iō f-iunt) took i from fīs etc., a peculiarity which is explained by the unique character of this verb — it is the only one in which the suffix -iō carried the chief accent; Osc. fiiet 'fiunt' with the ending -ent instead of -ont (p. 231 footnote). suf-fiō (i, -fī-vī -fī-tu-s) ground-form -dh_u-iō*: cp. Skr. dhū-yá-tē etc., see § 707 p. 236. in-ciēns for -cū-īe-*, cp. Gr. ἐγ-κίω 'I am pregnant' and Lat. qu-eō (§ 715 p. 248); probably -ciēns: -κίω = fīō (pr. Ital. fū-iō*): φύω Lesb. φύω. cliēns, from ✓klei- 'clinare' (Leo Meyer, Bezz. Beitr. v 182 f.), probably for cli-īe-*: cp. Skr. pass. śrī-ya-tē. grad-iōr (i, gressu-s; ag-gredior with i or i): Skr. gr̥dh-ya-ti, see § 707 p. 236. lac-iō (i, -lectu-s) for lk-*, beside O.H.G. locchōn 'to entice' (Osthoff, M. U. v p. III). farc-iō (i, fartu-s farcī-tu-s). cup-iō (i, cuperet cupiret cupī-vī cupī-tu-s): Skr. kup-ya-ti etc., see § 707 p. 236. fug-iō (i, fūgī fugi-tūru-s): Gr. πιφύζοτες, see § 707 p. 236. in-quiō in-quiunt (i) for sq-iō*, cp. in-qu-a-m (Class X § 583 p. 124) Gr. ἐν-σπ-ε 'said', ✓seq-.

§ 718. It is often doubtful to which type, (A) or (B), a word belongs. ven-iō (i, vēnī in-ventu-s), beside Skr. -gam-yá-tē etc., see § 707 p. 235. cap-iō (i, cēpī cap-tu-s): Goth. haf-ja O.H.G. heff(i)u 'I lift up'. sap-iō (i, sap-uī sapī-vī): O.H.G. int-seff(i)u 'I mark'. ap-iō coepiō (i, aptu-s); cp. § 600 p. 144 on Skr. ap-nó-mi. sal-iō (i, sal-uī salī): Gr. ἄλλομαι 'I leap' for ἀλ-ιο-. fod-iō (i, fossu-s, fodī-rī).

§ 719. Keltic. It is difficult to understand the Keltic inflexions, because the Third Conjugation in Irish has absorbed all Denominatives in -iō -e-iō and -i-iō, and all Causals in -e-iō. General remarks on the iō-conjugations in § 702 pp. 229 f.

An account of the confusion in Irish between the First and Third Conjugations is given in § 520 p. 84.

Type A. O.Ir. -lēciu 'I leave, let' for leik_y-iō* (I § 436 Rem. p. 325): Skr. ric-ya-tē etc., type B, see § 707 p. 236. midíur 'I give judgement or opinion', beside Gr. μῆδομαι 'I meditate upon'. -ciu 'I see' for ces-iō*.

-tau -tō 'I am' for stā-iō*: Avest. ā-stā-yā etc., see § 706 p. 234. For the inflexion of this present stem see § 584 Rem. p. 126.

Type B. O.Ir. do muiniur 'I think, believe' for man-iō*-Idg. m_h-iō*:- Gr. μαίνομαι etc., see § 707 p. 235. -gainedar 'is born' from √gen:- cp. Gr. γίνομαι, type A. biu 'I am' for b_hy-iō*: Lat. fīō etc., see § 707 p. 235; the stem b_hy-i-* must be contained in Mid.Cymr. imper. 3rd sing. bit 3rd pl. bint (but Mod.Cymr. bydd- for bij-*), while -iē -iō- is the suffix in Ir. 3rd sing. biid bith bīd 3rd pl. biit bīt and 1st pl. -biam 3rd pl. -biat. -gniu 'I make' for ḡn-iō* √gen- 'gignere', goes like biu.

Belonging to either (A) or (B): Mid.Ir. airim 'I plough': Goth. ar-ja Lith. ar-iū.

§ 720. Germanic. On the iō-suffix here, see § 702 p. 230. There was a confusion between some persons of the present in this class and those of Denominatives in -e-iō or -i-iō, and Causals in -eiō. This caused a general commingling of the forms, reaching to non-present stems; the course of which it is very difficult to trace.

Verner's Law (I § 529 pp. 384 ff.) proves that some verbs were accented on the root in protoethnic Germanic: Goth. haf-ja O.H.G. heff(i)u Goth. skap-ja (pret. skōþ), beside O.H.G. int-seff(i)u. See § 705 p. 233. In skap-ja the accent seems to have been shifted, as in Skr. ḥi-ya-ti etc. (§ 710 p. 245); for Gr. ἀσκηθῆς 'scatheless', which must be connected with skap-ja (pret. skōþ), points to a √skāth-. That Germanic inherited forms with an accented suffix, type B (cp. mr-iyá-tē tud-yá-tē) seems to follow from O.Sax. thiggian A.S. diczean as though the verbal stem were qr- (§ 707 p. 235); a similar origin must be supposed for Lat. fī-tu-m cupī-tu-s and others (§§ 715 ff.).

§ 714. The identity of ending in σπάζω ἑσπαῖα (σπαγ- 'slay') and forms like φράζω ἑφραῖα (φρακ- 'enclose') produced σπάττω as a bye-form to σπάζω, by analogy with φράττω. Vice versa, we have βράζω in late Greek instead of βράττω (βρατ- 'seethe, bluster, roar') by analogy of such words as φράζω (φραδ- 'give to understand'), because almost all the forms of verbs in -r-, -θ-, and -δ- are alike except in the present stem, ἔβρασ(α) like ἔφρασ(α), and so forth. See Mucke, De Consonarum in Greca lingua geminatione, I (1883) pp. 17 ff.; Osthoff, Perfect 296 ff. and 322 f.

As regards the relation of μáíνομαι to ἐμάνην μεμάνημαι μεμανηώς μανήσομαι, or of χαίρω to ἐχάρην κεχαρηώς κεχαρήσω, see § 708 pp. 238 ff.

§ 715. Italic. In Latin, post-consonantal -iō became -iō, just as medīu-s* became mediu-s (I § 135 p. 122); thus morior for moriō(r)* mṛiō*. In Oscan, -iō- is seen in heriad 'velit', and other words.

Lat. in-ciēns for -cu-īe-* (as sociu-s for socu-īo-s*, vol. I loc. cit.) beside qu-eō = Skr. śv-áyāmi (§ 790). So also farcio for farcu-īō* beside frequ-ēns.

Why we have now -i- and now -ī-, as in cap-i-s farc-ī-s, no rule has so far been discovered to show. Often enough the same verb has both quantities, as morī-mur and morī-mur; so that we find in Latin both the peculiarities which we saw divided between Baltic and Slavonic (Lith. smirdi-me O.C.Sl. smrīdi-mū). In Umbrian and Oscan all the recorded forms have -ī- — doubtless an accident: Umbr. heris hereitu heritu beside heriest 'volet' cp. Skr. hár-ya-ti, an-ovihimu 'induimino' (ihi == ī) beside Lith. aviù 'I wear something on my feet' (1st pl. āvi-me).

As the present stems of which Lat. farcio is one were inflected just like denominatives in -i-īo- (§ 777), it cannot be wondered at that the analogy of these denominatives caused non-present forms with -ī- to be coined, such as farcī-tus beside fartu-s from farcīō; cp. § 713 on Gr. ἐξ-ίδιου and φι-ρυ.

In the lists which follow below, i or ī is added in brackets to show the quantity of the weak-grade vowel in the 2nd singular etc.; and it is stated whether ī is ever found outside the present stem.

§ 716. Type A. Lat. ap-(v)eriō op-(v)eriō (ī, aper-ui aper-tu-s operī-mentu-m): Lith. ũž-veriu, see § 706 p. 233. fer-iō (ī, feriū feri-tūru-s): Lith. bar-iũ 'I scold' O.C.Sl. bor-ja 'I fight' and probably O.Icel. ber 'I strike' (inf. berja) from the ground-form bh̥r-īō*, type B. Ital. her-īo- her-ījo- her-ī- in Umbr. heris heriest hereitu Osc. heriad, see § 706 p. 233, § 715. Lat. spec-iō (i, spec-tu-s): Skr. pás-ya-ti, see § 706 p. 234. Umbr. an-ovihimu 'induimino': Lith. av-iũ 'I wear something on my feet' (1st pl. āv-i-me inf. avē-ti) and Lett. áu-ju 'I put something on my feet' (1st pl. áu-ja-m inf. áu-t) O.C.Sl. (ob-)u-ja, same meaning (1st pl. -u-je-mũ inf. -u-ti). Lat. pav-iō (ī, pavī-vi pavī-tus): Lith. piáu-ju 'I cut, mow, slay' (piũ-ti-s 'slice, harvest'). haur-iō (ī, haus-tu-s haurī-tu-s). jac-iō (i, jac-tu-s). crōc-iō (ī, subst. crōcī-tu-s), see § 706 p. 234.

To the same group must belong Lat. nōlī nōlīte, from a lost verb velīō*; cp. O.C.Sl. velja velē-ti 'to command', O.H.G. 1st sing. willu 'I wish' Goth. viljan viljands, see § 505 p. 69.

stō (Idg. stā-īō*) came under the influence of presents like in-trō for tr-a-īō*; hence stās etc. See § 584 Rem. p. 126. A similar explanation may be given of for fatur, see § 495 p. 56 and § 706 p. 234.

§ 717. Type B. Lat. mor-ior (i or ī, mor-tuo-s mori-tūru-s), Avest. mer^e-yē-iti, see § 707 p. 235. or-ior (i or ī, or-tu-s ori-tūru-s), ground-form r-īo-*, akin to Skr. r-ṇō-mi § 639 p. 177. par-iō (i, peperi par-tu-s pari-tūru-s, parivret) for p̥r-īō* (I § 306 p. 242). re-periō 'I bring to light again, find' suō (sū-tu-s) and spuō (spū-tu-s) probably for sū-(i)ō spū-(i)ō as neō for nē-(i)ō*: Gr. κυσσώ πτόω etc., see § 707 p. 236.

(i, -pertu-s): Lith. per-iù (1st pl. pẽr-i-me) type A. fīō fī-s fiere fierī (fī-tu-m, cp. Gr. φῖ-τυ § 713 p. 247): O.Ir. b-iu etc., Idg. bhū-ijō*, see § 707 p. 235; f-īō f-īunt (instead of f-īō f-īunt) took ī from fīs etc., a peculiarity which is explained by the unique character of this verb — it is the only one in which the suffix -iō carried the chief accent; Osc. fiiet 'fiunt' with the ending -ent instead of -ont (p. 231 footnote). suf-fīō (i, -fi-vī -fī-tu-s) ground-form -dhū-ijō*: cp. Skr. dhū-yá-tē etc., see § 707 p. 236. in-ciēns for -cu-je-*, cp. Gr. ἐγ-κίω 'I am pregnant' and Lat. qu-eō (§ 715 p. 248); probably -ciēns: -κίω = fīō (pr. Ital. fu-ijō*): qúω Lesb. qvíω. cliēns, from √klej- 'clinare' (Leo Meyer, Bezz. Beitr. v 182 f.), probably for cli-je-*: cp. Skr. pass. śrī-ya-tē. grad-iōr (i, gressu-s; ag-gredior with i or i): Skr. gr̥dh-ya-ti, see § 707 p. 236. lac-iō (i, -lectu-s) for lk-*, beside O.H.G. locchōn 'to entice' (Osthoff, M. U. v p. III). farc-iō (i, fartu-s farcī-tu-s). cup-iō (i, cuperet cupiret cupī-vī cupī-tu-s): Skr. kup-ya-ti etc., see § 707 p. 236. fug-iō (i, fūgī fugi-tūru-s): Gr. πιφύζετε, see § 707 p. 236. in-quiō in-quiunt (i) for sq-ijō*, cp. in-qu-a-m (Class X § 583 p. 124) Gr. ἐν-σπ-ε 'said', √seq-.

§ 718. It is often doubtful to which type, (A) or (B), a word belongs. ven-iō (i, vēnī in-ventu-s), beside Skr. -gam-yá-tē etc., see § 707 p. 235. cap-iō (i, cēpī cap-tu-s): Goth. haf-ja O.H.G. heff(i)u 'I lift up'. sap-iō (i, sap-uī sapī-vī): O.H.G. int-seff(i)u 'I mark'. ap-iō coepiō (i, aptu-s); cp. § 600 p. 144 on Skr. ap-nō-mi. sal-iō (i, sal-uī salī): Gr. ἀλλομαι 'I leap' for ἀλ-λο-. fod-iō (i, fossu-s, fodī-rī).

§ 719. Keltic. It is difficult to understand the Keltic inflexions, because the Third Conjugation in Irish has absorbed all Denominatives in -iō -e-iō and -i-iō, and all Causals in -e-iō. General remarks on the iō-conjugations in § 702 pp. 229 f.

An account of the confusion in Irish between the First and Third Conjugations is given in § 520 p. 84.

Type A. O.Ir. -lēciu 'I leave, let' for leiky-īō* (I § 436 Rem. p. 325): Skr. ric-ya-tē etc., type B, see § 707 p. 236. midíur 'I give judgement or opinion', beside Gr. μεδόμεαι 'I meditate upon'. -ciu 'I see' for ces-īō*.

-tau -tō 'I am' for stā-īō*: Avest. a-stā-yā etc., see § 706 p. 234. For the inflexion of this present stem see § 584 Rem. p. 126.

Type B. O.Ir. do muiniur 'I think, believe' for man-īō* Idg. mṇ-īō*:- Gr. μαίνομαι etc., see § 707 p. 235. -gainedar 'is born' from $\sqrt{\text{gen-}}$: cp. Gr. γείνομαι, type A. biu 'I am' for bhy-īō*: Lat. fiō etc., see § 707 p. 235; the stem bhy-ī-* must be contained in Mid.Cymr. imper. 3rd sing. bit 3rd pl. bint (but Mod.Cymr. bydd- for bij-*), while -iie- -iio- is the suffix in Ir. 3rd sing. biid bīth bīd 3rd pl. biit bīt and 1st pl. -biam 3rd pl. -biat. -gniu 'I make' for ḡn-īō* $\sqrt{\text{gen-}}$ 'gignere', goes like biu.

Belonging to either (A) or (B): Mid.Ir. airim 'I plough': Goth. ar-ja Lith. ar-iū.

§ 720. Germanic. On the īō-suffix here, see § 702 p. 230. There was a confusion between some persons of the present in this class and those of Denominatives in -e-īō or -i-īō, and Causals in -eiō. This caused a general commingling of the forms, reaching to non-present stems; the course of which it is very difficult to trace.

Verner's Law (I § 529 pp. 384 ff.) proves that some verbs were accented on the root in protoethnic Germanic: Goth. haf-ja O.H.G. heff(i)u Goth. skap-ja (pret. skōþ), beside O.H.G. int-seff(i)u. See § 705 p. 233. In skap-ja the accent seems to have been shifted, as in Skr. ṛj-ya-ti etc. (§ 710 p. 245); for Gr. ἀ-σκητής 'scatheless', which must be connected with skap-ja (pret. skōþ), points to a $\sqrt{\text{skath-}}$. That Germanic inherited forms with an accented suffix, type B (cp. mr-iyá-tē tud-yá-tē) seems to follow from O.Sax. thiggian A.S. dicgean

'to receive, assume' from $\sqrt{teg-}$ (Lith. tèk-ti 'to reach') and A.S. friczean 'to experience' from $\sqrt{prek-}$ (Lat. precārī).

On present stems with -iō- as bye-forms of the ē-present, such as O.Sax. hebbiu beside O.H.G. habē-m (Goth. haba habái-s), see § 708 pp. 238 ff.

§ 721. Type A. O.H.G. wirk(i)u 'I work' (pret. worhtu worahta): Gr. ἔργω, see § 706 p. 234; parallel B-stems O.H.G. wurk(i)u Goth. vaurkja. O.H.G. liggh(i)u 'I lie' (pret. lag), O.Icel. ligg (inf. liggja) from $\sqrt{leg-}$; Goth. liga instead of ligja* follows ligis etc., as in later O.H.G. we get ligu instead of ligg(i)u following ligis etc. (§ 702 p. 230). O.H.G. sizzu 'I sit' (pret. saz), O.Icel. sit (inf. sitja): compare probably πιέζω 'I press' (lit. 'I sit upon') for πι-αεδ-ιω* (cp. Skr. pass. pīdyatē for pi-zd-īe-*), perhaps also ἔζομαι (see § 563 p. 111); Goth. sita like liga. Goth. ga-hvatja 'I incite' (part. hvassa 'whetted, sharp') O.H.G. wezzu 'I whet, sharpen' (pret. wazta), beside Skr. cud- (pres. cōda-ti) 'to inflame, incite'. Goth. hlah-ja 'I laugh' (prep. hlōh). Goth. saia O.H.G. sāu 'I sow', pr. Germ. sē-iō*: Lith. sė-ju, see § 706 p. 234. O.H.G. tāu 'I suckle' ground-form dhē-iō* beside Goth. da-dlja (B), see § 707 p. 237.

§ 722. Type B. O.Icel. ber 'I strike' (inf. berja, pret. barða) pr. Germ. bar-iō* ground-form bh̥-iō*: Lith. bar-iù, see § 716 p. 249. Goth. hul-ja (pret. hulida) O.H.G. hull(i)u (pret. hulta) 'I cover, hide' ground-form k̥l-iō*, beside O.H.G. hilu 'I conceal'. O.Icel. symja 'to swim' beside svima, pret. svam, pr. Germ. s(u)um-ia-*. A.S. beō 'I am' ground-form bh̥(u)-iō*, 2nd and 3rd sing. bis bið 3rd pl. beoð (part. beōnde), O.H.G. 2nd sing. bis bist (for its 1st sing. we have bim, see § 507 pp. 73 f.): Lat. fīō etc., see § 707 p. 235. O.Icel. dý 'I shake' (inf. dý-ja, pret. dū-ða): Skr. dhū-yá-tē etc., see § 707 p. 236. O.Icel. lý 'I destroy, shatter, crush' (inf. lý-ja, pret. lū-ða): Gr. λέω (cp. § 527 Rem. 2 pp. 90 f.). Goth. vaurk-ja (pret. vaurhta) O.H.G. wurk(i)u (pret. worhta) 'I work' beside O.H.G. wirk(i)u, type A: Avest. ver'z-ye-iti etc., see § 707 p. 236, § 721. Goth. þaurseip mik 'I thirst', lit. 'it thirsts me' (pret. þaursida): Skr. tṛṣ-ya-ti 'thirsts'. O.H.G. gurt-(i)u 'I gird' (pret. gurta), beside Goth. gairda Class II A. O.H.G. wurg(i)u 'I throttle' (pret. wurcta): Lett. wirschu 'I jerk' (inf. wirft): parallel we have Lett. werschu (we'rschu and wér'schu) 'I turn, twist' Lith. verž-iù 'I tie', type A. Goth. þugk-ja 'I think' (pret. þuh-ta); parallel þagk-ja, which may answer to Lat. tongeō, see § 894. Goth. bug-ja 'I buy' (pret. baúhta). Goth. bidja O.H.G. bitt(i)u 'I beg, pray', ground-form bhidh-ið* $\sqrt{\text{bheidh-}}$, whose pret. is baþ bat following words like sat (I § 67 Rem. 3 p. 57); Goth. us-bida O.H.G. bitu a re-formate like liga, see § 702 p. 230. O.H.G. int-rihhit 'revelat', later -rihhit (part. int-rigan). O.H.G. sticch(i)u 'I embroider, stitch' (part. ki-stickit): Gr. σίζω, see § 713 p. 247. O.H.G. swizzu 'I sweat' (pret. swizta): Skr. svid-ya-ti 'sweats': the suffix -ið- is perhaps seen in Gr. ἰδ-ίω (§ 713 p. 247). Goth. skap-ja 'I hurt' (pret. skōþ), cp. Gr. ἀ-σκηθής 'unscathed', § 720 p. 251. O.H.G. ita-ruch(i)u 'rumino': Lith. rūg-iu 'I gulp, belch'. O.H.G. scutt(i)u 'I shake, shatter' (pret. scutta): cp. Lat. quat-iō -cutiō.

Goth. siu-ja 'I sew': Gr. κασάω etc., O.Icel. spj 'I spew' (pret. spjō and spūda): Gr. πρώω etc. See § 707 p. 236. Goth. da-ddja 'I give suck': Skr. dh-i-ya-ti etc., see § 707 p. 237.

§ 723. We are often in doubt whether forms belong to (A) or (B). Goth. haf-ja O.H.G. heff(i)u 'I lift up' (pret. hōf, huob): Lat. cap-iō. O.H.G. int-seff(i)u 'I mark' (pret. -suab): Lat. sap-iō. Goth. ar-ja O.H.G. er-iu 'I plough' (pret. O.H.G. iar ier): Mid.Ir. airim Lith. ar-iù O.C.Sl. or-ja 'I plough'. O.H.G. swer-iu 'I swear' (pret. suuor).

In quite a large number of the above named verbs with weak preterites it is doubtful whether the original ending of the present ought not rather to be assumed as -éiō (Class XXXII). Thus, for example, Goth. hulja may be derived from kʷl-éið*, with the same weak root-syllable as is found in Skr. turáya-ti and elsewhere (§ 790).

§ 724. Balto-Slavonic. We first deal with forms of which the type is seen in Lith. lėž-iù lėž-ia-me O.C.Sl. bor-ja bor-je-mŭ. Next, the type Lith. smird-žiù smird-i-me O.C.Sl. smrǫdą smrǫd-i-mŭ (see § 702 pp. 230 f.). These are combined with a different formation in the infinitive stem, for which reason we add the infinitive in each case.

§ 725. 1. Forms with -iō- -iē- running right though.

Type A. Lith. už-veriu 'I close, shut' (-ver-ti): Lat. op-(v)eriō, see § 706 p. 233. ger-iù 'I drink' (gér-ti). kelù (kel-iù*) 'I lift, raise' (kél-ti). želù (žēl-iù*) 'I grow green' (žél-ti). O.C.Sl. mel-ja 'I grind' (mlēti for mel-ti*). stel-ja 'I stretch out, spread' (stīla-ti). sten-ja 'I sigh' (stena-ti): Gr. στένω, see § 706 p. 233. vem-iù 'I vomit' (vém-ti).

Lith. pláu-ju 'I wash, lave, rinse' (pláu-ti), O.C.Sl. plu-ja 'I swim, sail on board ship' (plu-ti, parallel plovā plu-ti), ground-form pleu-iō*. Lett. áu-ju (áu-t) O.C.Sl. (ob-)u-ja (-u-ti) 'put on covering to the feet' (Lith. aunù instead of older au-ju*), ground-form eu-iō*, cp. Lith. intrans. av-iù av-ē-ti § 727. Lith. száu-ja 'I shoot' (száu-ti), O.C.Sl. su-ja 'I throw, sling' (sov-a-ti), ground-form skeu-iō*.

Lett. lēi-ju (lī-t) Lith. lē-ju (lē-ti) 'I pour' for lei-iō*, compare perhaps with O.C.Sl. li-ja 'I pour'. Lett. slēi-ju (slī-t) Lith. szlē-jù (szlē-ti) 'I lean against, support', cp. Lith. szlei-vi-s szlei-va-s 'bandy-legged', ✓ klei-. Lett. smēi-ju 'I laugh' (smī-t), ✓ smei-. Lith. lē-ju szlē-jù, possibly for the regular lei-ju szlei-ju by analogy of lē-ti lē-tu etc., cp. I § 68 Rem. 2 p. 61.¹⁾ O.C.Sl. li-ja may be placed under Type B (§ 726) along with Lith. ly-jù 'I rain' pa-szly-ju 'stumble'. Parallel are līja and lēja, also smēja sē 'I laugh' zēja 'hio'. These latter forms, analysed as lēj-a smēj-a zēj-a, belong with sēk-a 'I hew, cut' to Class II A (cp. Gr. μύδομαι etc. § 514 p. 81), and Lith. spiáu-ju (spiáu-ti) O.C.Sl. plju-jā (pljŭva-ti) 'I vomit', cp. Gr. πτύω etc., (B); see § 707 p. 236. O.C.Sl. žu-jā 'I chew', a bye-form of živ-a, Class II B, § 534 p. 95.

§ 726. Type B. Lith. dir-iũ 'I flay' (dir-ti): Skr. dīr-ya-tē, see § 707 p. 235. spir-iũ 'I kick' (spir-ti): Gr. σπαίρω, see ibid. skir-iũ 'I part, cut' (skīr-ti) ✓ sqer-. gir-iũ 'I praise' (gīr-ti), beside gēr-as 'good'. Lith. bar-iũ 'I scold' beside bar-ũ (bār-ti), O.C.Sl. bor-jā 'I fight' (brati for bor-ti*), ground-form bhṛ-iō*: O.Icel. ber 'I strike' (inf. berja) for pr. Germ. bar-iō*, which probably comes from a form bhṛ-iō*; on the other hand, we have Lat. fer-iō following type A (§ 716 p. 249). Lith. skilũ (skil-iũ*) 'I strike fire, kindle' (skil-ti): Gr. σκάλλω, see § 707 p. 235. Lith. kalũ (kal-iũ*) 'I strike, forge' beside kal-ũ (kāl-ti), O.C.Sl. kol-jā 'I slaughter' (klati for kol-ti*), ground-form qf-iō*.

O.C.Sl. žŭn-jā 'I cut off, reap' (žę-ti): Skr. han-yā-tē, see § 707 p. 235.

O.C.Sl. ry-jā 'I grub up, dig' (ry-ti) beside rŭv-a 'I tear out', Class II B, O.H.G. riu-ti 'land made fruitful by digging'; Lith. ráu-ju 'I pull out of the earth, pull up' (ráu-ti), (A). Lith. ly-jũ 'I rain' (lŷ-ti) with which O.C.Sl. li-jā is perhaps connected; parallel Lith. lẽ-ju, (A), § 725 p. 254. Lith. gy-jũ 'I get well, revive' (gŷ-ti).

Lith. rũg-iu 'I gulp, belch' (rũk-ti): O.H.G. ita-ruch(i)u 'rumino'. grūd-žiu 'I stamp' (grūs-ti). O.C.Sl. sŭšā 'I dry' for such-iā* (sŭcha-ti): Skr. śuṣ-ya-ti, see § 707 p. 236. lŭžā 'I lie' for lŭg-iā* (lŭga-ti). pšā 'I strike, rub' (pšcha-ti): Skr. piṣ-ya-tē 'is broken or crushed to bits'.

Lett. schu-ju for siu-iu* (pret. schuw-u inf. schũ-t), O.C.Sl. šijā for sig-iā* (ši-ti) 'I sew': Gr. ᾠαστέω etc., see § 707 p. 236.

§ 727. (2) Forms with -iō- : -ī-. There is no evidence that -iō- was originally dissyllabic. This cannot be inferred from the Lithuanian av-iū srav-iū (1st pl. āv-i-me srāv-i-me) as contrasted with pláu-ju (1st pl. pláu-ja-me); these may have been influenced by persons with the stem av-i- srav-i-. The weak grade is regularly -ī- in Lithuanian (compare future with -s-i-, § 761) and in Slavonic regularly -ī-. It appears also in the 3rd plural and the participle, Lith. smirdint- O.C.Sl. smřǫdet-, while here the original form was most likely -iō-; on O.C.Sl. smřǫd-et- for -int-, see § 637 Rem. p. 176.

Idg. bhū-iō-* bhū-ī-* from $\sqrt{bhe}$ - 'become, be' (§ 707 p. 235) has many descendants in Balto-Slavonic. Lith. 3rd sing. bi-ti bi-t 'erat' (erant)', which is irregular in having a primary personal ending; plural 1st pers. sùktum-bime 2nd -bite dual 1st -biva 2nd -bita, old injunctives, first used with preterite meaning, now in clauses expressing a wish.) With the pr. Lith. present bijū* is closely parallel the Lettic preterite biju 'eram' biji bija pl. bijám biját, which is related to Lat. fīam (instead of fiam*) as Lith. buvaū to Lat. fuam. Along with these goes the Slavonic conditional (impossible condition), originally a preterite injunctive formation, made up with bi-mī bi bi bi-mū; 2) the 1st sing. has got a primary personal ending, like Lith. 3rd sing. biti. For the 2nd pl. they used biste, a form of the s-aorist; to fill up gaps, the 1st pl. bichomū and 3rd pl. bišē were coined by analogy (cp. O.C.Sl. běchomū from bě § 587 p. 128, and Lat. fitum Gr. φῖτν). For 3rd pl. was used bā (beside bišē), also injunctive in origin, Class II B (§ 523 p. 87).

Remark. The view of these forms set forth by Wiedemann, Lit. Prät. 136 ff., is untenable. O.C.Sl. bi-mū cannot be separated from Lith. -bi-me; and to regard this Lith. form as an optative with orig. -i- is opposed to phonetic law as completely as the assumption that Lith. dũ sim(e) 'dabimus' is optative of the s- aorist (cp. § 761).

1) The 2nd sing. -bei admits of several explanations. It probably is akin to O.C.Sl. 2nd and 3rd sing. bě Gr. ἰφύη-ς ἰφύη (§ 587 pp. 127 ff.).

2) In the same way were used the aorist forms bychū by by bychomū etc.

Brugmann, Elements. IV.

With the remaining Balto-Slavonic verbs of this class we find regularly an infinitive stem in -ē, as Lith. smirdē-ti O.C.Sl. smřǫdē-ti beside smřǫdžiu smřǫžda (cp. O.C.Sl. bě běchũ běachũ beside bi-mũ, like smřǫdē smřǫdēchũ smřǫdēachũ beside smřǫdi-mũ). This, as we saw in § 708 pp. 238 ff., has a parallel in Greek; for instance, μαίνομαι: ξυάνην μεμάρηώς μεμάρημαι μαρίσσομαι = O.C.Sl. mǫnjā: mǫnē mǫnēvũ mǫnēchũ (Lith. mǫnē minēsiu). In Italic and Germanic, there are only some parallel io-presents, as Lat. nōti O.H.G. willu Goth. vīljan: O.C.Sl. veljā; O.Sax. pl. libbiad partic. libbiandi: O.C.Sl. -lǫpljā. Here we usually find presents in ē, as Lat. valeō: Lith. galũ, O.H.G. lebēm: O.C.Sl. -lǫpljā.

Lith. tylũ (i. e. tyl-ĩũ*) tylē-ti 'to be still' (long ĩ-sound not original): O.H.G. dolē-m 'I suffer, endure', ✓tel- 'carry, bear'. O.C.Sl. mǫnjā mǫnē-ti 'to think': Skr. mán-ya-tē, Gr. μαίνομαι, O.Ir. do muiniur Goth. muna 'I bethink me, think of, wish' 2nd sing. mundis, see § 707 p. 235. Lith. girdžiu girdē-ti 'I apprehend, hear': Gr. φράζω, see § 707 p. 236. O.C.Sl. držā-ti 'contain, possess': Skr. dṛṣh-ya-ti 'makes fast'. O.C.Sl. -lǫpljā -lǫpē-ti 'to cling to': Skr. pass. lip-ya-tē 'is smeared or anointed', O.Sax. libbiu O.H.G. lebē-m 'I live' (the O.Icel. lifa 'to be over, remain, live' helps to make clear how one meaning came out of the other). Lith. pa-výdžiu -vydēti 'invidere' O.C.Sl. vižda vidē-ti 'to see': Skr. vid-yá-tē 'is known, recognised, found', Lat. videō, Goth. vita 'to look at a thing, observe' 2nd sing. vitái-s. O.C.Sl. būžda būdē-ti 'to wake, watch': Skr. būdḥ-ya-tē 'awakes, perceives' pass. budh-yá-tē. O.C.Sl. rūžda rūdē-ti 'to blush': Lat. rubeō. O.C.Sl. kypjā kypē-ti 'to boil, seethe': Skr. kup-ya-ti, Lat. cupiō, see § 707 p. 236. O.C.Sl. stojā stōja-ti 'to stand': Skr. pass. sthī-ya-tē instead of stha-ya-tē*, O.H.G. 2nd sing. stēs for sta-ĩi-zi*, see § 706 p. 234, § 708 p. 240.

O.C.Sl. govljā govē-ti 'venerari, vereri', pres. also govějā:

Lat. faveō. Lith. galù (i. e. gal-iu*) galē-ti 'to be able': Lat. valeō (otherwise Bezzenberger, in his Beitr. xvi 256).

O.C.Sl. veljā velē-ti 'to command': Lat. nōlī, O.H.G. willu 'I wish' Goth. viljan 'to wish', see § 505 p. 69, § 716 p. 249. Lith. aviū avē-ti 'to be shod': Umbr. an-ovihimu √ey-, see § 716 p. 249.

Lastly it should be mentioned that in Balto-Slavonic the non-present ē-forms are found along with other than iō-present stems: e. g. Lith. menū minēti 'to think of', gēlbu gēlbēti 'to help', gedū gedēti 'to lament, mourn', bundū budēti 'to watch', sēdmi sēdēti 'to sit', O.C.Sl. part. pres. gorat- beside gorēt- 'burning' from inf. gorēti, partic. vidomū 'ōpōμενος beside vidimū from inf. vidēti. The same thing is seen in Greek, as ἐθέλω : ἐθέλησω, νέμω : νέμηναι etc. (Curt. Verb. I² 384 ff.), and doubtless in Germanic, as Goth. haba habam haband may well belong to Class II (§ 708 pp. 239 f.).

Class XXVII.

Reduplicated Root + -iō- -iīō- forming the Present Stem.

§ 728. (A). Pr. Idg. There was a iō-Class with complete reduplication, closely connected with Classes VII and VIII. As regards the type of the reduplicating syllable see §§ 465—467, 470, and 474. Compare, for instance, Skr. dē-diṣ-yá-tē beside dē-diṣ-ṭe, varī-ṛt-yá-tē beside vārī-vart-ti. Probably the mode of conjugation with -iō- was occasioned by that of Class VII; cp. § 703 pp. 231 f.

Skr. vē-vij-yá-tē 'makes for, rushes against anything' and Gr. ῥίττω Hom. ῥίττω 'I rush towards' for fai-Fix-ιω*, apparently from √ua^xiq- ua^xiḡ- (§ 465 p. 12).

§ 729. Aryan. Only a few examples in Vedic, but later this type of Intensive spread very widely. car-cūr-yá-tē from car- 'to move'. nan-nam-yá-tē from nam- 'to bow, incline'.

nē-nī-yá-tē from nī- 'to lead'. cō-škū-yá-tē from sku- 'to cover'. mar-mṛj-yá-tē marī-mṛj-ya-tē from marj- 'to sweep off, wipe away'. kani-krad-yá-tē from krand- 'to roar'. vē-viṣ-ya-tē from viṣ- 'to be active'. nō-nud-ya-tē from nud- 'to knock away'. cā-kaś-ya-tē from kāś- 'to appear'. In Avestic there seems to be only one example, rā-riš-yē-iti 'hurts, wounds', cp. Skr. riś-ya-ti 'injures'.

§ 730. Greek. ἄττω for fai-fiz-izō*; see § 728 p. 259. γαυ-γαίρω (for -γαυ-izō*) 'I swarm'; μαρ-μαίρω 'I shimmer, glitter'. With πορ-φύρω 'I well up, heave, change colour' μοο-μύρω 'I roar, murmur' cp. πύρω § 713 p. 247. παμ-φαίρω (√bha-) shows a nasal suffix like φαίρω for φα-ν-izō*; parallel Hom. παμφανόσσα. On παι-φάσσω, παι-πάλλω, ποι-φύσσω and the like, see § 465 Rem. p. 12.

§ 731. Italic. Lat. tin-tinnio (tī) beside tinnio. gin-griō (tī) beside garriō (cp. § 466 p. 13).

Of Keltic forms may be placed here the isolated Mid.Ir. der-drethar 'sounds, cries out' with the s-preterite derdrestar (§ 465 p. 12).

§ 732. Slavonic. O.C.Sl. glagoljā 'I speak' for gol-gol-jā*, 2nd sing. -je-ši etc. (glagola-ti), with the same reduplication as glagolū 'word'. mrŭ-mŭr-jā 'I gnaw', 2nd sing. -je-ši etc. (mrŭ-mŭra-ti).

§ 733. (B) It is rare in the Idg. languages to find the io-suffix with presents reduplicated in any other way; and in no language has this class become a large one. All the examples appear to be new formations. Skr. pass. dad-yá-tē 'datur' (beside dī-yá-tē) by analogy of dādā-mi dad-más, cp. partic. dat-ti-s, § 541 p. 102. Skr. pass. nind-ya-tē 'is scolded or blamed', if ninda-ti is to be analysed ni-nd-e-ti*, see § 550 p. 106. Avest. yaēš-yē-iti 'seethes, boils', which looks like a contamination of Skr. yēśa-ti i. e. ḡa-iś-ati* (§ 562 p. 110) and yás-ya-ti. Gr. Att. δειδύσσομαι Hom. δειδύσσομαι i. e. δεδφύσσομαι 'I frighten, or am frightened' for δε-δφιζ-izō-μαι*, beside δέ-δοικα (cp. Johansson, Beitr. gr. Spr., 80 f.). νίσομαι 'I go back, return' for νι-νσ-ιο-μαι* from $\sqrt{\text{nes-}}$ seems to presuppose ni-nes-mi*, which is represented by the Skr. 3rd pl. mid. nīs-atē (§ 539 p. 99). λiláioμαι 'I desire, long for' for λι-λασ-ιο-μαι*, cp. Skr. lašati for la-lša-ti* § 562 p. 110. τιταίνω 'I put to, yoke' ground-form ti-tḡ-īō*, cp. Lat. tendō, if this is for te-tn-ō* (§ 564 p. 111). O.Ir. -airissiur 'I remain standing' for *(pari)-sistiō(r) (I § 109 e p. 103, § 516 p. 377), beside Gr. ἱ-στῆ-μι Skr. tī-ṣṭh-a-ti Lat. si-st-ō § 539 p. 100. O.C.Sl. deždaq 'I lay' for de-d-īq* 2nd sing. deždeši etc. (inf. dě-ti) beside Lith. dē(d)-mi ded-ū § 546 pp. 103 f.

A peculiar reduplication is shown by certain Greek verbs. πα-φλάζω 'I bubble' beside φλέδων 'gossip', κα-χλάζω 'I gurgle', βᾱ-βράζω 'I chirp'. They are Intensives or Iteratives to the verbs named in § 730.

Class XXVIII.

Root + -ā-, -ē-, -ō-, + -īō- forming the Present Stem.

§ 734. The forms now to be noticed are closely connected with Classes X and XI (§§ 578 ff.), under which heads much has already been said of the īō-stems.

I believe that the original accentuation of this class is preserved in those Sanskrit verbs which have dissyllabic stems before -ya-, such as grbhā-yá-ti, and by Sanskrit passives like trā-yá-tē (§ 703 p. 232). trā-ya-tē has followed the lead of pác-ya-tē etc., and trā-yá-tē : trā-ya-tē = ric-yá-tē : ric-ya-tē (§ 710 p. 245).

§ 735. Unreduplicated Forms.

Pr. Idg. trā-īō-*: Skr. trā-ya-tē 'protects, saves' pass. trā-yá-tē, Lat. in-trō for trā-īō*, with which is doubtless connected O.C.Sl. tra-jq 'I last, endure' (inf. traja-ti). Skr. sn-ā-ya-tē 'bathes himself', Lat. nō for sn-ā-īō*. Lat. hiō for hiā-iō*, Lith. žió-ju 'I open my mouth' (inf. žió-ti), cp. Lat. hī-scō O.H.G. gi-nō-m gei-nō-m 'I gape'. Compare § 579. Lat. arō for arā-iō*, Gr. ἀράω 'I plough' pr. Gr. *ἀρά-(ι)ω (§ 583 p. 124, § 775). With these primary verbs should be classed several very wide-spread onomatopoeic or imitative verbs, as Gr. ἐλάω -ῶ 'I roar' Lith. ulō-ju 'I call, shout for joy, cheer' (also reduplicated ululō-ju = Lat. ululō): Gr. ὀχάουμι -ῶμαι 'I bray, hee-haw' Lat. uncō; Gr. μιχάουμι -ῶμαι 'mugio' Umbr. mugatu 'mugito, muttito'.

sn-ē-iō*:- Gr. νῆ 'spins' for σνῆ-μει* (Mekler, Beitr. zur Bild. des gr. Verb., p. 18), Lat. neō, O.H.G. nāu 'I sew'. ġn-ē-iō*- ġn-ō-iō*:- Skr. pass. jñāyá-tē 'noscitur' (-ē- or -ō-?), O.H.G. knāu 'I know' (-ē-, but cp. p. 128 footnote), O.C.Sl. zna-jā 'I know' (-ō-, inf. zna-ti). Lat. fl-eō, O.H.G. blāu 'I blow' pr. Germ. bl-ē-iō*, perhaps too O.C.Sl. bl-ě-jā 'I bleat' (inf. blěja-ti). Skr. v-ā-ya-ti 'blows', Goth. v-aia O.H.G. w-āu 'I blow', O.C.Sl. v-ě-jā 'I blow' (inf. věja-ti). Lat. taceō for tac-ē-iō*, Goth. þaháiþ for þahē-i-i-ði*. Lat. fav-eō, O.C.Sl. gov-ěja 'veneror, vereor' (§ 590 p. 132). Compare §§ 587, 708.

§ 736. Aryan. Skr. tr-ā-ya-tē 'protects' pass. trā-yá-tē, Avest. pra-ye-iti 'protects': Lat. -trō, see § 735. Skr. śr-ā-ya-ti 'boils, cooks', cp. Gr. ξέ-χρᾶ-ται. Pass. mn-ā-ya-tē 'commemoratur', cp. Gr. Dor. μέ-μνᾶ-ται. Pass. ml-ā-ya-ti 'grows soft', cp. Gr. Dor. βλ-ᾶ-ξ. py-ā-ya-tē 'swells' beside páy-a-tē pī-páy-a pī-py-ā-ná-s. y-ā-ya-tē pass. 'itur', cp. Goth. jē-r and Lith. jó-ju. khy-ā-ya-tē pass. 'is seen', cp. aor. á-khy-a-t. śy-ā-ya-ti 'curdles, congeals', cp. part. śī-tá-s. Compare §§ 580 and 588.

Also verbs in -ā-yá-ti in which the root formed a complete syllable. The speaker imagined these to be parallel with prtanā-yá-ti manā-yá-ti and the like (§§ 617, 769) — there really was no difference in character, if we are right in identifying the verb-suffix -ā- with the feminine suffix — and therefore kept the old accent without changing it as in trāya-tē. Skr. grbhā-yá-ti 'seizes' O.Pers. a-garbāya-m, Skr. damā-yá-ti 'over-powers' (cp. Lat. domāre), Skr. tudā-yá-ti 'pushes', pruṣā-yá-ti 'spurts out'.

§ 737. Greek. δρά-λω* 'I do' δρῶ δρῶ, beside Lith. daraũ 'I do', cp. δρ-αίνω § 621 p. 159. πα-λω* 'I bring into effect, carry out' for κα-ιδ* (II § 117 p. 371): El. imper. ἐπ-επ-ήτω, cp. Skr. śv-ā- in śa-śvāyin- 'swelling' etc. ἰάομαι ἰῶμαι 'I heal' for is-ā-ido-*, is related to ἰαίνω (§ 743) as δρῶ to δραίνω. ἀράω 'I plough', ἐλάω, ὀγκάζομαι, μῆζάομαι, see § 735 p. 262.

χο-η-λω* 'I give an oracle' χοῶ χοῦ, partic. χορήων Od. 8. 79. Dor. φλ-η-λω* 'I wish, desire' (beside Lat. vel-le) λῶ λῦ El. opt. λγοίτᾱν; the Gort. λῆω (e. g. 3rd pl. conj. λῆιωντι) for λῆω* is formed like χορήομαι: was this derived from τὸ χοῖος, or was it a formation like Skr. causal pyā-y-āya-ti? (cp. § 801). κν-η-λω* 'I rub, scratch' (cp. κν-ύω) κνῶ κνῦ. ζῆ-η-λω* 'I live' for gē-ē-ido* (✓ gei-) ζῶ ζῦ; the forms ἔζην ζῆθι are later and follow Class X (cp. § 496 p. 56); with -ō-, ζώ-ω Gort. δῶω (δῶσι δῶωντι etc.), like O.C.Sl. znaja beside O.H.G. kndu (§ 735). ψ-η-λω* 'I grind or crush to pieces' (Skr. ps-ā-ti § 587 p. 128) ψῶ ψῦ.

§ 738. Italic. In Latium only the 1st sing. pres. has the io-suffix, the other persons being formed after Class X. This was perhaps due in part to the early loss of the personal ending -mi in Italic, whence it became possible for volō to take its place in the same scheme as vult, eō beside it.

-ā-īō. in-trō nō hiō see §§ 735, 736. fl-ō, pl. fl-ā-mus. Also juv-ō lav-ō and suchlike. See § 583 p. 124.

-ē-īō. pleō neō fleō vieō, also taceō scateō videō sileō faveō valeō habeō etc. See §§ 587, 590, 708.

§ 739. Germanic. Monosyllabic stems in -i- and -ō- almost wholly gave up the unthematic inflexion, and took that with -iō- (§ 592 p. 133). O.H.G. nāu 'I sew' kndau 'I know' Goth. vaia O.H.G. wāu 'I blow', see § 735. O.H.G. drāu 'I turn, twist', tr-ē-* from ✓ ter-, cp. Gr. τρ-ῆ-μα 'hole' τρ-ε-τρο-ν 'borer'. There may be Idg. -ō-īō in O.H.G. bluoīu bluoncu O.Sax. blōiu 'I bloom', cp. Lat. fl-ō-s (gen. fl-ō-r-is); it must remain uncertain whether we have -ō-īō or -ā-īō as the ending in O.H.G. gluoīu gluoncu 'I glow' (✓ ghel-).

Dissyllabic stems in -ē- and -ā- have both non-thematic and īo-flexion.

Dissyllabic ē-stems in Gothic show īo-flexion in forms containing ái, such as þaháis þaháiþ (the 1st sing. is þaha 'I am silent') for -ē-īi-zi -ē-īi-ði*: Lat. taceō. Compare also Goth. vitáiþ 'looks at, regards': Lat. videō, siláiþ 'is silent': Lat. sileō; habáiþ 'has': Lat. habeō. Compare § 592 p. 133, § 708 pp. 238 ff. On the spread of this ē-flexion to nasal present stems, see § 605 pp. 146 f., § 623 p. 160; on the formation of ē-verbs from nouns, § 781. 3.

Dissyllabic ā-stems were inflected just like the later stratum of ā-denominatives (as Goth. fairinōn from fairina). The īo-extension is clearly seen only in Anglo-Frisian, as A.S. 1st sing. -ie pl. -iað for pr. Germ. -ō-īa- see § 781. 1. Examples of "primary" verbs are: Goth. mītō 'I mete, measure' O.H.G. mezzōm 'I moderate', Goth. bi-láigō 'I lick all over' (cp. Lith. laižu 'I lick' inf. laižý-ti), O.H.G. fehōm 'I adorn' O.H.G. mahhōm 'I make'. Compare § 579 p. 121, § 585 p. 126.

§ 740. Balto-Slavonic.

-ā-īo-. Lith. žió-ju O.C.Sl. tra-ją see § 735. Lith. jó-ju 'I ride' (jó-ti), see § 587 p. 128. Probably also Lith. gró-ju (gró-ti) O.C.Sl. gra-ją (graja-ti) 'I croak', Lith. kló-ju 'spread out' (kló-ti), and others. Some of the Lithuanian "Iteratives" are in place here, as lindo-ju beside lindau 'I put in' (lindo-ti), rymo-ju beside rymau 'I sit supported on something' (rymo-ti), svyró-yu 'I move to and fro' (svyró-ti), etc. So in O.C.Sl. Iteratives such as sūn-ědują 'comedo' (-ěda-ti), raz-vrīzaja 'I open' (-vrīza-ti), sū-biraja 'I gather' (-bira-ti). Compare §§ 586, 783.

-ē-īo-. O.C.Sl. blē-ją vē-ją see § 735. grē-ją 'I warm'

(grēja-ti). gově-ja 'veneror, vereor' (gově-ti): Lat. faveō, see § 735. Lithuanian "Diminutives" (Iteratives), as byrě-ju 'I scatter a little' or 'I am a little scattered' (byrě-ti), kylě-ju 'I lift a little' (kylě-ti), lukě-ju 'I wait a little' (lukě-ti). Compare §§ 593, 784.

-ō-jo- possibly in O.C.Sl. zna-ja, § 735, and perhaps in a few, none can say which, of O.C.Sl. verbs in -a-ja (Idg. -ā- and -ō- ran together in Slavonic).

§ 741. Reduplicated Forms.

The Reduplicated forms with a-suffix mentioned in § 595 have some of them the jo-extension. Lat. 1st sing. ululō, Lith. ululō-ju 'I call, shout for joy' (cp. ulō-ju Gr. ὑλάω § 735 p. 262). Lat. 1st sing. murmurō, cp. O.H.G. murmurōm murmulōm. Lat. 1st sing. tintinnō tintinō beside tintinn-iō (Class XXVII).

A later Greek form is κῑγ-κῑᾱ̃ 'κῑρνᾱ̃' (Hesych.) beside κῑγ-κῑᾱ̃-μῑ, see § 594 p. 135.

O.H.G. rērēm A.S. rārie, connected with Lith. rě-ju rě-ti 'I cry out loud', comes from a pr. Germ. raī-rē-jō*, see § 708 p. 240. ē in rē- was a suffix, as may be seen from Lett. rā-ju 'I scold' and other words (Per Persson, Wurzelerw. pp. 91, 196).

Class XXIX.

Nasal Stems + -jo- for the Present Stem.

§ 742. The formations here to be treated are connected with Classes XII to XVIII, and fall into three groups: those connected with (A) Classes XII to XIV, (B) Classes XV and XVI, and (C) Classes XVII and XVIII.

§ 743. (A) -n-jo- is fairly common only in Greek. Lesb. κλίννω Hom. Att. κλίνω 'I bend' for κλω-ι-ω*, beside O.Sax. hlinō-n etc. κρίνω 'I separate, choose out, distinguish' for κρι-ν-ι-ω*. στέρουμι 'I plunder' for σι-ν-ι-ο-μι*. ὁ-τιρένω

'I urge on' for ḍ-ṭṛv-r-ḥw*. φαίνω 'I show, make visible' for ḡa-r-ḥw*, beside Armen. ba-na-m 'I open' (bhə-na-mi*), √ bha-ḥaίνω 'I gape' for ḡa-r-ḥw*. See § 601 p. 144, § 611 p. 150. Lat. li-n-iō (li-n-ī-mus) beside li-nō, Skr. vi-līnāmi 'I dissolve, disintegrate' (intr.), see § 598 p. 142. O.Ir. ara-chri-nim 'difficiscor, I go to pieces' beside Skr. ḡ-ṇā-ti, see § 604 p. 146. O.H.G. spennu (= Goth. spanja*) 'I attract, charm' beside spa-nu i. e. spə-nō* √ spē-, see § 614 p. 152.

-ḡ-iō- was used even in pr. Idg., and is especially common in Sanskrit and Greek. Idg. is-ḡ-iō*: Skr. iṣ-an-yá-ti 'sets in motion, excites' Gr. λαίνω 'I quicken' beside Skr. iṣ-ana-t, Skr. tur-an-yá-ti 'hastens', bhur-an-yá-ti 'is brisk'. Gr. αἰαίνω 'I make dry' beside Lith. saũs-inu, ὀλισθαίνω 'I slip' beside ὀλισθαίνω, τεροσ-αίνω 'I make dry, κναινών ἔγκνους ὤν, ἐκ-γλ-αίνω 'I bubble or gush out', δο-αίνω 'I do', χο-αίνω 'I complete', ἔ-αίνω 'I scratch' and many more; -ainō became a very productive suffix. Armen. -anim, as meṛ-ani-m 'I die', like Gr. μαρ-αίνω. O.H.G. gi-wahannen 'to recount' (pret. gi-wuog), A.S. wæcnan 'awake' (pret. wōc). See §§ 618—621, § 623 pp. 156 ff., § 711 p. 246.

§ 744. (B) Present Stems with "Nasal Infix" become very common in Greek and Baltic. In explanation of the examples given below see §§ 628, 629, 631, 632, 634—637, pp. 164 ff.

Gr. πίσσω πρίττω 'I bray, pound' instead of older πτινσ-ḥw*, Lat. pīns-iō (pīns-ī-mus), beside Skr. pináṣ-ti á-piṣ-a-t.

Skr. pass. vand-ya-tē beside vanda-tē 'praises, honours' compare váda-ti ud-yá-tē; not a very old form.

Gr. λίζονται παίζουσιν probably for liṇḍ-ḥw*; σάμπ-τω 'I throw violently at' perhaps for saḥiṇ-ḥw*, beside Skr. kṣip-. λίξω 'I sob' for ḡeγγ-ḥw*, cp. λύξ λεγγάνομαι λεγκαίνω, √ s'a'ḡk-siā'ug-. πλάζω 'I strike, knock away' for plaγγ-ḥw*. κλάζω 'I shout, cry' for zlaγγ-ḥw*.

Lat. vinc-iō (i) beside Skr. vi-ryak-ti 'embraces, surrounds' 3rd dual vi-vik-tás. sanc-iō (i) beside sacer.

Lett. míschu 'mingo' for minz-iu*. Lith. jùng-iu 'I yoke, put to'. skùnd-žiu 'I weep, bewail myself' beside pra-skundù (pret. -skudaũ) 'I begin to smart'. sunk-iù 'I strain, filter, let something run through' beside Lett. swak-s 'resin'. Lett. kamp-ju 'I grasp, grip' beside Lat. cap-iō. Lith. lenk-iù 'I bend' ✓ leg-. sténg-iu 'I put my strength to' beside Gr. στίβω. O.C.Sl. žęžda 'I covet' (inf. žę-da-ti) beside Lith. geid-žiù. glęžda 'I look' (ględē-ti) beside O.H.G. glīzu. ob-ręšta 'I find' (-rešti).

§ 745. (C) Rare forms, undoubtedly late, are all that meet us in this section. O.C.Sl. mi-nu-ją 'I go over' beside mi-na, see § 649 p. 185.

Class XXX.

Root + s-Suffix + -iō- (the -s-iō- Future).

§ 746. Two groups of forms, with Present and Future meaning respectively.

(A) With Present meaning: fairly common nowhere but in Sanskrit, and for the most part clearly later extensions of the s-Present. As regards the examples here following, see §§ 656 and 657, pp. 190 ff.

Skr. tras-ya-ti beside tr-ása-ti 'trembles', Lith. tres-iù 'I am in rut' used of bitches (inf. tręsti). Skr. pluṣ-ya-tē pass. of plō-ṣa-ti 'burns, singes', Lat. prū-r-iō (prūrīre). Avest. uxš-yē-iti beside vax-ša-iti 'makes grow', Goth. vahs-ja 'I grow' (pret. vōhs).

Skr. śliṣ-ya-ti 'hangs on to, sticks to' pass. śliṣ-yá-tē, Avest. sraēš-yē-iti (same meaning) beside Skr. śrē-ṣa-ti á-śli-ṣa-t. Skr. iṣ-ya-ti Avest. iš-yē-iti 'sets in motion' beside Skr. i-ṣa-tē. Skr. tviṣ-ya-ti 'is excited, distracted' beside 3rd pl. á-tvi-ṣ-ur. ghuṣ-ya-ti 'cries out, announces loudly' pass. ghuṣ-yá-tē beside ghō-ṣa-ti. Pass. rakṣ-ya-tē beside rák-ṣa-ti 'guards, saves'. Pass. gras-ya-tē beside gr-asa-ti 'devours'.

Lith. tęs-iù 'I stretch' beside Skr. tq-sa-ti etc.

§ 747. (B) With Future Meaning.¹⁾ Even as early as the proethuic period -s-ḡo- (or -as-ḡo-) must have already become a simple suffix for expressing the future. This group of forms grew out of Classes XIX and XX, particularly forms with the strong-grade of root syllable; compare Skr. tqsyá-tē and tq-sa-ti (Goth. -ḡin-si-ḡ) á-tq-s-mahi, śrōṣyá-ti (Gr. ἠλε-σόμεθα in Hesychius) and śrō-ṣa-māṇa-s, vakṣyá-ti and Avest. vax-ṣa-itē (✓ ueq- 'speak'), sakṣya-ti (Gr. ἔξω) and sik-ṣa-nt- ✓ seḡh- (§§ 657 ff.); very rarely from forms with root-syllables in a weak grade, as Avest. būšye-iti (pr. Ar. doubtless bhūṣja-ti*, cp. Skr. sū-ṣya-nt- § 748) Lith. bū-siu (Gr. φύσω) beside Skr. bhū-ṣa-ti (§ 659 p. 194). Sanskrit forms with -ṣya- were derived from the *iṣ-*aorist, compare vēdiṣyá-ti with the aorist stem vēdiṣ- in á-vēdiṣ-am.

The oldest meaning of the ṣḡo- future was probably that of Wish, which weakened to a mere future. Compare the desiderative meaning of Skr. forms like ti-stīr-ṣa-tē (§ 667 pp. 198 ff.), and the future meaning of such others as O.Ir. no-gigius § 668 p. 200.

Only in Aryan and in Balto-Slavonic is the sjo-future certain. In such forms as Gr. δεῖξω it cannot be proved that after s an i has been lost, and they may be regarded as conjunctives of the s-aorist, δεῖξω fut. being the same as δεῖξω conj. of ἐδειξα, and as Lat. dixō beside opt. dixim. Special attention should be given to Epic forms like imper. οἴσσε οἴσσετε beside fut. οἴσω, imper. ὄψεσθε beside fut. ὄψομαι, which make strongly for this view (see § 833). On the other hand, I know of nothing to prevent fut. δεῖξω being derived from δεικ-σχω* (Skr. dēkṣyāmi). The same doubt is suggested by futures of the type of τενέω τενῶ (cp. Skr. taniṣyāmi), which as conj. aor. may be compared with εἰδέω εἶδω from ἴδεα (§ 836).¹⁾ We may conjecture that in Greek the Idg. forms with -sjo- and the conj. aorist had run together; as, in Lithuanian, beside dū'siame dū'sime dū'siate dū'site, the future answering to Skr. dāsyāmas dāsyātha, we find used in the same way the Aorist Injunctive forms dū'sme dū'ste. Compare the Author, M. U. III 58 ff.; G. Meyer, *Gr. Gr.*² 473 f.; Johansson, Deriv. Verb. Contr. 203 ff.

Spite of this uncertainty, the Greek future may be treated here along with the Aryan and Balto-Slavonic sjo-future.

Remark. I know of no evidence to support Ascoli's assumption (Sprachw. Briefe, 65 ff.), that -στω in the Doric future comes regularly from -σχω* = Skr. -syāmi Lith. -siu.

§ 748. Pr. Idg. We have two endings to distinguish, -sjo- and -asjo- (-esjo-).

(A) -sjo-. The regular form of the root, as has been said in the preceding section, was strong grade (with e in the e-series). Thus the matter remained in Aryan; cp. dēkṣyati beside pres. diśá-ti diś-ya-ti. Thus it often is in Lithuanian, as reñ-siu from √rem-, reñsiu from √hert-. But in Lithuanian the form fell under the influence of the infinitive stem, and we have lksiu following lkti, instead of leiksiu* (pres. lěkm̃, lěkù), and beside reñ-siu (reñ-ti) a variant rim-siu, inf. rim-ti (pres. rimstù), beside veřsiu (veřsti) a variant viřsiu, inf. viřsti (pres. viřstù). In Greek, the vocalism of the future always agrees with the s-aorist, and this was mostly regulated by the present: τέρω like έτερω from τέρω, γράφω like έγραψα from γράφω, γλύφω like έγλυψα from γλύφω, όμόρξω like ώμορξα from όμόργνυμι. Exceptions: τείσω like έτεια, but pres. τίνω (for τι-νfw*); μείζω like έμειξα, but pres. μίζ-νυμι.

1) It is striking that Homer uses no such form as τενέω τενῶ parallel to τελέω for τελεσ-χω*, λάνθουμι for λλανσ-χω-μι*.

✓rem- 'rest': Skr. ra-sya-tē 'he will rest', Lith. reñ-siu 'I will support' (reñ-ti) rim-siu 'I will grow calm (in mind)' (rim-ti). ✓men- 'think': Skr. ma-sya-tē, Lith. m̃-siu (m̃ñ-ti, pres. men-ù). ✓qeṭ- 'pay a penalty' etc.: Skr. cē-ṣyá-ti Gr. τεί-σω (τεῖσαι, pres. τίνω). ✓pleu- 'swim, rinse, wash': Skr. plō-ṣya-ti, Gr. πλεύ-σο-μαι (πλεῖν), Lith. pláu-siu (pláu-ti). ✓uert- 'vertere': Skr. vart-syá-ti, Lith. veřsiu 'I shall turn' (veřsti) viřsiu 'I shall fall down' (viřsti). ✓uerǵ- 'to work, be active': Avest. part. mid. varšya-mna-, Gr. εργω (εργαι). ✓serp- 'crawl': Skr. srap-sya-ti sarp-sya-ti Gr. εργω (εργαι). ✓terp- 'give joy': Skr. trap-sya-ti tarp-sya-ti (the latter in the Grammarians), Gr. τέρω (τέρωαι). ✓derk- 'see': Skr. drak-ṣyá-ti, Gr. δέρξομαι (δέρεξάμην). ✓qert- 'cut, strike sharply': Skr. kart-sya-ti (instead of cart-*, cp. karta-ti § 522 p. 85), Lith. kiřsiu (kiřsti, pres. kertù). ✓leiq- 'leave': Skr. rēk-ṣya-tē, Gr. λείπω (λείπει), Lith. l̃k-siu (l̃k-ti, pres. lěkù). ✓ueid- 'know, see': Skr. vēt-sya-ti, Gr. εῖσομαι (εἰσαοθαι), Lith. isz-ṽysiu (-ṽysti). ✓deik- 'show': Skr. dēk-ṣya-ti, Gr. δείξω (δείξει). ✓bheudh- 'awake, observe': Skr. bhōt-sya-ti, Gr. πείσομαι, Lith. b̃siu (b̃usti). ✓jeug- 'iungere': Skr. yōk-ṣya-ti, Gr. ζειξω (ζειῖξαι), Lith. j̃unk-siu like j̃unk-ti following the present j̃ungiu. ✓peq- 'coquere': Skr. pak-ṣya-ti, Gr. πέπω. ✓dhegh- 'burn': Skr. dhak-ṣyá-ti, Lith. dēk-siu (dēk-ti). ✓seq- 'to be with, follow': Avest. haxšye-ili, Gr. επομαι, Lith. s̃ek-siu (s̃ek-ti). ✓ed- 'eat': Skr. at-sya-ti, Lith. ėsiu (ėsti). ✓says- 'grow dry': Skr. śōkṣya-ti (pres. śūṣ-ya-ti, see I § 557.4 p. 413), Lith. saūsiu (saūs-ti). √ dhē- 'place, lay': Skr. dhā-sya-ti, Gr. θῆ-σω, Lith. dē-siu (dē-ti). √ dō- 'give': Skr. dā-syá-ti, Gr. δώ-σω, Lith. dū'-siu (dū'-ti). √ stā- 'stand': Skr. sthā-sya-ti, Gr. στά-σω στή-σω (στήσαι), Lith. stó-siu (stó-ti).

√ bheṣ- 'become': Avest. bā-šyē-iti, Gr. φῆ-σω (φῶσαι), Lith. bū-siu O.C.Sl. byša* (only in partic. byšašteje byšešteje 'τὸ μέλλον'). Analogously, Skr. sū-ṣya-nt- beside sō-ṣyá-ti Avest. hao-šyē-iti from √ seu- 'drive on, quicken, enliven' (cp. perf. Skr. sasṭva like babhūva). Compare § 747 pp. 268 f.

§ 749. (B) -sṣiō- (-esṣiō-). Skr. -iṣya- for -sṣiō-. But Gr. -εο- comes from -esṣiō-, unless (more probably) -εο- is for -εσο-, and belongs to the conjunctive aorist (see § 747).¹⁾ The Sanskrit -iṣya- could be added to any root ending in a consonant; but Gr. -εο- was the regular future suffix only with roots in a liquid or a nasal. So we have Skr. kṣariṣya-ti 'it will flow, dissolve' (gramm.) answering to Greek φθερῶ φθερῶ 'I shall destroy' (Hom. φθέρω), Skr. haniṣya-ti 'he will strike, kill' to Gr. θέρῶ -ῶ 'I shall strike' (√ ghen-), Skr. taniṣya-ti (gramm.) 'he will stretch' to Gr. τερέω -ῶ 'I shall stretch', Skr. kṣaniṣya-ti 'he will hurt' (gramm.) to Gr. κτερέω -ῶ 'I shall kill'. A few Greek examples have -αο- with -α- = -α-, as κρεμάω -ῶ 'I shall hang', cp. κρέμαμαι, κρεμάθῃ 'hanging basket'. Compare §§ 834 ff.

§ 750. Futures with -sṣiō- have also been formed, from the proethnic period onwards, from stems consisting of √ + Determinative. We may mention:

(1) Stems with -ā- -ē-, or -ō- (Class X). dr-ā-* 'run': Skr. drā-sya-ti (gramm.), Gr. δρά-σο-μαι. mn-ā-* 'think of, remember': Skr. mnā-sya-ti (gramm.), Gr. μνά-σω μνή-σω. gā-* 'go': Skr. gā-sya-tē (gramm.), Gr. βά-σο-μαι βή-σο-μαι.

1) I now follow Bartholomae (Bezz. Beitr. xvii 109 ff.) in holding that -ε- which follows the root in τερέω γερέω and like words is Idg. -e-, not -α- (I § 110 pp. 103 ff.).

u-ē*- 'blow': Skr. vā-sya-ti, Gr. ἀή-σο-μαι. ġn-ō*- 'noscere': Skr. jñā-sya-ti, Gr. γινώ-σο-μαι. uid-ē*- ueid-ē*- 'see, know': Gr. Dor. ἰδῆ-σῶ Lith. pa-vyđėsiu ('invidebo'), Gr. εἰδῆ-σῶ Lith. veizdė-siu. myn-ē*- 'think': Gr. μανῆ-σο-μαι, Lith. minė-siu. Compare §§ 578 ff.

(2) Stems with s-elements (Class XIX and XX). tr-es- 'tremble': Skr. tras-iṣyá-ti, Gr. τρέσ(σ)ω, Lith. trėsiu for trės-siu* (pres. tresiū). Skr. ēṣ-iṣya-ti beside ē-ṣa-ti 'seeks, desires'; ślēkṣya-ti beside śli-ṣ-ya-ti 'clings to' á-śli-ṣa-t; dakṣ-iṣya-tē beside dák-ṣa-ti 'suits, accommodates'; akṣ-iṣya-ti beside ak-ṣa-tē 'reaches'. With Skr. akṣiṣya-ti, bhāsiṣya-tē (gramm.) compare the aorist forms ákṣiṣur ábhāsiṣta § 839. Gr. σείσω for σεισ-ω* (perf. σεί-σμεται) from σείω (tuēi-s-) 'I shake'; ξέσ(σ)ω from ξέω (qs-es-) 'I scrape, smooth', Lith. tėsiu for tēs-siu* beside tē-s-iū 'I stretch'. Compare §§ 655 ff.

(3) Stems with dh- and *d-*elements (Class XXV). Skr. yōt-sya-ti beside yō-dha-ti 'gets into motion', Lith. jūsiu beside jundū 'I begin to tremble', ieu-dh-*. Skr. rāt-sya-ti beside rā-dh-ya-tē 'carries out successfully'; mrād-iṣya-ti beside vi-mrada-ti 'softens' (mr-ada-). Gr. χλάσ(σ)ω from χλά-δ- 'break off'. But it is doubtful whether πλήσω 'I will fill' is πλήθ-σω* (cp. πλή-θω πέπλησται πληστέος) or πλή-σω (cp. πλήτο πέπληνται), whether ἐλεύσομαι 'I will come' is έλευθ-σομαι* (cp. ήλυ-θον-ν έλευστέον-ν) or έλεύ-σομαι (cp. έλήλυ-τε προσ-ήλυτο-ς), whether πέσω 'I will make rot' is πέθ-σω* (cp. πέ-θω) or πύ-σω (cp. Lith. pūv-ū). There is the same doubt in Lith. futures like plausiu from plau-d-žiu 'I wash' (Idg. pleu-d-*), spráusiu from spráu-d-žiu 'I subdue' (Idg. spreu-d-*) gėsiu from gė-du 'I sing'. As we know not in what period of Lithuanian these verbal classes arose, we are not compelled to assume that plausiu, say, comes from a supposed form plautsiō*. The fact may be that plau-siu is really future to plau-ju; and then, on the analogy of geidžiū gėsiu gėisti, and others of this kind, plausiu was involuntarily associated with plaudžiū plautsi as its future. Compare §§ 688 ff.

Forms with other present-signs sometimes make a sjo-future in different languages; as Skr. indhiṣyati Gr. κλάγξω Lith. jùnsiu. See below, §§ 752 ff.

§ 751. The indicative with -sjo- seems to have had in proethnic speech a participle attached, but no more (Skr. da-syá-nt-, Gr. δω-ων, Lith. dial. dū'sius for dūsiās*, O.C.Sl. byšašteje). In Sanskrit grew up a conj. with Ar. -ā-, and an augmented preterite; and Greek developed an opt. with -i-. See §§ 753, 759.

§ 752. Aryan. -sjo- and -əsjo-, but the latter is only to be found in Sanskrit (-iṣya-). There is no example of a future in Old Persian; this is probably due to chance. In Sanskrit and Avestic this future was a living and productive type. It is used, true enough, less often in Vedic than later; but then in Vedic injunctive and conjunctive forms were used with future meaning.

To the exx. cited in §§ 748—750 may be added: Skr. vakṣyá-ti Avest. vaxšye-itē beside Avest. vák-ti 'speaks'; Skr. janiṣyá-ti Avest. partic. zaḥya-mna- beside Skr. ján-a-ti 'begets'; Skr. bhantsya-ti bandhiṣya-ti beside badh-ná-ti 'binds'; rōciṣya-tē beside rōc-a-tē 'shines'.

In Sanskrit we meet with specimens of this future made from presents of any kind (cp. § 750). mārkṣya-tē (beside mrakṣya-tē) from mārṣ-ti Class I and mārja-ti Class II 'wipes' (cp. § 494 p. 55, § 514 p. 81). sīdiṣya-ti (beside satsya-ti) from sīda-ti Class IV 'sits' (§ 550 p. 106). dadiṣya-tē (beside dā-syá-ti) from dā-dā-ti Class V dā-d-a-ti Class VI 'gives'; jahiṣya-ti (beside hā-sya-ti) from já-hā-ti ja-h-a-ti 'leaves, deserts'. jāgariṣyá-ti from jā-gar-ti Class V 'wakes' (§ 560 pp. 109 f.). indhiṣya-ti from inddhē Class XV 'burns' ✓ aīdh-. aśnuviṣya-ti from aś-nō-ti Class XVII 'attains'; jinviṣya-ti from ji-nō-ti Class XVII jī-nva-ti Class XVIII 'sets in motion, propels'. titikṣiṣya-tē from the desid. tī-tik-ṣa-tē Class XXI from tij- 'to be sharp'. khyāyiṣya-tē from pass. khy-ā-ya-tē Class XXVIII 'is seen'.

Rather commoner in the later language is the future of denominatives in -yá-ti, Class XXXI,^f as gōpāyīṣyá-ti from gōpā-yá-ti 'guards' (gōpā-s 'guardian'); and of present stems in -áya-ti (Causatives), Class XXXII, such as vyayīṣya-tē from vy-áya-ti 'enwraps, covers', dhārayīṣyá-ti from dhār-áya-ti 'holds'.

§ 753. Sanskrit has an augmented preterite from the future stem, meaning on the point of; as abhariṣya-t 'he was just going to take away, wished to take'. But this form usually stands as a conditional; and so Conditional it is called.

There are a few scattered instances (in the Maha-Bharata) of Injunctive forms, implying wish; as 2nd pl. mid. bhaviṣya-dhvam.

Similarly there are scattered Conjunctives; as Ved. 2nd sing. kariṣyá-s.

§ 754. Greek. It is not quite certain that the Greek σ -future has any immediate connexion with the Aryan and Balto-Slavonic siō-type, as we have seen already (§ 747 p. 269).

With -so- (§ 748) and -eo- -ao- (§ 749), we find a third suffix, -seo-.

§ 755. (I) -so-, a productive suffix in Ionic-Attic and elsewhere. Examples in §§ 748 and 750.

There is an apparent anomaly in keeping σ after sonants in the future στῆ-σω, as in the aorist ἔστησα. This is most simply explained as being due to the analogy of δείξω ἔδειξα etc., consonantal stems. Compare I § 564 p. 421.

Stems in Liquid or Nasal generally conform to Type II (§ 757); but roots in ϱ have -σω as well in the language of Homer and poets of the epic school: φθίρω (pres. φθίρω 'I destroy') beside φθερέω -ῶ.

Remark. Why is it that beside a fut. φθίρω there is no fut. φθείρω*, as might be expected from finding ἔκλει side by side with ἔκροα? This is explained without difficulty if we suppose ἔκλει to be analogical, and due to ἔκλειναι ἔκλειναι and the like (I § 563 Rem. 2 p. 419); for there were no such futures as κτείνω* for κτενσω*. Wackernagel's view of ἔκλει (Kuhn's Zeitschr. xxix 127 ff.) is not convincing, to my mind.

Wackernagel would anyhow have to meet the question whether, if φθέρω really comes from φθερσχω*, it must not have kept -ρσ- under all circumstances, wherever the accent lay; cp. νίσσομαι for νινσσομαι* contrasted with ἔκτεναι for ἐκτενοα* (The Author, Gr. Gr.² p. 61).

§ 756. -σο- forms futures from all sorts and kinds of stems, present, aorist, and perfect. Often there are parallel σ-aorists.

(1) Hom. διδώ-σω (beside δῶ-σω) from δί-δω-μι 'I give', Class III. διδάξω from δι-δάσκω, Class XXIII (aor. ἐδίδαξα). Hom. ἀίξω Att. ᾄξω from ἀίσσω 'I rush', ποι-φύξω from ποι-φύσσω 'I pant, puff', ποι-πνύσω from ποι-πνύω 'I snort, pant, puff', Class XXVII (aor. ῆξα ῆξα etc.).

(2) κλάγξω (ἐκλαγξα) beside κλάζω 'I cry, shout' for κλαγγ-ιω*, Class XXIX, and κλαγγάνω, Class XIV (§ 621 p. 158, § 628 p. 165, § 744 p. 266). Ion. λάμψομαι beside Att. λήψομαι from λαμβάνω 'I take', Class XIV (§ 621 p. 158). σφίγξω (εσφιγξα) from σφίγγω 'I tie, bind', Class XVI (§ 631 p. 167).

(3) From the Denominative presents κηρύσσω 'I announce' ἀρπάζω 'I carry off' σαλπίζω 'I trumpet' μειλίσσω 'I soothe, pacify' τελέω -ω 'I complete' we have the futures κηρύξω ἀρπάξω σαλπίγξω μειλίξω τελέσ(σ)ω (aor. ἐκήρυξα etc.), on the analogy of πράξω : πράσσω, σφάξω : σφάζω and the like (cp. θανυμῶ ἀγγεῖω § 757). What made it all the easier for these futures to arise, was that there existed in pre-Greek times denominative participles like κηρυκ-τό-ς (ἀ-κήρυκτο-ς), which seemed parallel to πρωκ-τό-ς σφακ-τό-ς (II § 79 pp. 224 f.).

(4) The combination -ησο- was an especial favourite (§ 750. 1 p. 271). First, a class of futures from the stem of the aor. pass. in -η-ν. μαν-ή-σομαι beside ἐ-μάν-η-ν 'I grew mad' (√men-), like Lith. min-ē-siu beside mīn-ē. σβ-ή-σομαι beside ε-σβ-η-ν 'I was quenched' (√seg-). ρῦ-η-σομαι beside ἐ-ρῦ-η-ν 'I flowed' (√reu-). μυγ-ή-σομαι beside ἐ-μίγ-η-ν 'I mixed myself' (√meik- meig-). With the same type, δοθ-ή-σομαι beside ἐδόθην etc., the set of forms due to the analogy of ἐ-δό-θης = á-di-thās. See § 589 pp. 129 f. In Doric, this intr.-pass. future has an active ending: μανησεῖν συναχθησοῦντι (-σε- instead of -σο-, § 758). Further: -ησο- occurs in forms like σχ-ή-σω (beside ἔξω) from stem of ἔσχο-ν 'I held' (cp. ἐσχηκα), μέλ-ῃ-σει from μέλει 'it is a care' (cp. ἐμέλησε μεμέληκε), ἐθελ-ῇ-σω from ἐθέλω 'I wish' (ἐθέλῃσα ἡθέληκα), εἰδ-ῇ-σω from εἶδω 'I sleep' (cp. καθ-ενδῆσαι); of the same kind are Lith. drebē-siu from drebiù 'I tremble', tekē-siu from tekù 'I run, flow'. The same type of future is seen in stems marked as present or aorist, where it retains the special tense mark, as καθ-ιζήσομαι from ἵζω 'I set' for *si-zd-ō (cp. -ιζῆσαι ἵζηκα), βουλήσομαι from βούλωμαι 'I wish' ground-form *ǵl-no- § 611 p. 150 (cp. βεβούλημαι) βοσκήσω from βό-σκω 'I pasture, feed', τυπτήσω from τύπτω 'I strike' (cp. ἐτύπησα), χαίρήσω from χαίρω 'I rejoice' for *χαρ-ιω (cp. ἐχαίρησα), ὀζήσω from ὀζω 'I smell' for *ὀδ-ιω (cp. ὠζησα), πεπιθήσω from πε-πιθ-εῖν 'to persuade', πεφιδήσομαι from πε-φιδ-έ-σθαι 'to spare'.

(5) The original identity of flexion in the groups typified by *τιμᾱ-ιω (from τιμά 'honour') and *δρα-ιω (δράω 'I do') — compare Aeol. ἐτίμᾱ-μεν like ἐδρά-μεν 'we ran' — made the later set of denominatives run parallel to verbs of Classes X and XXVIII in other tenses besides the present. Hence τιμάσω φιλήσω μισθώσω like δράσω νήσω γνώσομαι; similarly Lith. dovanó-siu from dovanó-ju 'I present' (dovanà 'gift') like žiód-siu from žiód-ju, and jùkũ-siu (jùkũ-ju 'I jest' from jũka-s 'jest'), in correspondence with Gr. μισθώ-σω. Following out the analogy further we get κονί-σω from κονίω 'I make dusty' (κόνι-ς 'dust') δακρύ-σω from δακρύνω 'I cry' (δάκρυ 'a tear'); so also Lith. daly-siu from daly-jù 'I share, divide' (dali-s 'a part'). Compare § 773.

(6) Futures in -σω from perfect forms. ἑστήξω from ἑστηκα 'I stand'. λελείψεται from λείπεται 'is left over'. μεμνήσεται from μέμνηται 'remembers'. Hom. κεχαρήσω from κεχαρηώς 'glad'.

§ 757. (II) -εο- -αο- -οο- -υο-.

-εο- (becomes -ιο- in Dor., I § 64 p. 51) is the ordinary future suffix in liquid or nasal stems, as φθερέω -ῶ (beside Hom. φθέρσω), τενέω -ῶ, see § 749 p. 271.

Hence -εο- spread to the future of stems which had a nasal formative suffix in the present; as φανέω -ῶ from φαίνω

'I show, make appear' for φα-ν-μιω*, κλινέω -ω̃ from κλίνω 'I bend' for κλι-ν-μιω*, see § 611 p. 150, ξανέω -ω̃ from ξάνω 'I scratch, comb' for ξ-αν-μιω*, αὐανέω -ω̃ from αὐάνω 'I make dry' for σανσ-αν-μιω* (cp. Lith. saus̃ti-siū); see § 618 p. 156, § 621 p. 158. It also spread to Denominatives with liquid and nasal stems, as θαυμαίνω 'I wonder' ἀγγέλλω 'I announce': θαυμανέω ἀγγελέω -ω̃, not like κηρύξω from κηρύσσω (§ 756.3 p. 275).

Where -αο- and -οο- appear, the first vowel belongs to other forms besides the future; and so too once or twice -ε- in -εο-. κρεμάω -ω̃ from κρέμα-μαι 'I hang' κρεμά-σσαι κρεμά-θρα, δαμάω -ω̃ from δαμά-σσαι πυν-δαμά-τωρ. ὀμόομαι ὀμοῖμαι from ὀμό-σσαι 'swear' ὀμώμο-ται ἀπ-ώμο-το-ς. ὀλέω ὀλῶ from ὀλέ-σσαι 'to destroy' ὀλώλε-κα ὀλε-τήρ.

The analogy of κρεμάω : κρεμάσ(σ)αι, ὀλέω : ὀλέσ(σ)αι, and the like, produced from the aorists δικάσ(σ)αι 'to judge, investigate' (δικάζω) δοκιμάσ(σ)αι 'probare' (δοκιμάζω) the futures δικάω δοκιμάω -ω̃, and similarly we have ἀμφιέω -ω̃ beside ἀμφι-έσ(σ)αι 'to put on',¹⁾ μαχέομαι -οῦμαι beside μαχέσ(σ)ασθαι 'to fight', τελέω -ω̃ beside τελέσ(σ)αι 'to complete', τανύω beside τανύσ(σ)αι, and many others.

An exceptional group contains the Attic and Ionic future in -ιέω -ιῶ from a present in -ίζω, as κομιῶ from κοιρίζω 'I bring'; for which κομίω* might be looked for, to judge from δικάω. We may conjecture that the type was once actually κομίω*; and that *-ιω became -ιέω -ιῶ as the effect of the constant use of -έω -ω̃. -έω is an intruder also in ὀμέομαι ὀμεῖται Dor. ὀμώμεθα instead of ὀμόομαι.

Remark. There is some doubt whether -ιέω instead of *-ιω be as old as Homer; no argument can be based on the traditional accent of κομιῶ ἀεικίῶ πτεριούσι, and ἀγλαΐεσθαι may be a mistake for ἀγλαΐσθαι. These are the only Homeric specimens of the type.

§ 758. (III) -σεο- (Doric Future).²⁾ Whether -οο- =

1) We can hardly regard ἀμφι-έω as being *-φισ-ω, and a conj. to Skr. vás-tē Gr. ἐπι-εσται.

2) For the Doric Future, see now Solmsen, Kuhn's Zeitschr. xxxii 546 ff.

Skr. -sya-, or whether it is the conj. of the s-aorist, -seo- is -so- transformed under the influence of -eo-.

-seo- is the ordinary Doric suffix answering to Attic -so-; as πρᾶξιω -ίω βοᾷθησέω -ία, but Att. πράξει βοηθήσω. A few instances of it occur in Ion.-Att., as φειζομαι beside φείξομαι (cp. the Author, Gr. Gr.² p. 170 footnote 1).

§ 759. Greek, besides the indic., partic., and inf. future, (δείξω δείξων δείξειν) had only the optative, as δείξοιμι, which is quite a new formation (see the Author, Gr. Gr.² p. 188).

§ 760. Balto-Slavonic. Only -sio-, and nothing which answers to Skr. -iśya- and Gr. -to- -ao-, and so forth. In Lithuanian the future in -siu lived on, and still lives and forms a type; but in Slavonic it died before historic times began, all but the sole form O.C.Sl. byśašteje (§ 748 p. 271).

§ 761. The Lith. fut. -siu is inflected differently in different dialects. The 1st pl. is sometimes dū'sia-m(e) like vērczia-m(e) § 725 pp. 254 ff. (cp. partic. dial. dū'sius = dūsiūs*, and O.C.Sl. byśašteje); sometimes it is dū-si-m(e) — in High Lithuanian, for instance — like āvi-m(e) § 727 pp. 257 ff.¹⁾ The other forms which occur, pl. dū'sme dū'ste dual dū'sva dū'sta, like the 3rd sing. būs gaūs, are injunctives of the s-aorist (§ 828). The partic. dū'sēs (cp. O.C.Sl. byśęšteje) admits of more than one explanation; see J. Schmidt, as cited in footnote.

Examples of Lith. fut. are given in § 748 pp. 269 f.

Where marks of the present are retained in the future, they are retained in the other forms from the Infinitive Stem.

Future from Present Stem with inserted nasal: jūnksiu from jūng-iu 'I put in the yoke', skūsiu from skūndziū 'I weep, bewail myself', leñksiu from lenkiū 'I bend', § 744 p. 267. Compare Gr. κλύξω etc. § 756.2 p. 275.

From Present in -inu -enu: saūsī-siu from saūsīnu 'I make dry', gyvė-siu from gyvenū 'I dwell', see § 624 p. 161. Compare Gr. ἀβανῶ § 757 p. 277.

1) J. Schmidt's assumption (Neutra, pp. 423 ff.) that dū'sime is an optative, is wrong. Idg. -ī- would remain long in Lithuanian.

The combination -é-siu. miné-siu from menù 'I think of' pret. miné, cp. Gr. μᾶνν-σομαι ἐ-μᾶνν-ν. drebé-siu from drebù 'I tremble'. stené-siu from stenù 'I groan'. pené-siu from penù 'I nourish, fatten'. avé-siu from aviù 'I have something on my feet'. Compare § 756. 4 p. 275.

Later Stratum of Denominatives. dovanó-siu from dovanó-ju 'I give' (dovanà 'a gift'), pāsako-siu from pāsako-ju 'I recount, tell' (pā-saka 'tale'), like žib-siu from žió-ju 'I open my mouth' (§ 740 p. 264), cp. Gr. τῖμᾶ-σω. jūkū-siu from jūkū-ju 'I sport, jest' (jūka-s 'jest'), jūdū-siu from jūdū-ju 'I have a black sheen', analogous to Gr. μυθῶ-σω. daly-su from daly-jū 'I share, divide' (dall-s 'a share, part'), szirdy-siū-s from szirdy-jū-s 'I take to heart' (szirdi-s 'heart'), like Gr. ζωνί-σω. Compare § 756. 5 p. 276, § 773. keláu-siu from keláu-ju 'I travel' (kēla-s kēle-s 'way').

Appendix to Classes XXVII—XXX.

Extension of Present Stems in -sko-, -to-, and -dho- -do- by the Suffix -io-.

§ 762. The reason why this extension of the -sko-class (XXII), the -to-class (XXIV) and the -dho- and -do-class (XXV) is relegated to an Appendix, and they are not allowed a class each to themselves, has been explained in § 704 p. 239.

§ 763. io-extension of sko-stems (§§ 669 ff.)

Sanskrit can show only a few passive forms with -ya- (cp. §§ 709 and 710, pp. 243 ff.), in stems where -sko- has lost its character as a present-forming suffix: prch-yá-tē from prchá-ti 'asks', vāñch-ya-tē from vāñcha-ti 'wishes' (§ 671 p. 203). Possibly vrśc-yá-tē, from vrścá-ti 'tears to pieces', is another; see § 669 p. 202.

Lith. dresk-iù 'I tear' trans., beside driskau̯, O.C.Sl. ištq for isk-iq* beside iskq 'I seek' (§ 677 p. 210).

Remark. Gr. πτῶσω 'I cower, cringe', in view of πτωκᾶν, may be derived from πτωκ-ῖω*. However, πτῶ-ξ -κός and πτω-χός make it more natural to suppose that it comes from πτω-κ-ῖω* or πτω-χ-ῖω*.

Cp. πτήσω 'I frighten' for πτα-κ-ιω*, ἐγρήσω 'I wake' for ἐγρη-κ-ιω* or -χ-ιω, and verbs in -ώσω such as ὀνειρώσω (ὀνειρῶξ) ὑπνώσω ἱκτερώσω. The κ- and χ-suffixes in these words were probably the same as -ko- in -s-ko-; see § 669 p. 201.

§ 764. -to-stems extended by -io- (§§ 679 ff.).

Skr. ṇṛt-ya-ti 'dances, plays' pass. ṇṛt-ya-tē beside ṇṛ-tá-mā-na-s, pass. yat-ya-tē beside yá-ta-tē 'joins itself, strives' (§ 681 p. 213).

Lith. siuncziū 'I send', perhaps from su-n-to*- (§ 686 p. 218). O.C.Sl. ob-reštā 'I find' perhaps from rē-to*- (§ 687 p. 218).

Remark. Gr. ἀρύσω (only Hdt. vi 119) seems to be not an extension of Att. ἀρύ-τω 'I pour, I draw water' (§ 682 p. 214), but an analogical form, suggested by ἀρύω, on the type of ἀρύοσω: ἀρύω 'I pour, draw water'.

§ 765. -dho- and -do- stems extended by -io- (§§ 688 ff.).

(1) -dh-jo-. Skr. yú-dh-ya-tē 'gets in motion, fights', rā-dh-ya-tē 'carries to a successful end' pass. rādh-ya-tē (§ 689 p. 220), krú-dh-ya-ti 'scorns', sā-dh-ya-ti 'comes to its goal' (§ 691 p. 221).

Gr. θύσσομαι 'I shake or quiver, am frantic' for θv-θ-ιο-μαι* (§ 689 p. 220), ἐσθ-ίω 'I eat' (§ 694 p. 223, § 713 p. 247).

Lith. skér-d-žiu 'I burst, blow up' (§ 689 p. 219).

(2) -d-io-. Only passives in Sanskrit; as mṛd-yá-tē from mṛ-d-na-mi 'I grind to pieces, crush' vi-mradati 'softens' (§ 690 p. 220), khād-ya-tē from khā-da-ti 'bites up, chews', īd-ya-tē from īda-tē 'honours, praises' (§ 692 p. 222).

Gr. κλύζω 'I flood' for κλυ-δ-ιω*, ἐκ-φλύζω 'I spurt out' for qlyv-δ-ιω* (§ 695 p. 224).

Lith. plau-d-žiu 'I wash, cleanse', spráu-d-žiu 'I compel, press down' (§ 690 p. 221, § 700 p. 227).

(3) Doubtful: -dh-jo- or -d-io-. Avest. siž-d-ye-iti 'drives away' (§ 693 p. 223). Lith. mér-d-žiu 'I lie a dying', skél-d-žiu 'I split or burst', sru-d-žiu 'I make bloody', Lett. e'rschu 'I separate' for erd-i-u* (§ 701 p. 227).

Class XXXI.

Later Group of Denominatives with Present-Suffix -iō-.

§ 766. We here discuss present stems like Skr. dēva-yá-ti 'he worships the gods' from dēvá- 'god', Gr. φιλέ-(ω) 'I treat as a friend' from φίλος (φιλε-) 'friend', Skr. namas-yá-ti 'he offers worship or respect' from námas- 'respect', Gr. τέλε(σ-ω) 'I end' from τέλος 'end' (τέλεσ-). This is a productive type in almost all languages of our group, and beyond all doubt is as old as the parent language.

As I have pointed out (§ 487 p. 43, § 703 p. 232), no hard and fast line can be drawn between the verbs which grammars usually call Denominative and what they call Primary Verbs. When denominative verbs were formed in the parent language, no new and peculiar mode of conjugation was invented for them. They ran in old grooves; the present stem preferring as its type stems with the secondary suffix -iō-. It was only by degrees that inflexional peculiarities sprang up; chiefly because -iō- coalesced with the final of the preceding noun-stem, and thus made new suffixes. But the peculiar denominative endings often came again to be the same as those of primary verbs by the action of the laws of language.

§ 767. The proethnic language possesses iō-presents from all kinds of consonant stems, from stems in -ā- (-ā-iō-), in -o- (-e-iō-), in -i- (-i-iō-), and in -u- (-u-iō-).

So great are the changes worked by analogy, that it is rather rare to find a denominative agreeing with the Idg. type in more than one or two languages. Thus, Lat. oper-ā-rī (Umbr. osatu 'operato' Osc. úpsannam 'operandam') and nōmin-ā-re do not correspond with Skr. apas-yá-ti and Gr. ὀνομαίνω, which do represent the Idg. inflexion; because, in Latin, denominatives of s- and *n-*stems had been attracted into the ā-class in pre-historic times.

Cp. πηρώσω 'I frighten' for πτα-κ-ιω*, ἐγερῶσω 'I wake' for ἐγερη-κ-ιω* or -χ-ιω, and verbs in -ώσω such as ὀνειρώσω (ὀνειρώξω) ὑπνώσω ἰκτερώσω. The κ- and χ-suffixes in these words were probably the same as -ko- in -s-ko-; see § 669 p. 201.

§ 764. -to-stems extended by -io- (§§ 679 ff.).

Skr. ṇṭ-ya-ti 'dances, plays' pass. ṇṭ-ya-tē beside ṇṭ-tá-mā-na-s, pass. yat-ya-tē beside yá-ta-tē 'joins itself, strives' (§ 681 p. 213).

Lith. siuncziù 'I send', perhaps from su-n-to*- (§ 686 p. 218). O.C.Sl. ob-ręštq 'I find' perhaps from rē-to*- (§ 687 p. 218).

Remark. Gr. ἀρύσσω (only Hdt. vi 119) seems to be not an extension of Att. ἀρύ-τω 'I pour, I draw water' (§ 682 p. 214), but an analogical form, suggested by ἀρύω, on the type of ἀρύσσω: ἀρύω 'I pour, draw water'.

§ 765. -*dh*o- and -do- stems extended by -io- (§§ 688 ff.).

(1) -*dh-*io-. Skr. yú-dh-ya-tē 'gets in motion, fights', rā-dh-ya-tē 'carries to a successful end' pass. rādh-ya-tē (§ 689 p. 220), krú-dh-ya-ti 'scorns', sā-dh-ya-ti 'comes to its goal' (§ 691 p. 221).

Gr. θύσσομαι 'I shake or quiver, am frantic' for θν-θ-io-μαι* (§ 689 p. 220), ἐσθ-ιω 'I eat' (§ 694 p. 223, § 713 p. 247).

Lith. skér-d-žiu 'I burst, blow up' (§ 689 p. 219).

(2) -*d-*io-. Only passives in Sanskrit; as mṛd-yá-tē from mṛd-na-mi 'I grind to pieces, crush' vi-mradati 'softens' (§ 690 p. 220), khād-ya-tē from khā-da-ti 'bites up, chews', īḍ-ya-tē from īḍa-tē 'honours, praises' (§ 692 p. 222).

(Gr. ῥαίζω 'I flood' for ῥλν-δ-ιω*, ῥκ-φλύζω 'I spurt out' for φλν-δ-ιω* (§ 695 p. 224).

Lith. plau-d-žiu 'I wash, cleanse', spráu-d-žiu 'I compel, press down' (§ 690 p. 221, § 700 p. 227).

(3) Doubtful: -*dh-*io- or -*d-*io-. Avest. siž-d-ye-iti 'drives away' (§ 693 p. 223). Lith. mér-d-žiu 'I lie a dying', skél-d-žiu 'I split or burst', sru-d-žiu 'I make bloody', Lett. e'rschu 'I separate' for erd-io-u* (§ 701 p. 227).

Class XXXI.

Later Group of Denominatives with Present-Suffix -iō-.

§ 766. We here discuss present stems like Skr. dēva-yá-ti 'he worships the gods' from dēvā- 'god', Gr. φιλέ(ι)ω 'I treat as a friend' from φίλο-ς (φιλε-) 'friend', Skr. namas-yá-ti 'he offers worship or respect' from námas- 'respect', Gr. τελέ(σ)ω 'I end' from τέλος 'end' (τέλεσ-). This is a productive type in almost all languages of our group, and beyond all doubt is as old as the parent language.

As I have pointed out (§ 487 p. 43, § 703 p. 232), no hard and fast line can be drawn between the verbs which grammars usually call Denominative and what they call Primary Verbs. When denominative verbs were formed in the parent language, no new and peculiar mode of conjugation was invented for them. They ran in old grooves; the present stem preferring as its type stems with the secondary suffix -iō-. It was only by degrees that inflexional peculiarities sprang up; chiefly because -iō- coalesced with the final of the preceding noun-stem, and thus made new suffixes. But the peculiar denominative endings often came again to be the same as those of primary verbs by the action of the laws of language.

§ 767. The proethnic language possesses iō-presents from all kinds of consonant stems, from stems in -ā- (-ā-iō-), in -o- (-e-iō-), in -i- (-i-iō-), and in -u- (-u-iō-).

So great are the changes worked by analogy, that it is rather rare to find a denominative agreeing with the Idg. type in more than one or two languages. Thus, Lat. oper-ā-rī (Umbr. osatu 'operato' Osc. úpsannam 'operandum') and nōmin-ā-re do not correspond with Skr. apas-yá-ti and Gr. ὀρουαίνω, which do represent the Idg. inflexion; because, in Latin, denominatives of s- and *n-*stems had been attracted into the ā-class in pre-historic times.

§ 768. (1) Consonant Stems.

Skr. rajas-yá-ti 'turns to dust' (in older Sanskrit only rajas-yá-s 'dusty'), Goth. riqiz-ja 'I darken myself', common ground-form reges-izē-ti*, from rájas n. 'dust' riqis n. (gen. riqizis, see II § 132 p. 420) 'darkness'. Skr. apas-yá-ti 'is active' from ápas n. 'work' apás- 'active'; namas-yá-ti Avest. nemaš-yē-iti 'bows, reveres, worships' from námas nemō n. 'reverence'; Skr. avas-yá-ti 'seeks help' from ávas n. 'help'. Gr. Hom. τελείω τελίων Att. -ō 'I end' for τελεισ-ιω* (aor. τελέσ-σαι) from τέλος n. 'end'; Hom. ἰκέομαι ἰκέομαι 'I heal' (aor. ἰκέω-σασθαι from ἰκος n. 'healing'. Lat. fulgur-iō from fulgur. O.H.G. refs(i)u 'I blame, scold, chasten', cp. Skr. rapás- 'bodily hurt'. — Avest. xrviš-yē-iti i. e. xruviš-yē-iti 'sheds blood' from a stem xr(u)viš-, ground-form gruuiš-, closely akin to Skr. kraviš- 'raw, bloody flesh'. Gr. γελάω 'I laugh' for γελασ-ιω* from stem γελασ- (nom. γέλως) 'laughter' ground-form gelās-* (II § 134 p. 425).

Gr. ὀνομαίνω Goth. namn-ja 'I name' from ōnomai namō n. 'name', the former for -mṇ-iō*, the latter for -mṇ-iō* (cp. Idg. mṇ-iō-* and mr-iō-, bhu-iō- and bhu-iō-* § 707 p. 235). All the following have Idg. -ṇ-iō-. Skr. vr̥ṣaṇ-yá-ti 'is in heat or passion' from vr̥ṣaṇ- 'male', brahmaṇ-yá-ti 'is pious' from bráhmaṇ- n. 'piety' brahmán- 'pious person, one who prays'; Avest. vyāxmainyē-iti 'deliberates, thinks over' from vyāxman n. 'assembly, consultation'. Gr. τεκταίνω 'I carpenter, make' from τέκτων 'carpenter, workman'; σπέρμαίνω 'I give forth seed' from σπέρμα 'seed'. Goth. glitmun-ja 'I shine' from glitmin-* (cp. O.H.G. glizemo) 'brightness'.

Skr. vadhar-yá-ti 'shoots, lets off a missile' from vádhar n. 'shot'. Gr. τεκμαίρω 'I mark, fix' from τέκμαρ n. 'mark, boundary'. We may perhaps assign to this section Latin desideratives like scrīpturiō from scrīptor, ēsuriō from ēsor; -turiō for -tor-iō* -ty-iō*.¹⁾

1) This explanation follows Thurneysen, Über Herkunft und Bildung der lat. Verba, p. 66. A different view is that of Kretschmer, Kuhn's

Gr. βλίττω 'I cut the honey-combs' (fut. βλίσω) from μέλιτ-ν 'honey'. Lat. dent-iō from dēns. Goth. veitvōd-ja 'I certify' from veitvōd- 'witness'. Skr. iṣudh-yá-ti 'begs, prays' Avest. iṣud-ye-iti 'confesses guilt' from Avest. iṣud- 'a cry by which one acknowledges sin'. Gr. κορύσσω 'I helm, arm' for κορυθ-ιω* from κόρυς -υθ-ος 'helmet'. Lat. custōd-iō from custōs -ōd-is.

Gr. λιθάζω 'I stone' from λιθάς -άδ-ος 'stone', μιγάζομαι 'I mingle with' from μιγάς -άδ-ος 'mixed, motley'. In Germanic, 'verbs in -atjan answer to this Greek denominative group; but the noun stems from which they came had disappeared before the historic period: Goth. lauhatja O.H.G. lougazzu lohazzu 'I shine' (cp. Gr. λεπκάς), Goth. svōgatja 'I sigh' kaupatja 'I box the ears' (pret. kaupasta), O.H.G. blecchezzu 'I lighten' (cp. II § 128 p. 409).

To the denominatives formed from cons. stems have always belonged to-participles, as Gr. ἀκρο-τός Lat. sceles-tu-s, Gr. θανμα-τός (Skr. śrōma-ta-m O.H.G. hlūmun-t Lat. cōgnōmen-tu-m), Skr. án-ap-ta-s etc. See II § 79 pp. 224 f., § 82 p. 249.

§ 769. (2) a-stems: Idg. -a-iō.

In a great many languages there are found other forms without. -iō-, as 1st pl. Armen. jana-mē Gr. Acol. τίμα-μεν Lat. plantā-mus O.Ir. no chara-m Goth. salbō-m Lith. jū'sto-me. These kept close with the old primary a-verbs of Class X. In principle, the two groups are really the same.

Gr. ὁράω -ω 'I see', O.H.G. bi-warōm 'I observe, am ware' beside Gr. Forā* in φρουρά 'outlook, protection' O.H.G. wara 'care, protection'. Lat. forō -ā-s etc., O.H.G. borōm 'I bore' from O.H.G. bora 'borer' (ground-form bh̥r-ā-*), but cp. § 579 p. 122. Skr. pr̥tanā-yá-ti 'fights' from pr̥tanā 'fight', manā-yá-ti 'is attached' from manā 'attachment'. Gr. τιμάω -ω 'I honour' from τιμά (-ῆ) 'honour', ῆβάω -ω 'pubesco' from ῆβā (-ῆ) 'ripeness', ὀρμάω -ω 'I drive or urge' from ὀρμά (-ῆ) 'movement'. Lat. plantō -a-s etc. from planta, cūrō from cūra, Zeitschr. xxxi 464: he starts with an adj. like scriptu-ro-* (cp. Att. οἰζυ-ρό-; from οἰζύ- οἰζύο; II § 74 p. 184).

lacrimō from lacrima. O.Ir. rannaim 'I divide' from rann f. 'part', īccaim 'I heal' from īcc f. 'health'. Goth. salbō O.H.G. salbōm A.S. sealfie 'I salve, anoint' from O.H.G. salba A.S. seulf 'salve, ointment'; Goth. karō 'I take trouble, care about' O.H.G. charōm 'I bewail, lament' A.S. cearie 'I care' from Goth. kara 'care' O.H.G. chara 'woe, sorrow, lament' A.S. cearu carn 'care'; O.H.G. klagōm 'I lament' from klaga 'lament'. Lith. lankó-ju 'I bend to and fro, try to make malleable' beside lankà 'valley' į-lanka 'a dip or bend', O.C.Sl. laka-ja 'I trick, deceive' from laka 'bending, bosom, rascality, deceit'; Lith. dovanó-ju 'I give' from doranà 'gift', bylō-ju 'I speak' from bylū 'speech', pāsako-ju 'I recount' from pā-saka 'tale'; O.C.Sl. kotora-ja se 'I fight' from kotora 'fight', vonja-ja 'I smell' from vonja 'a smell'.

Very common are a-verbs derived from o-stems, principally with transitive meaning, — 'to show oneself so and so, to make so and so'. Skr. priyā-yá-tē 'he makes friends with' Goth. frijō 'I treat kindly' O.C.Sl. prija-ja 'I am kind to, stand by some one' from Skr. priyá-s 'dear, friend' Goth. frija-*, in frija-þva 'love'. Lat. novō (-ā-s) O.H.G. niuwōm 'I renew' beside Lat. novō-s.¹⁾ O.Ir. com-alnaim O.H.G. follōm 'I fill' from O.Ir. lan (Idg. pl̥-no-s*) O.H.G. fol (Idg. pl̥-no-s*) 'full'. Lat. gustō, O.H.G. costōm A.S. costie 'I try, taste' beside Skr. juṣ-ṭa-s 'beloved' etc., √ ḡeys-. Skr. tilvilāyá-tē 'shows himself rich' from tilvīla-s 'rich', rathirāyá-ti 'hurries up' from rathirā-s 'hasty', ṛtāyá-ti 'keeps the rule' from ṛtā-m 'order', sumnāyá-ti 'shows goodwill' from sumnā-s 'well-wishing' sumnā-m 'goodwill'; Avest. vādāyē-iti 'strikes' from vādu- m. 'blow'. Gr. γοῖσάω 'I cleanse' from γοῖσος 'clean', ἀτιμάω 'I treat as dishonoured' from ἀτίμος 'dishonoured' μωυάομαι 'I scorn' from μωῖμος 'scorn', ἐδνάομαι 'I portion' from ἐδνο-ν 'dower'. Lat. cavō from cavo-s, firmō from firnu-s, sānō from sānu-s, armō from pl. arma, cumulō from cumulu-s, damnō from damnu-m. O.Ir. marbaim 'I kill' from marb

1) Gr. ρεῖνω 'I turn up fallow land' probably has its place elsewhere. See Sütterlin, Zur Gesch. der verba denom. im Altgr., I 21 f.

'dead', derbaim 'I prove' from derb 'certain', forcennaim 'I end' from cenn for-cenn 'end', biathaim 'I nourish' from biath 'nourishment', cp. Gall. Γαισᾶροι pl. 'pilati' beside Gall.-Lat. gaesu-m 'spear'. Goth. vairþō O.H.G. werdōm 'I value, treasure' from vairþ-s werd adj. 'worth', Goth. ga-vundō O.H.G. wuntōm 'I make wounded, wound' from vund-s wunt 'wound', Goth. ga-leikō 'I compare, make like' from ga-leik-s 'like', O.H.G. ebanōm 'I make even' from eban 'even', Goth. bi-ráubō 'I rob, plunder' O.H.G. roubōm 'I rob' from O.H.G. roub 'robbery', O.H.G. zeihhonōm 'I mark, draw' from zeihhan 'mark'. Lith. kitnó-ju 'I lift to and fro' from kitna-s 'high' (unless it be preferred to class this verb in § 606 p. 147), mirkšnio-ju 'I wink, twinkle' from mirkšni-s (gen. mirkšnio) 'glance, a single movement of the eyelid', Lett. at-jáunáju 'I make young, renew' from jáun-s 'young', gāldá-ju 'I honour', from gāld-s 'honour' apschūgáju 'I enclose' from schūg-s 'hedge, fence'; O.C.Sl. děla-ja 'I do, make' from dělo 'work', pri-vesloja 'adveho' from veslo 'oar, rudder'. The beginnings of this series of derivatives from a-verbs from noun stems in -a- goes back to the proethnic stage; at that time there were often subst. abstr. with -a- alongside of o-adjectives and o-substantives. Thus the O.H.G. follōm may be derived, if we please, not from fol but from Germ. fullō-* = Avest. per'nā- 'fulness', which appears in Goth. fullō O.H.G. folla 'fulness'; or Lat. offēnsāre may be derived from subst. offēnsa and not from offēnsu-s (cp. II § 158 pp. 473 ff.). These and like verbs were from the first closely associated with the o-stems belonging to these a-nouns; and thus it became possible afterwards to derive verbs in -a-iō straight from o-stems. The ending -aiō found favour for another reason too; namely, that there was from the earliest period another group of verbs in -aiō, originally denominative too, but with this character long since lost: I mean verbs of Classes X and XXVIII, like Lat. hi-ō Lith. ži-ó-ju, Gr. ύλ-άω Lith. ul-ó-ju (Lat. ululō), Lat. juv-ō mic-ō, O.Ir. scaraim, Goth. mit-ō O.H.G. mezzōm, Lith. lind-o-ju O.C.Sl. raz-vríz-a-ja (§§ 579 ff. pp. 121 ff., §§ 734 ff. pp. 261 ff.).

As well as these present stems in -ā-īō, most languages have non-present stems with -ā- just like those formed from ā-verbs in Classes X and XXVIII. The latter are the type, the former copied from them. The commonest are verbal nouns, always more or less closely connected with the verb system, with the suffixes -to- -ti- -no- and so forth; e. g. Gr. τῆμ-τό-ς τῆμ-σι-ς from τῆμάω, Lat. plantā-tu-s plantā-tiō from plantō, O.Ir. carthe 'loved' from caraim, cēssad 'suffering' from cēssaim, Goth. laþō-p-s 'invited' laþō-n 'to invite' laþō-n-s 'invitation' from laþō, Lith. dovanó-ta-s 'given' dovanó-ti 'to give' from dovanó-ju, O.C.Sl. laka-nŭ 'deceived' laka-ti 'to deceive' from laka-ja. Then we have certain tenses, as Gr. τῆμ-σσι, Lat. plantā-rem, Lith. dovanó-siu O.C.Sl. laka-chŭ. Compare § 756. 5, p. 276, § 761 p. 279, § 822. 6.

§ 770. (3) From o-stems there were two ways of deriving the present stem. One of them, doubtless the older, suppresses the final vowel of the noun stem. This we have already seen in Classes XIV and XXIX, exemplified by Skr. turaṇ-yá-ti from turána-s, Gr. ὀλισθαίνω from ὀλίσθανο-ς (§§ 616 ff. pp. 154 ff., § 743 pp. 265 f.). This is just how īo-adjectives are generally derived from noun stems in -o-, as Skr. áśv-īya-s Gr. ἵππ-ιο-ς from áśva-s ἵππο-ς (II § 63 p. 126, and Rem. 3 p. 132). The second, and commoner, formation ends in -e-īō- (cp. voc. in -e, loc. in -e-ī and so forth, II § 59 p. 108). This recalls Skr. hiraṇyá-ya-s 'golden' from híraṇya-m 'gold', and Lat. aureu-s (auru-m), if it is to be explained aure-īo-* (cp. II § 63 p. 128).¹⁾

(a) With Aryan present stems in -an-īa-ti are associated but few from other o-stems: Skr. adhvar-yá-ti 'performs an offering' from adhvará-s 'offering', vithuryá-ti 'staggers, reels' from vithurá-s 'tottering, reeling', rathakāmya-ti 'asks for a car' from ratha-kāma- 'desirous of having a car', Avest. vāstryē-iti 'feeds' from vāstre-m 'meadow, field, fodder', avāstryē-ītē

1) It is noteworthy how well the isolated Ved. varēyá-ti 'he woos' (vará-s 'wooer') agrees with the above mentioned adj. in -ēya-, pāuruṣēya-s from pāruṣa-s and the like.

'is idle' from avāstra- 'idle'. In Greek -aivō was a fertile type (see § 776.6 b); and many other nouns in -o- took this formation in the present, as ἐχθαίρω 'I hate' from ἐχθρός 'hated, hostile' (I § 293 p. 234), ἀγγέλλω 'I announce' from ἄγγελος 'messenger', αἰόλλω 'I move quickly backwards and forwards' from αἰόλος 'quickly moving', καμπύλλω 'I crease, bend' from καμπύλος 'bent', ἀπινύσσω 'I am unintelligent' from á-pínvros* (πινυτός 'intelligent'), μειλίσσω 'I soften, mollify' from μεῖλιχος 'soft', χάλεπτο 'I crush, overpower' (cp. § 682 with the Rem. p. 214). The same kind of denominatives occurs in Slavonic. First those which contain abstract nouns in -e-to- and the like (II § 79 p. 236), as trepeštā 'I tremble' 2nd sing. trepešteši inf. trepetati from trepetŭ 'a trembling', blekoštā 'I bleat' inf. blekotati beside Czech blekot 'a yelping or barking', rŭpŭštā 'I growl' inf. rŭpŭtati from rŭpŭtŭ 'a growling', skrŭžŭštā 'I rattle, gnash the teeth' inf. skrŭžŭtati from skrŭžŭtŭ 'a gnashing with the teeth', and others of this sort (the noun may also be a tā-stem, as klevestā 'I calumniate' inf. klevetati from kleveta 'calumny'). Besides these I place here the present in -ujā for -om-ŭā*, as běsujā 'I am mad' 2nd sing. -uješi inf. -ovati from běsovŭ 'mad, devilish', and that from běsŭ 'demon'; for further details see § 782.3. We cannot tell whether Idg. presents like Skr. turaṇ-yá-ti and Gr. ὀλισθαίνω, to which trepeštā and běsujā are parallel, survived down to Slavonic. At all events these present forms have nothing exceptional about them, as the Slavonic had a great number of primitive verbs in -jā with inf. -a-ti, such as ližā lizati 'to lick' gybljā gybati 'to destroy, lose', and some of these put on the look of denominatives, as glagoljā glagolati 'to speak' (cp. § 732 p. 260) did because of the kindred noun-stem glagolŭ 'word', and dušā duchati 'to breathe, blow' because of the noun duchŭ 'breath'. So it would be possible to believe that it is only on this analogy that trepeštā was formed from trepetŭ, and běsujā from běsovŭ.

Whether the other Idg. languages had such denominatives is doubtful. In Armenian we meet with denominatives in -im, as ħayam-i-m 'I fade' beside an-ħayam 'unfading'. This group is a new formation, on the lines of Class XXVI, § 711 p. 246, as Lat. custōdī-s finī-s follow verbs primitive like farc-i-s (§ 777). But the contained stems in -iō need not be compared with Skr. turaṇ-yá-ti; they may have arisen out of denominatives from i-stems. Similarly Lat. catuliō (beside catulu-s) blandior (beside blandu-s) insāniō (beside in-sānu-s) may be ad-formates of presents in -i-ō; and Germanic presents such as Goth. hráinja 'I cleanse' (hráin-s 'clean') láusja 'I loose' (láus 'loose') may be either this or derived from -eiō (see b, below).

(b) -e-iō. Skr. vasna-yá-ti 'haggles' Gr. ὠρέομαι 'I buy' from vasná-s -m ὠνο-ς 'price' (for ῥωσ-vo-*, cp. Solmsen, Kuhn's Zeitschr. xxix 81 f.; for O.C.Sl. věno, see II § 66 p. 149). Lat. seneō, Lith. senė-ju 'I grow old' (-ėju instead of -eju*, see below) beside Lith. sėna-s 'old'. Skr. amitra-yá-ti 'is hostile' from á-mitra-s 'foe', kulāya-yá-ti 'wraps itself up' from kulāya-m 'covering'; Avest. vāša-ye-iti 'draws the chariot' from vāša-m. 'chariot', aša-ye-iti 'is pious' from aša- 'pious' (cp. Skr. ṛtāya-ti with different accent, see §§ 793, 798), O.Pers. a-sāraya-m 'I protected, watched' from sā-ra-* (Skr. tr-a-), not actually found. Gr. φιλέω -ō 'I treat as a friend' from φίλο-ς 'dear, friend', κοιρανέω 'I rule' from κοίρανο-ς 'ruler', νοστέω 'I return home' from νόστο-ς 'homeward way', εὐφημέω 'I use words of good omen' from εὐ-φημο-ς 'of good omen'. Lat. claudeō from claudu-s, albeō from albu-s, flaveō from flavo-s, nigreō from niger. Irish: perhaps scorim scuirim 'I unharness' from scor 'enclosure for unharnessed animals'. Probably forms in -e-iō = pr. Germ. -iū are at the bottom of Germanic stems like Goth. rineiþ 'it rains' from rign 'rain', háurnja 'I blow on the horn' from háurn 'horn', Goth. laúsjá O.H.G. lōs(i)u 'I loose' from láus lōs 'loose'; the last verb, like all transitive denominatives taken from adjectives in Germanic, can be counted to Class XXXII; see § 806. Balto-Slavonic has -ē-jo- instead of -e-jo- (§ 782.2): Lith. gūdė-ju-s 'I am greedy' from gūda-s 'greed', kerė-ju 'I grow in stalks, like a bush' from kėra-s 'stalk', kėtė-ju 'I get hard' from kėta-s 'hard'; 1) O.C.Sl. razumě-

1) Kurschat, apparently with less correctness, kětēju.

-ja 'I understand' from raz-umü 'understanding, reason', čělě-ja 'I get well' from čělü 'well, whole', o-žestocaja 'I harden myself' for o-žestokēja* (I § 76 p. 66), from žestokü 'hard'.

Remark. Greek verbs in -ów have their parallel in Lith. verbs with -iju. I conjecture that these endings are special upgrowths in these languages (§§ 773, 776. 4, 782. 2). Of course if Idg. o in open syllables became Aryan ā, there is a possibility that Ar. -āya-ti in some words comes from *-o-je-ti.

§ 771. (4.) i-stems, Idg. -iǰó-. Gr. μητιό-μαι 'I devise, contrive' Lat. mētiōr 'I measure, sentence',¹⁾ from μη-τι-ς 'counsel, resolve, cleverness' Skr. mā-ti-š 'measure, correct perception'. Skr. arati-yá-ti 'brews mischief for some one' from arati-š 'ill luck', janī-yá-ti 'asks for a wife' from jāni-š 'wife', kavi-yá-tē 'acts like a wise man, is wise' from kavi-š 'wise man, seer' (on -iyáti, see § 774). Gr. κρίω 'I make dusty' from κρίν-ς 'dust', δηρτομαι 'I strive' from δηρι-ς 'contention', μηνίω 'I grow angry' from μηνι-ς 'wrath'. Lat. finiō from fīni-s, febriō from febri-s, criniō from crīni-s, grandiō from grandi-s, lēniō from lēni-s. O.Ir. fo-dalim 'I divide up' (3rd sing. fo-dali) from dāil 'part'. Goth. dāilja O.H.G. teil(i)u 'I divide' from Goth. dāil-s stem dāili- 'part'; Goth. vēnja O.H.G. wān(i)u 'I imagine, hope' beside Goth. vēn-s (stem vēni-) 'delusion, hope'; Goth. dulþja 'I observe a feast' from dulþ-s (stem dulþi-) 'feast', anamahþja 'I offer force to' from ana-mahþ-s (stem -mahti-) 'force'. Lith. daly-jū 'I divide' from dali-s 'part', szirdy-jū-s 'I take to heart' (szirdi-s 'heart'); as regards -y-ju, instead of -i-ju, see § 782. 2.

§ 772. (5.) From u-stems, Idg. -uǰó-. Skr. gatu-yá-ti 'goes an errand' from gātú-š 'errand', vasā-yá-ti 'desires goods' from vásu 'goods', śatrū-yá-ti 'appears as a foe' from śātru-š 'foe', ṛjā-yá-ti 'is straight' from ṛjū-š 'straight' (on -ā-yá-ti see § 774); Avest. aṇhu-yē-iti 'makes oneself master of' from aṇhu-š 'lord, master'. Gr. φίτιω 'I beget, produce' from φίτιν

Lat. statuō from statu-s. tribuō from tribu-s. metuō from metu-s.

§ 773. We have now given the main lines of this denominative formation in Indo-Germanic.

Now we have seen in § 769 p. 286. that ā-verbs of this formation very early yield to the analogy of ā-verbs of Classes X and XXVIII so far as to make such forms as Gr. τίμη-τός τιμή-σα. Next, corresponding non-present stems with -ē-, -ī-, or -ū- associated themselves with the presents in -e-iō -i-iō and -u-iō; to which were soon added verbs with -o- outside the present and with -o-iō or -ō-iō in the present, formed from o-nouns. In the case of Denominatives with -ē- and -ō-, the type was aided by ē- and ō- verbs of Classes X and XXVIII as well. These non-present formations are all found in several branches of Indo-Germanic. As far as our knowledge of the relations of the languages to one another now goes, it is hardly possible to say how many such forms are proethnic and how many are later.

Gr. μῆλ-τός ἐμῆλ-σα μῆλ-σω from μῆλος (μήλο-ς), compare νη-τός ενη-σα νή-σω, μῆλ-τέον ἐμῆλ-σι μῆλ-σει etc. (cp. § 587 pp. 127 ff., § 589 pp. 129 ff., §§ 735 and 737 pp. 261 ff., § 756. 4 p. 275). Lat. claudē-rem (conj. of s-aorist) from claudēō (claudu-s), compare nē-rem -plē-rem. vidē-rem tacē-rem (§ 587 pp. 127 ff., § 590 p. 132, § 708 pp. 238 ff., §§ 735 and 738 pp. 261 ff.). Lith. gūdē-ti-s gūdē-siū-s from gūdē-jū-s (gūda-s), O.C.Sl. cělē-ti cělē-chū from cělē-jq (cělŭ), compare Lith. byrē-ti byrē-siu (§ 740 p. 265). Gr. ἀ-δίρω-τός ἐκόνι-σα κονί-σω from κονίω (κονι-ς). Lat. finī-tu-s finī-rem from finiō (fini-s). Lith. daly-ti daly-siu from daly-jū (dali-s), O.C.Sl. gosti-ti gosti-chū from goštq for gostŭja* (gostŭ), § 782. 5. Gr. ἀ-δάκρυ-τός ἐδάκρυ-σα δακρύ-σω from δακρύω (δάκρυ). Lat. statū-tu-s from statuō (statu-s).

-ō- is commonest within the verb infinitive; as Gr. μυσα-

-ró-ς from μισρό-ς, Lat. aegrō-tu-s from aeger (stem aegro-), Lith. ragū-ta-s O.C.Sl. roga-tŭ 'horned' from rāga-s rogŭ 'horn', being forms like Gr. τιμῆ-τό-ς from τιμῆ, Lat. barbā-tu-s from barba. Perhaps it was just verbal nouns of this kind which in Greek were the starting point for ἐμίσθω-ου μισθώ-σω μισθόω, cp. ἐτίμη-σα τιμή-σω τιμᾶω; so in Lithuanian, jũkũ-siu jũkũ-ju like dovanó-siu dovanó-ju. Compare § 770 Rem. p. 289.

The shapes taken by present io-stems in different languages will concern us in §§ 774 ff.

The meaning originally conveyed by this denominative group was that the subject of the verb stood in some kind of relation to the noun it came from. What this relation was had to be gathered from the meaning of the noun and of the context. But it often happens that we find in historical periods some special sense attaching itself to a special denominative ending (-āiō -eiō etc.). In Sanskrit, for example, -īyá-ti implied desire; in Latin, -ō -ā-s -a-t were factitive, and -eō -ē-s -e-t intransitive. This special meaning always started with some particular verbs, where it came from the essential meaning of the noun these verbs were derived from. Then other verbs followed the same pattern. To conform to the pattern, the stem of the ground-noun is often quite neglected; thus we have Skr. putriyá-ti from putrá-s on the model of janiyá-ti (from jāni-š). As we saw in § 769 pp. 284 f., it is the ending -ā-iō which seems first to have trespassed beyond its own domain.

As a result of this specialising of endings to some particular sense, the same noun often served as base for several denominatives with different meanings; as Gr. ἐστιάω 'I receive at the hearth, entertain' and ἐστιόω 'I make into a hearth, found a house' both from ἐστιᾶ, ἀσθενέω 'I am weak' and ἀσθενόω 'I make weak', from ἀσθενής, Lat. clāreō 'I am clear' and clārō (-ā-s) 'I make clear' from clāru-s.

Remark. Considering how close was the tie between noun and derivative verb, it is not to be wondered at that such verbs often caused the creation of nouns which looked as though the verbs were derived from them ("noms postverbaux"). So, on the analogy of lacrimāre: lacrima, rixāri: rixa we have Lat. pūgna coined to match pūgnāre, which was derived from pūgnu-s; in Greek, similarly, we have νίκη 'victory' growing out of νικάω 'I bring down, conquer' (II § 86 p. 256). There are many certain examples of this retrospective tendency in modern languages, as Ital. and Span. liga Fr. ligue from liḡare, Mod.H.G. weach from weachen. See Bréal, Mém. Soc. Ling. iv 82 f.; Osthoff, M. U. iv 224.

We shall treat below (§ 793) of the shifting of denominatives in -a-yá-ti to the track of Class XXXII, which gives rise to such a form as Skr. mantrá-ya-tē.

Instead of Idg. -i-ǵó- and -u-ǵó-, we find in Vedic -i-yá- -u-yá- and -ī-yá- -ā-yá-; see §§ 771, 772. It is not clear whether the analogy of primary verbs like nī-yá-tē śrū-yá-tē is at work (§ 709 pp. 243 f.), or if the ī and ā came from feminine stems in -ī- and -ā- (II § 109 pp. 333 f.); it might be held that jani-yá-ti belongs to jáni-ṣ, janī-yá-ti to the byeform jānī, kaṇḍū-ya-ti 'scratches' to the fem. kaṇḍū- and not to the masc. kaṇḍu-. Perhaps both these forces acting together caused the vowel to become long.

The wider use of -ā-yá-ti, which began in pre-Aryan times (§ 769 pp. 284 f.), went further; and in later Sanskrit it took a special turn, and the middle voice was used to mean that the subject represented the noun which the form came from; as śakracāpāya-tē 'represents a rainbow, is like it' from śakracāpa-m 'rainbow'. Note for the typical form of the contained noun, Ved. dhiy-āya-tē 'is pious' dhiy-āyá-nt- 'attentive' from dhit- f. 'devotion, piety'; similarly jm-āyá-nt- 'struggling earthwards' from kṣám- f. 'earth' (II § 160 p. 482), unless it be from jmán- ájma- 'a way' ('way-making, carving a path').

-ī-yá-ti also was productive. On the model of durgṛbhī-ya-tē 'is hard to grasp' (dur-gṛbhi-ṣ 'hard to grasp'), kavī-yá-tē 'is wise' (kavī-ṣ 'wise'), taviṣī-yá-tē 'is strong' (táviṣi f. 'strength') sprang up others, as adhvarīyá-ti 'is present at the offering' from adhvarī-s 'offering', pitṛīyá-ti 'is fatherly' (gramm.) from pitár- 'father'. On the model of janī-yá-ti 'asks for a wife' (jáni-ṣ 'wife') we have putrīyá-ti 'wishes for a son' from putrá-s 'son', māsiyá-ti 'desires meat' from māśá-m 'meat'.

Thirdly, -s-yá- (from *s-*stems) once or twice leaves its proper sphere. mānavasyá-ti 'acts after the manner of men' from mānavá-s 'human' follows the type svapas-yá-tē 'acts nicely' from sv-apas- 'acting nicely'. uruṣyá-ti 'seeks the distance' from urú n. 'the distance' follows such verbs as taruṣ-yá-ti 'fights' (from táruṣ- n. 'fight').

Lastly, the ending -arya-ti grew into a type; beginning with vadharyá-ti 'lets fly a shot or missile', beside vádhar- and vadhá-s 'missile', it spread to rátha-s 'a chariot', and formed ratharyá-ti 'he drives in a chariot'.

Remark. I may mention here another word, Skr. śrudhīd-ti 'obeys'. This is derived from the imper. śru-dhi 'listen', which must have crystallised into something hardly more than a particle; the form is then like Gr. αἰ-άζω from αἰ, Mod.H.G. bejahe 'I say yes' verneine 'I say no' from ja and nein, Lat. negō from some form like ne-gi* = Lith. ne-gi ne-gu, contained also in neg-ōtium neg-ligō.

§ 774*. Armenian. With jo-suffix only denominatives like tāram-i-m, § 770 pp. 288 f.

Without jo-suffix: jana-m and the like, see § 581 p. 123.

Still unexplained are denom. in e-m, as gorce-m 'I work' from gorc 'work', sire-m 'I love' from sēr 'love', çue-m 'I break up, depart' from çu 'a breaking up, departure'. As jana-m answers to Aeol. τίμα-μι, one would be inclined to place gorce-m parallel to φίλη-μι. But i would be expected as representing Idg. ē.¹⁾

§ 775. Greek. The original ending -āω = Idg. -ā-īd became -āω, not by rule, but by analogy of -εω -ιω -υω.

In several dialects we see -ηω -ιω -υω -ῶω instead of the other quantity; as Lesb. ἀδικῆει, Boeot. δαμνῶντες Delph. στεφανῶετω Hom. ἰπνῶντες, Hom. κονίοντες ἐρηττόντο. Similarly -āω, as Hom. μενοινῆησι and ἡβᾶοιμι or (with. Ion. η) ἡβῆοιμι, which seems to have been the form originally used where the text has ἡβᾶοιμι. This ā is certainly not long because the vowel was long originally (see above), nor did the other endings lengthen their first vowel by analogy of an a so preserved; the long vowel in all of them came from the future, aorist, and other parts which had it, so that ἡβᾶω follows ἡβᾶ-σω, ἀδικῶ follows ἀδική-σω.¹⁾ At the same time, some power must be ascribed to the influence of present stems such as χρήων (§ 737 p. 263) and θάω (§ 707 p. 236); for the other parts of these had the same endings as the denominatives which now concern us (χρή-σομαι like φιλή-σω, θά-σω like δακρύ-σω etc.). To hastily reject this element in the matter would be all the more foolish, because it is clear as day that Primitive verbs have had influence over Denominatives in the futures ὀνομανέω -ῶ beside ἀρπάζω, and τελέω instead of τελέεσσω (§ 757 p. 277). As regards verbs in -ῖω and -ῦω, we have also to consider that the contained nouns often had -ῖ-ς and -ῦ-ς (cp. ἰσχύω from ἰσχύ-ς); this may have had something to do with it, and analogy may have finished the work. How far this influence acted must remain unsettled while we have no exact statistics of -ῖω -ῡω and -ῖω -ῦω.

Remark. γελῶω ἰδρῶω ξιγῶω are to be kept distinct from δαυιῶοντες etc. because they come from -ωσ-ζω. γελῶω from γελωσ- (nom. γέλω); the strong form of γελασ-, whence γελίω (§ 768 p. 282). ἰδρῶω from ἰδρωί; ξιγῶω from a word parallel to Lat. rigor. These verbs in -ωσ-ζω are in all probability upgrowths of the separate period, when the languages were developing singly; in this they resemble the Latin group exemplified by fulgur-iō from fulgur (O.Lat. fulgus), and stand in contrast to the really old forms Gr. τελέω τελέω for *τελεσ-ζω (§ 768 p. 282).

The origin of the ending in δυνῇ πενῇ for -ηει is not clear; cp. Hom. διψᾶων, Ion. (Archil.) διψέων, Pind. διψῇ. Compare Wackernagel, Philol. Anz. 1887, p. 238; W. Schulze, Kuhn's Zeitschr. xxix 269 f.

On the non-thematic present inflexion -ᾱ-μι (-αιμι) -η-μι -ω-μι following Class X (instead of -αω -ειω -οω) in Aeolic and Arcadian, see § 582 p. 123, § 589 p. 131. The type -ᾱ-μι in our a-denominatives came from the pre-Greek stage; and in Greek itself its analogy produced -η-μι and -ω-μι.

1) Cp. γέωω instead of *γέω following γέν-ωω and the rest; the Author, Gr. Gr.² p. 31. Lithuanian: cp. pres. dėmī 3rd sing. dėsti instead of dėmi dėsti following dė-siu dė-ti etc. (§ 546 p. 104).

§ 776. Before turning to trace the way by which the various denominative endings became general types in Greek, we would quote some words of Sütterlin's. He says, "In the every-day language of inscriptions, analogy did not run riot as it did amongst the poets and orators, who were often forced to adopt new words and terms, and depended partly on these for effect". (Zur Gesch. der Verba denom. im Altgr., 1 5).

(1) The type -αω, which could be made from o-nouns even in pre-Greek times (§ 769 pp. 284 f.), did not spread so far as it might in forming factitives, because it was met by a counter-current, the -οω class (4). Thus νέοω 'I renew' may have caused νεφα-λω* = Lat. novō O.H.G. niuwrōm to drop out of use (cp. p. 284 footnote). But in other directions -αω was fertile; it served to denote disease or diseased appetite, the production of sounds, mechanical operations, and the like. Examples: λεπράω 'I have an eruption on the skin' (from λέπρᾱ 'eruption') and similar words give rise to ίδερᾱω 'I have dropsy' from ύδρο-ς 'dropsy'; όφθαλμιάω 'I have diseased eyes' (from όφθαλμιά 'disease of the eyes') gives ύδεριάω from ύδρο-ς (beside ύδερᾱω), όδοντιάω 'I cut teeth' from όδούς 'a tooth'; βοάω 'I call, cry' from βοή 'cry' produces γοάω from γός 'lament'; whilst κωνάω 'I twist like a top' from κῶνο-ς 'top', στιάονται 'they arrange themselves in rows' from στίχοι and στίχες 'rows', σπαργανάω 'I wrap in swaddling clothes' from σπάργανο-ν 'swaddling clothes' follow τεχνάω 'I work skilfully' from τέχνη 'skill', μηχανάω 'I set to work' from μηχανή 'tool, means', and so forth. -ιάω became another kind of desiderative suffix: στρατηγιάω 'I strive to become a general' (στρατηγιά) and others like it gave rise to such forms as άρχοντιάω 'I strive to become archon' from ἄρχων, μαθητιάω 'I wish to be a pupil' from μαθητή-ς; and the last-named verb served as a model for βιν-ητιάω 'volo coire' from βινέω 'coeo'.

Remark. In certain Greek dialects -εω is often found where we expect -αω; it is not always possible to suppose that these are due to the analogy of verbs in -εω from o-stems. Such are ήβέω beside ήβάω, δανειώ beside δανανάω. J. Schmidt, in his work on the Neuters (pp. 326 ff.), puts forward a view that in pr. Greek ao aw became regularly eo ew; that the vowel was long originally (see above), nor did the other endings lengthen their first vowel by analogy of an ā so preserved; the long vowel in all of them came from the future, aorist, and other parts which had it, so that ἡβᾶω follows ἡβᾶ-σω, ἀδικῶ follows ἀδική-σω.¹⁾ At the same time, some power must be ascribed to the influence of present stems such as χρήων (§ 737 p. 263) and θάω (§ 707 p. 236); for the other parts of these had the same endings as the denominatives which now concern us (χρή-σομαι like φιλή-σω, θά-σω like δακρύ-σω etc.). To hastily reject this element in the matter would be all the more foolish, because it is clear as day that Primitive verbs have had influence over Denominatives in the futures ὀνομανέω -ῶ beside ἀρπάξω, and τελέω instead of τελέσσω (§ 757 p. 277). As regards verbs in -ῖω and -ῦω, we have also to consider that the contained nouns often had -ῖ-ς and -ῦ-ς (cp. ἰσχῖω from ἰσχῖ-ς); this may have had something to do with it, and analogy may have finished the work. How far this influence acted must remain unsettled while we have no exact statistics of -ῖω -ῡω and -ῖω -ῦω.

Remark. γελῶω ἰδρῶω ἔργῶω are to be kept distinct from δαμνῶντες etc. because they come from -ωσ-κω. γελῶω from γελωσ- (nom. γέλως), the strong form of γελασ-, whence γελᾶω (§ 768 p. 282). ιδρῶω from ιδρῶς. ἐργῶω from a word parallel to Lat. rigor. These verbs in -ωσ-κω are in all probability upgrowths of the separate period, when the languages were developing singly; in this they resemble the Latin group exemplified by fulgur-iō from fulgur (O.Lat. fulgus), and stand in contrast to the really old forms Gr. τελέω τελέω for τελεσ-κω* (§ 768 p. 282).

The origin of the ending in διωῆ περῆ for -ῆσι is not clear; cp. Hom. διψᾶων, Ion. (Archil.) διψέων, Pind. διψῆ. Compare Wackernagel, Philol. Anz. 1887, p. 238; W. Schulze, Kuhn's Zeitschr. xxix 269 f.

On the non-thematic present inflexion -ᾱ-μι (-αιμι) -η-μι -ω-μι following Class X (instead of -αω -εω -οω) in Aeolic and Arcadian, see § 582 p. 123, § 589 p. 131. The type -ᾱ-μι in our ā-denominatives came from the pre-Greek stage; and in Greek itself its analogy produced -η-μι and -ω-μι.

1) Cp. γεύω instead of γέω* following γεύ-ωω and Gr. Gr.² p. 31. Lithuanian: cp. pres. dēmi 3rd sing dēsti following dē-siu dē-ti etc. (§ 546 p. 104).

§ 776. Before turning to trace the way by which the various denominative endings became general types in Greek, we would quote some words of Sütterlin's. He says, "In the every-day language of inscriptions, analogy did not run riot as it did amongst the poets and orators, who were often forced to adopt new words and terms, and depended partly on these for effect". (Zur Gesch. der Verba denom. im Altgr., 1 5).

(1) The type -aw, which could be made from o-nouns even in pre-Greek times (§ 769 pp. 284 f.), did not spread so far as it might in forming factitives, because it was met by a counter-current, the -ow class (4). Thus νέω 'I renew' may have caused νεῤῃᾱ-λω* = Lat. novō O.H.G. niuwōm to drop out of use (cp. p. 284 footnote). But in other directions -aw was fertile; it served to denote disease or diseased appetite, the production of sounds, mechanical operations, and the like. Examples: λεπράω 'I have an eruption on the skin' (from λέπρᾱ 'eruption') and similar words give rise to ἰδερᾶω 'I have dropsy' from ἰδερο-ς 'dropsy'; ὀφθαλμιάω 'I have diseased eyes' (from ὀφθαλμία 'disease of the eyes') gives ἰδεριάω from ἰδερο-ς (beside ἰδερᾶω), ὀδοντιάω 'I cut teeth' from ὀδούς 'a tooth'; βοάω 'I call, cry' from βοή 'cry' produces γούᾶω from γόος 'lament'; whilst κωνάω 'I twist like a top' from κῶνο-ς 'top', στιχάζονται 'they arrange themselves in rows' from στίχοι and στίχες 'rows', σπαργανάω 'I wrap in swaddling clothes' from σπάργανον 'swaddling clothes' follow τεχνάω 'I work skilfully' from τέχνη 'skill', μηχανάω 'I set to work' from μηχανή 'tool, means', and so forth. -ιάω became another kind of desiderative suffix: στρατηγιάω 'I strive to become a general' (στρατηγία) and others like it gave rise to such forms as ἄρχοντιάω 'I strive to become archon' from ἄρχων, μαθητιάω 'I wish to be a pupil' from μαθητή-ς; and the last-named verb served as a model for βιτητιάω 'volo coire' from βιτέω 'coeo'.

Remark. In certain Greek dialects -ew is often found where we expect -aw; it is not always possible to supply the a due to the analogy of verbs in -ew from o-stems. So ἐβᾶω beside δαπανέω beside δαπανάω. J. Schmidt, in his work on the Greek verb, puts forward a view that in pr. Greek aw became ew.

As well as these present stems in -ā-īō, most languages have non-present stems with -ā- just like those formed from ā-verbs in Classes X and XXVIII. The latter are the type, the former copied from them. The commonest are verbal nouns, always more or less closely connected with the verb system, with the suffixes -to- -ti- -no- and so forth: e. g. Gr. τῆλε-τό-ς τῆλε-τό-ς from τῆλε, Lat. plantā-tu-s plantā-tiō from plantō, O.Ir. carthe 'loved' from caraim, cēssad 'suffering' from cēssaim, Goth. laþō-þ-s 'invited' laþō-n 'to invite' laþō-n-s 'invitation' from laþō, Lith. dovanó-ta-s 'given' dovanó-ti 'to give' from dovanó-ju, O.C.Sl. laka-nū 'deceived' laka-ti 'to deceive' from laka-ja. Then we have certain tenses, as Gr. τῆλε-σσι, Lat. plantā-rem, Lith. dovanó-siu O.C.Sl. laka-chū. Compare § 756. 5, p. 276, § 761 p. 279, § 822. 6.

§ 770. (3) From o-stems there were two ways of deriving the present stem. One of them, doubtless the older, suppresses the final vowel of the noun stem. This we have already seen in Classes XIV and XXIX, exemplified by Skr. turaṇ-yá-ti from turāṇa-s, Gr. ὀλιγαίρων from ὀλιγαίρων-ος (§§ 616 ff. pp. 154 ff., § 743 pp. 265 f.). This is just how īo-adjectives are generally derived from noun stems in -o-, as Skr. áśv-īya-s Gr. ἵππ-ιο-ς from áśva-s ἵππο-ς (II § 63 p. 126, and Rem. 3 p. 132). The second, and commoner, formation ends in -e-īō- (cp. voc. in -e, loc. in -e-ī and so forth. II § 59 p. 108). This recalls Skr. hiranyá-ya-s 'golden' from hiranya-m 'gold', and Lat. aureu-s (auru-m), if it is to be explained aure-īo-* (cp. II § 63 p. 128).¹⁾

(a) With Aryan present stems in -an-īa-ti are associated but few from other o-stems: Skr. adhvar-yá-ti 'performs an offering' from adhvará-s 'offering', viṭhuryá-ti 'staggers, reels' from viṭhurá-s 'tottering, reeling', rathakāmya-ti 'asks for a car' from ratha-kāma- 'desirous of having a car', Avest. vāstryē-iti 'feeds' from vāstre-m 'meadow, field, fodder', avāstryē-iti

1) It is noteworthy how well the isolated Ved. carēyá-ti 'he woos' (cará-s 'wooer') agrees with the above mentioned adj. in -ēya-, pāuruṣīya-s from pāruṣa-s and the like.

'is idle' from avāstra- 'idle'. In Greek -αῖνω was a fertile type (see § 776.6 b); and many other nouns in -o- took this formation in the present, as ἐχθαίρω 'I hate' from ἐχθρό- 'hated, hostile' (I § 293 p. 234), ἀγγέλλω 'I announce' from ἄγγελος 'messenger', αἰόλλω 'I move quickly backwards and forwards' from αἰόλος 'quickly moving', καμπύλλω 'I crease, bend' from καμπύλος 'bent', ἀπινύσσω 'I am unintelligent' from ἀ-πίνυρος* (πινυρό- 'intelligent'), μειλίσσω 'I soften, mollify' from μεῖλιχος 'soft', χαλέπτω 'I crush, overpower' (cp. § 682 with the Rem. p. 214). The same kind of denominatives occurs in Slavonic. First those which contain abstract nouns in -e-to- and the like (II § 79 p. 236), as trepeštā 'I tremble' 2nd sing. trepešeti inf. trepetati from trepetŭ 'a trembling', blekoštā 'I bleat' inf. blekotati beside Czech blekot 'a yelping or barking', rŭpŭštā 'I growl' inf. rŭpŭtati from rŭpŭtŭ 'a growling', skrŭžŭštā 'I rattle, gnash the teeth' inf. skrŭžŭtati from skrŭžŭtŭ 'a gnashing with the teeth', and others of this sort (the noun may also be a tā-stem, as kleveštā 'I calumniate' inf. klevetati from kleveta 'calumny'). Besides these I place here the present in -ujā for -ou-ia*, as běsuja 'I am mad' 2nd sing. -uješi inf. -ovati from běsovŭ 'mad, devilish', and that from běsŭ 'demon'; for further details see § 782.3. We cannot tell whether Idg. presents like Skr. turaṇ-yá-ti and Gr. ὀλισθαίνω, to which trepeštā and běsuja are parallel, survived down to Slavonic. At all events these present forms have nothing exceptional about them, as the Slavonic had a great number of primitive verbs in -jā with inf. -a-ti, such as ližā lizati 'to lick' gybljā gybati 'to destroy, lose', and some of these put on the look of denominatives, as glagoljā glagolati 'to speak' (cp. § 732 p. 260) did because of the kindred noun-stem glagolŭ 'word', and dušā duchati 'to breathe, blow' because of the noun duchŭ 'breath'. So it would be possible to believe that it is only on this analogy that trepeštā was formed from trepetŭ, and běsuja from běsovŭ.

Whether the other Idg. languages had such denominatives is doubtful. In Armenian we meet with denominatives in -im, as taṛam-i-m 'I fade' beside an-taṛam 'unfading'. This group is a new formation, on the lines of Class XXVI. § 711 p. 246, as Lat. custōdī-s finī-s follow verbs primitive like furcī-s (§ 777). But the contained stems in -iō need not be compared with Skr. turaṇ-yá-ti: they may have arisen out of denominatives from i-stems. Similarly Lat. catulīō (beside catulu-s) blandior (beside blandu-s) insānīō (beside in-sānu-s) may be ad-formates of presents in -i-iō; and Germanic presents such as Goth. hráinja 'I cleanse' (hráin-s 'clean') láusja 'I loose' (láus 'loose') may be either this or derived from -eiō (see b. below).

(b) -e-iō. Skr. rasna-yá-ti 'haggles' Gr. ᾠρέουαι 'I buy' from rasná-s -m ᾠρο-ς 'price' (for ῥωσ-το*-, cp. Solmsen. Kuhn's Zeitschr. XXIX 81 f.; for O.C.Sl. rěno, see II § 66 p. 149). Lat. seneō. Lith. senė-ju 'I grow old' (-ėju instead of -eju*, see below) beside Lith. sėna-s 'old'. Skr. amitra-yá-ti 'is hostile' from á-mitra-s 'foe', kulīya-yá-ti 'wraps itself up' from kulāya-m 'covering'; Avest. rāša-yē-iti 'draws the chariot' from rāša- m. 'chariot', aša-yē-iti 'is pious' from aša- 'pious' (cp. Skr. ṛtāya-ti with different accent, see §§ 793, 798), O.Pers. a-šāraya-m 'I protected, watched' from šā-ra-* (Skr. tr-ā-), not actually found. Gr. γαλέω -ō 'I treat as a friend' from γαίλο-ς 'dear, friend', χοίρατέω 'I rule' from χοίραρο-ς 'ruler', νοστέω 'I return home' from νόστρο-ς 'homeward way', εὐφημέω 'I use words of good omen' from εὐ-φημο-ς 'of good omen'. Lat. claudeō from claudu-s, albeō from albu-s, flaveō from flāvo-s, nigreō from niger. Irish: perhaps scorim scuirim 'I unharness' from scor 'enclosure for unharnessed animals'. Probably forms in -e-iō = pr. Germ. -iūō are at the bottom of Germanic stems like Goth. riḡneip̃ 'it rains' from riḡn 'rain', háurnja 'I blow on the horn' from háurn 'horn', Goth. laúsjja O.H.G. lōs(i)u 'I loose' from láus lōs 'loose'; the last verb, like all transitive denominatives taken from adjectives in Germanic, can be counted to Class XXXII; see § 806. Balto-Slavonic has -ē-iō- instead of -e-iō- (§ 782. 2): Lith. gūdė-jũ-s 'I am greedy' from gũda-s 'greed', kerė-ju 'I grow in stalks, like a bush' from kėra-s 'stalk', kėtė-ju 'I get hard' from kėta-s 'hard'; 1) O.C.Sl. razumě-

1) Kurschat, apparently with less correctness, kětēju.

-ja 'I understand' from raz-umū 'understanding, reason', cělě-ja 'I get well' from cělū 'well, whole', o-žestočaja 'I harden myself' for o-žestokēja* (I § 76 p. 66), from žestokū 'hard'.

Remark. Greek verbs in -ō have their parallel in Lith. verbs with -ūju. I conjecture that these endings are special upgrowths in these languages (§§ 773, 776.4, 782.2). Of course if Idg. o in open syllables became Aryan ā, there is a possibility that Ar. -āya-ti in some words comes from *-o-je-ti.

§ 771. (4.) i-stems, Idg. -iǵó-. Gr. μητιό-μαι 'I devise, contrive' Lat. mētiōr 'I measure, sentence',¹⁾ from μη-τι-ς 'counsel, resolve, cleverness' Skr. mā-ti-ś 'measure, correct perception'. Skr. arātī-yá-ti 'brews mischief for some one' from árati-ś 'ill luck', janī-yá-ti 'asks for a wife' from jāni-ś 'wife', kavī-yá-tē 'acts like a wise man, is wise' from kavī-ś 'wise man, seer' (on -iyáti, see § 774). Gr. κοτίω 'I make dusty' from κότι-ς 'dust', δητόμαι 'I strive' from δητι-ς 'contention', μηνίω 'I grow angry' from μήτι-ς 'wrath'. Lat. fīniō from fīni-s, febriō from febri-s, crīniō from crīni-s, grandiō from grandi-s, lēniō from lēni-s. O.Ir. fo-dālim 'I divide up' (3rd sing. fo-dālī) from dāil 'part'. Goth. dāilja O.H.G. teil(i)u 'I divide' from Goth. dāil-s stem dāili- 'part'; Goth. vēnja O.H.G. wān(i)u 'I imagine, hope' beside Goth. vēn-s (stem vēni-) 'delusion, hope'; Goth. dulþja 'I observe a feast' from dulþ-s (stem dulþi-) 'feast', anamahþja 'I offer force to' from ana-mahþ-s (stem -mahþi-) 'force'. Lith. daly-jū 'I divide' from dālī-s 'part', szirdy-jū-s 'I take to heart' (szirdī-s 'heart'); as regards -y-ju, instead of -i-ju, see § 782.2.

§ 772. (5.) From u-stems, Idg. -uǵó-. Skr. gatu-yá-ti 'goes an errand' from gātū-ś 'errand', vasū-yá-ti 'desires goods' from vāsu 'goods', śatrū-yá-ti 'appears as a foe' from śātru-ś 'foe', ṛjū-yá-ti 'is straight' from ṛjū-ś 'straight' (on -ū-yá-ti see § 774); Avest. arəhu-yē-iti 'makes oneself master of' from arəhu-ś 'lord, master'. Gr. φῆτιω 'I beget, produce' from φῆτι

1) A different account of mētiōr is given by Johansson, Beitr. zur Gr. Spr., 129.

'sprout, offspring', q̃rtv-s 'begetter, producer', γηρύω 'I make a sound' from γηρύς 'voice', οἷζύω 'I lament' from οἷζύς 'lament', δακρύω 'I weep' from δάκρυ 'tear', ἵθύνω 'I go straight towards' from ἵθύνς 'straight'. Lat. statuō from statu-s, tribuō from tribu-s, metuō from metu-s.

§ 773. We have now given the main lines of this denominative formation in Indo-Germanic.

Now we have seen in § 769 p. 286, that ā-verbs of this formation very early yield to the analogy of ā-verbs of Classes X and XXVIII so far as to make such forms as Gr. εἰμῆ-τός εἰμῆ-σα. Next, corresponding non-present stems with -ē-, -i-, or -ū- associated themselves with the presents in -e-īō -i-īō and -u-īō; to which were soon added verbs with -ō- outside the present and with -o-īo- or -ō-īo- in the present, formed from o-nouns. In the case of Denominatives with -ē- and -ō-, the type was aided by ē- and ō- verbs of Classes X and XXVIII as well. These non-present formations are all found in several branches of Indo-Germanic. As far as our knowledge of the relations of the languages to one another now goes, it is hardly possible to say how many such forms are proethnic and how many are later.

(Gr. φιλη-τός ἐφιλη-σα φιλή-σω from φιλέω (φίλο-ς), compare νή-τός ἐνή-σα νή-σω, μελη-τέο-ν ἐμέλη-σε μελή-σει etc. (cp. § 587 pp. 127 f., § 589 pp. 129 ff., §§ 735 and 737 pp. 261 ff., § 756. 4 p. 275). Lat. claudē-rem (conj. of s-aorist) from claudēō (claudu-s), compare nē-rem -plē-rem, vidē-rem tacē-rem (§ 587 pp. 127 f., § 590 p. 132, § 708 pp. 238 ff., §§ 735 and 738 pp. 261 ff.). Lith. gūdē-ti-s gūdē-siū-s from gūdē-jū-s (gūda-s), O.C.Sl. cělē-ti cělē-chŭ from cělē-ja (cělŭ), compare Lith. byrē-ti byrē-siū (§ 740 p. 265). Gr. ἀ-δήρῃ-τος ἐκόνῃ-σα κονί-σω from κονίω (κονι-ς). Lat. fīnī-tu-s fīnī-rem from fīniō (fīni-s). Lith. daly-ti daly-siū from daly-jū (dalŭ-s), O.C.Sl. gosti-ti gosti-chŭ from goštŭ for gostŭja* (gostŭ), § 782. 5. (Gr. ἀ-δάκρῃ-τος ἐδάκρῃ-σα δακρύ-σω from δακρύω (δάκρυ). Lat. statū-tu-s from statuō (statu-s).

-ō- is commonest within the verb infinite; as Gr. μισθω-

-τό-ς from μισθό-ς, Lat. agrō-tu-s from aeger (stem agro-), Lith. ragū'-ta-s O.C.Sl. roga-tŭ 'horned' from rāga-s rogŭ 'horn', being forms like Gr. τιμῆ-τό-ς from τιμή, Lat. barbā-tu-s from barba. Perhaps it was just verbal nouns of this kind which in Greek were the starting point for ἐμισθω-σαι μισθώ-σω μισθόω, cp. ἐτίμη-σα τιμή-σω τιμάω; so in Lithuanian, jũkũ'-siu jũkũ'-ju like dovanó-siu dovanó'-ju. Compare § 770 Rem. p. 289.

The shapes taken by present io-stems in different languages will concern us in §§ 774 ff.

The meaning originally conveyed by this denominative group was that the subject of the verb stood in some kind of relation to the noun it came from. What this relation was had to be gathered from the meaning of the noun and of the context. But it often happens that we find in historical periods some special sense attaching itself to a special denominative ending (-āḡō -eḡō etc.). In Sanskrit, for example, -īyá-ti implied desire; in Latin, -ō -ā-s -a-t were factitive, and -eō -ē-s -e-t intransitive. This special meaning always started with some particular verbs, where it came from the essential meaning of the noun these verbs were derived from. Then other verbs followed the same pattern. To conform to the pattern, the stem of the ground-noun is often quite neglected; thus we have Skr. putriyá-ti from putrá-s on the model of janiyá-ti (from jáni-ṣ). As we saw in § 769 pp. 284 f., it is the ending -ā-ḡō which seems first to have trespassed beyond its own domain.

As a result of this specialising of endings to some particular sense, the same noun often served as base for several denominatives with different meanings; as Gr. ἐστιάω 'I receive at the hearth, entertain' and ἐστιόω 'I make into a hearth, found a house' both from ἐστία, ἀσθενέω 'I am weak' and ἀσθενόω 'I make weak', from ἀσθενής, Lat. clāreō 'I am clear' and clārō (-ā-s) 'I make clear' from clāru-s.

Remark. Considering how close was the tie between noun and derivative verb, it is not to be wondered at that such verbs often caused the creation of nouns which looked as though the verbs were derived from them ("noms postverbaux"). So, on the analogy of lacrimāre: lacrima, rixāri: rixa we have Lat. pūgna coined to match pūgnāre, which was

'sprout, offspring', qītu-s 'begetter, producer', γηγύω 'I make a sound' from γηῆρυ-s 'voice', οἷζύω 'I lament' from οἷζύ-s 'lament', δακρύω 'I weep' from δάκρυ 'tear', ἵθύνω 'I go straight towards' from ἵθύ-s 'straight'. Lat. statuō from statu-s, tribuō from tribu-s, metuō from metu-s.

Compare § 770 Rem. p. 289.

The shapes taken by present io-stems in different languages will concern us in §§ 774 ff.

The meaning originally conveyed by this denominative group was that the subject of the verb stood in some kind of relation to the noun it came from. What this relation was had to be gathered from the meaning of the noun and of the context. But it often happens that we find in historical periods some special sense attaching itself to a special denominative ending (-ā-ḡō -e-ḡō etc.). In Sanskrit, for example, -īyá-ti implied desire; in Latin, -ō -ā-s -a-t were factitive, and -eō -ē-s -e-t intransitive. This special meaning always started with some particular verbs, where it came from the essential meaning of the noun these verbs were derived from. Then other verbs followed the same pattern. To conform to the pattern, the stem of the ground-noun is often quite neglected; thus we have Skr. putriyá-ti from putrá-s on the model of janiyá-ti (from jáni-ṣ). As we saw in § 769 pp. 284 f., it is the ending -ā-ḡō which seems first to have trespassed beyond its own domain.

Remark. Considering how close was the tie between noun and derivative verb, it is not to be wondered at that such verbs often caused the creation of nouns which looked as though the verbs were derived from them ("noms postverbaux"). So, on the analogy of lacrimāre : lacrima, rixāri : rixa we have Lat. pūgna coined to match pūgnāre, which was derived from pūgnu-s: in Greek, similarly, we have νικῶ 'victory' growing out of νικῶ 'I bring down, conquer' (II § 86 p. 256). There are many certain examples of this retrospective tendency in modern languages, as Ital. and Span. liga Fr. lique from liquer, Mod.H.G. wach from wachen. See Bréal, Mém. Soc. Ling. iv 82 f.; Osthoff, M. U. iv 224.

We shall treat below (§ 793) of the shifting of denominatives in -a-yá-ti to the track of Class XXXII, which gives rise to such a form as Skr. mantrá-ya-tē.

Instead of Idg. -i-ió- and -u-ió-, we find in Vedic -i-yá- -u-yá- and -ī-yá- -ā-yá-; see §§ 771, 772. It is not clear whether the analogy of primary verbs like nī-yá-tē śrū-yá-tē is at work (§ 709 pp. 243 f.), or if the ī and ā came from feminine stems in -ī- and -ā- (II § 109 pp. 333 f.); it might be held that jani-yá-ti belongs to jāni-ś, janī-yá-ti to the byeform jānī, kaṇḍū-ya-ti 'scratches' to the fem. kaṇḍū- and not to the masc. kaṇḍu-. Perhaps both these forces acting together caused the vowel to become long.

The wider use of -ā-yá-ti, which began in pre-Aryan times (§ 769 pp. 284 f.), went further; and in later Sanskrit it took a special turn, and the middle voice was used to mean that the subject represented the noun which the form came from; as śakracāpaya-tē 'represents a rainbow, is like it' from śakracāpa-m 'rainbow'. Note for the typical form of the contained noun, Ved. dhiy-āya-tē 'is pious' dhiy-āyā-nt- 'attentive' from dhī- f. 'devotion, piety'; similarly jm-āyā-nt- 'struggling earthwards' from kṣām- f. 'earth' (II § 160 p. 482), unless it be from jmán- ājma- 'a way' (way-making, carving a path).

-ī-yá-ti also was productive. On the model of durgbhī-ya-tē 'is hard to grasp' (dur-gbhī-ś 'hard to grasp'), kavī-yá-tē 'is wise' (kavī-ś 'wise'), taviṣī-yá-tē 'is strong' (taviṣī f. 'strength') sprang up others, as adhvarīyá-ti 'is present at the offering' from adhvará-s 'offering', pitṛīyá-ti 'is fatherly' (gramm.) from pitár- 'father'. On the model of janī-yá-ti 'asks for a wife' (jāni-ś 'wife') we have putrīyá-ti 'wishes for a son' from putrá-s 'son', māṣīyá-ti 'desires meat' from māśá-m 'meat'.

Thirdly, -s-yá- (from *s-*stems) once or twice leaves its proper sphere. mānavasyá-ti 'acts after the manner of men' from mānavá-s 'human' follows the type svapas-yá-tē 'acts nicely' from sv-apas- 'acting nicely'. uruṣyá-ti 'seeks the distance' from urú n. 'the distance' follows such verbs as taruṣ-yá-ti 'fights' (from táruṣ- n. 'fight').

Lastly, the ending -arya-ti grew into a type; beginning with vadharyá-ti 'lets fly a shot or missile', beside vádhar- and vadhá-s 'missile', it spread to rátha-s 'a chariot', and formed ratharyá-ti 'he drives in a chariot'.

Remark. I may mention here another word, Skr. śrudhīyá-ti 'obeys'. This is derived from the imper. śru-dhí 'listen', which must have crystallised into something hardly more than a particle; the form is then like Gr. αἰ-άζω from αἰ, Mod.H.G. bejahe 'I say yes' verneine 'I say no' from ja and nein, Lat. negō from some form like ne-gi* = Lith. ne-gi ne-gu, contained also in neg-otium neg-ligō.

§ 774^a. Armenian. With ḡo-suffix only denominatives like tāram-i-m, § 770 pp. 288 f.

Without ḡo-suffix: jana-m and the like, see § 581 p. 123.

Still unexplained are denom. in e-m, as gorce-m 'I work' from gorc 'work', sire-m 'I love' from sēr 'love', čue-m 'I break up, depart' from ču 'a breaking up, departure'. As jana-m answers to Aeol. τίμα-μι, one would be inclined to place gorce-m parallel to φίλη-μι. But i would be expected as representing Idg. ē.¹⁾

§ 775. Greek. The original ending -āw = Idg. -a-ḡō became -āw, not by rule, but by analogy of -ew -iw -vō.

In several dialects we see -ηω -ιω -ῖω -ῑω instead of the other quantity; as Lesb. ἀδικήει, Boeot. δαμιάωντες Delph. στεφανώτω Hom. ὑπνιώντες, Hom. κοντόντες ἐρητύοντο. Similarly -āw, as Hom. μενοινήησι and ἡβᾶοιμι or (with Ion. η) ἡβήοιμι, which seems to have been the form originally used where the text has ἡβᾶοιμι. This ā is certainly not long because

§ 776. Before turning to trace the way by which the various denominative endings became general types in Greek, we would quote some words of Sütterlin's. He says, "In the every-day language of inscriptions, analogy did not run riot as it did amongst the poets and orators, who were often forced to adopt new words and terms, and depended partly on these for effect". (Zur Gesch. der Verba denom. im Altgr., 1 5).

(1) The type -αω, which could be made from o-nouns even in pre-Greek times (§ 769 pp. 284 f.), did not spread so far as it might in forming factitives, because it was met by a counter-current, the -οω class (4). Thus νέοω 'I renew' may have caused νεῤῃᾱ-λω* = Lat. novō O.H.G. niuwōm to drop out of use (cp. p. 284 footnote). But in other directions -αω was fertile; it served to denote disease or diseased appetite, the production of sounds, mechanical operations, and the like. Examples: λεπράω 'I have an eruption on the skin' (from λεπρᾱ 'eruption') and similar words give rise to ἰδερᾱώ 'I have dropsy' from ἰδερo-ς 'dropsy'; ὀφθαλμιάω 'I have diseased eyes' (from ὀφθαλ-μία 'disease of the eyes') gives ἰδεριάω from ἰδερo-ς (beside ἰδερᾱώ), ὀδοντιάω 'I cut teeth' from ὀδoύς 'a tooth'; βοᾱώ 'I call, cry' from βοή 'cry' produces γοᾱώ from γόoς 'lament'; whilst κωνᾱώ 'I twist like a top' from κῶνο-ς 'top', στικᾱόνται 'they arrange themselves in rows' from στίχοι and στίχες 'rows', σπαργανᾱώ 'I wrap in swaddling clothes' from σπάργανο-ν 'swaddling clothes' follow τεχνᾱώ 'I work skilfully' from τέχνη 'skill', μηχανᾱώ 'I set to work' from μηχανή 'tool, means', and so forth. -ιάω became another kind of desiderative suffix: στρατηγιάω 'I strive to become a general' (στρατηγιά) and others like it gave rise to such forms as ἀρχοντιάω 'I strive to become archon' from ἄρχων, μαθητιάω 'I wish to be a pupil' from μαθητή-ς; and the last-named verb served as a model for βιν-ητιάω 'volo coire' from βινέω 'coeo'.

Remark. In certain Greek dialects -εω is often found where we expect -αω; it is not always possible to suppose that these are due to the analogy of verbs in -εω from o-stems. Such are ἡβέω beside ἡβάω, δαπνέω beside δαπανᾱώ. J. Schmidt, in his work on the Neuters (pp. 326 ff.), puts forward a view that in pr. Greek αο αω became regularly εο εω; that thus eo ew and ae stood side by side in sets of verb-forms, ἤβειω ἤβαις etc.; and that there was levelling in two directions, (1) ἤβάνω ἤβόμεν etc. following ἤβαις -άει, (2) ἤβέαις, -έει following ἤβέω -έομεν.

(2) Many are the meanings given by verbs in -εω which are formed from uncompounded o-stems; they stand in all sorts of different relations to the contained stem. Here are a few: κοιρανέω 'I am ruler' from κοίρανο-ς 'ruler', οικέω 'I dwell' from οἶκο-ς 'dwelling, house', ἀριθμέω 'I count' from ἀριθμός-ς 'number', μοχθέω 'I toil' from μόχθο-ς 'labour'. This type was not very fertile in analogical imitations, though we have ἡγεμονέω 'I lead' (ἡγεμών) modelled upon κοιρανέω. But when these verbs were taken from compound stems, the case was different. These meant mostly to be or to act as something; and the type spread to an extraordinary extent. Examples of strictly correct forms: οἰνοχοέω 'I am wine-pourer' from οἶνο-χόο-ς, δημιουργέω 'I am a craftsman, artisan' from δημιουργός-ς, ἀδυνατέω 'I am unable, weak' from ἀδυνατός-ς; by analogy — μισθοδοτέω 'I am wage-giver' from μισθο-δότη-ς, ἀφρονέω 'I am senseless' from ἄφρων. It is true some of these verbs have meanings both transitive and intransitive, but this depends on the meaning of the ground-word; this ταλαιπωρέω means 'I plague' or 'I am plagued' because ταλαίπωρο-ς means either suffering misery or inflicting it.

(3) With -εω-verbs derived from o-stems, another group originally ending in -εσ-μω ran together. Only in Homer is there a difference in form; there we have -εω, from -εσμω, and the intermediate -ειω, side by side: τελείω and τελέω (I § 131 p. 118). The coincidence of these two classes in the present caused analogy to act in other parts of the verb system. Even in Homer are found such forms as ἀνθῆσαι from ἀνθέω 'I bloom' for ἀνθεσ-μω* (ἄνθος n. 'bloom') on the analogy of φιλῆσαι from φιλέω, and τετενχῆσθαι 'to be armed' from τενίχ-εα pl. 'arms'. Then came a number of verbs in -εω fut. -ησω from compound εσ-stems, as ἀπειθέω 'I am disobedient' from ἀπειθή-ς 'disobedient', εὐθαρσέω 'I am of good courage' from εὐ-θαρσής 'courageous'; a step due partly to the fondness which the Greeks showed for verbal derivatives in -εω from compound o-stems (for which see above, 2).

(4) The group of verbs in -ω, also from o-stems, is probably a purely Greek development, on parallel lines to -εω = Idg. -e-ǵō (see § 773 pp. 290 f.). At first probably there were forms of the verb infinite only, as those with the ending -ω-το-ς; these soon produced all the rest. -αιω -ασιω etc. may have been the type for -ω -ωσω: there is a likeness between θριγκώω 'I furnish with battlements or eaves' (θριγκό-ς) στέφανώω 'I provide with a wreath' (στέφανο-ς) and πέδαιω 'I furnish with a fetter' (πέδη) τίμιάω 'I provide with honour' τίμη; compare particularly στέφανον (στέφανοις) στέφανώω and τίμη (τίμαις) τίμιόω.

A favourite meaning for -ω is factitive; as σιφλώω 'I make a cripple' (σιφλό-ς), νέωω 'I make new' (νέο-ς), ισόω 'I make equal' (ἴσο-ς). This function it seems to have taken from pre-Greek -αῖδ; compare νέωω with Lat. novāre O.H.G. nīuwōn (p. 295); and in this sense -ω became enormously productive: σαράκωω 'I make into rags, tear to rags' from ράκος n. 'rag', ¹⁾ ύγιώω 'I make well' from ύγιής 'well', όρνιθόω 'I turn into a bird' from όρνις 'bird', πλατύωω 'I make broad' from πλατύ-ς 'broad', γεφυρόωω 'I make into a bridge' from γέφυρα 'bridge'.

(5) Beside verbs in -υω (§ 772) sprang up a class in -ευω, as νομεύω 'I am a herdsman' (νομεύ-ς), ήμοχεύω 'I am a driver' (ήμοχεύ-ς). If, as we assumed in III § 261 p. 162, -ευς comes from -εχv-ς*, then -ευω = -εχv-λω*, -ευσω = -εχv-σω* are quite regular, and do not differ in principle from -υ-(λ)ω -υ-σω (δακρύω -ύσω).

The ending -ευω soon became a type for expressing one's usual calling or occupation: as οἰνοχοεύω 'I am cup-bearer' from οἰνοχό-ς, μαντεύομαι 'I am a seer' from μάντι-ς, θηρεύω 'I am a hunter' from θήρᾱ 'hunt', βουλευέω 'I am a counsellor, advise' from βουλή 'counsel'. Thus -ευω is partially synonymous with -εω; we have οἰνοχοέω and -χορεύω, and κοιταρέω bears the same kind of sense (see 2., p. 296).

1) One dare hardly derive this from ξακον-ιω*, although this would have an analogue in Lat. fulgur-iō (see § 775 p. 294).

(6) Amongst the many endings of verbs derived from substantives with consonantal stems, three are particularly fertile — -αῖω, -ίζω, and -αίνω.

(a) -αῖω, for -αδ-ιω, answers sometimes to a Germanic class in (Goth.) -atja (§ 768 p. 283), and sometimes -αῖω comes from h₂dīō*, as in πεμπάζομαι 'I count by fives' from πεμπάς (II § 123 p. 390, III § 169 pp. 13 f.).

Following μυγάζω 'I mix', intr. in middle (μυγάς 'mixt') were coined ἡσυχάζω 'I pacify, keep quiet' from ἡσυχος 'quiet', δοκιμάζω 'I test' from δόκιμος 'tested, genuine, correct'. Following ἀφροδισιάζω 'I give myself up to sensuality' (ἀφροδισιάς), γενεαῖζω 'I grow a beard' (γενεάς) were formed στασιάζω 'I am in tumult' from στάσις 'tumult', ἀνιάζω 'I feel pain or trouble' from ἀνία 'pain, trouble', ἐπιχωριάζω 'I am at home' from ἐπιχώριος 'at home'.

-ίζω for -ιδ-ιω; as ἐλπίζω 'I hope' from ἐλπίς -ίδ-ος 'hope', φροντίζω 'I think' from φροντίς 'care', ληϊζομαι 'I rob, harry, carry off' from ληΐς 'booty', ἐρίζω 'I strive' from ἐρις 'strife'. On this model, αἰνίζομαι 'I praise' from αἶνος 'praise', δαινίζω 'I entertain' from δεῖπνον 'meal', καναχίζω 'I roar, rush' from καναχή 'rush, roar', ὀνειδίζω 'I abuse, blame' from ὀνειδος n. 'disgrace', ἀκοντίζω 'I cast a javelin' from ἄκων 'javelin', αἵματιζω 'I stain with blood' from αἷμα 'blood', μακαρίζω 'I bless' from μάκαρ 'blest', ἀεικίζω 'I insult, torment' from ἀεικής 'shameful'.

In a few words -αῖω and -ίζω come from -αγ-ιω and -ιγ-ιω; as ἀρπάζω 'I seize, carry off' (fut. ἀρπάξω) from ἄρπαξ 'greedy, piratical'; and μαστίζω 'I whip' from μάστιξ 'a whip'. This coincidence of -γ-ιω and -δ-ιω in the present caused analogy to act in two directions. (1) ἀρπάσω ἤρπασα beside ἀρπάξω ἤρπαξα following the dental stems; and (2) Dor. δοκιμαξέω ἔριξα instead of δοκιμασέω ἤρισα* following guttural stems. The latter kind were very common in Doric.

(b) Verbs in -αίνω come from two sources. Some are derived from nominal n-stems; as τεκταίνω 'I carpenter' from τέκτων 'carpenter', εὐφραίνω 'I make glad' from εὐφρων 'glad', ποιμαίνω 'I tend' from ποιμήν 'herdsman', σπερμαίνω 'I give forth seed' from σπέρμα 'seed', κῦμαίνω 'I undulate' from κῦμα 'billow' (§ 768 p. 282). The others are extended no-stems; as λαίνω 'I quicken, make live' beside Skr. iṣṇa-t, αἰαίνω 'I dry' beside Lith. saūsinu (§ 621 pp. 158 f., § 743 p. 266). As the -aίνω group spread, either of the two kinds might serve as a type-form. Thus in making factitives from adj. o-stems, a large class, like θερμαίνω 'I warm' from θερμός 'warm', λειαίνω 'I smooth', from λεῖος 'smooth', λευκαίνω 'I whiten' from λευκός 'white', the model might be either αὐαίνω, which was popularly derived from αὖος 'dry', or εὐφραίνω 'I gladden' (εὐφρων) and πῑαίνω 'I fatten' (πῑόν).

§ 777. Italic. Denominatives from consonantal noun-stems, as Lat. cantur-iō, dent-iō, comped-iō, custōd-iō, fulgur-iō, in the present ran on parallel lines with primitives such as farc-iō -i-s (§ 702 p. 229, § 715 p. 248), and with denominatives from i-stems like fīnīō (-i-s) for -i-iō; with the latter this is true of the non-present stem, as custōdīvi -i-tus like fīnīvi -ītu-s. The association seems to have gone thus far in proethnic Italic; for we have Osc. καπίδιου, i. e. kapid-i-to-m 'ollarium' (same stem as Lat. capis -id-is); compare Umbr. statita 'statuta' from stati-* Gr. στάσις. Old participials such as Lat. sceles-tu-s liber-tu-s (II § 79 pp. 231 f., IV § 768 p. 283) had fallen out of the verbal system, thus becoming adjectives, before the beginnings of Latin.

The whole class of denominatives from consonantal noun-stems was dying out in Latin. Only those which ended in -turiō were a group of any size (see § 778. 1).

Of the forms used for the present in scriptur-iō -i-s etc., the only ones which are a regular outgrowth of the Indo-Germanic are the 1st sing. -iō and the 3rd pl. -iunt. The others cannot be derived either from -iē-s -iē-ti -iō-mos -iē-tes nor from -iīe-s etc.: to judge from the voc. filie (beside filī, III § 201 p. 83), we should expect as an imper. scrip̄turie*. As a fact, these denominatives dropt their -iō -iē-s and so forth simply because in Italic primary verbs conjugating -iō -iē-s

-ie-ti exchanged it for -iō -ī-s -ī-ti (§ 702 pp. 228 ff.) So scriptur-iō took its type from suf-fiō farc-iō etc. (§§ 716 f. pp. 249 f.), in the same way as Greek moulded the future ῥεμανῶ ἀγγελῶ upon the primary class (§ 757 p. 277).

What is seen in scriptur-iō, is seen in other verbs with -iō, as finiō from fini-s. Here, as before, only -iō and -iunt are regular. Here too the new forms sprang up in proethnic Italic; evidence for which is found in Umbr. persnihi-mu persnih-mu persni-mu 'precator' from a noun-stem persni-* (§ 674 p. 207).

Again: verbs in -ā-iō, -e-iō, and -u-iō run parallel to the primary classes:

plantō, for -ā-iō*, has the iō-suffix only in the 1st sing.; elsewhere unthematic -ā-s -ā-t etc., like nō nā-s etc., and juvō -ā-s etc. This agrees with Umbr. furfant furfa-ṣ 'februant' anstiplatu 'instipulator' Osc. faamat 'habitat' and others, beside 1st sing. Umbr. subocau 'adoro' for -ā(i)ō (cp. stahu 'sto', and § 980); so the Latin type may be regarded as proethnic in Italy. See § 583 pp. 123 ff., § 738 p. 263.

So also with claudēō, for -e-iō*, the iō-suffix is found only in the 1st sing.: claudēō -ē-s etc. like pleō pl-ē-s etc., videō -ē-s etc. (§ 590 pp. 131 f., § 738 p. 263). And the same is true of Causals, moneō -ē-s and so forth (§ 788). Two remarks may be made. First, claudēō and moneō orig. had -ēiō, while pleō videō had orig. -ēiō (cp. I § 612 p. 402). Secondly, claudēs monēs -et -ētis may be derived without violence from -e(i)es -e(i)eti -e(i)etes, as easily as Lesb. φιλητε may be derived from φιλέ(ι)τε (§ 589 p. 131). To judge from Lat. trēs, pontēs Umbr. puntes for -e(i)es (I § 134 p. 121), ee became ē in pre-Italic times. It is possible that this contraction in persons containing the suffix -iē- may have paved the way for the confluence of verbs in -e-iō and -ē-iō with those in -ē-. It must also be carefully remembered that Latin had no ē-forms answering to plantāvī plantātu-s finivī finītu-s, as it had no similar ē-forms even in verbs with -ē-iō, such as videō.

Remark. An exception is dēuseō 'I thicken', which has dēnsētu-s, a bye-form of dēnsāre (same meaning). It would appear that there was once nothing but this participle dēnsētu-s, and that the whole system dēnsē-mus etc., sprang up by analogy of dēnsā-mus to dēnsā-tu-s. This would explain why dēnsrō, unlike albeō claudeō etc., had a factitive meaning.

statuō -uis -uit etc. may be directly compared with Skr. gātu-yāmi -yā-si etc., Gr. φίτιναι -εις etc.; on the other hand the inflexion is the same as in suō suis suit etc. (§ 717 p. 250).

§ 778. Particular endings becoming a type in Italic:

(1) The ending -turiō, occurring words like scriptur-iō from scriptor (§ 768 p. 282), was made by the usual misunderstanding into a type. Hence came a number of new forms, with the sense of will, wish, intention, often where there was no connected noun in -tor; as parturiō tacituriō, sullaturiō (from Sulla). In late Latin these words lost their distinctive meaning, and parturiō, for example, meant the same as pariō.¹⁾

(2) The ending -iō = -i-īō, found in many Latin verbs from both subst. and adj. stems, gained no such distinctive meaning as did -ō (-āre) and -eō. Add to the exx. given in § 771 p. 289 the following: partiō and -ior 'I divide, share' from pars (stem parti-), circumrētiō 'I ensnare' from rēte, ināniō 'I empty' from ināni-s, molliō 'I soften' from molli-s. None the less did -iō spread by analogy: catuliō from catulu-s, equiō from equo-s, which with nuptūre remind us in form and sense of the Skr. desiderative class putrīyá-ti (§ 774 p. 292); blandior from blandu-s, rauciō from raucu-s, saeviō from saevo-s, largior from largu-s, ūniō from ūnu-s; poeniō pūniō from poena; abortiō from abortu-s, singultiō from singultu-s. It is possible that some of the verbs like catuliō blandior are the same formation as Skr. adhvaryá-ti Gr. ἀγγέλλω; see § 770 pp. 286 f.

(3) Verbs in -ā-īō (Lat. -ō), some of which, from o-stems, belong to pre-Italic times (§ 769 pp. 284 f.), became very numerous in Italic.

Many such, derived from a-substantives, meant 'to occupy oneself with, to practise, use, produce' that which the original stem denoted: Lat. cūrō Umbr. kuraia 'curet' Pelign. coisatens 'curaverunt' (Lat. cūra), Lat. multō Osc. moltaum 'multare' (Lat. multa), Lat. īnsidior (īnsidia), praedor (praeda), lacrimō (lacrima), maculō (macula), fortūnō (fortūna). Then verbs in -āiō were made from other substantive stems. Examples: Lat. terminō from terminu-s termen, Umbr. terminas 'terminatu-s' Osc. teremnattens 'terminaverunt'; Lat. locō from locu-s, Pelign. locatin(s) 'locaverunt'; Lat. dōnō from dōnu-m, Osc. d]uunated 'donavit'; Lat. vinculō from vinculu-m, Umbr. previslatu imper. 'praevinculato, praepedito vinculis'; Lat. numerō from numeru-s, pāgnō from pāgnu-s (cp. § 773 Rem. p. 291), spolior from spoliu-m, cōnsilior from cōnsiliu-m, rēgnō from rēgnu-m, fluctuō from fluctu-s, tumultuō from tumultu-s, cōntiōnor from cōntiō, nōminō from nōmen, exāminō from exāmen, colōrō from color, fulgurō from fulgur, onerō from onus, scelerō from scelus, pulverō from pulvi-s, laudō from laus, hiemō from hiems; Osc. deivaid 'iuret' deivast 'iurabit' from deivo- 'deus'.

1) Johansson (P.-B. Beitr. x 223) thinks that Goth. aihrōn 'to beg for' is a desiderative like these. He connects it with áiñ 'I possess', and thinks the orig. meaning was 'I want to possess'.

A few more exx. may be given of verbs in -āiō derived from adjectival stems, like Lat. novō (pp. 284 f.): Lat. prīvō from prīvo-s, Osc. preivatud 'privato, reo' (for the meaning, cp. Bréal, Dict. etym. Lat.² 281, Mém. Soc. Ling. iv 394 f.); Lat. piō from piu-s, Umbr. pihatu 'piato' prupehast 'ante piabit'; Lat. probō from probu-s, Osc. prúfattens 'probaverunt'. Hence by analogy Lat. gravō from gravi-s, levō from levi-s, cicurō from cicur. Lat. sacrō from sacro- sacri-, Osc. sakarater 'sacratur, sacrificatur' from σάκρο ('sacrum') sacri-.

A mass of Lat. verbs in -tāiō are based upon to- Participles; usually they have an intensive or frequentative meaning. The following seem to have existed in pre-Italic times: Lat. gustō = O.H.G. costōm from Idg. ǵus-tó-*, see § 769 p. 284; Lat. itō Umbr. etaians 'itent' etato 'itate' = (Gr. ἰτῆ-τέον El. part. perf. act. ἰτ-αν-ιτᾶκώρ; Lat. putō 'I deck, prune, clean, reckon, think' beside O.C.Sl. pytaja 'scrutor, quaero, indago' (Osthoff, M. U. iv 86 f.). Formed in Latin on the same principle: hortor occultō adjūtō cantō versō tractō dictō gestō pōtō, domitō crepitō habitō. The ending -itō was abstracted from words which happened to have it, and became a type; hence vocitō from vocō (vocātu-s), volitō from volō (volātu-m), agitō from agō, scīscitō from scī-scō, visitō from vīsō (Class XX, § 662 p. 197); and, by a combination of -itō with -tō, arose intensives or frequentatives to the second power, as ititō from i-tō, dictitō from dic-tō, cursitō from cursō.

The reason why this class derived from the to-participle increased to such a size, was that from the pre-Italic stage onwards, the neuter or the feminine of these participles was used as an abstract noun: as commentu-m 'idea' (hence commentor), repulsa 'defeat' (hence repulsō), offēnsa 'blow' (hence offēnsō). See II § 158 pp. 473 ff., IV § 769 p. 285.

-igare also became a fertile denominative suffix in Latin; navigō rēmigō jūrigō jūrgō mītigō. Cp. Leo Meyer, Bezz. Beitr. VI 130 ff.

(4) The -eō = -e-īō, of intrans. verbs like claudēō (§ 770 p. 288), hardly touched any but o-stems; but an example of it elsewhere is mollēō from molli-s.

Observe that the same distinction of transitive and intransitive, which we see in the denominatives clārāre and clārēre, is seen in primary verbs with those endings, as liquāre and liquēre.

Remark. fateor seems to be another denominative in eō. Of this verb, Oscan has the inf. fatium (i = ē). The contained stem is fa-to-s*, answering to Gr. φαιρό-ς 'said' (ἄ-φατο-ς), and meaning 'having declared something, open, confessing'; and the word doubtless borrowed its deponent inflexion from fāri (§ 495 p. 56). At first its construction was fateor de aliquā re, and the accusative constr. came later. The partic. fessu-s follows suāsu-s from suādeō, and the like.

§ 779. Keltic. The only distinct class of this kind in Irish contains the a-denominatives, as rannaim from the a-stem rann (§ 769 p. 284) and marbaim from the o-stem marb (p. 284). Somewhat as in Latin, the 1st sing. only is extended by -io-, and all the rest lacks it: 1st sing. no charu for carā-īō*

īo-presents from consonantal stems (like Skr. apas-yá-ti) there are none. Mid.Ir. ath-rīgaim 'I dethrone' is an ā-verb (inf. aith-rīgad) from rī 'king' (stem rīg-).

There are none either of the type of Skr. gātu-yá-ti (§ 772 p. 289).

In the Keltic 3rd conjugation, Idg. denominatives in -e-īō (say scorim scuirim, § 770 p. 288), those in -i-īō (say fo-dalim § 771 p. 289), and causals in -eīō (§ 803) have all run together. Then this new composite denominative type spreads by analogy: 3rd sing. ad-rīmi 'counts' from rīm f. 'number' (stem rīmā-*), bāgin ar-bāgin 'I strive, brag' from bāg f. 'strife' (stem baga-*).

§ 780. A denominative ending with -ag- became widespread in Irish and British dialects: e. g. O.Ir. sāraigim or -sāraiguir Mod. Cymr. sarhāf (= O.Cymr. sarhagam*) 'I injure, offend' from sār 'offence', O.Ir. suidigim 'I place' from suide 'place', Mid.Ir. intamlaigim 'I compare' from intamail 'likeness, imitation', O.Cymr. scamhiegirt 'levant'. Some have wished to connect this suffix with the nominal suffix -āco- (II § 89 p. 273), led to this view by cumachtaigim 'I make myself master of' from cumachtach 'powerful'; but nothing clear is known about its origin.

Remark. "The British dialects point to -āg-, and before the ā Cymr. has an h, which I believe to indicate that the orig. sound was s (i. e. -sāgi-). But of this s there is no trace at all in Irish. Leaving this out of count, we might imagine some formation like Lat. rēmīgāre pūrgāre, only with i-flexion in Keltic." Thurneysen.

-ōnd. The 1st sing. Goth. salbō is doubtless not for *-a-m with secondary personal ending (neither is hab-a for *-ē-m, see § 708 p. 239), but a new formation following baíra beside baíram and haba beside habam. Compare § 739 p. 264.

Examples of ā-verbs derived from ā-nouns are given in § 769 p. 284. Others are Goth. fairinō 'I accuse, blame' O.H.G. firinōm 'scelero' A.S. firenie 'I sin' from Goth. fairina 'accusation' O.H.G. firina 'scelus' A.S. firen 'sin', Goth. idreigō 'I repent' from idreiga 'repentance', O.H.G. ahtōm (A.S. eah tie) 'I notice' from ahta 'notice', O.H.G. gremizzōm 'I look grim, am gloomy' from gremizza 'dark look, gloom, despondency'. The ending -inō-(ia-), beginning in West Germ. verbs like O.H.G. firinōm, redinōm ('I set forth, recount', from redina 'account, description') became an independent suffix and went further: e. g. O.H.G. wīz-inōm 'I punish' A.S. wītnie, O.H.G. fest-inōm 'I affirm, make fast, promise' A.S. fæstnie, O.H.G. heb-inōm 'I entertain as a guest', and others.

For a-verbs from o-nouns, such as Goth. vairþō O.H.G. werdōm, see § 769 p. 284.

a-verbs from s-stems (these joined the o-declension very early in Germanic, see II § 132 pp. 419 f.): Goth. hatizō 'I hate' from hatis 'hatred', O.H.G. sigirōm 'I conquer' beside Goth. sigis 'victory', O.H.G. egisōm 'I am terrified' beside Goth. agis 'fear', like Lat. onerāre scelerāre (§ 778 p. 302). -isō-(ia-) became a new independent suffix: Goth. valv-isō 'I roll, revolve', O.H.G. rīch-isōm 'I rule' A.S. rīcsie, O.H.G. līch-isōm 'comparo, simulo' hēr-isōm 'I rule' (also hērrisōm by analogy of hērro 'lord, ruler', which was originally a comparative), A.S. bledsie 'I bless' and others.

a-verbs from n-stems: Goth. fráujinō 'I am lord, I rule' from fráuja (gen. fráujins) 'lord', gudjinō 'I am a priest, fill priestly office' from gudja 'priest', which gave the type for reik-inō 'I rule over' (reik-s 'ruler') skalk-inō 'I am a servant, am useful' (skalk-s 'servant') hōr-inō 'I commit adultery' (hōr-s 'adulterer').

Many more new endings with the a-suffix, like these just mentioned, are found in West Germanic. The favourites are -arō-, -alō-, and -akō-.

(2) Even in the prehistoric stages of Germanic three classes of verbs, with endings originally different, came to have the same ending; those with consonantal stems, with the ending -ið (-ið); those from o-stems, with the ending -e-ið (whence pr. Germ. -i-ið), and those ending in -i-ið. Compare Goth. riqizja glitmunja veitrōdja lauhatja O.H.G. lougazzu lohazzu and others § 768 p. 283, Goth. rineiþ etc. § 770 p. 288, and Goth. dailja O.H.G. teil(i)u, Goth. vēnja O.H.G. wān(i)u etc. § 771 p. 289.¹⁾ Besides, the causals in -éið (pr. Germ. -i-ið), as Goth. fra-wardja = Idg. uortéið*, fell into this conjugation, which is called the First Weak Conjugation in Germanic grammar. It should be mentioned that in Germanic, as in other Idg. languages, many verbs derived from nouns are properly classed among Causals; for example, Goth. hailja O.Sax. hēliu O.H.G. heil(i)u 'I heal' from hail-s hēl heil 'whole' (§§ 793, 806).

But the confluence of the various pre-Germanic conjugations was not always due to regular sound-change. For instance, Goth. glitmuneþ lauhateiþ (both only inferred) took the place of glitmun-ji-þ* lauhat-ji-þ* on the analogy of such forms as rineiþ for rigni-ii-ð(i)*. Goth. vaurkeiþ (1st sing. vaurkja Idg. uṛg-ið*) is a new form, instead of vaurkiþ*, following fra-vardeiþ etc. (p. 229 footnote). On the other hand, O.H.G. denit beizit (1st sing. denn(i)u beizz(i)u ground-form tonéið* bhoidéið*) follow hevit = Lat. capit.

There is often wavering between the first weak conjugation and the second, the ā-verbs. Sometimes there were originally variant forms with different structure; e. g. O.H.G. folldm 'I fill' was a pre-Germ. verb in -ā-ið (§ 769 p. 284), whilst full(i)u (Goth. fullja 'I fill' is a causal; similarly we have O.H.G. tarōm 'I hurt, injure' from tara 'hurt, injury' beside the causal teriu (same meaning). How far these verbs altered their inflexion in later times, and for what reasons, are questions which need further investigation (cp. for instance O.Sax. fullōn beside fulliu).

1) Whether -u-ið* leads regularly to Goth. -ja, and say tagrja 'I cry' comes from pr. Germ. tagru-ið*, ufarassja 'I exist in abundance' for ufarassu-ið*, is doubtful.

(3) Verbs in Goth. -a (2nd sing. -dis) O.H.G. -ēm, as Goth. þaha O.H.G. dagēm 'taceo' (Third Weak Conj.), as we have seen in § 587 p. 129, § 592 p. 133, § 708 pp. 238 ff., did not originally belong to what we have called the later stratum of denominatives. However, we do find in Germanic quite a number of later denominatives in this conjugation; as Goth. arma 'I feel pity' fasta O.H.G. fastēm 'I fast'; and one is tempted to class those verbs along with Latin denominatives such as claudeō, which were just in the same way associated in conjugation with taceō videō and the like (§ 777 p. 300). Howbeit, this is inadmissible. Because by far the greater number of the verbs in this class were intransitive (as are þaha dagēm), it happened that their ending became a sign of intransitive meaning; and as the orig. inceptive verbs with an n-suffix (as Goth. ga-vakna 'to awake') suggested inceptive n-verbs formed from nouns (as Goth. fullna 'I get full' mikilna 'I grow large', § 623 p. 160), just so þaha dagēm were the model for fasta fastēm and many others. Since there was a primary verb Goth. saúrga O.H.G. sorgēm 'I care' side by side with the subst. Goth. saúrga O.H.G. sorga 'care', which seemed to be derived from that substantive (§ 659 pp. 193 f.), so the subst. (O.H.G.) fasta 'a fast' suggested the above named verb Goth. fasta O.H.G. fastēm; and furthermore the verb wernēm 'I perplex or torment myself' was made to complement werna 'perplexity, pang', wartēm 'I watch, wait' was formed from the subst. warta 'watch, spying, waiting', wahtēm 'I keep watch' from wahta 'watch'. In O.H.G. the process goes a step further, and verbs like these are derived from adjectives; e. g. O.H.G. fülēm 'I cause to rot' from fül 'rotten', altēm 'I grow old' from alt 'old'. Compare some other verbs, belonging to Class XIV, such as O.H.G. wesanēm 'I dry up, wither away' (O.Icel. visna), trunkanēm 'I get drunk' (A.S. druncnie), which, by adopting ē-flexion, gained a second sign of their intransitive-inceptive meaning (§ 623 p. 160); and further Goth. maūrna O.H.G. mornēm instead of maūrnō* mornōm* (§ 605 p. 147).

There are many and various waverings between -ē- and -ā- flexion, as O.H.G. ērēm and ērōm 'I honour', which need further investigation.

§ 782. Balto-Slavonic.

(1) Here it is no longer possible to distinguish beyond a doubt verbs derived from consonantal noun-stems and containing the suffix -iō-, of the type of Skr. rajas-yā-ti (§ 768 p. 282). Instead of these, we find in cases where the forms are clear, verbs conjugated in other denominative classes; as Lith. akmenyjū-s 'I turn to stone' from akmū 'stone' (stem akmen-), O.C.Sl. znamenajā 'I mark, term' from znamę 'mark' (stem znamen-).

Remark. Perhaps the Lith.-Lettic verbs Kurschat calls "Punctiva" — those ending in (Lith.) -terėti -telėti, as kiřsterė-ti 'I rough-hew a little' — are to be connected with Slavonic nomina agentis in -tel- (Idg. -ter-), as žrūtel-i 'offerer' (II § 122 p. 389). Then comes the question whether the Lith. present formation kiřster-iu szvilptelu (i. e. -el-iu) represents or not the type of Skr. rajas-yā-ti. The conjugation in the dialects is sometimes -terėjau -telėjau, -terėti -telėti, and sometimes -teriau -telau, -terti -telti (Leskien-Brugmann, Lit. Volksl. und Märchen, 313 f.), the latter like lūkuriau lūkurti beside lūkuriau 'I wait quietly'.

(2) Beside the endings Lith. -o-jū O.C.Sl. -a-jā = Idg. -ā-iō, as Lith. lankó-ju O.C.Sl. lāka-jā (§ 769 p. 284), we meet with Lith. -ė-ju O.C.Sl. -ě-jā instead of Idg. -e-iō, e. g. Lith. gūdė-jū-s O.C.Sl. razumě-jā (§ 770 p. 288), and Lith. -y-ja instead of Idg. -i-iō, as daly-jū (§ 771 p. 289). In these formations the long -ē- and -i- are to be explained on the same principle as the long vowels in the Greek dialectic forms ἀδινῶ κονῶ and so forth (§ 775 p. 293): they have been imported from the non-present stems; thus gūdė-jū-s follows -ė-siu -ė-ti-s, razumě-jā follows -ě-chū -ě-ti, and daly-jū follows -ý-siu -ý-ti, and so forth. At the same time, something is due to such present forms as Lith. byrė-ju O.C.Sl. gově-jā, in which verbs the non-present forms had the same endings as have the present stems now in question (e. g. byrė-ti like gūdė-ti-s, gově-ti like razumě-ti); see § 735 p. 262, § 740 pp. 264 f.

Similarly sprang up the present in -ā-ju, as jāḱā'-ju, by analogy of -ā-ta-s (§ 773 p. 291), due to the same principle as the Boeotian δαμῖοντες (§ 775 p. 293). This happened first in Baltic, or at any rate in the proethnic stage of Balto-Slavonic. The preterite of these verbs is odd; it ends in -avau (jāḱavaū), while we should expect -ā-jau*; the latter ending appears in Lettic as -ā-ju, the shape it would naturally take there. I assume, with Wiedemann (Lit. Prät., 198), that -avau is due to the analogy of verbs in -au-ti (pres. -au-ju pret. -avan, see below, 3).

In Slavonic, where Idg. ō and ā ran together, verbs of the same kind as Lith. jāḱā-ju may be buried in the class which has the termination -ajq. This is all the more likely because such forms as rogatū and ragū'ta-s cannot be well separated (§ 773 p. 291).

(3) The denominative type exemplified by such forms as Skr. adhvar-yá-ti (from adhva-rá-s) and Gr. ἀγγέλλω (from ἄγγελος) is represented, firstly, by Slavonic presents like trepeštq 2nd sing. -ešteši (from trepetū). See § 770 p. 287.

Secondly, Lithuanian denominatives in -auju (inf. -au-ti, pret. -avau), and those in Slavonic ending in -u-jq (inf. -ova-ti), have to be examined; e. g. Lith. rėkau-ju 'I make a noise' O.C.Sl. dlūgu-jq 'I owe'. They come from the most diverse noun-stems, but it is impossible to tell offhand with what stems the class began. If they are derived from u-stems (dlūgovati from dlūgū 'debt' gen. dlūgu, sladovati 'to be sweet' beside sladū-kū Lith. saldū-s), they must be connected with Idg. verbs in -u-ǵō* (§ 772 p. 289). But if so, one cannot understand why the stem-final -u- should have been exchanged in the verb for the strong grade -eu- or -ou- (pr. Balto-Slav. -ou- may be either, see I § 68 p. 59). I therefore think it far more likely that the contained nouns had stems in -e-uo- -e-uā- (cp. Skr. kēśa-vá-s 'longhaired' from kēśa-s 'hair', etc., see II § 64 pp. 133 ff.). This view is supported by Slav. běsovati 'to be frenzied' beside běsovū 'devilish, mad' from běsū 'demon', kraljevati 'to be king' beside kraljevū 'royal' from kraljī 'king', vračevati 'to be a physician, to heal' beside vračevū 'pertaining to a physician' from vračī 'physician', vinovati 'to accuse' beside vinovīnū 'guilty of something' from vina 'cause, guilt' (vinovīnū presupposes vinovū*), and many more; Lith. substantives in -ava -java are collected by Leskien, Die Bildung der Nomina im Lit., 199 ff. In Lettic (and Prussian too) the verbs in -auti do not appear at all; and partly for that reason, partly because the large majority of Lith. verbs in -auti are Slavonic in origin, it is at least not improbable that this au-conjugation has been borrowed bodily from the Slavonic. However, the borrowing must have taken place very early, when Slav. ū was still ou.

Genuine Baltic examples of the type of Skr. adhvar-yá-ti would therefore be impossible to find.

(4) Side by side with the ending -ō-ju, Baltic has another present inflexion with -ā- and without -īo-. This occurs, firstly, in the 2nd sing. imper. always without exception; e. g. dovanō-k, which is to be compared with Lat. planta etc. (§ 957). Secondly, in Frequentatives and Causals with -au (inf. -y-ti), some of which were certainly derived from nouns; e. g. Lith. jū'stau 'I gird (frequently)' from jū'sta 'girdle', pelnaū 'I earn' from pelna-s 'earnings', vėtau 'I fan, winnow' beside Skr. vā-ta-s Gr. ἀή-ρη (II § 79 p. 223). The forms jū'sto jū'sto-me jū'sto-te answer to Lat. planta-t -ā-mas -ā-tis Lesb. ῥῖμα-μεν O.Ir. no chara-m Goth. salbō-m etc., but the 1st and 2nd sing. jū'stau jū'stai show the same analogical change as do the primary forms bijaū-s 'I fear' buvaū 'I was', see § 586 p. 127. This Lith. present class, as the non-present forms show (inf. jū'sty-ti pret. jū'scziau), stands in very close connexion with the Idg. verbs in -éiō (Class XXXII), and we must discuss it again in §§ 789 and 807.

The orig. ā-flexion without -īo- is also seen in Pruss. waitia 'he speaks' 1st pl. waitiā-mai (inf. waitiā-t) beside O.C.Sl. věsta-ja 'I speak, advise' (inf. věsta-ti), beside Pruss. caria-woyti-s karige-wayte 'address to the army, review' O.C.Sl. věšte n. advice'.

(5) Slavonic has no distinct present class to correspond to the Lith. present class -y-ju (daly-jù, no. 2, p. 308) which represents the Idg. verbs in -i-ǵō. These verbs in -i-ǵō in this branch of Idg. were merged in the class of Causals etc. with -i-ti (Class XXXII); e. g. goštā 'I entertain, receive hospitably' 2nd sing. gosti-ši inf. gosti-ti from gostī 'guest', čīštā 'I honour' from čīstī 'honour', mīštā 'I take vengeance' from mīstī 'vengeance', branjā 'I strive' from branī 'strife', myslĭjā 'I think' from myslī 'thought'. The Idg. endings -éǵō and -i-ǵō in Slavonic were sure to run together after -ei- became -ǵj- (I § 68 p. 60), and in both classes the endings -jā -īši -itū etc. have undoubtedly taken -ī- from the infinitive. We shall see in § 789 p. 322 how very probable it is that -ī- first got into the Causals, and afterwards spread to i-denominatives.

§ 783. Certain endings of the denominative verbs become types.

(1) Verbs in (Lith.) -ō-ju (O.C.Sl.) -a-jā from a- and from o-stems; as Lith. lankō-ju O.C.Sl. lāka-jā from lankā lāka and Lith. kilnō-ju from kilna-s, mīrksnio-ju from mīrksni-s, O.C.Sl. prija-jā beside Skr. priyā-s, are cited in § 769 pp. 284 f.

Other Baltic examples are: Lith. klūpo-ju 'I continue kneeling' from klūpa 'kneeling, curtsey', dārgano-jā 'it is rainy weather', from dārgana 'rainy weather', Lett. jaudā-ju 'I have power, I can' from jauda 'power', sukkā-ju 'I comb' from sukkas pl. 'comb', schāulā-ju 'I flutter', from schāul-s 'fluttering', wājā-ju 'I weaken' from wāj-sch 'weak', jōkā-ju 'I jest' from jōk-s 'jest', Lith. valō-ju (i. e. valiō-ju*) 'I compel' from valū (i. e. valiā*) 'will', vadžiō-ju 'I lead about' from vādžios pl. 'leading-string, leash', gylō-ju 'I prick repeatedly' from gylĭ-s 'sting', vyniō-ju 'I wrap up' beside kukla-vynĭ-s 'necktie'; also derived from -ǵē-stems, as Lith. pāinio-ju 'I confuse, entangle' from pāinė 'a confusion, entanglement, hindrance', rānkio-ju 'I keep picking up' (berries, for example) from rankė 'a gleanings or gathering'. The predominant meaning of Lith. verbs in -oju is 'to do, to be occupied with' the thing denoted by the noun whence the verb comes, as dovanó-ju 'I make a present to some one'; and it is easy to see that where there was any verb of this sort and a primary verb containing the same stem, the former might get some kind of frequentative meaning by way of distinction. Thus lunko-ju 'I busy myself with bending' means practically 'I bend to and fro' to make pliant or supple, whilst lenkù means simply 'I bend'. We shall soon meet this same Frequentative class in Slavonic; and we may therefore with some probability infer that it belongs to the proethnic period of Balto-Slavonic. But I would suggest that the type is still older, and was not produced at that time out of the later stratum of denominatives; for there is no objection to comparing forms like Lith. lindo-ju O.C.Sl. sün-ědaja with Lat. juvāre Goth. mitōn etc., and placing them in the older denominative stratum. See §§ 734 ff. pp. 261 ff.

The ending -ioju, both with and without some part of the foregoing stem adhering to it, became an independent suffix. Alone: lankioju beside lanko-ju, bráddžio-ju 'I wade about' from bradà 'a wading' (but Lett. has braddāju) lándžioju 'I crawl about' beside l-landa 'place to crawl into' (but Lett. has lōdāju), lákioju 'I fly about' from lakù 'place to fly in and out of, entrance to a beehive', sakioju 'I follow', sagioju 'I attach, fix, sew on'. -loju (i. e. -lōju*): pirszlōju 'I woo, am a suitor on behalf of some one' from pirslỹ-s 'suitor, wooer' (perszù piršti 'to woo, to be suitor'), mirkloju 'I blink' from mirklỹ-s 'blinker' (mérkiu mérkti 'I close my eyelids') and others; by analogy of these žirg-lōju 'I go straddling about' (žergiiù 'I step, stride'), tep-lōju 'I smear or grease over' (tepù 'I smear'), mēt-lōju 'I throw about' (metù 'I throw' mētau 'I throw about'). -czioju -szczioju: badmirszczioju 'I almost starve, suffer hunger' from badmirtě 'starvation', and others; which set the type for such forms as mirk-czioju mirk-szczioju 'I blink', trúk-czioju trúk-szczioju 'I throb repeatedly', ráis-czioju 'I keep tying'. -urioju -uloju (with parallel endings -uriuju -ulāju by § 785) for frequentatives: výburioju 'I wag my tail, fawn upon' from vyburỹ-s 'one who wags the tail', krūtuloju 'I stir myself a little' from krūtuli-s 'a stirring of oneself, levy, militia', grōmuloju 'I chew the cud' from gromulỹ-s 'cud', etc.; by this analogy kỹb-urioju 'I kick or struggle a little', vōb-uloju 'I chew something tough'. -aloju is used in the same way; in this ending -ioju interchanges with -iūju far oftener than in the endings -urioju -uloju (§ 785):¹⁾ sárgaloju 'I am sickly' cp. sargal-īnga-s 'sickly', darbaloju 'I keep on working, I work vigorously', isz-vartaloju 'I tumble down' and many more, Lett. pirkalāju 'I buy by retail' beside Lith. pirkala-s 'wares', cp. Lith. svāmbalūju 'I dangle' from svāmbata-s 'that which dangles, plummet'.

Other Slavonic examples (observe that some of the Slav. verbs in -a-ti may possibly answer to Lith. verbs in -ũ-ti, see § 782.2 p. 309): O.C.Sl. igra-jā 'I play' from igra 'game', sū-vraska-jā 'I am wrinkled' from vraska 'wrinkle', klevata-jā 'I calumniate' (beside kleveštā, see § 770 p. 287) from kleveta 'slander', gněva-jā se 'I am angry' from gněvũ 'anger', kašļja-jā 'I cough' from kašļi 'cough'. As in Baltic, these verbs were distinguished by a secondary frequentative meaning from parallel primary verbs. They were associated with the group of frequentatives derived from verbs, whose beginnings go back to the older denominative a-series; thus -ēda-jā was associated with ja(d)-mĩ 'esse', -črĩpa-jā with črĩpa 'I make', -gněta-jā with gneta 'I press', čĩta-jā 'I read' with čĩta 'I count, reckon'; some of these could also be conjugated in the present like glagoljā (glagola-ti) trepeštā (trepeta-ti), etc. (§ 770 p. 287), as na-ričā 'I name' (inf. na-rica-ti) beside na-rekā. As some of these frequentatives had originally a strong grade of root-vowel, it became a rule for new forms of the same model, that if the primary verb had the vowels e, o, ĩ, or ũ, the frequentative had č, a, i, or y (see the comparisons in Leskien's Handbuch, pp. 14 f.).

be occupied with' the thing denoted by the noun whence the verb comes, as dovanó-ju 'I make a present to some one'; and it is easy to see that where there was any verb of this sort and a primary verb containing the same stem, the former might get some kind of frequentative meaning by way of distinction. But I would suggest that the type is still older, and was not produced at that time out of the later stratum of denominatives; for there is no objection to comparing forms like Lith. lindo-ju O.C.Sl. sün-ědaja with Lat. judare Goth. mitōn etc., and placing them in the older denominative stratum. See §§ 734 ff. pp. 261 ff.

The ending -ioju, both with and without some part of the foregoing stem adhering to it, became an independent suffix. Alone: lankioju beside lanko-ju, brádžio-ju 'I wade about' from bradù 'a wading' (but Lett. has braddāju) lándžioju 'I crawl about' beside l-landa 'place to crawl into' (but Lett. has lōdāju), lakióju 'I fly about' from lakù 'place to fly in and out of, entrance to a beehive', sakióju 'I follow', sagióju 'I attach, fix, sew on'. -loju (i. e. -ljoju*): pirszlóju 'I woo, am a suitor on behalf of some one' from pirslý-s 'suitor, wooer' (perszù pirsti 'to woo, to be suitor'), mirkloju 'I blink' from mirklý-s 'blinker' (mérkiu mérkti 'I close my eyelids') and others; by analogy of these žirg-lóju 'I go straddling about' (žergiu 'I step, stride'), tep-lóju 'I smear or grease over' (tepiù 'I smear'), mēt-lóju 'I throw about' (metù 'I throw' mētau 'I throw about'). -czioju -szczioju: badmirszczioju 'I almost starve, suffer hunger' from badmirtē 'starvation', and others; which set the type for such forms as mirk-czioju mirk-szczioju 'I blink', trūk-czioju trūk-szczioju 'I throb repeatedly', ráis-zczioju 'I keep tying'. -urioju -uloju (with parallel endings -uriūju -ulūju by § 785) for frequentatives: výburioju 'I wag my tail, fawn upon' from vyburŷ-s 'one who wags the tail', krūtuloju 'I stir myself a little' from krūtuli-s 'a stirring of oneself, levy, militia', grōmuloju 'I chew the cud' from gromulŷ-s 'cud', etc.; by this analogy kŷb-urioju 'I kick or struggle a little', vōb-uloju 'I chew something tough'. -aloju is used in the same way; in this ending -ioju interchanges with -iūju far oftener than in the endings -urioju -uloju (§ 785):¹⁾ sárgaloju 'I am sickly' cp. sargal-inga-s 'sickly', darbaloju 'I keep on working, I work vigorously', isz-vartaloju 'I tumble down' and many more, Lett. pirkaláju 'I buy by retail' beside Lith. pirkala-s 'wares', cp. Lith. svāmbalūju 'I dangle' from svāmbala-s 'that which dangles, plummet'.

Other Slavonic examples (observe that some of the Slav. verbs in -a-ti may possibly answer to Lith. verbs in -ũ-ti, see § 782. 2 p. 309): O.C.Sl. igra-jā 'I play' from igra 'game', sū-vraska-jā 'I am wrinkled' from vraska 'wrinkle', klevata-jā 'I calumniate' (beside kleveštā, see § 770 p. 287) from kleveta 'slander', gněva-jā sę 'I am angry' from gněvŷ 'anger', kašŷlu-jā 'I cough' from kašŷlŷ 'cough'. As in Baltic, these verbs were distinguished by a secondary frequentative meaning from parallel primary verbs. They were associated with the group of frequentatives derived from verbs, whose beginnings go back to the older denominative a-series; thus -ěda-jā was associated with ja(d)-mŷ 'esse', -črŷpa-jā with črŷpa 'I make', -gněta-jā with gnetā 'I press', čĭta-jā 'I read' with čĭtā 'I count, reckon'; some of these could also be conjugated in the present like glagoljā (glagola-ti) trepeštā (trepetā-ti), etc. (§ 770 p. 287), as na-ričā 'I name' (inf. na-rica-ti) beside na-rekā. As some of these frequentatives had originally a strong grade of root-vowel, it became a rule for new forms of the same model, that if the primary verb had the vowels e, o, ŷ, or ũ, the frequentative had ě, a, i, or y (see the comparisons in Leskien's Handbuch, pp. 14 f.).

1) The distinction between o and ũ is in many Lith. writings so incompletely kept, that it is often impossible to say whether an ending be -oju or -ũju.

In vowel-stems, -vaja is found as a frequentative suffix; e. g. o-ba-vaja 'incanto' beside ba-ja 'fabulator', o-dē-vaja 'I clothe' beside dē-ja dežda 'I lay', pi-vaja 'I drink' beside pi-ja 'I drink'; o-kleveta-vaja beside kleveta-ja kleveštā 'I slander', razumē-vaja beside razumē-ja 'I understand'. The origin of -vaja was the noun-suffix -uo- -uā-: piva-ja from pi-vo 'a draught', vū-liva-ja 'I pour in' (beside bi-ja 'I pour') from li-vū* Mod.Slov. liv 'funnel' na-liv 'shower of rain' Russ. na-livū 'the time when the corn grows full' pro-livū 'strait, channel', na-sēva-ja 'I sow' a field (beside sē-ja 'I sow') from Russ. sē-vū 'sowing, seed time'. Other similar nouns having v-suffixes may be regarded as derivatives with the suffixes -ūkū -ūka: cp. O.C.Sl. pri-dē-r-ūkū 'cognomen' Mod.Slav. o-dē-v-ka 'dress' beside -dēvaja, Russ. do-bi-v-ka 'a complete driving in' (of stakes) beside raz-bivaja 'I knock to bits, destroy' (bi-ja 'I strike'), Mod.Slov. po-mi-v-ek 'rinsing pail' beside u-myvaja 'I wash' (my-ja 'I wash'). But the v of davaja 'I give' and of stavaja 'consisto' may be taken as original, even if it is not to be put in just the same category as the u-suffix of the aforementioned forms; cp. Lith. dovanà, Skr. dāvānē and O.C.Sl. stava stavū po-stavū stavljā = Goth. stōja, Lith. storà. Since piva-ti dava-ti were regarded as intimately connected with pi-ti and da-ti, the ending -vati became itself a type, and hence we have -znava-ti beside zna-ti 'knows', -klevetava-ti beside klevata-ti, and so on. The endings -vaja -vati were very convenient for making frequentatives from verbs with a vowel stem-final; hence their frequency.

Remark. Frequentatives of derivative verbs, as o-klevetavati razumēvati reličavati, must be regarded, because of their meaning, as an imitation of primary Frequentatives, and must not be derived from nouns in -avū and -ērū (such as reličavū 'grandiloquent').

§ 784. (2) Verbs from o-nouns in (Lith.) -ē-ju (O.C.Sl.) -ē-ja, as Lith. gūdē-jū-s from gūdu-s, O.C.Sl. razumē-ja from razumū, are cited in § 770 pp. 288 f.

Other Baltic examples are: Lith. szyksztē-ju 'I am covetous' from szykšzta-s 'covetous', Lett. labbē-ju 'I better myself' from lab-s 'good', práté-ju 'I subtilize, play the wiseacre' from prát-s 'reason', galé-ju 'I finish' from gál-s 'end', mistré-ju 'I mix, mingle' from mistr-s 'hotch-potch'. In Lithuanian these verbs mean 'to be or practise' anything. They are formed from other stems besides those in -o-, as Lith. žygė-ju 'I go an errand' from žygi-s 'errand, course', malonėju 'I much wish to have' from malonù-s 'gracious', seilėju 'I slaver, drive' from seilė 'slaver', Lett. brīdēju 'I delay' from brīdi-s 'while, period', aurēju 'I blow the hunting horn' from aure 'hunting horn'. They are linked with the older group of Verbs in -ēju, as kylė-ju (§ 740 p. 265), in the same way as verbs like dovanóju are linked with those like līndoju (§ 783 p. 312).

In Lithuanian the ending -inėju was converted into a new type for Frequentatives. First came verbs like tekinė-ju 'I run about a little' from tėkina-s 'running', dilbinė-ju 'I glower, glare from beneath my brows' from dilbina-s 'one who glowers'. The next step was smil-inėju 'I keep eating dainties, picking and tasting', lind-inėju 'I crawl about', vag-inėju 'I filch' and others. Verbs already frequentative often add -inėju, and thus form a frequentative of the second power, so to say; thus we have laist-inėju from laistau laistyti 'to pour repeatedly', itself frequentative of lė-ti 'to pour', žarg-inėju from žurgaũ žargyti 'to straddle or stretch the legs repeatedly', freq. of žėrk-ti 'to spread the legs'; cp. pilst-aloju 'to pour, shed or drop repeatedly' from pilstau pilstyti freq. of pil-ti 'to pour, shed' (§ 783 p. 313).

Other examples from Slavonic, where almost all verbs in -ěja are intransitive and most of them mean to get into some condition: o-slabě-ja 'I get weak' from slabũ 'weak', o-malě-ja 'to get little' from malũ 'little', buja-ja 'I get daft' from buřĩ 'daft', obũ-ništa-ja 'I get poor' from niřĩ 'poor', o-krilě-ja 'I wing myself' from krilo 'wing'; vũz-ma-žaja 'I make a man of myself, take courage' from mařĩ 'man'. These too can be formed from other besides o-stems, as želěja 'I wish' from želja 'wish, longing'.

-lěja as an independent suffix. On the analogy of o-mūdīlē-jā o-mūdīlē-jā 'I am slow, linger', from mūdīlū mūdīlū 'slow, lingering', and like forms, we find prokazīlējā 'I make evil plots' from prokaza 'evil plot', mažīlējā 'I become a man' from mažī 'man', pečatīlējā pečatlējā 'I seal' from pečatī 'seal'.

§ 785. (3) The Lith. suffix -ū-ju (§ 773 p. 291, § 782.2 p. 309), which began with o-stems, has the same function as -o-ju. For further examples take the following: Lith. melū'-ju Lett. melū-ju 'I lie' from Lith. melai Lett. meli pl. 'lies', Lith. žalū'-ju Lett. šalū'-ju 'I grow green' from Lith. žāla-s žāle-s Lett. ša'l'-sch 'green', Lith. bañnū'-ju 'I saddle' from bañna-s 'a saddle', dagū'-ju 'I harvest' from dāga-s 'harvest', pūlū'-ju 'I fester' from pūlei (pūl-iai) 'matter, pus'. Derived from other than o-stems: āšzarūju Lett. assarūju 'I pour out tears' from aszarà assara 'tear', Lith. vagū'-ju Lett. waggūju 'I draw furrows' from vagà wagga 'furrow', Lith. dejū'-ju 'I lament' from dejà 'a lament', prāvardžiūju 'I furnish with a surname' from pravardē 'surname'.

In the Lith. frequentative endings -urioju uloju and -aloju (§ 783 p. 312), particularly in the last, there are variants -iūju and -ioju: here -ioju must be regarded in general as the older ending. Examples are: žiburiū'-ju 'I flare, flicker' from žiburỹ-s 'light, torch', skliduriūju 'I slide, swim', tyvulūju 'I spread widely'; svaĩmbalūju 'I dangle' from svaĩmbala-s 'that which dangles, plummet', maĩrgalūju 'I shine with varied hues', svaĩgalūju 'I reel'.

We have already remarked (§ 782.2 p. 309), that the Lith. verbs in -ūju may possibly have their counterparts in Slavonic, where the class -ajā may contain some of them.

§ 786. (4) Lith. verbs in -yju from i-stems have been cited in § 771 p. 289; to Lith. sziĩdy-jū-s answers Lett. si'rdi-jū-s 'I take to heart'. Here are some further examples: Lith. rūdy-jū 'I rust' from rūdi-s 'rust', kirmỹ-jū 'I am eaten of worms' from kirmi-s 'a worm', which was orig. an i-stem although inflected as a stem in -io- (II § 97 p. 289), Lett. āusti-jū-s 'I listen' from āus-s (Lith. ausi-s) 'ear'. From other stems: Lith. rómyju Lett. rāmīju 'I castrate' (properly 'I tame') from roma-s romù-s rām-s 'calm, tame, gentle', Lith. vaĩdyjũ-s 'I quarrel' from vaĩda-s 'a quarrel', giñczyjũ-s 'I strive' from giñczia-s 'strife', gaidryje-s 'clears up' (of the weather) from gaidrũ-s 'cloudless, bright', krūvyju 'I heap' from krāvà 'a heap', Lett. gūdtīju 'I make myself decorous or agreeable' from gūd-s 'demeanour, honour' (stem gūda-), skáustīju 'I tighten, wedge tight' from skáust-s 'wedge' (stem skáusta-), meddīju 'I hunt something' from mesch (Lith. mēdi-s -džio) 'forest'.

Remark. Since there were Lith. denominatives in -inu, as links-minu (§ 624 p. 161), whose future -įsiu became identical with that of the verbs we are now discussing, verbs in -inu and verbs in -yju were mixed up together. Compare Leskien-Brugmann, Lit. Volksl. und Märchen, pp. 314 f. No special examination has been made to find out the local distribution of this confusion, or how far it went.

On Slavonic verbs in -ja from i-stems, see § 782. 5 p. 311, § 789 p. 322.

§ 787. (5) The Slavonic ending -ujā (inf. -ovati) we have already traced to its beginning with the stems in -ovũ (§ 782. 3 p. 309). As an independent suffix it became very common, especially to denote condition, possession of a dignity, and the like. Examples: mirñujuā 'I am peaceful, keep the peace' from mirñũ 'peaceful', prĩvujā 'I am first' from prĩvũ 'first', vojujā 'I am a warrior, I make war' (inf. vojevati) from vojĩ 'warrior', sũvėdėteljujā 'I am witness' from sũvėdėtelĩ 'witness', sũvėdėtelistvujā 'I give evidence' from sũvėdėtelistvo 'evidence', obėdujā 'I take a meal' from obėdũ 'meal', imenujā 'I name' from imė 'name'.

Remark. In the same way this ending was fertile in Lithuanian, where it took the shape of -auju (see § 782. 3 p. 309). On the model of karaĩauju = O.C.Sl. kraljujā 'I am king' we have vėszpatėuju 'I rule', kėrėuju 'I make war', and others.

K. CLASS XXXII.

ROOT + -ēio- FORMING THE PRESENT STEM.

§ 788. The Verbs which here come under our consideration are those which are called Causal in Sanskrit grammars, because in Sanskrit their prevailing meaning is causal.

The Skr. accentuation -āya- must be regarded as original. Germanic also shows evidence that the accent lay after the root syllable; compare Goth. fra-vardja with d, but vairþa with þ (I § 530 p. 383), and Goth. marzja 'I vex' O.Sax. merriu 'I stop, hinder, disturb' with pr. Germ. z for s (I §§ 581 f. p. 434).

In all languages except Sanskrit, -ēio- ran together with other present suffixes without possibility of distinction. But in Sanskrit this ending was differentiated by its accent from that of derivatives from o-nouns: vēd-āya-ti 'gives to understand, informs' is contrasted with vasna-yá-ti from vasná-s (§ 770 p. 288); on the later confusion of these two classes, see § 793. In Greek both are alike, and φορέ-ω 'I carry about with me, I wear' looks just the same as φιλέ-ω 'I treat as a friend' from φίλο-ς (§ 770 p. 288, § 776.2 p. 296); how it came to pass that the two classes agreed in the verb infinite as well, where we should expect φιλέοντες* in contrast to φορόντες, has been explained in § 527 Rem. 1 p. 89. In Latin there is no distinction either, but mon-eō (-ē-s) is just like claud-eō (-ē-s) from claudu-s, and like videō for vidē-īō* 2nd sing. vidē-s (§ 738 p. 263, § 777 p. 300). In Irish, there was a confluence of -ēīō (ad-suidim 'I prolong, postpone'), -e-īō (scorim scuirim 'I unharness' § 770 p. 288), -i-īō (fo-dālim 'I divide up' § 771 p. 289), and -īō (lēc-iu 'I let, allow', § 719 p. 251). The same is true of Germanic: Goth. fra-vardja 'I bring to nothing, destroy' = Skr. vart-āyāmi like haúrnja 'I blow the horn' (-e-īō) from haúrna-, like dulþja 'I keep a feast' (-i-īō) from dulþi-, like glitmun-ja 'I shine' from glitmun-* (§ 768 p. 282), and like vaiúrk-ja 'I work' (§§ 720 ff. pp. 251 ff.), compare § 781.2 pp. 306 f. Slavonic examples: bužďa 'I wake' budi-ši (Skr.

bōdhāya-ti) like goṣṭa 'I entertain' gosti-ṣi from the i-stem gosti (§ 782. 5 p. 311) and like būḍa 'I am awake, watch' būdi-ṣi = Skr. būdh-yami (§ 702 p. 230, § 727 pp. 257 ff.).

Lith. has -au, a wide departure from the original form: vartaũ 'I turn, keep on turning about', 3rd sing. var̃to, contrasted with O.C.Sl. vraštā vrati-tũ Skr. vart-āyāmi Goth. fravard-ja, cp. bijaũ-s § 586 p. 217 and jũ'stau § 782. 4 p. 310.

To the same class, as we shall see in § 790, belong some verbs with a weak grade of root, and one of these is Idg. u-éiō*: Skr. v-āyami 'I weave', Lith. v-ejũ O.C.Sl. v-īja 'I wind or twist'. In this verb, and in this only, the original Idg. inflexion has been kept in Balto-Slavonic.

I therefore regard as original the inflexion -eiō -eie-si -eie-ti etc., with -eiō- and -eie- interchanging, as may be clearly seen in Aryan and Greek. What we see in Germanic may also be the same, with for the most part only regular changes; only we must regard such forms as O.H.G. 2nd sing. denis legis (1st sing. dennu 'I stretch' leggu 'I lay' = Goth. þanja lagja) as being ad-formates of hevis ligis etc. (§ 781. 2 p. 306). In Latin, the only form directly representing the Idg. is the 1st person singular in -eō; but perhaps the persons with -eie-, which must have become -ē- in proethnic Italic, are also preserved in monēs etc. But monēmus monent, like claudēmus claudent, must be ad-formates of tacē-mus tacent. See on this matter § 777 p. 300. Lith. vartaũ and O.C.Sl. vraštā will be explained in the next few paragraphs.

§ 789. The distinction between the īo-verbs which we have placed in Classes XXVI—XXXI, and verbs with -éiō-, is that in the former the īo-element was confined to the present from the proethnic stage onwards; whilst in the latter the perf. part. pass. and the forms closely connected with it show after the root a certain element which seems to be etymologically akin to the present formative suffix. This element is -i- or -ī-. Sanskrit and Germanic as a rule have -i-; e. g. Skr. varti-tā-s Goth. fra-vardi-þ-s, and so in the Lat. moni-tu-s qu-i-tum.

-ī- is regular in Balto-Slavonic, as Lith. vartý-ti (vartý-siu) O.C.Sl. vrati-ti (vrati-chŭ). -ī- is also seen in the following. Gr. (F)-ī-réā 'willow' (beside (F)-ī-rv-ς 'felloe'), Lat. v-i-ti-s, O.H.G. w-i-da 'willow' (beside w-i-d 'cord of twisted withes'), Lith. v-y-ti-s 'cane, switch' O.C.Sl. v-i-tŭ 'res in modum funis torta', which along with inf. Lith. v-y-ti O.C.Sl. v-i-ti are connected with Idg. u-éjō* (see § 788 p. 319). Skr. gr̥bh-ī-tá-s (a-grah-ī-ś-ṭa grah-ī-śya-ti) beside gr̥bh-āya-nt-, hāv-ī-tavē beside hv-āya-ti, mṛḍ-ī-ká-m 'pity, compassion' beside mṛḍ-āya-ti. Lat. noc-ī-vo-s is doubtless related to noceō as O.C.Sl. chodivŭ is to chodi-ti, or ljubivŭ to ljubi-ti (cp. II § 64 Rem. 2 p. 136, and pp. 137 f.).¹⁾

From these facts it follows that we have in this verbal class what may be called a Root-Determinative -ī-, parallel to the determinative -u-; thus Skr. v-āya-ti: Gr. (F)-ī-rv-ς O.H.G. w-i-d = Skr. sr-āva-ti: sr-u-tá-s (see § 488 pp. 46 f.). The only difference is that whilst -u- was restricted to some few examples (compare however § 596.2 pp. 136 f. for what is said on the present suffix -nu-), the -ī- was fertile even in proethnic Idg. itself. If this view of the -éjō- class is correct, the class must be very closely connected with present forms like Skr. am-ī-ti (§§ 572 ff. pp. 114 ff.). Skr. v-āya-ti: am-ī-ti = sr-āva-ti: tar-u-tē (§ 596.2 pp. 136 f.).

Now are -éjō- and -ī- connected in any way with the -īō-suffix of Classes XXVI—XXXI? It is an obvious conjecture that there may be the same relation between -éjō- and -īō- as between -eyo- and -yo- (v-āya-ti: hár-ya-ti = sr-āva-ti: bhár-va-ti, see § 488 p. 47), or -eno- and -no-, or between -eso- and -so- (-esko- and -sko-). I do not venture either to assert or to deny this; but seeing how uncertain the matter is, I think it best not to group the -éjō-class with the -īō-classes.

1) Cp. Skr. á-mī-vā 'pain' beside amī-ti beside which we have Avest. amayarā- 'pain', which form Bartholomae uses to postulate an Avest. pres. amayē-iti* (Stud. Idg. Spr., II 178).

We now return to the Balto-Slavonic present exemplified by vartaũ vrašta.

The simplest explanation of the Slavonic present inflexion is that -ī- has come in from the infinitive stem: vratī-ši vratī-tũ then follow vratī-ti, a process which has an exact parallel in the change of gostiġa -ġeši* etc. to gošta gosti-ši by analogy of gosti-ti gosti-chũ (§ 782. 5 p. 311).

Remark. Another explanation of the origin of this Slavonic present type is possible. Sanskrit has a mid. optative e. g. vṛday-i-ta beside vṛlāya-tē, injunctive dhvanay-i-t (cp. ā-brav-i-t), and participle vṛday-āna-s. See § 574 pp. 115 f., § 951. The indicative to vṛday-i-ta would be (a-)vṛdē-ta*, and Bartholomae conjectures that certain forms usually regarded as oi-optative may be this very indicative (Stud. Idg. Spr., II 127). This would make it possible to derive 3rd sing. vratī-tũ from uortēi-t(i)*. I should give more weight to this explanation were it not for a very strong suspicion that these Aryan forms are due to analogy, and are not proethnic at all.

The Lith. inflexion -au -yti is found in Lettic too (-u -īt) and also in Prussian (billa 'speaks' inf. billī-t billī-twei); it therefore is proethnic in Baltic. Its origin is a confusion of the old inflexion of our class with both the earlier and the later group of ā-denominatives, that is to say, with verbs like bijaũ-s (§ 586 p. 127) and verbs like jũ'stau (§ 782. 4 p. 310). But why was it this confusion went so far that the ā-flexion drove the eio-flexion quite out of the present, but yet -a did not drive -ī- out of the infinitive? (contrast bijaũ-s bijō-ti-s.) I explain this by supposing that Baltic once possessed verbs like Lat. cubare sonāre, which had the ā-suffix in the present only. O.C.Sl. īma-mĭ 'I have' likewise shows ā-flexion only in the present (inf. imē-ti). The Lith. present stems containing Idg. -o- in the root syllable, such as vartō- = uortā-* (√uert-), seem to have a parallel in Lat. domā- (domō domās) O.H.G. zamō- (zamōm zamōs) = Idg. domā-* from √dem-, since this is best explained as a contamination of dṛmā-* (Skr. damā-yā-ti) and domēġo-* (Goth. tamja O.H.G. zemm(i)u). laižau 'I lick' (laižġ-ti) is the equivalent of Goth. bi-lāigō 'I lick over'.

-ī- is regular in Balto-Slavonic, as Lith. vartý-ti (vartý-siu) O.C.Sl. vrati-ti (vrati-chŭ). -ī- is also seen in the following. Gr. (f)-ī-τῆᾱ 'willow' (beside (f)-ī-τῡ-ς 'felloe'), Lat. v-ī-ti-s, O.H.G. w-ī-da 'willow' (beside w-i-d 'cord of twisted withes'), Lith. v-ý-ti-s 'cane, switch' O.C.Sl. v-i-tŭ 'res in modum funis torta', which along with inf. Lith. v-ý-ti O.C.Sl. v-i-ti are connected with Idg. u-éjō* (see § 788 p. 319). Skr. gṛbh-ī-tá-s (a-grah-ī-ṣ-ṭa grah-ī-ṣya-ti) beside gṛbh-áya-nt-, háv-ī-tavē beside hv-áya-ti, mṛd-ī-ká-m 'pity, compassion' beside mṛd-áya-ti. Lat. noc-ī-vo-s is doubtless related to noceō as O.C.Sl. chodivŭ is to chodi-ti, or ljubivŭ to ljubi-ti (cp. II § 64 Rem. 2 p. 136, and pp. 137 f.).¹⁾

From these facts it follows that we have in this verbal class what may be called a Root-Determinative -i-, parallel to the determinative -u-; thus Skr. v-áya-ti: Gr. (f)-ī-τῡ-ς O.H.G. w-i-d = Skr. sr-áva-ti: sr-u-tá-s (see § 488 pp. 46 f.). The only difference is that whilst -u- was restricted to some few examples (compare however § 596.2 pp. 136 f. for what is said on the present suffix -nu-), the -i- was fertile even in proethnic Idg. itself. If this view of the -éjō- class is correct, the class must be very closely connected with present forms like Skr. am-ī-ti (§§ 572 ff. pp. 114 ff.). Skr. v-áya-ti: am-ī-ti = sr-áva-ti: tar-u-tē (§ 596.2 pp. 136 f.).

Now are -éjō- and -ī- connected in any way with the -jō- suffix of Classes XXVI—XXXI? It is an obvious conjecture that there may be the same relation between -éjō- and -jō- as between -eujō- and -ujō- (v-áya-ti: hár-ya-ti = sr-áva-ti: bhár-va-ti, see § 488 p. 47), or -eno- and -no-, or between -eso- and -so- (-esko- and -sko-). I do not venture either to assert or to deny this; but seeing how uncertain the matter is, I think it best not to group the -éjō- class with the -jō- classes.

1) Cp. Skr. á-mī-vā 'pain' beside amī-ti beside which we have Avest. amayavā- 'pain', which form Bartholomae uses to postulate an Avest. pres. amaye-iti* (Stud. Idg. Spr., II 178).

We now return to the Balto-Slavonic present exemplified by vartaũ vrašta.

The simplest explanation of the Slavonic present inflexion is that -i- has come in from the infinitive stem: vrati-ši vrati-tũ then follow vrati-ti, a process which has an exact parallel in the change of gostiȝa -iȝeši* etc. to gošta gosti-ši by analogy of gosti-ti gosti-chũ (§ 782. 5 p. 311).

Remark. Another explanation of the origin of this Slavonic present type is possible. Sanskrit has a mid. optative e. g. vēday-i-ta beside vēdāya-tē, injunctive dhvanay-i-t (cp. ā-brav-i-t), and participle vēday-āna-s. See § 574 pp. 115 f., § 951. The indicative to vēday-i-ta would be (a-)vēdē-ta*, and Bartholomae conjectures that certain forms usually regarded as oi-optative may be this very indicative (Stud. Idg. Spr., II 127). This would make it possible to derive 3rd sing. vrati-tũ from uortēi-t(i)*. I should give more weight to this explanation were it not for a very strong suspicion that these Aryan forms are due to analogy, and are not proethnic at all.

The Lith. inflexion -au -yti is found in Lettic too (-u -it) and also in Prussian (billa 'speaks' inf. billi-t billi-twei); it therefore is proethnic in Baltic. Its origin is a confusion of the old inflexion of our class with both the earlier and the later group of ā-denominatives, that is to say, with verbs like bijaũ-s (§ 586 p. 127) and verbs like jũstau (§ 782. 4 p. 310). But why was it this confusion went so far that the ā-flexion drove the eio-flexion quite out of the present, but yet -a did not drive -i- out of the infinitive? (contrast bijaũ-s bijō-ti-s.) I explain this by supposing that Baltic once possessed verbs like Lat. cubāre sonāre, which had the ā-suffix in the present only. O.C.Sl. ima-mě 'I have' likewise shows ā-flexion only in the present (inf. imě-ti). The Lith. present stems containing Idg. -o- in the root syllable, such as vartō- = uortā-* (√uert-), seem to have a parallel in Lat. domā- (domō domās) O.H.G. zamō- (zamōm zamōs) = Idg. domā-* from √dem-, since this is best explained as a contamination of dnyā-* (Skr. damā-yā-ti) and doméjo-* (Goth. tamja O.H.G. zemm(iu)). lūižau 'I lick' (lūižý-ti) is the equivalent of Goth. bi-lúigō 'I lick over'.

The question next arises when -ā- got the better of -ejo-, as the Baltic shews it did at some time or other. I am inclined to place the change in the proethnic period of Balto-Slavonic. What inflexion came just before the type actually found in Slavonic, vraštā vratiši and so forth, is not at all clear. It may very well have been one answering to the Lith., that is 3rd sing. vortā-ti* 1st pl. vortā-mū*, cp. ima-tū ima-mū, and on this supposition it is easier to explain the actually found i-forms, than if we suppose the Slavonic to have passed direct from vortije-ti* to vortī-ti*. But then we must also assume that gostīja i-ješi = Idg. i-ǵō i-ǵé-si (§ 782.5 p. 311) changed to goštā gostiši only on the analogy of vraštā vratiši. For the Baltic i-denominatives like Lith. daly-jū sziřdy-jū-s prove that these forms sprang up within the Slavonic area.

A complete levelling of the Causal conjugation with the i-Denominative is not unknown in Baltic. Here the i-denominative takes the lead. I find only a few examples in Lith., as paisiju -yti instead of paisau -yti 'to knock the beard off the barley, thresh' (cp. Skr. pēṣāya-ti). There are more in Lettic; e. g. rāšiju rāšit 'to stretch' instead of Lith. rāžau rāžyti, pe'lniju pe'lnit 'to earn' instead of Lith. pelnaū pelnīti.

§ 790. In ėjo-verbs with roots of the e-series, the root-syllable has and originally had generally the 2nd strong grade, o; as Gr. γοῦν beside πέποινα, Lat. moneō from $\sqrt{\text{men-}}$, Goth. satja beside sita, Lith. partyti O.C.Sl. vratiti for vortiti* from $\sqrt{\text{uert-}}$. This is why Aryan has ā in open syllables, as Skr. bhāraya-ti Avest. bārayēiti from $\sqrt{\text{bher-}}$, if the hypothesis set forth in vol. I § 78 p. 69 is correct.¹⁾

The European languages make it improbable that there were in the very oldest times any forms with the root-grade e. Aryan forms with -a-, as Skr. jarāya-ti from $\sqrt{\text{ger-}}$, janāya-ti from $\sqrt{\text{gen-}}$, may be explained by the admixture with denominatives derived from o-stems which will be described in § 793; on this supposition, jarāya-ti and janāya-ti would belong to the nouns jāra- and jāna- just as much as mantrāya-ti belongs to the noun mántra-. Or they may be explained in another way: In Aryan, the éio- formation was often made from the connected primary verb instead of being built up on the root (see § 796), so that pātāya-ti would stand to patāya-ti (beside pāta-ti) as kartāya-ti to kṛntāya-ti (beside kṛntā-ti).

On the other hand, éio-verbs with a weak grade of root have been found from the proethnic period onwards. They are commonest in Aryan, e. g. Skr. gybhāya-ti. The following are proethnic Idg.: Skr. v-āya-ti 'weaves' Lith. v-ejũ O.C.Sl. v-ŕja v-ŕja 'I wind, turn, wrap', beside Gr. ἑρέα Lat. v-ī-ti-s O.H.G. w-ī-da Lith. v-ý-ti-s v-y-ti O.C.Sl. v-i-tĩ v-i-ti and Gr. ἑρ-υ-ς O.H.G. w-i-d (§ 789 p. 320); root without determinative in Skr. ó-tu-m u-tá-s perf. 3rd pl. ūv-úr pass. ā-ya-tē, extended by ā in v-ā-tavē and others (Whitney, Skr. Roots, pp. 157 f.).¹⁾ Skr. śv-āya-ti 'swells, thrives, is strong' beside Gr. κεῖω 'I am pregnant', Lat. qu-eō, with supine qu-i-tum (the resemblance of eō : itum made the conjugation of queō run like eō — quīmus quībō etc.); the same root in Skr. 3rd pl. śū-śuv-ur śū-nú-s á-śv-a-t śáv-as Gr. ἄ-κε-ρος κῦ-μα Lat. in-ciēns for -cu-ŕens* (§ 715 p. 248, § 717 p. 250), and with a-extension in Skr. śv-ā-trá-s Gr. El. ἐπ-επ-πῆτω and others (§ 737 p. 263). Skr. dhun-āya-tē 'roars' (beside dhvan-a-ti 'makes a sound') O.Sax. dunin Mid.H.G. düne O.Icel. dyn 'I roar, rumble, groan'. Of the same kind are: Skr. hv-āya-ti 'calls' Avest. zb-aye-iti zuv-aye-iti beside Skr. háv-a-tē perf. ju-háv-a aor. á-hv-a-t á-huv-a-t, Lat. ci-eō beside ac-ciō ci-tu-s Gr. κί-ω κί-ρυ-μαι; O.H.G. zunt(i)n 'I kindle' with Goth. tandja 'I kindle' beside Mid.H.G. zinden (strong verb) 'to burn, glow'. Uncertain: Gr. γλ-έω 'I overflow' beside ἐκ-φλαίνω Lat. fl-ē-re;

1) From this uei- uī- uĩ-, which had become a root again before the end of proethnic Idg., a present was again formed by means of -éio-; Skr. vy-āya-ti 'winds up, wraps up, covers, hides', Lat. vi-eō.

Goth. ga-nsja 'I cause' from $\sqrt{\text{nes-}}$, originally 'I make to come forward'; O.C.Sl. brija (brīja) bri-ti 'to shear, shave' beside Skr. bhur-ij- Gr. qáq-o-ς, and others.

§ 791. In all branches of our group, the verbal class now being discussed has two distinct meanings, both of which must be regarded as holding for the original language. Each of them serves to contrast a verb with a simple verb from the same stem.

First there is the Causal sense; the subject of the éio-verb sets some one in motion, impels him to do something; in fact, makes him do the action of the simple allied verb. Skr. bōdhāya-ti O.C.Sl. budi-tū 'wakes up, makes wake' beside bōdha-ti būdi-tū 'is awake'. Skr. tarṣāya-ti 'makes languish, thirst' beside tṛṣya-ti 'languishes, thirsts', Lat. torreō 'I dry up, make dry', O.H.G. derr(i)u (same meaning) beside Goth. þaursei-þ mik 'I am athirst'. Gr. qoþtō 'I make to flee, scare away' beside qéþouai 'I flee'. Lat. moneō 'I make some one think, remind' beside meminī. Goth. satja 'I make sit, I place' (Skr. sādāya-ti) beside sita 'I sit'.¹⁾

Secondly, they express a meaning which may be called Intensive, Iterative, or Frequentative. This is often weak and elusive, and in many cases was certainly extinct at the time when we find the verb actually used. Skr. vi-vāhayati beside vi-vahati 'leads away (a bride), leads her home' Avest. vādayē-iti 'leads home', O.C.Sl. voždq vodi-ti freq. of veda 'I lead', $\sqrt{\text{uedh-}}$. Gr. (f) oxéouai pass. 'I am taken backwards and forwards, I am carried', Goth. vagja 'I move' beside ga-viga 'I move', O.C.Sl. vožq voziti freq. of veza 'I carry, convey', $\sqrt{\text{uegh-}}$. Skr. mar-daya-ti beside mṛdnā-ti marda-ti 'presses, crushes', Lat. mordeō beside perf. momordi = Skr. mamarda. Skr. a-tānayati 'stretches, makes stiff' beside ā-tanōti 'stretches, pulls up' a piece of weaving, Goth. -þanja 'I lengthen, stretch'. Skr. pēṣaya-ti beside pināś-ti 'treads or crushes to atoms' Lith. paisý-ti 'to knock (barley, in order to free it from the beard)'. O.Ir. for-tugim 'I cover, hide', O.H.G. decch(i)u 'I cover' beside Lat. tegō. Skr. dhārāya-ti, beside dharati (very rare), 'holds fast, keeps', nōdaya-ti 'drives on' beside nudā-ti 'knocks, strikes away, pulls', rājya kārayati and karōti 'is king, uses lordship'. Gr. φορέω 'I carry about with me, wear' beside φέρω 'I carry', ποτέομαι 'I fly about, flutter' beside πίτομαι 'I fly', στροφέω 'I turn round and round excitedly' beside στρέφω 'I twist, turn', τροπέω beside τρέπω 'I turn', ἔχέω 'I hold fast' beside ἔχω 'I hold, have'. Lat. lūceō (in O.Lat. also causal 'to make shine'), haereō, tondeō, and others. Goth. uf-rakja 'I reach up' beside Gr. ὀρέγω 'I reach out', Goth. þragja 'I run' beside Gr. τρέχω 'I run', O.Sax. kenniu 'I beget' beside Skr. jāna-ti 'begets'. The Intensive or Frequentative meaning is clearest in Balto-Slavonic: cp. further Lith. ganý-ti 'to keep (animals), pasture them' O.C.Sl. goni-ti 'to drive' freq. of ženā gna-ti to drive, hunt', ✓ ghen- 'strike, kill', Lith. grāžý-ti freq. of grēžiū grēszti 'to turn, twist, bore', O.C.Sl. vlači-ti freq. to vlēka vlēsti 'to pull, drag along'.

1) Sometimes these verbs are causal to the Passive of the simple verb; as Goth. ga-tarhja 'I cause to be seen' fra-atja 'I divide for food, cause to be eaten' O.H.G. ezzu 'I cause to be grazed upon, use for pasture' (also 'I let eat, give a taste').

I shall not go into the question of the relation between these two original uses. An attempt to explain it is made by Gaedicke, Der Acc. im Veda, pp. 276 f.

§ 792. Considering the very real and living connexion which existed between the éio-present and the primary present stems, e. g. Skr. bōdhāya-ti and bōdha-ti, vārāya-ti and vrñō-ti, it is easy to understand why éio-forms were often built up on a complete present stem, not on the root. Thus Skr. jīvāya-ti O.C.Sl. živi-ti beside jī-vāmi ži-va (inf. ži-ti) 'I live' (§ 488 p. 47), Skr. dhūnaya-ti beside dhū-nd-ti dhū-nō-ti 'shakes, shatters' (cp. Gr. θῦνέω § 801), kṛntaya-ti with kartaya-ti beside kṛntā-ti 'cuts', Lat. misceō beside a form miscō* for mic-scō* ✓ meixk-, O.H.G. scein(i)u beside scī-nu 'I shine'. Other examples will be given below.

§ 793. There are often nouns which most closely resemble these verbs both in form and meaning. The result of this was that éjo-verbs were formed from nouns direct. If, for instance, people derived Skr. vāj-āya-ti 'hastens, conquers, spurs on, makes something use its power' (= Goth. us-vakja 'I wake up') from vāja-s 'speed, power' — which was really inevitable, as there was no such parallel stem as vaja-ti* — it was easy to form mantrāya-tē 'advises' from mān-tra-s 'advice'. It was, as has been observed in § 487 p. 43, the action of the same principle which produced in Gothic fullnan from full-s 'full' by analogy of af-lifnan áuknan, in Lithuanian línksmin-ti from línksma-s 'glad' by analogy of krūvin-ti kùpin-ti, rentù from rēta-s 'thin' following tenkù tèkti, gelstù gelsti from gelta-s 'yellow' following virstù virsti mirsztù mirszti (§ 623 p. 160, § 624 p. 161, § 635 p. 173, § 686 p. 217). Compare further Skr. mūṣ-nā-ti 'steals' from mūṣ- 'a mouse' § 599 Rem. p. 143.

These éjo-denominatives are commonest in Germanic and Balto-Slavonic, and one or two of these new formations occur in both branches: Goth. fulljan O.C.Sl. plūni-ti 'to fill' from full-s plūnū 'full' (pl-no-s*), Goth. hailjan O.C.Sl. cēli-ti 'to heal' from hail-s cělū 'whole, healthy'. But it is quite possible that these two developements are independent.

§ 794. Pr. Idg. Examples with monosyllabic root, as Skr. v-āya-ti Lith. v-ėjù O.C.Sl. v-ŷja, Skr. śv-āya-ti Lat. qu-eō, have already been cited in § 790 p. 323.

As regards the following examples, which shew a strong grade of root, it is to be remembered that this formation was always an active living type in Aryan, Germanic, and Balto-Slavonic; so that it is not unlikely that all these languages hit upon the particular forms independently. I therefore give by preference such examples as are found in Greek or Italic as well, where the type was less prolific.

1) The meaning of this verb was influenced by the subst. māna-s māna-m 'opinion, high opinion, esteem, honour', in the same way as H.G. blenden (O.H.G. blenten 'to daze, darken, blind' = O.C.Sl. blqđiti 'to wander' Mod.Slov. bluditi 'lead astray, deceive') by the adj. blind, whose factitive the verb is now used for, though originally the factitive was Goth. -blindjan A.S. blindan. 3) Skr. bhaj- is contaminated of two distinct roots, that of पायति (Fick, Wtb. I⁴ 87) and that of πείσσει Lith. bėgu (id. ib. 490).

In the following, -ēiō was not added immediately to the root; see § 792 p. 325.

Lith. jūdinu 'I move, cheer up, exhort'); cp. Skr. yōdha-ti etc., loc. cit.; the O.Lat. joubeō is only once found (S. C. de Bacch., 27), and ou was perhaps only caused by the spelling of jousiset which precedes.¹⁾

Goth. stōja 'I direct' for stōuiō* (I § 179 p. 156), O.C.Sl. stavljā 'I place, stay, stem' with Goth. staua 'court of law' (see ibid.) O.C.Sl. stavū 'compages' po-stavū 'loom-frame, or web' stava 'joint, limb' Lith. stovù 'place' from ✓ stā- 'stand'; to argue from Gr. στέω στῶ-λο-ς Skr. sthū-lá-s, we had best assume stū- stāu- (cp. § 488 pp. 44 ff.).

The causal Skr. jīvāya-ti 'makes living, lets live' O.C.Sl. življā 'I make alive' is probably derived from the present

§ 796. Many new forms from Primary Present Stems (see § 792 p. 325):

Skr. irāya-ti 'sets a-going, excites, arouses' beside ir-tē Idg. ī-taj*, pūrāya-ti 'fills' beside pūr-dhi Idg. pī-dhi*, Class I § 497 p. 57.

A group of fairly common forms, such as Skr. patāya-ti Avest. pataye-iti beside Skr. patāya-ti, have been derived from forms of Class II A, as has been already said (§ 790 pp. 322 f.). The following may be connected with stems of Class II B: Skr. gūhaya-ti Avest. guzaye-iti (but not O.Pers. gaundayahy 2nd sing. conj.), cp. Skr. gūha-ti 'hides' Avest. mid. guza-tē; Skr. *turāya-ti*¹⁾ (beside tārāya-ti), cp. turā-ti 'gets through, makes oneself master of'. But this view is not the only one possible, since the éio-verbs themselves could have a weak grade of root syllable (§ 790 p. 323, § 795 p. 330).

Avest. titāraye-iti 'seeks to overcome, or strike down' beside Skr. ti-tar-ti Avest. ti-tar-a-p Classes III, IV, § 540 p. 100, § 548 p. 105.

Skr. pinvaya-ti 'makes swell or abound' from pī-nva-ti, Class XVIII § 651 p. 186.

prachaya-ti (gramm.) from prchá-ti 'asks' ground-form

pr(k)-ske-ti*, ichaya-ti (beside ēṣaya-ti) from ichá-ti 'desires', Class XXII §§ 670 f. pp. 202 f.

mṛdāya-ti 'is gracious' from mṛdā-ti for mṛž-du-ti* Class XXV § 692 p. 222.

chāyaya-ti from cha-ya-ti 'cuts up', Class XXVI § 707 p. 237. pyāyāya-ti from pyā-ya-tē 'swells', Class XXVIII § 736 p. 262.

§ 797. Near kin to the ējo-forms cited in the preceding paragraphs, are the Skr. groups ending in -payati and -apayati, as sthā-payati and sn-apāya-ti.

In these endings, as in glei-p- and lei-p- (§ 634 pp. 170 f.), -p- must be counted one of the Root-Determinatives which have been discussed in § 488 pp. 44 ff.¹⁾ In principle, these do not differ from ordinary present suffixes.

(1) -payati. The following may be considered as the forms which originated this type in Sanskrit. sthāpaya-ti causal of st-ṣth-a-ti 'stands', cp. Lith. stapy-ti-s 'to stand still' O.H.G. stab 'staff' stabēm 'I get stiff', √ stā- stā-. dāpaya-tē causal of dā-ti d-yā-ti 'divides, gives a share', cp. Gr. ḁán-τω 'I divide up, tear in pieces' ḁan-άνη 'expenditure' Lat. daps, √ dā- dā-. dīpāya-ti causal of ā-di-dē-t 'shone' imper. di-di-hi, cp. dīp-ya-tē perf. didīpē part. dīp-ta-s. On the analogy of such as these arose forms like dhā-paya-ti from dhā- 'to set, place', snā-pāya-ti from snā- 'to wash', kṣē-paya-ti (beside kṣay-āya-ti) from kṣi- 'to stay, dwell', ar-pāya-ti from ar- 'to raise oneself'.

Then again smāpaya-ti beside smāy-aya-ti from smi- 'to smile', māpaya-ti instead of māy-aya-ti* from mi- 'minuere', adhy-āpaya-ti beside praty-āyaya-ti from i- 'to go'. There were two causes for this set of forms. Firstly, the participles came in contact, smi-ta-s smi-tvā seeming to be parallel with e. g. sthi-tā-s sthi-tvā; secondly, pāy-āya-ti 'gives to drink'

1) Compare now Per Persson's Wurzelerweiterung pp. 49 ff. In this work p is taken to be a root determinative in many words where we have regarded it as part of the root proper, as in Skr. sārpa-ti Lat. serpō, which the writer derives from the root of Skr. sār-a-ti 'moves, flows'.

(beside pā-tā- páy-a-tē) was compared with pā-paya-ti 'gives to drink' (from pā-ti), and gāy-āya-ti 'makes sing' (beside gā-tā-gē-ṣṇa-) compared with gā-paya-ti 'makes sing' (beside gā-ti gā-sya-ti). Then a further step was taken, and the resemblance of sthi-tā-s to vardhi-tā-s dikṣi-tā-s produced vardhāpaya-ti from vardhāya-ti 'helps, arouses, causes a pleasant excitement', dikṣā-paya-ti from dikṣaya-ti 'consecrates'; and again we have on the analogy of these bhūñjāpaya-ti from bhōjaya-ti 'gives to eat' (pres. bhunák-ti), and others.

(2) gl-apaya-ti 'brings to decay, ruins, exhausts' (beside glā-pāya-ti glā-ti glā-ya-ti) beside opt. glapē-t (Whitney, Skr. Roots p. 41), Gr. βλ-έπω 'I look, see' (cp. βλεῖν ὀμματα or ὄσσε εἶς τι or πρὸς τι),¹⁾ √ gel-. sn-apāya-ti 'washes, bathes' (beside snā-pāya-ti snā-ti snā-ya-tē) compared with Lat. Nep-tūnu-s. śr-apāya-ti 'boils, roasts, burns' (beside śrā-ya-ti śrā-tā-s) is connected with su-śrāpa-s 'easy to cook'; jñ-apaya-ti 'instructs' (beside jñā-paya-ti jñā-sya-ti) beside jñap-tā-s 'instructed' jñap-ti-ṣ 'attainment of knowledge'. ml-apaya-ti beside mā-pāya-ti 'makes languid, takes away the elasticity'.

Remark. Other forms with -ep- are: Gr. κλ-έπ-τω Lat. cl-epō Goth. hl-ifa 'I steal' beside O.Ir. celim O.H.G. hīlu 'I hide'; Gr. δρ-έπω 'I break off, cut off, pluck' δρέπαο-ν 'sickle' beside δρ-ω 'I flay'; Lat. tr-ep-īdu-s, O.C.Sl. tr-epe-tū 'to tremble' beside Skr. tar-aldā-s 'trembling'. Compare the Author, Morph. Unt. i 40, 48, 49; Per Persson, Wurzelerw. 50 ff.

§ 798. A Denominative éio-formation like Skr. mantrāya-tē (§ 793 p. 326) can only be definitely maintained for Sanskrit; we know nothing of the Old Iranian accent, and therefore cannot say whether Avest. frayrāraye-iti 'wakes up' would answer to a Skr. grārāya-ti* or grārayā-ti*. Other examples from Sanskrit are: ṛtāya-nt- 'behaving in due form and order' from ṛ-tā-m 'order, rite', arthāya-tē 'allows oneself to be persuaded' from ār-tha-m 'goal, business'; pālāya-ti 'watches, protects' from pā-lā-s 'guardian' is used in Sanskrit as causal of pā-ti, and ghātaya-ti 'causes to be killed, kills' (aor. a-jīghata-t) from ghā-ta-s 'blow, killing' as causal of hīn-ti.

It may be mentioned that when a root-final k-sound is not changed to c before -aya-, this proves the form to be denominative; for we have seen in vol. I § 445 p. 331 that a k-sound must become c before -eio- in proethnic Aryan, as it does in rōcāya-ti. We know therefore that mṛgāya-tē 'sets on the trail of a quarry' is derived from mṛgā-s 'wild animal, game', tarkāya-ti 'conjectures' from tarka-s 'guess', and so with others.

§ 799. In Sanskrit, the present in -āya-ti served as the foundation for a desiderative formation in -ayiṣa-ti, as lu-lōbhayiṣa-ti from lōbhāya-ti.

The passive is formed with -yá-tē, -aya- being dropt; e. g. bhāj-yá-tē from bhājaya-ti. How this passive originated is not at all clear. It may be supposed that it had no special connexion properly with the éio-present, any more than had the aorist of Class IV (§ 548 p. 105).

§ 800. Armenian. There are no clear traces of this éio-group, which appears to have been absorbed into the class of verbs ending with -em. For instance, lizem 'I lick' may answer equally well to Skr. lchāya-ti or to Gr. λείχω. Compare § 774^a p. 293, on gorcem etc.

§ 801. Greek. Here this éio-class ran into one group with the denominative present in -e-izō, such as φιλέω from φίλο-ς. Hence arose φορήσω ἐφόρησα etc., following φιλήσω ἐφίλησα (§ 773 p. 290). Hence again, in the present itself, Lesb. ποθήω like ἀδικήει (§ 775 p. 293), and φόρημι like τίλημι (§ 589 p. 131).

I arrange the forms about to be cited according as they had one or other of the two original functions of this class (§ 791 p. 324).

Causal (or Factitive). τορέω, (F)οχέω, φοβέω, σφβέω, see § 794 pp. 326 ff.

Intensive (or Iterative). φορέω, σείω (ἐσσομένον Hesych.), ποτίομαι, see ibid. όχέω 'I hold fast, hold out, hold' for σσχέω* beside ἔχω: Skr. ut-sāhaya-ti 'helps some one to endure, strengthens, gives heart'. ποθέω 'I desire' beside θέσσεσθαι Avest. jaidye-iti √ ghedh- (§ 706 p. 234): O.Ir. no guidiu 'I pray' first for godiu*. στροφέω 'I turn round and round' beside στρέφω. τροπέω 'I turn, twist' beside τρέπω. ροφέω 'I swallow' beside Lith. sreb-iù √ srebbh-; Lat. sorbeō seems to be an éio-form with weak grade of root, like jubeō Skr. gṛbhāya-ti, and others (§ 790 p. 323). βρομέω 'I hum, buzz' beside βρέμω. σκοπέω 'I watch, look at, ponder' beside σκέπτομαι. So perhaps ὀρχέομαι 'I hop, spring, jump, tremble, quake' beside ερχομαι 'I go'; in that case the word will be akin to Skr. ṛghayā-ti 'quakes, throbs'. ὠθέω 'I push': cp. Skr. vadhaya-ti 'strikes down' Avest. vādaye-iti 'knocks back'; ὠθέω will be equivalent to Skr. bādhaya-ti 'subdues', if in this word b is for v- (cp. p. 225 footnote 1).

Looking at these verbs in -εω from the Greek point of view only, it must be admitted that they mostly look like derivatives from substantives; cp. φορέω φόρο-ς, ποθέω πόθο-ς, στροφέω στροφή and so forth. However, it can hardly be doubted that they had their origin rather in this éio-class, in as much as the earliest verbs of the kind ended in -έιδ. After the Greek verb had lost the original Idg. accent (cp. § 527 with the Rem., p. 89), present stems in -έιδ and denominatives in -ε-ιδ were bound to run together.

However, another possibility must not be forgotten: to wit, that before the time in question some few denominative causals, of the type of Skr. mantrāya-ti (§ 793 p. 326, § 798 pp. 334 f.) may have been formed.

-εω is not uncommon after present formative suffixes (cp. § 792 p. 325). So far as one can see, the new verb meant much the same as the old unextended verb.

εἰλέω 'I press' beside εἴλω for fel-νω* (§ 611 p. 150). Ion. inser. conj. βουλεύονται beside βούλομαι 'I wish' for bol-νο-* (§ 611 p. 150). πίτ-ρέω 'I fall' beside πίτ-νω, whose preterite επιτρνν became aorist by contrast with πιτρνέω (see Curtius, Verb² 1 268, n 12); ι in the root syllable instead of ε (√ pet-) as in κίρ-νῆ-μι etc., § 602 p. 144. δαμνέι · δαμάζει (Hesych.) beside δάμ-νῆ-μι. ἰκνέομαι 'I arrive' beside Hom. ἰκάνω for ἰκ-ανφω* § 652 p. 187. οἶχ-νέω 'I go, go away, I am off'. Cret. ἀγ-νέω 'I lead, bring'.

ὀλιγο-δρανέω 'I am faint, weak' beside δρ-αίνω (§ 621 p. 159) like Skr. iṣ-an-āya-nta beside iṣ-an-yá-ti (§ 796 p. 332).

With Skr. pi-nv-āya-ti § 796 p. 332 may be compared the following. ἀγίνεω, beside ἀγίνω 'I lead, bring' for ἀγι-νφω*. ἔξινει, beside ἔξινε-ν for zgi-nuḍ*. See § 652 p. 187. Perhaps also δινέω 'I eddy' beside δίνω, and θῶνέω 'I move wildly, storm' beside θῶνω, see loc. cit.; but still these may be denominatives, derived later from δῖνο-ς and θῶνο-ς; θῶνέω moreover may be identified with Skr. dhū-n-āya-ti (§ 796 p. 332). We are still quite in the dark whether -nu-éiḍ or -n-éiḍ (-ne-iḍ) is to be assumed for κινέω 'I move from its place' beside κί-νυ-μαι, βῦνέω 'I stop up' beside βύνω and βύω fut. βῦσω, βῖνέω 'coeo' beside Skr. jī-ná-ti 'overpowers, oppresses' partic. jī-tá-s.

πεκτέω beside πέκτω 'I comb', § 680 p. 212.

γηθέω beside γῆθομαι 'I am glad' seems to fall here along with Lat. gaudeō for gāvideō*, § 694 p. 223. μιννθέω (Hippocr.) beside μινύ-θω 'minuo'.

μνζέω (Hippocr.) beside μνζω 'I suck'. χρηέομαι (Chalc. χρηεῖσθω Boeot. χρειεῖσθῃ) and Gort. ληῖω (for ληέω*) beside χρηέομαι λήω* perhaps like Skr. pyāy-āya-ti beside pyā-yā-tē 'swells', see § 737 p. 263.

These forms in -εω are also found in association with present stems which have no special characteristic, as ἐλκένω beside ἐλκω 'I pull'.

Now comes the question — are all these forms with -εω to be brought into close connexion with the Idg. -éiḍ, and did they originally have an Intensive or Frequentative meaning? We saw in § 578 p. 119, § 756. 4 p. 275, that from the very earliest period non-present forms with an ē-suffix occur side by side with present forms which have no ē-suffix; as μελήσει up', O.C.Sl. maṭi-ti 'to bring into perplexity'. tonag-éiō* √ tenag-: Lat. tongeō, Goth. þagkja 'I think over, think about', but cp. § 804. nok-éiō* √ nek-: Skr. nāśāya-ti 'causes to disappear, destroys', Lat. noceō.¹⁾ louq-éiō* √ leuq-: Skr. rōcāya-ti 'causes to shine, lights up', Lat. lūc-eō 'I shine, am bright' and O.Lat. 'I make shine'. loubh-éiō* √ leubh-: Skr. lōbhāya-ti 'excites some one's desire, attracts' Goth. us-láuhja 'I allow', O.C.Sl. ljubi-ti 'to love'. gous-éiō* √ geus-: Skr. jōśāya-tē 'likes, takes pleasure in, approves', Goth. káusja 'I taste, try'. suop-éiō* √ suep-: Skr. svāpāya-ti 'sends to sleep', O.H.G. int-suebb(i)u 'I send to sleep' O.Icel. svef 'I pacify, quiet'. uoḡh-éiō* √ ueḡh-: Skr. vāhaya-ti 'conveys, makes (a carriage or horses) go, drives', Gr. ὠχέω 'I convey, make ride' pass. 'I am carried about, am carried, I ride on', Goth. ga-vagja 'I move', O.C.Sl. vozi-ti 'to carry (in a vehicle), vehere'. uoīd-éiō* √ ueid-: Skr. vēdaya-tē 'gives to know, informs', O.H.G. weiz(i)u 'I give to know, I show'. bhoīd-éiō* √ bheīd-: Skr. bhēdaya-ti 'splits, divides', O.H.G. beiz(i)u 'I make to bite, I bait'. pot-éiō* √ pet-: Skr. pātāya-ti 'makes to fly or fall', Gr. πορεύω 'I fly, flutter'. dhogh-éiō* √ dhegh-: Skr. dāhaya-ti 'causes to be burnt', Lat. foveō 'I warm, keep warm, cherish, take care of'.²⁾ bhog-éiō* √ bheg-: Skr. bhājāya-ti 'drives away',³⁾ Gr. ποσέω 'I make to flee, scare or hunt away'. tjog-éiō* √ tjeg-: Skr. tyājaya-ti 'bids leave alone', Gr. ποσέω 'I drive off quickly, scare away'. sod-éiō* √ sed-: Skr. sādāya-ti 'gets seated, sits', O.Ir. ad-suidim 'I prolong, postpone' (Thurneysen, Kuhn's Zeitschr. xxxi 97), Goth. satja 'I seat, place'. od-éiō* √ ed-: Skr. ādaya-ti 'causes to eat, feeds, fattens', Goth. fra-atja 'I divide up for a meal' O.H.G. ezz(i)u 'to make eat, give to eat, feed'. pak-éiō*

1) The construction nocēre alicui is doubtless due to the analogy of obesse officere etc.

2) Compare fōmes 'kindling, tinder' (for forimes*) with Lett. daglis 'tinder'.

3) Skr. bhaj- is contaminated of two distinct roots, that of ḡayiv (Fick, Wtb. I⁴ 87) and that of ḡāyau Lith. bėgu (id. ib. 490).

✓ pāk-: Skr. paśāya-ti 'binds', O.H.G. fuog(i)u O.Sax. fōgiu 'I make fit, join, bind together'. Skr. hrādaya-ti 'causes to make a sound' (hrāda-tē 'sounds'), O.H.G. gruoz(i)u O.Sax. grōtiu 'I address, speak to'; if another, Goth. grēta 'I wail out', is of this kin, then we must assume Idg. ǵhrōdéiō*. Goth. af-dauī-þs 'exhausted' pres. dōja* for dōuiō* in the first instance (I § 179 p. 156), O.C.Sl. davi-ti 'to strangle'. — tons-éiō* from the stem ten-s-: Skr. taṣaya-ti 'pulls about, tugs, tears, shakes', Lith. tāšý-ti 'to drag about'; cp. Skr. taṣa-ti Lith. tēs-iù § 657 p. 191. uos-éiō* from stem u-es-: Skr. vāsāya-ti 'causes to put on, clothes with something', Goth. ga-vasja O.H.G. weriu 'I clothe'; cp. Skr. v-ās-tē Gr. ἐν-εσ-ται § 656 p. 191.

rōdh-éiō* stem rē-dh-: Skr. radhaya-ti 'brings about', O.Ir. no ráidiu 'I speak', Goth. rōdja 'I speak', O.C.Sl. radi-ti 'to consider, care for'; cp. Skr. árādha-t Goth. ur-rēda § 689 p. 220. ioudh-éiō* iudh-éiō* stem ieu-dh- 'to stir, set in motion': Skr. yōdhāya-ti 'involves some one in war, fights against', Lat. jubeō properly 'I set in motion' (cp. Lith. jūdinu 'I move, cheer up, exhort'); cp. Skr. yōdha-ti etc., loc. cit.; the O.Lat. joubeō is only once found (S. C. de Bacch., 27), and ou was perhaps only caused by the spelling of jousiset which precedes.¹⁾

Goth. stōja 'I direct' for stōuiō* (I § 179 p. 156), O.C.Sl. stavljā 'I place, stay, stem' with Goth. staua 'court of law' (see ibid.) O.C.Sl. stavŭ 'compages' po-stavŭ 'loom-frame, or web' stavu 'joint, limb' Lith. stovà 'place' from ✓ stā- 'stand'; to argue from Gr. στέω στῦ-λο-ς Skr. sthū-lā-s, we had best assume stū- stāu- (cp. § 488 pp. 44 ff.).

The causal Skr. jīvāya-ti 'makes living, lets live' O.C.Sl. življā 'I make alive' is probably derived from the present

1) If joubeō is a genuine form, it may be a variant of jubeō like Skr. śocāya-ti beside śucāya-ti.

jī-va-ti ži-ve-tū 'lives' (§ 792 p. 325), whilst Goth. ga-giujā 'I make alive' is a denominative causal from giu-s 'living' (§ 793 p. 326, § 806).

§ 795. Aryan. A pass. part. in -i-tā- formed from all verbs with strong grade of root syllable; see § 789 pp. 319 f.

Skr. dhārāya-ti Avest. dāraye-iti 'holds fast, carries, supports, strengthens, preserves', O.Pers. dārayāmiy 'I hold, possess', √ dher-. Skr. vārāya-ti Avest. vāraye-iti 'holds back, keeps off, hinders': Goth. varja 'I hinder, protect, defend', √ uer-. Skr. nāmayā-ti namaya-ti Avest. nāmaye-iti 'makes bend, bends' (tr.), √ nem-. Skr. śrāvāya-ti śravāya-ti Avest. srāvaye-iti 'causes to hear, recites, informs', √ kley-. Skr. cāyaya-ti cayaya-ti 'ranges together, collects', √ qei-. Skr. nāyaya-ti 'causes to be carried away'. Skr. vardhāya-ti Avest. vardāye-iti 'causes to grow, increases, furthers'. Skr. bandhaya-ti 'causes to be bound, chains', Avest. bandaye-iti 'binds', √ bhendh-. Skr. raḥāya-ti Avest. renjaye-iti 'expedites, despatches', √ lengh- (I § 199 p. 167). Skr. jambhāya-ti Avest. zembaye-iti 'grinds to powder, destroys', √ ḡembh-. Skr. rōcāya-ti 'causes to shine, illuminates', Avest. raocaye-iti 'lights up, illuminates': Lat. lūceō, see § 794 p. 328. Skr. rēcaya-ti 'makes empty, lets free, deserts', Avest. raēcaye-iti 'deserts', √ leiq-. Skr. sadāya-ti 'places', Avest. ni-šādāye-iti 'causes to sit down, brings under, subdues' O.Pers. niy-ašādāya-m 'I made sit down, arranged' (for š in the O.Pers. cp. I § 556 p. 410): Goth. satja, § 794 p. 328. Skr. bhāyaya-ti 'causes fear to, frightens', √ bhai-.

Many Skr. forms are proved by their root syllable to be re-formates. E. g. arjaya-ti (as also ārja-ti and suchlike), from √ reḡ- 'to stretch oneself' (raḡiṣṭha-s, Gr. ῥαγῖς), is a transformat of ḡjya-ti following ardhāya-ti : ḡdhya-tē ḡdhnō-ti etc. tōlaya-ti 'lifts, weighs' formed from tul- (tulaya-ti etc.) = Idg. tǵl- (I § 287 p. 229, § 290 p. 232), follows bōdhāya-ti : budh- and the like.

Forms with weak grade of root. Skr. v-āya-ti 'weaves': Lith. v-ejū, see § 790 p. 323. śv-āya-ti 'swells, thrives, is strong': Gr. xv-ém Lat. qu-eō, see ibid. Skr. hv-āya-ti Avest. zb-aye-iti zuv-aye-iti 'calls'. Skr. dhun-aya-tē 'roars': O.Sax. duniu, see ibid. tul-aya-ti beside tōl-aya-ti, see just above. grbh-āya-ti 'grasps'. śuc-āya-ti 'shines, beams'. pīd-aya-ti 'presses' for pi-zd-eje-ti* ('makes sit down') from ✓sed-, see I § 591 p. 447. Avest. urūpaye-iti 'does harm'. Add doubtless Skr. chad-āya-ti beside chandaya-ti from the pres. chant-ti 'appears'.

§ 796. Many new forms from Primary Present Stems (see § 792 p. 325):

Skr. irāya-ti 'sets a-going, excites, arouses' beside ir-tē Idg. ǵ-taj*, pūrāya-ti 'fills' beside pūr-dhi Idg. pǵ-dhi*, Class I § 497 p. 57.

A group of fairly common forms, such as Skr. patāya-ti Avest. pataye-iti beside Skr. patāya-ti, have been derived from forms of Class II A, as has been already said (§ 790 pp. 322 f.). The following may be connected with stems of Class II B: Skr. gūhaya-ti Avest. guzaye-iti (but not O.Pers. gaudayahy 2nd sing. conj.), cp. Skr. gūha-ti 'hides' Avest. mid. guza-tē; Skr. *turāya-ti*¹⁾ (beside tārāya-ti), cp. turā-ti 'gets through, makes oneself master of'. But this view is not the only one possible, since the éjo-verbs themselves could have a weak grade of root syllable (§ 790 p. 323, § 795 p. 330).

Avest. titaraye-iti 'seeks to overcome, or strike down' beside Skr. ti-tar-ti Avest. ti-tar-a-p (Classes III, IV, § 540 p. 100, § 548 p. 105).

Skr. sajjaya-ti 'fastens on' beside sajja-tē for sa-zj-a* Class VI § 562 p. 110.

Causal of the Intensive class. Skr. dādharaya-ti 'causes to hold fast' from dā-dhar-ti, jāgarāya-ti 'awakes, enlivens' from jā-gar-ti, Class V § 560 p. 109. Skr. dandaśayi-tvā gerund 'having caused to be severely bitten' beside dān-daś-āna-s partic., from daś- 'to bite', varīvarjāya-nt- 'turning backwards and forwards' beside vāri-vṛj-at- partic., from varj- 'to turn, twist' Class VII § 568 p. 113.

1) O.Pers. atarayāma may be the same formation (I § 290 p. 232).

Skr. prīṇaya-ti 'gladdens, delights, makes inclined' from prī-ṇā-ti, dhūṇaya-ti 'moves to and fro, shakes' from dhu-ṇā-ti, Class XII § 599 pp. 142 f.; dhūṇaya-ti is perhaps identical with Gr. θύνεω, § 801.

Skr. iṣāṇaya-nta from iṣāṇa-t Class XIV, and iṣāṇyā-ti Class XIX (§ 619 pp. 156 f., § 743 p. 266), cp. Gr. ὀλιγο-δρανέω beside δρανώ § 801.

From Present Stems of Classes XV and XVI, §§ 625 ff. pp. 162 ff. Skr. kṛntaya-ti (beside kartaya-ti) Avest. ker'ntaye-iti 'cuts, splits' from Skr. kṛntā-ti Avest. ker'nta-iti. Skr. rundhaya-ti 'stems, holds back, torments' (beside rōdhaya-ti) from ruṇaddhi rundh-a-ti. Skr. śundhaya-ti 'cleanses' (beside śōdhaya-ti) from śunaddhi śundh-a-ti. Skr. līmpaya-ti 'besmears, anoints' (beside lēpaya-ti) from līmp-ā-ti. Skr. bṛhaya-ti 'strengthens' (beside barhaya-ti) from bṛh-a-ti. Skr. dṛhaya-ti 'makes fast, fixes firmly' from dṛh-a-ti. Avest. bunjaye-iti 'cleanses' from bunj-a-iti.

Skr. pinvaya-ti 'makes swell or abound' from pī-nva-ti, Class XVIII § 651 p. 186.

Avest. aiwya-āxšayeinti 'they inspected' beside O.Pers. patiy-axšaiy 'I inspect' § 659 p. 194.

From reduplicated *s-*Presents (Desideratives), Class XXI §§ 666 f. pp. 198 ff. Skr. cikīrṣaya-ti from cī-kīr-ṣa-ti 'wishes to make, begins, purposes', śikṣaya-ti from śikṣa-tē 'learns' for śi-śk-ṣa-taḥ*.

prachaya-ti (gramm.) from prchá-ti 'asks' ground-form

pr(k)-ske-ti*, ichaya-ti (beside ēṣaya-ti) from ichá-ti 'desires', Class XXII §§ 670 f. pp. 202 f.

mṛdāya-ti 'is gracious' from mṛdā-ti for mṛž-da-ti* Class XXV § 692 p. 222.

chāyaya-ti from cha-ya-ti 'cuts up', Class XXVI § 707 p. 237. pyāyāya-ti from pyā-ya-tē 'swells', Class XXVIII § 736 p. 262.

§ 797. Near kin to the éjo-forms cited in the preceding paragraphs, are the Skr. groups ending in -payati and -apayati, as sthā-payati and sn-apāya-ti.

In these endings, as in gleṣ-p- and leṣ-p- (§ 634 pp. 170 f.), -p- must be counted one of the Root-Determinatives which have been discussed in § 488 pp. 44 ff.¹⁾ In principle, these do not differ from ordinary present suffixes.

(1) -payati. The following may be considered as the forms which originated this type in Sanskrit. sthāpayaya-ti causal of sth-ṣṭh-a-ti 'stands', cp. Lith. stapy-ti-s 'to stand still' O.H.G. stab 'staff' stabēm 'I get stiff', √ stā- stā-. dāpayaya-tē causal of dā-ti d-yā-ti 'divides, gives a share', cp. Gr. ἰάν-τω 'I divide up, tear in pieces' ἰαν-ἀνῆ 'expenditure' Lat. daps, √ dā- dā-. dīpāya-ti causal of ā-dī-dē-t 'shone' imper. dī-dī-hi, cp. dīp-ya-tē perf. didīpē part. dīp-ta-s. On the analogy of such as these arose forms like dhā-payaya-ti from dhā- 'to set, place', snā-pāya-ti from snā- 'to wash', kṣē-payaya-ti (beside kṣay-āya-ti) from kṣi- 'to stay, dwell', ar-pāya-ti from ar- 'to raise oneself'.

Then again smāpayaya-ti beside smāy-aya-ti from smi- 'to smile', māpayaya-ti instead of māy-aya-ti* from mi- 'minuere', adhy-apayaya-ti beside praty-āyaya-ti from i- 'to go'. There were two causes for this set of forms. Firstly, the participles came in contact, smi-ta-s smi-tvā seeming to be parallel with e. g. sthi-tā-s sthi-tvā; secondly, pāy-āya-ti 'gives to drink'

1) Compare now Per Persson's Wurzelerweiterung pp. 49 ff. In this work p is taken to be a root determinative in many words where we have regarded it as part of the root proper, as in Skr. sārpa-ti Lat. serpō, which the writer derives from the root of Skr. sār-a-ti 'moves, flows'.

(beside pī-tá- páy-a-tē) was compared with pā-paya-ti 'gives to drink' (from pā-ti), and gāy-aya-ti 'makes sing' (beside gī-tá-gē-ṣṇa-) compared with gā-paya-ti 'makes sing' (beside gā-ti gā-sya-ti). Then a further step was taken, and the resemblance of sthi-tá-s to vardhi-tá-s dīkṣi-tá-s produced vardhāpaya-ti from vardhāya-ti 'helps, arouses, causes a pleasant excitement', dīkṣā-paya-ti from dīkṣaya-ti 'consecrates'; and again we have on the analogy of these bhūñjāpaya-ti from bhōjaya-ti 'gives to eat' (pres. bhunák-ti), and others.

(2) gl-apaya-ti 'brings to decay, ruins, exhausts' (beside glā-pāya-ti glā-ti glā-ya-ti) beside opt. glapē-t (Whitney, Skr. Roots p. 41), Gr. βλ-έπω 'I look, see' (cp. βάλειν ὀμματα or ὄσσε εἷς τι or πρὸς τι).¹⁾ ✓ gel-. sn-apāya-ti 'washes, bathes' (beside snā-pāya-ti snā-ti snā-ya-tē) compared with Lat. Nep-tūnu-s. śr-apāya-ti 'boils, roasts, burns' (beside śrā-ya-ti śrā-tá-s) is connected with su-śrāpa-s 'easy to cook'; jñ-apaya-ti 'instructs' (beside jñā-paya-ti jñā-sya-ti) beside jñap-tá-s 'instructed' jñap-ti-ṣ 'attainment of knowledge'. ml-apaya-ti beside mā-pāya-ti 'makes languid, takes away the elasticity'.

Remark. Other forms with -ep- are: Gr. κλ-έν-τω Lat. cl-epō Goth. hl-ifa 'I steal' beside O.Ir. celim O.H.G. hīlu 'I hide'; Gr. δρ-έπω 'I break off, cut off, pluck' δρέπανο-ν 'sickle' beside δέρ-ω 'I flay'; Lat. tr-ep-idu-s, O.C.Sl. tr-epe-ti 'to tremble' beside Skr. tar-ulā-s 'trembling'. Compare the Author, Morph. Unt. i 40, 48, 49; Per Persson, Wurzelersw. 50 ff.

§ 798. A Denominative éio-formation like Skr. mantrāya-tē (§ 793 p. 326) can only be definitely maintained for Sanskrit; we know nothing of the Old Iranian accent, and therefore cannot say whether Avest. frayrāruye-iti 'wakes up' would answer to a Skr. grārāya-ti* or grārayā-ti*. Other examples from Sanskrit are: ṛtāya-nt- 'behaving in due form and order' from ṛ-tā-m 'order, rite', arthāya-tē 'allows oneself to be persuaded' from ār-tha-m 'goal, business'; pālāya-ti 'watches, protects' from pā-lā-s 'guardian' is used in Sanskrit as causal of pā-ti, and ghātaya-ti 'causes to be killed, kills' (aor. a-jṛghata-t) from ghā-ta-s 'blow, killing' as causal of hān-ti.

It may be mentioned that when a root-final k-sound is not changed to c before -aya-, this proves the form to be denominative; for we have seen in vol. I § 445 p. 331 that a k-sound must become c before -eio- in proethnic Aryan, as it does in rōcāya-ti. We know therefore that mṛgāya-tē 'sets on the trail of a quarry' is derived from mṛgā-s 'wild animal, game', tarkāya-ti 'conjectures' from tarka-s 'guess', and so with others.

§ 799. In Sanskrit, the present in -āya-ti served as the foundation for a desiderative formation in -ayiṣa-ti, as lu-lōbhayiṣa-ti from lōbhāya-ti.

The passive is formed with -yá-tē, -aya- being dropt; e. g. bhāj-yá-tē from bhājaya-ti. How this passive originated is not at all clear. It may be supposed that it had no special connexion properly with the éio-present, any more than had the aorist of Class IV (§ 548 p. 105).

§ 800. Armenian. There are no clear traces of this éio-group, which appears to have been absorbed into the class of verbs ending with -em. For instance, lizem 'I lick' may answer equally well to Skr. lēhāya-ti or to Gr. λείχω. Compare § 774* p. 293, on gorcem etc.

§ 801. Greek. Here this éio-class ran into one group with the denominative present in -e-izō, such as φιλέω from φίλο-ς. Hence arose φορήσω ἐφόρησα etc., following φιλήσω ἐφίλησα (§ 773 p. 290). Hence again, in the present itself, Lesb. ποθήω like ἀδικήει (§ 775 p. 293), and φόρημι like τίλημι (§ 589 p. 131).

I arrange the forms about to be cited according as they had one or other of the two original functions of this class (§ 791 p. 324).

Causal (or Factitive). τορέω, (F)ορέω, φοβέω, σβεβέω, see § 794 pp. 326 ff.

Intensive (or Iterative). φορέω, σείω (ἐσσοσημένον Hesych.), ποτίομαι, see ibid. ῥαχέω 'I hold fast, hold out, hold' for σοχεω* beside ἔχω: Skr. ut-sahaya-ti 'helps some one to endure, strengthens, gives heart'. ποθέω 'I desire' beside θέσσεισθαι Avest. jaidye-iti √ ghedh- (§ 706 p. 234): O.Ir. no guidiu 'I pray' first for godiu*. στροφέω 'I turn round and round' beside στρέφω. τροπέω 'I turn, twist' beside τρέπω. ρόφείω 'I swallow' beside Lith. sreb-iù √ srebh-; Lat. sorbeō seems to be an éio-form with weak grade of root, like jubeō Skr. gṛbhāya-ti, and others (§ 790 p. 323). βρομέω 'I hum, buzz' beside βρέμω. σκοπέω 'I watch, look at, ponder' beside σκέπτομαι. So perhaps ὀρχέομαι 'I hop, spring, jump, tremble, quake' beside ερχομαι 'I go'; in that case the word will be akin to Skr. ṛghaya-ti 'quakes, throbs'. ώθείω 'I push': cp. Skr. vadhaya-ti 'strikes down' Avest. vādaye-iti 'knocks back'; ώθείω will be equivalent to Skr. bādhaya-ti 'subdues', if in this word b is for v- (cp. p. 225 footnote 1).

Looking at these verbs in -εω from the Greek point of view only, it must be admitted that they mostly look like derivatives from substantives; cp. φορέω φόρο-ς, ποθέω πόθο-ς, στροφέω στροφή and so forth. However, it can hardly be doubted that they had their origin rather in this éio-class, in as much as the earliest verbs of the kind ended in -έιδ. After the Greek verb had lost the original Idg. accent (cp. § 527 with the Rem., p. 89), present stems in -έιδ and denominatives in -ε-ίδ were bound to run together.

However, another possibility must not be forgotten: to wit, that before the time in question some few denominative causals, of the type of Skr. mantrāya-ti (§ 793 p. 326, § 798 pp. 334 f.) may have been formed.

-εω is not uncommon after present formative suffixes (cp. § 792 p. 325). So far as one can see, the new verb meant much the same as the old unextended verb.

εἰλέω 'I press' beside εἰλω for fel-νω* (§ 611 p. 150). Ion. inscr. conj. βούλωνται beside βούλωμαι 'I wish' for bol-νω* (§ 611 p. 150). πιτ-νέω 'I fall' beside πίτ-νω, whose preterite επιτνον became aorist by contrast with πιτνέω (see Curtius, Verb² i 268, n 12); ι in the root syllable instead of ε (√ pet-)

as in κίρ-νῆ-μι etc., § 602 p. 144. δαμνέι · δαμάζει (Hesych.) beside δάμ-νῆ-μι. ἰκνέομαι 'I arrive' beside Hom. ἰκάνω for ἰκ-ανφω* § 652 p. 187. οἶχ-νέω 'I go, go away, I am off'. Cret. ἀγ-νέω 'I lead, bring'.

ὀλιγο-δρανέω 'I am faint, weak' beside δυ-αίνω (§ 621 p. 159) like Skr. iṣ-an-āya-nta beside iṣ-an-yā-ti (§ 796 p. 332).

With Skr. pi-nv-āya-ti § 796 p. 332 may be compared the following. ἀγίνέω, beside ἀγίνω 'I lead, bring' for ἀγν-νφω*. ἔξιτει, beside ἔξιτε-ν for zgi-nuō*. See § 652 p. 187. Perhaps also δινέω 'I eddy' beside δίνω, and θυνέω 'I move wildly, storm' beside θύνω, see loc. cit.; but still these may be denominatives, derived later from δῖνο-ς and θῦνο-ς; θυνέω moreover may be identified with Skr. dhū-n-āya-ti (§ 796 p. 332). We are still quite in the dark whether -nu-éiō or -n-éiō (-ne-iō) is to be assumed for κινέω 'I move from its place' beside κτ-νν-μαι, βύνέω 'I stop up' beside βύνω and βύω fut. βύσω, βῖνέω 'coeo' beside Skr. ji-nā-ti 'overpowers, oppresses' partic. ji-tā-s.

πεκτέω beside πέκτω 'I comb', § 680 p. 212.

γηθέω beside γῆθομαι 'I am glad' seems to fall here along with Lat. gaudeō for gāvideō*, § 694 p. 223. μυννθέω (Hippocr.) beside μυνν-θω 'minuo'.

μνζέω (Hippocr.) beside μνζω 'I suck'. χρηέομαι (Chalc. χρηείσθω Boeot. χρειεῖσθῃ) and Gort. ληῖω (for ληέω*) beside χρηέομαι λήω* perhaps like Skr. pyāy-āya-ti beside pyā-ya-tē 'swells', see § 737 p. 263.

These forms in -εω are also found in association with present stems which have no special characteristic, as ἔλκείω beside ἔλκω 'I pull'.

Now comes the question — are all these forms with -εω to be brought into close connexion with the Idg. -éiō, and did they originally have an Intensive or Frequentative meaning? We saw in § 578 p. 119, § 756. 4 p. 275, that from the very earliest period non-present forms with an ē-suffix occur side by side with present forms which have no ē-suffix; as μελήσσει beside ἔχω: Skr. ut-sāhaya-ti 'helps some one to endure, strengthens, gives heart'. ποθέω 'I desire' beside θέσσεσθαι Avest. jaidye-iti √ ghedh- (§ 706 p. 234): O.Ir. no guidiu 'I pray' first for godiu*. στροφέω 'I turn round and round' beside στρέφω. τροπέω 'I turn, twist' beside τρέπω. ροφέω 'I swallow' beside Lith. sreb-iù √ srebh-; Lat. sorbeō seems to be an éio-form with weak grade of root, like jubeō Skr. gṛbhāya-ti, and others (§ 790 p. 323). βρομέω 'I hum, buzz' beside βρέμω. σκοπέω 'I watch, look at, ponder' beside σκέπτομαι. So perhaps ὀρχέομαι 'I hop, spring, jump, tremble, quake' beside ερχομαι 'I go'; in that case the word will be akin to Skr. ṛghayā-ti 'quakes, throbs'. ώθέω 'I push': cp. Skr. vadhaya-ti 'strikes down' Avest. vādaye-iti 'knocks back'; ώθέω will be equivalent to Skr. bādhaya-ti 'subdues', if in this word b is for v- (cp. p. 225 footnote 1).

Looking at these verbs in -εω from the Greek point of view only, it must be admitted that they mostly look like derivatives from substantives; cp. φορέω φόρος, ποθέω πόθος, στροφέω στροφή and so forth. However, it can hardly be doubted that they had their origin rather in this éio-class, in as much as the earliest verbs of the kind ended in -έιδ. After the Greek verb had lost the original Idg. accent (cp. § 527 with the Rem., p. 89), present stems in -έιδ and denominatives in -ε-ίδ were bound to run together.

ὀλιγο-δρανέω 'I am faint, weak' beside δρ-αίνω (§ 621 p. 159) like Skr. iṣ-an-aya-nta beside iṣ-an-yá-ti (§ 796 p. 332).

With Skr. pi-nv-aya-ti § 796 p. 332 may be compared the following. ἀγίνεω, beside ἀγίνω 'I lead, bring' for ἀγι-νfω*. ἐξίνει, beside ἐξίνε-ν for zgi-nxō*. See § 652 p. 187. πεκτέω beside πέκτω 'I comb', § 680 p. 212.

γηθέω beside γῆθουμαι 'I am glad' seems to fall here along with Lat. gaudeō for gāvideō*, § 694 p. 223. μινυθέω (Hippocr.) beside μινύ-θω 'minuo'.

μνζέω (Hippocr.) beside μνζω 'I suck'. χρηέομαι (Chalc. χρηεῖσθω Boeot. χρηεῖσθῆ) and Gort. ληῖω (for ληέω*) beside χρηόμαι λήω* perhaps like Skr. pyāy-āya-ti beside pyā-ya-tē 'swells', see § 737 p. 263.

These forms in -εω are also found in association with present stems which have no special characteristic, as ἐλκέω beside ἐλκω 'I pull'.

Now comes the question — are all these forms with -εω to be brought into close connexion with the Idg. -éiō, and did they originally have an Intensive or Frequentative meaning? We saw in § 578 p. 119, § 756.4 p. 275, that from the very earliest period non-present forms with an ē-suffix occur side by side with present forms which have no ē-suffix; as μελήσει ἐμίλῃσθε μεμέλῃκα beside μέλει, τυπτήσω beside τύπτω. It is therefore possible, that at first the only forms used were, say, ἔλκω ἔλκῃσω, πέκτω πεκτῃσω, and that it was only their ē-forms which brought these stems in contact with the ew-class, and produced ἔλκῃω πεκτέω.

§ 802. Italic. On the Latin present inflexion see § 788 pp. 318 f. The part. pass. ends sometimes in -i-tus, see § 789 p. 319.

We have already mentioned moneō, torreō, mordeō, tongeō, noceō, lūreō, foveō, and jubeō joungeō, see § 794 pp. 326 ff.

Besides these there are but few words which can with any certainty be called éiō-formations. spondeō, beside Gr. σπένδιω 'I pour a libation, offer it', mid. 'I make a solemn compact'. doreō, beside discō for di-tc-scō* (§ 678 p. 210), perhaps from the same root as decet, and identical with Gr. δοκέω (cp. Fick, Wtb. I⁴ 66, 452). roveō, although there are doubts as to its origin (cp. I § 428 c p. 316; Fick, Wtb. I⁴ 408; Osthoff, Morph. Unt. v 82). tondeō, beside Gr. τίνδω 'I bite' for τεμ-δω* (§ 695 p. 224). haereō: Goth. us-gáisja 'I frighten' properly 'I make stiff, or congeal'. Umbrian has tursitu tusetu 'terreto' tursiandu 'terreantur' from a pres. torséiō*, beside Lat. terreō Gr. ἐτρεσεν· ἐφόβησεν (Hesych.), all from √ter-s-, see § 657 p. 192.

The root syllable has a weak grade in: Lat. qu-eō, identical with Skr. śv-āya-ti, ci-eō, see § 790 p. 323; sorbeō beside Gr. ῥογέω, see § 801 p. 336; jubeō, parallel stem joungeō once found, see § 794 p. 329.

We should also add, it seems, the following: misceō, see § 792 p. 325; augeō, cp. Lith. augu 'I grow'; suādeō 'I make a thing acceptable to some one', cp. Gr. ἡδομαι § 690 p. 221.

Remark. It is hardly possible to prove that the éiō-formation became denominative in Latin as it did in Germanic and Balto-Slavonic, densceō 'I make thick' beside dēnsu-s is certainly not to be explained like Goth. fulljan beside full-s, and other such; tempting though it be to draw this parallel. See § 777 Rem. p. 301.

§ 803. Keltic. Only a few examples which are anything like certain.

We have already cited the following: O.Ir. for-tugim 'I cover over': O.H.G. decch(i)u 'I cover', √teg- § 791 p. 325; ad-suidim 'I prolong, postpone': Goth. satja 'I place', √sed- § 794 p. 328; no rāidiu 'I speak, say': Goth. rōdja (same meaning), ibid.; no guidiu 'I pray': Gr. ποθέω 'I desire, crave for', √ghedh-, § 801 p. 337. Further examples: do-luigim 'I let off, forgive' perhaps connected with legaim 'I fail, perish, go to pieces' (Thurneysen, Rev. Celt. vi 316). luadim im-luadim 'I set in motion' beside do-lod 'I went'. no-m-mōidim 'I boast, exult' beside miad 'pride, honour'. guirim gorim 'I heat, warm' from √gher-.

§ 804. Germanic. On the confusion of this type with other present classes see § 781.2 p. 306. The present inflexion in Gothic may be regarded as regularly growing out of the original one (I § 142 p. 125 f.); but in O.H.G. such forms as 2nd sing. denis (1st sing. denn(i)u = Goth. þanja) beizis (1st sing. beiz(i)u = Goth. baitja*) are a re-formation following hevis and suchlike (1st sing. heff(i)u = Goth. hafja), Class XXVI. The partic. pass. in pr. Germanic ended in -idā-, as Goth. fra-vardiþs stem -vardida-, nasīþs stem nasida- O.H.G. gi-nerit, see § 789 p. 319.

The class was productive, from proethnic Germanic onwards, in the Causal or Factitive use, where the primary verb has some simple meaning. Only a few examples, as O.H.G. decch(i)u 'I hide', still keep the Idg. Intensive or Frequentative meaning (§ 791 p. 324); but this meaning very early became so weak, that soon no difference was felt between the original verb and the secondary verb in -ēio-, for which reason the former was generally dropt altogether out of use.

Goth. varja O.H.G. weriu 'I hinder, guard': Skr. varāya-ti, see § 795 p. 330. O.H.G. zeriu O.Sax. teriu 'I destroy, tear to pieces': Skr. dārāya-ti 'makes burst, splits'. Goth. valja O.H.G. well(i)u 'I choose': Skr. pra-vārāya-ti, see § 794 p. 327.

Goth. uf-panja 'I stretch out' O.H.G. denn(iu) 'I stretch': Skr. ā-tānaya-ti, see § 794 p. 327. O.H.G. wenn(iu) O.Icel. ven (inf. venja) 'I accustom': Skr. sq-vānaya-ti 'makes inclined, accustoms to', √ uen- 'to like'. O.H.G. flouw(iu) 'I rinse' (2nd sing. flewis, cp. Braune O.H.G. Gr.² pp. 84, 253): Skr. plāvaya-ti 'floods, pours over', Serv. plovi-ti 'to make flooded', √ pley- 'flow, swim'. Goth. fra-vardja 'I bring to nought, destroy, disfigure', O.H.G. wert(iu) 'I destroy': Skr. vartaya-ti etc., see § 794 p. 327. Goth. marzja 'I hurt, vex', O.H.G. merr(iu) 'I hold back, hinder, disturb, mislead' (orig. 'cause any one to make an oversight'): Skr. mūrṣaya-ti 'looks after, carries off, lets alone' (mṛṣya-ti 'forgets, neglects, bears patiently'), √ mers- 'forget, take no notice of'. O.H.G. derr(iu) 'I make dry, wither up': Skr. tarṣāya-ti etc., see § 794 p. 327. Goth. ga-tarhja 'I mark out, blame': Skr. darśāya-ti 'shows', √ derk- 'see'. Goth. uf-rakja 'I reach up', O.H.G. recch(iu) 'I reach, stretch out' from √ reḡ- (Gr. ὀρέω). O.H.G. (h)rett(iu) 'I tear away, rescue': Skr. śrāthaya-ti, see § 794 p. 327. Goth. þrajja 'I run', beside Gr. τρέχω 'I run' (fut. τρέξομαι) from √ threkh-.) O.H.G. blecch(iu) 'I make visible, show': Skr. bhrajaya-ti, see § 794 p. 327. Goth. lagja O.H.G. legg(iu) 'I lay': O.C.Sl. loži-ti, see § 794 p. 327. Goth. þagkja O.H.G. dench(iu) 'I ponder, think': Lat. tongeō, see § 794 p. 328; the irregular pret. þahta dāhta partic. þaht-s gi-dāht* (variant gi-denkit) — for aō becoming ā see I § 214 p. 181 — arose on the analogy of the corresponding preterite of þugkja dunch(iu) (Goth. þahta etc.), which verb we have placed in Class XXVI (§ 722 p. 252); it is true þagkja may also be placed in this class, as it may come from tṛṅg-iō*, which would have a grade of root shown apparently in Osc. tangin-om 'sententiam' (not so Bartholomae, Bezz. Beitr. xvii 123). O.H.G. blent(iu) 'I darken, blind': O.C.Sl. blādi-ti 'to go astray', orig. transitive like

1) We must believe that the root is threkh-, not thregh- (I § 533 p. 406), because of O.Icel. þræll for þrǣx-ila-*. Then the Gothic verb, like fra-vardja and marzja, shows in its root-final the regular voiced consonant.

Mod.Sloven. bluditi 'to lead astray, deceive' (Miklosich, Vgl. Gr. II 437), $\sqrt{bhlendh-}$; cp. p. 327 footnote (1). Goth. us-láuhja O.H.G. ir-loub(i)u 'I allow': Skr. lōbháya-ti etc., see § 794 p. 328. Goth. káusja 'I taste, try': Skr. jōṣáya-tē, see § 794 p. 328. Goth. ráupja O.H.G. rouf(i)u 'I pick, pluck, tear out': Skr. rōpayā-ti 'makes a tear, breaks off', $\sqrt{reup-reub-}$ (I § 343 p. 270, § 469.7 p. 345). Goth. dráusja 'I make fall, throw', O.H.G. trōr(i)u 'I make trickle, shed', beside Goth. driusa 'I fall'. O.H.G. int-surebb(i)u 'I lull to sleep': Skr. svāpáyati, see § 794 p. 328. Goth. ga-vagja O.H.G. wegg(i)u 'I move': Skr. vāhaya-ti etc., see § 794 p. 328. Goth. us-vakja 'I wake up', O.H.G. wecch(i)u 'I wake': Skr. vājáya-ti 'excites, drives on', $\sqrt{ueg-}$. O.H.G. weiz(i)u weiz(i)u 'I give to know, show': Skr. vēdaya-ti, see § 794 p. 328; O.H.G. beiz(i)u beiz(i)u 'I cause to bite, corrode, bait': Skr. bhēdaya-ti, see § 794 p. 328; originally weiz(i)u weizis etc., beiz(i)u beizis etc., whence by levelling in both directions weiz(i)u weizis and weiz(i)u weizis, beiz(i)u beizis and beiz(i)u beizis etc. (cp. floz(i)u floz(i)u § 805). Goth. láisja O.H.G. lēr(i)u 'I teach', $\sqrt{leis-}$ 'learn'. Goth. satja O.H.G. sezz(i)u 'I set, place': Skr. sādáya-ti, see § 794 p. 328. O.H.G. heng(i)u 'I cause to hang, hang' beside O.H.G. hahu 'I hang' for harshu* (hiang gi-hangan). Goth. uf-hlōhja 'I make some one laugh', O.Icel. inf. hlōgja, beside Goth. hlahja 'I laugh' (pret. hlōh). O.H.G. fuog(i)u O.Sax. fōgiu 'I make fit, join, tie up': Skr. pāśáya-ti, see § 794 p. 329. O.H.G. gruoz(i)u gruoz(i)u O.Sax. grōtiu 'I address, speak to': Skr. hrādaya-ti, see § 794 p. 329.

§ 805. Where the éio-verb, and the primary verb from which it was formed, had come to have a different articulation in the final consonant of the root, through the action of Verner's Law (I §§ 529 f. p. 384 f. § 581 p. 434), the final of the éio-verb was very often in Gothic levelled back to match that of the other. Of the examples cited in § 804, the following show this change: Goth. -tarhja instead of -targja* following a lost tairha*, káusja instead of káužja* following kiusa, dráusja instead of dráužja*

= O.H.G. trōr(i)u following driusa, lāisja instead of lāizja* = O.H.G. lēr(i)u following lāis 'knows', -hlōhja instead of -hlōgja* = O.Icel. hlōge following hlahja.

The following éio-forms arose from present stems with some characteristic suffix (see § 792 p. 325).

O.H.G. hlein(i)u 'I cause to lean' trans. of hli-nē-m O.Sax. hli-nō-n, Class XII, § 605 p. 146.

O.H.G. scein(i)u 'I make visible, show' beside scīnu; swein(i)u 'I make disappear, diminish' beside swī-nu 'I disappear'; bi-swell(i)u 'I make swell, dam up' beside swīllu; scell(i)u 'I cause to sound, dash in pieces' beside scillu: Class XIII, § 614 pp. 151 f.

Goth. sagqja O.H.G. sench(i)u 'I make sink, push under' beside sigga; O.Sax. thengiu 'I complete' beside thīhu 'I thrive' for pr. Germ. perǝō*; O.H.G. meng(i)u O.Sax. mengiu 'I mingle, mix' beside a pr. Germ. mingō*; O.H.G. spreng(i)u 'I make burst, I burst' beside springu: Class XVI § 628 pp. 164 ff., § 634 pp. 170 ff. With these were associated éio-formations made from presents with a t-suffix and a nasal infix: Goth. vandja O.H.G. went(i)u 'I turn' from vinda $\sqrt{uei-}$; O.H.G. swent(i)u 'I make disappear, I annihilate' from swintu beside swī-nu, see § 634 p. 172, § 685 p. 216.

Goth. kannja 'I make know, inform', O.H.G. ir-chenn(i)u 'I make know, understand', beside kann kun-nu-m, Class XVII § 646 p. 183.

Goth. ur-rannja 'I make arise' O.H.G. renn(i)u 'I make run, or make run quickly', beside Goth. rinna; Goth. ga-brannja 'I cause to be burnt up, I burn up', O.H.G. brenn(i)u 'I make burn, I burn' beside brinna: Class XVIII, § 654 pp. 187 f.

Goth. ga-wasja O.H.G. weriu 'I clothe' (Goth. -wasja instead of -vazja*, see p. 342): Skr. vāsāya-ti, from u-es- (Class XIX) $\sqrt{eu-}$, see § 794 p. 329.

O.H.G. frōr(i)u 'I make freeze' beside friu-su, Class XX § 664 p. 197.

O.H.G. ir-lesk(i)u 'I cause to be quenched, I quench' beside ir-lisku, Class XXII, § 676 p. 208.

Goth. rōdja 'I speak, say' beside -rē-da: Skr. rādhaya-ti etc., see § 794 p. 329; O.H.G. flōz(i)u flōz(i)u Mid.H.G. vlætze vlæze 'I make flow, cause to swim off, to float (trans.)' (cp. weiz(i)u weiz(i)u § 804 p. 341) beside fliu-zu; Class XXV § 699 p. 225.

§ 806. Denominative ēio-verbs (see § 793 p. 326) are common. We have already given some examples found both in Germanic and in Balto-Slavonic (loc. cit.), to wit, Goth. fullja O.H.G. full(i)u 'I fill' from full-s 'full' and Goth. hūilja O.H.G. heil(i)u 'I heal' from hāils heil 'whole, healthy'. Other examples are: Goth. hāuhja O.H.G. hōh(i)u 'I make high, raise aloft' from hāuh-s hōh 'high'; Goth. ga-blindja 'I make blind' Engl. to blind (distinguish this from O.H.G. blent(i)u, see § 804 p. 340); Goth. ga-giuja 'I make living' from giu-s (cp. § 794 p. 330); O.H.G. sterch(i)u 'I make strong, strengthen' from starc 'strong'; fest(i)u 'I make fast, fortify' from festi 'fast'.

If Germanic did not inherit ēio-denominatives from pre-Germanic times, we have to turn for an explanation of their existence in this branch to those instances, where, connected with an old primary causal, there is some adjective having the same grade of root-syllable, as Goth. gramja O.H.G. gremm(i)u 'to provoke, make angry': O.H.G. gram O.Icel. gram-r 'angry, provoked'; Goth. hnáivja 'I lower, degrade' O.H.G. (h)neig(i)u 'I bend, incline, sink' tr.: Goth. hnáiv-s 'low, humble'; O.H.G. ga-fuog(i)u 'I make to fit, I join': ga-fuogi fitting, suiting'. Once these verbs came to be regarded as derived from the adjectives in question, it is easy enough at once to explain new forms like fullja.

§ 807. Balto-Slavonic. The original present system, -eiō -eiesi and so forth, is still represented by the Lith. v-ejù O.C.Sl. v-ŷja v-ija 'I wind, turn, twist', as we have already seen in § 788 p. 319. How the place of this series was usurped by Lith. -au -ai O.C.Sl. -ja -iši has been explained in § 789 pp. 321 f.

This type was very fertile in Balto-Slavonic; and we meet with both the original meanings, — the Causal, and the Intensive or Frequentative (§ 791 p. 324).

We may mention as further examples Lith. vartaũ vartý-ti O.C.Sl. vraštą vrati-ti, O.C.Sl. voljā voli-ti, pojā poji-ti, ložā loži-ti, maštā mači-ti, ljublją ljubi-ti, vožā vozi-ti, davljā davi-ti, Lith. isz-manaũ -maný-ti § 794 pp. 326 ff., Serv. plovi-m plovi-ti, O.C.Sl. blāždą blādi-ti § 804 pp. 339 f. Others are: O.C.Sl. morjā mori-ti 'to kill' (causal): Skr. mārāya-ti 'makes die, kills', √ mer-. Lith. daraũ darý-ti 'to make' beside deriũ 'I bargain, hire, am of use' (cp. Leskien, Der Ablaut der Wurzels. im Lit., 99), √ der-. Lith. ganaũ ganý-ti 'to tend (cattle), to pasture' O.C.Sl. gonjā goni-ti 'to drive' (freq.), √ ghen- 'strike'. Lith. ramaũ ramý-ti 'to soften, calm' (causal): Skr. rāmaya-ti 'brings to a standstill', √ rem-. Lith. žargaũ-s žargý-ti-s 'to stretch the legs apart' (freq.) beside žergiũ 'I stretch my legs'. Lith. praszaũ praszý-ti 'I ask, pray', O.C.Sl. prošą prosi-ti 'to ask, pray', √ prek-. Lith. láužau láužý-ti 'to break' trans. (freq.) beside láusztì 'to break' trans. O.C.Sl. buždą budi-ti 'to wake' (causal): Skr. bōdhāya-ti 'causes to awakes, wakes, makes aware', √ bheṇdh-. Lith. snaĩyo snaigý-ti 'to snow' (freq.) beside snik-ti 'to snow', √ sneigh-. Lith. szvaitaũ szvaitý-ti O.C.Sl. svēštą svēti-ti 'to make clear, light up' (causal), √ kueit-. O.C.Sl. bēždą bēdi-ti 'to compel': Goth. báidja 'I compel', √ bheṇdh-. Lith. maiszaũ maiszý-ti O.C.Sl. měšą měsi-ti 'to mix', √ meik-; the verb may just as well be derived from moikéiō*, moik-s-éiō* (Skr. mēkṣāya-ti cp. Classes XIX and XX, §§ 656 ff. pp. 190 ff.), or moik-sk-éiō* (cp. Lat. miscēō, see § 792 p. 325). Lith. sakaũ saký-ti 'to say', O.C.Sl. sočą soči-ti 'to point out': O.H.G. seggi(u) 'I say', √ seq- (Gr. ἐν-σπε Lat. in-sece). Lith. kasaũ kasý-ti 'to scratch' (freq.), √ qes- (O.C.Sl. česa-ti). O.C.Sl. toplją topi-ti 'to warm, beat' (causal): Skr. tāpāya-ti 'warms', √ tep-. O.C.Sl. točą toči-ti 'to make run, make flow, pour' (causal): Avest. tācayē-iti 'makes flow', √ teq-.

§ 808. New formation from Primary presents, in which a present root-extension of the éio-form has been handed down (§ 792 pp. 325 f.):

Class XVI §§ 635 ff., pp. 172 ff. — Lith. rāžau rāžy-ti 'to reach' (freq.) beside isz-si-rēszi 'to reach out, extend, resist', √ reḡ- (Gr. ῥέγω). Lith. grándau grándy-ti 'to shave, scrape' (freq.) beside gréndu gręsti 'to rub, scour', doubtless connected with O.Icel. krota 'to dig in, dig down' O.H.G. chraz-zōn 'to scratch'. O.C.Sl. lačq lači-ti 'to separate' beside lęka 'to bend', √ leq-. O.C.Sl. kraštq krači-ti 'to turn, twist' (freq.) beside kre(t)-nq 'deflecto', √ qert-. O.C.Sl. izū-saçq -sači-ti 'to make exhausted, dry up' Pol. w-sączy-ć 'to make trickle in' (causal) beside O.C.Sl. sęk-nq 'I dry up', √ seig-. O.C.Sl. trašq traši-ti 'to shatter' (freq.) beside tręsq 'I shatter', perhaps derived from tr-es- (Class XX, § 636 p. 174, § 657 p. 192).

Class XX, §§ 657 ff., pp. 191 ff. — Lith. tāsaũ tāsý-ti 'I pull or tear about' (freq.) beside tē-s-iũ, √ ten- (§ 794 p. 329). Compare too the above mentioned O.C.Sl. traši-ti.

Class XXII, §§ 670 ff., pp. 202 ff. — Lith. draskaũ draský-ti 'to tear about' (freq.) beside dreskiũ 'I tear' driskaũ 'I am torn'. Compare § 807 p. 344, on Lith. maiszy-ti O.C.Sl. měsiti.

Class XXV, §§ 688 ff. pp. 218 ff. — O.C.Sl. ražda radi-ti 'to consider, care for': Skr. rādhaya-ti etc., stem rē-dh-* (§ 794 p. 329). Lith. valbaũ valdý-ti 'to rule', beside veldu 'I rule', stem uel-dh-; skardau skardy-ti 'to shred, cut about' (causal) beside skėrdziũ 'I burst', stem sger-dh-; girdau 'I give to drink' (causal) beside geriũ 'I drink', stem ger-dh-; púdaũ 'I cause to rot' (causal) beside pūv-ũ 'I rot', stem pū-dh-. spráudaũ spráudy-ti (freq.) beside spráudziũ 'I push forcibly into an interstice', stem spreu-d-; száudaũ száudy-ti (freq.) beside száu-ju 'I shoot', stem skey-d-. With -dh- or -d-, uncertain which: maldaũ maldý-ti 'to beg' (freq.) beside mel-dziũ 'I beg'; skáldaũ skáldy-ti 'to split' (freq.) beside skelũ (skel-iũ*) 'I split', both trans. (skėl-du and skėl-dziũ 'I split' intrans.). Starting from verbs of this kind, the ending -dau -dy-ti became independent, like -dinu -din-ti, and was the type for others: spár-dau 'I kick' (freq.) beside spir-iù, gy-dau 'I heal' (causal) beside gy-jù 'I get well' (cp. Leskien, Der Ablaut der Wurzels. im Lit., 182 ff.).

Lastly, we may mention once again O.C.Sl. življā živi-ti 'to make alive' (causal), beside ži-vā 'I live', see § 794 p. 329.

§ 809. Denominative verbs in Lith. -y-ti O.C.Sl. -i-ti (see § 793 p. 326) are common. Examples found in both Germanic and Slavonic are O.C.Sl. plūni-ti 'to fill' and cēli-ti 'to heal', mentioned above (loc. cit.).

Lith. denominatives such as jū'stau jū'sty-ti, a class which is mixed up with the ā-denominatives, have been cited already § 782. 4 p. 310. Some more Slavonic exx. may be mentioned: pravljā pravi-ti 'to make right, direct' beside pravū 'right', oštrjā ostrī-ti 'to point, sharpen' beside ostrū 'pointed, sharp', divljā divi-ti sę 'to wonder' beside divo 'wonder', děljā děli-ti 'to divide' beside dělū 'part', darjā dari-ti 'to present' beside darū 'a present', měrjā mēri-ti 'to measure' beside mēra 'measure', kramoljā 'I disturb, confuse' beside kramola 'disquiet, noise, uproar'. It must also be mentioned that the Idg. denominatives from i-stems, ending in -i-ǵō, have run into this Class; see § 782. 5 p. 311.

A. STEMS IN -s- AND -so-.

I. Non-Thematic s-stems.

§ 811. Roots of the e-series appear in three vowel grades; and the original Idg. division of these grades was as follows.

The Indic. Act. Sing. had the ē-grade: as O.C.Sl. *věs-ŭ*¹⁾ Skr. á-vākṣ-am from √uegh-; whether ē in Lat. vēx-i-t is this ē unchanged, is doubtful. The Indic. Act. Plural and Dual, and the whole of the Indic. Middle, had the weak root: as Skr. á-vīt-s-i Gr. ἴσ-αν from √urid-. The Conjunctive had the e-grade: as Skr. pákṣ-a-t Gr. πέψ-ω from √peq-, Avest. var^s-a-itī Gr. ἐργ-ω from √uerḡ-. The Optative had the weak root; as Skr. mas-īya from √men-. With this ablaut compare Skr. indic. stáu-ti stu-mási stu-tē mārṣ-ti mṛj-ánti, conj. stáv-a-t mārj-a-t, opt. stuv-i-tá (§ 494 p. 55).

The Conjunctive stem of this s-aorist is identical with the Indicative stem of the XXth Present (Class; e. g. Skr. tāsa-t(i) and indic. tāsa-ti = Goth. pīnsa, Lat. (fut.) dīxō and indic. pret. dīxi-t dīxi-mus, so too the conj. Skr. áy-a-t and indic. áy-a-tē = Lat. eō (§ 489 p. 47, § 493 pp. 51 f.).

§ 812. Pr. Idg. Skr. kṣar- Gr. γθερ- 'cause to run off, make disappear' (cp. § 815. There are many deviations in Sanskrit and Avestic¹⁾ from the original distribution of these three vowel grades, as set forth in § 811.

The weak stem (as Skr. ta-s- from $\sqrt{\text{ten-}}$) is hardly found outside its original sphere; but no longer in the plural and dual indic. act., only in the Indic. Middle and the Optative: e. g. Skr. ā-dhiṣ-i dhiṣ-īya ā-gas-mahi mas-īya, Avest. a-mēh-maidī diṣ-yā-p. Irregular: Skr. 2nd sing. conj. mid. dṛkṣ-a-sē instead of drakṣ-a-sē*.

In Sanskrit the ā-grade (as tā-s-) spread from the Sing. indic. act. to the Plural and Dual; e. g. āchāntsur ājāiṣma ābhārṣtam following the sing. āchāntsam etc.; cp. ādharma instead of ādhi-ma* following ādha-m (§ 495 p. 55), spar-tam instead of spṛ-tam (§ 499 p. 62), and the like. But beyond this line Sanskrit has very few other examples of ā; one is mid. ā-yāts-i. In the Gatha dialect ā is quite restricted to its original sphere. But in later Avestic it has crept into naṣ-i-ma, if this be the optative to an indic. naṣ-em* (O.C.Sl. nēs-ū); cp. Bartholomae, Stud. idg. Spr., II 166.

The a-grade (as Skr. tā-s-) spread from the Conjunctive, where it is still the usual form in Sanskrit and Avestic, through the whole Indicative and Optative moods; and in particular it occurs with the weak stem; e. g. indic. 3rd sing. Skr. ā-mas-ta Avest. mas-ta opt. Skr. mas-i-māhi (variant, Avest. Gath. a-mēh-maidī Skr. mas-īya) following the conj. Skr. mās-a-tē, Skr. 1st pl. jñēṣ-mu (beside ājāiṣ-ma), Avest. Gath. 2nd pl. praōṣ-ta, 3rd pl. vērōgh-en; within the orig. sphere of the a-grade, Skr. ā-ras-am ā-yōkṣ-am.

§ 816. In Sanskrit, the 2nd and 3rd sing. indic. act. became identical by regular change (ājaiṣ = a-jāiṣ-ṣ* and a-jāiṣ-t*); and if a consonant preceded the aorist sign, the aorist sign was dropt as well as the personal ending (ārāik = a-rāikṣ-ṣ* and a-rāikṣ-t*), and sometimes this was done even to the root-final (á-čan = a-chānts-s* and a-chānts-t*). The inconvenience thus caused served to root the forms with -s-ī-ṣ -s-ī-t firmly in later Vedic, and these are the only ones used in classical Sanskrit (except bhāiṣ in the phrase mā bhāiṣ 'fear not'); e. g. á-jāiṣ-ī-ṣ -ī-t. These endings were borrowed from the siṣ-aorist (§ 839). For instance, áyāsiṣ-ṣ áyāsi-t belonged originally to the series áyāsiṣ-am áyāsiṣ-ma etc., next displaced 2nd and 3rd sing. áyās (which belonged to the 1st sing. áyās-am); and the relation between áyāsiṣ-ṣ -t and áyās-am produced ájāiṣi-ṣ -t beside ájāiṣ-am, ábharṣi-ṣ -t beside ábharṣ-am, and so forth.

1) Here we have to disregard Old Persian, from lack of material.

A few times the 2nd sing. in -aiṣ (for -āiṣ-ṣ*) produced a 3rd sing. in -ai-t, as ínāit by complementary analogy from ánāiṣ (nī- 'to lead').¹⁾ As this formation touched only roots with an i-vowel, it may be that the type was set by preterites like áj-ai-t beside áj-ai-ṣ from aj- 'agere' (§ 572 p. 114).

The Sanskrit grammars class under the s-aorist some forms of the 2nd and 3rd sing. which more properly belong to our Present Class I; such are á-kṛthās and á-kṛta, which by their structure belong not to á-kṛṣ-i á-kṛṣ-mahi but to á-kr-i á-kr-ata. The reason of this confusion was that in a certain number of consonantal roots the 2nd and 3rd sing. of both these series had become indistinguishable; e. g. áchitthās áchitta in the systems of á-chid-i (á-chēd-i) and á-chits-i both (cp. 2nd pl. áchantta for a-chānts-ta*, I § 557. 3 p. 413). Compare also the 2nd pl. ámugdheam from muc- 'to let go', which may belong equally well to the aorist stem muc- (precativ muc-iṣṭa) or to the aorist stem mukṣ- (3rd pl. mukṣ-ata).

§ 817. s-aorists from Roots with characteristic, or from Present Stems.

Forms with the suffixes -a-, -ē- -ō- have been cited in

1) Analogous formations outside the s-aorist are collected by Joh. Schmidt in Kuhn's Zeitschr. xxvi 403. Compare further 1st sing. achinam (Maha-Bh.) beside 3rd sing. a-chinat = a-chinat-t* from chid- 'to cut off'.

§ 813 p. 351; add to those Skr. á-yās-am conj. yās-a-t(i) from y-ā- 'to go', á-dhyās-am from dhy-ā- 'to think'.

With the suffix -ī- -āi- (§ 498 pp. 61 f.); Skr. á-grabh-ī- -š-am á-grah-āi-š-am beside á-grabh-ī-t á-grh-ī-tām from grabh- 'to seize' (§ 574 p. 116).

Skr. á-yuṣkṣ-mahi from yuj-, see § 813 p. 351. Skr. á-stamps-am beside stambha-tē 'fortifies or strengthens itself', ✓stebh-, see § 629 p. 166.

O.Pers. 3rd sing. a-kū-nau-š 'he made' a-durš-nau-š 'he durst' come from nu- presents (§ 640 p. 178). And so doubtless 3rd sing. -āiš 'he went' 3rd pl. -āiša arose in Persian itself in association with the present stem aī- (imperf. -āy-am), and is therefore not an orig. s-aorist as might be supposed from Skr. 3rd sing. mid. adhy-aiṣṭa (gramm.). The origin of these new forms lies perhaps in certain pairs of imperfect forms; 2nd sing. āiš* 3rd sing. āi*, 2nd sing. akūnauš* 3rd sing. akūnau* running parallel to 2nd sing. abara* 3rd sing. abara, 2nd sing. adadā* 3rd sing. adadā, and the like. If there were connected aorist forms such as 2nd and 3rd sing. a-nāiš* = Skr. á-nāiš, the above 2nd sing. in -š might easily be looked upon as an s-preterite, which its use for both 2nd and 3rd sing. suggested. After that, -āiš would be complemented by 3rd pl. -āiša.

§ 818. Armenian. So far no s-preterites have been found. Compare the remarks on the ç-aorist, § 672 p. 204.

'I kill', ἔνευα from νέω 'I divide'. ἔνευσ-α from νέ(φ)-ω 'I swim': Skr. mid. á-snōṣ-ṭa (gramm.). ἔπνευσ-α from πνέ(φ)-ω 'I blow, breathe'. ἔπερσ-α from πέρω 'I sack, destroy'. ἔτρεψ-α from τρέπω 'I turn': Lat. torsī for tores-ī* from torqu-eō. ἔγραψ-α from γράφ-ω 'I write', √gerph-. ἔφρασ-α from φράζω 'I give to understand, show' for φραδ-ιω*: Lith. 1st and 2nd pl. injunct. (fut.) gĩṛs-me -te from gĩrstũ 'I apprehend', √gherd-. βράζω· συλλαβεῖν (Hesych.) beside aor. βρακεῖν: Skr. á-mrākṣ-ī-t á-mārkṣ-ī-t from mṛśá-ti 'touches, grasps' (§ 527 p. 90). ἔσπεισ-α Cret. ἔσπευσ-α from σπένδω 'I offer, pour'. ἔπεισ-α from πείθω 'I persuade', √bheidh-; ἔπεισιν instead of ἔφεισα* like Skr. á-dukṣa-t instead of á-dhukṣa-t, which is also found (§ 659 p. 195). ἔγευσ-α from γένω 'I give to taste', √gēus-. εὔσ-α from εὔω 'I burn': Lat. ussī from ūr-ō, √aus-. ἔγλυψ-α from γλύφω 'I incise, engrave'. ἔ-ζεσ-σα εἴσασα from ζέ(σ)-ω 'I boil, bubble'. θέσσαντο for θετσ-* from θέσσεσθαι 'to beseech', √ghedh- (§ 706 p. 234). ἔ-δεξ-άμην δέκτο for δεκσ-το* from δέχομαι 'I receive'. ἔ-κλαυσ-α from κλαίω 'I weep' for κλαφ-ιω*. ἡσ-άμην ἄσ-μενος from ῥῥδομαι 'I rejoice': Lat. suās-ī from suād-eō. ἔ-πηξ-α πήκτο for πηκσ-το* from πῆγνυμι 'I fix' √pāḱ- pāḡ-. ἔ-δησ-α from δέ-δημι 'I bind', √dē-.

§ 820. The α which is seen after σ came from the 1st sing. in -σ-α and the 3rd pl. in -σ-αν (whence, by complementary analogy, -σας -σα-τε -σα-ο etc.). According to Osthoff, Perf. 407, α is regular also in -σαμεν -σαμεθα -σαιμεν, which endings he derives from -s-ḡmen* and so forth. The 3rd sing. in -σε properly belongs to the thematic conjugation; ἔ-δειξ-ε is like Skr. á-dikṣa-t Lat. dīxi-t (see § 833). The 2nd and 3rd sing. εδειξ* = ε-δεικ-σ-ς* and ε-δεικ-σ-τ* were dropt for clearness; and it was the perfect forms (λέλοιπε : λέλοιπα) that caused a thematic form to take root in the 3rd singular and nowhere else.

The Conjunctive in Homer and elsewhere still shows the thematic vowel, as τείσσο-μεν, instead of which we have later τείσσω-μεν (§§ 914, 923). We have already seen (§ 747 p. 269) that the indic. fut. in -σω was in all probability partly the conjunctive of the s-aorist; compare further in § 833.

The optative in -σαιμι is a re-formation on the analogy of the optative in -οιμι; see § 944. On forms like δείξιεναι, see § 836.

The Participle Active shows in all its cases -σαντ-; see II § 126 pp. 399 f., and IV § 1099. 6.

Even before α had spread by analogy in the system of the σ-aorist, σ had dropt between a root-final consonant (explosive, liquid, or spirant) and a personal ending with consonant initial (I § 566 p. 423). Some forms of this kind lasted into the historical period: Hom. λέκτο 'laid itself' for λεκσ-το*, imper. λέξο for λεκσ-σο*, partic. -λέγμενο-ς for λεκ(σ)-μενο-ς*, beside ἔλεξα ἐλέξατο; ἔμεικτο 'mixed itself' for ε-μεικσ-το*, ἐμείχθης for ε-μεικ-σ-θης* (§ 589 p. 130), beside ἔμιξα; πάλτο for παλσ-το*, beside ἔπηλα; ἄρμενο-ς for αρσ-μενο-ς*, beside ἤρσα.

In forms like ἴστησα ἔδησα ἔμνησα ἐτίμησα ἐμίσθωσα (§§ 819, 822), σ seems to have been due to the analogy of consonantal stems, as ἔτερυα ἐκήρυξα (cp. I § 564 p. 420), just as στέγω τείρω got their σ by analogy of τέρωω κηρύξω (§ 755 p. 274). But σ drops, as it should, in ἦδεα for ε-Feideσ-a* (§ 836).

Remark. El. ἰποίηα has not kept unaltered the Idg. sounds. It is far more likely that σ disappeared in Elean itself; in the same way the change of σ to h in Lac. ἐνίκαι and Argive ἰποίφη belonged to these dialects separately.

The question might be asked whether the σ of ἔμνησα ἔμνησαν may not have returned to them unweakened at some time when the forms ε-μνασ(-ς)* ε-μνασ(-τ)* ε-μνασ-τε* ε-μνασ-τον* existed; just as ἦσαν (beside Boeot. παρ-εἶαν) got back its σ by analogy of ἦστε ἦστον ἦσθην. I put the counter question, why we have ἦδεα, not ἦδσσεα. It cannot be made probable that this es-formation was found in the singular only — if so, the state of things would differ widely from the s-aorist.

§ 821. The pr. Idg. differences in root-gradation (§ 811 p. 348) were largely levelled out in Greek.

Often the vocalism of the whole aorist was decided by the Present; and we saw in § 748 p. 270, that where this dependence upon the present stem is seen, the σ-future always goes along with the aorist. Compare ἔγραψα ἔγλυψα ὤμορξα ἔστιξα ἔσχισα ἔπηλα (for *ἔπαλσα) with γράφω γλύφω ὁμώργνυμι στίζω σχίζω πάλλω, but ἔτερψα ἔδειρα (for *ἔδερσα) ἔστειξα ἔφθειρα (ἔφθερσα) ἔστειλα (ἔστειλσα) beside τέρω δέρω στείχω φθείρω στέλλω. Thus there is no ground for believing that, say, ἔσχισάμην inherited from the parent language its grade σχισ- (cp. Skr. áchitsi), or that the conj. δέρω inherited *δερσ- (cp. Skr. dárṣ-a-t).

The vocalism is independent of the present in ἔτρεσσα beside τρέω, or ἔδειξα beside Cret. -δείκνῃτι (Att. δέικνυσι), amongst other examples. The ε of these forms was carried right through the aorist system. However, it need not come exclusively from the Conjunctive; η may have been shortened to ε in the indic. ἔδειξα ἔτρεσσα, and in ἔξευξα ἔπλευσα ἔκερσα etc., by the rule laid down in vol. I § 611 p. 461. In this case ἔξευξα would be equivalent to Skr. áyāukṣam. This shortening cannot have taken place in the 1st sing. ἔμεινα ἔνιμα for pr. (Gr. *ἔ-μενσ-α *ἔ-νεμσ-α, as is proved by Lesb. μῆν-ός Att. μῆν-ός (see loc. cit.). But it may have come about in the 2nd and 3rd sing., at a time when these took the forms *ἔ-μηνσ(-ς) and *ἔ-μηνσ(-τ), etc. On this view, the old vowel gradation must have been kept, or undergone nothing but regular change, in the conj. act. and mid. δείξω δείξομαι and in the sing. indic. act. ἔδειξα; while there has been analogical influence in the plural and dual indic. act., and in the whole of the indic. middle, ἐδείξαμεν etc., ἐδείξάμην etc.

Survivals of the original weak grade are ἴσαν, ἦσαν for *ἡψιδαν¹⁾ beside λεισάμην, Hom. ἔστασαν beside ἔστησα, ἄσμενος beside ἡσάμην ἡσαοθαι (Lat. suāsī).

1) On ἴσαν Dor. 1st sing. ἴσαμι etc., which are due to the analogy of ἴσαν, see § 863.

§ 822. Many σ-aorists come from roots with characteristic, or from present stems of different kinds (usually these have a similar σ-future associated with them).

(1) Forms with Reduplication. ἰδίδαξα from διδάσκω 'I teach' for δι-δακ-σκω* Class XXIII (fut. διδάξω). ἐτίτηνα from τιταίνω 'I stretch' for τι-ταν-ιω* Class XXVII B. Hom. τέτρηνα from τε-τράινω 'I bore', cp. ἔξηνα under (2). Hom. ῥῖξα Att. ῥῖξα from ῥάισσω 'I rush wildly' for ῥαι-ῥικ-ιω*, ἐποίησα from ποι-φύσσω 'I blow, snort', ἐποίησα from ποι-πνύω 'I puff, pant' Class XXVII A (fut. αἰξω ῥξω etc.).

(2) With a Nasal Suffix. ἐκλῖνα, ἐξηνα for ἐ-κλινσ-α*, ἐ-φανσ-α*, from κλίνω 'I bind' for κλι-ν-ιω, φαίνω 'I cause to appear' for φα-ν-ιω*. ἐξηνα for ἐ-ξανσ-α* from ξάινω 'I scratch, comb' for ξ-αν-ιω*. ἔφηνα from ύφ-αίνω 'I weave' (on the ā of ύφ-αίνα see the Author, Gr. Gr.² 58 p. 71, Solmsen, Kuhn's Zeitschr. xxix 66 f.). For these presents in -ν-ιω and -αν-ιω see under Class XXIX § 743 pp. 265 f. The aorists were formed on the analogy of ἔκτεινα from κτείνω, ἐπηλα from πάλλω, and so forth (§ 611 p. 150). The futures of these are κλινῶ φανῶ ύφανῶ, § 757 p. 276 f.

Remark. αὔηνα for *(ι)-αυσ-αι-σα should be compared with the Lith. 1st and 2nd pl. injunct. (fut.) saušs-t-s-me -te. But these forms are not equivalent. For saus-η-s-, which may be the ground-form of the Lith. aorist stem, would become auš-ασ- in Greek. The Greek aorist was built upon the present, at a time when -η-ιῶ had become -αν-ιω (-αινω).

(3) With Nasal in the root (cp. § 813 p. 351 f.). ἐπλῆγξα from πλάζω 'I strike, beat' for πλαγγ-ιω* Class XXIX: Lat. plānx-ī. ἐκλάγξα (fut. κλάγξω) from κλάζω 'I make a sound, cry' for κλαγγ-ιω* Class XXIX and beside κλαγγ-αίνω Class XIV. ἔσφιγξα (fut. σφίγξω) from σφίγγω 'I bind, tie' Class XVI. See § 621 p. 158, § 628 p. 166, § 631 p. 167, § 744 p. 266.

(4) Later group of Denominatives. Following ἔκτεινα: κτείνω, ἐπηλα: πάλλω, ἔστειλα: στέλλω, ἐπληξα: πλήσσω, ἔσφαξα: σφάζω were formed ωνόμηνα from ὀνομαίνω 'I name', ἐτεκτηνάμην from τεκταίνωμι 'I carpenter' (ἔσήμενα beside ἐσήμενα like ύγᾶνα, see above), ἔγγειλα from ἀγγέλλω 'I announce', ἐκρόγξα from κηρύσσω 'I proclaim', ἤρπαξα from ἀρπάζω 'I seize', ἐσάλπιγξα from σαλπίζω 'I sound the trumpet' (for *σαλπιγγ-ιω), ἐτέλεισα Att. ἐτέλεσα from τελέω -ω 'I finish' (for *τελεσ-ιω). The futures are ὀνομιανῶ τεκτανοῦμαι ἀγγελῶ like πτενῶ etc., but κηρύξω ἀρπάξω σαλπίγξω τελέσω like πληξῶ etc. Compare § 756.3 p. 275.

Many analogical changes took place in the aorist forms from presents in -ζω, because these represent both -δ-ιω and -γ-ιω; e. g. ἤρπασα instead of ἤρπαξα following ἐδίκασα (δικάζω for -αδ-ιω), and ἐδίκασα instead of ἐδίκασα following ἤρπαξα. The ending -ξα became very common for δ-verbs in Doric and the N.-W. Greek dialects. The σ-future followed suit.

(5) σ-aorists from stems having the suffixes -α-, -ε- or ο go back to the pre-Greek period. To those cited in § 813 p. 351, add the following: ἔμνησα Dor. ἐμῆσα from mn-ā- √ men- 'think, mean'; ἔβησα Dor. ἐβᾶσα from g-a- 'to go' (§ 497 Rem. p. 57); ἔζησα ἔζωσα from gī-ē- gī-ō- √ gei- 'live'; ἔχορσα from χο-η- 'to give an oracle'. Amongst dissyllabic aorist stems with these suffixes, those in -η-σ- take a prominent place; as ἐμέλησε from μέλει 'it is a care', ἐθίλησα from θίλω 'I wish', ἐδέησα Hom. Aeol. ἐδεύησα from δέω Hom. Aeol. δεύω 'I lack, need', with which were associated forms made from present stems with some characteristic, as καθιζήσας from ἵζω 'I place' for si-zd-ō*, ἐτύπησα from τύπ-τω 'I strike', χαίρησα from χαίρω 'I rejoice' for χαο-ιω*, ὤσθησα from ὤζω 'I smell' for ōd-ιω*. With these go similar futures, as μνήσω βήσομαι μελήσει, see § 750.1 p. 271, § 756.1 p. 275.

(6) Along with the forms mentioned under (5) go the aorists of later denominatives, as ἐτίμασα Ion. ἐτίμησα, ἐφίλησα, ἐμίσθωσα, ἐδάκρυσα, ἐκόνησα. See § 756.5 p. 276, § 773 p. 290, § 813 p. 351.

§ 823. Italic. Three Italic categories fall here.

(1) Forms of the perf. indic. ending in -s-t (to the building up of which a great many things have gone, see § 367). We have already mentioned dēmpsī prōmpsī serpsī

torſi mulſi viſi dīxi uſſi vēxi cōxi -rēxi -lēxi plēxi suāſi jouſi juſſi, jūnxi ē-mūnxi plānxi; §§ 812, 813. Other examples are: mānſi from manedō. tempſi from temnō. miſi (mīxi?) and mīnxi from mingō √ meigh- 'to stale': Gr. ὠμιξα (i ?), Lith.
 1st and 2nd pl. injunct. (fut.) mīsz-me -te. scripsī from scribō.
dī-viſi from dī-vidō. frīxi from frīgō: cp. Skr. á-bhrākṣ-am á-bhārṁṣ-am (gramm.) from bhṛjjá-ti (cp. § 524 p. 87). dūri from dūcō. clepsī from clepō: Gr. ἐκλεψα from κλέπ-τω
 'I steal'. pēxi from pec-tō: Gr. ἐπεξάμην from πεκ-τέω 'I comb'.
cōn-spēxi from -spiciō. ges-sī from gerō for gesō*. auxī from augeō: Lith. 1st and 2nd pl. injunct. (fut.) áuks-me -te from áuğu 'I increase'. haesī for haes-sī* from haereō. With internal nasal (cp. jūnxi etc., above): O.Lat. nīnxi-t from ningui-t √ sneigh- 'snow': cp. Gr. ἐννεψε (ēntψε). distīnxi from distinguō: cp. Gr. ἐστιξα from στιζω 'I prick, pierce'.
sānxi from sanciō beside sacer.

In the paradigm of dīxi there is not one form which can be held with any safety to be regularly derived from one of the unthematic forms of the pr. Idg. s-aorist. We cannot connect the 1st sing. with Skr. mid. kṛ-ṣ-ē beside á-kṛ-ṣ-i (§ 656
 p. 191), because of its past meaning. It is as impossible to prove that -imus in dīx-imus represents a proethnic -h₂mos*, as it is to prove that -αμεν in ἐ-δείξ-αμεν represents -h₂mmen* (§ 820 p. 356). The short forms of the 2nd pl., e. g. dīxtis accestis exclūstis, may, it is true, be regarded one and all as s-aorist forms (cp. Stolz, Lat. Gr.² p. 372 footnote 3); but on the other hand there is nothing against the traditional view, namely, that they are contractions of dīxistis accessistis ex- clūsistis (cp. Osthoff, Perf. 216 ff.).

I would suggest that before the s-aorist had been drawn into any close connexion with perfect forms like tu-tud-i and with aorists like fid-i-t, some thematic forms had intermingled themselves amongst the non-thematic forms of the s-aorist, just as happened in other branches of Indo-Germanic (§ 833).
 I regard as thematic aorist forms, originally with secondary personal ending, dīxi-t and dīxi-mus (cp. Skr. á-dikṣa-t á-dikṣā-ma, Gr. ἄ-δικῆται, O.C.Sl. jeso-mŭ), whose ending is equivalent to that of fid-i-t fid-i-mus; then between pret. vīsi-t vīsi-mus and present vīsi-t vīsi-mus there was the same relation as between pret. scandi-t and pres. scandi-t (the preterite forms originally had a secondary personal suffix). If aorists of this kind came to have the same syntactical value as perfect forms such as totondit totondimus, then dīx-ī fid-ī might be made on the model of totond-ī. To this group were attracted vīdistis vīdistī, which really belong to the is-aorist (possibly vīderunt also, see § 1023), and on the model of them sprang up dīxistis dīxistī dīxerunt (§ 841).

§ 824. (2) The Conjunctive with -e- -o-, and the Optative with -ī-.

Lat. dīxō dīxim: Gr. δέξω. axim: cp. Gr. ἄξεται § 833. empsim, in-cēnsim, capsō capsim, ob-jexim, faxō faxitur faxim, oc-cīsim, ausim. Conj. dīxō beside indic. pres. vīdō indic. pret. dixi-t dīxi-mus, like Skr. conj. tāsa-t(i) beside indic. pres. tāsa-ti pret. (á)-tāsa-t, see § 833.

The Umbr.-Osc. s-future is also a similar conjunctive (on the disappearance of the conj. vowel, see I § 633 p. 474, § 655.5 p. 503 and the remarks on the ending -e-d of the 3rd sing. perf. in § 867.7 below). Umbr. fust fust Osc. fust 'erit' Umbr. 3rd pl. furent: cp. Gr. ἐφύσα etc., § 812 p. 350. Umbr. pru-pehast 'ante piabit'. Osc. deivast 'iurabit', censazet 'censebunt'. Compare the future with -es-, Umbr. ferest Osc. pert-erest § 837. The ending of the 3rd pl. Umbr. -ent(i) stands for -onti*, see § 1022 at the end.

(3) Conjunctive with -ē- (§ 926 b). Osc. fusid 'foret', cp. § 812 p. 350. Lat. essem, cp. Gr. fut. ἔσομαι. Lat. ferrem vellem essem con-derem (✓ dhē-) darem stārem, see § 812 pp. 348 f. With the root-suffixes -ā-, -ē-: in-trārem hiārem flārem nārem arārem iuvārem, -plērem nērem flērem vidērem tacērem; then denominatives as plantārem claudērem finīrem. See § 813 p. 351. Pelign. upsaseter 'operaretur' or 'operarentur'.

Compare the forms with -es- Lat. agerem viverem, Osc. patensíns for patenesēnt* § 837.

This ē-conjunctive from the s- and es-aorist was very closely connected in Latin with the Infinitive in -se for -s-i* (loc. sing.); e. g. esse ferre in-trāre -plēre plantāre claudēre finīre. The same sort of thing occurs in Aryan and Greek; as Skr. inf. ji-ṣ-ē beside indic. á-jāiṣ-am (mid. á-jiṣ-i*), inf. ṛñj-ás-ē beside indic. ṛñj-as-ē part. ṛñjas-aná-s, Avest. inf. a nāš-ē (to make away with) beside nāš-t-ma (§ 815), Gr. δεῖξαι μνησθαι τιμῆσαι κοῦσαι beside δεῖξα etc. The infinitives belong to nominal s-stems (II § 132 pp. 414, 416, 418, § 162 pp. 489 f.), and are a proof of the etymological sameness of the s-suffix in the verb and in the noun; see § 655 p. 189, § 834.

§ 825. As regards the relation of the vocalism in the root-syllable of the Italic s-forms to that of the parent language (§ 811 p. 348), all is obscure.

The vocalism has been influenced by non-aorist forms in many words; e. g. mulsī beside mulgeō mulctum, torsī beside torqueō tortum, compared with tersī beside tergeō (tergō) tersum. Sometimes the aorist goes along with the to-participle, and is different from the present; ussī : ustu-s, but ūrō; dī-vīsī : dī-vīsu-s, but -vidō; howbeit, mīsī is different from missu-s.

Whether ē in -lēxī tēxī vēxī rēxī in the Idg. ē of O.C.Sl. těchŭ Skr. ádhaḥkṣam, is doubtful in the extreme. It appears to have been imported from forms like lēg-i beside partic. lēc-tu-s, and suchlike. coxī (for quexī*) like Gr. ἐνεπα, cp. partic. coctu-s (for quectu-s*).

As regards forms like serpsī dāxī (for deix-) it must be remembered that ē may have been shortened to e as set forth in vol. I § 612 p. 462, serps- for sērps-* and so on.

§ 826. Keltic. In Irish the only indic. forms we have are the 2nd and 3rd sing., but without augment, and therefore really injunctive. The 2nd sing. is only used as a conjunctive (or hortative), the 3rd sing. both as conj. and future. Examples: 2nd sing. comēir 'raise thyself' for cóm-ecs-recs-s* beside con-ērgim 'I raise myself': Gr. ὤρεξα. 2nd sing. tair 'veni' for tó-air-incs-s*, 3rd sing. tair 'veniat' for -incs-t*, co-tī 'donec veniat' for t(o)-incs-t* beside -icim: cp. Skr. pret. mid. ákṣ-i beside pres. ákṣa-tē from aś-nō-ti 'reaches' (§ 659 p. 194). for-tē 'subveniat, iuvet' for -steics-t* beside tiagim 'I step, go' (for-tiagim 'I come to the help'), √ steigh-: Gr. ἔσται^{-α}; perhaps by contamination of -tē with the conjunctive tēis (see below) arose -tēi, which is used as equivalent to -tē. do-n-fē 'let him lead us' for -vets-t*!) beside fedim 'I bring, lead': Lith. vėsme etc., see § 812 p. 350.

In all persons the Conjunctive is used with conj. meaning, and more rarely as a future. Examples: — from tiagim: sing. 1st pres. -tias 2nd -tēis 3rd (abs.) tēis tēs, pl. 1st -tiasam 2nd -tēsīd 3rd -tiasat. On account of the relation between absolute and conjunct inflexion in the present, arose the new forms sing. 1st tiasu 2nd tēisi, pl. 1st tēisme 2nd tēsīt. Other instances: no tes 'effugiam' from techim 'I flee': O.C.Sl. těch-ŭ from teka 'I run, flee': at-resat 'surgent' from at-reig 'raises itself', cp. comēir above; co n-dārbais 'ut demonstres' from du-ad-bat 'demonstrat' (pass. -badar); ma fris-tōssam 'si abiuraverimus' from tongaim 'iuro'.

Again, the so-called t-preterite comes in here, as far as it was derived from the 3rd sing. mid. of the s-aorist in -s-to*; say do-bert 'he brought' for -ber-s-to*, celt 'celavit' for cel-s-to*, ro-anacht 'he protected' for anek-s-to*. See § 506 p. 72 f.

§ 827. Germanic. A survival of the s-aorist is conjectured in O.H.G. scri-r-un 'they cried' opt. scri-r-i (part. pret. gi-scri-ran) beside pret. sing. srei 'he cried' pres. inf. scrian 'to cry'; -r- = pr. Germ. -z-, see I § 581 p. 434. Later on, this r-formation got into the verb spiwan 'to spew', the participle being changed from ge-spiwen to ge-spiren (but, vice versa, O.H.G. 3rd pl. er-scrincun follows spiurun). See

1) The long vowel in -fē is not due to Compensatory Lengthening, but to the fact that monosyllables bearing the chief accent, and ending in a vowel, were all lengthened in Irish (III § 440. 2 p. 373).

Joh. Schmidt, Kuhn's Zeitschr. xxv 599 f.; Kluge, Paul's Grundr. i 375. But this view of scirum is very questionable; see G. Holz, Urgerm. geschloss. 2, pp. 47 f.; and Zarncke in P.-B. Beitr. XV 350 ff.

A few s-aorist forms have perhaps contributed to the system of the weak preterite, as Goth. vissa O.H.G. wissa 'he knew', whose plurals wissum wissut wissun may be compared with Gr. ῥοῦρ. Compare § 907.

§ 828. Balto-Slavonic.

In Lithuanian, we find the 1st and 2nd plural and the 1st and 2nd dual injunctive used with future meaning. They have run into one paradigm with the future in -siu (§ 761 p. 278), and in certain dialects appear side by side with the future in -sime -site and -siva -sita. As the Lith. future could be used hortatively in the 1st and 2nd persons, there is the less reason for surprise at this commixture of the injunctive with the future in -sio-. In addition, the 3rd sing. in -s appears to belong to our s-aorist, at least partly. If, for example, we assume that -s comes from -st, it is easy to understand the vowel shortening in būs (1st sing. būsiu) ris (1st sing. rýsiu) gaūs (1st sing. gáusiu) and the like, of which more is said in I § 664.3 p. 523. Then we may compare the use of the future in general statements as kàs vòks nepralòps 'the thief never grows rich' with the similar use of the injunctive in Greek (§ 909.1). And further, this view of the 3rd singular is favoured by the Prussian forms, used exclusively as conjunctive, boūsai (boūsei boūse) 'be he, be they', and the like, which cannot be separated from Lith. su-gausai beside su-gaūs etc., whose -ai moreover is the same affix as we see in tasaĩ beside tàs 'the, that' (§ 999). This would be making bās* for bā-s-t* prothetic Baltic.

O.C.Sl. s-aorist forms of this group are the 2nd and 3rd sing., plur., and dual; as sing. ję ję, pl. jęste jęse, dual jęsta jęste; but the 1st persons are thematic (jęsū jęsomŭ jęsově); see § 833.

Of s-forms preserved in both branches we have mentioned in § 812 gĩs-me -te from genù 'I hunt, drive' O.C.Sl. po-žę from žin-ją 'I cut, harvest', Lith. im̃s-me from im̃u 'I take' O.C.Sl. jęs-ũ from im̃ą 'I take', Lith. pl̃aus-me from pl̃áu-ju 'I rinse' O.C.Sl. pluch-ũ from plov-a 'I swim, sail', Lith. pa-bũsme from pa-bundũ 'I awake' O.C.Sl. bljusũ from bljudą 'I guard, protect, take care', Lith. ṽesz-me from vežũ 'I drive' (trans.) O.C.Sl. ṽės-ũ from reza 'I drive' (trans.), Lith. ṽes-me from vedũ 'I lead' O.C.Sl. ṽės-ũ from ved-a 'I lead', Lith. d̃eks-me from deg-ũ 'I burn' (trans. and intr.) O.C.Sl. žachũ from žeg-a 'I burn' (trans.), Lith. ės-me from ėd-mi ėd-u 'I eat' O.C.Sl. jas-ũ from jam̃i 'esse', Lith. d̃ės-me from de-d-ũ 'I lay' O.C.Sl. d̃ech-ũ from d̃e-ja 'I lay', Lith. sp̃ės-me from sp̃e-ju 'I have leisure' O.C.Sl. sp̃ech-ũ from sp̃e-ja 'I get on, have success', Lith. d̃ũs-me from d̃ũdu 'I give' O.C.Sl. dach-ũ from dam̃i 'I give', Lith. st̃ós-me from st̃ó-ju 'I tread' O.C.Sl. stach-ũ from sta-na 'I place myself', Lith. b̃ús-me from b̃ú-ti 'to be' O.C.Sl. bych-ũ from by-ti 'to be', Lith. g̃ýs-me from gy-jũ 'I revive, get well' O.C.Sl. žich-ũ from ži-va 'I live'. Forms with -a-, -ē-, and denominative forms in § 813: Lith. pa-vyd̃esme from pa-výd-žiu 'invideo' O.C.Sl. vid̃echũ from vižda 'I see', Lith. lank̃ós-me from lank̃ó-ju 'I try to make soft or malleable' O.C.Sl. lak̃ach-ũ from lak̃a-ja 'I cheat, deceive'.

§ 829. Lithuanian. Besides the examples given in § 828 others were given in §§ 812 and 813, as m̃ilsz-me from m̃el̃ž-u 'I milk', s̃ės-me from s̃ėd-u 'I place myself, sit', ž̃iós-me from ž̃iό-ju 'I open my mouth', g̃ud̃ēs-mē-s from g̃ud̃ē-jũ-s 'I am greedy', j̃ūkũ's-me from j̃ūkũ-ju 'I play, sport'.

The vocalisation of the root in the forms under § 812 is always that of the sio-future. There is no trace left of the Idg. vowel gradation (§ 811 p. 348).

From present stems with internal Nasal: j̃unks-me from j̃ung-iu 'I put in the yoke', sk̃ųs-me from sk̃ünd-žiu 'I lament' (cp. § 761 p. 278), to be compared with Skr. á-yunak̃ś-mahi Lat. j̃unc-ī. From presents in -inu -enu: saũs̃s-me from saũs-inu 'I make dry', gab̃ės-me from gabe-nũ 'I push something forward, help it on' (cp. § 761 p. 278), to be compared with Gr. αἴτῃ for (ē-)σασ-αν-σα* (§ 822. 2 p. 359), and again with O.C.Sl. vrìgnach-ŭ, granting the correctness of the hypothesis offered in § 615 Rem. p. 154.

§ 830. Slavonic. Some examples were given in § 828, and more in §§ 812 and 813; as po-sluchŭ from -slu-jā 'I hear', orach-ŭ from or-jā 'I plough', rŭděch-ŭ from rŭžda 'rubeo', cělěch-ŭ from cělě-jā 'I get well'. On the aorist in -nāch-ŭ, as vrìchnuchŭ from vrìg-nā 'I throw', see § 615 p. 154 and § 829.

The general question of the s-aorist inflexion has been discussed in § 829 p. 366. In the 2nd and 3rd sing. -s and -s-t dropt entirely by rule, which gave forms like ję the look of a preterite of our Ist Present Class, those like znu ora rŭdě the look of preterites of Present Class X, and denominatives like laka the look of preterites without -jō- such as Gr. Lesb. ἐρίτῃ (for -ā-t*). Probably, however, some of these forms really are what they look like; for instance bě 'eras, erat' may come from Idg. bhŷ-ē-s* -t as well, and da 'thou gavest, he gave' may also come from Idg. dō-s* -t.

With roots in a consonant, the 2nd and 3rd sing. are found only when this root-final was a nasal, r, or l; as ję (jęsŭ), žrě and žrĭ (žrěchŭ for žerchŭ* and žrĭchŭ from žĭr-ā 'I devour, offer'), kla (klachŭ for kolchŭ* from kol-jā 'I slay'); otherwise the thematic aorist without s was used, as 2nd and 3rd sing. teče beside těchŭ těchomŭ etc. The reason is that these roots were the only ones which according to the laws of Slavonic did not drop their final consonant.

The 2nd and 3rd sing. often add -tŭ, the ending of the 3rd sing. pres.; as pri-jętŭ instead of -ję, bitŭ instead of bi (bi-jā 'I strike'), u-mrětŭ instead of -mrě (u-mĭrā 'I die'); dastŭ instead of da following dastŭ 'dat'. This addition came up first in the 3rd sing. aorist, and then went on to the 2nd sing. because the two persons had the same form. Compare imper. jaždĭ both 2nd and 3rd sing. § 949, and again Skr. 2nd and 3rd dual cakr-āthur -ātur § 1038.

§ 831. From what was said in § 811 p. 348 on the Idg. gradation of the root syllable, it follows that ē is original in such forms as vēsū nēsū téchū réchū (reka 'I say'), and the a = Idg. ō in basū (boda 'I pierce', cp. Lat. fodiō fōdī); the long vowel was originally confined to the singular. Since a long vowel before i, u, liquid, or Nasal + Consonant was shortened, as laid down in vol. I § 615 p. 465, the same vowel-grade may be assumed for forms like bich-ū (bhēi-s-*), cisū (cīta 'I count, reckon, honour', cp. Skr. cāits-), po-sluchū (Skr. śrāuṣ-), mréch-ū for merch-ū* (mīra 'I die', mēr-s-*), orés-ū for vers-ū* (vríz-a 'I tie', cp. Lith. 1st and 2nd pl. injunct. ceřsz-me -te from verž-iū 'I tie', ✓uergh-), mēs-ū (męta 'I stir up').

Where the root syllable has a weak grade, this is always seen in the infinitive stem as well, so that we are not justified in assuming that it comes from the Idg. weak form of the plural and dual active. E. g. žřich-ū (also žřech-ū) beside žřī-ti (also žřē-ti), klach-ū for kolch-ū* beside kla-ti for kol-ti* from qf- like Lith. káls-me -te (§ 726 p. 256), krych-ū beside kry-ti 'to cover' as contrasted with Lith. kráus-me kráu-ti.

§ 832. Roots ending in a consonant also make aorists with the ending -ochū in O.C.Sl.; e. g. beside nēsū: sing. nesochū, pl. nesochomū nesoste nesošę, dual nesochovę nesosta nesoste. The W.-Slav. languages have -ech etc. instead of S.-E.-Slav. -ochū etc. The conjecture as to this inflexion offered in vol. I § 110 p. 105, and supported now by Jagić, is untenable (Arch. slav. Phil., x 175, 191). It is far more likely that this is some peculiar Slavonic growth; probably a transformation of the aorist without s (nesū) on the analogy of the s-aorist. The relation of the 2nd and 3rd sing. děla to the 2nd pl. dělaste 2nd dual -asta 3rd dual -aste first caused the 2nd and 3rd sing. nese to change its forms nesete -eta -ete into neseste -esta -este, as the former were the same as those of the present. Next, nesochomū nesochovę may have arisen beside nesomū nesovę, and by and by the 1st sing. nesochū completed the group. Then differences were levelled out, the West-Slavonic in all consistency putting e- in all persons (nesech etc.), while the other branch took -o-, and changed neseste to nesoste etc. A different view is taken by Wiedemann, Beitr. zur altbulg. Conj., 109 f.

II. Thematic s-stems.

§ 833. The forms which fall under this heading belong to our XXth Present Class. They have been partly given in §§ 657 ff., and the only reason for reverting to them here is that they are very intimately connected with the non-thematic s-aorist.

(1) Indicative. In Sanskrit, as we saw in § 659 p. 194, the use of the thematic vowel with the s-aorist was conditioned by the form of the Root, as á-mṛkṣa-t; but non-thematic inflexion is also found, as á-dikṣ-i beside á-dikṣa-t from diṣ- 'to show, point', á-drākṣ-am beside á-dṛkṣa-t from dṛṣ- 'to see', á-srākṣ-am á-sṛkṣ-i from sṛj- 'to free'. O.Pers. niy-apīšam 'I wrote' seems to be similar to á-dikṣ-a-m, see loc. cit. above. An Avestic thematic form is a-saša-p from sarəh- (kens-) 'speak', with strong root.

In Greek, the 3rd sing. act. was thematic from the pro-ethnic stage; e. g. ἔ-δειξε, see § 820 p. 356. In the Epic dialect this is true of other persons, as ἔξε-ξ ἔξο-ν beside ἔξο-μαι 'I will come', ἔ-βῆσι-το beside ἔ-βῆσ-α fut. βήσο-μαι from g-a- 'go' (see Curtius, Verb II² pp. 307 f.). Perhaps these latter forms arose partly by analogy of the 3rd sing. in -t, and partly by that of thematic forms of the imperative (see below).

Remark. The Att. ἔπενον 'I fell' ἔχενον 'cacavi' do not come in here. They got their σ from the fut. πέσομαι χέσομαι. See F. Hartmann, De aor. sec., 66; Wackernagel, Kuhn's Zeitschr. xxx 313 ff.; the Author, Gr. Gr.² p. 169.

Latin. Aorists of this sort are forms like dixi-t dixi-mus, see § 823 p. 361. These forms were related to the conj. (fut.) dixō and to the opt. dixim just as Skr. á-bhakṣa-t to conj. bhákṣa-t, and Gr. ἔ-βησε to conj. βήσο-μεν.

Irish. Mid.Ir. seiss 'has seated himself, sat' and 'sits' for setse-t* from $\sqrt{\text{sed-}}$, cp. Skr. conj. sáts-a-t Gr. indic. $\xi\sigma\sigma\alpha$. From seiss as used for the present upsprang a redupl. pret. siassair 'he sat' for se-(s)ess-* (Thurneysen, Kuhn's Zeitschr. xxxi 99), to be compared with Skr. na-nákṣ-úr from nák-ṣa-ti 'reaches' and others (§ 659 p. 194).

In O.C.Slav. the 1st persons are thematic, as ješŭ jeso-mŭ jeso-vě. On the ch of dachŭ trŭchŭ etc., see I § 588.1 and 2, pp. 442 f.; on the Idg. sound-groups ks and qs in něsŭ (nesa) and rěchŭ (reka), see ibid., and § 414 p. 303. The s-type spread into the ch-series, and thus we have forms like jachŭ jachomŭ instead of jasŭ jasomŭ (ground-form ětso-*, $\sqrt{\text{ed-}}$ 'to eat'), as also in the 3rd pl. jaše instead of jase.

(2) Imperative. Aryan and Greek forms come in here. Ved. 2nd sing. nēṣa, cp. conj. nēṣ-a-t(i) from nī- 'to lead'; parṣa, cp. conj. pārṣ-a-t(i) from par- 'to bring over, transfer'; mid. 3rd sing. rāsa-tām 3rd pl. rāsa-ntām, cp. conj. rās-a-t(i) from rā- 'to give'. Avest. 3rd pl. janəhe-ntu, cp. conj. Gath. jəṇgha-itī from jam- (gem-) 'to go'. Gr. Ep. $\omicron\lambda\epsilon\omega\ \omicron\lambda\omicron\sigma\epsilon\tau\omega$, cp. fut. $\omicron\lambda\sigma\omega$ 'I will carry, or bring'; $\omicron\psi\epsilon\theta\epsilon$ (sing. $\omicron\psi\epsilon\omega$ in Hesych.), cp. fut. $\omicron\psi\omicron\mu\alpha\iota$ 'I shall see'; $\alpha\zeta\epsilon\tau\epsilon\ \alpha\zeta\epsilon\sigma\theta\epsilon$, cp. fut. $\alpha\zeta\omega$ 'I will lead'; $\xi\mu\text{-}\beta\eta\sigma\epsilon\omega$, $\lambda\acute{\epsilon}\xi\epsilon\omega$ and others. These Greek imperative forms were adduced in § 747 p. 269 to support the theory that the σ -future, at least in part, has grown out of the conjunctive of the s-aorist. I admit that the parallel σ -conjunctives of Aryan and Greek, with which the imperative forms went very closely, belong to the non-thematic indicative with s. But I must remind my readers of the formal identity of the Skr. conj. tās-a-t(i) and the indic. tq-sa-ti Goth. -pinsa. Imperative forms with a genuine personal ending are really Injunctive, and these have been used in the parent language and ever since both for the Indicative and for the Conjunctive (wish, futurity); see § 909. Compare § 854, on the imper. perf. Skr. mumōc-a-ta Gr. $\kappa\epsilon\chi\omicron\acute{\alpha}\gamma\text{-}\epsilon\text{-}\tau\epsilon$.

(3) Participle. Skr. dhīṣa-māṇa-s Avest. dīše-mna- beside Avest. 2nd sing. indic. dāiš from dhī- 'to notice'. Avest.

xšnaoše-mna- beside 3rd pl. injunct. xšnaošēn from xšnu- 'to join oneself to, comply with'.

B. STEMS IN -es-, -əs-, AND -īs-.

§ 834. Between -s- and what is usually called the Root there often appears -e-, -o-, or -i-. We have -e-s- in Aryan, Greek,¹⁾ Italic, perhaps Keltic; -ə-s- in Aryan, Greek, perhaps Keltic; -i-s- in Latin (-ī-s- in Sanskrit). In view of the connexion of verbal forms with -s- and noun-stems with -s- (§ 655 pp. 189 f., § 824 p. 363), we may identify Gr. ῥειδεσ-* in εἶδε-α ῥῖδε-α with ῥειδεσ-* in gen. εἶδε-ος, 2nd sing. mid. ἑ-πελάσ-θης with adv. πέλας, Skr. mid. á-rōciṣ-ṭa with neut. rōciṣ-, 3rd pl. á-jāriṣ-ur with Gr. γῆρας, and Lat. vīdis-tis may be compared with cinis Gr. θέμω (II § 134 pp. 425 f.). The same intermediate vowels occur in the s-future: Gr. τενέω τενώ, πελάω πελώ, Skr. rōciṣya-tē, see § 749 ff. pp. 271 ff.

Special vowel-grades for the root-syllable, as in the s-aorist (§ 811), cannot be made out for the parent language; and regard being had to the variants -e-s-, -ə-s-, -i-s-, which undoubtedly must often have been interchanged by form-transference, we might expect without further argument an intricate ablaut in the root syllable. The commonest grade in historical times is the e-grade (1st Strong Grade), as μειδ- in Skr. vēdiṣ- Gr. εἶδε(ν) Lat. vūlis-, gem- in Skr. gamiṣ- Umbr.-Osc. benes-; cp. the s-future Skr. haniṣya-ti Gr. θενέω etc.

As regards the tense, or kind of action denoted, we must observe that whilst the s-stems described under (A) are prevaillingly aorist, so that we must regard this as fairly representing the proethnic use, these -es- -əs- and -is- stems do not have the aoristic use anything like so often in proportion; for instance, Skr. arcas-ē Gr. ῥῖδεα never had it. The verbsuffix -s- therefore, in all its forms, had originally nothing at all to do with tense. This explains the mass of instances in all sorts of languages where s runs right through the verb (cp. the s-verbs, in §§ 656 ff.). Hence it happens that even where s does not go through a verb, s-forms often enough have no aorist meaning, as in Gr. εἰδ-εσ- (ἤδεα εἰδέω εἰδείην). It certainly cannot be proven that here the meaning conveyed was originally aorist. Here again we see how useful it would be if we could keep Verb Morphology quite free from terms borrowed from Syntax (cp. § 484 pp. 33 ff.).

1) I no longer regard e in Gr. ῥῖδεα as representing Idg. a. See p. 271 footnote 1.

I. es-stems.

§ 835. There are no es-preterites in Aryan. But we may refer once more to the presents cited in § 656 pp. 190 f., Skr. v-ās-te (Gr. ἐπί-εσται) arc-as-ē Avest. rārah-anah-ōi etc.

§ 836. Greek. ἤδεα εἶδεα 'I knew', served for a preterite to οἶδα 'I know', cp. O.Ir. ro-fetar 'I know' with -es- or -is- (§ 838), Skr. á-vēdiṣ-am with -as-, Lat. vīdis-tis with -is-; conj. Ion.-Att. εἰδέω εἰδῶ (2nd sing. εἰδέης εἰδῆς 3rd pl. εἰδέωσι εἰδῶσι by transfer to the ē: ō- conj.)¹⁾ and (Hom.) ἰδέω, cp. Skr. vēdiṣ-a-t Lat. vīder-ō, opt. εἰδεῖμεν for fειδ-εσ-ι-μεν* sing. εἰδείην, cp. Lat. vīder-ī-mus vīder-i-m.

Hom. ἦτα (unless it be properly ῆτα — see below —, the form in our texts is ῆτα) Att. ῆεν 'I went', imperf. and aor. preterite to εἶμι, ground-form ēi-es-ḡ*, cp. Umbr. conj. (fut.) eest est 'ibit' for ēi-es-e-t(i)*, Skr. mid. áy-iṣ-ṭa (gramm.), Lat. iis- (i. e. ēi-is-*) in iis-tis ier-ō ier-i-m. As in pr. Greek ῖ dropped between sonants, ῆεν (which should be ῆεν*) must have got its iota subscript from ῆμεν etc. (§ 502 p. 64); and it becomes a question whether the Homeric form should not be read ῆτα. If Hom. εἶην is to be recognised for an optative of εἶμι (see Curtius, Verb II² p. 99), it is natural to derive it from ἐ(λ)-ε(σ)-κη-ν*.

1) On the forms εἰδῶ εἰδέης in the text of Homer, see W. Schulze, Kuhn's Zeitschr. XIX 251.

Remark. G. Mekler's theory (Beitr. zur Bild. des Gr. Verb., 69 ff.), that ἤδεα comes from ἤφειδεκα*, an aorist of the verb εἰδέω, is untenable. See Wackernagel, Phil. Anzeiger 1887 pp. 240 f.

ἐ-κορέσ-θης (stem κορεσ- 'to satisfy') ἐ-στορέσ-θης (stem στορεσ- 'sternere') come in here as the 2nd sing. mid., if we may venture to assume that they helped to form the θην-aorist (§ 589 pp. 129 f.). On ἐκόρεσ(σ)α ἐστόρεσ(σ)α, see § 842.

Furthermore, the future in -έω, as κορέω τενέω, if it be a conj. of the es-aorist and not for -εσ-κω (§ 747 p. 269). The difference in the use of this future and εἰδέω is explained because εἰδέω was bound fast to the indic. ἰδέα.

-es- in Greek has been borrowed by perfect stems, as πεποίθ-ια πεποίθεν beside πέποιθα 'I believe', ἐστήκειν beside ἔστηκα 'I stand', ἐτετίμῃκειν beside τετίμηκα 'I have honoured' (side by side with the old perf. preterites like ἐπέπιθμεν ἔσταμεν γεγάτην); the same with -is- in Latin, as totondis-tis totonder-ō totonder-i-m. I incline to think that this transfer is independent in Greek and Latin, πεποίθεα following εἶδεα and totondistis following vidistis; but some hold that it took place before the original language broke up. The matter is discussed by Mahlow, Kuhn's Zeitschr. xxvi 583; the Author, Ber. d. kgl. sächs. Ges. d. Wiss., 1883, pp. 178 f.; Thurneysen, Bezz. Beitr. viii 274; and others. How obvious this re-formation was can be seen from Irish, where in later times the perfect was very largely transformed on the analogy of the s-preterite, as tānacus 'I came' instead of tānac.

In the Indicative, -εα -εας -εε(ν) became in Ion.-Att. -η -ης -ει(ν). Then -ει(ν) by complementary analogy produces Att. -ειν -εις, cp. ἦν 'eram' instead of ἦα ἦ § 502 p. 65. The 3rd pl. was -εσαν in older Attic; this followed -εσ-τε* -εσ-τον* -εσ-την* as ἦσαν followed ἦστε etc. (§ 1021). -εσαν similarly caused the forming of -ιμεν -ετε, which are the endings of old Attic. The endings -ειμεν -ειτε -εισαν are first found at a late period; so it can scarcely be allowable to derive -ειμεν from -εσιμεν*, which has to be postulated for proethnic Greek. Probably -ei- came in from the singular.

A Greek new formation is doubtless the opt. δειξίαν, for -σ-εσ-χαν*, which, on the analogy of the indicative, produced δειξίαιας -ειε; similarly Skr. á-yā-s-iṣ-am (§ 839) and Lat. dīx-is-tis dīx-er-ō dīx-er-i-m (§ 841). Compare §§ 944 and 1021. 1.

§ 837. Italic has nothing but Conjunctive forms.

(1) o-Conjunctive used as future in Umbr.-Osc. (cp. fust § 824 p. 362). Umbr. eest est 'ibit' for ei-es-e(ti)*: Gr. ἔειν § 836; ferest 'feret', an-penes 'impendes'. Osc. pert-ermet 'perimet'. The same future could be made from present stems with some characteristic, as Osc. didest 'dabit' beside Vestin. di-d-e-t 'dat' (§ 553 p. 107), to be compared with Skr. mid. á-dad-iṣ-ṭa beside dá-dā-ti dá-d-a-ti; Umbr. heries 'voles' heriest 'volet' beside heris 'vis' Osc. heriad 'velit' (§ 706 p. 233, § 716 p. 249).

(2) ē-Conjunctive in Latin and Umbr.-Oscan (cp. Lat. es-s-e-m Osc. fu-s-í-d, § 824 p. 362).

Lat. ager-e-m ager-ē-s: cp. Skr. 3rd pl. ájiṣ-ur. unguer-e-m: cp. Skr. áñjiṣ-am. merger-e-m: cp. Skr. á-majjiṣ-am. oiver-e-m: cp. Skr. á-jīviṣ-am. I think it more likely that forem comes from fu-es-ē-* (I § 172. 3 p. 152), than from fu-s-ē-*; it therefore belongs to -bō for fūō*, as agerem to agō. The same formation is made from characterised present stems; as sisterem from si-st-ō, jungerem from jung-ō √ jeug- (cp. Skr. ññj-as-ē § 656 p. 191, āindh-iṣ-ṭa § 839), sternerem from ster-nō, gnōscerem from gnō-scō.

Umbr. ostensendi 'ostenderentur' for -tendes-ē-ntēr* (§ 1082. 1). Osc. herríns 'caperent' for heres-ē-nt* from a pres. herō*, patensíns 'aperirent' for patenes-ē-nt* from a pres. patenō* (§ 622 p. 159).

§ 838. Keltic. O.Ir. ro-fetar 'I know' 3rd sing. ro-fítir for uid-es-* (I § 521 p. 379, and Thurneysen Kuhn's Zeitschr. xxxi 62 f., 98): Gr. ἴδεια conj. Hom. ιδέω beside εἰδέω, § 836 p. 373. I conjecture that ro-fetar originally meant 'I have learnt', hence its present meaning 'I know', cp. seiss § 833 p. 370. The phonetic rules however permit of another derivation, from uid-is-*, in which case it would come near to Lat. vīdis-tis.

II. əs-stems.

§ 839. Aryan -īs- in Sanskrit and in the Gatha dialect of the Avesta.

In the Gathas we find three forms. 1st sing. conj. xšnev-īs-a from xšnu- 'to attach oneself' (cp. xšnao-še-mna- § 833 p. 371), indic. mid. civ-īs-ī civ-īs-tā from ku- 'to look away to something, to hope'; ī is probably to be read ī, as often.

The formation is common in Sanskrit. As regards the 2nd pl. mid. in -idhvam, as ājanidhvam, it is to be noted that -idh- is due to the analogy of the other persons which have -iṣ- instead of -īdh-* = -iṣdh-* (I § 591 pp. 447 f.).

Usually with e-grade (1st Strong Grade) in the root. ā-star-iṣ-am from star- 'to strew'. 2nd sing. mid. kṣaṇ-iṣ-θas from kṣan- 'to wound'. 3rd sing. mid. yām-iṣ-ṭa from yam- 'cohibere'. 2nd dual cay-iṣ-ṭam from ci- 'to put in layers, collect'. 3rd sing. mid. ā-nav-iṣ-ṭa from nu- 'to praise'. ā-dharṣ-iṣ-ur from dharṣ- 'to be brave, dare'. Conj. jambh-iṣ-a-t from jambh- 'to snap at'. ā-śas-iṣ-am from śas- 'to praise'. 3rd pl. mid. ā-bōdh-iṣ-ata, conj. bōdh-iṣ-a-t from budh- 'to awake, notice'. 3rd sing. mid. ā-sah-iṣ-ṭa opt. sah-iṣ-ī-māhi from sah- 'to subdue'. 3rd pl. āj-iṣ-ur from aj- 'agere'.

Other grades of root. ā-bhār-iṣ-am from bhar- 'to carry'. ā-tār-iṣ-am conj. tāriṣ-a-t opt. tāriṣ-ī-mahi from tar- 'to carry across, pass through'. 3rd pl. mid. (pass.) ā-nāy-iṣ-ata from nī- 'to lead'. Opt. idh-iṣ-ī-mahi from idh- 'set afire'. Opt. gm-iṣ-īya from gam- 'to go'.

As the root of 2nd sing. mid. pūr-iṣ-θas (par- 'to fill') shows it to have been based upon verbal forms like pār-dhí, so also the iṣ-aorist is often made from a characterised present stem. 3rd sing. mid. ā-dad-iṣ-ṭa beside dā-da-ti da-d-a-ti from dā- 'to give' (cp. Osc. didest, § 837. 1 p. 374). 3rd sing. mid. āindh-iṣ-ṭa opt. indh-iṣ-ṭya (also idh-iṣ-) beside in(d)dhē pl. indh-ātē from idh-, ā-dṛh-iṣ-am beside dṛh-a-ti from darh- 'to make firm' (cp. Lat. junger-e-m § 837. 2 p. 374). āips-iṣ-am beside īp-sa-ti from ap- ap- 'to attain', 1st sing. mid. jijñās-iṣ-i beside jī-jñā-sa-tē from jñā- 'to learn'. 3rd pl. mid. ā-hlāday-iṣ-ata beside hlād-aya-ti causal of hlād- 'to refresh, give life to', 2nd sing. mid. pyāyay-iṣ-ṭhas beside pyāy-āya-ti causal of pyā-ya-tē 'swells' (§ 796 p. 333). Compare 1st sing. pres. mid. gāy-iṣ-ē beside gā-ya-ti 'sings' (§ 656 p. 191).

The origin of the siṣ- aorist is like that of the latter group of forms. 3rd pl. ākṣiṣ-ur beside pres. ak-ṣa-tē (§ 659 p. 194) and beside aor. āk-ṣ-i (§ 655 p. 189) from aṣ- aṣ- 'to attain'. hāsiṣ-am beside pres. hā-sa-tē (§ 659 p. 195) and beside aor. ā-hā-s-am (§ 814 p. 353) from hā- 'to go, yield'. 3rd sing. mid. ā-bhasiṣ-ṭa (gramm.) beside pres. bhā-sa-ti (aor. ā-bhās-i-t, gramm.) from bha- 'to shine'. Compare the fut. ākṣiṣya-ti bhāṣiṣya-tē § 750. 2 p. 272. So again ā-jñā-siṣ-am beside ā-jñā-s-am (cp. Lat. gnōri-tur), ā-gā-siṣ-ur conj. gā-siṣ-a-t beside 1st sing. mid. gā-s-i from gā- 'to sing', ra-siṣ-am beside 3rd sing. mid. ā-ra-s-ta from ram- 'to be quiet'. Compare with these siṣ- aorists, which had not become common in Vedic, Gr. ἰεῖξται § 836 p. 374, and Lat. dixis-tis dixer-ō dixer-i-m, § 841.

Remark. In Ms. of the Veda occur forms with -ṣiṣ- instead of -siṣ-, as pyā-ṣiṣ-i-mahi. This shows the same phonetic change as ṣuṣ-ka-s for suṣkā-s* I § 587. 4 p. 413. Compare Whitney, Am. Journ. Phil. vi 277; Bloomfield and Spieker, Journ. Amer. Or. Soc. xiii 118.

The 2nd and 3rd sing. of the aorists with -iṣ- and -siṣ- ended regularly in -i-ṣ and -i-t, as ā-stari-ṣ -t beside ā-stariṣ-am, ā-yāsi-ṣ -t beside ā-yāsiṣ-am. The original endings must have been -iṣ(-ṣ)* and -iṣ(-t)*. That of the 3rd sing. is still seen in injunctive forms like ariṣ-ṭ-u (§ 909), and the influence of the 2nd sing. can be made out in aorist forms such as ā-jay-i-t (§ 574 p. 115). -i-ṣ i-t cannot be got out of -iṣ-ṣ* and -iṣ-t*. They rather belonged in origin to our IXth Present Class, and were not sigmatic aorist at all; ā-star-i-t is like ā-rōd-i-t á-brāv-ī-t (§ 574 p. 116). As á-star-ī-t is to stara-ti, so is á-has-ī-t to hā-sa-tē, and á-bhās-ī-t to bhā-sa-ti.¹⁾ These forms in -īš -īt took the place of astariš ahasiš (2nd and 3rd sing.) because it then became possible to distinguish the persons; then -īš and -īt drove -iš -it out of the field altogether. Compare ī instead of i in á-dhī-mahi, mṛ-ṇī-mās and the like § 498 p. 62. How -siš -sīt passed afterwards from the siš-aorist to the s-aorist, see in § 816 p. 354.

§ 840. Greek. Here -ασ == -əs- is found only in such verbs as use the s-suffix outside of the aorist stem. Attention should be called to the future in -αω, if it was conj. of the σ-aorist (§ 747 p. 269, § 757 pp. 276 f.), and the indic. 2nd sing. in -ασ-θης, if it had a share in originating the θην-aorist (§ 589 pp. 129 ff.). E. g. κρεμάω ἐκρεμάσθης from κρεμιω- 'to hang' (κρεμασ-τό-ς) beside κρεμα- (κρέμα-μαι κρεμά-θρα), κεράω ἐκεράσθης from κερασ- 'to mix' (κερασ-τό-ς κεκέρασται), σκεδάω ἐσκεδάσθης from σκεδασ- 'to scatter' (σκεδασ-τό-ς ἐσκέδασται). On the σσ-aorists ἐκρέμασ(σ)α ἐκέρασ(σ)α ἐσκέδασσα, see § 842.

In Keltic, -əs- may be looked for in the s-preterite of the 1st and 2nd Conjugations, as O.Ir. ro-charus Mid.Cymr. cereis 'I loved'. For the Britannic dialects only -ās(s)- and not -as(s)- may be assumed. 3rd sing. O.Ir. ro-char for -caras-t*, 2nd sing. depon. -asser for -as-thēs + r* (Thurneysen, Idg. Forsch. 1 463). Also found, pl. ro-charsam -charsid -charsat for carassomo(s) *carassete carassont(o). Thurneysen, who sends me this explanation of ro-char, throws out the question whether ss did not come from forms in which st originally was: the 2nd pl. caras-te* became carasse*, this was enlarged to carassete* by adding the usual ending of the 2nd pl., and then by analogy carassomo(s)* etc. May we venture to suggest a parallel with the relation of Gr. ἐ-κρεμάσ-θης (see above) and ἐ-κρέμασσα (§ 842)?

1) Jackson believes that he has found an Avestic 2nd sing. of this kind in frā-dāhiš Yt. 3. 2, from ✓dā- (Proceed. Am. Or. Soc., Oct. 1889, p. CLXV).

III. īs-stems.

§ 841. In Latin, -is- appears in the inflexion of the perfect stem. Indicative only -is-tis -is-ti and -erunt, if the last is for -is-ont(i)* (§ 1023); Conjunctive (fut. perf.) -erō -erimus for -i-s-ō* -is-i-mus*: Optative (conj. perf.) -erim -erimus for -is-ī-*, and in the late-born pluperf. with -eram = -is-a-m*. vidis-tis: cp. Skr. vēdiṣ- Gr. είδ-(o)-; iis-tis for ēis-* eī-is-*: cp. Skr. ayiṣ- Gr. ἔει-(o)-. liquis-tis, fūdis-tis vīcis-tis. And doubtless fūgis-tis rūpis-tis jūvis-tis (juv- for dīngu-*, beside Lith. džiaugią's 'I am glad') with ū = Idg. eu. vertis-tis scandis-tis. Also scābis-tis cāvis-tis, fōdis-tis and lēgis-tis vēnis-tis may come in here, the last two to be compared with Gr. γῆρας (§ 834 p. 371).

Remark. Since so many kinds of forms have contributed to the Latin perfect (§ 867), it is impossible to restore with any certainty the proper vowel grades of the root. As regards z, for instance, in the system of lēgi; (1) this may have come from lējis-tis as suggested, (2) lēgimus may follow the analogy of sēdimus for se-zd-*, as Skr. pētīmā follows sēdimā (§ 471 p. 16), (3) lēg-i vēn-i may be non-thematic, like Goth. qēm-um Skr. sāh-vās- (loc. cit.), or (4) lēgi-t may = pr. Ital. lēg-e-d*, and be a thematic preterite form related to lēgi-t as Gr. μῆτε-ται to μῆδε-ται, Skr. sāha-ti to sahā-tē (§ 480 Rem. p. 28, § 514 p. 81).

Phonetic law forbids our assuming that -es- has been weakened to -is- in vidis-tis (vidis-sem § 842); cp. scelestu-s capessō and the like. It is not a sufficient explanation to say that -e- became -i- because of -imus, or that the relation of amāmus : amāssem produced vertissem beside vertimus (Bartholomae, Bezz. Beitr. xvii 112). Nothing is left but to hark back to Idg. -i-s-.¹⁾ In § 834 p. 371 we compared cini-s Gr. θίμ-σ-. Compare further áf-i-σ- in ἐνάισ-το-ς ῆισ-(σ)α from áíω 'I hear' for ǎfíσ-ω* and in αἰσ-θέν-σθαι beside Skr. áv-a-ti 'regards, favours',¹⁾ ǎf-ι-σ- in αἰσ-θω 'I breathe out' beside ǎio-ν (doubtless for ǎfíσ-ο-ν*) beside ǎ(f)-η-μι 'I blow, breathe', variant stem ǎf-εσ- in ἄσθμα (αἰσ-θω : ἄσ-θμα = Lat. vīdis- : Gr. εἰδε(σ)-). Further, ἀλ-ίσσο-μαι ἀρ-αρ-ίσκω beside ἀρ-ίσ-κω (§ 673 p. 206). Lastly, Skr. á-grah-i-ṣ-am, where I hold -i- to be merely an ablaut variant of the -i- now under discussion. If, as we must assume, it was in proethnic Latin that -is- spread from the verbs to which it properly belongs to all others, then according to I § 33 p. 33, -er- in vīderō etc. must be derived in all instances from -is-. Thus e. g. verterō will be for vertisō* (but verterem for vertesē-m*).

1) I will here give a possible way of identifying Lat. -is- with Idg. -es- or -əs-; but I do not believe that any one will adopt it. ste-ti-tis* ste-ti-fī* or -bī (Gr. ἔ-στα-τε Skr. ta-sthi-tha), tu-tudi-tis* tu-tūdi-fī* (Gr. τε-τράμυ-τε Skr. tu-tōdi-tha), scidi-tis* (Skr. á-chida-ta) become stetistis stetistī, tutudistis tutūdistī, scidistis on the analogy of vides-tis* vīdes-tī*; and then by reciprocal analogy, these became vidis-tis -ī.

vīdera-m shows the same a-suffix as -bam eram (§ 583 p. 124), and probably it is due to analogy, being made to complement vīderō like eram : erō. Observe that dīxō dīxim have no dīxam*.

The endings of vīdistis -istī vīderō vīderim vīderam vīdissem were transferred both to forms like totondī tetigī and to those like dixī, so that we have totondistis totonderō and dīxistis dīxerō etc. The former may be compared with Gr. πενόισται (§ 836 p. 373), the latter with Skr. áyasiṣam (§ 839 p. 376). The efficient cause of these new formations may have been that in the Indicative many of the original forms of the 2nd sing. and pl. had become rather awkward, as 2nd sing. totons(s)ī* 2nd pl. totons(s)is* (or totonstī totonstis with t restored from estis) and 2nd sing. dix(s)* 2nd pl. dixtis*.

We proceed to mention the īs-aorists of Latin and Irish belonging to īo-present stems (Class XXVI):

In Latin, those verbs whose 2nd sing. indic. pres. ended in -īs, had the ē-conjunctive in -īrem, as farcīrem from farcīō. The only exception is fierem like agerem, § 837.2 p. 374. But from verbs like capiō -īs the conj. was -ērem, caperem; and it remains uncertain whether this be for -is-ē-m* or -es-ē-m*, cp. capis-sō and capēs-sō § 842.

1) To assume a 'Root' avis- for αἰσ- and a present ǎf-εἰσ-ω* I hold to be wrong (Schulze, Kuhn's Zeitschr. xxix 249 ff.).

It must be remembered, in considering Lat. farcīrem and the like, that these went hand in hand with the original denominatives in -i-ǵō, as finiō, whose s-aorist, finīrem, is to be compared with Gr. ἐκόντισα O.C.Sl. gostichŭ (§ 813 p. 351). Hence the question presents itself — whether farcīrem is really like Skr. á-grahīṣ-am, whether it was not rather produced simply by the analogy of the īs-formation. In this case it might be compared with O.C.Sl. bichomŭ (§ 727 p. 257), which was modelled upon gostichomŭ.

In the s-aorist of the ǵō-present (3rd Conjugation) in Irish, the 3rd sing. ended with -i-s-t*, as -lēic for leikyis-t*. A short i is seen also in Mid.Cymr., which in this aorist had -yss-, e. g. eisteddyssant 'they sat'. Compare § 840 on ro-char for -caras-t*. The question which there had to be answered on behalf of ro-charsam, now crops up again for -lēcsem. Hand in hand with these ǵō-verbs went those in -i-ǵō* and those in -éǵō*, as 1st sing. do-ro-dālius from -dālim 'I divide', 1st pl. ro-moit-sem from moidim 'I extol'.

§ 842. As the s-suffix was in no sense a special aorist suffix, but was used in the parent language with other tenses of a certain number of verbs, it need not surprise us to see that verbal s-stems often make an aorist with a second s. Analogous formations with -əs- have been brought before us in § 839, the Sanskrit aorist series of which one is ák-ṣiṣ-ur.

Greek. Hom. ἔσπασ-σα Att. ἔσπασα from σπάω 'I pull' for σπα-σω*, ἔσπασ-ται. ἔκλασ-σα from κλάω 'I break off' for κλα-σω*, κέκλασ-ται. ἐκρέμασ-(σ)α 'I hung' ἐκέρασ-(σ)α 'I mixed' ἐσκέδυσ-(σ)α 'I scattered' beside κρεμασ-τό-ς κεκέρασ-ται ἐσκέδασ-ται. (f)-ἴσ-(σ)α 'I clothed' beside 2nd sing. ἔσ-σαι. ἔσβ-εσ-(σ)α 'I quenched' beside σβ-εσ-τό-ς ἐσβεσ-ται. ἐκόρεσ-(σ)α 'I satisfied' beside κεκόρεσ-ται. ἀρ-έσ-(σ)ασθαι 'to come to an understanding' beside ἀρεσ-τό-ς. ἰ-κάλεσ-(σ)α 'I called' ἄλ-εσ-(σ)α 'I ground' ἔμ-εσ-(σ)α 'I spewed' from the presents καλέω ἀλέω ἐμίω, perhaps for *καλίσω *ἀλέσω *ἐμέσω. εἴρυσ-(σ)α ἱρυσ-(σ)α 'I pulled' beside εἴρυσ-ται. Compare § 575 p. 117, § 656 p. 191, § 661 p. 196, § 836 p. 372 f., § 840 p. 377.

Remark. There is too little support for the theory that these Greek an-aorists stand in a direct historical connexion with the Sanskrit siṣ-aorist, — that originally the singular active had -ses- (-ss-) and the plural -ss-, and that Sanskrit kept only the singular form, Greek the form of the plural (W. Schulze, Kuhn's Zeitschr. xxix 266 ff.).

Italic. With Lat. vīsō for ueit-sō*, quaesō for quais-sō* (§ 662 p. 197), compare petes-sō O.Lat. ad-petis-si-s, capes-sō O.Lat. capis-sa-m, laces-sō, faces-sō. And to the same group as fuxō faxitur faxim (§ 824 p. 362) belong amās-sō amāssim, turbās-situr, infin. averruncās-sere; habēs-sō pro-hibēssim, licēssi-t; amb-īssim; -ss- after a long vowel, which should be -s-, is due to the analogy of forms with -ss- following a short vowel, cp. ēssem instead of ēsem* (edō) on the analogy of ēssem (from sum). With petissis capessam are associated forms like vidis-se-m, ē-conjunctives, whose analogy produced (1) totondissem and (2) dixissem etc. The forms with -is-s- have their nearest parallels in Gr. ἤϊσ-(σ)α from ἄF-ισ- (§ 841 p. 378 f.).

Gr. εἰδ-αις O.C.Sl. sta-vũ from $\sqrt{\text{sta-}}$ 'stand' (II § 136 pp. 438 ff.).

Except in Armenian and Balto-Slavonic, the pr. Idg. Perfect remained in all branches of the language a large and comprehensive group. It was least changed in Aryan, Keltic, and Germanic. In Greek it was mixt up with a κ -formation, and in Italic with a whole series of non-perfect tense forms.

The proethnic perfect forms may be divided into two groups according to the stem.

Works on the weak Germanic Preterite are given under § 907.

(1) Reduplicated Stem, with o in the root syllable of the 3rd sing. indic. act., if the root belonged to the e-series. E. g. ġe-ġon-, ġe-ġn- ġe-ġn-* from $\sqrt{\text{ġen}}$ 'gignere': Gr. $\gamma\acute{\epsilon}\gamma\omicron\nu\epsilon$ $\gamma\acute{\epsilon}\gamma\alpha\mu\epsilon\nu$, Skr. ja-ján-a ja-jñ-úr.

(2) Unreduplicated Stem. Sometimes the ablaut is the same as in (1), as uoīd-* uid-* from $\sqrt{\text{ueīd}}$: Gr. $\omicron\iota\delta\epsilon$ $\iota\delta\mu\epsilon\nu$, Skr. véd-u vid-má. Sometimes different, as with ē in roots of the e-series; e. g. mēd-* from $\sqrt{\text{med}}$ 'measure': O.Ir. ro mīd-ar Goth. mēt-um; sēd-* from $\sqrt{\text{sed}}$ 'sit': Goth. sēt-um Lith. sėd-ęs; sēġh-* from $\sqrt{\text{seġh}}$ 'conquer, hold': Skr. sāh-vās.

In perfect stems like ġe-ġon-* or uoīd-* the o-grade prevailed in the 2nd and 3rd sing. Indic. Active ($\omicron\iota\sigma\theta\alpha$ $\omicron\iota\delta\epsilon$), and, in the opinion of most scholars, the 1st sing. as well ($\omicron\iota\delta\alpha$); the e-grade in the Conjunctive ($\epsilon\iota\delta\omicron\mu\epsilon\nu$) Skr. ta-tán-a-n), and, according to some scholars, in the 1st sing. Indic. Active too ($\pi\acute{\epsilon}\varrho\iota\nu\gamma\alpha$); the weak grade in the plural and dual Active, and right through the Indicative Middle ($\gamma\acute{\epsilon}\gamma\alpha\mu\epsilon\nu$ $\tilde{\epsilon}\iota\chi\tau\omicron\nu$ $\tau\acute{\epsilon}\tau\tau\alpha\pi\tau\alpha\iota$ Skr. nī-ny-úr nī-ny-ē), and in the Optative (Skr. va-vṛt-yā-t Goth. vaúrþ-ei-ma). To o in ġe-ġon-e* answers δ in se-sō* (Gr. $\alpha\varrho\text{-}\acute{\epsilon}\omega\kappa\epsilon$ Goth. saī-sō) from $\sqrt{\text{sē}}$ 'send forth, sow'.

Remark. Considering that the ending of the 1st sing. indic. act. was Idg. -a, while that of the 3rd sing. was Idg. -e, there is a difficulty in the difference between Skr. 1st sing. ja-ján-a and 3rd sing. ja-jñ-a. I have identified jajāna with $\gamma\acute{\epsilon}\gamma\omicron\nu\epsilon$ (I § 78 p. 69). De Saussure (Mém. sur le syst. prim. 72 f.) and Osthoff (Perfect, 61) equate jajāna = Idg. ġeġena*, on which view $\gamma\acute{\epsilon}\gamma\omicron\nu\epsilon$ would be due to levelling and should be ġeġeva*; and as a matter of fact no difficulty worth mentioning faces this view. From the standpoint of those scholars who deny that Idg. o becomes Ar. ā in open syllables, no explanation of Skr. jajāna has been found which is in the smallest degree satisfactory (see the last attempt in Bechtel, Die Hauptprobleme der idg. Lautlehre, 57, 165); cp. § 790 p. 322 on the ā of bhāraya-ti. It may be observed in passing that the means lately used by J. Schmidt to combat my theory of this Aryan ā are very little calculated to help in solving the point (see Kuhn's Zeitschr. xxxi 472 footnote). A long list of authorities and ex cathedra statements will never decide the matter; this can only be done by constant and scrupulous examination of the facts. Perhaps the question may be helped to a conclusion by the study of Indo-Germanic accent which has lately been taken up.

§ 844. When the root ends in a consonant, some part at least, large or small, of the indicative forms in all the different languages have a short vowel before those personal endings which begin with a consonant.

Sanskrit. -i- in 2nd sing. act. ds-i-tha ru-rôj-i-tha (but vêt-tha ta-tân-tha), 1st pl. act. pa-pt-i-má (but yu-yuj-má vid-má), 2nd sing. indic. mid. ūc-i-ṣṣe ja-jñ-i-ṣṣe (but da-dṛk-ṣṣe), 3rd pl. mid. ja-jñ-i-rē, to which answers Avest. vaoz-i-rem, cp. Skr. partic. act. pa-pt-i-vás- (but da-dṛś-vás- vid-vás-).¹⁾ In Vedic this i is found only when the preceding syllable is long. In Avestic, -ama in daiḍy-ama beside pass. di-ḍaē-iti (§ 537 p. 97).

Greek shows -α- in the 1st and 2nd pl. τε-τράφ-α-μεν τε-τράφ-α-τε (but ἴδ-μεν εἰλήλουθ-μεν ἴστε). Compare partic. πεπτώς for πι-πτ-α-φώς*, answering to Skr. pa-pt-i-vás- (but εἶδ-(f)ώς), and the mid. πέ-πτ-α-μαι beside πετ-ά-σαι. On -αζ beside -θα in the 2nd sing., see p. 386.

Latin. 1st pl. tu-tud-i-mus sēd-i-mus.

Old Irish. 1st pl. ce-chn-ammar 2nd pl. ce-chn-aid.

Gothic. 1st pl. vit-um sēt-um skat-skáid-um 2nd pl. vit-u-þ sēt-u-þ skat-skáid-u-þ.

It is hard to decide when or how this intermediate vowel was to be found in the various perfect schemes of the parent language (for the same scheme did not do duty for all perfects). Perhaps then, as in the Veda, the quantity of the preceding syllable had something to do with it.

What complicates the problem greatly is the suspicion that so many forms may have been changed by analogy. In Aryan, Greek, and Italic the question arises whether forms with the intermediate vowel were not influenced by forms from a root ending in a long ā-vowel, as Skr. ta-sthi-má Gr. ἔ-στα-μεν Lat. ste-ti-mus (for stetimus cp. however § 869). In Greek, Italic, Keltic, and Germanic the 3rd pl. has an nt-suffix, Gr.

1) I do not here consider the α of the 2nd and 3rd dual active viddthur viddtur, because it may have been identical with that of the 2nd and 3rd pl. vid-á and 3rd sing. vēd-a (§ 1038).

-αντι -ατι (mid. -αται), Umbr.-Osc. -ens, O.Ir. -atar and Goth. -un; and it is quite possible that the vowel of these endings passed on to other persons. In Greek, there was mutual attraction between the perfect and s-aorist, because one or two personal endings were the same, τέτροψ-α -ε having the same suffixes as ἔδειξ-α -ε (beyond doubt τέτροψ-ας follows ἔδειξ-ας, and in later Doric γέγον-αν follows ἐδείξ-αν); then which came first, τετράψ-α-μεν -ατε or ἐδείξ-αμιν -ατε? In Italic, again, as early as the proethnic stage, the old perfect had got mixt up with thematic aorist. If, for instance, i was the thematic vowel in fu-i-mus tetig-i-mus dix-i-mus as well as with fu-i-t tetig-i-t dix-i-t (cp. pres. ag-i-mus), yet it is uncertain whether the -i- of Lat. -i-mus, when used with consonantal roots, was ever anything else but Idg. -o-. Even in Keltic the question meets us whether the plural forms had not the thematic vowel.

Since Avest. daiḍy-ama cannot be kept apart from optative forms like jam-y-ama (see § 1001), to assume an Idg. suffix -yme as variant of -me in the perfect seems almost inevitable; and therefore I am inclined to refer to this the Gr. -αμεν in τετράψ-αμεν etc., and the Goth. -um in skaiṣkaid-um etc.; Lat. -imus and O.Ir. -ammar may also in some cases represent the same. But again the conjecture offers itself that the difference between Skr. papt-i-má and yuyuj-má, between Gr. τετράψ-αμεν and εἰλήλουθ-μεν, represents a difference of structure like that which exists in Skr. rud-i-más (Class IX §§ 572 ff.) and uś-mís (Class I §§ 492 ff.). It may be that once papt-amā* sazd-amā* (like Avest. daiḍy-ama) and tasthi-má (= ἔστα-μεν) dadhi-má existed side by side, and that the former were transformed to match the latter and became paptimá sēdimá. But proved this cannot be, not even by the Vedic law of quantity. There is always the possibility that the parent language itself possessed perfect stems like pe-ptə-* (and thus 1st pl. pe-ptə-me*).

§ 845. The preterite connected with the Idg. perfect — pluperfect as it is called — which is only found with certainty in Aryan and Greek, shows the same personal endings as other augmented preterites. Like the conjunctive and optative of the perfect, this cannot be distinguished from the corresponding forms of our Vth Present Class; see § 485 p. 39, § 555 p. 108.

In the same languages the pluperfect sometimes has thematic inflexion. These forms are to be compared with the corresponding forms of Present Class VI (§§ 561 ff.).

Proethnic Indo-Germanic.

§ 846. (A) Reduplicated Perfect.

With roots beginning in a consonant, the syllable of reduplication originally ended in -e, no matter what ablaut series the root might belong to. Examples: ge-ġon-* ġe-ġn-* Gr. γέ-γορ-ε O.Ir. ro gēnar (for ge-gn-*) Skr. ja-jān-a from √ġen-, se-stā-* se-stā-* Gr. ἔ-στα-μεν Lat. ste-ti-mus Skr. ta-sthāu from √stā-. But even then there were not lacking perfect forms with ē in the reduplicator, which one may call the Intensive Perfect: Gr. ἐγγέ-γευ-μυ Skr. jā-gār-a from √ger-. See §§ 471, 472 pp. 15 and 17. The treatment of the initial root-consonants in the reduplicator has been already described, §§ 475 and 476, pp. 20 ff.

It cannot be proved for the parent language, that in roots beginning with a vowel, an e (or some other short vowel), serving for the reduplicator, contracted with the root-initial (as some have inferred from Lat. ēd-ī Goth. fr-ēt Skr. ad-a from √ed-, Gr. ἦχα O.Icel. ök Skr. aj-a from √aġ-). It is very likely indeed that all these forms belong to the unreduplicated perfect type. See § 848.

Dor. κέ-χλαδ-ε 'swells, becomes luxuriant'.

Skr. an-āśa 'he desired', an-aś-ma an-aś-úr an-aś-ē, opt. an-aś-yā-t, O.Ir. t-ān-aic 'he came' 1st sing. t-ān-ac (-c = -nc-, I § 212 p. 178, § 513 p. 375), cp. aor. Gr. ἐν-εγκ-εῖν, § 470 p. 15. Variant Skr. anāś-a Gr. κατηνόκα κατενήνοχα (cp. ποδ-ηνεκ-ής 'reaching to the feet'). On Skr. aś-a see § 851; on Gr. ἐν-ήνοχ-ε ἐν-ήνεγκ-ται, § 858.

§ 847. Perfect forms from Extended Roots.

Root + suffix -ā-, -ē- -ō- (§§ 578 ff. pp. 118 ff.). Skr. jī-jyāu, Gr. Ion. βε-πίη-ται (βε-πίηκε) from g(i)j-ā-*, ✓ gei- 'compel, subdue'. Skr. ma-mnāu (gramm.), Gr. Dor. μέ-μνᾶ-ται from mn-ā- ✓ men- 'think, mean'. Skr. ju-glāu, Gr. πέ-βλη-ται (πέ-βληκε) from gl-ē- ✓ gel- 'fall' (cp. § 587 p. 127). Skr. va-vāu, Goth. vaí-vð from u-ē ✓ ay- 'blow'. Skr. ja-jñāú, Gr. ἐ-γνώ-σ-ται with σ added later (ἐ-γνώκε), O.Ir. ad-gēn (§ 877) from gn-ð ✓ gen- 'know'. On the Sanskrit conjugation of these perfects, see § 850.

Root + s-suffix (§§ 655 ff. pp. 189 ff.). ten-s- 'pull, draw': Skr. 3rd pl. mid. ta-tas-ré (Goth. at-pans -puns-un). tuei-s- 'shake': Skr. ti-tviṣ-ē, Gr. σέ-σεισ-ται.

Root + dh-suffix (§§ 688 ff. pp. 218 ff.). rē-dh-: Skr. ra-rādh-a ra-rādh-úr (pres. radh-no-ti 'finishes successfully, makes all right'), Goth. ga-rairōþ -rairōdun (pres. ga-rēda 'I consider, busy myself').

In the same way, the present sk-suffix is seen in Skr. pa-prach-a pa-prach-ur and Lat. po posc-ī for poporcsci* from ✓ prek- 'ask'; beside these we have Umbr. pepurkurent 'rogaverint', Mid.Ir. mid. im-chom-arc-air, Goth. frāh (§ 670 p. 203). Probably perfect forms with sk are not so old as the parent language.

§ 848. (B) Unreduplicated Perfect.

(1) First comes a group in which the vowel gradation was the same as in the Reduplicated Perfect. No perfect of this kind can now be recognised in particular forms of Italic, Keltic, or Balto-Slavonic; and in Germanic, only with those roots which do not belong to the e-series.

Skr. véd-a vid-má Avest. Gath. vaēd-ā, (Gr. οἶδ-ε ἴδ-μεν from ✓ ueid- 'know'.¹) Skr. īś-ē (and īś-tē) Avest. is-ē 'has got something into one's power, has power over', Goth. aih 'has' pl. aij-un (cp. § 888). Skr. sarpa 'he crept' (upa-sarpa) beside sa-sarpa, viś-i-vás- beside vi-véś-a vi-viś-ē from viś- 'to enter', ni-ṣidhur beside ni-ṣiśēdha 'he warded off, forbade' -ṣiśidhur. (Gr. Lesb. Ion. οἶx-ε 'is like' οἶx-α-μεν beside οἶx-ε for Fε-Foux-ε*, Hom. ἀμψι-(F)αχῶ beside ἰάχῶ 'I cry out' for Fι-Fαχῶ* (§ 552 p. 107).

1) Skr. virēda 'he found out' does not ask for consideration here, although it comes from the same root. It probably first arose when the root had become differentiated into two — vid- 'know' and vid- 'find' (pres. vindā-ti vittē).

(2) Next these I place a number of forms which perhaps had e for the root vowel in the parent language itself. (Gr. Hom. ἐρχ-αται ἐρχ-ατο from (F)ἐργω 'I shut up, shut off'.¹) (Gort. κατα-φελμένο-ς 'collected'²) from φελ-νω* Lesb. ἀπ-έλλω etc., see § 611 p. 150; parallel reduplicated stem Hom. ἐέλυεθα, Pind. plpf. έόλει. ἐπί-τενυκται' ἐν ἐπιτυχία ἐστί (Ms. έστο) Hesych. beside ἐπι-τυγχάνω; but redupl. τέ-τενχ-ε. Hom. δέχ-αται from δέχομαι 'I receive'; but redupl. δε-δεκ-ται. Compare further Curtius, Verb II² 163 ff.; G. Meyer, Gr. Gr.² pp. 480 f. Skr. yam-ur yam-átur beside ya-yām-a yēm-úr from yam- 'cohibere'. darś-i-vas- beside da-dárś-a da-dṛś-úr da-dṛś-i-vas- from darś- 'to see'. ḍk-i-vás- beside u-vōc-a ūc-úr from uc- (V euq-) 'to take pleasure in'. skambh-ur skambh-áthur beside ca-skambh-a ca-skabh-āná-s from skambh- 'to support'. śqs-ur śqs-irē beside śu-śqs-a śa-śqs-ur (instead of śa-śas-ur*) from śqs- (kens-) 'to prophesy, praise'. takṣ-ur takṣ-atur beside ta-tákṣ-a ta-takṣ-úr from takṣ- 'to fashion'. sah-vás- (Rig-V., Pada text) beside sā-sáh-a sēh-i-ma sa-sah-ē from sah- 'to subdue' (cp. sāh-vás- under 3). In forms like darś-i-vas-, the strong grade in the root may be explained as due to the analogy of the sing. indic. active, as in reduplicated forms like śa-śqs-ur. But an argument for the formation of the whole group from a stem which is not really perfect to begin with is found in the partic. vi-jān-úṣ-as Rig-V. x 271, which must be derived from jñā- 'to know' and was modelled upon the present jānā-ti (§ 598 p. 141 f.), and in the perfects belonging to reduplicated present stems, such as sīd-atur (from sīd-a-ti), vivak-vás- (from vī-vak-ti), didās-i-tha (from dī-dāsa-ti), nōnāv-a (from nō-nav-i-ti), see § 850; compare viś-i-vás-, cited under (1), beside pres. viś-á-ti and dhi-ṣē dhīrē beside aor. á-dhi-ta, also Gr. ἄγ-ναι 'way, road' (sc. ὁδός) beside ἡχα ἡχμυ and pres. ἄγω.

1) Whether ἐρχατο is augmented or reduplicated is doubtful.

2) Wrongly read -φηλμένο-ς by Baunack.

Since Latin sēd- in sēd-ī sēd-i-mus can be regularly derived from se-zd-* (cp. sīdō for si-zd-ō* I § 594 p. 450), it is reasonable to assume that lēg-ī vēn-ī are simply cast in the same mould by analogy: just as in Sanskrit pēt-ūr sēc-ē and others must really be looked upon as coined on the analogy of sēd- yēm- (§ 852). On the other hand, sēd-ī can also be connected with Goth. sēt-un Lith. sėd-ęs, and vēn-ī with Goth. qēm-un; and this theory has the advantage that it becomes unnecessary to suppose that all ē-perfect forms from roots of the e-series with initial consonant are due to the analogy of the single form sēd-ī.¹⁾ However compare § 841 Rem., p. 378.

Furthermore, Idg. perfect forms of roots beginning with e and ending in a single consonant may also be brought under this ē-type. Gr. ἐδ-ηδ-ως instead of ḡδ-ως* (§ 858), Lat. ēd-i-mus, Goth. fr-ēt -ēt-un, Lith. ēd-ēs O.C.Sl. ēd-ŭ jad-ŭ, Skr. ād-a ad-ur from ✓ed- 'eat'. Gr. 2nd sing. ἦσ-θα (came to be used for the imperf., see § 858), Skr. ās-a as-úr from ✓es- 'be'. Lith. ėj-ēs fem. ėj-us-i from ✓eį- 'go'. That ē is due to a contraction of e-e- cannot be made probable.

(4) Roots with initial a-vowel, and ending in a single consonant, seen to have made this perfect in all forms with a in the parent language: aġ-e* 'egit' from ✓aġ-: Skr. āj-a (gramm.), Gr. ἤχ-ε ἤχ-υαι (η for ā), O.Icel. ðk 3rd pl. ðk-o -u; an-e* from ✓an- 'breathe': Skr. ān-a Goth. ōn ōn-un; Goth. ōy 'I fear' beside agis Gr. ἄχος (Lat. ēg-i co-ēpī — Skr. āp-a āp-úr- — are Italic re-formates as much as cēpī, see § 870). Similarly with ō- the perf. ōd-e* from ✓od- 'smell': Gr. ὀδ-ωδ-ε instead of ōd-ε* (§ 858), Lith. ūd-ēs. aġ- ōd- from aġ- od- seem to be formed on the same principle as ēd- from ed-; and if there is no reduplication in ēd-, there was none in aġ- or ōd-. Then again, some forms which never had reduplication are no doubt to be found amongst the perfects of Germanic and Latin from roots with initial Consonant, as Goth. skōf skōb-un Lat. scāb-ī scāb-i-mus (skōb-un : sēt-un = ōn-un : fr-ēt-un).

Remark 2. In II § 136 p. 438 I have offered a conjecture on the origin of the originally unreduplicated perfect; namely, that the participle with the suffix -ues- never had any reduplication. When these ues-participles became associated with the Perfect system in the parent language, two results followed: (1) either the participle itself was reduplicated, or (2) the finite verb with which it went sometimes lost its own reduplication. That the perfect participle once stood independent of the reduplicated perfect type, such as Gr. γέ-γον-α γέ-γον-ουσιν, can be argued on the strength of the root-vocalism in Gr. εἶδω; ἑρηνυεία beside οἶδε ἑρηνυε etc. (II p. 439).¹⁾ Sanskrit shows sāh- and dāṣ- as perfect stems only in sāh-vās- and dāṣ-vās-. Again, it may be mentioned that in Balto-Slavonic, which only shows participles of the above type with the sole exception of indic. Slav.

1) The Conjunctive with similar root-vocalism (εἶδ-ο-μεν Skr. ta-dān-a-t, § 843 p. 384), also did not belong originally to the proper perfect forms, being thematic.

śēd-ē, all these are unreduplicated; and they include the large group exemplified by Lith. śēd-ēs vėš-ēs O.C.Sl. vez-ū. Lastly, it must be added that it is easy to explain the wide diffusion by analogy of stems like śēd- and skūp- in roots with initial consonant, displacing the older reduplicated forms, by supposing that they were taken up in order to get rid of a number of awkward and unnatural sound-groups which had developed amongst the weak forms in (plural and dual indic., etc.)."

§ 850. Perfect Forms derived from an Extended Root, or from a Present Stem with some characteristic attacht (Suffix or Determinative). Compare § 847.

From Roots + -ā-, -ē- or -ō-, only in Sanskrit. These Skr. perfects, of which ji-jyāu ma-mnāu ja-glāu va-vāu ja-jñāu are represented in the European languages (see loc. cit.), have the ā only in the strong stem; being in this unlike the Present, where ā runs through all the persons (e. g. dr-ā-ti dr-ā-nti §§ 578 ff. pp. 118 ff.). The reason why in their weak forms they followed Perfects with root gradation was that so many of the perfect endings began in a sonant. As we have ja-jñ-é (beside ja-jñāu), ya-y-á ya-y-ur (beside ya-yāu ya-yā-tha, y-ā- 'to go'), da-dr-ur (dr-ā- 'to run'), ta-tr-é (tr-ā- 'to protect'), so also ja-jñ-i-vás- instead of ja-jñā-vás-*, ya-y-i-vás- instead of ya-yā-vás-*, pa-pr-vás- instead of pa-prā-vás-* (beside pa-prá pa-prāu pa-prá-tha, pr-ā- 'to fill'). jajñivás- and paprvás- belonged properly to the Indicatives ja-jān-a* and pa-pār-a (gramm.); and it is possible that there has been contamination of the extended root (ḡn-ē ḡn-ō-, pl-ē-) and the unextended (ḡen-, pel-);¹) compare Gr. τετλαμεν and τε-τλ-η-ώς τέ-τλ-η-κα), πίμ-πλα-μεν and πίμ-πλ-η-μι (§ 594 p. 135. However, γαγινώς at any rate is a new form, following some such analogy as ta-sthi-vās.

1) Parallel to paprāu: papāra we have papyē (pres. pyā-ya-tē) and pīpāya (pres. páy-a-tē); so that it is naturally doubtful with which of the two perfects Ved. pipyē is to be connected. The i in the reduplicator decides nothing, cp. ji-jyāu.

Root + Nasal Infix or Nasal Suffixes (§§ 596 ff. pp. 136 ff.). Skr. ta-stámbh-a ta-stabh-úr (stabh- = stṃbh-*) and ta-stambh-ur (§ 852) conj. ta-stámbh-a-t beside stambh-a-tē 'makes itself firm, supports itself' from ✓stebh-, sa-saṅj-a from ✓seg- 'hang, affix', da-dámbh-a beside da-dābh-a from dabh- 'to hurt, deceive', see § 629 p. 167. ju-ghūrṇ-a beside ghūr-na-ti 'wavers'. ji-jinv-a beside jī-nva-ti 'sets in motion, helps on', pi-pinv-a beside pī-nva-ti 'swells, makes fat'.

Root + s-suffix. Skr. ta-ta-s-ré ti-tvi-ṣ-ē see § 847 p. 391. Ar. dūi-ṣ- 'to hate' (§ 656 p. 190): Skr. di-dvṛṣ-a di-dviṣ-ē (gramm.), Avest. dī-dvaēṣ-a di-dvīṣ-ma. Skr. ba-bhāṣ-a (gramm.) beside bhāṣati 'barks' for Idg. bhel-se-ti* (the ā betrays this as a later re-formate): cp. O.H.G. bal(l) hallun (§ 657 p. 191). da-dakṣ-ē beside dák-ṣa-tē 'is able, is of value, is brave' (§ 659 p. 194). mi-mikṣ-ē from ✓meṣk- 'mix' (§ 669 p. 200).

With sk-suffix. Skr. pa-prach-a see p. 391. mu-mūrcha-a beside mūrcha-ti 'curdles, congeals'. ju-hūrcha-a (gramm.) beside hūrcha-ti 'slips, falls'. Compare too the thematic an-archa-t beside ṛ-chá-ti ar-cha-ti 'hits, attains', like ān-arṣ-a-t § 854.

With t-suffix (§§ 679 ff. pp. 211 ff.). Skr. ci-t- 'to notice, recognise' (§ 680 p. 212): Skr. ci-kēt-a ci-kit-ur ci-kit-ē ci-kit-vās-, Avest. 3rd pl. Gath. ci-koit-er-ṣ (cp. § 852) part. ci-kiṣ-vā. Skr. ya-t- 'to join on to, strive' (§ 681 p. 213), weak stem ia-īt-*: Skr. yēt-ē, Avest. ya-yat-a yaeṣ-ma (Gath. yōṣ-mā) part. yaet-uṣ-. Skr. na-nart-a na-nṛt-ur beside nṛt-t-ya-ti 'dances'. pu-sphuṭ-a beside sphuṭa-ti 'bursts, splits' (beside phál-a-ti, § 680 p. 211). ci-cṣṭ-a beside cṣṣ-ṭa-ti 'is in motion'.

With dh-suffix. Skr. ra-rádḥ-a see p. 391. yu-yódh-a yu-yudh-ē beside yō-dha-ti 'gets in motion' (§ 689 p. 219).

Skr. jī-jī-va jī-jīv-ē beside jī-va-ti 'lives' (§ 487 p. 41).

From a reduplicated Present is often formed a Perfect having no further reduplication besides what the present had. sīd-at-ur (beside sa-sād-a sēd-ūr) from sīd-a-ti Idg. si-zd-e-ti* from ✓ sed- 'sit', nīd-i-ma from nī-nīd-a-ti 'abuses, reviles', see § 550 p. 106. vīvak-vās- from vī-vak-ti 'speaks'. didās-i-tha from dī-dāsa-ti desid. of dā-dā-ti 'gives'. nōnāv-a nōnuv-ur from nō-nav-ī-ti nō-nu-mas intens. of nau-ti 'praises', davidhāv-a beside part. dāvi-dhv-at- intens. of dhū-nō-ti 'shakes'.¹⁾ We may also if we choose place here jāgār-a (cp. Gr. ἐγγ-γερ-μαι) beside jā-gar-ti 'wakes, watches', since the present may be regarded as an intensive (§ 560 p. 109). a instead of ā in the reduplicating syllable is found elsewhere in Aryan too; and we have noticed in § 472 p. 17 that the spread of this ā in the reduplication is certainly not unconnected with the similarity in meaning of the Perfect-present and the Intensive. In later times another perfect ja-jāgār-a was made from jāgar-ti. That a perfect bi-bhikṣ-ē was formed for bhikṣa-tē (desid. of bhāj-a-ti 'divides, distributes, assigns', § 667 p. 200), and for sajja-tē 'hangs on to' (for saz-j-a-*, § 562 p. 110) a perfect sa-sajj-ur Mahabh. (beside sa-saj-ur sēj-ur and sa-sañj-a p. 397), is not surprising in view of the complete obscuration of the reduplication in the present.

As regards the above named perfects without special perfect reduplication, compare § 848 p. 392.

Lastly, two more Skr. perfects shall be cited, which have arisen from a root which has been completely fused into unity with a prefix. pi-pīd-ē beside pīd-aya-ti 'presses' for pi-zd-* (lit. 'to sit upon'), see § 795 p. 331; cp. Gr. πενίσσεται from πν-έζω. ni-niyōj-a (Ait. Brāhm.) from ni-yuj- 'to fasten on'. So Gr. ἡμψίσεται from ἄμψι-(f)εσ- 'to clothe, draw on'. The same principle is exemplified in the Augment, see § 477 p. 25.

1) We should expect davidhāv-a by § 467 p. 13. The i seems to me to be more simply explained by supposing that the perfect is a comparatively late analogical form from dāvidhv- than by adopting Wackernagel's conjecture, Dehnungsgesetz der gr. Compp. p. 18.

§ 851. The syllable of reduplication had originally a = Idg. e with Roots beginning in a Consonant; the variant a = Idg. ē is also found (cp. § 850, p. 398).

This was changed in Aryan where a root had i- or *u-*vocalism.

(1) Of Roots with internal or final i- or *u-*vowel only three retained the a in the reduplicator: Skr. ba-bhūv-a Avest. ba-vāv-a, Skr. sa-sūv-a (beside su-ṣāv-a), part. mid. śa-śay-ānā-s (beside indic. śi-śy-ē). In all others, i and u had taken the place of a in proethnic Aryan; as Skr. dī-dvēṣ-a dī-dviṣ-ē Avest. dī-dvaēṣ-a dī-dviṣ-ma, Skr. vi-vyadh-a vi-vidh-ur, Skr. ru-rōc-a ru-ruc-úr Avest. rū-raoḍ-a* rū-ruḍ-uš-*, Skr. su-ṣvāpv-a su-ṣup-úr. This tendency affected even roots with initial diphthong: hence Skr. īy-āy-a īy-úr i. e. i-īy-ur* instead of pr. Ar. 3rd sing. āi-a* 3rd pl. āi-r* (cp. Lith. part. fem. ėj-us-i) beside ē-ti 'goes'; Skr. ūv-ur i. e. u-uv-ur* beside u-tā-s 'woven' ō-tu-m; Skr. u-vōc-a ūc-úr beside uc-ya-ti 'takes pleasure in' ōkas- 'pleasure, satisfaction' (cp. the archaic adjectival participle without reduplication ōk-i-vās- § 848 p. 392).

One important factor in this developement we may conjecture to have been the influence of reduplicated presents with i and u in the reduplicator. If the stems of Skr. dī-dhay-a dī-dhi-ma, dī-dāy-a dī-di-vās-, pī-pē-tha pī-pi-vās-, bī-bhay-a are really and truly the same which are contained in the present forms dī-dhy-ē ā-dī-dhē-t, dī-dy-ati dī-di-hi ā-dī-dē-t, pī-pi-hi pī-páy-a-t, bī-bhay-a-t (§ 537 pp. 97 f.) — compare jā-gār-a : jā-gar-ti, nō-nāv-a : nō-nav-i-ti § 850 p. 398. — then we shall have to connect e. g. bi-bhāy-a bi-bhy-ur, īy-āy-a īy-úr, ju-hāv-a ju-huv-ur ju-hv-ē directly with bi-bhē-ti bī-bhy-ati, īy-ē-ti (§ 537 p. 97), ju-hō-ti jū-hv-ati. Beginning then with perfects like these, the reduplication with i and u could easily spread to other perfects from i- and *u-*roots to which there was no corresponding reduplicated present.

(2) Roots beginning with ī- and u-, of the form of Ar. īat- 'join on, strive' and uak- uac- 'speak', still had īa- and ua- for reduplication right through the Perfect in proethnic Aryan: Skr. yēt-ē Avest. ya-yat-a yaeḥ-ma, Skr. ya-yām-a yēm-úr, Skr. yēj-ē, Skr. va-vāc-a Avest. va-vac-a vaox-mā, Skr. va-vāh-a Avest. vaoz-i-rem, Skr. va-vām-a; with the weak stems compare pres. Skr. yēṣa-ti = īa-īṣ-a-ti* and aor. á-ṣōca-t Avest. vaoca-ḥ = ua-uc-a-* § 562 p. 110. These forms stood on the same level as those like Skr. va-part-a va-ṣṭ-ur vi-vēṣ-a vi-viṣ-úr and with Gr. ἰ-όλ-ει (§ 848 p. 392) ἰ-οργ-ει (§ 846 p. 389) ἰ-οικ-ει (§ 848 p. 392) and Goth. vai-vald. Next, in Sanskrit, those verbs which had amongst their non-perfect forms some in which the root, being of the weak grade, began with ī- or u-, substituted ī- and u- for ya- and va- as the reduplicator; and thus we get i-yāj-a īj-úr (i. e. i-ij-ur*) beside ij-yā-te iṣ-ṭā-s etc., u-vāc-a ūc-úr (i. e. u-uc-ur*) beside uc-yā-tē uk-tā-s etc., on the analogy of iy-āy-a iy-úr beside iy-ē i-tās etc., vi-vyādh-a vi-vidh-ur beside vidh-ya-ti viddha-s etc., su-ṣvāp-a su-ṣup-úr beside sup-ya-tē sup-tā-s etc.¹⁾ On the other hand, ya-yām-a yēm-úr va-vas-ē (from vas- 'to clothe'), and other such remained simply because none of their forms had such beginnings as īm- or uṣ-. Only here and there did u- transgress these prescribed limits: as in u-vām-a (Satap. Brāhm.) instead of va-vām-a from vam- 'vomere'.

With this Sanskrit development compare Lat. sci-cid-ī from scindō as contrasted with ce-cid-ī from cado, § 868.

Remark. The reason why we have in Sanskrit vav-úr and not vōr-úr*, and vavn-úṣ- not vōn-úṣ-* (cp. Avest. vaonuṣ-), as might have been expected from maghōn-, the weak form of the stem maghavun- 'giver, offerer', was the analogical influence of forms whose ending began with a consonant, such as va-vṛ-mā and va-van-mā va-van-vās-, perhaps also that of bye-forms with a weak-grade root syllable which still remained

1) I hold accordingly that the favourite theory which sees pr. Idg. reduplications i- u- or ī- u- in i-yāj-a u-vāc-a is incorrect. Observe further, that the evidence offered by i-yāj-a īj-ē and the like for the view that the ✓ yaj- began in Idg. with ī- and not with the spirant j is only indirect (I § 598 p. 453).

a syllable by itself (cp. ta-tan-ē i. e. -tṛn-aṭ* beside ta-tn-ē, ti-stir-ē i. e. -stṛr-aṭ*). Thus va-en- in this way depended upon va-van-; and, by a contrary application of the principle, yēm-i-mā yēm-i-vas- instead of ya-yan-ma ya-yan-vas- (cp. ja-gan-ma ja-gan-vās- from gam- 'to go') depended upon yēm-ur yēm-uš- (cp. jagm-i-vas- instead of jayan-vas- following jagm-uš-).

Whilst Roots beginning with an a-vowel had in Aryan a- through all forms of the Perfect, if they ended in a single consonant, as Skr. ās-a Avest. āh-a (§ 848 p. 394, § 949 p. 396), they have an- (or an-) for the reduplicating syllable if the root ends in a double consonant. Of these forms, the following were inherited from the parent language: Skr. ān-aś-a with the weak stem ān-aś- (-aś- = -ṛk-) in ānaś-úr ānaś-yā-t (pres. aś-nō-ti 'attains'): O.Ir. t-ān-aic, see § 846 p. 390; parallel Skr. ānāś-a Avest. Gath. plpf. ēnāxšta for anāś-ta*, which are similar to Gr. καρ-ήνοxa (see loc. cit.), and Skr. aś-a āś-atur, which was formed for aś-nō-ti aor. aś-yā-t aś-ē-ma on the analogy of ās-a ād-a. Also ān-añj-a ān-aj-ē opt. Ved. an-aj-yā-t from añj- 'to anoint, smear' seems to have formed part of the parent stock.

Hence afterwards arose ān-arc-a ān-ṛc-úr from arc- 'to shine, praise', ān-ṛdh-úr from ardh- 'to thrive', ān-ṛh-úr from arh- 'to earn'.

§ 852. Form of the Root Syllable.

The pr. Aryan distinction between Skr. 1st sing. ja-ján-a with ā, and 3rd sing. ja-ján-a with a (§ 843 p. 384), was lost. Thus we have in later Sanskrit the 3rd sing. form used for the 1st as well as 3rd (still, jajāna was not dropt altogether), and in Avestic the 1st singular form was used for both (e. g. va-vac-a beside the regular hi-šāy-a).¹⁾

In imitation of such forms as sa-sād-a : sēd-úr (for sa-zd-ur*) and ya-yām-a : yēm-úr (for ia-īm-ur*), arose the Skr. forms sēh-ur (sah- 'to subdue'), sēj-ur (saj- 'to hang, fasten'), pēc-úr (pac- 'to cook'), sēc-ē (sac- 'to be with, accompany'), but also sa-śc-ē), pēt-úr (pat- 'to fly, fall', but also

1) The Avestic change was natural enough because tataša (Skr. tatāḥṣa) had got in amongst roots with single final consonant.

§ 852. Form of the Root Syllable.

The pr. Aryan distinction between Skr. 1st sing. ja-jān-a with ā, and 3rd sing. ja-jān-a with a (§ 843 p. 384), was lost. Thus we have in later Sanskrit the 3rd sing. form used for the 1st as well as 3rd (still, jajāna was not dropt altogether), and in Avestic the 1st singular form was used for both (e. g. va-vac-a beside the regular hi-šāy-a).¹⁾ pa-pt-úr), nēm-ur (nam- 'to bow, bend'), tēn-ē (tan- 'to stretch', but also ta-tn-ē). This type recommended itself because it avoided certain awkward sounds which had developed in some roots, as was the case in Germanic with the type qēm- (§ 893). mēthur beside ma-mānth-a (manth- 'to shake, knead'), and bēdh-úr beside ba-bāndh-a (bandh- 'to bind'), arose because the weak roots math- and badh- in mátha-ti badh-ná-ti etc. (-a = -ŋ-) were conceived as being parallel to roots like sad- or yaj-; which also explains mamáth-a beside mamanth-a, mathišya-ti beside manthišya-ti and the like. That a Perfect stem such as sēd- or yēm- was to the consciousness of the speaker nothing more than an ablaut-form of the unreduplicate root is shewn by forms with initial media aspirata like bhēj-ur (beside ba-bhāj-a from bhaj- 'to distribute'), and those which begin with a double consonant, as trēs-ur trēs-ur (beside ta-trās-a from tras- 'to tremble').

The strong singular stem seems often to have invaded forms proper to the weak stem. Skr. tastambhur (but also tastabhúr) following tastámbha, cp. § 850 p. 397. babandhur following babándha. yuyōpimá following yuyōpa from yup- 'to obstruct'. vivēšur (but also vivišē) following vivēša from viš- 'to enter'. bibhēdur (but bibhidur also) following bibhēda from bhid- 'to split'. vavāhatur (but ūhatur) following vavāha from vah- 'vehere'. nanāmirē (but nēm-ur) following nānāma. śaśās-ur following śaśāsa (cp. aor. á-śiṣ-a-t) from śas- 'to order': cp. pres. 3rd pl. śás-ati beside opt. śiṣ-ya-t. dadavás- (but dadvás-dadivás-) following dadāú from dā- 'to give'. Avest. 3rd pl. cikōiter's (but cikīpīwā) following cikōita* from cit- 'to observe' (§ 850 p. 397). 2nd pl. hanhāna following 3rd sing. hanhāna* from han- 'to give, earn'. But we may see, from what has been said in § 848 pp. 392 f. on sa-sah-ē śa-śas-ur and sa-sah-ē da-dāś-i-ma, that it is possible to hold that the germ of these consists of unreduplicated forms with a strong root (such as Skr. stambh-ur*) which received reduplication in Aryan.

In Skr. 1st and 3rd sing. ta-sthāú da-dhāú pa-prāú etc., the origin of -au is obscure. Now and then we meet with variants 3rd sing. pa-prá and Avest. 3rd sing. da-dā.¹⁾ Some regard -u as a particle affixed to the perfect with final -a, as pa-prá + u = pa-prāu; and others compare ta-sthāu with sthāv-ira-sthāv-arā-sthū-rā-, or pa-prāu with Lat. plēv-i, ja-jñāu with Lat. nōv-i. All these are thoroughly uncertain conjectures.

§ 853. As regards the -i- which precedes the personal ending in -i-tha -i-ma -i-va -i-šē -i-mahē -i-vahē, which is much commoner in the later language than it is in the Veda, the most essential facts have been pointed out in § 844, pages 385 f.

The same i is seen in the unreduplicated iš-ē (§ 848 p. 391): iš-i-šē (beside iḥ-šē) iš-i-dhvē like ja-jñ-i-šē ja-jñ-i-dhvē. After what was said in § 574 p. 115, it is not strange that beside iš-tē we find iš-i-tē. Compare however the pres. šy-ṇv-i-šē beside šy-ṇv-i-rē (like iš-i-rē ja-jñ-i-rē).

§ 854. The so-called Pluperfect, and Thematic Forms of the Perfect Stem (cp. § 555 p. 108, § 845 p. 387 f.).

Un-Thematic Pluperfect. Skr. 2nd and 3rd sing. á-ja-gan 3rd pl. á-ja-gan-ta (with strong stem like gan-tá beside ga-tá, § 498 p. 58) 3rd pl. mid. á-ja-gm-iran beside ja-gám-a. 1st sing. ca-kar-am beside ca-kár-a. Avest. 3rd pl. mid. vaoz-irem beside Skr. va-vāh-a (§ 849 p. 396). Gath. 2nd pl. mid. vōiz-dūm (with strong stem instead of weak) beside vōistā = Skr. vēttha. Compare Gr. ἐ-πέ-πιθ-μεν beside πέ-ποιθ-ε, § 865. We find in Sanskrit also the 2nd and 3rd sing. with -i-, an á-ja-grabh-i-t beside 1st sing. á-ja-grabh-am, see § 577 p. 118.

Thematic Pluperfect. Skr. á-ca-kr-a-t beside ca-kár-a. á-da-dṛh-a-nta beside da-darh-a (gramm.) from darh- 'to make firm'. an-arṣ-a-t from arṣ- 'to stream'; an analogous form is an-archa-t (beside perf. ār-a ar-ur) from pres. r-chá-ti ar-cha-ti 'hits, attains, seizes' (cp. § 850 p. 397). Avest. ja-γm-a-p beside Skr. ja-gám-a. ta-taš-a-p beside 1st sing. ta-taš-a =

1) On the assumed Avest. dadō = Skr. dadhāu, see Bartholomae, Bezz. Beitr. ix 301.

Skr. ta-tákš-a from takš- 'to shape, form'. Compare Gr. ἐ-μέ-μηκ-ο-ν § 865.

The Thematic Imperative, as Skr. 2nd dual mu-móc-a-tam 2nd pl. mu-móc-a-ta (muc- 'to loose') 2nd sing. mid. vā-vydh-ā-sva (vardh- 'to grow'), stood beside the Unthematic mu-muk-tam mu-mug-dhi, as in Greek e. g. κε-κράγ-ε-τε κι-χρήν-ε-τε beside κί-κράχ-θι; and they were related to the Thematic Conjunctive Skr. mu-móc-a-t(i) Gr. ἴδ-ο-μεν as, in the s-aorist, Skr. 2nd sing. imper. nē-š-a to the conj. nē-š-a-ti, Gr. 2nd pl. imper. ἄξ-ε-τε to conj. (fut.) ἄξ-ε-τε (§ 833 p. 370).

The forms Skr. īś-a-tē Avest. is-a-itē beside īś-ē is-ē 'has brought into his power' doubtless first arose because the latter had ceased to be looked upon as belonging to the Perfect. Thus they are classed along with Presents like Skr. han-a-ti Avest. janaiti beside hán-ti jainti (§ 498 p. 58). Compare § 888 on Goth. áihan áihands.

Armenian.

§ 855. The old Perfect inflexion seems to be wholly lost. gitem 'I know' may have been transformed from μοῖδ-a* in the same way as Lesb. οἶδημι from οἶδα; but it may also be regarded as a present of Class II A (§ 517 Rem. p. 82). For another even more uncertain trace of the Perfect in Armenian, see Meillet, Mém. Soc. Ling. vii 164.

§ 857. Numerous Perfect forms based upon Roots extended in some way, and upon Presents of all sorts and kinds. Compare § 847 pp. 391 f.

(1) δέ-δρᾱ-ται from δρ-ᾱ- 'to do'. κέ-κρᾱ-ται from κρ-ᾱ- 'to mix'. τε-τλη-ώς from τλ-ᾱ- 'to bear'. κε-κμη-ώς from κμ-ᾱ- 'to weary'. τέ-τμη-ται from τμ-ᾱ- 'to cut'. τέ-τρη-ται from τρ-η- 'to wear away, pierce'. κέ-κλη-ται from κλ-η- 'to call'. κέ-χρη-ται from χρ-η- 'to lend, borrow'. τε-τιη-ώς τε-τίη-ται from τη- 'to be still, overawed' Idg. gijē-, see § 590 p. 132. κε-χαρη-ώς κε-χάρη-ται from χάρω 'I rejoice'. κε-καφη-ώς 'breathing hard'. δε-δέη-ται from δέω Hom. Aeol. δέυ-ω 'I need'. νε-νέμη-ται from νέμω 'I distribute'. βε-βούλη-ται from βούλωμαι 'I wish' for *βολνο-μαι. τε-τύπη-ται from τύπ-τω 'I strike'. Compare § 750. 1 p. 271, § 756. 4 pp. 275 f., § 822. 5 p. 360.

(2) Along with these go Perfects from later denominatives, as Hom. κε-κοτη-ώς, Boeot. gen. pl. φε-φεκονομειόντων (Att. ὠκονομηκότων, cp. § 866), τε-τίμη-ται (-η- = -ᾱ-), πε-φίλη-ται, με-μίσθω-ται, κε-κόνι-ται, δε-δάκρυ-ται. Compare § 756. 5 p. 276, § 773 pp. 290 f., § 813 p. 351, § 822. 6 p. 360.

(3) δε-δίδαχ-ε δε-δίδακ-ται δε-δίδαγ-μαι beside δι-δάσκω 'I teach' (§ 678 p. 210), cp. aor. ἐ-δίδαξα.

(4) πέ-φην-ε (Dor. πέ-φᾱν-ε) πέ-φαν-ται from φαίνω 'I make appear, show' for *φα-νι-ω. κέ-χην-ε (Dor. κέ-χᾱν-ε) from χαίνω 'I gape' for *χα-νι-ω. ἔ-ξαν-ται ἔξαμμαι from ξαίνω 'I scratch, comb'. On the forms πέφασμαι ἔξασμαι (= ἔξαμμαι), see § 862. προ-βέβουλε beside βούλωμαι (see under 1). Compare § 822. 2 p. 359.

(5) Nasal Infix. κέ-κλυγ-ε, also κέ-κλγ-ε, beside κλαγγάνω and κλάζω (for *κλαγγ-ιω) 'I make a sound, cry out'. The verb χανδάνω 'I have room for' (✓ghed-, § 631 p. 168) perhaps had both κέ-χανδ-ε and κέ-χονδ-ε (like λέλογχε from λαγγάνω) for its perfect; see Mekler, Beitr. zur Bildung des griech. Verbums, 60 f.; Wackernagel, Berl. Phil. Wochenschr. 1891, col. 1475 f. Aeol. part. πε-φύγγ-ων (Att. πε-φενγ-ώς) from φυγγάνω 'I flee'. ἔ-σφιγκ-ται 1st sing. ἔσφιγμαι (-γμ- for -ngm-, I § 492 p. 363) from σφίγγω 'I tie'. Compare § 822. 3 p. 359.

(6) ἔ-σπα-σ-ται, κέ-κλα-σ-ται, κε-κέρασ-ται, ἐ-σκέδασ-ται; ἔ-σβ-εσ-ται, κε-κόρεσ-ται; ἔ-ξυ-σ-ται, εἴρυσ-ται. See § 661 p. 196 § 842 pp. 380 f.

(7) Syrac. πέποσχε instead of πέπονθε from πάσχω (§ 673 p. 205). Compare Skr. papracha Lat. porosci from ✓prek-.

(8) κατα-πέπυθα' κατερρύημα Hesych., beside πύ-θω 'I make to rot'. βί-βριθ-ε from βριθ-ω 'I weigh down'. Compare § 694 p. 223. πέ-φλοιδ-ε beside ἔ-φλιδ-εν' διέρρεεν. δια-κεχλωδώς and δια-κεχλωδώς beside χλῖω 'I am weakly'. 3rd pl. ἐ-ρράδ-αται from ῥαίνω 'I sprinkle' for *σρ-ανιω (§ 621 p. 159). Compare § 695 p. 224.

(9) Hom. πεφνύζοτες from φνίζω* for φνυ-ζω* (§ 707 p. 236).

(10) Perfects of later Denominatives whose verbal stem ended in a Consonant. κη-κήρῳχ-ε κη-κηρῳχ-ται κη-κήρῳχ-μαι from κηρύσσω 'I announce, proclaim' for κᾱρῳχ-ζω*. πε-φύλαχ-ε πε-φύλαχ-ται πε-φύλαχ-μαι from φυλάσσω 'I watch' for φυλακ-ζω*. ἤλπισται from ἐλπίζω 'I hope' for φελπιθ-ζω*. λέ-λησται from ληΐζομαι 'I get booty' for λᾱΐθ-ζω-μαι*. τε-τέλεσ-ται from τελέω 'I finish' for τελεσ-ζω*. ἤγγελ-ται from ἀγγέλλω 'I announce'. λε-λέμαν-ται from λεμᾱίνομαι 'I treat shamefully, insult, torture'. Compare § 756. 3 p. 275, § 757 p. 276 f., § 768 p. 282 f., § 822. 4 p. 359 f.

§ 858. The Reduplication with ε in roots with initial consonant has been more faithfully kept in Greek than in any other language. The vitality of this type can be best seen in its use with denominative forms like πε-φύλακται δε-δυστήχηκε, τε-θαλασσοκράτηκε, Boeot. φε-φευκονημιόντων.

Remark. On the analogy of compounds like εμ-πεποίηκε were made others such as εν-δεδήμηκε απο-δεδήμηκε instead of ινδμηκε* ηποδημηκε* from εν-δημο-ς από-δημο-ς. The group was further enlarged by εμο-ποποίηκε ειδο-πεποιήται ιππο-τετερόφηκε and many other like them.

On the treatment of the initial consonant or consonants of the reduplicator, see §§ 475 f. pp. 20 ff.

Verbs with initial vowel were treated in two ways, as in Sanskrit:

(1) By lengthening the initial vowel. 2nd sing. ἦσ-θα from √es- 'to be' (cp. Skr. ās-i-tha), which form came afterwards to be used as imperfect because ἦα ἦμεν ἦσθε ἦστων belonged to both; ἦρικε from ἐριζω 'I strive'. ἦχ-ε ἦγ-μαι (η = α) from ἄγω 'I lead': Skr. āj-a O.Icel. ðk- (here comes ἄν-ωγ-ε from ἄν-άγω according to Danielsson, Nord. tidskr. f. filol., ny række, VII 138 ff.); ἦσκη-ται from ἄσκέω 'I practice'; ἦρχ-ε ἦργ-μαι from ἄρχω 'I begin'; ἦμφιέσ-ται from ἀμφι-έσ-σαι 'to draw on, clothe'. ὠγκω-ται from ὀγκέω 'I grow big, swell up'. This perfect formation has been treated in § 848 p. 393 f.; it is very doubtful whether it ever had any reduplication.

(2) By the "Attic Reduplication", which corresponds to the structure of Skr. an-áś-a (§ 851 p. 401). This flourished considerably at the expense of the last named (1). ἐδ-ηδώς: Skr. ád-a; ᾔδ-ωδ-ε: Skr. ár-a; ᾔδ-ωδ-ε: Lith. ú'd-ēs. Att. ὀμ-ώμο-ται (and ὀμ-ώμο-σ-ται) from ὀμ-νθ-μι 'I swear'. Hesiod has ἐρ-ήρισται from ἐρίζω 'I strive'; but ἤρϊκε above. Perhaps Hom. ἐρσθα 'eras' and ἔην ἤην, as contrasted with ἦσθε ἦεν ἦν (§ 502 p. 65 f.), was based upon a form ἐσ-ησ-*; cp. § 583 p. 124, and the Author, Gr. Gr.² p. 164, Bartholomae, Stud. z. idg. Spr. II 118 f. Ion. ἀν-αθ-αίρη-ται and ἀν-αιρ-έρη-ται from ἀν-αιρέω 'I raise up on high'; but ἀν-ήρη-ται. Hom. ὀρ-ωρέχ-αται from ὀρέγω 'I stretch out', but ὠρεγ-μαι, from ✓reġ- (O.Ir. perf. re-raig 'porrexit'). On the analogy of ἐλ-ήλυθ-ε: ἐλυθεῖν, the form ἐν-εγκ-εῖν 'to bring', which already had the Attic reduplication (cp. Skr. an-áś-a), formed a perfect ἐν-ήνεγκ-ται, which next called into being the act. ἐν-ήνοχε beside κατ-ήνοκε (§ 846 p. 390); ἐν- in ἐν-ήνεγκ-ται and ἐν-ήνοχε must then be the preposition ἐν, which I see in the aorist ἐν-εικα (§ 504 p. 68); if so, ἐν-ήνεγκ-ται must be compared directly with Skr. an-áś-a. Ion. ὀρ-ώρηκ-ε (Herodas) beside ὀρόακε ὠρόακε from ὀράω 'I see' for φορᾱ-*, late Attic ἐλ-ηλιγ-μένο-ς beside εἴλικ-ται from ἐλίσσω 'I wind' for φελικ-*.

§ 859. The original differences of root-gradation in the group of Perfect forms transmitted from the parent language were very largely wiped out by analogy.

First, the vowel-grade of the indic. active invaded other forms; as γεγόν-α-μεν γεγον-ώς, ἐφθόρ-α-μεν ἐφθορ-ώς, πεπόνθ-α-μεν, τετρώφ-α-μεν, ἔοιγ-μεν εοίκ-α-μεν, πιποίθ-α-μεν conj. Hom. πιποίθ-ο-μεν Att. πιποίθ-ω-μεν, εἰλήλουθ-μεν εἰληλουθ-ώς, ἐρρώγ-α-μεν, ᾠφ-έω-ται.

Next, the weak form sometimes became the type; as δέδι-α, τέτραφ-α, ἐλήλυθ-α.

Thirdly, ε is often found where it originally was not, as πέφενυ-ε πεφενύ-α-μεν, πέ-πλεχ-ε, λέ-λιγ-ε; particularly often in the Middle, as πέπλεκ-ται πέπεισ-ται. The original place of this ablaut-grade was in the perfect Conjunctive, sometimes in the Participle active (II § 136 p. 438 f.), and also, according to the hypothesis of De Saussure and Osthoff, the 1st sing. Indic. active (§ 843 Rem. p. 384). Again, ἔ-ιλ-ται and like forms may be based upon the unreduplicated (κατα-)φελέμενο-ς; see § 848. 2 with Rem. 1, pages 392 and 393. Lastly, non-perfect verbal forms with ε may have had a hand in it; thus φεύγω may have influenced πέφενυε, or πείθομαι πέπεισται.

Sometimes the change which took place was that weak perfect forms with α from roots of the e-series caused the production of other forms on the analogy of a-roots. Thus μέμηλε (Dor. μέμᾱλε) took the place of *μέμολε (from μέλει 'it is a care to'), because forms with με-μαλ- (cp. Skr. tī-stir- from √ster- 'sternere') were associated with such others as τι-θαλ-υῖα beside τέθηλε (Dor. τέθᾱλε). Similar considerations account for μέμνηε (√μεν- 'think') and δεδηχώς δεδήγμαι (√deñk- 'bite') by analogy with με-μαν- = me-mñn-* and δε-δακ- = de-dñk-* (cp. Skr. dadaś-vās- beside dadaś-a). But undoubtedly with both these perfects other non-perfect forms, such as μαίνομαι ἐμάνην and δάκνω ἔδακον, helped to change them over to the new vowel-series.

The ē-grade seen in O.Ir. mīd-ar Goth. sēt-um Lith. sėd-ēs etc. (§ 848. 3 p. 393), has been conjectured for Gr. ἵσται 'sits', whose aspirate is odd as contrasted with Skr. ās-tē. It is quite possible that, in Greek, middle forms of sēd-* were confused with the verb ēs-*. Compare pres. Lith. sėd-mi § 494 p. 54.

§ 860. On the -α- of τέτροφ-α-ς -α-μεν -α-τε, on Dor. γέγον-αν and part. πεπτωώς, see § 844 pp. 385 f.

The 3rd pl. ἑστᾱσι 'they stand' is contracted for *ἑ-στά-ᾱσι, which had taken the place of a previous *ἑστᾱσι. So also Ep. γεγάᾱσι μεμύᾱσι βεβᾱᾱσι Att. βεβᾱσι. See § 1021. 4.

§ 861. Aspirated Perfects like δέδειχε (√δεικ-) πί-πλεχε (πλεκ-) κекήρῳχε (κηρῳκ-) τέτροφε τετράφεται (τροφ-) κέκλοφε (κλεπ-) ἤχε (ἀγ-) λέλειχε (λεγ-) ὀρωρέχεται (ὀρεγ-) τέτριφε τετριφάται (τριβ-) have borrowed the aspirate, and put it in place of media or tenuis, from perfect stems which properly ended in an aspirate, such as γέγραφε γεγράφαται and τετινέχεται. The cause of this change was that in some perfect forms and in forms outside the perfect, these phonetic differences disappeared, and the aspirate was no longer distinguished from the tenuis or media. Thus τέτραμμαι τέτρανται etc. and ἔτριψα τρέψω looked exactly like γέγραμμαι γέγρανται etc. and ἔγραψα γράψω; hence the analogy of γεγράφαμεν gives rise to τετράφαμεν instead of *τετραπαμεν. Compare Osthoff, Perf. 284 ff., 614 ff.; Curtius, Zur Kritik der neuesten Sprachforschung, 58 ff.

§ 862. Perfects from verbal stems in s generally show in the middle the endings -σμαι -μεθα -μενος, as ἔξεσμαι ἔξωσμαι ἤκουσμαι νέσεισμαι ἔσβησμαι τετέλεσμαι ἔσπασμαι κεκέρασμαι, thus traversing the law laid down in vol. I 565 § p. 422, by which we should expect forms without σ, and with a lengthening of the preceding vowel when this was short. There are some of these regular forms, as ἔξωμαι (√ jōs-) γέγενυμαι (√ gēus-) ἔφ-ευνέμενος (√ eus-). But the other set are a re-formation on the model of those with -στ-, as ἔξιςμαι instead of *ἔξιμαι following ἔξισται, ἔξωσμαι following ἔξωσται. On the contrary, ἔξωμαι and γέγενυμαι suggested ἔξωται instead of ἔξωσται, ἐγγέγενυτο instead of *ἐγγεγε(υσ)-ατο.

Similarly, in the Middle Voice of Perfects from Verbal-stems in θ and δ, the σ of -σται spread into the forms in -μαι -μεθα -μενος, as λήλασμαι following λήλασται (act. λήληθε), πέπυσμαι following πέπυσται (pres. πεύθωμαι) πέπησμαι following πέπησται (pres. πέιθω), κεκάσμεθα following κέκασται (καδ-), πέφρασμαι following πέφασται (aor. πέφραδον). Forms like Hom. κεκορυθμίνος πεφραδμίνος Pind. κεκαδμίνος are regular. Similarly, Att. ἴσμεν (Hom. ἴδ-μεν) may be regarded as a re-formate following ἴσται; but it may also follow the pret. ἴσμεν i. e. *ἡ-ῥιτ-σ-μεν just as ἴσσι follows ἴσαν ἦσαν (§ 863 p. 411).

The agreement of forms like σείσω ἔσεισα (for *σεισ-σω *ἔ-σεισ-σα) ἐρείσω ἡρείσα (for *ἔρειδ+σω *ἡρειδ+σα) with such forms as τεί-σω ἔ-τει-σα (✓τει-) had this result, that the endings -σται -σμαι etc. spread from σέσεισται -σμαι ἐρήρησται -σμαι to the Perfect of verbal stems which ended in a vowel: τέτει-σται -σμαι, κέκλαν-σται instead of κέκλανται, ἔγνω-σται, κεκέλευ-σται. The same cause gave rise to ἀπο-τειστέος-ς ἐτείσθην, κλαυστό-ς instead of κλαυτός, ἐγνώσθην etc. Or the σ of these forms from verb stems with final vowel may have originated from the 2nd sing. mid. in -σ-θης, as ἐγνώσθης (= ajñāsthās) ἐμνήσθης (Wackernagel, Kuhn's Zeitschr. xxx 312, Henry, Précis de gramm. comp.³ § 102); cp. § 589 p. 129 f., § 820 p. 357, § 836 p. 373, § 840 p. 377.

Lastly, we must place here forms from ν-stems such as πέφασμαι beside πέφαν-ται (φαίνω 'I show'), σεσήμασμαι beside σεσήμαν-ται (σημαίνω 'I make a signal'); but we also find ἔξαμμαι for *ἔ-ξαν-μαι (ξαίνω 'I scratch, comb'), ἡσχυνμαι for *ἡσχυν-μαι (αἰσχύνω 'I disgrace'), and others. We may conjecture that first *πεφαν-σθε *σεσᾶμαν-σθε became regularly *πεφασθε *σεσᾶμασθε, and then, since these looked like ἔσπασθε κεκέρασθε, the forms πέφασμαι σεσήμασμαι were made to match ἔσπασμαι κεκέρασμαι; on the other hand, πέφανται produced the form πέφανθε.

§ 863. The 3rd pl. of οἶδε ἴδμεν was in Homer ἴσᾶσι (Att. ἴσᾶσι Dor. ἴσαντι by vol. I § 563. 2 p. 419), an ad-formate of the s-aorist *ἴσαν ἴσαν, augmented ἦσαν (§ 812 p. 349, § 821 p. 358). The formation of ἴσᾶσι was due to ἴστε ἴστον beside ἦστε ἦστον. Compare § 862, on Att. ἴσμεν.

ἴσαντι, associated with ἴσταντι 'they place', caused the Doric dialect to make the further forms ἴσᾶμι ἴσαμεν ἰσάμεναι etc. following ἴσᾶμι and the rest.

In Heracleean, this σ went on to the middle of the perfect: γεγράψαται. Then, on the strength of the relation of γεγράψαται to ἐγράψαντο, we get *μεμισθώσεται beside ἐμισθώσαντο — the conj. μεμισθώσονται is found.

§ 864. There can be no doubt that the κ -perfect, as ἔστηκε, existed in all its important features as early as proethnic Greek, although it only became a large group in Greek itself. As to the origin of the formation very diverse theories have been set forth; they are collected and criticised by Johansson, Beitr. zur gr. Sprachkunde, pp. 56 ff. (compare Per Persson, Wurzelerw., 209 f.).

Remark. The explanation which has most in its favour is the following. κ is called a Root-Determinative, which came from the parent language into Greek in a few verbs; and then it became a fertile perfect suffix in pr. Greek just as s became a fertile aorist suffix in the original language. It was not confined to the perfect any more than s was confined to the aorist: we have for instance aor. ἔθηκα as well as perf. τεθῆκα, aor. ἔδωκα δόικω as well as perf. δέδωκα, δόλικω as well as δολώλεκα, δέδ(φ)ύσσομαι for δέδ-δ-φικ-χο-μαι* as well as δέδ(φ)οικα.

The favourite sphere of the κ -formation lay from the proethnic period of Greek in stems with e -, o - and a -vowels, as τεθῆ-κε ἔ-ω-κε δέδω-κε ἔ-στᾱ-κε, βέβλ-η-κε ἔ-γν-ω-κε δέδρ-ᾱ-κε. Forms like τεθῆ* ἔ-ω* (Avest. da-dā) without $-α$ and $-ε$ in the 1st and 3rd sing. may have seemed too unnatural and unlike the rest of the system; this may have brought in some κ -form, which afterwards spread rapidly by analogy.

Beside the above named perfect forms with the root-suffixes $-α-$ and $-ε-$, were formed others, such as κεχάρηκε γεγάμηκε ἠγάληκε δεδείπνηκε μεμίσθωκε τετίμᾱκε δεδάκρῳκε. Compare κεχαρηώς κεκοτηώς γενέμηται πεφίληται etc., § 857. 1 and 2, p. 405 f.

Again, the relation of ἔστηκα to στήσω ἔστησα, of δέδρακα to δράσω ἔδρασα, produced perfects like πέπεικα beside πέλω ἔπεισα (πέιθω 'I advise'), πέφρακα beside φράσω ἔφρασα (φράζω 'I give to understand, show' for φραδ-ω*), γεγύμνακα beside γυμνάσω ἔγύμνασα (γυμνάζω 'I exercise'), ἤρμοκα beside ἀρμόσω ἤρμοσα (ἀρμόζω 'I fit, join'), ἔσπεικα beside σπείσω ἔσπεισα for σπεντ-σ-* (σπένδω 'I pour'), ἔσπακα beside σπάσω ἔσπασα (σπάω 'I pull' for σπα-σ-ω*).

By analogy of the perfect middle (cp. δέδραται : δέδρακα) arose e. g. Phoc. τέθεικα (instead of τέθηκα) following τέθεται, Att. εἶκα (ἐεκα*) following εἵται (ἐεται*), δέδεκα following δέδετα, ἔφθαρα following ἔφθαρται, κέκλικα following κέκλιται, ἤγγελα following ἤγγελται. Vice versa, mid Dor. ἀφ-έωται follows ἔωκα (§ 859 p. 408).

Following εἵκα εἵται, the forms τέθηκα τέθεμαι were changed in late Attic to τέθεικα τέθειται.

Following ἔστανκα : ἔσταμεν we get γέγακα (Pind.) beside γέγαμεν (ḡe-ḡh-*); vice versa ἠρίσταμεν (Comedy) beside ἠρίστηκα (ἀριστάω 'I breakfast').

§ 865. For the Pluperfect Greek, like Sanskrit, at first had two formations, thematic and unthematic (cp. § 555 p. 108, § 845 p. 387, § 854 p. 403).

(1) The Unthematic type is found in the Active only for Plural and Dual, e. g. ἐ-πέ-πιθ-μεν γι-γά-την ἔ-στα-μεν; the 3rd pl. ends in -σαν, e. g. ἔ-στα-σαν μέ-μα-σαν ἐδειδίσαν i. e. ἐ-δέ-δφι-σαν* (§ 1021. 2). Far oftener, and found in all three numbers, this occurs in the Middle; as τε-τύγ-μην ἐ-τέ-τακ-το βε-βλή-ατο κτ-χόλω-σο. Compare Skr. 1st and 3rd sing. á-ja-gan.

(2) Thematic Forms are e. g. ἐ-μέ-μηκ-ο-ν (but με-μηκ-ώς), ἐ-πέ-πληγ-ο-ν (but πέ-πληγ-α), ἄν-ωγ-ο-ν (but ἄν-ωγα), δαίδιε i. e. δέ-δφι-ε* (but perf. δέ-δι-μεν); with κ, ἐ-πέ-φῶκ-ο-ν (but πέ-φῶ-κα). Compare Skr. á-ca-kr-a-t. Sometimes it is doubtful whether a form comes here or in the VIth Present Class (§ 563 p. 111); as λε-λάκ-ο-ντο (cp. λέληκα λελακνῖα and ἔ-λακ-ο-ν).

(3) To these formations are added all which are based upon an original s-aorist. (a) On the one hand, the forms ῥῥε and ῖσαν ῖσαν (ῖσμεν ῖστε); (b) on the other, those in which the Aorist ending was affixt to the Perfect stem, as πε-ποίη-εα πε-ποίη-ειν ἐ-πε-ποίη-ειν beside πέ-ποιθ-α, and ἐ-στήκ-ειν beside ἔ-στη-κα. See § 821 p. 357 f., § 836 pp. 372 ff.

§ 866. Like the thematic pluperfect ἐ-μέ-μηκ-ο-ν etc., mentioned in § 865. 2, the thematic imperative κτ-κράγ-ε-τε and so forth belong to the parent speech; cp. Skr. mu-móc-a-ta, § 844 p. 404.

But thematic forms occur more or less in all other formations of the Greek perfect system. Indicative Hom.

μέ-μβλ-ε-ται 'it is dear' beside μέλ-ει (which may also belong to Present Class VI, § 563 p. 111), ὀρ-ώρ-ε-ται 'is aroused' beside ὀρ-ωρ-α, ἀν-ώγω beside ἄν-ωγα, Syrac. ὀλωλ-ω beside Att. ὀλ-ωλ-α. And again, ἤκω 'I am here' may have taken the place of a perfect *ἤκα; the last essay to explain the etymology of this verb is by Johansson, Beitr. gr. Sprachk., 62 f., who would connect it with a root ἔ-ē- 'to go'. Conj. Hom. ἄρ-ήρ-η Att. βε-βλήκ-η beside Hom. εἶδ-ο-μεν. Opt. Att. βε-βλήκ-ο-ι beside ἔ-στα-ῖ-μεν. Inf. Rhod. γηγόνειν, in Pindar κεχλάδειν. Part. Lesb. πεπληρωκών, Hom. (Aeol.) κεκλήγοντες, Boeot. τετεφονομεiónτων.

Italic.

§ 867. The "Perfect" of Latin and Umbro-Samnitic is a mixture of elements very widely different. Ten distinct types contribute to make it up.

(1) Genuine Reduplicated Perfects like Lat. tu-tud-ī = Skr. tu-tud-ē, de-d-ī = Skr. da-d-ē (§ 1044). In § 846 we have compared with perfect forms of other Idg. languages these others: peperī, tetulī, meminī mementō, tetinī, memordī momordī, crēdidī, bibī, stetī, scicidī, cecinī, pepigī; to which add Umbr. dersicust.

(2) Probable Unreduplicated Perfect forms. First lēg-ī vēn-ī and the like, with possibly ēd-ī, cp. § 848.3 p. 393. Next scand-ī, vort-ī vert-ī Umbr. co-vortus 'converterit', scāb-ī, ōd-ī, cp. § 848.1, 2 and 4, pp. 391, 392, 394.

(3) Forms of the s-Aorist, both thematic and non-thematic, as dīx-ī dīx-i-t dīx-i-mus, cp. Gr. ἔ-δεξ-α Skr. á-dikṣ-a-t. See § 823 p. 360 f.

(4) Forms of the non-thematic is-Aorist, as vīdis-tis (vīdis-ti) vīder-ō vīder-i-m, cp. Skr. á-vēdiṣ-am Gr. ἤδεα. See § 841 pp. 378 ff.

(5) Thematic Aorists of Class II. Lat. fu-i-t fu-i-mus, Osc. fuid 'fuerit': Skr. á-bhuv-a-t. Lat. scid-i-t: Skr. á-chid-a-t. fid-i-t: Skr. á-bhid-a-t. ex-uit for *-ux-e-t (Class II B) or

*-ex-e-t (Class II A). Osc. dic-ust 'dixerit' beside dic-e-d* 'dixit': Skr. imperf. á-diṣ-a-t. Osc. kúm-bēned 'convēnit' ce-bnust 'huc venerit'¹⁾: Skr. á-gam-a-t Avest. γm-a-ḥ, √ gem-. From Osc. pert-emust 'peremerit' the ind. ēme-d* is to be inferred. Osc. ana-saked or ana-zaked 'consecravit' (Bréal and Duvau, Mém. Soc. ling., vi 51, 227) beside Lat. sanciō. Pelign. afded 'abiit' for af-īe-d* (Thurneysen, Rhein. Mus. XLIII 348), cp. Gr. opt. ĩ-o-i. So also Lat. vort-i-t vort-i-mus (cp. 2) may be connected with Skr. á-vṛt-a-t. See § 483 p. 32, § 523 pp. 86 ff., § 528 p. 91.

(6) Possibly amongst forms like lēg-i-t lēg-i-mus (√ leg-) were some like Gr. ἐ-μῆδ-ε-ρο (√ med-) Skr. á-sūh-a-t (√ segh-). See § 841 Rem. p. 378.

(7) Probably reduplicated thematic aorists of Class VI. te-tig-i-t te-tig-i-mus: Gr. τε-ταγ-ών. pe-pig-i-t: Gr. πε-παγ-ο-ίη-ν beside πέ-πηγ-α. ce-cid-i-t: κε-καδ-εῖν 'to hurt, despoil' κε-κάδ-ο-ντο beside ἔκεχθη ὑπεκεχωρήκει (pres. κῆδω). pe-pul-i-t: πε-παλ-ών. pe-per-i-t for pe-par-e-t*: πε-πορ-εῖν δοῦναι beside ἔπορ-ο-ν 'I gave, brought', cp. 1st sing. pe-per-ī and πί-πρω-ται § 846 p. 388. de-d-i-t Osc. de-d-e-d Umbr. ře-ř-e pr. Ital. de-d-e-t*:²⁾ Skr. imperf. á-du-d-a-t (§ 562 p. 110 f.). Compare § 564 p. 111.

To these must be added (8) the Latin perfect in -vī and -uī, (9) the Umbr.-Samn. perfect with f, and (10) the t-perfect of Oscan, Pelignian, and Volscian; see §§ 873 ff.

This fusion of the forms of Aorist and Perfect implies that the Idg. Perfect had become a historic tense as early as protoethnic Italic.

1) Conway (Amer. Journ. Phil. xi 308) defends the old view of cebnust as a reduplicated form.

2) The Umbr.-Osc. ending -e-d is odd as compared with forms like fust, where the short vowel of the last syllable is syncopated (I § 633 p. 474). Whether the law of syncopation allowed certain exceptions in the case of a final dental (say, depending on what the preceding syllable was, or the accent), or whether -e- in this -e-d is due to some analogy, I do not here discuss.

Of the endings of the perfect indicative, these belonged to the perfect in Idg.: Lat. -ī in the 1st sing. = Skr. -ē; -tī which fused with the aorist element -is- made the 2nd sing. (: Skr. -tha § 988.3); and -imus in tutud-imus vĕn-imus may be equated with Skr. -i-ma, Avest. -ama Gr. -αμεν Goth. -um (ste-ti-mus = Gr. ἔ-στα-μεν Skr. ta-sthi-má?). To the is-aorist belongs Lat. 2nd pl. -is-tis, also -is-tī in 2nd sing. (see above), and possibly -ērunt in the 3rd plural. To the thematic aorist belong Lat. 3rd sing. -i-t, earlier -e-d (vhevhaked), whose agreement with Umbr.-Samn. -e-d is most important (the -e of the 3rd sing. perf. Idg. must doubtless have given place to -e-d = Idg. -e-t completely in pr. Italic), and partly -i-mus in the 1st plural. The 3rd pl. Umbr.-Samn. -ens and Lat. -ērunt are ambiguous.

The precise way by which this fusion of different endings came about is not clear; nor will it be made clear so long as the 3rd singular and 3rd plural are the only endings we know in Umbro-Samnitic dialects (as to Osc. manafum, see § 874). Thus much only seems certain, that as early as proethnic Italic some thematic forms had joined on to the old perfect system; cp. Lat. de-d-i-t Osc. de-d-e-d beside Lat. de-d-ī, pe-pig-i-t beside pe-pig-ī.

Beside -e-d = Idg. -e-t, Latin has also -īd -īt, on inscriptions -eit, as fuueit redieit. Since interieisti also occurs on inscriptions, the simplest explanation is that the ī came from the 1st sing. which had -ī.

Remark. Bartholomae (Stud. idg. Spr., II 195) derives fuit from Idg. bhuy-i-t* or bhuy-ej-t*, which seems to me very far-fetched. I identify fuit with Skr. ā-bhur-a-t (Osc. conj. fuid for bhuy-ē-t* § 872), and I regard fū (Ennius has fūimus) as a re-formate like plūi (cp. Osthoff, Perf. 254 f.).

§ 868. The Idg. e of the reduplicating syllable seems to have been kept without change in proethnic Italic. Compare O.Lat. vhe-vhaked 'fecit' Osc. fe-facid 'fecerit', Lat. de-dī Osc. de-ded Umbr. re-ře, Lat. me-mordī pe-pugi ste-tī, Umbr. de-rsicust 'dixerit' pe-purkurent 'poposcerint, rogaverint'.

But Latin, if the vowel of the syllable which followed the reduplicator was the same as that of its present stem, assimilated this e to it; as mo-mordī : mordeō, cu-currī : currō, pu-pugī : pungō, sci-cidī : scindō, di-dicī : discō, sti-tī : sistō; whilst in Old Latin we still find the regular forms me-mordī pe-pugī etc. (see above). Compare Skr. u-vāc-a instead of va-vāc-a following uc-yā-te uktā-s and the like, § 851 p. 400. However, e remained if the vowel of the next syllable, and the present vowel, were of the e-kind; as pendī : pendō pendeō, pe-pēdī : pēdō; and the same if it differed from the present vowel, as ce-cinī : canō, ce-cidī : cadō, pepulī : pellō, pe-perī : pariō, ste-tī : stō stās etc.

In compounds four syllables long (in the 1st and 3rd singular), the reduplicator underwent syncope in proethnic Latin, as a consequence of the accentuation then given to the first member; as reppulī rettulī reccidī for ré-pepulī *ré-tetulī ré-cecidī, dēcīdī attīgī incurrī for dé-cecidī *át-tetīgī in-cecurrī (I § 633 p. 474).

That both reduplicated and unreduplicated forms occurred in pr. Italic within the perfect system of the same verb is shewn by O.Lat. phe-phaked Osc. fe-facust as compared with Lat. fēcī Umbr. fakust. Compare further Lat. sci-cidī and scidī, te-tulī and tulī, Umbr. de-rsicust and Osc. dicust, Lat. ce-cinī and Umbr. pro-canurent. Thus we have no right to assume that Lat. tulī was abstracted from compounds in which the reduplicator had suffered syncope, as in rettulī attulī. When a form has only survived in compounds, as -culī (per-culī), it is impossible to say whether it never was reduplicated or whether syncope has hidden the reduplication.

This loss of reduplication in Latin compounds helped to link reduplicated and unreduplicated forms all the closer.

Beside Lat. abs-condidī (from abs-condō) the form abs-condī sprang up on the analogy of scandi : scandō, since condō in this word joined with abs had ceased to be regarded as a compound; cp. abscōnsum beside absconditum. On the contrary, condidī :

condō, crēdidī : crēdō and the like gave rise to perf. dēscendī beside dēscendī.

As regards verbs with initial vowel, such forms as Skr. an-āś-a (§ 851 p. 401) and Gr. ᾠ-ωρ-α (§ 858 p. 408) were foreign to Italic. Lat. ēd-ī em-ī (from ed-ō em-ō), as well as sēd-ī vēn-ī, ēg-ī co-ēpī coepī (from ag-ō ap-iō), as well as cēp-ī pēg-ī, ōd-ī (od-iō), as well as fōd-ī, may be regarded as forms which never had any reduplication at all. See § 848 p. 393 f., § 870.

The reason for the variants tutūdī and tutudī is doubtless a difference of ablaut, such as we see in Skr. tu-tōd-a tu-tud-ūr (cp. also Goth. staī-stáut); then tu-tūd- will come from tú-taud-*, as in-clūdō for ín-claudō*.

The o-grade of the sing. indic. appears in spopondī totondī, which had run into one verbal system with the éjo-presents spondeō tondeō (§ 802 p. 338). spopond-imus instead of spe-pond-* like Gr. πρόνθ-αμεν instead of πε-παθ- (part. πεπαθνῖα). momord- in momordī momordimus (pres. mordeō like spondeō) may be both Idg. me-mord-* and me-mṛd-* (Skr. ma-mard-a ma-mṛd-ur). Similarly, we have cu-curri from currō for corsō krsō (§ 662 p. 197). Umbr. pepurkurent from $\sqrt{\text{prek-}}$ may like de-rsic-ust contain the weak stem (pe-prk-*), although persklum persnimu, which have changed the position of r (§ 674 p. 207), suggest some doubt.

Strong and Weak forms may be found, again, in meminī tetinī pepulī tetulī (memin-i-mus tetul-i-mus: Gr. μέμα-μεν τέτλα-μεν, as Skr. jagm-i-ma : jagan-ma Gr. βέβα-μεν, and as Skr. jagm-i-vás- : jagan-vás-); only the weak form in pepigī for pepagī* (but Gr. πέπηγε) tetigī cecidī. But it is doubtful how far we are to look for the origin of these perfects in old reduplicated aorists (§ 867. 7 p. 415).

Doubtless it is the weak stem in Osc. fefacust beside Lat. fēcī from $\sqrt{\text{dhē-}}$. The a of Lat. vehhakrd is difficult.

Remark. If it is short, this seems to prove that at the time of the Manios inscription (attributed to the 6th century B. C.) the weakening of pépagī* to pépigī* and the like (I § 680 p. 547) had not yet been completed. But hear what Bücheler says (Rhein. Mus. XLII 317): "After the second h the carver first put i, which he afterwards erased, though not so completely but that the intent is clear". Again, p. 318: "The quantity of the a is not known. What we know of the reduplicated perfects which are preserved in Latin, makes it likely that the a was short. Possibly this is the reason of the i which was first engraved (cano cecini, infacetis inficetus)". If this i is rightly so explained, and if the a put in on second thoughts was short, it must be a reversion to the old type on the analogy of faciō etc. (as with in-facētus); but such a reversion in the perfect is hardly credible. If ā was meant, it must be assumed that fefak-* was made in connexion with fefak-* fefik-* on the analogy of some such form as pepāy-* (beside weak pepäg-* pepig-*). — We may now refer to Buck, Der Vocalismus der osk. Spr., 28 f.

The weak stem (regular) in Lat. de-d-ī = Skr. da-d-ē (cp. tu-tud-ī = Skr. tu-tud-ē) and in Umbr. te-ř-ust 'dederit' = Skr. da-d-úṣ- (cp. de-rsic-ust = Skr. di-diṣ-úṣ-), also Lat. ste-t-ī = Skr. ta-sth-ē. The form de-d-e-d*, common to all Italic dialects, and Lat. ste-t-i-t, correspond exactly to the present forms Vestin. di-d-e-t 'dat' Lat. si-st-ō Umbr. sestu § 543 p. 103, § 553 p. 107. Uncertain it is whether Lat. sistimus is si-sta-mos* answering to Gr. ἵ-στα-μεν, and it is equally uncertain whether ste-ti-mus de-di-mus are ste-ta-mos* de-da-mos* precisely like Skr. ta-sthi-má Gr. ἱ-στα-μεν Skr. da-di-má.

§ 870. A word of explanation is needed on those reduplicated perfects which have ē where the present has an a-sound. Lat. fēcī (beside vehhaked): faciō, capī: capiō (cp. Goth. hōf), jēcī: jaciō, pēgī (beside pepigī Gr. Dor. πένᾱγε): pangō, frēgī: frangō; Osc. conj. hipid 'habuerit' fut. perf. hipust 'habuerit': hafiēst 'habebit', sipus 'sciens': Lat. sapiō (cp. O.H.G. int-suab). With initial vowel Lat. ēgī: agō (cp. O.Icel. ōk), co-ēpī coepī: capiō. ē is certainly original in fēcī,¹⁾ compare Gr. ἔθῆκα (§ 864 Rem. p. 412), and doubtless in frēgī, compare Goth. brēkum from $\sqrt{bhreg-}$ (on frangō see § 632 p. 168), and perhaps jēcī (Johansson, Beitr. gr. Spr. 61). Beginning with these forms, ē spread to those which originally had a; in the causing of which not only the present with a, but also the to-participle had some effect, captu-s for example being like factu-s; the reason why scabī (= Goth. skōf) remained, from scabō, whilst cāpī* (= Goth. hōf) changed to cēpī, was perhaps the lack of any participle scaptu-s*. It was natural, too, to make pēgī like frēgī, simply because the verbs had opposite meanings.

1) Bronisch sees fēk- in Umbr. feitu fetu feetu fetu 'facito' = fēke-tōd*. Another explanation, but less probable, is offered by Conway, Amer. Journ. Phil. XI 307, Class. Rev. v 300.

Lat. po-poscī from poscō for por(c)-scō*, cp. Skr. papracha. fe-fellī for fe-fallī* from fallō for fal-nō* (§ 608 p. 149). tetend-ī from tendō, $\sqrt{ten-}$ (§ 564 p. 111, § 696 p. 225).

Lat. pre-hendī from -hendō from $\sqrt{ghed-}$, lambī from lambō beside O.H.G. laffu, pandī from pandō beside pateō (§ 632 p. 168 f.). cūdī from cū-dō (§ 696 p. 225). Osc. com-parascuster 'consultus erit' beside Lat. -pscō for perc-scō* or parc-scō* (§ 674 p. 207). Umbr. eiscurent 'poposcerint, arcesierint' beside pres. Skr. ichá-ti etc. (§ 670 p. 203). If Bugge's explanation of the Osc. fut. perf. fifikus as 'feceris' is right (Altital. Stud. 31), we must allow Oscan a present stem fi-fēk(o-)*, showing the same reduplication as Gr. τί-θη-μι, and to be compared with Vestin. di-d-e-t 'dat' Lat. si-stō etc. (§ 553 p. 107); cp. Skr. part. vivak-vās- from pres. vi-vak-ti (§ 850 p. 398).

minuī sternuī (pres. mi-nuō ster-nuō § 649 p. 185) keep the present stem in the perfect; this being due to imitation of ex-uī: ex-uō, pluī: pluō and the like. The same is true of perf. statuī from the denominative statuō.

§ 872. The Moods of the Idg. perfect, and its preterite the Pluperfect, died out in Latin owing to the influx of sigmatic aorist forms into the perfect system. Still, momentō = Gr. μεμátω remains, because meminī was used as a perfect present.

Umbro-Samnitic has an ē-conjunctive (§ 926 c). Osc. fefacid 'fecerit' hipid 'habuerit' fuid 'fuerit', Umbr. stīti-steteiens 'stiterint'. From the f-Perfect Osc. sakrafīr 'sacraverint', Umbr. pihafēi = pihafēr* 'piaverint', from the t-Perfect, Osc. trībarakattīns 'aedificaverint'. This Conjunctive may be derived from either conj. of the Idg. perfect (cp. Gr. πρόνθ-η Skr. paprc-ā-si) or conj. of the thematic aorist (Osc. fuid = Skr. bhuv-ā-t).

In the same area, the Idg. ues-participle held its own. Osc. sipus 'sapiens' probably like nom. sing. Skr. vidūṣ Avest. vīdus (II § 136 p. 439 f., III § 193 p. 73). From this form was built up the future perfect (cp. W. Schulze, Kuhn's Zeitschr. xxviii 272 f., the Author, Ber. sächs. Ges. Wiss., 1890, pp. 223 ff.), by combining it with injunctives, used for future, of the stem s-o- (from es- 'esse'). 2nd sing. -us = -us-ses*, 3rd sing. -ust = -us-set* (-us-sed*): Umbr. kuvurtus 'converteris' dersicust 'dixerit', Osc. fefacust 'fecerit'. Osc. fust 'fuerit' (beside fust 'erit') for fu-ust* from conj. fuid. If this fu-ust* fust* existed in Umbrian too, this explains the form amprefuus 'circumieris' (beside apr-etu 'circumito')¹⁾, which will be due to analogy of it. On the analogy of the 1st future, where -zent is the ending of the 3rd pl., — as Osc. censazet 'censebunt' Umbr. furent 'erunt', — arose the plurals Osc. trībarakattuset 'aedificaverint' Umbr. pepurkurent 'poposcerint'. But we also find Umbr. covortuso 'conversum erit, converterint' for covortus so(r)*, benuso 'ventum erit, venerint' for benus so(r)*.

§ 873. The us-formation mentioned in the last section was used with other preterite participles besides those described.

1) The u is doubtless long in Osc. trībarakattuset too; if it had been short, we should expect trībarakattiuset* (I § 49 p. 41). I assume the same analogy here. — G. Bronisch, in his new work on the Osc. i- and e-vowels, regards the nominative ending -us as earlier -ūs* for -ūs*, and supports his view by amprefuus and trībarakattuset.

Umbr. en-telust 'intenderit' a-pelust 'impenderit' derived from tend-lo-* pend-lo-* (Lat. pendulu-s 'hanging'). Compare the Slavonic part. pret. act. with -lo-, as nes-lŭ from nes-ti 'to carry' (II § 76 p. 212).

Umbr. sesust 'sederit' from sesso-s* 'seated, sitting' (Skr. sattá-s). So too the Osc. t-preterite, which we must follow Danielsson in connecting with the to-participles, is derived from the fut. perf. in -t-us-. First arose forms like tribarakattuset from partic. tribarakato-. On the analogy of aamanafust* to ind. aamanaffed etc. arose such Indicatives as prúfatted profated 'probavit' and Conjunctives like tribarakattins. The same new formation is seen in Pelign. coisatens 'curaverunt' and in Volsk. sistiatiens 'statuerunt' = sistatens*. The frequent spelling with double t in Oscan is the same in principle as ff in the f-perfect; it is possible that it is entirely due to the analogy of the f-perfect, which was the model for the whole t-perfect system (§ 874).

Remark. In Umbr.-Oscan, as we shall see in § 874, the ā-denominatives can make a strong perfect. It may therefore be held that as the perfect prúffed was made for the present stem profā- 'probare', so the perfect prúfatted was made for profātā-* 'probatare'. But I prefer the explanation given above, so long as no forms are found from a stem profātā* or anything like it.

An origin similar to that of these future perfects must be postulated for Umbr. combifiansiust beside combifiatu 'nuntiato', purdinsiust 'porrexerit' beside pur-ditom 'porrectum', which presuppose noun-stems combifiankio-* purdinkio-* (see Johansson, Beitr. z. gr. Sprachk., 84 ff., 147 ff.).

§ 874. We pause a moment here to explain the origin of the f-perfect in this Umbro-Samnitic. Examples are: indic. Osc. aamanaffed 'mandavit' aikdafed aequidavit*, Osc. manafum, which may be 1st sing. ('mandavi') or 1st pl. ('mandavimus'), it is uncertain which; conj. Umbr. pihafei(r) 'piaverint' Osc. sakrafir 'sacraverint'; fut. perf. Umbr. ateřafust andirsafust 'circumtulert' ambrefurent 'circumierint'.

This formation belongs to the Italic imperfect compounded with bhy-ā-m* 'I was' (Lat. amā-bam Osc. fu-fans 'erant') and the Latin future compounded with bhū-ō* 'I shall be' (amā-bō), found also in Keltic (§ 899); the Umbr.-Samn. -fed is indic. aor. = Idg. bhū-e-t* (Avest. bva-ē), cp. Lat. fuit Osc. conj. fuid, to be connected with Skr. ā-bhuv-a-t (§ 867.5 p. 414). If Osc. mana-fum is 1st sing., its second part must be = Idg. bhū-o-m*. In the ff of Oscan, as aamanaffed, we should perhaps recognise another effect of the u which once followed f. But it is possible to explain the sharpening of the consonant if we take as our starting point f (for fu); see Danielsson, Pauli's Altit. Stud. iv 139 ff. For the Umbr.-Samn. conjunctive stem -fē- = fu-ē-* may be equated with O.C.Sl. bě (§ 578 p. 119, § 587 p. 128).

The attraction of these forms into the Perfect called up a future perfect with -us-. Umbr. ampr-e-fuus shows that the u was long; and this may be explained as due to the analogy of the fut. perf. fust* = Osc. fust for fu-ust* (§ 872 p. 420 f.).

No complete explanation has been given for the forms Umbr. portust 'portaverit' beside portatu 'portato', Osc. upsed 'operatus est' 3rd pl. uupsens ουπσενς beside úpsannam 'operandam', prúffed 'probavit' prúftú-set 'probata sunt' beside prúfatted 'probavit', urust 'oraverit'. They look as though formed after the fashion of primary a-verbs with strong perfect. Umbro-Samnitic perhaps had, as Latin had, primary a-verbs with strong perfect (cp. juvāre jāvī § 583 p. 124); and thus the a-denominatives may have followed their inflexion in some particulars, as in late Latin we meet forms like part. probitus or imper. probuntō from probāre (see Georges, Lex. Lat. Wortf., 556).

§ 875. We now return to Latin, in order to finish with the perfect in -vī and -uī, as ī-vī scī-vī sē-vī plē-vī nō-vī flā-vī finī-vī amā-vī and genuī texuī crepuī monuī saluī.

Of the attempts hitherto made to explain these, which are summarised by Stolz, Lat. Gr.² 370 f., and more fully by Per Persson, Wurzelersw. 210 (Ernault, Du Parfait, 63 and 92 f. should also be consulted), the simplest and most credible is the following. The analogy of mō-tu-s (Umbr. comoho-ta abl. 'com-mota') jū-tu-s : mōv-ī jūv-ī, and the like, suggested (1) plēvī nōvī amāvī beside plētū-s nōtū-s amātu-s etc., to which were added sēvī īvī etc.; and (2) e. g. gene-ūi* beside gene-to-s* (genitus), which became genuī.¹) Between genuī and flāvī, then, there would be the same relation as between Gr. ὁμώμονα and δέδωκα.

The reason why mōvī jūvī had this influence, in spite of their present moveō juvō, is the specially close connexion between the to-participle and the perfect active; mōtus sum being the passive of mōvī. The Gr. τέθηκα δέδωκα etc., it will be remembered, caused the x-type of perfect to spread (as βέβληκα ἔγνωνκα), in spite of their connexion with the aorist ἔθηκα ἔδωκα, which themselves were not fertile.

Remark. We must assume that nōv-ī goes along with Skr. ja-jñāu, nāv-ī with Skr. snāu-ti, and nēv-ī with Goth. snēv-um. The old part. perf. active has also been brought in evidence, and sēvistis derived from sē-ves stes*, sēvīmus from sēves smos* (though sēves-smos* could regularly only become sēvēmus*); and others have connected genuī with in-genuo-s, sīvī with dē-sivāre, and so forth.

The forms in -vī and -ui, like all perfect forms not based upon the is-aorist, were attracted to take the endings of this tense in the other persons: nōvistī nōvistis genuistī genuistis nōverō genuerō nōverim genuerim nōveram genueram nōvissem genuissem.

A few original s-perfects were transformed to match genuī: pēxuī nēxuī instead of pēxī nēxī (§ 823 p. 361) from pectō nectō (§ 683 p. 214 f.), messuī instead of messī* from metō.

Keltic.

§ 876. Outside of Irish, few survivals remain of the Idg. perfect. Gall. dede 'dedit' or 'posuit', Mid.Cymr. cigleſ 'audivi' = O.Ir. ro chuala.

1) Beside pōnō for po-s(i)nō* stood po-sivī and since po-situ-s was incorrectly analysed pos-i/u-s, there arose the other Perfect form posuī. See Osthoff, Perf., 261 and 611 f.

Of Irish examples, we have already cited, and compared with perfect forms from other Idg. languages in § 846, the following: do-ro-chair 'cecidit, periit', ro gēnar 'natus sum', do-mēnar 'putavi', ro gegon 'interfeci', ro lil 'adhaesit' 3rd pl. ro leldar, ro chuala 'audivi', ro bōi 'fuit', ad-con-dairc 'conspexit', do-roigu 'elegit', ro cechan 'cecini'; in § 847 im-chom-arc-air 'interrogavit', in § 849 ro tāich 'fugit' 3rd pl. ro tāchatar.

To these examples a few more may be added which show the reduplication either retained, or changed only in accordance with the phonetic rules. ro reraig 'porrexit' for rē-rog-e*, pres. rigim, √ reġ-: cp. O.Icel. rak. ro memaid 'he broke' (intr.) 3rd pl. ro me-md-atur, pres. maidim. ro de-daig 'oppressit' 3rd pl. ro de-dg-atar, pres. for-dengat 'opprimunt'. fris-racacha 'speravi', pres. ad-chiu 'I see'. ro selaig 'he struck down' i. e. se-slaig, pres. sligim: cp. Goth. slōh § 888. ro cechladatar 'suffoderunt', pres. -cladar 'he is buried'. ro sescaind 'he sprang', pres. Mid.Ir. scinnim: Skr. ca-skānd-a 'he sprang'; on the vocalism of this root see § 520 p. 84. ro sescaing 'he leapt out', pres. Mid.Ir. scingim. Mid.Ir. ro leblaing 'he leapt' instead of lelaing* beside pres. lingim O.Ir. lengaim (R. Schmidt, Idg. Forsch. I 48 f.). ro cechaing 'he stepped', pres. cengaim.

The perfects fo nenaig 'he cleansed' and ro senaich 'it dropped, trickled' beside pres. nigim √ neig- and snigid √ sneigh-, may be derived from nenoiġe* sesnoiġe*, as nothing certain is known of the treatment of oi in internal syllables. But perhaps they are modelled after perfects like reraig, cp. Goth. baþ from bidja § 722 p. 253.

Mid.Ir. ro-fiu 'he slept', not from √ suep-, but, as Thurneysen holds, from √ ues- (Skr. vas- 'to pass the night' perf. u-vās-a), therefore for ue-uo(s)-e*, which became first fi-ui*, 3rd pl. -feotar for ue-uo(s)-atar*; cp. feiss 'sleep'. Observe the analogical e of the reduplicator, for by I § 66 p. 54 f. ueuos-* must have become uouos-*.

§ 877. Perfects based upon presents with stem-characteristic (cp. § 847). in-roigrann 'I pursued' beside in-grennim from $\sqrt{\text{ghredh-}}$ (§ 628 p. 165). do-sefainn 'pepulit' 3rd pl. do-sefnatar, if the present sennim § 613 p. 151 is rightly derived from suen-nō*. ro nenasc 'I bound, promised' beside nascim from $\sqrt{\text{nedh-}}$ (§ 675 p. 208).

ad-gēn 'cognovi' 3rd sing. -geuin 1st pl. -gēnammar 3rd pl. -gēnatar comes from the Idg. perfect gē-ġn-ō-* (Skr. jajñāu Gr. ἔγνωκα ἔγνωσται, also perhaps Goth. kaī-knō*, see p. 128 footnote 1), from $\sqrt{\text{ġen-}}$. The plural may be derived at once from this ground-form. The 1st and 3rd sing., which point to ge-ġn-a* and ge-ġn-e*, are later re-formates. Compare in Sanskrit the forms jajñimā jajñivās- beside jajñāu etc. (§ 850 p. 396).

§ 878. The syllable of reduplication usually has the vowel e quite clear; e. g. ro ge-gon ge-guin like Gr. πέ-φαται, ro ce-chan ce-chuin like Lat. ce-cinī.

By dissimilation, the initial consonant of the unaccented reduplicating syllable was dropt after ro, after which the e-vowel of this syllable was contracted with ro into the genuine diphthong oi (I p. 483 footnote 1). Of the examples already given do-roigu for ró-gegu*, and in-roigrann, come in here. Others are for-roichan beside ro cechan, fo-roiblang beside ro leblang, arob-roinasc beside ro nenasc, fo-roichlaid beside ro cechladatar.

By a process of re-formation which cannot now be traced exactly we have u in the reduplicator of ro chuala, for cu-clou-a*; the Mid.Cymr. ci-glef (3rd sing. ci-gleu) gives no help in determining the age of Ir. cu-, because its ci- admits of more than one explanation. In Irish, i seems also to have been used in reduplicating i-roots: ro lil 'adhaesit' pres. lenim $\sqrt{\text{lei-}}$, ro giul 'adhaesit' pres. glenim $\sqrt{\text{glei-}}$, do-rad-chiuir 'redemit' 1st sing. -chēr pres. crenim $\sqrt{\text{grei-}}$ (§ 598 p. 142, § 604 p. 145). The last attempts to deal with this difficult group of perfect forms are those of Thurneysen, Kuhn's Zeitschr. xxxi 89, and R. Schmidt, Idg. Forsch. i 62 f.¹) The forms which must be postulated as those which just preceded these show the personal ending affixed immediately to the root-final consonant: 3rd sing. li-l-e* gi-gl-e* ki-kr-e*, 1st sing. ki-kr-a* (-chër) 3rd pl. li-l-ontor* (leldar). And again the perfect of renim 'I sell' (for pr-na-mi* from $\sqrt{\text{per-}}$, § 598 p. 141) shows this perfect formation, 3rd sing. ro rir = pi-pr-e* (this first becomes ir*, instead of which we get rir by § 476 p. 23), whilst what one would expect is reir* = pe-pr-e* (with strong stem pe-por-e*). R. Schmidt conjectures that this pe-pr-e* and li-lo(i)-e* etc., the present formation being the same for both, became pi-pre* and li-le* by mutual analogy. Is it not better to suppose that -rir is based upon a reduplicated preterite pi-pr-e-t*, in Class IV? In Thurneysen's opinion the Conjunctive of this present class is represented in futures like do-bër (§ 565 p. 112), and we shall see anon (in § 879) that some of the Keltic perfects probably come from a thematic preterite (aorist or imperfect). -ciuir too may be derived from qi-qr-e-t*, as the "root" qrēi-, it may be conjectured, is possibly an extension of qer- 'make'.¹⁾ If this be the origin of -rir (and -ciuir), the difficulty of -lil and the rest at once vanishes.

t-ānac 'I came' 3rd sing. t-ānaic beside Skr. anāśa, also to be compared with Gr. ἐν-ήνεγκ-ται, if ἐν- is the preposition and not a reduplicator. See § 846 p. 390, § 858 p. 408.

§ 879. Beside the reduplicated forms appear unreduplicated not a few. To those already cited, do-ro-chair, ro bōi, ad-con-dāirc, im-chom-arc-air, ro tāich, we may add 3rd sing. ro scaich beside scuchim 'I yield', ro gāid beside gudim 'I beg', 1st sing. fo-ro-damar for -damar beside fo-daim 'patitur', 3rd sing. du-fu-tharcair 'wishes'.

There is no proof that these forms have lost a reduplicating syllable in Keltic itself. Like ro-mīdar (§ 848.3 p. 393), they are forms which never had reduplication; -dairc may be compared with Skr. darś-i-vas- (§ 848. 2 p. 392).

Unfortunately there is nothing to decide whether in the plural of the Irish perfect, in such forms as ro cechnammar cechnaid cechnatar, the vowel preceding the personal ending was the thematic vowel, or Idg. a (= pr. Kelt. a); in the 1st plural another question offers, whether a does not come from the initial sonant of the personal ending (-ŋm-). If, as is most probable, these are thematic, there may have been thematic preterites amongst the above unreduplicated forms, and -dairc, for instance, may be identical with Gr. ἔδρακε, bōi with Skr. ābhavat; do-cer 'cecidit' too, beside do-ro-chair, gives the impression of such a preterite. Compare the aorist forms which have obtained a footing in the Latin Perfect, e. g. scidit = Skr. āchidat (§ 867. 5 p. 414). In § 878 p. 427. I conjectured that -rir was a reduplicated thematic aorist. In the 3rd singular, the original endings -e* (perf.) and -e-t* (thematic pret.) must have run together in Irish; so in the 1st plural with -a-m- (Skr. -i-ma), -ŋm- (Goth. -um), and -o-m-; and this may have brought about the commingling of the different tenses.

§ 880. Of the Idg. vowel gradation in the Root Syllable little now remains. Within the indic. active, the differences of gradation between singular and plural were all levelled away in Old Irish; e. g. 3rd sing. ro geguin 'vulneravit, trucidavit' for gegon-e* (Skr. jaghān-a) 2nd pl. ro gegnaid for gegon-* (Skr. jaghñ-ā). But the original middle shows in some forms the weak stem proper to it; e. g. ro gēnar 'natus sum' for ge-gñ-*, like Skr. ja-jñ-ē.

The vocalism of some forms is exceptional: ro tāich beside techim 'I flee', ro rāith beside rethim 'I run', cp. ro scāich beside scuchim, ro gāid beside gudim. Except ro mīdar, all unreduplicated preterites with roots having a single initial consonant show -ā-.

§ 881. One thing yet remains to say of the personal endings. The 1st and 3rd plural have a deponent formation (-ammar and -atar).

Germanic.

§ 882. I first give once again the forms cited in § 846, and compared with perfects from other languages. Goth. ga-tar 'he tore up, destroyed' -tērūn, O.H.G. zar zārūn. Goth. man 'remembers, wishes' munun, O.Icel. man muno. Goth. gam 'came' gēmūn, O.H.G. quam quāmūn. Goth. ga-þars 'dried up' -þaursun. Goth. ga-dars 'dares' -daursun, O.H.G. gi-tar-turrun. Goth. varþ 'became' vairþun, O.H.G. ward wurtun. Goth. hlaf 'stole' hlēfun. Goth. band 'bound' bundun, O.H.G. bant buntun. Goth. gataih 'showed, recounted' -tathun, O.H.G. zēh zigun. Goth. bait 'bit' bitun, O.H.G. beiz bizzun. Goth. laihō 'lent' laihūn, O.H.G. lēh liwun. O.H.G. sēh 'strained, filtered' sigun. Goth. kāus 'tried, chose' kusun, O.H.G. kōs kurun. Goth. ana-báuþ 'bade, commanded' -budun, O.H.G. bōt butun. Goth. bāug 'bent' bugun, O.H.G. boug bugun. O.H.G. rōz 'wept' ruzzun. O.Icel. svaf 'slept' svǫfo. Goth. gavag 'moved' -vēgun, O.H.G. wag wāgun. Goth. sat 'sat' sētun, O.H.G. saz sāzun. Goth. saī-sō 'sowed' sat-sōun. Goth. skat-skāiþ 'separated, parted' skat-skāiūn. Goth. staī-stāut 'pushed, knocked' staī-stāutun.

The Idg. difference in accent of singular and plural (cf. Skr. vēda : vidmā, cakāra : cakṛmā) has left its traces in the final consonants of the root in O.H.G. ward : wurtun, zēh : zigun, kōs : kurun and the like (I § 530 p. 386 f., § 580 p. 434).

Whether the ending of the 1st pl. indic. -um represents Idg. -mme, or is due to the analogy of 3rd pl. -un and was originally Idg. -me or -ə-me, is doubtful; see § 844 p. 385 f.

Besides the indic. perf., the Optative is seen in Germanic; e. g. 1st pl. Goth. vit-ei-ma O.H.G. wizz-ī-mēs, Goth. skatskaid-

-ei-ma. Then there is one isolated Conjunctive form, used as an imperative, Goth. þgs 'fear thou' (beside indic. þg 'he fears'), and a few substantives based upon the Participle, as Goth. bēr-us-jōs 'parents' and A.S. ēzesa ēzsa O.Sax. ēcso 'owner' (II § 136 p. 445, Johansson Beitr. zur griech. Sprachkunde, 134).

The Germanic Perfect falls into two divisions, (I) Reduplicated and (II) Unreduplicated.

§ 883. (I) The reduplicating syllable of the Idg. reduplicated perfect is kept clear and true in Gothic; but this only by roots which as far as Germanic is concerned do not belong to the e-series.¹⁾

All Gothic reduplicating syllables have ai, which is regular for i = Idg. e before h and r; e. g. hai-hait rai-rōþ (I § 67 p. 58). Begining with those cases where it was regular, ai spread to the rest by analogy; hence skat-skáiþ; which regularly would be ski-skáiþ*. As regards Johansson's view that Goth. ai is to be read as a long vowel, see Addendum to page 17.

The fact that the analogy of ai really did so act is clear from the new forms ai-áuk (= O.Icel. jök § 885) beside áuka 'I increase', and af-atáik beside af-áika 'I deny, refuse' (§ 473 p. 19).

The root syllable of these reduplicated forms is always the same in the plural as in the singular; the strong grade of the singular has become general. skat-skáiþ skat-skáidun: Skr. ci-chēda ci-chidur, √ skhajit- skhajid-. stat-stáut stat-stáutun: Skr. tu-tōda tu-tudur, √ (s)taud-. fat-flök 'he lamented' fat-flökun: Gr. Dor. πέ-πλάγε, pres. flōka Class II A in contrast with Lith. plakù Class II B, √ plaq- plāg- (§ 534 p. 96). sai-sō 'sowed' sai-sōun: Gr. Dor. ἀπέωκα, pres. saia for sē-iō*, cp. Gr. ῖ-ῖ-μι, √ sē- sə-; saisōun, like lailōun 'they abused',

1) "As far as Germanic is concerned", because the analogy of these attracted into the same group some others which in the parent language did have e-vocalism; for instance, Goth. raivald beside valda 'I rule' for uđdhō* from √ uel-.

also shows itself not to be in its original form by the ending -un, taken over from the stems which had initial consonant. lai-lōt 'let' lai-lōtun, pres. lēta, √ lēd- (§ 521 p. 85).

§ 884. This Gothic reduplicated Perfect was also formed from extended roots, or from presents with some stem-characteristic (cp. §§ 847, 889, 891).

vai-vō 'blew': Skr. va-vāu from u-ē- 'to blow', pres. vaia = uē-iō (§ 587 p. 128, § 735 p. 262).

fat-fāh 'grasped' fat-fāhun (cp. O.H.G. fiang fiangun § 885) beside pres. faha (O.H.G. fāhu) for fan̥xō*, probably a nasal present from √ pāk- (§ 632 p. 168, § 634 p. 171).

fat-falþ 'folded' fai-falþun beside pres. falþa ground-form p̥f-tō* (§ 680 p. 213); hai-hald 'tended, pastured' beside pres. halda ground-form k̥l-tō* (§ 585 p. 215). vai-vald 'he ruled' vai-valdun beside pres. valda ground-form u̥l-dhō* (§ 689 p. 219); ga-rairōþ 'considered' -rairōdun beside pres. ga-rēda ground-form rē-dhō* (§ 689 p. 220). sat-salt 'he salted' beside pres. sal-ta = Lat. sallō for sal-dō* (§ 690 p. 221).

§ 885. In West Germanic and Norse there are only a few distinct traces of the reduplicated type. The most important forms for our purpose are the following.

First some Anglo-Saxon forms, as reo-rd = Goth. rai-rōþ, (leo-rt = lai-lōt), leo-lc 'he leapt' = lai-láik with long vowel lost in the final syllable, as it is in hwylc 'which?' swylc 'such' = Goth. hvileiks svaleiks.

More uncertain are some forms which Bopp regarded as reduplicated. O.H.G. Alemann. 3rd pl. ind. pleruzzun 3rd sing. opt. ca-pleruzzi beside pres. bluozu 'I offer', 3rd sing. ind. ki-skrerot beside pres. scrōtu 'I cut' (= Goth. skráuda*), 3rd sing. ind. steroz beside pres. stōzu 'I knock, push'. According to Holz (Urgermanisches geschlossenes ē, p. 28) ske-skrōd-* became skre-skrōd-* skre-rōd-, be-blōt- became ble-blōt-* ble-lōt-* blerōt-*; this, he says, produced a perfect type with r, whence sterōt-* instead of ste-stōt-*. A different view is taken by Zarncke, P.-B. Beitr. xv 350 ff.; but his is more dubious even than that of Holz.

O. Icel. sera 'I sowed' for se-zō* = Goth. sai-sō; sera is inflected as a weak preterite in the singular (as is Goth. 2nd sing. saisōst perhaps from saisōs*); in the plural, serom. O. Icel. jök 'I increased' (pl. jökum) for eauka* = Goth. ai-áuk (§ 883 p. 430).

In these dialects we usually find, parallel to the Gothic reduplicated perfect, forms whose structure is apparently different; on which works have been brought out of late by Ljungstedt, Ottmann and Holz, whose titles are given in the footnote to page 383.¹⁾ The facts about O.H.G. are as follows:

(1) Verbs with ou or ō = Goth. áu in the present, and verbs with present uo = Goth. ō, have, instead of the Gothic dissyllabic reduplicated stem, a monosyllabic stem with eo, whence io ia ie. leof liof liaf lief 'I ran' leofun liofun from pres. loufu: Goth. hai-hlāup hai-hlāupun. stioz 'I pushed, knocked' stiozun from pres. stōzu: Goth. stai-stāut stai-stāutun. (hriof 'I called' (h)riofun from hruofu).

(2) The others, instead of the Gothic dissyllabic reduplicated stem, show a monosyllabic stem with ē, which becomes ea ia ie (I § 75 Rem. 2 p. 65):

(a) hiag 'I was called' hiagun from pres. heizu: Goth. hai-hait hai-haitun. sciad 'separated' from sceidu: Goth. skai-skaiþ.

(b) fiald 'folded' fialdun from pres. faldu: Goth. fai-falþ fai-falþun. hialt 'held' from haltu: Goth. hai-hald. wialt 'rules' from waltu: Goth. vai-vald. sialz 'salted' from salzu: Goth. sai-salt. fiang 'seized' fiangun from fāhu: Goth. fai-fāh fai-fāhun; the difference between the Gothic and Old High German, h : g, is explained by remembering that in accordance with the old difference in accent, the singular came to have h and the plural g (cp. § 882 p. 429). fial 'fell' from fallu for fal-nō*, wial 'bubbled, boiled'

1) On Holz' attempt, see Holthausen, Anzeig. deutsch. Altert., 1891, p. 187; and Sievers, Paul-Braune-Sievers Beitr., xvi 252 ff. Ljungstedt's work is not accessible to me; his views are only known to me by reviews and citations.

wialun from wallu for yal-nō*, see § 614 p. 151; l for ll because a long vowel precedes. spian 'I stretched' spianun from spā-nnu, see § 654 p. 188; n for nn has the same reason. iar 'ploughed' iarun (part. gi-aran) from er-iu 'I plough' (the perf. of Goth. arja is not found), see § 723 p. 253.

(c) liaz 'I let' liazun from lazu: Goth. lai-lōt lai-lōtun. riat 'I advised' from ratu: Goth. rat-rōþ. sliaf 'slept' from slāfu contrasted with Goth. sai-zlēp sai-slēp pres. slēpa.

Remark. sāu 'I sow' passed over to the weak conjugation; hence pret. sāta (part. gi-sāit), not like Goth. sai-sō. See Braune, Ahd. Gr.² § 351 Anm. 3 p. 249, § 359 Anm. 3 p. 254.

There can hardly be a shadow of doubt that some at least of these perfect formations, which are repeated to a great extent in the other West Germanic dialects and in Norse, have come from reduplicated forms such as we see in Gothic. But how this happened has not yet been clearly made out. The eo-preterite has been best explained, if explained be the word. It is probable that the type of this group arose from verbs which began with au-: 1st sing. é-auka* (Goth. aiáuk) became éōka* eoka* (O. Icel. jök); then on the analogy of eoka* beside pres. aukō* was formed beside hlaupō* the perf. hleopa* 'I run' (O.H.G. leof O. Icel. hljōp), and so forth.

Ljungstedt regards this whole perfect class as being composed partly of Idg. reduplicated perfects, and partly of aorists and imperfects; for instance, he calls O. Icel. kom 'I came' (beside kvam Goth. qam) an original aorist.

§ 886. Perhaps the West-Germ. preterite of √ dhē 'to place, do' is a reduplicated perfect: O.H.G. indic. 1st and 3rd sing. teta (2nd sing. tati) pl. tatum tatut tatun opt. 1st and 3rd sing. tati; O.Sax. 1st and 3rd sing. deda 2nd sing. dedōs pl. dedun and dadun opt. dedi and dadi; A.S. dyde dydes(t) etc. like nerede, but pl. also dædon.

It is not clear whether this preterite is to be connected with the Idg. perfect (Skr. dadhāu), or the Idg. imperfect (Skr. ádadhāt Gr. ἔτιθῆ, see § 539 p. 99, § 545 p. 103), or both. In any case, however, there can be no comparing of the 1st and 3rd sing. O.H.G. teta O. Sax. deda and the Skr. middle form dadhē.

The y of A.S. dyde is difficult. Sievers deduces an opt. du-d-ī-* (Paul-Braune-Sievers' Beitr., xvi 236). This would bring us to a weak preterite from a stem du-, as to which consult Wilmanns, Zeitschr. für d. Alt., xxxiii 425.

dēd-* in the weak forms seems to be connected with -dēdum in the Gothic weak preterite. To explain how it got there, the following theory is less strained than others. We may suppose that Germanic once had a present answering to the Skr. dā-dh-a-ti Lith. de-d-ù (§ 540 p. 101, § 561 p. 110); then tatum was an ad-formate of gābum etc. The suggestions of Johansson (Kuhn's Ztschr. xxx 550) and Holz (as cited, 44) are unsatisfactory.

Remark. Collitz (Am. Journ. Phil. ix 51) and Johansson (as cited, p. 549) see in Goth. iddja 'I went' a 1st sing. perf. mid. = Skr. īy-ē* (cp. act. 3rd pl. īy-ūr). But there never was any pr. Idg. perfect stem īy-, which fact alone wrecks the hypothesis; Skr. īy-ūr is an Aryan formation; see § 851 p. 399. On iddja, see § 478 p. 26, § 587 p. 128, § 592 p. 133.

§ 887. (II) We now turn to the Second chief class of Germanic Perfects, those which show no reduplication in any Germanic dialect. This class falls into two sections; (A) those which have no vowel variation within their own perfect system, as Goth. skōf skōbun opt. 1st pl. skōbeima; and (B) those which have, as Goth. man munun muneima, gam qēmun qēmeima.

A part of these forms, what are called the Preterite-Presents, kept hold of the proethnic function of the perfect to express the present perfect, and did not become a historic tense; as Goth. ōg 'I fear' āih 'I have' vāit 'I know' man 'I think'. In this they are like Lat. meminī and ōdī. As they were isolated in use, so they were exceptional in form. (1) In the Indicative, roots of the e-series, ending in a single consonant, lacked the ē-form; cp. Goth. man munun or skal skulun as contrasted with gam 'I came' qēmun, stal 'I stole' stēlun. (2) The present meaning demanded an infinitive and participle. The place of these was filled by thematic forms of present Class II, which in verbs that retained ablaut were taken from Class II B, e. g. āihan āihands beside áih 'I have', vitan vītands beside váit. Of the forms taken from Class II B, some few had come down from pre-Germanic times; as vitan munan skulun ga-daúr-san (§ 532 p. 93 f.). The adj. un-agands 'fearless' is related to ōg 'I fear' as us-anands 'exhaling' to us-ōn 'I exhaled'. (3) A past tense was needed for them. For this the 'Weak Preterite' was used, as Goth. vissa O.H.G. wissa wessa beside váit weiz, Goth. ga-daúrsta O.H.G. gi-torsta beside ga-dars gi-tar. If, as has been assumed, O.H.G. wiss-um -ut -un belong to the s-aorist, they must be related to weiz just as ἤσμεν ἤστε ἤσαν ἴσαν to οἶδα (§ 821 p. 358, § 827 p. 365, § 863 p. 411).

With the Preterite-Presents based upon the Idg. Perfect were associated a variety of Present stems:

Three or four ney-classes: Goth. kun-nu-m O.H.G. un-nu-m O.Sax. dur-nu-m*, to which were added, by analogy of the Perfect singular, the forms kann an darn; see § 646 p. 183 f.

Then Goth. O.H.G. mag 'I can, am able' pl. magun is probably a transformation of a present of Class II B mazō* = O.C.Sl. moga 'I can' (§ 523 p. 87); it belongs to the root of Gr. μῆχος μῆχανή Dor. μᾶχανᾶ, and must have been an orig. perfect mōg mōgun. Its transformation into a perfect is easily understood from its meaning. Beside magan magands were formed mag magun following áih áigun beside áihan áihands, and ga-mōt -mōtun beside -mōtan -mōtands.¹⁾ The form muz-, found in West-Germ. beside maz-, e. g. O.H.G. mugun beside magun, is due to later re-formation, as Osthoff shows (P.-B. Beitr. xv 213 ff.).

Remark. Osthoff (op. cit. pp. 217 f.) holds mag to be a genuine perfect, and assumes that mōg magun* levelled out the strong stem. This view is contradicted by ōg ōgun (beside un-agands) dih áigun (beside Skr. īḥ-) skōf skōbun (beside skaban) and so forth, which all show levelling in favour of the singular stem.

1) Similarly, in the Rhine-Frankish dialect of Mod.H.G. the identity of inflexion in ich brauch(e) wir brauche(n) inf. brauche(n) pret. braucht(e) and ich muss wir mülse(n) inf. mülse(n) pret. muss(e) led to the coining of a 3rd sing. er brach, instead of er braucht, parallel to er muss.

§ 888. Group II A. The unreduplicated perfects which had no gradation, with the single exception of mag (for which see above), show ai or ō in the root.

ai only in Goth. áih 'has' pl. áigun (by levelling also áig and áihun) O.H.G. pl. eigun (from the participial stem aiǵ-us*-comes A.S. ēgesa ēgsa O.Sax. ēcso, see § 882 p. 430): Skr. mid īś-ē, see § 848 p. 391. As this Sanskrit form shews, Germanic has levelled in favour of the singular vocalism, áigun instead of igun* or igun*. That áih has no reduplication (as af-aiáik stai-skáip etc. have, §§ 883 ff.) shows that this was lacking in pre-Germanic times, and makes the immediate connexion with the Aryan verb certain. Inf. áihan part. áihands are Germanic re-formates (cp. the thematic Skr. īś-a-tē Avest. is-a-itē, § 854 p. 404).

All other examples have ō, which is the vowel of the singular. These perfects, if we look at Germanic alone, all belong to roots of an a- or o-series. Goth. skōf 'scraped' skōbun O.H.G. scuob scuobun O.Icel. skōf skōfo from pres. skaba scabu skef: Lat. scābī from scabō. Goth. hōf 'raised' hōfun (instead of hōbun*) O.H.G. huob (instead of huof*) huobun from pres. hafja heff(i)u: Lat. capiō. O.H.G. int-suab 'I marked' -suabun from pres. int-seff(i)u: Lat. sapiō. Goth. skōþ 'I hurt' skōþun from pres. skapja: cp. Gr. ἀσκηθής 'scatheless' (η = ā). Goth. us-ōn 'exhaled' -ōnun from pres. us-ana: Skr. āna, cp. Gr. ἀνεμο-ς 'wind' ἡνεμόεις 'windy' (η for ā). O. Icel. ōk 'drove' ōko beside pres. ek: Gr. ἤχε ἡγμαι (η for ā) Skr. āja. O.H.G. buoh 'baked' buohhun from pres. bahhu (Class II B) beside backu (for bak-nō* Class XIII § 614 p. 152): Gr. πέφωμαι pres. φύγω (Class II A). Pret.-pres. Goth. ōg 'fears' ōgun (2nd sing. conj. ōgs § 882 p. 430) beside un-agands 'fearless': O.Ir. -āgur 'fear' may also have been originally perfect.

A certain number of perfects of this group come from roots of the e-series. Goth. fōr 'drove' fōrun O.H.G. fuor fuorun from fara faru, √ per- Gr. περάω 'I pass through'. Goth. mōl 'I ground' O.H.G. muol from mala malu, √ mel- O.Ir. melim

O.C.Sl. melja beside Armen. malem Lat. molō Cymr. malaf (§ 523 p. 86). Goth. grōf 'dug' O.H.G. gruob from graba grabu, √ ghrebh- O.C.Sl. grebaq. Goth. slōh 'struck' slōhun (instead of slōgun*) O.H.G. sluoh (also sluog) sluogun from slaha slahu, √ slek- sleg- O.Ir. sligim. O.H.G. gi-wuog 'mentioned' from gi-wahann(i)u (§ 623 p. 161), √ ueq- Gr. ῥπος 'word'. In most, if not all, of the Verbs of this sort, the first step must have been for the present to get an a, and the next to form a perfect with ō on the analogy of skōf skōbun from skaba. See § 509, page 75. There is no need to suppose that fōr and mōl were formed thus in connexion with some present, if we suppose that they date from a period when this whole class of perfects still had the weak stem in the plural of the indicative, and so forth. At such a period, far-* and mal-* = pǣ-* and mǣ-* may have been the weak perfect stem. If so, then the sing. fōr and mōl were formed beside them just as in Greek μέμλε took the place of μεμολε* on the analogy of forms with με-μαλ- (§ 859 p. 40³); a step further, and we have fōrun and mōlun following the singular.

§ 889. Some perfects of this class are based upon an extended root or a present stem which already has some characteristic (cp. §§ 847, 884, 891). O.H.G. spuon 'I enticed' from spanu (§ 614 p. 152); Mod.H.G. būk instead of Mid.H.G. buoch O.H.G. buoh following backe O.H.G. lacku for bak-nō* (§ 888 p. 436). Goth. vōhs O.H.G. wuohs 'I grew' from vah-s-ja wahsu (§ 657 p. 192). O.H.G. wuosc 'I washed' from wascu probably for uat-skō* (§ 676 p. 209). Goth. stōþ O.H.G. -stuot stuont 'stood' from sta-nda sta-ntu 'I stand' (§ 634 p. 172, § 685 p. 216). O.H.G. luod from (h)la-du A.S. hla-de 'I load' (§ 689 p. 220).

§ 890. Group II B. Perfects which ever since protoethnic Germanic have had vowel gradation in their root, but no reduplication, were formed from roots of the e-series. We divide them into two classes, (1) those in which the ablaut of the preterite present agrees with that in other tenses, (2) those in which it does not. Most of the following examples have come down from the parent language, as we have seen above.

(1) Goth. báit 'I bit' bitun opt. 1st pl. biteima O.H.G. beiz bizzun bizzim O.Icel. beit bito bitem. Pret.-pres. Goth. vát 'I know' vitun O.H.G. weiz wizzun O.Icel. veit vito. Goth. -báuþ 'offered' -budun O.H.G. bōt butun O.Icel. baud būð. Pret.-pres. Goth. dáug 'valet' O.H.G. toug tugun.

Goth. band 'I bound' bundun O.H.G. bant buntun O.Icel. batt bundo. Goth. varþ 'I became' waúrþun O.H.G. ward wurtun O.Icel. *varð urðo*¹⁾. Pret.-pres. Goth. ga-dars 'dares' -dairsun O.H.G. gi-tar -turrun.

There are reformates following this class; one is Goth. baþ 'I bade' bēdun O.H.G. bat bātun from pres. bidja bitt(i)u, ✓bhejdh- (§ 722 p. 253).

(b) Preterite-presents. Goth. skal 'shall' skulun O.H.G. scal sculun O.Icel. skal skolo. Goth. man 'thinks' munun O.Icel. man muno. Goth. ga-nah 'is enough' -nauhun* O.H.G. gi-nah A.S. pl. ge-nuzon (probably akin to O.C.Sl. nesq 'I carry', ✓nek-).

§ 891. Numerous perfects of this class are made from roots already extended, or from characterised present stems (cp. §§ 847, 884, 889).

1) Of the same sort is Goth. þrask 'I threshed' þruskun O.H.G. drask druskun, which probably contains the present suffix -sko-. Cp. § 876 p. 209, and § 891.

§ 893. We now have to examine in Group II (A) and (B) those forms which lack the reduplicating syllable.

The following perfects were always unreduplicated.

(1) Weak forms like Goth. sētun mētun qēmun; see § 848.3 p. 393. The reason why they drove out of the field forms of the same type as Skr. pa-pt-ūr sēdūr = sa-zd-ur*, was that in course of phonetic change the unity of the tense-system had been considerably destroyed; thus the reduplicated 3rd pl. of the Goth. mitan must needs become mintun* (sing. mat), from Goth. saihvan the form must be sisk(u)un* (sing. sahv), from Goth. qiþan it must be qaihtun* (sing. qap̃), from O.H.G. jesan

1) Mid.H.G. pl. vlāhten vāhten, and even in O.H.G. brāstun, beside an earlier form brustun from bristu 'I break'. For the change in the perf. plural see Osthoff, Perf. 119.

2) nōmon is regular, and drew the singular under the influence of fōr fōron.

it must be jīrun* (sing. jas), and from O.H.G. lesen it would be lillun* (sing. las). Thus the same difficulty had to be met here as was met in Sanskrit by the spread of the type sēd-yēm- (§ 852 p. 401).

(2) The pret.-pres. Goth. dih and probably also vāt which answers to Skr. vēda and Gr. oldε, see § 848 p. 391, § 888 p. 436.

Further, the following may be regarded as perfect forms originally unreduplicate:

(3) Goth. fr-ēt -ētun O.H.G. az O.Icel. at, and

(4) O.Icel. ök öko, Goth. ōn and ōg; see § 848. 3 and 4, pp. 393 f.

As regards the Preterite-Presents in particular, we must remember that the 3rd pl. Goth. munun and ga-daúrsan were in all probability injunctive, as we may regard vitun (§ 508 p. 74 f.). The two former may not have been associated in one tense with man and ga-dars until the reduplication was quite lost in the singular.

If, again, we remember that among forms like skōf (Lat. scābi) there may very well be some which were unreduplicate when they became part of the Germanic stock, it cannot seem strange that Germanic has lost its reduplication to such a great extent. Such forms as the perfect of hāitan or valdan were exempted from the change, and kept their reduplication, simply because their present and perfect had the same root-vowels, and without the reduplication there would be no sufficient difference between them.

As in the Italic perfect system we find preterite forms of our Present Class II B (e. g. Lat. fid-i-t, § 867. 5 p. 414), so we do in West Germanic. From this group we cite the 2nd sing. like O.H.G. bizzi A.S. bite 'thou didst bite' (Skr. á-bhid-a-s Lat. fid-i-t), O.H.G. zigi A.S. tize 'thou didst draw' (Skr. á-diś-a-s), see § 532 p. 928; further perhaps those like O.H.G. māzi A.S. māte 'thou measuredst' (Gr. ἐ-μῆδ-ε-ο), see § 514 p. 81. Such forms as these were at first quite rare. In protoethnic W.Germ. they had become identical with the 2nd sing.

optative, whose ending *-īz became -ī, e. g. A.S. bite opt. for bitīz*. And by analogy of these forms, which legitimately had both optative and indicative meanings, a large number of others, which originally were optative only and nothing more, took the indicative meaning too. An example is O.H.G. fiangi A.S. fenze. But in O.H.G. and O.Sax. the 2nd sing. opt. and indic. were differentiated afresh, -ī being restricted to the indicative, and in the optative the ending -īs (-īst), used since proethnic Germanic beside *-īz, being made proper ending: O.H.G. indic. bizzi opt. bizzīs(t), but A.S. bite opt. and indic. both. The reason why the old forms in -t (-þ) preserved in Gothic and Norse, such as Goth. báist 'didst bite' gaft 'gavest', were driven out of the West Germanic speech, is doubtless chiefly this, — that the stem-final consonant which preceded the personal ending was so often changed, the form thus becoming isolated (cp. Gr. πέπονθα etc. with -ας instead of -θα).

This West-Germ. 2nd sing. pret. seems to belong entirely to unreduplicated present stems. (It seems impossible to prove that any old reduplicated forms like Lat. te-tig-i-t Gr. τε-τάθ-ο-ντο are included amongst O.H.G. fiangi hiazi and that type.) But since they were absorbed into the Perfect system in West-Germanic, not before, we have no right to assume that they have at all aided in the tendency to drop the reduplicating syllable.

By analogy of the thematic present we have O.H.G. Alemann. eigamēs, uāramēs (cp. piramēs instead of pirum).

Balto-Slavonic.

§ 894. The inroads into the Idg. Perfect system here took a direction opposite to their course in Keltic and Germanic. The Participle survived, while the Finite Verb disappeared.

One vestige of this has been left in Slavonic; the O.C.Sl. rěd-ě 'I know', answering to Skr. věda Gr. οἶδα Goth. vāit, with the middle ending, which here as in Lat. (tutud-ī) drove out the active. This perfect was transformed into a present, giving věmĭ 'I know' 3rd sing. věstŭ; the 2nd pl. věste opt. 1st pl. vědimŭ imper. věždĭ (which keep ě instead of ĭ by levelling out all but the strong stem) may be real perfect forms; if so their present inflexion is due to the attraction of the other forms into the present system.

The Participial forms are all unreduplicated. Examples are Lith. kiřt-ęs (pres. kertŭ 'I cut, strike'), O.C.Sl. čřtŭ (pres. čřtŭ 'I cut'): Skr. ca-křt-vás-. Lith. dėg-ęs (degŭ 'I burn') O.C.Sl. žegŭ (žega 'I burn'): Skr. dēh-i-vás- dēh-uš-. Lith. dā-vęs (dŭ du 'I give') O.C.Sl. da-vŭ (damĭ): Skr. da-di-vás-da-da-vás-. Pruss. signā-uns beside signā-t 'to bless', O.C.Sl. želē-vŭ beside želē-ti 'to wish', which must be compared with Gr. κροτοῖς. See II § 136 pp. 445 f. Along with O.Ir. mīdar Goth. sētun go Lith. participles like sėd-ęs (from sėdu 'I sit, take my place'). Again, with Lat. ēdĭ Goth. fr-ēt goes the part. Lith. ėd-ęs O.C.Sl. jad-ŭ, and with Lith. fem. ėd-us-i may be compared ėj-us-i as being the regular descendant of Idg. ēj-us-i*.

How the first-named participles, kiřtęs čřtŭ and the like, lost their reduplication, cannot be made out; the losses which the Perfect System of this group of languages had undergone before the historical period begins are too great to admit of this being done. But anyhow the reason was not regular phonetic change, any more than it was in Germanic.

The agreement of the initial syllable in Lith. ėj-ęs kiřt-ęs etc. and the connected present stems ėj-o kiřt-o (§ 586 p. 126 f.) caused the coining beside dė-jo stó-jo of the part. dėjės stójės. Just so the agreement between mīr-ęs gīm-ęs etc. and mīr-ė gīm-ė (§ 593 p. 133) caused the coining beside ėm-ė of the partic. ėm-ęs instead of im-ęs* (Pruss. immus- O.C.Sl. imŭ). Vice versá, by analogy of participles similar to sėd-ęs, as vėm-ęs (from vemiŭ 'I vomit') gėr-ęs (from geriŭ 'I drink') were formed the preterites vėmė gėrė with ė in the root syllable.

PERIPHRASTIC FORMATIONS.

§ 895. We may notice here a number of periphrastic formations which were more or less intimately connected with the Verbal System. Some of them undoubtedly existed in the parent language, though at that time not one had become fused into a single word.

In the historical period, these syntactical groups, which for convenience we shall call phrases, are sometimes found in the shape of single words, as Lat. ferē-bam O.C.Sl. nesē-achū; sometimes they seem to be changing from phrase to word before our very eyes, as Skr. dātāsmi instead of dātā asmi; ¹⁾ sometimes they were still phrases, as Lat. factus sum, O.H.G. ward ginoman. Where the position of the auxiliary is not fixed as regards the verbal noun, coming either before or after it, the phrase could not fuse into one word.

The use of a Participle for the predicate, particularly the part. pret. middle or passive, with or without the auxiliary es- or a synonym of it, is a usage which occurs all over the Indo-Germanic area; examples of this are Skr. iṣṭā dēvātāḥ 'honoured are the gods' iṣṭā dēvātā āsan 'honoured were the gods' (see Delbrück, Altind. Synt. 392 ff.; Spiegel, Altpers. Keilinschr. ² § 68 p. 189). This predicative use of the participle was found in the parent language, especially when it was wished to lay stress on the duration of an action more than could be done by the simple forms of the finite verb. In several languages periphrases of this kind were permanent parts of some tense, where they were combined with simple forms, as Att. γεγραμμένοι εἰσι instead of γεγράφασαι, Lat. actus est (cp. Gr. ἔχται), Goth. gemēlīp ist 'γέγραπται'.

§ 896. Sanskrit.

Beginning with the Brahmanas, we find a periphrastic future, consisting of a nomen agentis with the suffix -ter- (as dātār-

1) Compare Ital. canterò Fr. chanterai for Lat. cantāre habeo, Serv. ubīcu ('I will kill') = O.C.Sl. ubiti chošta, Pol. działalem -aleś etc. 'I have built') = działal jeśm. — jeś etc.

'dator') and the verb 'to be', but only in the 1st and 2nd persons. There is a difference in usage between this and the śiḍ-future (§ 752 p. 273 f.), the latter being used only for something about to take place at a certain particular point of future time, without any reference to the intention or hope of the speaker. On the analogy of datāsmi instead of datā asmi we have 1st pl. datāsmas instead of datārah smas etc. (cp. Lat. potis sumus, not potēs sumus*), a certain token that the phrase has become a word. Middle forms are found as well, e. g. datāsmahē. Compare II § 122 p. 385.

Again, it is not until the historical period that we see a productive type arising out of the Periphrastic Perfect, the union of a case ending in -ām with cakāra, āsa, or babhūva, as vidā cakāra 'I knew', gamayā cakāra 'I caused to go'. The outspread of this type was due to a lack which it supplied; for there was need of a historic preterite to perfects which had a present meaning, as vēda 'I know' bibhāya 'fears'. Such a preterite was also wanted by Causals and Denominatives, which originally had no simple perfect. Lastly, they were most desirable where present and perfect were not clearly distinguished in form, as in ās- 'to sit'. Following vidām āsām and the like, forms like gamayām and bibhayām were derived from the present stem (pres. gamā-ya-ti bi-bhē-ti).

Remark. Since in such formations cakāra is almost exclusively used in the older language, and babhūva never, Delbrück (Altind. Synt. 426 f.) infers that -ām is the ending of the acc. sing. of an abstract noun in -ā (cp. bhidā 'split'). The accusative must have crystallised, much as the infinitive did, before āsa and babhūva could be used with it. But there is such a striking parallel in Lat. āre faciō and āre fiō (Deecke, Facere und fieri in ihrer Composition mit andern Verbis, Strassburg 1873), ārē-bam, flā-bam, amā-bam and O.C.Sl. nesē-achū dēla-achū, that we can hardly separate the -ām of Sanskrit from the cases in -ē or -ā preserved in these forms. -ē and -ā must surely be instrumental; be it observed that the forms in -ē can often be connected with o-stems (cp. III § 275 p. 176), and often with ē-stems like Lat. quīē-s Gr. χεῖν ὄμο-σλή (§ 578 p. 120), e. g. plē- in plē-bam. It may be that vidām when used with cakāra is accusative; but when used with as- or bhū- it may be instrumental. That vidām might be instr. is shewn by O.C.Sl. raḱa (III § 276 p. 179) and Skr. pratarām (Hirt, Idg. Forsch. I 20) and the like. Compare too the 3rd sing. imper. mid. vidām § 968. 2.

§ 897. Armenian has several periphrastic formations: as the part. aor. (active or passive) in -eal coupled with em 'I am'. e. g. gereal ē 'cepit. captus est' gereal ēr 'ceperat. captus erat' from gerel 'capere. to take prisoner'.

§ 898. Greek. Here we find as far back as we can go variants γέγονται and γεγονμένον ἔστι with little or no difference in meaning; and in Attic, beginning about 400 B. C., the periphrastic form became obligatory, and that in -αται and -ατο dropt out of use altogether: γεγονμένον εἶναι and ἶσαν. In the other tenses and moods -αται and -ατο had dropt in Attic long before, giving place to -νται and -ντο.

A future perfect, to express what will be completed in the future and will have enduring effects, could be formed only in the Middle and only from a few verbs; e. g. λείνεται βεβλήσεται (§ 756. 6 p. 276). For the Active, and for such verbs as could not form this tense, a participle + ἔσται had to be used; as κατακτορόν ἔσται 'he will have killed, he will be a murderer', τετελεσμένον ἔσται 'it will be accomplished'.

The periphrasis of the perfect by using ἔχω with a participle, as κρύπτῃς ἔχω 'I keep hidden' (Lat. abditum habeo), gained currency largely because certain verbs were without the simple perfect form; e. g. ἐρασθεῖς ἔχω (Plato) from ἐράω 'I love', στήσας ἔχω (Soph.) from ἵστημι 'I place' (because ἑστήκα is intransitive).

Desideratives in -σείω at first used only the participle active, as ὀπείων 'wishing to see'. This form, as Wackernagel makes very probable, comes from ὄνει ἰόν 'going out for to see' (Kuhn's Zeitschr., xxviii 141 ff.); similarly ἐμψασίων 'wishing to make a bargain' from ἐμψασις, ἀπαλλάξιων 'wishing to get rid of' from ἀπάλλαξις. When the phrase had become a single word, the Attic added Indicative, Conjunctive, and the other parts of the conjugation. Compare Lat. eō with the supine, as datum eō (the same in Umbrian, ascriato cest 'observatum ibit'), from which type of sentences sprang the so-called fut. inf. passive datum iri (Kühner, Ausf. Gr. der lat. Spr., II 534 f.).

§ 899. Italic and Keltic. In both we see the present of bhey- 'to become' joined with a preceding infinitival word to express the future. Lat. arē-bō vidē-bō albē-bō, cubā-bō flā-bō plantā-bō, (O.Lat.) scī-bō audī-bō, ī-bo da-bō, Falisc. carē-fō pipā-fō. O.Ir. no charub 'I will love' for -bhū-ō*, elsewhere stem -bhū-a-*, as in 3rd sing. -carfa carfid; dolēciub 'I will relinquish' -lēicfea lēicfid.

The Umbr.-Samn. Perfects like Osc. aa-mana-ffed 'mandavit' contain the Idg. thematic aorist (e)-bhū-e-t*, see § 874 p. 422 f. The pret. of Class X (e)-bhū-a-m* (§ 583 p. 123 f.) from the time of pr. Ital. made Imperfects, e. g. Lat. arē-bam vidē-bam albē-bam plē-bam nē-bam dīcē-bam (in O.Lat. also a future like dīcē-bō), capiē-bam farciē-bam finiē-bam, cubā-bam flā-bam plantā-bam, (O.Lat.) scī-bam fīnī-bam, ī-bam da-bam, Osc. fu-fans 'erant'.

There is unquestionably some connexion between the first word in Latin phrases like are facio and the case-forms in -ē and -a (instr. sing.) in the first part of the O.C.Sl. imperfect, vidē-achū dēla-achū; there is probably a connexion with such a form as Skr. vidām in vidā carati. See § 896 Rem., § 903. Following the lead of Lat. plantā-bō, we may derive O.Ir. no charub from cara-bō* (carfid from cara-bāt(i)*, etc.). But there is no proof that a was long; and as the s-aorist ro-char comes from carās-t* (§ 840 p. 377), it is possible that cara-bō* was the pr. Keltic form. Still, that the first member was originally a nomen actionis need not be doubted whichever theory we adhere to.

§ 900. In Italic the Idg. perf. mid. passive gave place to a periphrasis with sum and the to-participle: Lat. ortus sum, captus sum, plantatus sum, finitus sum, Umbr. screhto est 'scriptum est' screihtor sent 'scripti sunt', Osc. prúftúset 'probata sunt'. How firmly rooted in the verbal system this periphrasis became is clear from two facts. (Whether the same holds for Umbro-Samnitic we cannot say; there is too great dearth of material.) (1) As the act. fīnīvit meant both 'he has

§ 898. Greek. Here we find as far back as we can go variants γέγραπται and γεγραμμένος ἔστι with little or no difference in meaning; and in Attic, beginning about 400 B. C., the periphrastic form became obligatory, and that in -αται and -ατο dropt out of use altogether: γεγραμμένοι εἰσὶ and ἦσαν. In the other tenses and moods -αται and -ατο had dropt in Attic long before, giving place to -νται and -ντο.

For the Active, and for such verbs as could not form this tense, a participle + ἔσται had to be used; as κατακτονῶς ἔσται 'he will have killed, he will be a murderer', τετελεσμένον ἔσται 'it will be accomplished'.

The periphrasis of the perfect by using ἔχω with a participle, as κρύψας ἔχω 'I keep hidden' (Lat. abditum habed), gained currency largely because certain verbs were without the simple perfect form; e. g. ἐρασθεὶς ἔχω (Plato) from ἐράω 'I love', στήσας ἔχω (Soph.) from ἵστημι 'I place' (because ἔστηκα is intransitive).

Desideratives in -σεῖω at first used only the participle active, as ὀψείων 'wishing to see'. This form, as Wackernagel makes very probable, comes from ὄψει ἰών 'going out for to see' (Kuhn's Zeitschr., xxviii 141 ff.); similarly ἐνυμνασείων 'wishing to make a bargain' from ἐνυμνασις, ἀπαλλαξείων 'wishing to get rid of' from ἀπάλλαξις. When the phrase had become a single word, the Attic added Indicative, Conjunctive, and the other parts of the conjugation. Compare Lat. eō with the supine, as datum eō (the same in Umbrian, aseriato eest 'observatum ibit'), from which type of sentences sprang the so-called fut. inf. passive datum iri (Kühner, Ausf. Gr. der lat. Spr., II 534 f.).

§ 899. Italic and Keltic. In both we see the present of bhe- 'to become' joined with a preceding infinitival word to express the future. Lat. arē-bō vidē-bō albē-bō, cubā-bō flā-bō plantā-bō, (O.Lat.) sci-bō audī-bō, ī-bo da-bō, Falisc. carē-fō pipā-fō. O.Ir. no charub 'I will love' for -bhū-ō*, elsewhere stem -bhū-a-*, as in 3rd sing. -carfa carfid; dolēciub 'I will relinquish' -lēicfea lēicfid.

The Umbr.-Samn. Perfects like Osc. aa-mana-ffed 'mandavit' contain the Idg. thematic aorist (e-)bhū-e-t*, see § 874 p. 422 f. The pret. of Class X (e-)bhū-a-m* (§ 583 p. 123 f.) from the time of pr. Ital. made Imperfects, e. g. Lat. arē-bam vidē-bam albē-bam plē-bam nē-bam dīcē-bam (in O.Lat. also a future like dīcē-bō), capiē-bam farciē-bam finiē-bam, cubā-bam flā-bam plantā-bam, (O.Lat.) sci-bam fīnī-bam, ī-bam da-bam, Osc. fu-fans 'erant'.

There is unquestionably some connexion between the first word in Latin phrases like arē faciō and the case-forms in -ē and -a (instr. sing.) in the first part of the O.C.Sl. imperfect, vidē-achū dēla-achū; there is probably a connexion with such a form as Skr. vidām in vidā carati. See § 896 Rem., § 903. Following the lead of Lat. plantā-bō, we may derive O.Ir. no charub from cara-bō* (carfid from cara-bāt(i)*, etc.). But there is no proof that a was long; and as the s-aorist ro-char comes from carās-t* (§ 840 p. 377), it is possible that carā-bō* was the pr. Keltic form. Still, that the first member was originally a nomen actionis need not be doubted whichever theory we adhere to.

§ 900. In Italic the Idg. perf. mid. passive gave place to a periphrasis with sum and the to-participle: Lat. ortus sum, captus sum, plantatus sum, finitus sum, Umbr. screhto est 'scriptum est' screihtor sent 'scripti sunt', Osc. prúftúset 'probata sunt'. How firmly rooted in the verbal system this periphrasis became is clear from two facts. (Whether the same holds for Umbro-Samnitic we cannot say; there is too great dearth of material.) (1) As the act. fīnīvit meant both 'he has ended and done with', and in narrative 'he put an end to', so finitum est, which properly meant 'it is ended and done with', got in addition the meaning 'it was ended'; and finitum erat meant not only 'it was' but 'it had been ended'. Beside praeceptum est 'it is prescribed' we get praeceptum fuit 'it was prescribed'. (2) The other fact is the use of this periphrasis with deponents, where we see e. g. cōfessus sum made the perfect of cōfiteor for all purposes, and taking the same construction (II § 79 p. 219).

Just as in Attic the 3rd pl. γεγράφεται was driven out by γεγραμμένοι εἰσι; so in Latin — perhaps even in proethnic Italic — the old 2nd pl. middle (cp. Skr. bhāradhvē Gr. φίρεσθε, § 1063) was superseded by a periphrasis with a participle: feriminī estis* = Gr. φερόμενοί ἐστε, which in the historical period dropt its copula, and then the participial character of feriminī fell out of sight; see II § 71 p. 165. We may conjecture that feriminī erātis*, feriminī essētis* were also used. By and by this form buried itself in the present system, which it became part of; then its ending -minī became recognised for a personal suffix; and lastly we have ferāminī ferēminī ferrēminī ferēbiminī ferēbāminī on the analogy of ferāmur ferēmur etc. to ferimur.

Old Latin had an indeclinable inf. fut. in -tūrum, as crēdō inimicōs meōs dictūrum (C. Gracchus), which Postgate (Class Review, v 301) neatly explains as compounded of dictū and erum = Umbr. erom Osc. ezum 'esse'. To this crystallised infinitive esse was superadded, as dixerunt omnia . . . prōcessūrum esse; and then, the apparent analogy of hoc prōcessūrum (esse) with hoc factum (esse) caused the form to be inflected as an adjective (o-stem), e. g. hanc rem prōcessuram (esse) etc. Similarly, as beside Gr. ὀψείων an indic. ὀψείω was formed (§ 898 p. 446), so beside mē datūrum (esse) we have e. g. datūrus sum.

Remark. The traditional interpretation, that datūrus is an extension of dator (cp. II § 122 p. 387), has been recognised for wrong by Kretschmer too (Kuhn's Zeitschr., xxxi 463 f.). He also connects the form with the supines in -ū and -um, but assumes the suffix to be -ro-, comparing Gr. ἰαχρό-ς from ἰαχρό-ς. Postgate's explanation I think the likelier.

In formation, as in meaning, there is no connexion between the verbal adj. in -tūrus and the abstract noun in -tūra; the latter has nothing future in it, and contains a secondary suffix -rā-. As regards Desideratives like parturiō canturiō, see § 768 p. 282, § 778.1 p. 301.

Further, Latin has the periphrastic inf. fut. passive, datum iri, mentioned above in § 898 p. 446. The complete fusion of these two words is shown by the spelling -tuiri instead of -tum iri (see Brandt, Arch. Lat. Lexicogr. II 349 ff.; Schmalz, Fleckeisen's Jahrb., 1892, pp. 79 f.).

In Umbro-Samnitic, we have the part. perf. active (suffix -yes-) combined with an injunctive from es- 'esse' to make a future perfect, as Umbr. dersicust 'dixerit' Osc. fefacust 'fecerit'. See § 872 p. 421.

§ 901. Germanic. The Idg. perf. passive in its original meaning, that of a present perfect, used to describe what has been completed in the past and is now a finished result, has been superseded all through Germanic by the phrase made up of the part. pret. pass. + the auxiliary bin; e. g. Goth. gamēliþ ist 'γέγραπται, it is written', O.H.G. ginoman ist 'it is taken'; similarly pret. Goth. ana þammei sō baúrgs izē gatimrida was 'ἐφ' οὗ ἡ πόλις αὐτῶν ὠκοδόμητο, was built, stood builded', O.H.G. ginoman was 'it had been taken, was in that condition'. Cp. Lat. scriptum est 'it is written' scriptum erat 'it was written' § 900 p. 447 f.

The same Idg. form in its later function of a historic perfect was superseded by the same participle with the auxiliary ward (wurde), e. g. Goth. fralusans was jah bigitans varþ 'ἀπολωλώς ἦν καὶ ἠρόεθῃ, was lost and has been found again', O.H.G. ginoman ward 'it was taken'.

Everywhere but in Gothic the present passive too had to be superseded by a periphrasis: O.H.G. ginoman wirdit or ist 'is being taken' (Goth. nimada).

In the Active, the preterite present meaning could no longer be clearly put by the old perfect, Goth. skatskáþ 'parted, divided' nam 'took' for example, as this had become a historic tense. Nor could it be put any better by the "weak" Preterite, as Goth. vairhta 'worked' nasida 'saved'. This led to a periphrasis (not found in Gothic) of bin and habe with the preterite participle, as O.H.G. queman ist 'he has come, and is here' pret. queman was 'he had come and was here', funtan habēt 'he has found and possesses' pret. funtan habēta 'he had found and possessed'. The participle with habēm was a true passive and belonged predicatively to the accusative object, cp. Lat. cōgnitam hanc rem habet and gr. κρυπτόν ἔγω 'abditum habeo' beside κρύψας ἔχω (see Thielmann, Abhandlungen W. v. Christ dargestellt, München 1891, p. 298). The participle with the presents bin and habe was used later, in Upper and Middle German, as a simple narrative tense without any reference to the present (cp. Lat. finitum est 'it was ended' on the analogy of finitū 'ended'), whilst with the preterites war and hatte it had always served to express the pluperfect (cp. Lat. finitum erat 'it had been ended').

In Germanic the Idg. sio-future was lost, nor did this branch, as others did, use certain conjunctive forms with future meaning only (as Lat. erō). For future events were used either perfect Present forms (see Streitberg, P.-B. Beitr. xv 119 ff.); or the living conjunctive, i. e. the Idg. optative (as Got. jah sijaina þō tva du leika samin 'καὶ ἔσονται οἱ δύο εἰς σάρκα μίαν'); or thirdly, periphrases with auxiliaries which naturally pointed to the future. But the use of these last with dependent infinitive (Goth. haban, duginnan, skulan, O.H.G. scolan, muozan, wellen wollen) did not lead to any fixt type in the old Germanic dialects, and each auxiliary bore its own proper meaning. Only phrases with sollen and wollen gained by degrees a simple future sense. Besides these periphrastic turns there was an idiom made up by werden (Goth. vairþan O.H.G. werdan) with the present participle, which is found a few times, in Gothic, as jūs saúrǵandans vairþip 'ὑμεῖς λυπηθήσεσθε, you shall be grieved'. This idiom in O.H.G. little by little won its way till all others had disappeared; but in Mid.H.G. the participle was exchanged for the infinitive.

§ 902. Baltic. In Lithuanian all the old middle forms which were used passively dropt out of use, and the reflexive with -si only partially did for the passive, as teip kalba-si instead of teip kalbamà 'so it is said'; hence a periphrasis was used for the passive in all tenses. To express habit or duration the pres. part. in -ama-s is used, as taĩ (yrà) sàkoma 'that is being said, that is usually said', jis prakéikiams bús nũ visũ 'he is constantly curst by all'. For completed action the participle in -ta-s is used; as jis (yrà) prakéiktas 'he is accurst', dũrys uždarytos bũvo 'the door was shut'. But it is usual to avoid passive constructions and so to express the idea as to make the active do for it.

Active Preterites like vilkauĩ (§ 586 p. 126) and viriaũ (§ 593 p. 133) combine the meanings of historic perfect and present perfect; as isz-áugo 'he grew up' and 'he is grown up'. If it is needful to make the latter meaning clear beyond a doubt, the part. pres. act. with esũ may be used; as asz (esũ) iszáugęs 'I am grown up', asz (esũ) iszmókęs 'I have learnt', jis bũvo pavařęs 'he was impoverished'. This participle with bupaũ also serves for a more exact expression of pluperfect time, cp. O.H.G. qeman was 'he had come' § 901 p. 450.

Wish is expressed by the Injunctive forms 1. pl. -bime 2. pl. -bíte from ✓bhey- preceded by the Supine in -tum, as sũktum-bime. See § 727 p. 257. The 3rd sg. pl. and dual sũktũ is without the auxiliary; for the 1st sing. we have sũkcziaw sũkcze. There are a great many bye-forms of this mood in the dialects (see Schleicher, Lit. Gramm. 228 f.; Kurschat, Gramm. d. litt. Spr. 300 f.; Bezzenberger, Beitr. z. Gesch. d. lit. Spr. 212 ff.; Leskien-Brugmann, Lit. Volksl. u. Märch. 315 f.; for Lettic, see Bielenstein, Die lett. Spr. II 158 ff.); we cannot here enter into the history of these, which is sometimes very obscure.

§ 903. Slavonic. The Slavonic Imperfect is the imperf. jachũ* 'eram' for es-o-m* (§ 510 p. 76) added to the Instrumental case of nomina actionis in -ě and -a. To the first members of these compounds there are parallels in Italic and Keltic, and doubtless in Sanskrit, as we have seen in § 896 Rem. p. 445, § 899 p. 447. O.C.Sl. vidě-achŭ 'I saw' like Lat. vidē-bam, oslabě-achŭ 'I became weak' like albē-bam, nesě-achŭ 'I carried' pečaaachŭ 'I backed' for pekě-achŭ* (I § 76 p. 65) like ferē-bam, borja-achŭ 'I fought' for borjě-achŭ* (see as cited) like capiě-bam, laka-achŭ like plantā-bam.

For Present Perfect was used the pres. part. in -lŭ (II § 76 p. 212) with jesmŭ, as prišlŭ jesmŭ 'I am come, I am here'. The same participle and běachŭ or běchŭ formed the Pluperfect, if need were to express this point of time exactly; as posŭlalŭ běaše 'he had sent'.

As in Germanic, when the old sjo- future was lost (cp. § 760 p. 278), future time was expressed either by the present of perfect verbs, or by a periphrasis consisting of Auxiliaries + dependent Infinitive. Such auxiliaries were in O.C.Sl. imamŭ ('I have'), choštq ('I wish'), načŭnaq ('I will begin'), all of which with others (Miklosich, Vergl. Gr. iv 862 ff.), including bqdq ('I will, will be'), occur in other dialects. In some of the modern dialects, one or other of these verbs is used exclusively, just as werde with the infinitive in High German.

UNEXPLAINED FORMATIONS.

§ 904. A number of fertile tense types have now, with certain reservations, been compared with those of other languages, or explained as due to some analogy which has been pointed out within the same language; for instance the Greek x-perfect (§ 864 Rem. p. 412), or the Latin preterite in -vī and -uī (§ 875 p. 423). But there are many such types, characteristic enough in their own language, whose origin is still so dark that they cannot be brought in place amongst those already given. These may now be mentioned.

§ 905. Aryan. The 3rd sing. aor. pass. (also mid.) in -i, mostly with a in the root-syllable, in Vedic and Avestic, with or without augment like the other augmented tenses (as usual, the unaugmented forms can have a conjunctive meaning). Examples: Skr. á-vác-i vác-i Avest. Gath. a-vác-i vác-i √ ueq- 'speak'; Skr. á-dhār-i O.Pers. a-dār-iy √ dher- 'hold fast'; Skr. ájani √ ġen- 'gignere', ádarši √ derk- 'see', áyōji √ jeuq- 'yoke', á-jñā-yi stem ġn-ē- ġn-ō- 'noscere'; Avest. jaini √ ghen- 'strike, slay'.

It has often been assumed that -i is identical with the ending of the 1st sing. mid. -i (as in á-kr-i), just as -ē in the perfect did for both 1st and 3rd singular. The difference of vowel grade in the root syllable is generally compared with that in the 3rd sing. u-vác-a : 1st sing. u-vác-a. Compare § 1054. 3.

§ 905^a. The Armenian verb is permeated with analogical formations, which have largely destroyed the original structure of it. Specially difficult are the Conjunctive, Aorist, and Future forms characterised by -ç-, such, for instance, as conj. pres. geriçem (for gerēçem*) aor. gereçi (for gereaçi*, 3rd sing. gereaç) fut. gereçiç from gerem 'capio', where not only does ç need further explanation (cp. § 672 pp. 204 f.), but also the vowels that go with it.

§ 906. In Irish, no explanation has been found for what is called the Secondary Present (indic. and conj. impf.),¹⁾ as no berinn 2nd sing. no berthā etc. The 3rd sing. no bered is perhaps for bhere-to* = Gr. φίρε-το.

§ 907. In Germanic, explanation is still to seek for the much discussed Weak Preterite,²⁾ whose chief mark is a t-sound.

2) Begemann, Das schwache Präteritum der german. Sprachen, Berl. 1873. Idem, Zur Bedeutung des schw. Prät. der germ. Spr., Berl. 1874. Fr. Amelung, Die Perfecta der schwachen Conjugation, Zeitschr. deutsch. Altert. xxi 229 ff. Paul, Zur Bildung des schwachen Präteritums und Participiums, Paul-Braune's

This is found alongside of the so-called primitive Presents, as often as their part. pret. pass. is formed with the suffix -to-, as Goth. vaúrhta O.H.G. worhta from vaúrkja wurk(i)u 'I work', Goth. þúhta O.H.G. dáhta from Goth. þugkja O.H.G. dunk(i)u 'I think', Goth. O.H.G. bráhta from briggs bringu 'I bring'. Next, the Preterite Present has also this preterite, as Goth. ga-daúrsta O.H.G. gi-torsta from ga-dars gi-tar 'I dare', Goth. skulda O.H.G. scolta from skal scal 'I shall', Goth. munda from man 'I think', kunþa from kann 'I know, learn'. Lastly, it is found with all weak verbs, as Goth. nasida O.H.G. nerita from nasja neriu 'I save', Goth. salbōda O.H.G. salbōta from salbō salbōm 'I smear, anoint', Goth. habáida O.H.G. hapta habēta from haba habēm 'I have'.

In the Indicative, the dental was followed by ē sometimes and sometimes ō, as Goth. 2nd sing. nasidēs contrasted with O.H.G. neritōs (but also chi-minnerōdēs like O.Sax. habdes); 1st and 3rd sing. Goth. -da O.H.G. -ta; Norse Run. 1st sing. worah-to 'I made' 3rd sing. wurte urte 'he made'; in the plural O.H.G. -tum -tut -tun (Alemann. -tōm -tōt -tōn), Goth. -dēdum -dēduþ -dēdun. Opt. Goth. -dēdjau -dēdeis etc., O.H.G. -ti -tīs etc.

The connexion with the to-participle is unmistakable, if the treatment of the participial t under Verner's Law be borne in mind; e. g. Goth. kunþa like partic. kunþa-, munda like partic. munda-.¹⁾ But it does not follow that the dental of the weak preterite was always Idg. t. Not so; but forms with Idg. dh, d, or th may be included in this group, and the relation to the participle may be secondary. Indeed, there must be some such forms in the group; for example, O.Sax. libda 'lived' from $\sqrt{\text{leip-}}$ cannot have had Idg. t in the ending, and the partic. ge-libd must be instead of -lift* and due to the analogy of the preterite.¹⁾ Just as the Latin Perfect included a variety of quite different tense forms, to which similar use has given the same inflexions, so the Weak Preterite in Germanic may have absorbed alien elements. That Goth. iddja (pl. iddjēdun) is the Sanskrit á-yā-m or perhaps its byeform iyā-m we have seen in § 478 p. 26, § 587 p. 128 (compare § 886 Rem. p. 434). Preterites of our Present Class I. may be included in the weak preterite, since e. g. Goth. *mun-dēs*²⁾ vīl-dēs may be equated with Skr. 2nd sing. mid. ma-thās (á-ma-thās) vṛ-thās (á-vṛ-thās), compare Gr. ἐ-τά-θης = Skr. á-ta-thās § 503 p. 67. Again, O.H.G. wissun as an s-aorist may be compared with Gr. ῥῶαν (§ 827 p. 365), and forms like salbō-ta may be compounds of the same kind as Lat. amā-bam O.C.Sl. děla-achŭ (§ 899 p. 447, § 903 p. 451 f.), having for the second member the preterite of dhē- 'do' (e-)dhē-m*, or the preterite a-injunctive dh-a-m* (§ 507 p. 74, § 937).

Journ. Philol. IX 42 ff. = Bezenberger's Beitr. XVII 227 ff. Johansson, Zur Flexion des schwachen Präteritums im Got., Kuhn's Zeitschr. XXX 547 ff. Other works are cited in those here enumerated.

1) For O.H.G. forah-tu 'feared', whose old participle is the adj. forah-t Got. faúhr-t-s 'timid', the present t must be taken into account (furiht(i)u Got. faúrhja). See § 685 p. 216.

§ 908. In Lithuanian, the growth of the Imperfect of habit in -davau is obscure; examples are piáu-davau 'I used to cut' 3rd sing. piáu-davo part. piáu-davęs (fem. -davusi), sūk-lavau 'I used to twist', matý-davau 'I used to see'. The ending -avau recalls baļtavau pret. of baļtāju 'I gleam white', and recalls d in the present endings -d-inu and -d-au, treated in §§ 700 f. pp. 226 ff.

1) Nothing prevents our putting this re-formation of the participle back to protoethnic Germanic; and so Goth. ga-hugd-s O.Sax. gi-hugd 'thought, reason, understanding' beside pret. O.Sax. hoyda hugda O.H.G. hoeta part. O.Sax. gi-hugd O.H.G. ge-huct does not weigh against the connexion of Germ. hug- with Skr. śuc- (I § 439 p. 327, § 447 p. 332).

2) For Goth. mun-dēs = Skr. ma-thās compare some recent remarks by Streitberg, Zur Germ. Sprachgesch., 79.

FORMATION OF THE MOOD STEM.¹⁾INJUNCTIVE.²⁾

§ 909. Injunctive (or Spurious Conjunctive) is a name given to forms which look like unaugmented indicative forms belonging to a tense which is properly augmented; thus bhere-t* = Skr. bhārat Gr. ῥέρε, cp. imperf. á-bhara-t ἄ-ῥερε. Injunctive forms therefore have the secondary personal endings.

In the parent language they had a very wide scope; perhaps these are really the oldest forms of the verb finite, which do not yet show in their form either distinction of time, or distinction of the ideas conveyed by the words indicative and conjunctive (wish, futurity). In historical times we find these used in three different ways:

(1) Indicative Present. Skr. Ved. cōdaya-t 'he sets afire' and others (Delbrück, Altind. Syntax 354 f.). Gr. Dor. and Cypr. φέρε-ς 'thou bearest', Att. τίθη-ς 'thou placest'; cp. also the Author, Gr. Gr.² § 160 Anm. p. 185 on the present (timeless) use of the ind. aor., as in κάρθαν' ὁμῶς ὁ τ' ἀεργός ἀνήρ ὅ τε πολλὰ ἔοργώς.¹⁾ Lat. vehi-s im-plē-s ī-s s-u-m (§ 528 p. 91). O.Ir. 2nd sing. -bir 'fers' for bhere-s* 3rd sing. -beir for bhere-t*. O.Icel. ero eru 'are' for iz-únþ* (§ 507 pp. 73 f., § 508 p. 74). Lith. bij-o-si 'he fears' for bhij-a-t*, jū'sto 'he girds' for jōstā-t*, Pruss. waitia 'he speaks' (§ 782. 4 p. 310); O.C.Sl. beretū 'fert' 3rd pl. beratū for bhere-t* bhero-nt* with the particle u (§§ 999 and 1026).

The only difference between these and the indic. forms in -ti -nti is that the latter have the particle i affixed; and this is apparently just what marked the new forms clearly out as present indicative (§ 973).

(2) Indicative Preterite. Skr. Ved. bhāra-t 'he bore'. Gr. Hom. qέρε 'he bore'; special mention must be made of the Ionic frequentatives φενύεσκον etc. (§ 673 p. 206), which regularly lack the augment. Lat. -bā-s Osc. 3rd pl. -fans, Lat. erā-s (§ 583 p. 124), Osc. kúm-bened 'convēnit' (§ 867. 5 p. 415). O.Ir. do bert 'he brought' for some middle form in -to (§ 506 p. 72 f., § 826 p. 364). O.H.G. bizzi 'thou didst bite' = Skr. (á-)bhid-a-s (§ 893 p. 441). Lith. būvo 'he was'; O.C.Sl. tekū 'I ran'. Cp. § 483 p. 31 ff.

(3) Conjunctive.

(a) Conj. = Wish. The 2nd pl. and 2nd and 3rd dual were firmly rooted among the imperative forms as early as the parent language: Skr. bhāra-ta 'ferte' bhāra-tam bhāra-tām, Gr. qέρε-τε qέρε-τω, Lat. agi-te; O.Ir. 2nd pl. beri-d; Goth. 2nd pl. baíri-þ (2nd dual batra-ts with primary ending); beside es-ti* 'is' Skr. s-tá s-tám s-tām, Gr. ἔσ-τε ἔσ-τω, Lat. es-te;

1) The use of the augmented forms in the same way may be compared with the use of Skr. agāt instead of gāt after mā in the Mahā-Bharata (Holtzmann, Gramm. aus dem Mahābh., 28).

s-Aorists Skr. aviṣ-tá-na (-na is a particle, see § 1010) aviṣ-tám aviṣ-tám from áv-a-ti 'he desires', Gr. δεῖξαι-τε δεῖξαι-τορ from δείξ-νῦ-σι 'shows'. In the other persons the proethnic imperative has other formations.

But in some of the derived languages these other persons also are found with the sense of Wish; and here and there one of them does duty for some part of the imperative.

Skr. Ved. prá vōcam 'I will praise', dās 'give', juṣata 'let him be pleased' 3rd pl. juṣanta, and many more. Then we have as part of the Aryan imperative such forms as 3rd sing. Skr. bhārat-u Avest. barat-u 'ferto' 3rd pl. Skr. bhārant-u Avest. baran-tu 'ferunto', Injunctives + particle u (§§ 992. 2 and 1017).

Gr. 2nd sing. mid. πέρεο πέρου for πέρε-σθ* (cp. imperf. ἐπέρεσθ), βαλοῦ for παλέ-σθ* (on the accent of this form see § 958), φάο from φη-μι 'I say', aor. ἑὶο ἑοῦ beside ἐ-ἑῖ-μεν 'I placed for myself', used as regular imperative forms. Rarely also the corresponding 2nd sing. act. as ἐνί-σπ-ε-ς beside ἐνί-σπ-ε 'insece', ἐνί-σχε-ς beside ἐνί-σχε-ε 'stop', ἄγ-ε-ς ἄγε, πέρε (Hesych.); cp. also § 932 on ἑῖς εἰς δός.

Lat. sequere = gr. ἔπειο, as regular imperative.

O.Ir. forms of the s-aorist, as comēir 'get up' for -rec-s-s*, tair 'let him come' for -inc-s-t* (§ 826 p. 363). Also the 2nd sing. imper. mid. in -the, as cluinte 'exaudi' beside indic. ro-chluinethar, aigde 'fear' beside -āgur, foilsigthe 'revela', since -the is the Skr. secondary ending -thās (§ 1051).

O.H.G. nī curi 'noli' for kuz-i-z* gus-e-s* beside 2nd pl. nī cur-e-t; Goth. visa-m vaila 'ἐντολὴν δίδωμεν', O.H.G. fara-m (fara-mēs) 'transcamus'.

Lith. te ne ei 'let him not go' for ei-t*, tè-suka 'let him turn' te-māto 'let him see',¹⁾ 1st pl. ei-mè 1st dual ei-và 'let us go' (§ 511 p. 77), O.C.Sl. bqdq 'sunto' (also found bqdqtū 'crunt'), veli-te 'command ye' (also indic. veli-te 'ye command'), see § 955 Rem.

1) Since forms like sūka mātō were also used for pres. indic., it came about that indicative forms with primary endings, as ei/(i), could be used with a "permissive" meaning; e. g. t'ei/(i).

(b) Conj. = Future. Skr. Ved. nēm (= ná īm) aghaq naśat 'him no mischief will reach' (cp. Delbrück, Altind. Syntax 358). In Lithuanian, some dialects have forms of the s-aorist like dė-s-me 'we will lay' dėste dėsva dėsta (§§ 828 f. pp. 365 f.).

CONJUNCTIVE.¹⁾

§ 910. It has been pointed out (§ 489 pp. 47 f.) that in all the languages the same formative elements which mark what from its use is called the Conjunctive are also found in the Indicative. In this way we find used both -e- and -o-, the "Thematic Vowel", and also -ā- and -ē- (-ō-). It follows that these forms had originally a much wider use than they came to have afterwards; and it was only by degrees that some of them were appropriated to the Indicative and others for the Conjunctive. Even in the parent language the rule held good that forms with a thematic vowel were Conjunctive, where the Indicative was distinguished by having none; whilst if the Indicative had a thematic vowel, the Conjunctive had the suffixes -ā- or -ē- (-ō-). If the Indicative itself had -ā- or -ē- (-ō-) (Classes X and XI, §§ 578 ff. pp. 118 ff.), then Injunctive forms commonly served for the Conjunctive mood (§ 930).

Remark. As stems with -e- -o- and stems with -ā- -ē- (-ō-) originally did for both Indicative and Conjunctive, we may suppose that tense-stems of other kinds had the same double use. As a matter of fact this was so in the fullest sense wherever these stems had the secondary personal endings, that is, were Injunctive (§ 909). But even some forms with the primary endings and without these conjunctive suffixes are so used: Skr. 2nd sing. vē-ti 'thou comest near' and 'come near' (3rd sing. vē-ti 'he comes near'), kṣē-ṣi 'thou abidest' and 'abide thou' (3rd sing. kṣē-ti 'he abides') are two examples out of many (Delbrück, Altind. Verb. 31 and 34 f.), Avest. Gath. dōiṣi 'perceive thou', Gr. imper. 2nd sing. λείται 'lay thyself' for λεν-σ-σαι* (§ 969. 2). Compare § 974 Rem. On the use of the Att. indic. forms μισθοῖς μισθοῖ for the conjunctive see § 923.

The Conjunctive has a simple Future meaning in addition to that of wish (in which I include deliberative and dubitative). Often these forms drop their other meanings in the separate languages, and have that of Future only, or chiefly. Then they are called future in the grammars, as are for instance Lat. erō viderō.

In Armenian the Conjunctive formation appears to be entirely lost.

In Germanic and Balto-Slavonic it is lost all but a few scanty survivals, which will be given below. In both these branches the Optative took its place. First both these groups were used together (as in the Latin conjunctive, edā-mus agā-mus true conj. and edī-mus sī-mus optative); then the Optative won the day. Examples of Opt. forms used as Conj. in these languages are: Goth. þairhgaggūma 'δέλθωμεν, let us go through', ni maúrþrjáis 'μή πορεύῃς'; te-sukē 'let him turn' (imperative)¹⁾, O.C.Sl. ne vūvedi nasū vū iskušenije 'ne nos inducas in tentationem, μη εἰσενέγκῃς ἡμῶς' etc.

We now come to details. The Conjunctive formations may be divided into two groups, according as the Indicative stem (I) ended in a consonant, as es-ti* ei-ti* rney-ti*, and contained the thematic vowel, as bhere-ti*, or (II) ended in a long vowel, as e-stā-t* plē-ti*.

1) May also mean 'he may turn, he is to be allowed to turn'.

I. CONJUNCTIVE WHERE THE INDICATIVE STEM ENDS IN A CONSONANT OR HAS A THEMATIC VOWEL.

A. Indicative Stem ends in a Consonant.

§ 911. The Conjunctive from these stems had in the parent language, and continued to have, the Thematic Vowel, as ei-e-t(i)* (Skr. áyati áyat) beside Indic. ei-ti* 'goes'. The stem had its strong form, the ablaut-syllable the 1st strong grade (e-grade in the e : o-series): pres. conj. ei-e-t(i)* beside indic. ei-i-, ṛ-neu-e-t(i)* (Skr. ṛ-náv-a-t(i)) beside indic. ṛ-neu-* ṛ-nu-, steu-e-t(i) (Skr. stáv-a-t(i)) beside indic. stēu-* stu-* (§ 494 p. 54 f.); s-aor. conj. qeī-s-e-t(i)* (Skr. cē-ṣ-a-t(i) Gr. 2nd pl. τετι-σ-ε-τε) beside indic. (e-) qeī-s- (e-)qi-s-* (§ 811 p. 348); perf. conj. te-ten-e-t(i)* (Skr. ta-tán-a-ti) beside indic. te-ton-* te-tn-* te-tu-* (§ 843 p. 384).

§ 912. Pr. Idg. Conjunctives of this group have been touched upon frequently in our discussion of the Tense Stem. I therefore confine myself here to a few examples.

Present. Class I (§§ 492 ff.): és-e-t(i)* beside és-ti* 'is': Skr. ásat(i), Gr. 1st sing. ἔ-ω (but ἔης ἦς etc. belong to B), Lat. (fut.) er-i-t. Class III (§§ 536 ff.): Skr. bi-bhar-a-t beside bi-bhar-ti 'bears', bi-bhay-a-t beside bi-bhē-ti 'fears'. Class V (§§ 555 ff.): Skr. ba-bhas-a-t beside bá-bhas-ti 'eats, devours'. Class VII (§§ 567 ff.): Skr. jaṃ-ghán-a-t beside jám-ghan-ti intens. 'strikes, kills'. Class XV (§§ 625 f.): Skr. rinác-a-t beside rinák-ti 'lets go, makes empty'. Class XVII (§§ 638 ff.): Skr. ṛ-náv-a-t beside ṛ-ṇó-ti 'excites, sets in motion'. Class XIX (§§ 656): dvē-ṣ-a-t beside dvē-ṣ-ti 'hates'.

s-Aorist (§§ 810 ff.). Skr. nē-ṣ-a-t(i) beside á-nai-ṣ-am 'I feared', Gr. τετι-σ-ο-μεν beside ἔ-τετι-σ-α 'I paid', Lat. (fut.) dix-ō beside dix-i, O.Ir. for-tias 'subveniam' beside injunct. for-tē 'subveniat' (§§ 826 p. 363 f.). Gr. εἰδ-ί-ω εἰδῶ (but εἰδῆς etc. belong to B) beside ᾔδα 'I knew' for ἦ-φειδ-εσ-α*, Umbr. eest est 'ibit' beside Gr. ἦεν 'I went' instead of ēi-es-η* (§ 836 pp. 372 ff.). Skr. bōdh-iṣ-a-t beside ind. 3rd pl. mid. ā-bōdh-iṣ-ata from budh- 'watch, notice', gā-siṣ-a-t beside ind. 3rd pl. ā-gā-siṣ-ur from gā- 'to sing'; add perhaps Gr. fut. χορμαίνω from stem χορμασ- 'to hang' (§ 840 p. 377). Lat. (fut.) vid-er-ō beside ind. 2nd pl. vid-is-tis. Gr. ἐλν-σσο-μεν beside εἰρν-σσο-α 'I dragged', Lat. amā-ss-i-t.

Perfect (§§ 843 ff.). Skr. ta-tān-a-t(i) beside ind. ta-tān-a from √ ten- 'stretch'. Gr. πενόιθομεν instead of πε-πειθ-ο-μεν* beside πί-ποιθ-ε 'he trusts', *εἶδ-ο-μεν*¹⁾ εἶδ-ο-μαι beside οἶδ-ε; but it can be grouped with the pres. ueṭd-mi* Skr. vēd-mi (§ 493 p. 52). Goth. ōgs 'fear thou' for agh-e-s* beside ōg 'fears' (§ 882 p. 430).

§ 913. Aryan. The Thematic formation is fertile in Vedic, Avestic, and Old Persian. In later Sanskrit nothing remains but the 1st persons, which are now called 1st person Imperative.

The personal endings here as in the ā-conjunctive (§ 921) were in Sanskrit and Avestic sometimes primary and sometimes secondary; the Middle had the primary almost always (details may be seen in Delbrück, Altind. Verb. 191 ff.; Whitney, Skr. Gr. §§ 560 ff.; Bartholomae, Altiran. Verb. 130 f.). The few Old Persian forms which occur all show a primary ending. As to Skr. middle forms like kṛṇāvāmahāi instead of kṛṇāvāmahē, see § 922.

Further examples (cp. § 912). Present. Skr. kār-a-ti kar-a-nti Avest. 1st sing. carā-nī beside ind. Skr. kār-ṣi Avest. cor^o-p from √ qer- 'make'; Skr. āy-a-t(i) Avest. ay-a-p beside ind. ē-ti aē-iti from √ eṭ- 'go'; Avest. anōh-a-iti -a-p O.Pers. ah-a-tiy Skr. ās-a-t(i) beside ind. Skr. ās-ti etc. from √ es- 'esse'. In Sanskrit this Conjunctive formation is also found beside Indicatives with the suffix -t-, as brāv-a-t(i) beside brāv-i-ti 'speaks' (§ 574 p. 116). Skr. ju-hav-a-ti beside ju-hō-ti 'offers', Avest. ci-kay-a-p 3rd pl. cikaen = ci-kay-en beside Skr. ci-ké-ti 'observes, perceives'. Skr. yunáj-a-tē beside yundák-ti 'yokes', Avest. 1st pl. mid. cinap-a-maidē beside cinas-ti 'teaches'. Skr. kṛ-náv-a-t(i) Avest. 1st sing. ker^o-nav-a-ni beside kṛ-ṇó-mi ker^o-nao-mi 'I make'. s-Aorist. Skr. vá-s-a-ti Avest. vērōgh-a-itī from √ uen- 'win, get, conquer'. Skr. san-iš-a-t beside á-sān-iš-am 'won', Avest. 1st sing. xšnev-iš-a from xšnu- 'join oneself'. Perfect. Skr. ja-ghán-a-t(i) beside ja-ghān-a from √ ghen- 'strike, kill', mu-mōc-a-t beside mu-mōc-a from muc- 'let go', Avest. 1st pl. ānōh-a-ma beside ānōh-a (Skr. ds-a) from √ es- 'esse' (but the form may also be connected with the 3rd sing. ānōh-a-p, under B).

1) Compare for this Conj. W. Schulze, Kuhn's Zeitschr. xxix 251.

Rarely we find a divergence in the Present from the rule of gradation which holds for this Conjunctive formation (§ 911 p. 461), as Skr. 3rd dual añj-a-tas beside 3rd pl. anáj-an (indic. anák-ti 'anoints, adorns') formed as though the indic. were ánōk-ti*. On the numerous analogical forms in the s-aorist, such as Skr. dṛk-ś-a-sē tār-iš-a-t, see § 815 p. 353 and § 839 p. 375.

For the a-Conjunctive with an unthematic Indicative see § 921.

§ 914. Greek. The 1st sing. act. in -ω is regular in all dialects and periods. With this exception, the Conjunctive with a long vowel proved a formidable rival to the thematic formation. The latter held its ground most tenaciously in the s-aorist.

Very little trace is left in the stem of the proethnic law of gradation (§ 911 p. 461).

Present. This Conjunctive is fertile only in the oldest poetical language. Hom. ἵομεν instead of ἐ(λ)-ο-μεν* and ἴ-ο-μεν from ελ-μι 'I will go'; ἵομεν is to be compared with Skr. i-mahē (see § 493 p. 52, § 497 p. 56), or else it is due to the analogy of ῥή-ο-μεν δύ-ο-μεν and the like (cp. § 934 on Messen. ῥνται Hom. μετ-ή(ω)). Hom. φθί-ε-ται (instead of φ.θε(λ)-ε-ται*) beside φθί-το 'was destroyed', ἄλ-ε-ται beside ἄλ-το 'he leapt'. On the analogy of these were made similar Conjunctives for indic. stems in -α -ē or -ō, as σπῆ-ο-μεν θῆ-ο-μεν δύ-ο-μεν βλή-ε-ται (§ 934).

Some such conjunctives survived elsewhere, for instance in Attic, crystallized and used only for the Future; ἔδ-ο-μαι 'I will eat' (cp. inf. ἔδ-μεναι, Skr. indic. āt-ti), πί-ο-μαι 'I will drink' (beside imper. πί-θι), χέ(F)-ω 'I will pour' (beside indic. ἔ-χε(F)-α ἔ-χv-το).

Remark 1. In an Aeolic inscr. (discussed by Meister, Anzeiger für idg. Spr.- und Altertumsk., 1 203 f.) we have the 3rd pl. τέκοισι with the meaning of Att. τέκωσι. If the reading is true, we must grant it to be an instance of the o-conj. invading the domain of the long vowel. If so, we should have a right to question whether Homeric conjunctives like στρέφεται (in subord. clause after ὅτ' ἄν) ought really to be denied. These are collected by Stier in Curtius' Stud. II 139 f.; Curtius himself regards them as mythical (Verb, II^a 87 ff.).

s-Aorist. There are many examples in Homer and other Homeric poets; as τίσομεν τίσετε, βιήσῃ, ἀμύνεται. So there are in inscriptions of the 5th cent. B. C., from Ephesus, Teos, and Chios; as 3rd sing. in -ει, ἀποκρύψει, and 3rd pl. πρήξουσιν (Att. πρᾶξιωσιν) with -οι- instead of -ου- by Lesbian influence (I § 205 p. 172). In Cretan we find such forms as 3rd sing. δεξεί. Then there are Epic imperatives such as ἄξ-ε-τε 'bring ye' ἄξ-ε-σθε ὄψ-ε-σθε 'see ye' (§ 833 p. 370), and the futures ἄξω ὄψομαι, which must not be separated from the imperatives; indeed the whole Greek s-Future may perhaps come from the Conj. of the s-aorist (§ 747 p. 269). Lastly, the 1st sing. εἰδέω εἰδῶ (2nd sing. εἰδήσ etc. goes under B) beside indic. ᾔδεα 'I knew' for *ῥ'-φειδ-εσ-α (§ 836 pp. 372 ff.).

Perfect. Survivals in Homer: πε-ποιθ-ο-μεν ἔδ-ο-μεν, see § 912 p. 462; mid. προσ-αρήρε-ται Hes. Op. 431 (Vat. 2 προσαρήσεται). Attic imper. like κε-κράγ-ε-τε κε-χρήν-ε-τε (§ 854 p. 404).

Remark 2. It is strange that while Homer has τίσομεν etc. he has no complementary conj. forms in -εις -ει -ουσι. We may conjecture that he really had, but that the symbols of the old alphabet, -ΕΙΣ -ΕΙ -ΟΙΣΙ, which had more than one value, were here misunderstood, and the forms disappeared, -η; -η ωσι being written instead.

Those conjunctives which are not used exclusively for future or imperative, are being attracted even in Homer to follow the lead of those with long vowels, as ἵωμεν, ἄλῃται, πεποθωμεν. See § 923.

§ 915. Italic. Only found as a Future (cp. Att. ἔθ-ο-μαι, § 914).

Present. Lat. erō er-i-s: Skr. ás-ā-ni Gr. ἔ-ω, see § 912 p. 461.

s-Aorist. Lat. dīx-ō dīx-i-s, fax-ō fax-i-tur, cap-s-ō and the like, Umbr. Osc. fust 'erit', Umbr. furent 'erunt' prupehast 'ante piabit', Osc. deivast 'iurabit' (§ 824 p. 362). Umbr. eest est 'ibit' ferest 'feret', Osc. pert-emet 'perimet' (§ 837 p. 374). Lat. vīderō liquerō, then by analogy sciderō totonderō dīxerō etc. (§ 841 pp. 378 f.). In the 3rd pl. of these future perfects, the ending -erunt*, which was also the ending of the 3rd pl. indic. perfect, gave place to the optative ending -erint (beside 1st sing. vīd-erim), just as we find vīderīmus instead of vīderimus, vīderītis instead of vīderitis.¹⁾ Lastly, Lat. amāssō turbāssitur habēssō, for which infinitives were coined, as impetrāssere, on the analogy of capessere to capessō (§ 842 p. 381).

In the Conjunctive use (Wish), only the ā- and ē-forms (B) remained fertile; these also spread into the thematic conjunctive, as Lat. e-ā-s beside indic. ī-s, plē-r-ē-s beside indic. Skr. ā-prā-s-am.

§ 916. Keltic. s-aorist with meaning of Wish and more rarely of the Future; as from tiagim 'I step, go' the 1st sing. -tias, 3rd sing. tēs tēis, see § 826 p. 364.

§ 917. Germanic. Isolated Got. ōgs 'fear thou' beside perf. ōg 'fears' (§ 822 p. 430, § 912 p. 462).

B. Conjunctive to a Thematic Indicative.

§ 918. These Conjunctives have for the Suffix long vowels, not subject to gradation, -ā- or -ē- (-ō-). These are the same

1) With this contamination compare the use of sim edim as conj. On the analogy of the fut. perf. vīderint itself we have erint poterint instead of erunt poterunt.

FORMATION OF THE MOOD STEM.¹⁾INJUNCTIVE.²⁾

§ 909. Injunctive (or Spurious Conjunctive) is a name given to forms which look like unaugmented indicative forms belonging to a tense which is properly augmented; thus bhere-t* = Skr. bhārat Gr. ῥέρε, cp. imperf. á-bhara-t ἰ-ῥέρε. Injunctive forms therefore have the secondary personal endings.

In the parent language they had a very wide scope; perhaps these are really the oldest forms of the verb finite, which do not yet show in their form either distinction of time, or distinction of the ideas conveyed by the words indicative and conjunctive (wish, futurity). In historical times we find these used in three different ways:

(1) Indicative Present. Skr. Ved. cōdaya-t 'he sets afire' and others (Delbrück, Altind. Syntax 354 f.). Gr. Dor. and Cypr. φέρε-ς 'thou bearest', Att. τίθη-ς 'thou placest'; cp. also the Author, Gr. Gr.² § 160 Anm. p. 185 on the present (timeless) use of the ind. aor., as in κατθαν' ὁμῶς ὃ τ' ἀεργός ἀνήρ ὃ τε πολλὰ ἐοργώς.¹) Lat. vehi-s im-plē-s ī-s s-u-m (§ 528 p. 91). O.Ir. 2nd sing. -bir 'fers' for bhere-s* 3rd sing. -beir for bhere-t*. O.Icel. ero eru 'are' for iz-únþ* (§ 507 pp. 73 f., § 508 p. 74). Lith. bij-o-si 'he fears' for bhij-ā-t*, jū'sto 'he girds' for jōstā-t*, Pruss. waiſia 'he speaks' (§ 782. 4 p. 310); O.C.Sl. beretŭ 'fert' 3rd pl. beratŭ for bhere-t* bhero-nt* with the particle u (§§ 999 and 1026).

The only difference between these and the indic. forms in -ti -nti is that the latter have the particle i affixed; and this is apparently just what marked the new forms clearly out as present indicative (§ 973).

(2) Indicative Preterite. Skr. Ved. bhāra-t 'he bore'. Gr. Hom. φέρε 'he bore'; special mention must be made of the Ionic frequentatives φεύγεσθον etc. (§ 673 p. 206), which regularly lack the augment. Lat. -bā-s Osc. 3rd pl. -fans, Lat. erā-s (§ 583 p. 124), Osc. kúm-bened 'convēnit' (§ 867. 5 p. 415). O.Ir. do bert 'he brought' for some middle form in -to (§ 506 p. 72 f., § 826 p. 364). O.H.G. bizzi 'thou didst bite' = Skr. (á)-bhid-a-s (§ 893 p. 441). Lith. būvo 'he was'; O.C.Sl. tekŭ 'I ran'. Cp. § 483 p. 31 ff.

(3) Conjunctive.

(a) Conj. = Wish. The 2nd pl. and 2nd and 3rd dual were firmly rooted among the imperative forms as early as the parent language: Skr. bhāra-ta 'ferte' bhāra-tam bhāra-tām, Gr. φέρε-τε φέρε-τον, Lat. agi-te; O.Ir. 2nd pl. beri-d; Goth. 2nd pl. batrī-þ (2nd dual batra-ts with primary ending); beside es-ti* 'is' Skr. s-tá s-tām s-tām, Gr. ἔσ-τε ἔσ-τον, Lat. es-te;

1) The use of the augmented forms in the same way may be compared with the use of Skr. agāt instead of gāt after mā in the Mahā-Bharata (Holtzmann, Gramm. aus dem Mahābh., 28).

s-Aorists Skr. aviṣ-ṭā-na (-na is a particle, see § 1010) aviṣ-ṭām aviṣ-ṭām from āv-a-ti 'he desires', Gr. δειξα-τε δειξα-τον from δείκ-νῦ-σι 'shows'. In the other persons the proethnic imperative has other formations.

But in some of the derived languages these other persons also are found with the sense of Wish; and here and there one of them does duty for some part of the imperative.

Skr. Ved. prá vōcam 'I will praise', dās 'give', juṣata 'let him be pleased' 3rd pl. juṣanta, and many more. Then we have as part of the Aryan imperative such forms as 3rd sing. Skr. bhārat-u Avest. barat-u 'ferito' 3rd pl. Skr. bhārant-u Avest. baran-tu 'ferunto', Injunctives + particle u (§§ 992. 2 and 1017).

Gr. 2nd sing. mid. φύρεο φύροιν for φύρε-σο* (cp. imperf. ἐ-φύροιο), βαλοῖν for βαλέ-σο* (on the accent of this form see § 958), φάο from φη-μι 'I say', aor. ῥέο ῥοῦ beside ἐ-ῥέ-μην 'I placed for myself', used as regular imperative forms. Rarely also the corresponding 2nd sing. act. as ἐνί-σπ-ε-ς beside ἐνί-σπ-ε 'insece', ἐνί-σχε-ς beside ἐνί-σχ-ε 'stop', ἄγ-ε-ς ἄγε, φύρε (Hesych.); cp. also § 932 on ῥέε ῥέ; ῥός.

Lat. sequere = gr. ἔπεο, as regular imperative.

O.Ir. forms of the s-aorist, as comēir 'get up' for -rec-s-s*, tair 'let him come' for -inc-s-t* (§ 826 p. 363). Also the 2nd sing. imper. mid. in -the, as cluinte 'exaudi' beside indic. ro-chluinethar, aigde 'fear' beside -āgur, foilsigthe 'revela', since -the is the Skr. secondary ending -thās (§ 1051).

O.H.G. ni curi 'noli' for kuz-i-z* gus-e-s* beside 2nd pl. ni cur-e-t; Goth. visa-m vaila 'ἐνέφραυνθῶμεν', O.H.G. fara-m (fara-mēs) 'transeamus'.

Lith. te ne ei 'let him not go' for eṭ-t*, tè-suka 'let him turn' te-māto 'let him see',¹⁾ 1st pl. ei-mė 1st dual ei-và 'let us go' (§ 511 p. 77), O.C.Sl. bqdq 'sunto' (also found bqdqū 'erunt'), veli-te 'command ye' (also indic. veli-te 'ye command'), see § 955 Rem.

1) Since forms like sūka māto were also used for pres. indic., it came about that indicative forms with primary endings, as ei'(i), could be used with a "permissive" meaning; e. g. t'ēt(i).

(b) Conj. = Future. Skr. Ved. ném (= ná im) aghaṇaṣat 'him no mischief will reach' (cp. Delbrück, Altind. Syntax 358). In Lithuanian, some dialects have forms of the s-aorist like dė-s-me 'we will lay' dėste dėsva dėsta (§§ 828 f. pp. 365 f.).

CONJUNCTIVE.¹⁾

§ 910. It has been pointed out (§ 489 pp. 47 f.) that in all the languages the same formative elements which mark what from its use is called the Conjunctive are also found in the Indicative. In this way we find used both -e- and -o-, the "Thematic Vowel", and also -ā- and -ē- (-ō-). It follows that these forms had originally a much wider use than they came to have afterwards; and it was only by degrees that some of them were appropriated to the Indicative and others for the Conjunctive. Even in the parent language the rule held good that forms with a thematic vowel were Conjunctive, where the Indicative was distinguished by having none; whilst if the Indicative had a thematic vowel, the Conjunctive had the suffixes -ā- or -ē- (-ō-). If the Indicative itself had -ā- or -ē- (-ō-) (Classes X and XI, §§ 578 ff. pp. 118 ff.), then Injunctive forms commonly served for the Conjunctive mood (§ 930).

Remark. As stems with -e- -o- and stems with -ā- -ē- (-ō-) originally did for both Indicative and Conjunctive, we may suppose that tense-stems of other kinds had the same double use. As a matter of fact this was so in the fullest sense wherever these stems had the secondary personal endings, that is, were Injunctive (§ 909). But even some forms with the primary endings and without these conjunctive suffixes are so used: Skr. 2nd sing. vé-ši 'thou comest near' and 'come near' (3rd sing. vé-ti 'he comes near'), kṣé-ši 'thou abidest' and 'abide thou' (3rd sing. kṣé-ti 'he abides') are two examples out of many (Delbrück, Altind. Verb. 31 and 34 f.), Avest. Gath. dōiši 'perceive thou', Gr. imper. 2nd sing. λίσαι 'lay thyself' for λεκ-σ-σαι* (§ 969. 2). Compare § 974 Rem. On the use of the Att. indio. forms μιοθοῖς μιοθοῖ for the conjunctive see § 923.

The Conjunctive has a simple Future meaning in addition to that of wish (in which I include deliberative and dubitative). Often these forms drop their other meanings in the separate languages, and have that of Future only, or chiefly. Then they are called future in the grammars, as are for instance Lat. erō viderō.

In Armenian the Conjunctive formation appears to be entirely lost.

In Germanic and Balto-Slavonic it is lost all but a few scanty survivals, which will be given below. In both these branches the Optative took its place. First both these groups were used together (as in the Latin conjunctive, edā-mus agā-mus true conj. and edī-mus si-mus optative); then the Optative won the day. Examples of Opt. forms used as Conj. in these languages are: Goth. þairhgaggīma 'δέλωμεν, let us go through', ni maúrþrjáis 'μή φονεύσῃς'; te-sukē 'let him turn' (imperative)¹), O.C.Sl. ne vŭvedi nasŭ vŭ iskušeniije 'ne nos inducas in tentationem, μή εισενέγκῃς ἡμῶς' etc.

We now come to details. The Conjunctive formations may be divided into two groups, according as the Indicative stem (I) ended in a consonant, as es-ti* ej-ti* ῥney-ti*, and contained the thematic vowel, as bhere-ti*, or (II) ended in a long vowel, as e-stā-t* plē-ti*.

1) May also mean 'he may turn, he is to be allowed to turn'.

§ 923. Greek. Examples in § 919.

The Personal endings are nearly all primary. But in the 3rd singular many dialects (amongst others Arcadian and Cyprian) have -η for -η-τ, as ἔχῃ, instead of -ηι (-η).

In the 3rd pl. φέρωντι (Att. φέρουσι) φέρωνται, ω is not regular: there is the same analogical change as in ἄνται instead of ἄνται* cp. act. ἄνσι (I § 611 Rem. p. 462, IV § 582 p. 123).

In Attic the ending -ης -η (§ 987. 1, § 995) ran together with the indic. -εις -ει, that is φέρῃς and φέρεις had the same pronunciation; so too φιλής (for φιλέης) and φιλεῖς (for φιλείεις). And since after contraction τιμάης τιμάη became the same as τιμάεις τιμάει, namely τιμάῃς and τιμάῃ, and since the 1st sing. in all verbs of this form was the same for both indic. and conj., — φέρω φιλῶ τιμῶ μισθῶ — the result was that the indic. μισθοῖς μισθοῖ came to be used as conjunctive too.

By degrees, the η-ω-inflexion drove out that with ε and ο from the Conjunctive Mood; as ῥόμεν instead of ῥομεν (§ 914 p. 463 f.); the latter only held its own where any form was used exclusively in the sense of a future or imperative. This tendency, which, as we saw in § 920 p. 468, may have begun in the parent language, was made easier because the 1st sing. act. in both these conjunctive systems ended in -ω; as ἔω (ῶ) beside indic. ἔσ-τι (Lat. er-ō 3rd sing. er-i-t), φέρω beside indic. φέρει (cp. Skr. árcā beside indic. árc-a-ti).

It remains for the present a question whether the reverse be true, and the thematic conjunctive ever took the place of a long-vowel form; see § 914 Rem. 1 p. 464.

§ 924. Italic. The long-vowel Conjunctive drove out the Optative in thematic tenses (e. g. ag-a-s is used as equivalent to both ἄγῃς and ἄγοις), whilst in Germanic and Balto-Slavonic the Optative won the day (§ 910 p. 460). The short-vowel Conjunctive had a different fate. It remained only as the Future (§ 915 p. 465), and its conjunctive use (Wish, Deliberation, Doubt) passed either to the long-vowel series, for which see below, or to the Optative (as Lat. s-iē-s s-ī-s beside es-t).

The suffixes -ā- and -ē- are both found, and the personal endings are secondary: Lat. ag-a-m (like injunct. — pret. — -b-a-m), 3rd sing. Osc. pútíad fuid, 3rd pl. Osc. putíans herríns (but Osc. has also 3rd sing. tadait = -a(i)ē-ti*, § 996).

On the spread of long-vowel forms in place of those with a short vowel, as in Lat. e-ā-s es-s-ē-s Osc. fefacid, see § 920 p. 468.

§ 925. The ā-suffix appears in the Present only. To the forms cited in § 919 add the following. Lat. fu-ā-s beside indic. fu-i-t. Lat. dīc-ā-s Osc. deicans 'dicant' beside indic. Lat. dīc-i-t. Umbr. emantur 'emantur'. Lat. faci-ā-s Umbr. fašia 'faciat' beside indic. fac-iō. Lat. fīni-ā-s beside indic. fīni-ō i. e. fīni-iō, claude-ā-s beside indic. claudeō for claude-iō*, mone-ā-s beside indic. moneō for mon-eiō*.

In Umbrian -iā- spread from fašia and like forms to the ā-denominatives; hence kuraia 'curet' etaians 'itent'.

Lat. e-ā-s beside indic. i-t (like Skr. ay-ā-t), whilst in the verbs est vult est the Optative (s-iē-s s-i-s, vel-ī-s, ed-ī-s beside ed-ā-s) added the conjunctive function to their own. The opt. of i-t may have been lost by the plural i-ī-mos* becoming īmos*, and thus being identical with the indicative.

Remark. The only example of -ā- outside the Present would be Lat. dum-taxat, if Bréal be right in taking -taxat as the conj. of the s-aorist of tangō (cp. opt. tax-ī-s): 'donec tetigerit, jusqu'à ce qu'il ait atteint', then 'jusqu'à (et non plus loin)' (Mém. Soc. Ling. v 35 f., Dict. étymol.² p. 385). As in the whole area of Italic the s-aorist has only the ē-conjunctive (§ 926), it would be better to take -taxat as conj. of an indic. taxō*, Class XX (§ 662 p. 197).

§ 926. The ē-suffix appears in all tense Stems.

(1) Present. Lat. (fut.) fer-ē-s capi-ē-s farci-ēs fīni-ē-s.¹⁾ Umbr. heriiei 'velit' or 'volet' (cp. Osc. heriiad 'velit' § 919 p. 467).

The following may also be examples: Osc. deivaid 'iuret' for deivā(i)-ē-t*, tadait 'censeat' for tadā(i)-ē-ti*, sakahiter 'sacretur' for sakā(i)-ē-ter*; Lat. nēs plantēs for nā(i)-ē-s* plantā(i)-ē-s* (indic. 1st sing. nō plantō for -ā(i)ō*); similarly

1) These forms are wrongly explained in vol. I § 81 Rem. 3 p. 74 f.

stēs for sta(i)-ē-s* (indic. 1st sing. stō for sta-(i)ō*), by analogy of which would come dēs (cp. § 946). The difference between plantēs and claudēs finias — the conj. suffix being in the one group ē and in the other a — may be explained by remembering that planta(i)-a-s* must become plantās*, and a confusion with the indicative would result (compare § 930 sub fin.); the loss of clauē(i)-ē-s* (cp. fīni-ē-s plantēs), because it too would become claudēs* like the indicative. But all these ē-forms may be optative: deivā-iē-t* plantā-iē-s*, da-iē-s*. If, as is possible, the origin of these forms is double, the intermingling of Conjunctive and Optative would be due to formal analogy as well as syntax. See § 946.

(2) s-Aorist (cp. Skr. mā-s-a-tāi Gr. δείξ-η-τε εἰδέ-η-τε § 920 p. 468). Lat. es-s-ē-s in-trā-r-ē-s im-plē-r-ē-s vidē-r-ē-s plantā-r-ē-s Osc. fusid 'foret' Pelign. upsaseter 'operaretur' or 'operarentur' (§ 824 p. 362). Lat. ag-er-ēs gnōsc-er-ēs, Umbr. ostensendi 'ostenderentur' for tend-es-ē-ntēr*, Osc. herrins 'caperent' for her-es-ē-nt* (§ 837 p. 374). Lat. vīd-is-s-ēs totondissēs dixissēs (§ 842 p. 381). Compare the short-vowel conjunctive-futures Lat. fax-i-tur vīder-i-s Umbr. Osc. fust § 915 p. 465.

(3) Perfect Forms (cp. Skr. va-vydh-a-ti Gr. λε-λήκ-η § 920 p. 468) occur only in Umbro-Samnite, as in Latin the s-Aorist had intruded in place of the perfect forms. Osc. fefacid 'fecerit' hipid 'habuerit' fuid 'fuerit'; Osc. sakrafir 'sacrauerint' Umbr. pihafei 'piaverint'; Osc. trībarakattins 'aedificaverint'. See §§ 872 f. pp. 420 f. Most of these forms may be regarded as belonging originally to a thematic aorist, as fuid to indic. Lat. fu-i-t = Skr. á-bhuv-a-t (see loc. cit.); if so they belong to (1).¹⁾

§ 927. Keltic. For Irish examples see § 919. Only -ā- is proved as the Conjunctive suffix. Conjunct flexion, e. g. sing. do-ber, -berae -bere, -bera, pl. -beram -berid -berat based

1) In regarding the Umbro-Samnitic forms in this section as ē-conj. I follow my pupil G. Bronisch. Meanwhile Bartholomae likewise explains sakahiter as a conj. like Gr. ἀνείη-ται (Stud. Idg. Spr., II 154, 185).

Some such conjunctives survived elsewhere, for instance in Attic, crystallized and used only for the Future; ἔδ-ο-μαι 'I will eat' (cp. inf. ἔδ-μεναι, Skr. indic. āt-ti), πί-ο-μαι 'I will drink' (beside imper. πί-θι), χέ-ι-ω 'I will pour' (beside indic. ἔ-χε-ι-α ἔ-χυν-το).

Remark 1. In an Aeolic inscr. (discussed by Meister, Anzeiger für idg. Spr.- und Altertums., 1 203 f.) we have the 3rd pl. τέκοιαι with the meaning of Att. τέκονται. If the reading is true, we must grant it to be an instance of the o-conj. invading the domain of the long vowel. If so, we should have a right to question whether Homeric conjunctives like ατρώπεται (in subord. clause after δρ' ἄν) ought really to be denied. These are collected by Stier in Curtius' Stud. II 138 f.; Curtius himself regards them as mythical (Verb, II² 87 ff.).

s-Aorist. There are many examples in Homer and other Homeric poets; as τίσσομεν τίσσει, βιήσεται, ἀμείψεται. So there are in inscriptions of the 5th cent. B. C., from Ephesus, Teos, and Chios; as 3rd sing. in -ει, ἀποκρύψει, and 3rd pl. πρήξουσιν (Att. πράξουσιν) with -οι- instead of -ου- by Lesbian influence (I § 205 p. 172). In Cretan we find such forms as 3rd sing. δεῖξει. Then there are Epic imperatives such as ἄξ-ε-τε 'bring ye' (§ 833 p. 370), and the futures ἄξω ὄψομαι, which must not be separated from the imperatives; indeed the whole Greek s-Future may perhaps come from the Conj. of the s-aorist (§ 747 p. 269). Lastly, the 1st sing. εἰδῶ (2nd sing. εἰδῆς etc. goes under B) beside indic. γῖδ' ἔα 'I knew' for ῥ-φ-εἰδ-εσ-α* (§ 836 pp. 372 ff.).

Perfect. Survivals in Homer: πε-ποίη-ο-μεν ἔδ-ο-μεν, see § 912 p. 462; mid. προσ-αρήρε-ται Hes. Op. 431 (Vat. 2 προσαρήσεται). Attic imper. like κε-κράγ-ε-τε κε-χῆν-ε-τε (§ 854 p. 404).

Remark 2. It is strange that while Homer has τίσσομεν etc. he has no complementary conj. forms in -εις -ει -ουσι. We may conjecture that he really had, but that the symbols of the old alphabet, -ΒΙΣ -ΒΙ -ΟΣΙ, which had more than one value, were here misunderstood, and the forms disappeared, -ης -η ων being written instead.

Those conjunctives which are not used exclusively for future or imperative, are being attracted even in Homer to follow the lead of those with long vowels, as ἵωμεν, ἄλῃται, πεποιθωμεν. See § 923.

§ 915. Italic. Only found as a Future (cp. Att. ἔθ-ο-μαι, § 914).

Present. Lat. erō er-i-s: Skr. ás-ā-ni Gr. ἔ-ω, see § 912 p. 461.

s-Aorist. Lat. dīx-ō dīx-i-s, fax-ō fax-i-tur, cap-s-ō and the like, Umbr. Osc. fust 'erit', Umbr. furent 'erunt' prupehast 'ante piabit', Osc. deivast 'iurabit' (§ 824 p. 362). Umbr. eest est 'ibit' ferest 'feret', Osc. pert-emet 'perimet' (§ 837 p. 374). Lat. vīderō līquerō, then by analogy sciderō totonderō dīxerō etc. (§ 841 pp. 378 f.). In the 3rd pl. of these future perfects, the ending -erunt*, which was also the ending of the 3rd pl. indic. perfect, gave place to the optative ending -erint (beside 1st sing. vīd-erim), just as we find vīderīmus instead of vīderimus, vīderītis instead of vīderitis.¹⁾ Lastly, Lat. amāssō turbāssitur habēssō, for which infinitives were coined, as impetrāssere, on the analogy of capessere to capessō (§ 842 p. 381).

In the Conjunctive use (Wish), only the ā- and ē- forms (B) remained fertile; these also spread into the thematic conjunctive, as Lat. e-ā-s beside indic. ī-s, plē-r-ē-s beside indic. Skr. á-prā-s-am.

§ 916. Keltic. s-aorist with meaning of Wish and more rarely of the Future; as from tiagim 'I step, go' the 1st sing. -tias, 3rd sing. tēs tēis, see § 826 p. 364.

§ 917. Germanic. Isolated Got. ōgs 'fear thou' beside perf. ōg 'fears' (§ 822 p. 430, § 912 p. 462).

B. Conjunctive to a Thematic Indicative.

§ 918. These Conjunctives have for the Suffix long vowels, not subject to gradation, -ā- or -ē- (-ō-). These are the same analogy of our Ist conjunctive class: hence we have on the one hand forms with short conj. vowel, as Hom. βλή-ε-ται τροπή-ο-μεν γνώ-ο-μεν κι-χῆ-ο-μεν (cp. κί-χ-η-μι § 594 p. 135), and on the other hand forms with long vowel, as Hom. δαμῆ-ης γνώ-ωσι,¹⁾ contracted Att. τραπή-ς τραπῶ-μεν γνώ-ωμεν, μεμνή-ται Hom. μεμνώ-μεθα, Heracl. ἐπι-βῆ-ῃ for -βᾱι* or -βᾱη*.

From Keltic we may cite the conj. of a-verbs, as O.Ir. -cara for carā-t* (cp. § 927 p. 474), and from Germanic the corresponding conjunctives, such as Goth. salbō -ō-s -ō -ō-ma -ō-p -ō-na O.H.G. salbo -ō-s -o -ō-m -ō-t -ō-n; also O.H.G. conj. habe -ē-s -e -ē-m -ē-t -ē-n beside indic. habēm -ēs etc., and Gr. conj. γοάφ-η-νται beside ἐ-γοάφ-η-μεν.²⁾ Similar Latin forms, plantā-m -a-s* etc., may have been the predecessors of plantem -ēs etc.; cp. § 926 p. 473.

B. Indicative Stem has a Long Final Vowel, with Gradation.

§ 931. We have now to deal with the Conjunctive of Indicative Stems like dhē- dh(ə)- (Skr. á-dhā-t á-dhi-ta), dhi-dhē- dhi-dh(ə)- and dhe-dhē- dhe-dh(ə)- (Gr. τί-θη-σι τί-θη-ται τί-θη-ται, Skr. dá-dhā-ti da-dh-más da-dhāú da-dh-úr), mṛ-nā- mṛ-n(ə)- (Skr. mṛ-nā-ti mṛ-n-únti Gr. μά-ρ-να-ται).

Two conjunctive types appear to be proethnic; one with the thematic vowel, which we may call the regular type, as Skr. da-dh-a-tē beside indic. dá-dhā-ti, and one with long

1) It is true there is nothing to prove that the forms Homer really used were not δαμῆ-ει; γνώ-ουσι; compare § 934, on conj. like σῆ-ης σῆ-ων. The absence of such forms as δαμῶ-μεν δαμῶ-τε σῶ-μεν σῶ-τε in Homer is in favour of the short-vowel conjunctive.

2) But how are we to explain Goth. habau -ais -ai? That habēs in Gothic became habais (ai = long ai) by simple action of regular change is to my mind as little proven as the identity of Goth. sifais and Lat. siēs. The student may now refer to Streitberg, Zur Germ. Sprachgeschichte 73 f., who regards habais habai as optative with the suffix -iē.

vowel, as Skr. da-dh-a-tāi, Gr. ἐνί-στ-ω-μαι ἐνί-στ-η-ται beside indic. ἐνί-στα-ται, Lat. si-st-ā-s. The latter are not independent of the fact that the Indicative so often has a thematic side by side with the unthematic series, thus Skr. da-dh-a-tē beside indic. dā-dhā-ti, da-dh-ā-tāi beside indic. dā-dh-a-ti (§ 562 p. 110 f.). Cp. conj. áy-a-t and ay-ā-t and the like (§ 920 p. 468).

§ 932. (1) Thematic Conjunctive Type.

Skr. da-dh-a-t 2nd dual dā-dh-a-thas mid. da-dh-a-tē beside indic. dā-dhā-ti 'places'. 2nd dual mid. dh-éthē 3rd sing. act. prāti-dhat beside indic. á-dhā-t. mi-n-a-t beside indic. mi-nā-ti 'lessens, injures'. The forms with secondary personal ending, da-dh-a-t mi-n-a-t, may be regarded as injunctive to the thematic indic. dā-dh-a-ti á-mi-n-a-nta; -dh-a-t as injunctive is to be compared with áda-t (§ 524 p. 88). Avest. 1st sing. xšt-a (cp. indic. 3rd sing. paiti-štā-p Skr. á-sthā-t from $\sqrt{stā}$ 'stare') may come in here as easily as under (2); cp. § 933.

Greek perhaps has specimens of this type of conjunctive in the imperative 2nd sing. ῥέε (from τίθημι) and ῥε (ῖημι). If so, their ε is not the same as ε in ἔ-ῥε-μεν, which has displaced α = Idg. ə (§ 493 p. 53); they would be on the same plane as σῆ-έ-ς. On the model of ῥ-έ-ς (dh-e-s*): ῥ-ε-τε (Idg. dhə-te*) ῥός beside ῥόρε would then be coined. Or are ῥέε ῥε ῥός transformates of ῥῆς* ῆς* ῥός* (which would be injunctive like Skr. dhās dās) by levelling with ῥέτω ῥέτε etc. (§ 909 p. 458).

§ 933. (2) Long-Vowel Conjunctive Type.

Aryan. Skr. da-dh-ā-tāi da-d-ā-tāi beside indic. dā-dhā-ti 'places' dā-da-ti 'gives', cp. indic. dā-dh-a-ti dā-d-a-ti Avest. da-p-a-iti (§ 562 p. 111). Skr. dh-ā-ti d-ā-ti sth-a-ti sth-ā-thas 2nd dual mid. dhāithē (cp. § 922 p. 470 on bhārāithē), Avest. 2nd sing. d-ā-hī 3rd sing. d-ā-iti mid. d-ā-itē xšt-ā-itē 3rd pl. mid. d-ā-ntē beside indic. Skr. á-dhā-t á-dā-t á-sthā-t Avest. dā-p-štā-p, cp. indic. Skr. áda-t (§ 524 p. 88). Skr. 2nd pl. krī-n-a-tha mid. 3rd sing. krī-n-a-tāi beside indic. krī-nā-ti 'buys' (Whitney, Skr. Gr. § 720), Avest. mid. 3rd sing. per'-n-a-itē ver'-n-a-ta (with secondary ending) 3rd pl. ver'-n-ā-ntē beside indic. ger'w-na-iti 'grasps, comprehends', cp. indic. Skr. mṛ-ṇ-ā-ti (§ 598 p. 141, § 609 p. 149).

On the ending -ā-tai see § 922 p. 470.

§ 934. Greek. ἐπί-στ-ω-μαι ἐπί-στ-η-ται beside indic. ἐπί-στα-ται 'understands'. δύ-ν-ω-μαι beside indic. δύ-να-ται 'can', μαρ-ν-ώ-μεσθαι (Hesiod) beside indic. μάρ-να-ται 'fights', cp. opt. μαρ-νο-ί-μεθα (Od. 11. 513) and indic. like πάρ-νο-μαι (§ 611 p. 149). Whether the Attic accent be τίθωμαι or τιθῶμαι (for τιθέωμαι*) cannot be decided; the grammarians contradict each other, and the MS. tradition is uncommonly inconsistent; τί-θ-ω-μαι τί-θ-η-ται would answer to Skr. da-dh-a-tai.

A second type is represented by forms like Messen. τίθηντι beside τίθημι 'I place', Arcad. ἱ-στᾶ-τοι Cret. ἱθᾶντι beside ἱ-στᾶ-μι 'I place, set up', Cret. δέ-ν-ᾱ-μαι beside δύ-να-μαι 'I can', ῥήγ-νῦ-ται (Hipponax) beside ῥήγ-νῦ-μι 'I break, tear'. I assume that this type is due to imitation of such a conjunctive as -γράφ-ηντι (§ 930 p. 475) — observe that in both series the optative formation had become the same in proethnic Greek, as γραφείην and τιθείην, see § 943; — τίθηντι : τίθημι ἐτίθην = γράφηντι : ἐγράφην; ῥήγνῦται like ὕμειναιον § 480 p. 29. Cp. Hom. τιθήμενος instead of τιθέμενος like κίχήμενος βλήμενος, indic. ἐπί-σκηται (Il. 16. 243, from ἔ-σκη-ν) like πλῆ-το 'drew near' (for πλᾶ-το*). If Greek once had the conj. ā-suffix, ἱ-στᾶ-τω might be compared with Lat. si-st-ā-s.

In the same way, and at the same time, with the forms γράφηντι etc., Conjunctives like τίθηντι came under the influence of ο- and ω-conjunctives. Hom. στή-ο-μεν στή-ε-τον, θή-ο-μεν -θή-ο-μαι, δύ-ο-μεν and Hom. στή-ης στή-ωσι, φή-ης,²⁾

1) The forms here treated have been wrongly explained in vol. I §§ 113 ff. pp. 106 ff.

2) Perhaps in Homeric times the forms used were στήεις στήουσι φήεις. See p. 476 footnote 1.

The relation of $\tau\acute{\iota}\theta\eta\text{-}\nu\tau\iota$ to indic. $\tau\acute{\iota}\theta\eta\text{-}\nu\tau\iota$ produced in Messenian a conj. $\eta\text{-}\nu\tau\alpha\iota$ 'sint' beside indic. $\epsilon\text{-}\nu\tau\iota$. With this must be grouped Hom. $\mu\epsilon\tau\text{-}\epsilon\acute{\iota}\omega$ (Il. 23. 47), for which read $\mu\epsilon\tau\text{-}\eta\acute{\omega}$ and place it parallel to $\theta\eta\text{-}\omega$ $\epsilon\phi\text{-}\eta\omega$. § 937. Germanic. In § 507 p. 74 it was pointed out as possible that O.Sax. dō-m O.H.G. tuo-m 'I do' may represent the stem dh-ā- of Lat. conda-s and be compared with Lat. indic. d-ā-s (§ 935). OPTATIVE.¹⁾

§ 938. The Optative of the Unthematic Indicative has for suffix in the Singular Active -iē- -iē- (Strong form), in the Plural and Dual Active and in the Middle of all numbers -i- before consonants and -i- -ij- before sonants (Weak forms). The Tense Stem had its Weak form. Thus from es-ti* 'is': s-iē-* s-iġē-* 2nd sing. But the Optative of Thematic tense stems had in all persons of the Active and Middle -oi- before the personal ending; as bheroī-* (Gr. ἑροί-ς φέροι-τε) beside indic. bhere-ti* 'bears' from ✓bher-. Probably -oi- is for -o-ī- and this -ī- identical with that of s-ī-; 2nd pl. bhero-ī-te: s-ī-te* = loc. yoīko-ī* (Gr. οἴχοι): kun-i* (Gr. κυν-ί Skr. śun-i).

The Personal endings of the Optative are Secondary. Compare § 942 Rem.

In Armenian and Irish¹⁾ the Optative seems completely dead; in Italic the oi-type can no longer be traced. The commingling of optative and conjunctive has been described in § 910 p. 460.

1) "What the British conjunctive, in which i seems to be mixt up with ō (for ā), really is, has not yet been made out. It may be partly derived from an optative of the s-aorist." (Thurneysen.) Compare also Loth, Mém. Soc. Ling. v 133 ff.

§ 923. Greek. Examples in § 919.

The Personal endings are nearly all primary. But in the 3rd singular many dialects (amongst others Arcadian and Cyprian) have -η for -η-τ, as ἔχῃ, instead of -ηι (-η).

In the 3rd pl. φέρωντι (Att. φέρουσι) φέρωνται, ω is not regular: there is the same analogical change as in ἄνται instead of ἄνται* cp. act. ἄνται (I § 611 Rem. p. 462, IV § 582 p. 123).

In Attic the ending -ης -η (§ 987. 1, § 995) ran together with the indic. -εις -ει, that is φέρῃς and φέρεις had the same pronunciation; so too φιλήῃς (for φιλέῃς) and φιλεῖς (for φιλέεις). And since after contraction τιμάῃς τιμάῃ became the same as τιμάεις τιμάει, namely τιμᾶς and τιμῷ, and since the 1st sing. in all verbs of this form was the same for both indic. and conj., — φέρω φιλοῦ τιμῶ μισθοῦ — the result was that the indic. μισθοῖς μισθοῖ came to be used as conjunctive too.

By degrees, the η-ω-inflection drove out that with ε and ο from the Conjunctive Mood; as ῥομεν instead of ῥομεν (§ 914 p. 463 f.); the latter only held its own where any form was used exclusively in the sense of a future or imperative. This tendency, which, as we saw in § 920 p. 468, may have begun in the parent language, was made easier because the 1st sing. act. in both these conjunctive systems ended in -ω; as ἔω (ῶ) beside indic. ἔσ-τι (Lat. er-ō 3rd sing. er-i-t), φέρω beside indic. φέρει (cp. Skr. ārcā beside indic. ārc-a-ti).

It remains for the present a question whether the reverse be true, and the thematic conjunctive ever took the place of a long-vowel form; see § 914 Rem. 1 p. 464.

§ 924. Italic. The long-vowel Conjunctive drove out the Optative in thematic tenses (e. g. ag-ā-s is used as equivalent to both ἄγῃς and ἄγεις), whilst in Germanic and Balto-Slavonic the Optative won the day (§ 910 p. 460). The short-vowel Conjunctive had a different fate. It remained only as the Future (§ 915 p. 465), and its conjunctive use (Wish, Deliberation, Doubt) passed either to the long-vowel series, for which see below, or to the Optative (as Lat. s-iē-s s-ī-s beside es-t).

The suffixes -ā- and -ē- are both found, and the personal endings are secondary: Lat. ag-a-m (like injunct. — pret. — -b-a-m), 3rd sing. Osc. pútiad fuid, 3rd pl. Osc. putians herríns (but Osc. has also 3rd sing. tadait = -a(i)ē-ti*, § 996).

On the spread of long-vowel forms in place of those with a short vowel, as in Lat. e-ā-s es-s-ē-s Osc. fefacid, see § 920 p. 468.

§ 925. The ā-suffix appears in the Present only. To the forms cited in § 919 add the following. Lat. fu-ā-s beside indic. fu-i-t. Lat. dīc-ā-s Osc. deicans 'dicant' beside indic. Lat. dīc-i-t. Umbr. emantur 'emantur'. Lat. faci-ā-s Umbr. fašia 'faciat' beside indic. fac-iō. Lat. fīni-ā-s beside indic. fīni-ō i. e. fīni-iō, claude-ā-s beside indic. claudeō for claude-iō*, mone-ā-s beside indic. moneō for mon-eiō*.

In Umbrian -iā- spread from fašia and like forms to the ā-denominatives; hence kuraia 'curet' etaians 'itent'.

Lat. e-ā-s beside indic. i-t (like Skr. ay-ā-t), whilst in the verbs est vult ēst the Optative (s-iē-s s-i-s, vel-i-s, ed-i-s beside ed-ā-s) added the conjunctive function to their own. The opt. of i-t may have been lost by the plural i-i-mos* becoming īmos*, and thus being identical with the indicative.

Remark. The only example of -ā- outside the Present would be Lat. dum-taxat, if Bréal be right in taking -taxat as the conj. of the s-aorist of tangō (cp. opt. tax-i-s): 'donec tetigerit, jusqu'à ce qu'il ait atteint', then 'jusqu'à (et non plus loin)' (Mém. Soc. Ling. v 35 f., Dict. étymol.² p. 385). As in the whole area of Italic the s-aorist has only the ē-conjunctive (§ 926), it would be better to take -taxat as conj. of an indic. taxō*, Class XX (§ 662 p. 197).

§ 926. The ē-suffix appears in all tense Stems.

(1) Present. Lat. (fut.) fer-ē-s capi-ē-s farci-ēs fīni-ē-s.¹⁾ Umbr. heriiei 'velit' or 'volet' (cp. Osc. heriia 'velit' § 919 p. 467).

The following may also be examples: Osc. deivaid 'iuret' for deivā(i)-ē-t*, tadait 'censeat' for tadā(i)-ē-ti*, sakahiter 'sacretur' for sakā(i)-ē-ter*; Lat. nēs plantēs for nā(i)-ē-s* planta(i)-ē-s* (indic. 1st sing. nō plantō for -a(i)ō*); similarly

stēs for stā(i)-ē-s* (indic. 1st sing. stō for stā-(i)ō*), by analogy of which would come dēs (cp. § 946). The difference between plantēs and claudēs fīniās — the conj. suffix being in the one group ē and in the other a — may be explained by remembering that plantā(i)-ā-s* must become plantās*, and a confusion with the indicative would result (compare § 930 sub fin.); the loss of claudē(i)-ē-s* (cp. fīni-ē-s plantēs), because it too would become claudēs* like the indicative. But all these ē-forms may be optative: deivā-iē-t* plantā-iē-s*, da-iē-s*. If, as is possible, the origin of these forms is double, the intermingling of Conjunctive and Optative would be due to formal analogy as well as syntax. See § 946.

(2) s-Aorist (cp. Skr. mā-s-a-tāi Gr. μαίξ-η-τε εἰδέ-η-τε § 920 p. 468). (3) Perfect Forms (cp. Skr. vā-vydh-a-ti Gr. λε-λγ/κ-η § 920 p. 468) occur only in Umbro-Samnite, as in Latin the s-Aorist had intruded in place of the perfect forms. Most of these forms may be regarded as belonging originally to a thematic aorist, as fuid to indic. Lat. fu-i-t = Skr. ā-bhuv-a-t (see loc. cit.); if so they belong to (1).¹⁾

§ 927. Keltic. For Irish examples see § 919. Only -ā- is proved as the Conjunctive suffix. Conjunct flexion, e. g. sing. do-ber, -berae -bere, -bera, pl. -beram -berid -berat based

1) In regarding the Umbro-Samnitic forms in this section as ē-conj. I follow my pupil G. Bronisch. Meanwhile Bartholomae likewise explains sakahter as a conj. like Gr. όράη-ται (Stud. Idg. Spr., II 154, 185).

The suffixes -a- and -ē- are both found, and the personal endings are secondary: Lat. ag-a-m (like injunct. — pret. — -b-a-m), 3rd sing. Osc. pútiad fuid, 3rd pl. Osc. putíans herríns (but Osc. has also 3rd sing. tadait = -a(i)ē-ti*, § 996).

1) In regarding the Umbro-Samnitic forms in this section as ē-conj. I follow my pupil G. Bronisch. Meanwhile Bartholomae likewise explains sakahíter as a conj. like Gr. όψάη-ται (Stud. Idg. Spr., II 154, 185).

upon ber-ā-m -ā-si -ā-t, -ā-m- -ā-te -ā-nt(o)*; with primary endings, the "absolute" 1st sing. bera (certainly a new form), 3rd sing. berid, pl. bermme berthe berit. Similarly 3rd sing. dolēcea for leikyi-ā-t* etc.

With the conj. -bera harmonised fully in inflexion -cara, beside indic. no charu for carā-īð*, cp. Cymr. conj. 3rd sing. caro pl. carom caroch caront with o for a. The conj. carā- may be for carāi-ā-*, but may also be for orig. carā- (§ 930).

To the Present in -enim (Class XII, § 604 pp. 145 f.) the conjunctive was a series of forms without the nasal suffix. E. g. with crenim 'I buy' (from $\sqrt{grei-}$) and benim 'I strike, cut' (beside O.C.Sl. bi-ti 'to strike') the conjunctives are 3rd sing. (ni-)criu for grii-ā-t* (cp. Gr. $\eta\theta\iota-\omega-\mu\alpha\iota$ $\eta\theta\iota-\eta-\tau\alpha\iota$) and (fom-)bia for bhi-ā-t*. Compare Thurneysen in Kuhn's Zeitschr. xxxi 87 f. On the analogy of these, renim 'I sell' for pr-na-* ($\sqrt{per-}$) had the conj. ni-ria made for it; levelling seems to have taken place between these two verbs in the indic. perfect too, though in the reverse direction (§ 878 p. 426 f.).

§ 928. Germanic. Only one form, and that very dubious; the 1st sing. bairau = O.Icel. bera beside the clear optatives Goth. bairāi-s bairāi etc.; this has hitherto been derived from berai-u* Idg. bheroī-ŋ* (cp. I § 142 p. 126), which is called the "only tenable hypothesis" by Kluge, Paul's (Grundr. i 381.¹) According to Hirt (Idg. Forsch. i 206) the form comes from berō-m* = Lat. feram, and -au must be pronounced -aú, that is as a single sound; similarly Goth. viljau O.H.G. wille would be derived from uel-i-ā-m*, pr. Germ. uiliðn*. Compare § 947.

§ 929. Slavonic. 1st sing. indic. bera for berām* is a conj. form used as future, which displaced the old form in -ō

1) I cannot agree to a recent criticism of this explanation, that it violates well established laws of sound. i would drop between vowels in unaccented syllables, and u may have been contracted with the preceding a, before acc. frijōnd-u* became frijōnd, if this form really so arose (see III § 219 p. 96). Others see the particle u in bairau (cp. Wiedemann, Lit. Prät. 159).

A. Indicative Stem ends in -ā-, -ē- -ō- without gradation.

§ 930. We have here the Conjunctive to our Present Classes X and XI (§§ 578 ff. pp. 118 ff.), that is, stems such as dr-ā-* 'to run' (Skr. dra-ti Gr. ἐ-δρα-ν), pl-ē-* 'fill' (Skr. á-prā-t Gr. πλη-το Lat. im-plē-s), mṛn-ē-* 'to think' (Gr. ἐ-μᾶνῃ Lith. mīnē), tak-ē-* 'to be silent' (Lat. tacē-s O.H.G. dagē-s), with which are grouped denominative stems without -iō- like Lat. plantā- (plantā-mus) O.Ir. cara- (no chara-m) Goth. salbō- (salbō-m) Lith. jũstō- (jũstō-me) Gr. Aeol. τῖμα- (τῖμα-μεν) (§ 769 pp. 283 ff.) and Perfects like Skr. ji-jyāú Gr. βε-βίη-ται βε-βλη-ται τε-τίμα-ται (§ 847 pp. 390 ff.).

The long vowels of these stems we have already identified with the conjunctive suffixes -ā- and -ē- (-ō-), in § 578 p. 119 f. Thus the Conjunctive and Indicative had here originally the same stem.

In Aryan we get Injunctive forms with Conjunctive use; as Ved. pr-ā-s from pr-ā- 'to fill'. Forms with primary ending in conj. meaning do not occur, except prā-si 'let him fill', which however belongs to the group vé-ši kṣé-ši etc. (§ 910 Rem. pp. 459 f.).

Greek. Messen. -γράφ-η-ντι conj. of ἐ-γράφ-η 'it was written' 1st pl. ἐ-γράφ-η-μεν, -σκευάσθη-ντι beside ἐ-σκευάσθη 'was prepared'. Perf. Gortyn. πέ-π-ᾶ-ται beside indic. πέ-π-ᾶ-ται 'he has gained, he possesses' from kū-ā- (II § 117 p. 370 f.), Ther. πέ-πρ-ᾶ-ται beside indic. πέ-πρ-ᾶ-ται 'is sold', also conj. Heracl. οἰκοδόμη-ται from οἰκοδομέω 'I build', Gortyn. ἐσ-τετέκνω-ται beside (Att.) ἐκ-τεκνύω 'I beget children'. For clearer distinction between conj. and indic. these forms followed the analogy of our Ist conjunctive class: hence we have on the one hand forms with short conj. vowel, as Hom. βλή-ε-ται τροπή-ο-μεν γνώ-ο-μεν κι-χῆ-ο-μεν (cp. κί-χ-η-μι § 594 p. 135), and on the other hand forms with long vowel, as Hom. δαμῆ-ης γνώ-ωσι,¹⁾ contracted Att. τραπής τραπῶμεν γνώς γνωῶμεν, μεμνῆται Hom. μεμνῶμεθα, Heracl. ἐπι-βῆ for βᾶι* or βᾶη*.

From Keltic we may cite the conj. of a-verbs, as O.Ir. -cara for carā-t* (cp. § 927 p. 474), and from Germanic the corresponding conjunctives, such as Goth. salbō -ō-s -ō -ō-ma -ō-p -ō-na O.H.G. salbo -ō-s -o -ō-m -ō-t -ō-n; also O.H.G. conj. habē -ē-s -e -ē-m -ē-t -ē-n beside indic. habēm -ēs etc., and Gr. conj. γράφ-η-νται beside ἐ-γράφ-η-μεν.²⁾ Similar Latin forms, plantā-m -ā-s* etc., may have been the predecessors of plantem -ēs etc.; cp. § 926 p. 473.

B. Indicative Stem has a Long Final Vowel, with Gradation.

§ 931. We have now to deal with the Conjunctive of Indicative Stems like dhē- dh(ə)- (Skr. á-dhā-t á-dhi-ta), dhi-dhē- dhi-dh(ə)- and dhe-dhē- dhe-dh(ə)- (Gr. τί-θ-η-σι τί-θ-ε-ται τέ-θ-ε-ται, Skr. dá-dhā-ti da-dh-más da-dhāú da-dh-úr), mṛ-nā- mṛ-n(ə)- (Skr. mṛ-ṇā-ti mṛ-ṇ-ánti Gr. μάρ-να-ται).

Two conjunctive types appear to be proethnic; one with the thematic vowel, which we may call the regular type, as Skr. da-dh-a-tē beside indic. dá-dhā-ti, and one with long

1) It is true there is nothing to prove that the forms Homer really used were not δαμῆ-ει; γνώ-ουσι; compare § 934, on conj. like στήης στήουσι. The absence of such forms as δαμῆωμεν δαμῆητε στήωμεν στήητε in Homer is in favour of the short-vowel conjunctive.

2) But how are we to explain Goth. haban -ais -ai? That habēs in Gothic became habais (ai = long ai) by simple action of regular change is to my mind as little proven as the identity of Goth. sifais and Lat. siēs. The student may now refer to Streitberg, Zur Germ. Sprachgeschichte 73 f., who regards habais habai as optative with the suffix -iē.

vowel, as Skr. da-dh-a-tāi, Gr. ἐνί-στ-ω-μαι ἐνί-στ-η-ται beside indic. ἐνί-στα-ται, Lat. si-st-ā-s. The latter are not independent of the fact that the Indicative so often has a thematic side by side with the unthematic series, thus Skr. da-dh-a-tē beside indic. dā-dhā-ti, da-dh-a-tāi beside indic. dā-dh-a-ti (§ 562 p. 110 f.). Cp. conj. áy-a-t and ay-a-t and the like (§ 920 p. 468).

§ 932. (1) Thematic Conjunctive Type.

Skr. da-dh-a-t 2nd dual dá-dh-a-thas mid. da-dh-a-tē beside indic. dá-dhā-ti 'places'. 2nd dual mid. dh-éthē 3rd sing. act. prāti-dhat beside indic. á-dhā-t. mi-n-a-t beside indic. mi-nā-ti 'lessens, injures'. The forms with secondary personal ending, da-dh-a-t mi-n-a-t, may be regarded as injunctive to the thematic indic. dá-dh-a-ti á-mi-n-a-nta; -dh-a-t as injunctive is to be compared with á-da-t (§ 524 p. 88). Avest. 1st sing. xšt-a (cp. indic. 3rd sing. paiti-šta-ḥ Skr. á-sthā-t from $\sqrt{stā}$ 'stare') may come in here as easily as under (2); cp. § 933.

Greek perhaps has specimens of this type of conjunctive in the imperative 2nd sing. $\vartheta\acute{\epsilon}\varsigma$ (from $\tau\acute{\iota}\vartheta\eta\mu\iota$) and $\xi\varsigma$ ($\iota\eta\mu\iota$). If so, their ϵ is not the same as ϵ in $\ddot{\epsilon}-\vartheta\epsilon-\mu\epsilon\nu$, which has displaced $\alpha = \text{Idg. } a$ (§ 493 p. 53); they would be on the same plane as $\sigma\chi\acute{-}\epsilon\text{-}\varsigma$. On the model of $\vartheta\text{-}\acute{\epsilon}\text{-}\varsigma$ (dh-e-s*): $\vartheta\acute{\epsilon}\text{-}\tau\epsilon$ (Idg. dhə-te*) $\delta\acute{o}\varsigma$ beside $\delta\acute{o}\tau\epsilon$ would then be coined. Or are $\vartheta\acute{\epsilon}\varsigma$ $\xi\varsigma$ $\delta\acute{o}\varsigma$ transformates of * $\vartheta\eta\varsigma$ * $\eta\varsigma$ * $\delta\omega\varsigma$ (which would be injunctive like Skr. dhās dās) by levelling with $\vartheta\acute{\epsilon}\tau\omega$ $\vartheta\acute{\epsilon}\tau\epsilon$ etc. (§ 909 p. 458).

§ 933. (2) Long-Vowel Conjunctive Type.

Aryan. Skr. da-dh-a-tāi da-d-a-tai beside indic. dā-dhā-ti 'places' dā-dā-ti 'gives', cp. indic. dā-dh-a-ti dā-d-a-ti Avest. da-p-a-iti (§ 562 p. 111). Skr. dh-ā-ti d-ā-ti sth-ā-ti sth-ā-thas 2nd dual mid. dhāitḥē (cp. § 922 p. 470 on bhārāitḥē), Avest. 2nd sing. d-ā-hr̥ 3rd sing. d-a-iti mid. d-ā-itē xšt-ā-itē 3rd pl. mid. d-ā-ntē beside indic. Skr. ā-dha-t ā-dā-t ā-stha-t Avest. dā-p-štā-p, cp. indic. Skr. āda-t (§ 524 p. 88). Skr. 2nd pl. krī-ṇ-a-tha mid. 3rd sing. krī-ṇ-a-tai beside indic. krī-ṇā-ti 'buys' (Whitney, Skr. Gr. § 720), Avest. mid. 3rd sing. per°-n-a-itē ver°-n-a-ta (with secondary ending) 3rd pl. ver°-n-ā-ntē

Homer has only one example of this sort, σταιῖσσαν Il. 17. 733. Compare Skr. syāma instead of s-ī-ma* following s-yā-t § 940 p. 483.

§ 946. Italic. O.Lat. s-ie-m siēs siet s-ī-mus sītis s-i-ent beside indic. es-t; in classical Latin the weak stem only is found, and we have sim sīs etc. The same levelling is seen in the sister dialects: Umbr. sir si sei 'sis' si 'sit' sins sis 'sint', Marruc. pacr-si 'propitius sis' or 'sit'. Lat. vel-i-m vel-ī-mus beside vul-t, with irregular strong root (cp. Skr. mid. vur-ī-ta), see § 505 p. 69. Similarly ed-i-m ed-ī-mus beside ēs-t from ✓ed- 'eat', see § 505 p. 70, § 939 p. 481. The reason why siem is the only optative with strong opt. suffix which survives in historical Latin is probably that its i carried the word-accent.

On the reason for the loss of the optative of i-t see § 925 p. 472.

Osc. da-did 'dedat' beside Avest. d-ya-ḥ, cp. Marruc. -si 'sit'.

Lat. dem may be derived from da-(i)ē-m*, and stem from sta-(i)ē-m*; dēmus stēmus for da-(i)ē-mos sta-(i)ē-mos should be compared with Gr. δοίημεν σταιῖμεν (§ 945). Lat. nem plantem may come from (s)nā-(i)ē-m plantā-(i)ē-m, Osc. deivaid from deiūā-(i)ē-t*, cp. § 939 p. 482. But all these forms, as we saw in § 926 p. 472, may be Conjunctive.

s-Aorist. Lat. dixim axim, see § 824 p. 362. vīderim liquerim totonderim dixerim, see § 841 p. 378. amāssim prohibēssim ambīssim, see § 842 p. 381. On the intrusion of such optative forms into the Future Perfect system, i. e. their Conjunctive, see § 915 p. 465.

§ 947. Germanic. The suffix forms -ī- had got into the singular in proethnic Germanic, cp. e. g. 3rd sing. Goth. vaúrþ-i O.H.G. wurt-i Norse Run. urþ-i 'would be' for -ī-þ as contrasted with Skr. va-vr̥t-yā-t, 2nd sing. O.H.G. s-ī-s O.Icel. sēr (= pr. Germ. sīz*) 'mayst thou be' as against Skr. s-yā-s; so in the 3rd pl., Goth. vaúrþ-ei-na O.H.G. wurt-ī-n

'they would become' Norse Run. vakín 'they would be'. The history of the 1st sing. (Goth. -jau O.H.G. -i O.Icel. -a) is still obscure (cp. § 953 on Goth. nimau); in explaining Goth. -jau let it be remembered that j in viljau and j in vitjau seem to be different (see below).

Present. A.S. cyme pl. cymen (from cuman 'to come') would be Goth. kumjau* kumeima*: Skr. gam-yá-t, see § 939 p. 480. Goth. viljau vilei-s etc., cp. Lat. vel-i-m § 505 p. 69; the 1st sing. viljau may with O.H.G. wille have been originally 1st sing. conj. to indic. O.H.G. willu 'I will' = O.C.Sl. velja, whose tense stem is also represented by Goth. viljan and viljands (§ 505 p. 69, § 716 p. 249, § 727 p. 259), cp. § 928 p. 474. O.H.G. sī 'I should be' pl. 1st sī-mēs sī-m 2nd sī-t 3rd sī-n beside is-t 'is': Skr. s-yá-m etc., see § 939 p. 481; Goth. sijau sijáis etc. (like bairau bairáis) is perhaps a transformation of the dissyllabic Idg. s-ijē-m* etc. It is possible, that O.H.G. 1st pl. stēn gēn (sing. 1st and 3rd gē stē 2nd gēs stēs) are optative like Gr. σθαίμεν.

The following may be counted amongst those parts of the Preterite-Present system which are not really perfect. 1st pl. Goth. vit-ei-ma O.H.G. wizz-ī-mēs (Skr. vid-yá-t), Goth. mun-ei-ma, ga-daúrseima O.H.G. gi-turrīmēs see § 508 p. 74. Goth. kunneima O.H.G. kunnīmēs (beside Goth. O.H.G. kun-nu-m 'we learn, know' Class XVII) for gŷ-nŷ-ī* like Skr. ṛ-nv-ī-tá, see § 939 p. 482; similarly O.H.G. unnī-mēs beside indic. an 'I grant', N.-Ger. dürne beside indic. darn 'I dare', see § 646 p. 184.

Perfect. Goth. skat-skáid-ei-ma O.H.G. sciad-ī-mēs 1st sing. skat-skáid-jau sciadi beside indic. skat-skáip sciad 'I divided', similarly Goth. nēm-ei-ma O.H.G. nām-ī-mēs beside nam 'I took' etc. Similarly in the weak preterite (§ 907 pp. 453 ff.), as Goth. nasidēd-ei-ma O.H.G. nerit-ī-mēs. On O.Sax. dedīn 'they would do' sing. dedi (instead of regular did-*) see § 939 p. 482.

The intermingling of 2nd sing. opt. and 2nd sing. indic. preterite of strong verbs has been discussed in § 893 p. 441 f.

Some such conjunctives survived elsewhere, for instance in Attic, crystallized and used only for the Future; ἔδ-ο-μαι 'I will eat' (cp. inf. ἔδ-μεναι, Skr. indic. āt-ti), πί-ο-μαι 'I will drink' (beside imper. πί-θι), χέ'(F)-ω 'I will pour' (beside indic. ἔ-χε(F)-α ἔ-χv-το).

Remark 1. In an Aeolic inscr. (discussed by Meister, Anzeiger für idg. Spr.- und Altertumsk., 1 203 f.) we have the 3rd pl. τέκοιαι with the meaning of Att. τέκωσι. If the reading is true, we must grant it to be an instance of the o-conj. invading the domain of the long vowel. If so, we should have a right to question whether Homeric conjunctives like ἀντρέφεται (in subord. clause after ὅτ' ἄν) ought really to be denied. These are collected by Stier in Curtius' Stud. II 138 f.; Curtius himself regards them as mythical (Verb, II² 87 ff.).

s-Aorist. There are many examples in Homer and other Homeric poets; as τείσομεν τείσεται, βιήσεται, ἀμείψεται. So there are in inscriptions of the 5th cent. B. C., from Ephesus, Teos, and Chios; as 3rd sing. in -ει, ἀποκρύψει, and 3rd pl. πρήξουσιν (Att. πρᾶξουσιν) with -οι- instead of -ου- by Lesbian influence (I § 205 p. 172). In Cretan we find such forms as 3rd sing. δειξεί. Then there are Epic imperatives such as ἄξ-ε-τε 'bring ye' ἄξ-ε-σθε ὄψ-ε-σθε 'see ye' (§ 833 p. 370), and the futures ἄξω ὄψομαι, which must not be separated from the imperatives; indeed the whole Greek s-Future may perhaps come from the Conj. of the s-aorist (§ 747 p. 269). Lastly, the 1st sing. εἰδῶ (2nd sing. εἰδῆς etc. goes under B) beside indic. ᾔδεα 'I knew' for *ἦ-Feid-εσ-α (§ 836 pp. 372 ff.).

Perfect. Survivals in Homer: πε-ποίη-ο-μεν ἔδ-ο-μεν, see § 912 p. 462; mid. προσ-αρήρε-ται Hes. Op. 431 (Vat. 2 προσαρήσεται). Attic imper. like κε-κράγ-ε-τε κε-χῆν-ε-τε (§ 854 p. 404).

Remark 2. It is strange that while Homer has τείσομεν etc. he has no complementary conj. forms in -εις -ει -ουσι. We may conjecture that he really had, but that the symbols of the old alphabet, -ΕΙΣ -ΕΙ -ΟΣΙ, which had more than one value, were here misunderstood, and the forms disappeared, -ης -η ωσι being written instead.

Those conjunctives which are not used exclusively for future or imperative, are being attracted even in Homer to follow the lead of those with long vowels, as ἵομεν, ἄλῃται, πεποθωμεν. See § 923.

§ 915. Italic. Only found as a Future (cp. Att. ἔθ-ο-μαι, § 914).

Present. Lat. erō er-i-s: Skr. ás-ā-ni Gr. ἐ-ω, see § 912 p. 461.

s-Aorist. Lat. dīx-ō dīx-i-s, fax-ō fax-i-tur, cap-s-ō and the like, Umbr. Osc. fust 'erit', Umbr. furent 'erunt' prupehast 'ante piabit', Osc. deivast 'iurabit' (§ 824 p. 362). Umbr. eest est 'ibit' ferest 'feret', Osc. pert-emeſt 'perimet' (§ 837 p. 374). Lat. vīderō liquerō, then by analogy sciderō totonderō dīxerō etc. (§ 841 pp. 378 f.). In the 3rd pl. of these future perfects, the ending -erunt*, which was also the ending of the 3rd pl. indic. perfect, gave place to the optative ending -erint (beside 1st sing. vīd-erim), just as we find vīderīmus instead of vīderimus, vīderūtis instead of vīderitis.¹⁾ Lastly, Lat. amāssō turbāssitur habēssō, for which infinitives were coined, as impetrāssere, on the analogy of capēssere to capēssō (§ 842 p. 381).

In the Conjunctive use (Wish), only the ā- and *ē-*forms (B) remained fertile; these also spread into the thematic conjunctive, as Lat. e-ā-s beside indic. ī-s, plē-r-ē-s beside indic. Skr. á-prā-s-am.

§ 916. Keltic. s-aorist with meaning of Wish and more rarely of the Future; as from tiagim 'I step, go' the 1st sing. -tias, 3rd sing. tēs tēis, see § 826 p. 364.

§ 917. Germanic. Isolated Got. ōgs 'fear thou' beside perf. ōg 'fears' (§ 822 p. 430, § 912 p. 462).

B. Conjunctive to a Thematic Indicative.

§ 918. These Conjunctives have for the Suffix long vowels, not subject to gradation, -ā- or -ē- (-ō-). These are the same

1) With this contamination compare the use of sim edim as conj. On the analogy of the fut. perf. vīderint itself we have erint poterint instead of erunt poterunt.

vēdaya-māna-s and such indic. forms as dhvanay-i-t (cp. á-brav-i-t, § 574 p. 116). Compare § 789 Rem. p. 321; Bartholomae, Stud. Idg. Spr. II 71, 127.

§ 952. Greek. Examples given in § 950.

On the endings of the 1st sing. -οι-μι -οι-ν see § 979. 3; of the 3rd pl. -οιεν El. -οιαν Delph. -οιν, § 1020. 1. b.

Because of the formal agreement between σχοῖμεν (indic. ἔ-σχ-ο-μεν) φιλοῖμεν (indic. φιλοῦμεν for φιλέομεν) μισθοῖμεν (indic. μισθοῦμεν for μισθόομεν) on the one hand, and on the other δοῖμεν διδόῖμεν (indic. ἔ-δο-μεν δί-δο-μεν), there arose in Ionic-Attic, and in Doric here and there, a new formation for the singular following Type I, σχοίην φιλοίην μισθοίην by analogy of δοίην δίδοίην; but the old singular forms were not discarded (παρά-σχοιμι φιλοῖμι μισθοῖμι); similarly τιμώην beside τιμῶμεν (indic. τιμῶμεν for τιμάομεν). A further consequence of this was the plural series φιλοίημεν etc., cp. σταιήμεν complementary to σταιήν, § 945 p. 489.

§ 953. Germanic. Goth. nimái-s nimái etc. O.H.G. nemēs neme etc., Goth. mid.-pass. 2nd sing. nimái-zau 3rd sing. nimái-dau with the indic. nima nimu 'I take': Gr. νέμοι-ς etc. The A.S. sealfie pl. sealfien may be compared directly with Skr. pr̥tanáyē-t O.C.Sl. lqkaji (cp. § 781. 1 p. 304), but O.H.G. salbōe -ōēs(t) -ōēm etc. beside salbo -ōs(t) -ōm etc. is a new formation (cp. Lith. pa-darai § 954), and so is habēe -ēēs(t) -ēēm beside habe -ēs(t) -ēm etc., see § 930 p. 476.

§ 954. Balto-Slavonic.

Lithuanian retains the 3rd sing. act. (used also for 3rd pl. and dual) and calls it a Permissive; e. g. te-sukē 'he may turn' beside indic. sukù, te-ateinē 'he may come' beside indic. ei-nù 'I go', te-vertē 'he may turn' for vertiē* (like 2nd sing. indic. pres. reflex. vertē-s for vertiē-s*, I § 147 p. 131) beside indic. verciù. te-dūdē 'he may give' beside indic. dū(d)-mi and dū du (§ 546 p. 104) like tesē 'he may be' beside indic. es-mi and es-ù (§ 510 p. 76, § 939 p. 483). The Permissive to the Indic. in -au has the ending -ai in the old books, as te-darai beside darau

'I make'. te-darai: te-sukē = 2nd sing. indic. darai-s(i): sukē-s(i) (§ 991), i. e. the optative suffix ē (ai) is added to indic. stems in -ō (-ā) just in the same way as O.H.G. salbōe is formed on the analogy of bere (§ 953). We also find 1st pl. pa-praszaim (pa-praszaū 'I beg for, win over') and 2nd pl. žinait (žinaū 'I know'); Bezzenberger, Zur Gesch. der lit. Spr., 223. Furthermore, the oi- optative is a living type in Prussian, where it is used for the Imperative; e. g. imais immeis 'take thou' 2nd pl. imaiti, en-gaunai -gaunei 'let him receive'; to compare with Lith. tesė we have 2nd pl. seiti 'be ye', and again jeis 'go thou' pl. jeiti like Gr. ῥος (§ 511 p. 77), idaiti ideiti 'esset' beside Lith. ėdu (§ 510 p. 76), dais 'give thou' 2nd pl. daiti like Avest. dōi-š (§ 948 p. 492). Similarly in Lettic 2nd pl. meti-t 'throw ye' we'łzi-t 'pull ye' mafgājī-t 'wash ye' lūkūji-t 'look ye'.

§ 955. The same optative type, like the other (§ 949 p. 492), is used for the Hortative (Imperative) in Old Church Slavonic. Sing. 2nd and 3rd beri (I § 84 p. 82) pl. 1st berē-mū 2nd -ē-te dual 1st -ē-vē 2nd -ē-ta from bera 'I carry, bear', ději -ji-mū -ji-te etc. (I § 84 p. 82) from děja 'I lay'. On the root syllable in řici řici přici řizi see § 534 p. 95 f.

Along with forms having -ji- = -joj- we get in the Old Bulgarian literature forms with -ja- for -jē- (cp. sto-jati for stojēti* I § 76 p. 66); as pijate beside pijite from pija 'I drink', glagoljate beside glagoljite from glagolja 'I speak' (see Leskien *Handb.*² p. 138, Wiedemann Beitr. zur abulg. Conj. 27 ff.) So long as no such forms as tŭcate* instead of tŭcēte are found, it is likely that ē comes from forms like berēte,¹⁾ and the group jē thus made, along with jē = Idg. ǵē, became ja; more likely than Oblak's view (Arch. slav. Phil. x 143 ff.), that we have here orig. ǵē, i. e. a conjunctive like Lat. capiē-s (§ 926. 1 p. 472), pijate standing to pija in the same relation as Lat. capiē-tis to capia-m (cp. § 929 p. 475).

1) Similarly in O.H.G., after ia in final syllables had become ie and then e, -an was replaced in the infinitive of the First Weak Conj. on the analogy of verbs without -j, e. g. nerian instead of older nerien following neman and similar infinitives.

Remark. Present Stems of Class XXVI, as veljā veliši inf. velēti 'to command' (§ 727 pp. 257 ff.); of Class XXXI, as goštā gostiši inf. gostiti 'to entertain as a guest' (§ 782 pp. 308 f.); and of Class XXXII, as vraštā vratīši inf. vratiti 'to turn' (§ 807 pp. 343 f.) all have throughout their imperative -i-: veli velimū gosti gostimū vrati vratimū; from the Idg. optative forms which it is necessary to assume we should expect velji *veljimū *gostīji *gostījimū *vratīji vratījimū. The forms are then doubtless not optative at all, but Injunctive; and velimū velite are related to indic. velimū velite as bādā 'sunto' (§ 909 p. 458) to indic. bādātī (bādātīū). Some might wish to take 2nd sing. veli for orig. velī*, i. e. 2nd sing. imperative (cp. Lat. farcī § 958). Against this may be urged that chošti 'wish thou' is sometimes used in sentences which are not imperative (Leskien, Handb.² p. 143).

IMPERATIVE.¹⁾

§ 956. The forms classed as Imperative in the various Indo-Germanic languages have all kinds of different origins. (1) Some of them are Injunctive, as 2nd pl. dual Skr. bhāra-ta bhāra-tam Gr. φέρε-τε φέρε-τον, which were already well established in the imperative system of the parent language; Skr. 3rd sing. bhārat-u 3rd pl. bhārant-u (with the particle -u), (tr. 2nd sing. mid. φέροτο φέρον, O.Ir. 2nd sing. mid. cluinte 'exaudi' (§ 909 p. 458). (2) Conjunctive forms: Skr. 1st sing. pl. and dual, as 1st pl. act. bhārāma mid. bhārāmahi; the 2nd and 3rd persons of the conj. are dropt in classical Sanskrit, and the 1st persons, which are kept, go with the Imperative system. (3) Optative forms: O.C.Sl. beri berēte (§ 955 p. 495). (4) Indicative forms: Skr. 2nd sing. vē-ṣi 'come here', Gr. λέξαι 'lay thyself' (§ 910 Rem. p. 459 f.). (5) Forms of the Verb Infinitive: as Lat. 2nd pl. sequi-minī (II § 71 p. 165). Lastly (6) some are forms which, so far as we can trace them, were never used for anything but the Imperative.

It is the last group, which I call the Genuine Imperative, that will concern us in the following pages. But along with them we shall include some others from the different languages whose origin has not been clearly made out, amongst which may be a few which properly belong to one of the other five groups.

I. THE PROETHNIC IMPERATIVE.

A. Bare Tense Stem as 2nd sing. act.

§ 957. The forms which come in this section are such as Gr. ῥστη 'place thou' φέρε 'bear thou', which like the voc. ὦ γὰρ ἴππε do without any personal suffix whatever. I regard the Idg. forms in -dhi (§ 959) and -tod (§ 963) and the Skr. forms in -sva (§ 968) as being nothing but extensions of these.

(1) Unthematic.

Pr.Idg. Class I. eḡ* beside eḡ-ti* 'goes': Gr. ἔξ-τι, Lat. ei ī ex-ī, Lith. eĩ-k. dō* beside é-dō-t* 'he gave': Lat. ce-do (2nd pl. cette for ce-d(i)-te* § 505 p. 71),¹⁾ Lith. dũ-k, cp. Gr. δί-δω (Class III). — Class X. Lat. hiā Lith. žió-k 'open thy mouth' beside indic. Lat. hiā-mus; on the same principle Lat. plantā O.Ir. car Goth. salbō Lith. dovanó-k (see below). Lat. vidē Lith. pa-vyďė-k 'invade' beside indic. Lat. vidē-mus. Compare Gr. ἐγ-κίρω πίμ-πρω (Class XI). — Class XVII. Skr. str-ṇu Gr. στόρ-νῦ beside indic. str-ῆό-τι (str-ṇu-más) στόρ-νῦ-αι 'sternit'.

Aryan. This formation is clear only in the XVIIth Class in Sanskrit, where however -dhi or -hi is usually affixed, ḡ-ṇú

1) Others, not so well, take ce-do as a combination of two particles, 'here-wards, hither'. cette then is explained as derived from cedo as Slav. na-te from na. See Per Persson Studia Etymol., p. 71.

§ 922. In Sanskrit an extra mark was added to the Middle of the a-conjunctive; the final -ē of those persons that ended therewith was changed to -āi, as -mahē to -mahāi. This came from the 1st sing., as bhārāi, which was all that had it in pr. Idg. (§ 1042. 1).

First were formed 1st pl. bhārāmahāi 1st dual bhārāvahāi instead of bhārāmahē* bhārāvahē*, to distinguish conjunctive from indicative: so that bhārāmahāi answered to indic. bhārāmahē as bhārāi to indic. bhārē.

Next -mahāi and -vahāi took their place in other conjunctives which had no confusing indicative of the same form, both in a- and a-conjunctives: e. g. aor. vōcā-vahāi beside indic. a-vōcā-vahi (vōcā-vahī) 3rd sing. a-vōc-a-ta from vac- 'to speak', pres. kṛṇāv-ā-mahāi beside indic. kṛ-ṇu-māhē. Amongst these we find also the older -mahē used, as in kār-ā-mahē beside indic. ā-kṛ-ta from kar- 'to make', saniṣ-ā-mahē beside indic. ā-san-iṣ-ṭa from san- 'to get, gain'.

From the 1st pl. and dual -āi next went on to the other persons of the a-conjunctive: 2nd sing. -ā-sāi beside -ā-sē, 3rd sing. -ā-tāi beside -ā-tē, 2nd pl. -ā-dhvāi beside -ā-dhvē, 3rd pl. -ā-ntāi. In the Rig-Veda two such new forms, but only two, occur: yaj-ā-tāi from yaj- 'to honour with an offering' and māday-ā-dhvāi from mad- 'to enjoy'.

In the 2nd and 3rd dual the ending -āi is not found. Here the endings were -āiṭhē -āiṭē, in which -āi- on account of the 2nd dual trāsathē (indic. ā-trā-s-ta from trā- 'to protect') must doubtless be regarded as also coming from the 1st sing. in -āi: following bhārāi beside indic. bhārē were coined the conj. bhārāiṭhē and bhārāiṭē beside bhārēṭhē and bhārēṭē. See Bartholomae, Kuhn's Zeitschr. xxvii 214 f.

Some few instances occur of a 3rd pl. in -antāi beside a thematic indicative; as vantantāi beside indic. vārt-a-nṭē 'vertuntur'. The origin of this form is clear: bhārāi bhārāmahāi bhārāvahāi are distinguished from bhārē bhārāmahē bhārāvahē only by the ending, which suggested a symmetrical relation and caused -untāi to arise in place of -antē.

§ 923. Greek. Examples in § 919.

The Personal endings are nearly all primary. But in the 3rd singular many dialects (amongst others Arcadian and Cyprian) have -η for -η-τ, as ἔχῃ, instead of -ηι (-η).

In the 3rd pl. φέρωντι (Att. φέρουσι) φέρωνται, ω is not regular: there is the same analogical change as in ἄρνται instead of ἀενται* cp. act. ἄεισι (I § 611 Rem. p. 462, IV § 582 p. 123).

In Attic the ending -ης -η (§ 987.1, § 995) ran together with the indic. -εις -ει, that is φέρῃς and φέρεις had the same pronunciation; so too φιλήῃς (for φιλέῃς) and φιλεῖς (for φιλέεις). And since after contraction τιμάῃς τιμάῃ became the same as τιμάεις τιμάει, namely τιμάῃς and τιμάῃ, and since the 1st sing. in all verbs of this form was the same for both indic. and conj., — φέρω φιλω τιμῶ μισθῶ — the result was that the indic. μισθοῖς μισθοῖ came to be used as conjunctive too.

By degrees, the η-ω-inflexion drove out that with ε and ο from the Conjunctive Mood; as ἵωμεν instead of ἵομεν (§ 914 p. 463 f.); the latter only held its own where any form was used exclusively in the sense of a future or imperative. This tendency, which, as we saw in § 920 p. 468, may have begun in the parent language, was made easier because the 1st sing. act. in both these conjunctive systems ended in -ω; as ἔω (ω) beside indic. ἔσ-τι (Lat. er-ō 3rd sing. er-i-t), φέρω beside indic. φέρει (cp. Skr. ārcā beside indic. ārc-a-ti).

It remains for the present a question whether the reverse be true, and the thematic conjunctive ever took the place of a long-vowel form; see § 914 Rem. 1 p. 464.

§ 924. Italic. The long-vowel Conjunctive drove out the Optative in thematic tenses (e. g. ag-ā-s is used as equivalent to both ἄγῃς and ἄγοις), whilst in Germanic and Balto-Slavonic the Optative won the day (§ 910 p. 460). The short-vowel Conjunctive had a different fate. It remained only as the Future (§ 915 p. 465), and its conjunctive use (Wish, Deliberation, Doubt) passed either to the long-vowel series, for which see below, or to the Optative (as Lat. s-iē-s s-ī-s beside es-t).

The suffixes -ā- and -ē- are both found, and the personal endings are secondary: Lat. ag-a-m (like injunct. — pret. — -b-a-m), 3rd sing. Osc. pútiad fuid, 3rd pl. Osc. putiāns herríns (but Osc. has also 3rd sing. tadaít = -a(i)ē-ti*, § 996).

On the spread of long-vowel forms in place of those with a short vowel, as in Lat. e-ā-s es-s-ē-s Osc. fefacid, see § 920 p. 468.

§ 925. The ā-suffix appears in the Present only. To the forms cited in § 919 add the following. Lat. fu-ā-s beside indic. fu-i-t. Lat. dīc-ā-s Osc. deicans 'dicant' beside indic. Lat. dīc-i-t. Umbr. emantur 'emantur'. Lat. faci-ā-s Umbr. fašia 'faciat' beside indic. fac-iō. Lat. fīni-ā-s beside indic. fīni-ō i. e. fīni-iō, claude-ā-s beside indic. claudeō for claude-iō*, mone-ā-s beside indic. moneō for mon-eiō*.

In Umbrian -iā- spread from fašia and like forms to the ā-denominatives; hence kuraia 'curet' etaians 'itent'.

Lat. e-ā-s beside indic. i-t (like Skr. ay-ā-t), whilst in the verbs est vult ēst the Optative (s-iē-s s-i-s, vel-i-s, ed-i-s beside ed-ā-s) added the conjunctive function to their own. The opt. of i-t may have been lost by the plural i-i-mos* becoming īmos*, and thus being identical with the indicative.

Remark. The only example of -ā- outside the Present would be Lat. dum-taxat, if Bréal be right in taking -taxat as the conj. of the s-aorist of tangō (cp. opt. tax-i-s): 'donec tetigerit, jusqu'à ce qu'il ait atteint', then 'jusqu'à (et non plus loin)' (Mém. Soc. Ling. v 35 f., Dict. étymol.² p. 385). As in the whole area of Italic the s-aorist has only the ē-conjunctive (§ 926), it would be better to take -taxat as conj. of an indic. taxō*, Class XX (§ 662 p. 197).

§ 926. The ē-suffix appears in all tense Stems.

(1) Present. Lat. (fut.) fer-ē-s capi-ē-s farci-ēs fini-ē-s.¹⁾ Umbr. heriiei 'velit' or 'volet' (cp. Osc. heriiad 'velit' § 919 p. 467).

The following may also be examples: Osc. deivaid 'iuret' for deivā(i)-ē-t*, tadaít 'censeat' for tadā(i)-ē-ti*, sakahiter 'sacretur' for saka(i)-ē-ter*; Lat. nēs plantēs for nā(i)-ē-s* plantā(i)-ē-s* (indic. 1st sing. nō plantō for -a(i)ō*); similarly

1) These forms are wrongly explained in vol. I § 81 Rem. 3 p. 74 f.

stēs for stā(i)-ē-s* (indic. 1st sing. stō for stā-(i)ō*), by analogy of which would come dēs (cp. § 946). The difference between plantēs and claudēs fīnīās — the conj. suffix being in the one group ē and in the other ā — may be explained by remembering that plantā(i)-ā-s* must become plantas*, and a confusion with the indicative would result (compare § 930 sub fin.); the loss of claudē(i)-ē-s* (cp. fīnī-ē-s plantēs), because it too would become claudēs* like the indicative. But all these ē-forms may be optative: deivā-iē-t* plantā-iē-s*, da-iē-s*. If, as is possible, the origin of these forms is double, the intermingling of Conjunctive and Optative would be due to formal analogy as well as syntax. See § 946.

(2) s-Aorist (cp. Skr. mā-s-a-tai Gr. μαίξ-η-τε μῖδέ-η-τε § 920 p. 468). Lat. es-s-ē-s in-trā-r-ē-s im-plē-r-ē-s vidē-r-ē-s plantā-r-ē-s Osc. fusid 'foret' Pelign. upsaseter 'operaretur' or 'operarentur' (§ 824 p. 362). Lat. ag-er-ē-s gnōsc-er-ē-s, Umbr. ostensendi 'ostenderentur' for -tend-es-ē-ntēr*, Osc. herrins 'caperent' for her-es-ē-nt* (§ 837 p. 374). Lat. vid-is-s-ē-s totondissē-s dixissē-s (§ 842 p. 381). Compare the short-vowel conjunctive-futures Lat. fax-i-tur vider-i-s Umbr. Osc. fust § 915 p. 465.

(3) Perfect Forms (cp. Skr. vā-vydh-a-ti Gr. λε-λῆκ-η § 920 p. 468) occur only in Umbro-Samnite, as in Latin the s-Aorist had intruded in place of the perfect forms. Osc. fefacid 'fecerit' hipid 'habuerit' fuid 'fuerit'; Osc. sakrafir 'sacraverint' Umbr. pihafei 'piaverint'; Osc. tribarakattins 'aedificaverint'. See §§ 872 f. pp. 420 f. Most of these forms may be regarded as belonging originally to a thematic aorist, as fuid to indic. Lat. fu-i-t = Skr. ā-bhuv-a-t (see loc. cit.); if so they belong to (1).¹

§ 927. Keltic. For Irish examples see § 919. Only -ā- is proved as the Conjunctive suffix. Conjunct flexion, e. g. sing. do-ber, -berae -bere, -bera, pl. -beram -berid -berat based upon ber-ā-m -ā-si -ā-t, -ā-m- -ā-te -ā-nt(o)*; with primary endings, the "absolute" 1st sing. bera (certainly a new form), 3rd sing. berid, pl. bermme berthe berit. Similarly 3rd sing. dolēcea for leikui-ā-t* etc.

With the conj. -bera harmonised fully in inflexion -cara, beside indic. no charu for carā-īð*, cp. Cymr. conj. 3rd sing. caro pl. carom caroch caront with o for ā. The conj. carā- may be for carāi-ā-*, but may also be for orig. carā- (§ 930).

To the Present in -enim (Class XII, § 604 pp. 145 f.) the conjunctive was a series of forms without the nasal suffix. E. g. with crenim 'I buy' (from $\sqrt{\text{grei-}}$) and benim 'I strike, cut' (beside O.C.Sl. bi-ti 'to strike') the conjunctives are 3rd sing. (ni-)cria for qrii-ā-t* (cp. Gr. $\pi\alpha\iota-\alpha\mu\alpha\iota$ $\pi\alpha\iota-\eta-\tau\alpha\iota$) and (fom-)bia for bhi-ā-t*. Compare Thurneysen in Kuhn's Zeitschr. xxxi 87 f. On the analogy of these, renim 'I sell' for pṛ-nā-* ($\sqrt{\text{per-}}$) had the conj. ni-ria made for it; levelling seems to have taken place between these two verbs in the indic. perfect too, though in the reverse direction (§ 878 p. 426 f.).

§ 928. Germanic. Only one form, and that very dubious; the 1st sing. bairau = O.Icel. bera beside the clear optatives Goth. bairái-s bairái etc.; this has hitherto been derived from berai-u* Idg. bhero-i-ŋ* (cp. I § 142 p. 126), which is called the "only tenable hypothesis" by Kluge, Paul's Grundr. i 381.¹⁾ According to Hirt (Idg. Forsch. i 206) the form comes from berō-m* = Lat. feram, and -au must be pronounced -aú, that is as a single sound; similarly Goth. viljau O.H.G. wille would be derived from uel-i-ā-m*, pr. Germ. uiliōn*. Compare § 947.

§ 929. Slavonic. 1st sing. indic. berq for berām* is a conj. form used as future, which displaced the old form in -ō first in perfect verbs whose present served for the future. Compare § 955 on imperative pīa-te and the like.

1) I cannot agree to a recent criticism of this explanation, that it violates well established laws of sound. i would drop between vowels in unaccented syllables, and u may have been contracted with the preceding a, before acc. frijōnd-u* became frijōnd, if this form really so arose (see III § 219 p. 96). Others see the particle u in batrau (cp. Wiedemann, Lit. Prät. 159).

II. CONJUNCTIVE WHERE THE INDICATIVE STEM ENDS IN A LONG VOWEL.

A. Indicative Stem ends in -ā-, -ē- -ō- without gradation.

§ 930. We have here the Conjunctive to our Present Classes X and XI (§§ 578 ff. pp. 118 ff.), that is, stems such as dr-ā-* 'to run' (Skr. drā-ti Gr. ἐ-δρα-ν), pl-ē-* 'fill' (Skr. ā-prā-t Gr. πλη-το Lat. im-plē-s), mṛn-ē-* 'to think' (Gr. ἐ-μῶν Lith. minē), tak-ē-* 'to be silent' (Lat. tacē-s O.H.G. dagē-s), with which are grouped denominative stems without -iō- like Lat. plantā- (plantā-mus) O.Ir. carā- (no chara-m) Goth. salbō- (salbō-m) Lith. jūstō- (jū'stō-me) Gr. Aeol. τῆμα- (τῆμα-μεν) (§ 769 pp. 283 ff.) and Perfects like Skr. ji-jyāu Gr. βε-βίη-ται βέ-βλη-ται τε-τίμα-ται (§ 847 pp. 390 ff.).

The long vowels of these stems we have already identified with the conjunctive suffixes -ā- and -ē- (-ō-), in § 578 p. 119 f. Thus the Conjunctive and Indicative had here originally the same stem.

In Aryan we get Injunctive forms with Conjunctive use; as Ved. pr-ā-s from pr-ā- 'to fill'. Forms with primary ending in conj. meaning do not occur, except prā-si 'let him fill', which however belongs to the group vē-ṣi kṣē-ṣi etc. (§ 910 Rem. pp. 459 f.).

Greek. Messen. -γράφ-η-ντι conj. of ἐ-γράφ-η 'it was written' 1st pl. ἐ-γράφ-η-μεν, -σκενάσθη-ντι beside ἐ-σκηνάσθη 'was prepared'. Perf. Gortyn. πέ-π-α-ται beside indic. πέ-π-α-ται 'he has gained, he possesses' from ῥη-ā- (II § 117 p. 370 f.), Ther. πέ-πρ-α-ται beside indic. πέ-πρ-α-ται 'is sold', also conj. Heracl. οἰκοδόμη-ται from οἰκοδομέω 'I build', Gortyn. ἐσ-τετέκνω-ται beside (Att.) ἐκ-τεκνώω 'I beget children'. For clearer distinction between conj. and indic. these forms followed the analogy of our 1st conjunctive class: hence we have on the one hand forms with short conj. vowel, as Hom. βλή-ε-ται τριπλή-ο-μεν γνώ-ο-μεν κί-χ-η-μι § 594 p. 135), and on the other hand forms with long vowel, as Hom. δαμῆ-ης γνώ-ωσι,¹⁾ contracted Att. τραπῆς τραπῶμεν γνῶμεν, μεμνῆται Hom. μεμνώμεθα, Heracl. ἐπι-βῆ for *-βᾱι or *-βᾱη.

From Keltic we may cite the conj. of a-verbs, as O.Ir. -cara for *carā-t (cp. § 927 p. 474), and from Germanic the corresponding conjunctives, such as Goth. salbō -ō-s -ō -ō-ma -ō-p -ō-na O.H.G. salbo -ō-s -o -ō-m -ō-t -ō-n; also O.H.G. conj. habe -ē-s -e -ē-m -ē-t -ē-n beside indic. habēm -ēs etc., and Gr. conj. γράφ-η-νται beside ἐ-γράφ-η-μεν.²⁾ Similar Latin forms, plantā-m -a-s* etc., may have been the predecessors of plantem -ēs etc.; cp. § 926 p. 473.

B. Indicative Stem has a Long Final Vowel, with Gradation.

§ 931. We have now to deal with the Conjunctive of Indicative Stems like dhē- dh(ə)- (Skr. á-dhā-t á-dhi-ta), dhi-dhē- dhi-dh(ə)- and dhe-dhē- dhe-dh(ə)- (Gr. τί-θη-αι τί-θε-ται τέ-θε-ται, Skr. dá-dhā-ti da-dh-más da-dhāú da-dh-úr), mṛ-nā- mṛ-n(ə)- (Skr. mṛ-nā-ti mṛ-n-únti Gr. μά-ρα-ται).

Two conjunctive types appear to be proethnic; one with the thematic vowel, which we may call the regular type, as Skr. da-dh-a-tē beside indic. dá-dhā-ti, and one with long

1) It is true there is nothing to prove that the forms Homer really used were not δαμῆ-ε; γνώ-ουσι; compare § 934, on conj. like στή-ε; στή-ουσι. The absence of such forms as δαμῆ-ωμεν δαμῆ-ητε στή-ωμεν στή-ητε in Homer is in favour of the short-vowel conjunctive.

2) But how are we to explain Goth. habau -ais -ai? That habēs in Gothic became habais (ai = long ai) by simple action of regular change is to my mind as little proven as the identity of Goth. sifais and Lat. sifēs. The student may now refer to Streitberg, Zur Germ. Sprachgeschichte 73 f., who regards habais habai as optative with the suffix -ai.

vowel, as Skr. da-dh-a-tāi, Gr. ἐνί-στ-ω-μαι ἐνί-στ-η-ται beside indic. ἐνί-στα-ται, Lat. si-st-ā-s. The latter are not independent of the fact that the Indicative so often has a thematic side by side with the unthematic series, thus Skr. da-dh-a-tē beside indic. dá-dhā-ti, da-dh-ā-tai beside indic. dá-dh-a-ti (§ 562 p. 110 f.). Cp. conj. áy-a-t and ay-a-t and the like (§ 920 p. 468).

§ 932. (1) Thematic Conjunctive Type.

Skr. da-dh-a-t 2nd dual dá-dh-a-thas mid. da-dh-a-tē beside indic. dá-dhā-ti 'places'. 2nd dual mid. dh-ēthē 3rd sing. act. prāti-dhat beside indic. d-dhā-t. mi-n-a-t beside indic. mi-nā-ti 'lessens, injures'. The forms with secondary personal ending, da-dh-a-t mi-n-a-t, may be regarded as injunctive to the thematic indic. dá-dh-a-ti á-mi-n-a-nta; -dh-a-t as injunctive is to be compared with áda-t (§ 524 p. 88). Avest. 1st sing. xšt-a (cp. indic. 3rd sing. paiti-štā-p Skr. á-sthā-t from $\sqrt{\text{stā}}$ 'stare') may come in here as easily as under (2); cp. § 933.

Greek perhaps has specimens of this type of conjunctive in the imperative 2nd sing. $\theta\acute{\epsilon}\varsigma$ (from $\tau\acute{\iota}\theta\eta\mu\iota$) and $\xi\varsigma$ ($\zeta\eta\mu\iota$). If so, their ϵ is not the same as ϵ in $\ddot{\epsilon}-\theta\epsilon-\mu\epsilon\nu$, which has displaced $\alpha = \text{Idg. } \alpha$ (§ 493 p. 53); they would be on the same plane as $\alpha\chi\text{-}\acute{\epsilon}\text{-}\varsigma$. On the model of $\theta\text{-}\acute{\epsilon}\text{-}\varsigma$ ($*dh\text{-}e\text{-}s$): $\theta\acute{\epsilon}\text{-}\tau\epsilon$ (Idg. $dh\alpha\text{-}te$) $\delta\acute{o}\varsigma$ beside $\delta\acute{o}\tau\epsilon$ would then be coined. Or are $\theta\acute{\epsilon}\varsigma$ $\xi\varsigma$ $\delta\acute{o}\varsigma$ transformates of $\theta\eta\varsigma$ $\eta\varsigma$ $\delta\omega\varsigma$ (which would be injunctive like Skr. dhás dás) by levelling with $\theta\acute{\epsilon}\tau\omega$ $\theta\acute{\epsilon}\tau\epsilon$ etc. (§ 909 p. 458).

§ 933. (2) Long-Vowel Conjunctive Type.

With this must be grouped Hom. $\mu\epsilon\tau\text{-}\epsilon\acute{\iota}\omega$ (Il. 23. 47), for which read $\mu\epsilon\tau\text{-}\acute{\eta}\omega$ and place it parallel to $\theta\acute{\eta}\text{-}\omega$ $\epsilon\phi\text{-}\acute{\eta}\omega$. In § 507 p. 74 it was pointed out as possible that O.Sax. dō-m O.H.G. tuō-m 'I do' may represent the stem dh-ā- of Lat. condā-s and be compared with Lat. indic. d-ā-s (§ 935). beside indic. ger^ow-nā-iti 'grasps, comprehends', cp. indic. Skr. mṛ-ṇ-ā-ti (§ 598 p. 141, § 609 p. 149).

On the ending -ā-tāi see § 922 p. 470.

§ 934. Greek. ἐπί-στ-ω-μαι ἐπί-στ-η-ται beside indic. ἐπί-στα-ται 'understands'. δύ-ν-ω-μαι beside indic. δύ-να-ται 'can', μαρ-ν-ώ-μεσθαι (Hesiod) beside indic. μάρ-να-ται 'fights', cp. opt. μαρ-νο-ί-μεθα (Od. 11. 513) and indic. like πάρ-νο-μαι (§ 611 p. 149). Whether the Attic accent be τίθωμαι or τιθῶμαι (for τιθέωμαι*) cannot be decided; the grammarians contradict each other, and the MS. tradition is uncommonly inconsistent; τί-θ-ω-μαι τί-θ-η-ται would answer to Skr. da-dh-a-tāi.

A second type is represented by forms like Messen. τίθηντι beside τίθημι 'I place', Arcad. ῖ-στᾶ-τοι Cret. ῖθᾶντι beside ῖ-στᾶ-μι 'I place, set up', Cret. δύ-ῖ-α-μαι beside δύ-να-μαι 'I can', ῥήγ-νῦ-ται (Hipponax) beside ῥήγ-νῦ-μι 'I break, tear'. I assume that this type is due to imitation of such a conjunctive as -γράφ-ηντι (§ 930 p. 475) — observe that in both series the optative formation had become the same in proethnic Greek, as γραφείην and τιθείην, see § 943; — τίθηντι : τίθημι ἐτίθην = γράφηντι : ἐγράφην; ῥήγνυται like ὑμεναῖον § 480 p. 29. Cp. Hom. τιθήμενο-ς instead of τιθέμενο-ς like κ-χή-μενο-ς βλή-μενο-ς, indic. ἐπί-σκηται (Il. 16. 243, from ῥ-στη-ν) like πλῆ-το 'drew near' (for πλᾶ-το*). If Greek once had the conj. -ā-suffix, ῖ-στᾶ-τοι might be compared with Lat. si-st-ā-s.

In the same way, and at the same time, with the forms γράφηντι etc., Conjunctives like τίθηντι came under the influence of ο- and *ω-*conjunctives. Hom. στή-ο-μεν στή-ε-τον, θή-ο-μεν -θή-ο-μαι, δοί-ο-μεν and Hom. στή-ης στή-ωσι, φή-ης;²⁾

But the Optative of Thematic tense stems had in all persons of the Active and Middle -oi- before the personal ending; as bhero-i-* (Gr. ῥέροι-ς ῥέροι-τε) beside indic. bhere-ti* 'bears' from $\sqrt{bher-}$. Probably -oi- is for -o-i- and this -i- identical with that of s-i-; 2nd pl. bhero-i-te: s-i-te* = loc. uoi-ko-i* (Gr. οἴκοι): kun-i* (Gr. κυν-ί Skr. śún-i).

The Personal endings of the Optative are Secondary. Compare § 942 Rem.

In Armenian and Irish¹⁾ the Optative seems completely dead; in Italic the oi--type can no longer be traced. The commingling of optative and conjunctive has been described in § 910 p. 460.

Ved. dhētuna, R.V. viii. 56. 5, x. 37. 12 (-tana as often instead of -ta, see § 1010), probably does not belong to this place; it is either a thematic form like Avest. 2nd sing. dōi-ṣ Gr. ἐπλ-θατο -δοίμεθα, or a new form coined beside dhēhi on the analogy of attana attā beside addhī, itana itā beside i-hī, yātāna yātā beside yāhī, and the like. The latter view is supported by Pali pres. dhēmi dhēsi etc. and dēmi dēsi etc., which undoubtedly are new formates complementary to the imperative dhēhi and dēhi.

the presumptive form dhē-ma* stands to that of 3rd sing. mid. da-dh-ī-tā just as the indic. 3rd sing. mid. pret. á-dhi-ta to the 3rd sing. mid. pres. dha-t-tē. It is uncertain whether Lat. dēs comes from da-(i)ē-s* (§ 946), and whether O.H.G. 1st pl. stēn is to be equated with (Gr. σταῖμεν (§ 947).

Remark. Others assume that Skr. dhēyā-t Gr. θεῖν come from dhā-ījē-t*. With this view, attractive enough at first sight, I cannot agree. The explanation, now put forward again by Jelinek (Beitr. zur Erklärung der germ. Flexion, p. 95), that bhāreya comes from Idg. bhero-ij-ṃ*, is proved by the evidence of Iranian to be wrong.

Often both types, -iē- and -oi-, occur together, just as in the Indicative thematic and unthematic forms are found side by side, and as in the Conjunctive we see both long-vowel type and thematic. Examples are: Gr. εἰμι Lith. tesē beside es-mi 'I am', Avest. d-ōi-š Gr. ἐπι-θοιρο beside indic. dā-þ ē-θι-το from √ dhē- 'place', Pruss. dais 'give' from √ dō-, Gr. μαρτυροῖμεθα beside μάρ-va-ται 'fights', πεπόνηται beside πέ-πονθ-α 'I have experienced'.

§ 940. Aryan. In Sanskrit, the -yā- of the sing. active is invariable for active plural and dual forms that have a personal ending with initial consonant; as s-yā-ta instead of s-ī-ta* (Lat. s-ī-tis), jñā-yā-ta instead of jñāi-ta* (Gr. γνοῖ-τε); in the Middle it is invariably absent. The same relation may be seen in Indicative stems like dhā- (Idg. dhē-*): as va-urt-yā-t va-urt-yā-ta mid. va-urt-ī-ta, so á-dā-t á-dā-ta mid. á-di-ta (§ 495 p. 55). In Avestic -yā- preponderates for the plural active, as Gath. xyā-ta = Skr. syā-ta; but -ī- seems to occur, as in srvmā i. e. srur-ī-mā beside imper. srao-tū = Skr. śrō-tu from √ kley- 'hear'.

Instead of the Skr. ending -īya of the 1st sing., as va-vṛt-īy-a, we should expect -ya or -īya following the -y-ur -iy-ur of the 3rd pl. active; indeed, the MS. ī of the Veda must often be read short for metrical reasons, as in īśīya and rāśīya Rig.-V. VII. 32. 18, and Avestic regularly has tanuya i. e. tanv-iy-a (Bartholomae, Handb. § 91 b p. 40). This -ī- came from the other middle forms; similarly we have bhārēyam following bhārē-ṣ etc., instead of bharay-am* or bharāy-am* (§ 951).

More examples to add to those given in § 939:

Class I. Skr. kr-iyā-t beside á-kar 'he made', dīr-yā-t = dī-īē-t* beside á-dar 'he split, burst' (cp. below, Class VII Avest. dar°-dairya-ḥ), mid. vur-ī-ta beside á-vṛ-ta 'he chose'. Avest. jam-yā-ḥ O.Pers. jam-īyā with jam- instead of gam-, which is preserved in Skr. gam-yā-t (mid. gm-īya) (I § 451 Rem. p. 334), cp. § 939 p. 480. Skr. han-yā-t Avest. jan-yā-ḥ O.Pers. jan-īyā beside Skr. hān-ti 'strikes, kills' from √ ghen-; pr.Ar. jhan-īā-t* instead of ghan-* = ghy-*, with which we have the reg. mid. Skr. ghn-ī-ta Avest. γn-i-ta, but in Skr. following the active also han-ī-ta (I § 454 Rem. p. 335, II § 498 p. 57 f.). Skr. stu-yā-t mid. stuv-ī-tā Avest. stu-yā-ḥ beside indic. Skr. stāu-ti (stu-māsi) Avest. stao-iti 'he praises'. Skr. i-yā-t beside ē-ti 'goes'. Skr. vṛj-yā-t beside á-park 'he twisted together' (pres. vṛṇák-ti). Skr. uś-yā-t Avest. us-yā-ḥ beside Skr. váṣ-ṭi Avest. vas-ti 'wishes' (uś-māsi us-mahī). On Skr. dēya-t Avest. d-yā-ḥ and the like, see § 939 p. 481; on Avest. 2nd sing. da-yā, below, Class X.

Skr. brū-yā-t mid. bruv-ī-tā (Avest. mru-yā-ḥ) beside brāv-ī-ti 'he speaks' Class IX (§ 574 p. 116).

Class III. Skr. ju-hu-yā-t mid. 1st pl. jú-hv-ī-mahi beside ju-hó-ti 'offers'. Avest. daidyā-ḥ daiṇyā-ḥ mid. daidi-tā daiṇi-ta like Skr. da-dh-yā-t da-d-yā-t da-dh-ī-tā da-d-ī-tā, § 939 p. 481.

Class VII. Avest. dar°-dairya-ḥ beside indic. Skr.

1) On the active singular forms with -ī-, like sāhīḥ, which used to be wrongly taken as optative, see Bartholomae, Stud. Idg. Sprachg. II 157, 169.

dār-dar-ti intens. of dar- 'to split'; the ground-form may be -dṛ-īē-t*, see § 568 p. 112.

Class X. Skr. yā-yā-t beside y-ā-ti 'goes'. Avest. pā-yā-ḥ from pā- 'protect' (§ 588 p. 129). The forms Skr. mnēyā-t jñēyā-t beside the regular mñā-yā-t jñā-yā-t (§ 939 p. 482) are adformates of such as dhēyā-t sthēyā-t (Class I), just as Skr. jyēṣṭha-s 'the mightiest' beside comp. jyā-yas- is an adformate of sthēṣṭha-s (II § 81 p. 244); compare the precative jñēṣam, § 942. Levelling in the reverse direction is shown by Avest. dā-yā-ḥ beside d-yā-ḥ.

Class XII. Skr. mid. pr-ṇ-ī-tā beside pr-ṇā-ti 'fills'; act. pr-ṇī-yā-t with the same -ī- as indic. pr-ṇī-mās, see § 597 p. 141.

Class XV. Skr. rundh-yā-t mid. rundh-ī-tā beside ruṇādh-mi 'I hold back, stay'. Avest. meraṣ-yā-ḥ, see § 626 p. 162.

Class XVII. Skr. kṛ-ṇu-yā-t mid. kṛ-ṇv-ī-tā Avest. ker'-nu-yā-ḥ beside kṛ-ṇō-ti ker'-nao-iti 'makes, does'. Skr. aś-nu-yā-t aś-nuv-ī-tā Avest. aś-nu-yā-ḥ beside aś-nō-ti aś-nao-iti 'attains'. Avest. 1st sing. mid. tanuya i. e. tanv-iy-a (beside Skr. tanvīy-ā), see p. 484.

s-Aorist. Skr. 1st pl. mid. dhuk-ṣ-ī-māhi from duh- 'to milk', 1st sing. mid. di-ṣ-īy-a from dā- 'divide, share'; Avest. diṣyā-ḥ from √ deṣk- 'to show, point' from a ground-form dik-s-īē-t*, cp. Skr. mid. dik-ṣ-ī-ta. On the intrusion of the strong root in Skr., as mā-s-ī-māhi beside mā-s-īy-a, see § 815 p. 353. The iṣ- and *siṣ-*aorist in Sanskrit: ruc-iṣ-īy-a and rōc-iṣ-īy-a from ruc- 'to shine', sah-iṣ-ī-mahi and sāh-iṣ-ī-māhi from sah- 'to overcome', vā-siṣ-īy-a from van- 'to gain'. Optatives from sigmatic aorist are in Sanskrit only found in the middle voice, and the 2nd and 3rd sing. show regularly the precative form, as mā-s-ī-ṣṭhās mā-s-ī-ṣṭa van-iṣ-ī-ṣṭa yā-sis-ī-ṣṭhas (§ 942).

Perfect. Skr. ja-gam-yā-t Avest. jaṃmyam i. e. ja-ym-iyam beside indic. Skr. ja-gām-a from √ gem- 'go'. Skr. ri-ric-yā-t beside ri-rēc-a from ric- 'let loose'. Avest. ruonyā-ḥ beside indic. 3rd pl. vaon-ar^e from van- 'to gain', O.Pers. 3rd sing. ca-xr-iyā from kar- 'to make'.

§ 941. According to Bartholomae, Avestic has in the 1st pl. active forms with -ama for -ṇme: jam-y-ama (the 3rd sing. is jam-yā-ḥ, § 940 p. 484), buyamā i. e. bv-iy-amā (cp. tanuya § 940 p. 434) beside O.Pers. biyā for b(v)-iyā-t* (Avest. 2nd sing. buyā 3rd sing. buyā-ḥ may also be derived from bv-iyā-, because of the Avestic mode of spelling). Following buyama we have 2nd pl. buya-ta: perhaps 2nd pl. daya-ta springs from 3rd sing. dayā-ḥ in the same way. A similar explanation is given of Skr. duhiyā-t beside 3rd pl. duhīyān; perhaps the i of this 3rd pl. may be accepted as evidence that -ī-ma and -ī-ta once existed in the Sanskrit language (cp. middle -īy-a following -ī-thās etc.). See Benfey, Abh. Gött. Gesellsch. Wiss. xvi 182 f., 197; J. Schmidt, Kuhn's Zeitschr. xxiv 318; Bartholomae, ibid. xxix 274 f.

§ 942. The "Precative", as it is called, is a mood peculiar to Sanskrit. This is a optative with -s- between mood-suffix and personal ending; 1) in the middle, the 1st persons and the 3rd pl. could not take this form. Examples are act. sing. 1st bhū-yā-s-am 2nd and 3rd -yā-s (2nd -yā-s-s* 3rd -yā-s-t*) pl. -yā-s-ma -yā-s-ta -yā-s-ur, mid. sing. 2nd muc-ī-ṣ-thās mā-s-ī-ṣ-thās yā-sis-ī-ṣ-thās 3rd muc-ī-ṣ-ta etc.

Beside ā-dā-t 'gave', 1st pl. dēṣma i. e. dā-ī-s-me* (confirming the assumed dē-ma* = Gr. δοῖ-μεν, see § 939 p. 481); 3rd pl. sthē-ṣ-ur beside ā-sthā-t. To this the 1st sing. is dēṣam sthēṣam. jñēṣam (from jñā- 'know'): dēṣam = jñēyā-t: dēyā-t, see § 940 p. 485.

The history and origin of the Precative are as yet unknown. But there must doubtless be a connexion between its s and the aorist s.

Remark. If the optative suffix is the same as the Root-determinative i, described in § 498 p. 61 and § 572 p. 114, it would be obvious to assume the same connexion between Skr. dā-ṣ-ma (dā-i-ṣ-ma*) and Gr. δο-ῖ-μεν as between Skr. á-grah-i-ṣ-ta and á-grah-i-t; Skr. ájāi-ṣ 'thou didst drive' could be analysed aj-ā-i-ṣ*, as the opt. ájē-ṣ into aj-a-i-ṣ*. Then the optative would be an Injunctive to the indicative with -i-.

1) Avest. tūtuyā is not a precative; see Bartholomae, Kuhn's Zeitschr. xxix 561. On Skr. forms assumed to be precative, which do not have s just before the personal ending, see the same, p. 587.

§ 943. Greek. Here we see -iē- -i- always and only after sonant vowels, with which -i- is contracted.

The fact that Skr. forms like vid-yā-t gam-yā-t bi-bhṣ-ya-t da-dh-yā-t ri-ric-yā-t are missing in Greek as we have it, is easy to explain. The i of -iē-m -i-ent etc. in proethnic Greek, together with the consonant preceding, formed sound-groups which disguised certain parts of the paradigm, and obscured their connexion with the rest. Thus ιζην* (izōhen*) ιδιμεν* beside οἶδα ἰδ-μεν, χταινην* χτανιμεν* beside ἔχτα-μεν, θισσην* τιθιμεν* beside τί-θη-μι, λελισσην* λελιτιμεν* (λελιπιμεν*) beside λέ-λοιπ-α, the regular forms, would be unrecognisable for the same kin.

§ 944. Class I. Hom. εἴην 'sim' for ēs-ιην* or trisyllabic ēs-ιην-ν*, 3rd pl. εἴεν for ēs-ι-εν* or ēs-ι-εν* (cp. Skr. s-iyā-m s-iy-úr beside s-yā-m s-y-úr), 1st pl. εἴμεν for ēs-ī-μεν* with intrusion of strong root (cp. § 502 p. 65). El. εἶα for ēη* 3rd pl. συν-έαν possibly for -εεν answering to the Ion. εἴεν (cp. I § 64 p. 51, § 72 p. 63, where εἶα must be read and not εἶᾱ, and IV §§ 952, 1020.1 a). εἰ- in Att. εἴην εἴεν is either to be explained by the fact that the Greek ground-forms ēsιην* ēsμεν* were trisyllabic, or else if these were really ēsιην* ēsμεν* it must have come from εἴμεν, as θείην follows θεῖμεν and φέροιεν follows φέρομεν (I § 131 p. 118, IV § 939 p. 481).

On θείην δοίην σταίην see § 939 p. 481. Of the same sort are γαίην φαῖμεν mid. 2nd sing. γαῖο from γη-μι 'I say'.

Cypr. φύχη, see I § 130 p. 118: Skr. bhū-yā-t, see § 939 p. 481. Hom. ἐκ-δῦμεν (beside ἐ-δῦ 'went in' ἐ-δῦ-μεν) for δνχ-μεν* (like σταῖμεν γροῖμεν) stands for δν(f)-ι-μεν* or δf-ι-μεν*, 3rd sing. δύη = δνιη* like σταίη beside σταῖ-μεν. Cp. δαινῶτο δαινέατο Class XVII p. 488. Whether Hom. φθῖτο (beside ἐ-φθι-το 'was destroyed' is regularly descended from φθικ-ι-το*, which must be assumed as original, is a question; it may have been coined beside ἐφθιτο on the analogy of δοῖτο to ἐδοτο.

Class III. τιθείην δίδοιην ἰσταίην like θείην etc., cp. § 939 p. 481. τιθεῖτο : Skr. dadhiṭá = τίθεμεν : dadhmás. If the Gr. Indicative with ε need not be regarded as a new formation in Greek (cp. Skr. dadhi-dhvḗ ja-hi-mas), neither need τιθεῖμεν τιθεῖτο be such; we should then postulate Idg. dhi-dhə-i-* = dhi-dhə-i-*. But in that case the accentuation τιθεῖμεν δίδοιμεν etc. (not certain before the Alexandrian period) must be new, and the original accent τίθεμεν* δίδομεν* etc., as δύναιτο shows (see below); the influences at work in the change may have been the accent of εἰδεῖμεν for φειδέ(σ)-ι-μεν* (beside εἰδείην), παρ-εῖμεν for -έσ-ι-μεν* (beside παρ-είην), and φιλοῖμεν for φιλέοιμεν (beside φιλοίην, see § 952), and again that of τιθείμεν (§ 945). Similarly the accent of ἐκ-θείμεν ἐκ-δύμεν and δαινῦτο is not original.

Classes X and XI. δραῖμεν for δραῖ-ι-μεν* by I § 611 p. 461, hence δραίην instead of δραῖ-(ι)η-ν* like σταίην following σταῖ-μεν. Similarly, γηραίην beside ἑ-γήρῃ-ν 'I grew old', βλείην βλεῖμεν βαλείην βαλεῖμεν beside ἑ-βλη-ν ἑ-βάλη-ν 'I received a missile, was struck', δοθείην beside ἑδόθη-ν 'I was given', κίχην beside κί-χη-μι 'I attain, reach', γνοίην γνοῖμεν beside ἑ-γνω-ν 'I learnt', άλοίην beside ἑάλω-ν 'I was caught'. Again Lesb. φιλείην beside φίλη-μι 'I treat as a friend', El. σῦλαίη beside σῦλαμι 'I rob', and on the same principle we explain στεφανοίην etc.

The Middle formation ἐμ-πλήτο (beside πλή-το 'filled itself') is to be compared with the 3rd pl. indic. ἐμ-πλήντο : as this is a transformate of -πλεντο* on the analogy of πλήτο, so -πλήτο is instead of -πλεῖτο* (§ 582 Rem. p. 123). The same is true of μεμνήμην κεκτιμην, p. 489. -πλήτο μεμνήμην : βλεῖμεν δραῖμεν = -πλήντο μέμνηται : ἑβλεν(τ) ἑδραν(τ).

Class XII. Apparently the only form found is δύναιτο from δύναμι 'I am able'; κίρναιην from κίρ-νη-μι 'I mix' and the like may be left out of count. δύ-να-ι-το beside Skr. śṛ-ṇ-i-tá like τί-θ-ε-ι-το* (τιθεῖτο) beside da-dh-i-tá.

Class XVII. Hom. δαινῦτο (beside δαί-νν-ται 'eats') for -νν-το, like ἐκ-δύμεν; instead of -νν(F)-ι-το* or -νF-ι-το*, cp. Skr. aś-nuv-i-tá kṛ-ṇv-i-tá § 940 p. 485. 3rd pl. δαινῦατο = -ννι-ατο, like δέη (p. 487).

s-Aorist. εἰδείην εἰδεῖμεν (beside ᾔδεα 'I knew') for Fιδ-εσ-ιη-ν* or -εσ-ιη-ν and -εσ-ι-μεν, cp. Lat. vid-er-i-mus; Att. εἰδείην is to be explained in the same way as εἶην, page 487. On the optative of εἶμι 'I go' see § 836 p. 372 f.; the form ἰείην Il. 19. 209 may, like Plato's δεδείην, be an adformate of εἰδείην, cp. λέναι δεδιέναι : εἰδέναι.

δείξαι-μι -αι-ς etc. is a new formation following the optative -οι-μι -οι-ς etc., which sprang up when α in the σ-aorist had spread beyond its proper sphere; cp. § 820 p. 357.

It is likely that the forms Hom. Att. δείξιας -ειε -ειαν Arcad. διακωλέσει and τύψειμεν (only preserved by Choeroboscus Dict. 565. 2, and by him called Aeolic) contain the endings -σεσ-ιη- or -σεσ-ιη- and -σεσ-ι-, see § 836 p. 374. The 3rd pl. -ιαν stands to the ordinary -ιεν (εἶεν θεῖεν) as indic. Boeot. παρ-εῖαν to Dor. ῆν for ῆ(σ)-εν*; 1st pl. -σειμεν for -σεσ-ι-μεν*. On the one hand, -σειμεν occasioned a 3rd sing. -σει on the analogy of -σαι : σαιμεν and -οι : οιμεν; on the other, -σειαν produced complementary 2nd and 3rd sing. -σειας -σειε following indic. -(σ)ας -(σ)ε -(σ)αν, just as Avest. buya-ta follows buyama and Skr. duhṭyá-t follows duhṭyín (§ 941 p. 486).

Remark. For the latter developement (-σειας -σειε) there would be a second motive if there ever was a 1st pl. in -σειαμεν*, answering to the Avest. jam-y-ama (§ 941 p. 486); -σειαμεν : -σειμεν as jam-y-ama : sr̥tīmā. And -σειαμεν would make it easier to understand the 3rd pl. -ιαν beside the usual form -ιεν.

Perfect. ἑσταίην ἑσταῖμεν beside ἑσταμεν 'we stand' like ἰσταίην ἰσταῖμεν beside ἵσταμεν. Mid. μεμνήμην (beside μέμνη-μαι Dor. μέμνᾱ-μαι 'I remember') κεκτήμην (beside κέκτη-μαι 'I have gained') instead of regular μεμναιμην* κεκτειμην*, like indic. 3rd pl. μέμνηνται κέκηνται instead of μεμνανται* κεκτενται*, see p. 488.

With perfect stems having a final consonant the thematic optative is always found; as πεπόνθοι.

§ 945. In the Active of the Optative -ιη- constantly passed into the Plural and Dual, as εἶμεν beside ἔμεν, σταίημεν beside σταῖμεν, εἰδείημεν beside εἰδεῖμεν, ἑσταίημεν beside ἑσταῖμεν;

Homer has only one example of this sort, στειλάαν Il. 17. 733. Compare Skr. syāma instead of s-ī-ma* following s-yā-t § 940 p. 483.

§ 946. Italic. O.Lat. s-ie-m siēs siet s-ī-mus sītis s-i-ent beside indic. es-t; in classical Latin the weak stem only is found, and we have sim sīs etc. The same levelling is seen in the sister dialects: Umbr. sir si sei 'sis' si 'sit' sins sis 'sint', Marruc. pacr-si 'propitius sis' or 'sit'. Lat. vel-i-m vel-ī-mus beside vul-t, with irregular strong root (cp. Skr. mid. pur-ī-ta), see § 505 p. 69. Similarly ed-i-m ed-ī-mus beside ēs-t from ✓ed- 'eat', see § 505 p. 70, § 939 p. 481. The reason why siem is the only optative with strong opt. suffix which survives in historical Latin is probably that its i carried the word-accent.

On the reason for the loss of the optative of i-t see § 925 p. 472.

Osc. da-did 'dedat' beside Avest. d-yā-þ, cp. Marruc. -si 'sit'.

Lat. dem may be derived from da-(i)ē-m*, and stem from sta-(i)ē-m*; dēmus stēmus for da-(i)ē-mos* sta-(i)ē-mos* should be compared with Gr. δοίημεν στειρήμεν (§ 945). Lat. nen plantem may come from *(s)nā-(i)ē-m planta-(i)ē-m*, Osc. deivaid from deivā-(i)ē-t*, cp. § 939 p. 482. But all these forms, as we saw in § 926 p. 472, may be Conjunctive.

s-Aorist. Lat. dīxim axim, see § 824 p. 362. vīderim līquerim totonderim dixerim, see § 841 p. 378. amāssim prohibēssim ambāssim, see § 842 p. 381. On the intrusion of such optative forms into the Future Perfect system, i. e. their Conjunctive, see § 915 p. 465.

§ 947. Germanic. The suffix forms -ī- had got into the singular in proethnic Germanic, cp. e. g. 3rd sing. Goth. vaurþ-i O.H.G. wurt-i Norse Run. urþ-i 'would be' for -īþ as contrasted with Skr. va-vrt-yā-t, 2nd sing. O.H.G. s-ī-s O.Icel. sēr (= pr. Germ. sīz*) 'mayst thou be' as against Skr. s-yā-s; so in the 3rd pl., Goth. vaurþ-ei-na O.H.G. wurt-ī-n

'they would become' Norse Run. varin 'they would be'. The history of the 1st sing. (Goth. -jau O.H.G. -i O.Icel. -a) is still obscure (cp. § 953 on Goth. nimau); in explaining Goth. -jau let it be remembered that j in viljau and j in vitjau seem to be different (see below).

Present. A.S. cyme pl. cymen (from cuman 'to come') would be Goth. kumjau* kumeima*: Skr. gam-yā-t, see § 939 p. 480. Goth. viljau vilei-s etc., cp. Lat. vel-i-m § 505 p. 69; the 1st sing. viljau may with O.H.G. wille have been originally 1st sing. conj. to indic. O.H.G. willu 'I will' = O.C.Sl. velja, whose tense stem is also represented by Goth. viljan and viljands (§ 505 p. 69, § 716 p. 249, § 727 p. 259), cp. § 928 p. 474. O.H.G. sī 'I should be' pl. 1st sī-mēs sī-m 2nd sī-t 3rd sī-n beside is-t 'is': Skr. s-yā-m etc., see § 939 p. 481; Goth. sijau sijāis etc. (like bairau bairāis) is perhaps a transformation of the dissyllabic Idg. s-ijē-m* etc. It is possible, that O.H.G. 1st pl. stēn gēn (sing. 1st and 3rd gē stē 2nd gēs stēs) are optative like Gr. σταῖμεν.

The following may be counted amongst those parts of the Preterite-Present system which are not really perfect. 1st pl. Goth. vit-ei-ma O.H.G. wizz-ī-mēs (Skr. vid-yā-t), Goth. mun-ei-ma, ga-daūrseima O.H.G. gi-turrīmēs see § 508 p. 74. Goth. kunneima O.H.G. kunnīmēs (beside Goth. O.H.G. kun-nu-m 'we learn, know' Class XVII) for gṇ-ny-ī-* like Skr. ṛ-ṇv-ī-tā, see § 939 p. 482; similarly O.H.G. unnī-mēs beside indic. an 'I grant', N.-Ger. dürne beside indic. darn 'I dare', see § 646 p. 184.

Perfect. Goth. skat-skāid-ei-ma O.H.G. sciad-ī-mēs 1st sing. skat-skāid-jau sciadī beside indic. skat-skāip sciad 'I divided', similarly Goth. nēm-ei-ma O.H.G. nām-ī-mēs beside nam 'I took' etc. Similarly in the weak preterite (§ 907 pp. 453 ff.), as Goth. nasidēd-ei-ma O.H.G. nerit-ī-mēs. On O.Sax. dedīn 'they would do' sing. dedi (instead of regular did-*) see § 939 p. 482.

The intermingling of 2nd sing. opt. and 2nd sing. indic. preterite of strong verbs has been discussed in § 893 p. 441 f.

§ 948. Balto-Slavonic.

In Baltic this optative cannot be traced. Pruss. dais 'give, let' imper. 2nd pl. daīti (read daiti) doubtless do not go with Gr. δοῦτε — dais would have to be an adformate of the plural — but are thematic like jeis jeiti idaiti, §§ 510 f. pp. 75 f., § 954.

§ 949. Slavonic offers but a few specimens, all with hortative force. O.C.Sl. 1st and 2nd pl. jad-i-mŭ i-te 1st and 2nd dual -i-vě -i-ta beside indic. jad-ętŭ 'they eat' (§ 510 p. 76): Skr. ad-yā-t Lat. ed-ī-mus, see § 939 p. 481. dad-i-mŭ etc. beside dad-ętŭ 'they give' (§ 546 p. 103 f.): Skr. mid. da-dh-ī-tā etc., see § 939 p. 482. věd-i-mŭ beside věstŭ 'he knows' 3rd pl. věd-ętŭ with the perfect stem uoīd-, originally confined to the singular indicative, see § 894 p. 442 f. Side by side with this, from the same root, imperative vidi-mŭ 'videamus' etc.; the 2nd sing. viždŭ = Lith. veizdi, which must be explained with vidimŭ, proves it to be old and to belong to the Idg. present ueīd-mi* (§ 493 p. 52, § 510 p. 75); here ei = Slav. i became the only suffix, as oī = Slav. ě did in věstŭ.

The 2nd and 3rd sing. to these imperatives are jaždŭ daždŭ věždŭ and the already mentioned viždŭ. The ending -ŭ makes it probable that these should be derived from genuine imperative forms in -dhi*. Their original shape was ēzdŭ* (cp. Skr. addhī), dazdŭ* (cp. Skr. dēhī daddhī Avest. dazdi) or dādŭ* (= O.Lith. dādi), vēždŭ* and vizdŭ* (= O.Lith. veizdi, cp. Skr. viddhī Gr. ἰσθῆ). Side by side with these stood the 2nd and 3rd sing. opt. ēdīa* dādīa* etc. (= orig. ēd-īēs* ēd-īē-t*, dōd-īē-s* etc.). By levelling arose ēd-ŭ* dādŭ* etc., which became the forms actually found, jaždŭ etc.¹⁾ Compare I § 547 p. 401,²⁾ II § 962. The use of jaždŭ etc. for the 3rd singular has a parallel in 3rd sing. pri-jętŭ for the 2nd singular; see § 830 p. 367.

1) That e. g. ēzdŭ jaždŭ are not simply contaminations of ēzdŭ* and ēzdā* is shewn by the other Slavonic languages, which imply an older ending -dīi. E. g. Pol. wiedz: O.C.Sl. věždŭ = Pol. miedza: O.C.Sl. mežda.

2) Here ueīzdŭ* = O.Lith. veiz(d)i is a misprint for ueīzdŭ* = ...

II. OPTATIVE WITH -oi-.

§ 950. The ending in the 1st sing. act. is -oi-ṃ (§ 976. 3), in the 3rd pl. -oi-ṃt (1017. 1. b).

In all languages which have this optative at all it is a living and creative type.

For pr. Idg. a few examples will suffice. bheroī-* beside bhér-e-ti* 'bears', 2nd sing. bheroī-s* 2nd pl. bheroī-te*: Skr. bhārē-ṣ -ta Gr. φέρει-ς -τε Goth. bairái-s -þ O.C.Sl. beri berē-te; Lith. 3rd sing. te-sukē beside sukù 'I turn'. urgīoi-* beside urg-īé-ti* 'works': Avest. ver^ozyaṣ-ta Gr. ῥέζει-τε Goth. vaurk-jái-þ; Skr. 3rd sing. mid. sphāyē-ta beside indic. sphā-ya-tē 'increases, grows', O.C.Sl. 2nd sing. spěji 2nd pl. spěji-te beside spě-ja 'I succeed'. Skr. 3rd sing. prtanāyē-t beside prtanā-yá-ti 'he fights', Gr. 2nd sing. τιμάει-ς τιμῶς beside τιμάω 'I honour', A.S. 3rd sing. sealfie beside sealfie 'I salve, anoint', O.C.Sl. 2nd sing. lakaji beside laka-ja 'I trick, deceive'.

§ 951. Aryan. For examples see § 950. No examples of this optative occur in Old Persian, certainly a mere accident.

In Skr. 1st sing. act. bhārēyam 3rd pl. act. bhārēyur 1st sing. mid. bhārēya 2nd and 3rd dual mid. bhārēyatham bhārēyātam, ē has taken the place of a (bharay-am* etc.), coming from the other optative forms (bhārē-ṣ etc.); in Avest. we still see 3rd pl. act. baray-en mid. 1st sing. Gath. vāuray-ā 3rd pl. baray-anta.¹⁾ Compare Skr. vavṛt-īy-a instead of vavṛt-y-a* § 940 p. 484, and possibly duhṛyán instead of duh-y-an* § 941 p. 486; also ūbhūv-am instead of á-bhuv-am following á-bhū-ṣ § 497 p. 57.

In the Brahmana and Sutra period verbs in -aya-ti sometimes show an opt. middle of the Ist type, as vēday-ī-ta beside vēdayā-tē 'gives to know', kāmay-ī-ta beside kāmaya-tē 'wishes'. These must be connected with participles like vēdayāna-s beside

1) If ā in open syllables represents Idg. o (I § 78 p. 68), we must assume pr. Ar. bharāi-am* bharāi-an*. In Avestic, ā will have been exchanged for a following the lead of these persons in which ai was tautosyllabic. Compare § 939 Rem. p. 482.

Remark. Present Stems of Class XXVI, as veljā veliši inf. velēi 'to command' (§ 727 pp. 257 ff.); of Class XXXI, as goštā gostiši inf. gostiti 'to entertain as a guest' (§ 782 pp. 308 f.); and of Class XXXII, as vraštā vratīši inf. vratiti 'to turn' (§ 807 pp. 343 f.) all have throughout their imperative -i-: veli velimū gosti gostimū vrati vratimū; from the Idg. optative forms which it is necessary to assume we should expect velji* veljimū* gostīji* gostījimū* vratīji* vratījimū*. The forms are then doubtless not optative at all, but Injunctive; and velimū velite are related to indic. velimū velite as bāḍā 'sunto' (§ 909 p. 458) to indic. bāḍātī (bāḍātū). Some might wish to take 2nd sing. veli for orig. veli*, i. e. 2nd sing. imperative (cp. Lat. farcī § 958). Against this may be urged that chošti 'wish thou' is sometimes used in sentences which are not imperative (Leskien, Handb.² p. 143).

IMPERATIVE.¹⁾

§ 956. The forms classed as Imperative in the various Indo-Germanic languages have all kinds of different origins. (1) Some of them are Injunctive, as 2nd pl. dual Skr. bhāra-ta bhāra-tam Gr. φέρε-τε φέρε-τον, which were already well established in the imperative system of the parent language; Skr. 3rd sing. bhārat-u 3rd pl. bhārant-u (with the particle -u), Gr. 2nd sing. mid. φέρετο φέρον, O.Ir. 2nd sing. mid. cluinte 'exaudi' (§ 909 p. 458). (2) Conjunctive forms: Skr. 1st sing. pl. and dual, as 1st pl. act. bhārāma mid. bhārāmahāi; the 2nd and 3rd persons of the conj. are dropt in classical Sanskrit, and the 1st persons, which are kept, go with the Imperative system. (3) Optative forms: O.C.Sl. beri berēte (§ 955 p. 495). (4) Indicative forms: Skr. 2nd sing. vē-ṣi 'come here', Gr. λέξαι 'lay thyself' (§ 910 Rem. p. 459 f.). (5) Forms of the Verb Infinitive: as Lat. 2nd pl. sequi-minī (II § 71 p. 165). Lastly (6) some are forms which, so far as we can trace them, were never used for anything but the Imperative.

It is the last group, which I call the Genuine Imperative, that will concern us in the following pages. But along with them we shall include some others from the different languages whose origin has not been clearly made out, amongst which may be a few which properly belong to one of the other five groups.

I. THE PROETHNIC IMPERATIVE.

A. Bare Tense Stem as 2nd sing. act.

§ 957. The forms which come in this section are such as Gr. ἵστη 'place thou' φέρε 'bear thou', which like the voc. ὄψι ἵππῃ do without any personal suffix whatever. I regard the Idg. forms in -dhi (§ 959) and -tōd (§ 963) and the Skr. forms in -sva (§ 968) as being nothing but extensions of these.

(1) Unthematic.

Pr.Idg. Class I. eġ* beside eġ-ti* 'goes': Gr. ἔξ-ει, Lat. ei ī ex-ī, Lith. eĩ-k. dō* beside é-dō-t* 'he gave': Lat. ce-do (2nd pl. cette for ce-d(i)-te* § 505 p. 71),¹⁾ Lith. dũ'-k, cp. Gr. δί-δω (Class III). — Class X. Lat. hīa Lith. žió-k 'open thy mouth' beside indic. Lat. hīa-mus; on the same principle Lat. planta O.Ir. car Goth. salbō Lith. dovanō-k (see below). Lat. vidē Lith. pa-vydē-k 'invidē' beside indic. Lat. vidē-mus. Compare Gr. ἐγ-σίχρα πίμ-πρη (Class XI). — Class XVII. Skr. stṛ-ṇu Gr. στόρ-νῦ beside indic. stṛ-ṇō-ti (stṛ-ṇu-más) στόρ-νῦ-σι 'sternit'.

Aryan. This formation is clear only in the XVIIth Class in Sanskrit, where however -dhi or -hi is usually affixed, ḥṛ-ṇi and ḡy-nu-dhi 'hear thou' (§ 960); in the later language it was the rule to use -hi only where the root ended in a consonant.

1) Others, not so well, take ce-do as a combination of two particles, 'here-wards, hither'. cette then is explained as derived from cedo as Slav. na-te from na. See Per Persson Studia Etymol., p. 71.

In § 600 p. 143 I conjectured that grhānā is grhā* + the particle na, and that grh-a* comes from -ḡ*: cp. Att. κοίμνη.

Compare further what is said in § 641 p. 180 about kuru.

Greek. Class I. Att. ἔξ-ε, see above. Epir. Aeol. πῶ 'drink thou' beside πῶ-θι. — Class III. δί-δω (gramm.) 'give thou'. ῖ-στη Dor. ῖ-στα Lesb. ῖ-στα 'place thou'. — Classes X and XI. Dor. ἐγ-κίρα, from κίγ-κρά-μι 'I mix'; Att. πίμ-πρη, from πίμ-πρη-μι 'I kindle' (cp. § 594 p. 135); Lesb. κίνη from κίνη-μι 'I move', Lesb. φίλη from φίλη-μι 'I treat as a friend', μύρω from μύρω-μι 'I anoint': cp. Lith. kėlė-k balnū'-k. — Class XII. Att. κοίμνη from κοίμ-νη-μι 'I hang, let hang' Lesb. δάμ-νᾶ from δάμ-νᾶ-μι 'I tame, subdue'. — Class XVII. ὄρ-νῃ from ὄρ-νῃ-μι 'I arouse': Skr. ṛ-nu.

Latin. ī ce-do, see above.¹⁾ The forms fer ēs es can hardly belong to this group; it is more likely they are injunctive like vel = uel-s* (§ 505 p. 69). — Class X. Besides hiā plantā we have flā nā domā portā etc., and by analogy stā dā, unless we must take stā to be another form of Class I like ce-do (cp. Lith. stó-k). Others like vidē (above) are implē nē tacē (on albē, see § 958).

Irish. car 'love thou' for cara, see above.

Germanic. Goth. salbō O.H.G. salbo 'anoint thou' doubtless from pr. Germ. salbō*, like Latin plantā (above). But the forms actually used are not regular; -ō has been restored from the other imperative forms which had it, as 2nd pl. Goth. salbō-þ O.H.G. salbō-t (cp. 1st sing. indic. pres. Goth. salbō, § 982. 1). Similarly, O.H.G. habe 'have thou' (indic. habē-m), with its final vowel assimilated to ē in pl. habē-t.

Baltic. In Lithuanian, a particle -ki -k (-kē) is always affix to these imperatives. Whether the i-vowel represents the original ending of the particle is very questionable. It is usual to compare Lat. ce (ce-do si-c), which is plausible.

1) fu in the Arval Song will be another if it means 'be thou', which is doubtful. Compare Pauli, Altital. Stud. iv 29 ff.

Class I. ēi-k indic. ēi-ti 'he goes': Gr. ἔξ-ει Lat. i. dū'-k 'give thou' beside Skr. á-da-t (§ 493 p. 53): Lat. ce-do. dē-k 'lay thou' beside Skr. á-dhā-t (see loc. cit.). bú-k 'be thou' beside Skr. á-bhū-ma (§ 497 p. 56). — Class X. ne-bijóki-s 'fear thou not' beside bijo-s 'he fears'. zió-k beside zió-ju 'I open my mouth': Lat. hiā beside hiā-mus. jó-k beside jó-ju 'I ride'. kló-k beside kló-ju 'I spread out', miné-k beside miné 'he remembered'. luké-k beside luké-ju 'I wait a bit'. dovanó-k beside dovanó-ju 'I present', pāsako-k beside pāsako-ju 'I relate': cp. Lat. planta. kēte-k beside kēte-ju 'I grow hard': cp. Lesb. qílñ. balnū'-k beside balnū'-ju 'I saddle': cp. Lesb. μύρω.

It is the rule that this whole Imperative formation takes its stem from the Infinitive. The reason is that some of the forms belonged to the aorist, whose stem differed from the present stem and agreed with the s-future etc., that is, the infinitive stem; the others then conformed to the same type. Hence we have vartý-k beside vartaū 'I turn', jū'sty-k beside jū'stau 'I gird'. And similar imperatives are made for all thematic present stems: thus the relation between dū'-k and dū'-ti suggested an imper. vèsk from vèsti 'to lead' (pres. vedù), sùk(k) from sùk-ti 'to turn' (pres. sukù), and so forth.

As the original meaning of these singular forms with -k(i) was forgotten, a plural and dual was made from them thus: dū'kime dū'kite dū'kiva dū'kita from dū'ki dū'k, on which see § 463 Rem. p. 9. dū'ki-te: dū'k(i) as Lett. weddi-t: wedd(i) 'lead thou' (cp. § 958).

§ 958. (2) Thematic.

Pr.Idg. bhére*, from indic. bhére-ti* 'bears': Skr. bhāra Armen. ber Gr. φέρει O.Ir. beir Goth. bair; Lat. age. Skr. ti-ṣṭh-a Lat. si-st-e, indic. tí-ṣṭh-a-ti si-st-i-t from √ stā 'stand'. Skr. gācha Gr. βάσκε beside gá-cha-ti from √ gem- 'go'. Skr. namas-yá indic. namas-yá-ti 'honours', Gr. τέλει τέλει from indic. τελείω -έω -ῶ, 'finish thou', for -εσ-ιω; Skr. gā-tu-yá indic. gātu-yá-ti 'goes an errand', Lat. metue from metuō. Skr. sādāya Goth. satei from indic. sādāya-ti satji-p causal of $\sqrt{\text{sed-}}$ 'sit'; Gr. $\varphi\acute{o}\beta\epsilon\epsilon$ -ει, indic. $\varphi\acute{o}\beta\acute{\epsilon}\omega$ -ω, 'scare thou off'. s-Aorist: Skr. $n\bar{e}-\check{s}-a$ beside conj. $n\bar{e}-\check{s}-a-t(i)$ from $n\bar{i}$ - 'to lead', Gr. $\omicron\lambda\sigma$ -ε beside conj. (fut.) $\omicron\lambda\sigma\omega$ 'I will bear or bring' (§ 833 p. 370).

Wherever $\dot{\iota}o$ -presents of Class XXVI show -i- and -i- in the indic. pres. beside - $\dot{\iota}o$ -, these weaker grades are naturally found in the imperative too: Lat. cape for capi* cp. indic. capi-s, farci cp. indic. farci-s, O.H.G. biti cp. indic. bitis 'thou prayest'; perhaps we may venture to add O.Lith. girdi, cp. ind. girdi-te 'ye hear'.

Aryan. Skr. jīva O.Pers. jīvā beside indic. Skr. jīva-ti 'lives'; Avest. ja-sa (Skr. gá-cha) beside indic. ja-sa-iti 'goes' (§ 671 p. 203).

Armenian. ber 'bring thou' beside bere-m aor. ber-i, ac 'lead thou' beside ace-m aor. ac-i, ker 'eat thou' beside aor. ker-i, tes 'see thou' beside aor. tes-i, arb 'drink thou' beside aor. arb-i.

Greek. $\acute{\alpha}\gamma$ -ε 'age' from $\acute{\alpha}\gamma\omega$ 'ago'. $\kappa\alpha\tau\acute{\alpha}$ -αχ beside ϵ -αχ-ο-ν pres. $\epsilon\chi$ -ω 'I have'. $\tau\acute{\iota}\mu\alpha\epsilon$ $\tau\acute{\iota}\mu\alpha$ from $\tau\acute{\iota}\mu\acute{\alpha}\omega$ -ω 'I honour', $\delta\omicron\nu\lambda\omicron\epsilon$ -ον from $\delta\omicron\nu\lambda\acute{o}\omega$ -ω 'I enslave' (cp. Lesb. $\nu\acute{\upsilon}\rho\omega$ § 957 p. 498). There are a great many bye-forms of this class used as variants to others of the first class (§ 957), when the tense stem ends in - $\acute{a}$ - $\acute{e}$ or - $\acute{o}$; as Att. $\kappa\alpha\theta$ -ίστα Dor. $\dot{\iota}\sigma\tau\eta$ for * $\dot{\iota}\sigma\tau\alpha\epsilon$, Att. $\tau\acute{\iota}\theta\epsilon\iota$ $\delta\acute{\iota}\delta\omicron\nu$, Att. $\pi\acute{\iota}\mu$ -πλā Dor. $\pi\acute{\iota}\mu$ -πλη, Att. $\epsilon\sigma$ -βā Dor. $\epsilon\mu$ -βη for * $\beta\acute{\alpha}\epsilon$; similarly $\delta\mu\upsilon\nu$ -ε. Perf. $\gamma\acute{\epsilon}\gamma\omega\nu\epsilon$ from $\gamma\acute{\epsilon}\gamma\omega\nu$ -α $\gamma\epsilon\gamma\acute{o}\nu\omega$ 'I announce, say'.

The five words $\dot{\iota}\delta\acute{\epsilon}$ $\lambda\alpha\beta\acute{\epsilon}$ $\epsilon\acute{\iota}\pi\acute{\epsilon}$ $\epsilon\lambda\theta\acute{\epsilon}$ $\epsilon\acute{\upsilon}\rho\acute{\epsilon}$ have kept the accent which they had in pr. Idg. at the beginning of a sentence; $\lambda\acute{\iota}\pi\epsilon$ and the others with the same accent were originally enclitic (I § 669 p. 532, § 676 Rem. 1 p. 541). The corresponding middle imperatives $\dot{\iota}\delta\omicron\upsilon$ $\lambda\acute{\iota}\pi\omicron\upsilon$ for - $\acute{\epsilon}$ -(α)ο (§ 909 p. 458) have always the accent which they bore as first in a sentence, even when compounded, $\pi\rho\omicron\sigma$ - $\lambda\alpha\beta\omicron\upsilon$ (but active $\pi\rho\acute{o}\sigma\lambda\alpha\beta\epsilon$). $\acute{\iota}$ -θι (contrast Skr. i-hí, § 959) is accented on the same principle as $\lambda\acute{\iota}\pi\epsilon$, and so too $\dot{\iota}\sigma\theta\iota$ $\pi\acute{\iota}$ -θι and others; but $\varphi\alpha$ -θι is like $\dot{\iota}\delta\acute{\epsilon}$, and also has a variant $\varphi\acute{\alpha}\theta\iota$.

Italic. Lat. age. Whether albē monē are for albe(i)e* mone(i)e* is as doubtful as the derivation of albēs monēs from -eie-s* (§ 788 p. 319).

Lat. cape for capi*,¹⁾ farcī, see above.

Keltic. O.Ir. ib Mod.Cymr. yf 'bibe' for (p)i-be*. lēic for lēci* or -ī, see § 702. p. 229, § 719 p. 251.

Germanic. Goth. bair; in O.H.G. forms like hilf 'help thou' for hilfi* are regular, but e. g. bir stands for biri* (I § 662. 2 p. 520). O.H.G. neri 'make thou whole' for pr. Germ. naziji*, see loc. cit.; Goth. nasei seems to prove that naziji* had not yet become nazī* in pr. Germ. (cp. nom. frijōndi I § 660. 2 p. 515).

With Idg. -i O.H.G. hevi from heff(i)u 'I lift', biti from bitt(i)u 'I beseech', like Lat. cape for capi*, see p. 500. But Goth. hafei instead of hafi* haf* follows nasei etc.

Balto-Slavonic. In O.Lith. and Lett. -i is found with presents like Lith. vedū 'I lead', as O.Lith. vedi ved Lett. weddi wedd, gawilēji 'I exult, shout for joy'. By the sound laws it is impossible to explain this as the 2nd sing. opt. (cp. Pruss. weddeis), or to assume that -i is -e weakened; and therefore

1) The forms fac and dīc dūc may have elided -e as haec for haece has. But the injunctive fer at the same time must have helped to make the short forms current (§ 505 p. 68). [It is true Skutsch has lately derived fer from fere*, denying most distinctly that it comes from fer-s* (Forschungen zu lat. Gramm. 55 ff.). But his reasons will not hold water. That ferre was originally a thematic present, and that forms like fert come by syncope of the thematic vowel, is bare assumption and nothing more. And since the scansion of ter as long by Plautus (Bacch. 1127) is taken as evidence of the older pronunciation terr* (for ters*, cp. Bücheler, Rhein. Mus. XLVI 236 ff.), and since the same poet has fer twice short and once long (Mil. 1343 fēr aequo ánimo*), any candid enquirer will see in this a confirmation of my view rather than his. Why the MS. should be corrupt in fēr aequo ánimo, and genuine in the two examples of fēr short, as Skutsch says, there is nothing to show. If in Plautus' day people spoke -rr = -rs before a vowel, it is in the first degree probable that this was not done always, but that the form with r, which was right before consonants and at the end of a sentence, was sometimes used too. In any case Skutsch ought to prove the contrary before unconditionally supporting the transposition fēr animo aequo. To transpose is simple; it does not follow that it is necessary.]

I conjecture that -i is due to the analogy of forms like girdi, which answer to the Lat. cape (for capī*) farci etc., and are identical with the 2nd sing. indic. (vedi beside indic. ved-i follows girdi beside indic. girdi); and that veizdi 'see thou', i. e. ueid + dhi*, helped to make the type current, — perhaps we should add dû-di (§ 962).¹⁾

In O.C.Sl. the 2nd sing. veli (indic. veljā veli-ši inf. veli-ti 'to command') may possibly be a form like Lat. farci. But it is no doubt better to regard it as injunctive, for -i-s*; see § 955 Rem. p. 496.

B. 2nd Person Singular in -dhi.

§ 959. Forms with this suffix occur in Aryan, Greek and Balto-Slavonic; they occur in Unthematic tense stems. Thurneysen (Kuhn's Zeitschr. xxvii 180) compares Skr. ádhi 'up!' (like Ger. auf! geh! 'up! go!'), with its variant dhi, like abhi with variant bhi; others again compare the infinitive endings -dhyāi Gr. -ῥαι, which is less credible. In both cases we may assume that the imperative type described in § 957 lies at the foundation of this.

-dhi is added to the Weak Stem.

Pr.Idg. Class I. i-dhi* from ei-ti* 'goes': Skr. i-hi Gr. i-ῥι. Skr. śru-dhi Gr. xlē-ῥι 'hear thou' from √kley-. uid-dhi* (I § 494 p. 363) beside Skr. véd-mi and véd-a from √ueid- 'see, know' (§ 493 p. 52): Skr. viddhi Gr. ĩῥι, O.Lith. veizdhi O.C.Sl. vižďi instead of vizďi* (§ 962). z-dhi* from es-ti* 'is': Avest. Gath. zďi Gr. ĩῥι. — Class X. Skr. yā-hi 'go thou', Gr. γνώ-ῥι 'learn, know'. — Class XVII. Skr. śy-ṇu-dhi śy-ṇu-hi from śy-nō-ti 'hears', Gr. ῥα-ῥι from

1) With the change of vede* to vedi following girdi etc. should be compared the change of O.C.Sl. 1st pl. pres. nesomū* to nesemū following znajemū § 1008 sub. fin.; with the effect of veizdi which possibly helped, compare the change of O.C.Sl. imper. chošti 'wish thou' to chošti following rižďi.

ὄμ-νῶ-σι 'swears'. — Perfect. Skr. mumugdhi beside mu-móc-a from muc- 'to let go', Gr. Hom. δεῖδι i. e. δέ-δφι-θι* beside δέ-δφι-μεν* 'we feared'.

§ 960. Aryan. Sanskrit has both -dhi and -hi. Of these -hi is used only after sonants, -dhi in Vedic after both sonants and consonants, in the later language after consonants only. See I § 480 p. 354, and von Bradke, Zeitschr. Deutsch. Morg. Gesell. XL 658 ff., where the variants -dhi and -hi (śṛṇudhi and śṛṇuhi for instance) are convincingly explained as dialectic bye-forms.

Class I. Skr. i-hi Avest. i-đi O.Pers. i-dīy beside indic. Skr. é-ti 'goes'. Skr. stu-hi Avest. stūdi beside indic. Skr. stāu-ti 'praises'. Skr. ky-dhi beside ind. kár-ši from kar- 'to make'. Skr. ga-dhi ga-hi Avest. gaidi beside indic. Skr. á-gan from √gem- 'go, come'. Skr. ja-hi Avest. jaidi O.Pers. ja-dīy beside indic. Skr. hán-ti from √ghen- 'strike'; the common ground-form jha-dhi* stood instead of regular pr. Ar. gha-dhi*, I § 454 Rem. p. 335, and § 480 p. 354; in Sanskrit we also have han-dhi by re-formation. Beside Avest. Gath. zdī, to which a Skr. form dhi* would correspond, Sanskrit has a variant ēdhi, for az-dhi*, I § 591 p. 447. Similarly, with intrusive strong stem, we have Skr. addhi 'eat' (indic. átti) from √ed-: cp. O.C.Sl. jaždǫ § 962. — Classes III and V. Skr. dhēhi and daddhi 'place thou' dēhi and daddhi 'give thou' Avest. dazdi beside indic. Skr. dá-dha-ti dá-da-ti, see § 540 p. 101. Skr. ci-ki-hi beside ci-ké-ti 'observes, notices'. śi-śi-hi and with strong stem śi-śa-dhi and śi-śa-ti 'whets, sharpens' (§ 538 p. 98). — Class VII. Skr. car-ky-dhi beside car-kar-ti 'remembers', nē-nig-dhi beside nē-nēk-ti 'washes'. — Class IX. Skr. stani-hi from stan- 'to thunder'. brū-hi and with strong stem bravī-hi beside brāvī-ti 'speaks'.

Class X. Skr. rā-hi beside vā-ti 'blows'. Skr. pā-hi O.Pers. pā-dīy from Ar. pā- 'to protect' (§ 588 p. 129).

Class XII. Skr. śṛ-ṇī-hi from śṛ-ṇā-ti 'breaks to bits, crushes' (§ 597 p. 141); sometimes the strong stem appears, as stṛ-ṇā-hi. — Class XV. bhinđhi from bhinád-mi 'I split', pr̥adhi from pr̥nák-ti 'mixes, mingles'. — Class XVII. Skr. kṛ-nu-hí Avest. ker'-nū-iđi beside indic. Skr. kṛ-nó-ti 'makes', Skr. dhṛṣ-nu-hí beside dhṛṣ-nó-ti 'dares'; cp. § 957 p. 497 f.

s-Aorist. avidđhi instead of regular avīđhi* (cp. I § 591 Rem. 1 p. 448), with indic. đviš-am from av- 'to favour, help'.

§ 961. Greek. Class I. ἴσθι 'be thou': Avest. zdī, see I § 593 p. 450, § 626 p. 470; also ἔσθι like pl. ἔστέ, see § 502 p. 66. φα-θί and φά-θι (on this double accentuation see § 958 p. 500) from φη-μι 'I say': cp. Skr. bha-hi § 495 p. 55. κλύ-θι: Skr. śru-dhí, cp. Περι-κλύμενο-ς § 498 p. 59. πῖ-θι 'drink thou' beside conj. (fut.) πίομαι § 914 p. 464. — Class III. ἴλα-θι 'be thou gracious' for σι-σλα-θι*, also ἴληθι on the type of Class XI; like the latter we find another, Hom. δίδο-θι.

Class X. γνῶ-θι 'learn thou, know'. τλῆ-θι 'endure thou'. βῆ-θι 'go thou' Lac. κά-βᾶσι (I § 495 p. 364). φάνη-θι 'appear thou', πορεύθῃ-τι 'start off' (I § 496 p. 364). Of this class we have further σιτῆ-θι Lac. ἄ-τῆσι (I § 566 p. 423), see § 495 p. 55. — Class XI. ἱλῆ-θι, see above, ἐμ-πίπληθι 'imply'.

Class XVII. ὄρνυ-θι from ὄρ-νῦ-σι 'arouses'.

Perfect. ἔ-στα-θι 'stand thou' beside indic. ἔ-στα-μεν. τέ-τλα-θι 'endure thou' beside τέ-τλα-μεν. πέπισθι 'trust thou' (Aesch. Eum. 599, MSS. πέπεισθι) beside πέ-ποιθ-α ἐ-πέ-πισθ-μεν. Of the same kind are ἔλλαθι κέκλυθι, which I placed in Class V (§ 557 p. 109).

§ 962. Balto-Slavonic. O.Lith. veizdi veizd 'see thou' (by this analogy vėizdmi instead of veid-mi*) O.C.Sl. viždi instead of vizdī*: cp. Skr. viddhi Gr. ἴσθι. O.Lith. dūdi dūd 'give thou' may be Idg. dō-dhi*, in which case it stands to dū-k as Gr. πῶ-θι to πῶ; O.C.Sl. daždī instead of da-dī* = dū-di Class I, or instead of dazdī* like Avest. dazdi, Class V. O.C.Sl. jaždī 'eat thou' instead of ēzdī*: cp. Skr. addhi. O.C.Sl. věždī instead of vėzdī* beside indic. vědě 'knows'. See I § 547 p. 400, IV § 949 p. 492.

C. The Forms with -tōd.

§ 963. These forms, for instance uit^s-tōd* from $\sqrt{\text{ueid-}}$ 'see, know', bhére-tōd* from $\sqrt{\text{bher-}}$ 'ferre', served originally for the 2nd and 3rd persons of all numbers, as their use in Sanskrit indicates. Thus -tōd was properly not a personal suffix at all; probably it was an affixt particle, the abl. sing. of the pronoun stem to-* 'this, that' (Skr. tād), used in the sense of 'from there, then' (III § 424 p. 348). This theory suits the use of the forms in Sanskrit and Latin, where they are chiefly employed when the command is not to be straightway carried out, but only after a particular point of time, or under certain circumstances. Take, for example, vānuspátir ádhi tva sthāsyati tāsya vittāt (Tāittirīya-Saṃhitā) 'the tree will fall on thee; beware of it'; tu velim saepe ad nos scribas; si rem nullam habebis, quod in buccam venerit scribito (Cic.). Greek also has often this manner of using it; but its use was much restricted by preference for the infinitival imperative.

The basis of this tōd-series is the imperative type described under (A), §§ 957 f., of which it may safely be assumed that it was not originally restricted to the 2nd singular, which it is most commonly used for: cp. Skr. kṛ-ṇu-tād Gr. σρορ-νύ-τω with kṛ-ṇu σρόρ-νύ, Lat. im-plē-tō with implē, Gr. ληνῆ-τω Lat. licē-tō with vidē, Skr. bhāra-tād Gr. γ+οῖ-τω Lat. vehi-tō with bhāra γέρε vehe.

Remark. The arguments urged against this view by Windisch do not convince me (Ber. sächs. Ges. der Wiss., 1889 pp. 21 ff.).

§ 964. Pr.Idg.

(1) Unthematic Forms. Stems with gradation have the Weak grade. Class I. Skr. vittād Gr. ἴστω beside Skr. ṛéd-mi and ṛéd-a from $\sqrt{\text{ueid-}}$ 'see, know' (§ 493 p. 52). Gr. ἔσ-τω Lat. es-tō beside ἔσ-ρι es-t; strong grade in the root as in ἔσ-ρὲ es-te etc. Gr. δά-τω Lat. da-tō beside ἔ-δο-μεν da-mus from $\sqrt{\text{dō-}}$. — Classes III and V. Skr. dha-t-tād Gr. τι-θῆ-τω from $\sqrt{dhē}$ 'place', Skr. da-t-tad Gr. δι-δό-τω from $\sqrt{dh}$ 'give'. — Class X. Gr. δοῦ-τω beside ἔ-δοῦ-ν 'I ran', σβή-τω beside ἔ-σβη-ν 'I quenched', γνώ-τω beside ἔ-γνώ-ν 'I learnt'. Lat. fla-tō beside flā-s, im-plēō beside im-plēs. — Class XII. Skr. pu-nī-tad beside pu-nā-ti 'purifies'. Gr. μιγ-ρά-τω beside μίγ-νῃ-μι 'I mix'. — Class XVII. κρ-ῆν-τad beside κρ-ῆ-τι 'makes'. Gr. ὀμ-νί-τω beside ὀμ-νῶ-σι 'swears'. — Perfect. Gr. με-μά-τω, Lat. me-men-tō beside Gr. μέ-μυν-α μέ-μα-μν Lat. me-min-i from $\sqrt{men-}$ 'think, devise'.

(2) Thematic Forms. Skr. vaha-tad Lat. vehi-tō beside Skr. vāha-ti 'vehit'. Skr. vōca-tad Gr. ἐπεί-τω beside ἀ-νῶ-α-τ Gr. ἐ-επ-ε (§ 561 p. 110). Skr. rākṣa-tad beside rākṣa-ti 'protects'. Skr. pātaya-tad beside pātāya-ti 'makes fly', cp. Gr. mid. πορεύομαι § 966; Gr. φορέ-τω φορέιτω from φορέω 'I carry about with me, wear'.

§ 965. Aryan. No examples occur in Iranian. Sanskrit examples are given in § 964.

The forms in Sanskrit are most commonly used for the 2nd person singular, but are also found as 3rd sing. and as 2nd plural.

Since vaha-tad as 2nd pl. was associated with vāha-ta 'vehite', a middle form vaha-dhvād was coined to complement vāha-dhvam (vārayadhvād in the Brahm. is the only form actually found). Compare Gr. φερέ-σθω § 966, Lat. fruuminō § 967.

§ 966. Greek. Further examples (see § 964). φά-τω from φῆ-μι 'I say'; ἵ-τω from ἔλ-μι 'I will go'. ἰέτω from ἵ-η-μι 'I send forth'. βλή-τω from ἔ-βλη-ν 'I received a missile, was struck', Lesb. τίμᾶ-τω from τίμᾶ-μι 'I honour'. ὠθῆ-τω from ὠθῆ-μι 'I press, oppress'. δαμ-νά-τω from δάμ-νῃ-μι 'I tame'. δείκ-νί-τω from δείκ-νῶ-μι 'I show'. δείξ-ά-τω from ἔ-δειξ-α 'I showed'. ἑ-στά-τω from ἑ-στα-μεν 'we stand'. ἀγέ-τω from ἄγω 'ago', τίμαστω τίμάτω from τίμάω -ᾶ 'I honour'.

On the analogy of act. φέρειτε: mid. φέρεσθε a middle φερέσθω was coined to complement φερέτω; this happened in proethnic Greek. Compare Skr. vārayadhvād § 965, Lat. fruiminō § 967.

In Greek, the forms with -τω and -σθω are regularly used for the 3rd singular. The active form is used as 2nd sing., with the additional suffix -s to make the person clear, in the word ἐλαττωσ ἀντὶ τοῦ ἐλαττέ. Σαλαμῖνιοι, a gloss given by Hesychius; cp. § 987. 1. The Corcyrean φερέσθω, 3rd plural, may be taken as evidence that once φερέτω could be used for the plural. But another explanation is possible; that the coincidence of διδόσθω 3rd sing. and διδόσθω = διδονσθω* 3rd pl. caused the 3rd sing. φερέσθω to be used for the plural too.

For the 3rd plural, different dialects made new forms on the basis of -τω and -σθω: φερέτω-ν φερέτω-σαν φερόντι (cp. Lat. feruntō) φερόντω-ν φερόντω-σαν and φερέσθω-ν φερέσθω-σαν φερόσθω φερόσθω-ν (for -ονσθω -ονσθω-ν, cp. I § 204 p. 171); see the collections of G. Meyer Gr. Gr.² pp. 498 ff. Two remarks must be made here. (1) The origin of φερέτω-ν φερόντω-ν φερέτω-σαν φερόντω-σαν is later than the change of -τω* to -τω (I § 652. 5 p. 498).¹⁾ (2) The forms with -ντ (-οντω -οντω-ν -οντωσαν), it may be conjectured, were not based directly upon the indicative bheronti ebheront (Att. φέρουσι ἔφερον), but on the imperative-injunctive form bheront* (cp. σχέ-ς φέρε-τε φέρε-τον φέρε-ο and 3rd pl. Skr. bhāran bhārant-u O.C.Sl. bađa § 909 pp. 457 f.).

The active and middle endings of the 3rd plural did not always correspond; thus Arcadian has act. -ντω mid. -(ν)σθων (ζᾱμύντω ἐπαλασάσθων). In this and similar cases the explanation is that it was attempted to distinguish the 3rd plural from the 3rd singular middle.

No certain explanation has been given for Lesb. 3rd pl. φέροντον φέρεσθον; see the Author, Gr. Gr.² 173, Windisch Ber. sächs. Ges. der Wiss. 1889 p. 20, O. Hoffmann Das Präsens der idg. Grundspr. 21. The medio-passive forms ιστάνθω and

1) So the identification of Goth. bairandan with Gr. φερόντων (Hirt, Idg. Forsch. I 208) is wrong.

ισάανθω, found in a late Boeotian and a late Phocian inscription, are re-formates instead of ισάασθω and ισάανθω by analogy of the active forms, made in order to clearly mark the 3rd plural.

§ 967. Italic. The forms in -tōd (Lat. -tōd -tō Umbr. -tu Osc. -tud) were used for the 2nd or 3rd singular.

Class I. Lat. fertō instead of for-tō* like 2nd pl. fer-te instead of for-te*; on Umbr. fertu fertu 'ferto' see § 505 p. 69. Lat. ei-tō itō Umbr. etu etu eetu instead of i-tōd*: Gr. ἱ-τω; cp. Lat. ei-te ī-te Pelign. ei-te instead of i-te = ī-re*. Umbr. futu futu 'esto': Gr. ῥέ-τω. Lat. es-tōd estō Osc. estud estud Volsc. estu: Gr. ἔσ-τω, see § 964.1 p. 505. — Class X. Lat. nē-tō, in-trātō. Lat. habē-tō Umbr. habetu habitu, Lat. licē-tōd licē-tō Osc. likītud licitud. Lat. portā-tō Umbr. portatu, Osc. deivatud 'iurato'. — Perfect. Lat. men-tō: Gr. με-μά-τω. — Thematic. Lat. agi-tōd Umbr. aitu aitu Osc. actud (I § 502 p. 368). Lat. sūmi-tō Umbr. sumtu. With Idg. i, Lat. faci-tō Osc. factud.

These forms with -tōd were made the basis of new formations like the Greek. Here, as in Greek, we find forms with a plural characteristic, and medio-passive forms parallel to the active.

(1) A 2nd plural was made in Latin by adding -te (fer-te), as fertō-te agitō-te, which should be compared with Gr. 3rd pl. ῥερέτω-ν ῥερέτω-σαν: first arose fertōtte* (cp. cette for ce-dite*), and the double consonant was then thinned because of the preceding long vowel. Again, a 3rd pl. with -nt- makes its appearance, e. g. feruntō, suntōd suntō; probably this form has a similar history to Gr. ῥερόντω; the Umbrian formation does not correspond, which makes it very unsafe to suppose that the type originated at a time when Greek and Italic were still united.

In Umbrian the 2nd and 3rd plural are made by affixing -tu -tō -ta (for -ta I § 105 p. 98) to *-tu = tōd: futu-to 'estote' etu-tu etu-to etu-ta 'eunto' fertu-ta 'ferunto' habetu-tu habitu-to 'habento'. This -tā may be either Lat. -te + some interjection (cp. ἔασον ὦ Ar. Lysistr. 350, καρολο-λὺξαρ' ὦ Aesch. Ag. 1118, dringā drinc Parsifal 220. 28), or an ending of the 2nd dual (cp. Lith. and O.C.Sl. -ta) which, like the dual ending -tis in Latin (§ 1013), got into the plural. First futu 'esto' had the 2nd pl. futu-to made for it, like Lat. agitō-te from agitō, and then since futu could be used for 3rd singular too, futu-to came to be used for the 3rd person (cp. O.C.Sl. 2nd sing. jaždī used also for 3rd sing. § 949 p. 492). Still, -tā, if it was a dual ending, may have been originally the ending of the 3rd person too (cp. O.C.Sl. -ta as 3rd dual, § 1040); in that case futu-to was originally a 3rd person form as well as a 2nd.

Remark. The ending -tā seems to all appearance to be used in its proper and original way in VI b 63 (= I b 21. 22) etato Iiocinur 'itate Iguvini', and this -tā medialised into -mā (cp. -mu(d) following -tu(d), below) might be seen in arśmahamo caterahamo Iovinur 'ordinamini centuriamini Iguvini' VI b 56 = I b 19. But I fear that it is only appearance. For in the first place this medialising would be very remarkable in itself; and secondly, it is natural to suppose that etato arśmahamo are shortened by dissimilation from etātū-tō* ('itate') arśmāmū-mō*, and that the latter has caused by analogy the shortening of caterāmū-mō* which follows it.

(2) Complementary to datōd datō dantō there were formed in Latin dator dantor, like damur beside damus. There also arose a 3rd sing. in -minō for the 2nd pl. in -minī (II § 71 p. 165), as fruininō fāminō profitēminō beside fruininī etc.

Corresponding to the latter formation Umbr. has persnimu persnihimu 'precamino, supplicato', and the relation of pl. habitu 'habento' and habitu 'habeto' suggested a plural persnihimumo 'pecantor, supplicanto'. On the 2nd pl. arśmahamo caterahamo, see the last Remark. Osc. censamur 'censemino, censetor' shows the mid.-pass. -r added to the mid.-pass. m-suffix. As regards the relation of the Umbr.-Osc. suffix -mo- to Lat. -mino-, see II § 72 p. 166.

II. SOME IMPERATIVE FORMS PECULIAR TO CERTAIN LANGUAGES.

§ 968. Aryan.

(1) The 2nd sing. mid. in pr. Ar. -sya. Skr. kṛ-ṣvā Avest. Gath. ker^e-ṣvā beside indic. 3rd pl. Skr. á-kr-ata from √qer 'make'. Skr. īr-ṣvā Avest. ar^e-ṣva beside indic. Skr. īr-tē from √er 'set in motion' (§ 497 p. 57). Skr. dhatsvā Avest. dasra for datsva* (I § 473. 2 p. 349) beside indic. Skr. dá-dha-ti from √dhē 'place'. Skr. jāni-ṣva (from √gen 'gignere') vási-ṣva (from √es 'clothe') like stani-hi (§ 960 p. 503). Skr. vāha-sva Avest. vaza-rouha beside Skr. vāha-ti 'vehit', Gath. gūša-hvā beside gūša-itē 'hears', O.Pers. pati-paya-uvā 'take care' (I § 558 p. 415).

It can hardly be doubted that this middle form is an extension of the Imperative discussed in §§ 957 f. by means of the reflexive pronoun (III § 438 p. 370 ff.). -sva is the form which in Greek is the accusative, ἐξέ.

(2) The 3rd sing. and pl. mid. in -ām.¹⁾ Skr. sing. kṛ-nu-tām pl. kṛ-nv-ātām from kṛ-nō-ti 'makes', sing. dhattām pl. dadh-ātām from dá-dha-ti 'places'. Skr. sing. bhāra-tām pl. bhāra-ntām from bhāra-ti 'fert', Avest. sing. ver^ezya-tām from ver^ezye-iti 'works', pl. jase-ntām (Skr. gácha-ntām) from jasa-iti 'goes', O.Pers. sing. varnava-tām beside Avest. ver^e-nav-a-itē 'believes' (§ 649 p. 185).

The ending of these forms is connected with that of the Skr. 3rd sing. imper. mid. duh-ām vid-ām śay-ām and the 3rd pl. imper. mid. duhr-ām, which again can hardly be treated apart from the form vidām which is contained in vidā cakāra (§ 896 p. 445); thus we are drawn to see in them verbal nouns

1) -ām is also seen in Avest. ūcam 'should be proclaimed'. Since in Skr. -ām is found only with verbs whose 3rd sing. indic. shows the ending -ē beside -tē, it is natural to assume (as my pupil Mr. E. Kleinhaus has pointed out to me) that, say, duhām beside duhē is due to the analogy of dugdhām beside dugdhē. duhrē would then have suggested the 3rd pl. duhrām (§ 1078.)

used with the imperative meaning. Then e. g. bháratām bhárantām may be a transformation of the injunctive bhárata bháranta, completed in proethnic Aryan, on the analogy of duhām etc. And, as we have seen already (§ 909 p. 458), the corresponding active forms bhárat-u bhárant-u are also based upon the Injunctive.

In Avestic -tām passed over to the Optative, as d-yā-tām from dhā- 'to place' (Bartholomae, Ar. Forsch. II 63 ff.).

§ 969. Greek.

(1) The 2nd sing. act. of the s-aorist in -σον, as δειξον from δειξα 'I showed'. The Syracusan dialect has -ον in the thematic aorist as well: λάβον (not as Attic, λαβέ). Its origin is obscure.

(2) Among the possible explanations of the 2nd sing. mid. of the s-aorist, as δείξαι λέξαι, two in particular deserve attention. (a) λέξαι ('lay thyself') may be the 2nd sing. mid. λεκ-σ-σαι*, connected with λέκτο for λεκ-σ-το* (§ 820 p. 357), and its primary personal ending may be compared with Ved. 2nd sing. act. वे-षि 'come here' and like forms (§ 910 Rem. p. 459 f.). λέξαι would be to the injunctive λέξο, i. e. λεκ-σ-σο* (also used for imperative), as Skr. prā-si 'fill thou' to the imper. injunct. prā-s. But since in the speaker's thought λέξο was associated with the system λέκτο λέχθαι etc., λέξαι because of its α was supposed to go with the α-forms ἐλεξάμην ἐλέξατο etc. (b) The other possibility is that this imperative was a Present form, that e. g. ἴσσαι (√sed- 'sedere') was the middle to the Skr. imper. sūt-si 'place thyself, sit', and ᾠοοξαι the 2nd sing. to Skr. mṛṣ-té. Association of these with the s-aorist was easy when they were so completely isolated. Perhaps — there is nothing to prevent this either — forms of both kinds have been united to form our Aorist Imperative.

§ 970. Germanic. Unexplained forms: Goth. at-steigadau 'καταβάτω', láusjadau 'ῥυσάσθω', and liugandau 'γαμησάτωσαν'. The explanations offered for these may be seen collected by verb. Thus a connexion with ancient personal pronouns is in fact possible for the followings endings: in the 1st sing. -m -mi, cp. Skr. mā Gr. μὲ (III § 434. 2 p. 365); in the 1st dual Skr. -vas -va, cp. Skr. vām Goth. vi-t Lith. vè-du (III § 436. 1 p. 367, § 457 p. 396); in the 3rd sing. -t -ti, cp. Skr. tā-m Gr. τὸ-ν (III § 409 p. 327).

SIGNS OF THE PERSONS, AND OF MIDDLE AND PASSIVE VOICE.¹⁾

§ 971. The Personal endings served in the original language a double purpose: to distinguish Persons, and to distinguish the Active from the Middle or Passive Voice.

It is not necessary that given forms shall originally have had the meaning which they actually convey in any language. Just as the Lat. -minī in sequiminī even in proethnic Italic was anything but a personal ending (see II § 71 p. 165), so many others which now do duty for personal endings may have had very different meanings originally. There is the highest probability in favour of what has been said in § 956 p. 496 f. regarding certain imperative suffixes. And again, it is hardly possible to deny a connexion between the endings -nt -nti -nto etc. of the 3rd plural and the participial suffix -nt- (II § 125 pp. 394 ff., and IV p. 50 footnote 1).

§ 972. The etymological connexion of Middle and Active ending is quite obscure. What, for instance, is the connexion between 3rd sing. mid. Gr. -tau and 3rd sing. act. -ti?

Remark. It is probable a priori that the Active endings as a class are the oldest. For these characterise an action simply, without the secondary meanings which the Middle Forms convey over and above those of the Active. On this principle we may regard the -medhai* or -medhəi* of the 1st plural as an extension of the act. -me*. -so* -to* -nto* are doubtless extensions of the active -s* -t* -nt*, and if a particle i were added to these, the former would become -sai* -tai* -ntai* or -səi* -təi* -ntəi*, the latter -si* -ti* -nti*. But in the 2nd pl. the middle Skr. -dhve -dhvam are obviously to be kept quite apart from the active -tha -ta. And who is to prove that -sai* -tai* did not become -si* -ti* by loss of accent, and -so* -to* become -s* -t* in the same way? This explanation is actually suggested by Begemann, Zur Bedeutung des schwachen Präteritums der german. Sprachen, p. 188, and Osthoff, Morph. Unt. iv 282.

For the Passive Voice there were originally no special and characteristic endings in the Indo-Germanic languages. All so-called passive forms in the verb finite are either middle or active.

§ 973. Each person, both Active and Middle, had in the parent language at least two endings.

Sometimes there is no possibility of tracing any connexion between these different endings, as between -ti and -e in the 3rd sing. active (Skr. pres. ás-ti and perf. ás-a). In particular, there were a number of special endings in the Perfect Indicative, whose origin, it would appear, was quite distinct from that of the endings in the other tenses and moods.

But the rest are obviously variant forms of the same thing. This is true of -mi and -m in the 1st sing. active, of -tai or -təi and -to in the 3rd sing. middle. The -i which distinguishes the active endings 1st sing. -mi 2nd sing. -si 3rd sing. -ti 3rd pl. -nti from -m -s -t -nt in the same persons, may, I suggest, be an affixt particle (perhaps implying present time). The same -i, forming a diphthong with a preceding -a-vowel, is seen in the middle endings 1st sing. -ai or -əi (Skr. perf. tutud-ē) and

-ōḷi (Skr. conj. kṛ-nāv-āi), 2nd sing. -sai or -sai, 3rd sing. -tai or -tāi, 1st pl. -medhai or -medhāi, 3rd pl. -ntai or -ntāi beside 1st sing. -a (Skr. pret. á-dviṣ-i) and -o (Skr. opt. dviṣiy-ā), 2nd sing. -so, 3rd sing. -to, 1st pl. -medhā (Skr. -mahi Gr. -μεθα), 3rd pl. -nto. Other differences distinguish the endings of the 1st pl. act. Skr. -mas (-masi) and -ma, the endings of the 2nd and 3rd dual act. Skr. -thas -tas and -tam -tām, and so forth.

§ 974. Leaving aside the endings peculiar to the Indic. Perf. Act., the other personal endings are divided into Primary and Secondary; the 3rd sing. for instance has primary endings -ti active and -tai (-tāi) middle, and secondary -t active and -to middle.

The Primary endings belong to the Indic. Pres. Active and Middle (Skr. dāda-ti dat-tē), and include the ṣi-future (Skr. dāsyā-ti -tē), and the Indic. Perf. Middle (Skr. dad-ē). But forms with a secondary ending (Injunctive) could also serve as indic. present, see § 909 p. 457.

The Secondary endings belong to the augmented Indic. Active and Middle (Skr. á-da-t á-di-ta, á-dadā-t á-dat-ta etc.), to the series which has such wide and varied use, the Injunctive Active and Middle (Skr. dā-t di-tā etc.), and to the Optative Active and Middle (Skr. dadyā-t dadī-tā etc.)

The Conjunctive varies, and takes both kinds.

Remark. Some light may be had from Irish syntax to explain why the Augment required secondary endings. The augment was an independent adverb (§ 477 pp. 24 f.); and we find in Irish double forms, one for Conjunct and one for Absolute use, e. g. 3rd sing. do-beir for *-bere-t (secondary ending) and berid for *bere-ti (primary). Probably the Irish usage in some degree reflects that of prosthetic times, and we should suppose that in the parent language, while bhère-ti would be used alone, such a form as *pró bhère-t would be used when the verb was coupled with a prefix. On this supposition, Skr. prá bhavati is due to the analogy of independent bhāvati, and vice versa Lat. vélis to that of the compounds, as dā-rehīs. But this kind of variation cannot be assumed for all tenses and moods in the parent language (of course the perfect indicative active is always excepted). It certainly was not found in the optative, which in the existing languages always shows secondary personal endings. And notwithstanding Skr. 2nd sing. imper. vé-ṣi and Gr. λίξαι (§ 910 Rem. p. 459 f.), we must not venture to allow it for imperative expressions.

§ 975. Amongst the suffixes of persons, r has a place to itself. It is found sometimes alone as a personal ending (as Skr. 3rd pl. cakr-úr), sometimes in conjunction with others (as Skr. 3rd pl. pres. duh-r-atē Lat. 3rd pl. sequo-ntu-r). As Italic and Keltic have it in almost all persons, and as the forms which contain it must be treated together, a special chapter will be given to it after the other endings have been discussed (§§ 1076 ff.).

ACTIVE ENDINGS.

1ST PERSON SINGULAR.

§ 976. Proethnic Indo-Germanic.

(1) -mi, Primary Ending for Unthematic Stems. és-mi* 'I am': Skr. ásmi Arm. em Gr. εἰμι Alban. jam (for em* esmi*, § 493 p. 52) Goth. im Lith. esmì O.C.Sl. jesmǐ. Skr. dáda-mi Gr. δίδω-μι 'I give'. Skr. śy-ñá-mi 'I break to pieces' Armen. bar-na-m 'I lift' Gr. δάμ-νῃ-μι 'I tame' O.Ir. glenim 'I remain hanging' (for gli-na-mi*) O.H.G. gi-nō-m 'I gape'. Most languages came indepently to use this ending with Thematic stems: Skr. bhārāmi Armen. berem O.Ir. berim 'fero' O.H.G. uiridon 'I become' Serv. nesem 'I bear'.

(2) -ō, the Primary Ending for Thematic Stems. bherō* 'fero': Avest. Gath. ufyā 'I weave, extol' Gr. φέρω Lat. ferō O.Ir. as-biur 'effero, dico' Goth. batra Lith. vežù 'veho'. Future Avest. Gath. vax-šyā 'I will speak' Lith. dǎ'-siu 'dabo'. Conjunctive es-ō* from indic. es-mi*: Avest. Gath. aṇhā Skr. bráv-a 'dicam' Gr. ἔω ᾧ Lat. (fut.) erō. -ō also in the Greek long-vowel Conjunctive, as φέρω (pl. φέρω-μεν φέρη-τε), and the Aryan -ā seems to be identical in the forms Skr. árca (3rd sing. árc-a-ti) Avest. Gath. per'sā (3rd sing. per's-a-iti), see § 918 Rem. p. 466.

(3) -m (after sonants) and -m (after consonants) Secondary Ending for any Stem. bhéro-m*: Skr. á-bhara-m Gr. ἔ-γερο-ν Lat. su-m O.C.Sl. nesǔ 'bore'. Conj. Lat. fera-m O.Ir. do-ber

O.C.Sl. bera (§ 929 p. 474). Skr. á-yā-m 'I went' Gr. ἔ-δῶ-ν 'I ran' Lat. era-m O.Ir. ba 'fui' Goth. i-ddja 'I went'. Opt. s-(i)ē-m* 'sim': Skr. syā-m Gr. εἴ-ν-ν Lat. sie-m si-m. ēs-m* 'eram' (before sonants also ēs-mm*): Skr. ás-am Gr. ἦ-α. s-Aorist Skr. á-cāiṣ-am Gr. ἔ-ρεῖσ-α from ✓qeḷ- 'pay a penalty, etc.'. Opt. bheroj-m*: Skr. bhárēy-am.

(4) -a in the indic. perf. uoid-a* 'I know': Skr. véd-a (Gr. οἶδ-α O.Ir. ro cechan 'ceciní' Goth. vát).

§ 977. Aryan. (1) -mi. Skr. ás-mi Avest. ah-mi O.Pers. amīy. Skr. dádha-mi 'I place' Avest. dadā-mi. Skr. kr-ñō-mi 'I make' Avest. ker-nao-mi.

(2) The ending -ā = Idg. -ō is regular in the Gatha dialect of Avestic for the indic. present, as spasyā 'conspicio, I watch' (Bartholomae, Kuhn's Zeitschr. xxix 271 ff.). Independently both Sanskrit and later Avestic adopted the re-formation with -mi (§ 976. 1); as Skr. bhārami dāsyāmi late Avest. barāmi O.Pers. dārayāmīy (Skr. dhārāyāmi). The reason for this innovation was that there were often parallel forms, one thematic and the other unthematic, as Skr. dā-dhā-ti and dā-dh-a-ti, Avest. da-dā-iti and da-p-a-iti, and it was a recommendation for -mi with the thematic stem that by this the number of syllables became the same in all persons of the singular. Another thing which may have had some influence is that in the 1st sing. mid. indic. pres. of both classes the same ending (-aḡ) was used from the proethnic Aryan period.

(3) The short-vowel (or thematic) conjugation and the long-vowel both show the endings -ā and -āni side by side; the former was proethnic Idg. (§ 976. 2 p. 517): Skr. Ved. bravā Ved. and class. brāvāni (3rd sing. brāv-a-t) Avest. mrava mrāvāni (3rd sing. Gath. mrav-a-iti) beside indic. Skr. brāv-i-ti 'speaks' 1st pl. brū-mās; Skr. Ved. vōca (Gr. (f)εινω) Ved. and class. vōcāni (3rd sing. vōc-a-ti) beside indic. á-vōc-a-t (Gr. ἔ-(f)ειπε) from vac- 'to speak', Avest. per'sā (3rd sing. per's-a-iti) beside indic. per's-a-iti 'asks', azāni beside indic. az-a-iti 'agit'.

The origin of -ni is obscure. Perhaps we should connect it with the Ar. -na of Avest. 2nd sing. bara-nā and the ending of the 2nd pl. -than-a -ta-na (§ 600 p. 143, § 1010).¹⁾

(4) -m. Skr. á-bhara-m Avest. barem O.Pers. abaram. Skr. á-dadhā-m Avest. dadā-m. Optative Skr. dadh-yā-m Avest. daiđya-m.

(5) -m appears in Aryan regularly as -am, which we may consider the ante-sonant form (-mm). See I § 231 Rem. p. 196. -am seems to have been helped in beating -a* = Gr. -a out of the field by various causes: in Skr. á-han-am and other such by the existence of thematic and unthematic variants together (cp. á-han-a-t § 498 p. 58); in ás-am ád-am by a wish to distinguish these from the perfect (ás-a ád-a); in the optative bhárēy-am, by a wish to distinguish active and middle (bharēy-a). Skr. á-brav-am Avest. mraom i. e. mrav-em 'I spoke'; Skr. ás-am O.Pers. ah-am 'eram'. Avest. diđaem i. e. diđay-em beside di-đae-iti 'sees'. Skr. á-kṣār-ṣ-am (Gr. ῥ-κῥαισ-α) from kṣar- 'to flow, pass away'. Optative Skr. bhárēy-am (not found in Iranian).

(6) -a in the Perfect. Skr. véd-a Avest. Gath. vaēd-a 'I know': Gr. oīda. On Skr. dadhāu see § 852 p. 402 f.

§ 978. Armenian. Perfect -a not found.

(1) -m = Idg. -mi. em 'I am' for es-mi* § 501 p. 63. mna-m 'I remain, wait for' jana-m 'I take pains' § 581 p. 122. ba-na-m 'I open' § 601 p. 144. jeṛ-nu-m 'I warm myself' § 642 p. 180.

This -m spread to the Thematic stems (§ 976. 1), as berem 'fero'; e before the -m comes from the 2nd and 3rd singular (as in Serv. nesem, § 983), partly from the analogy of em. The same innovation is seen in the 3rd pl. beren, § 1019.

(2) The history of Idg. -m and -m is not clear. The ending -m is believed to occur in e. g. etu 'I gave' edi 'I placed' beri 'I bore'. Compare Bartholomae, Stud. Idg. Spr. II 36 f.; Bugge, Kuhn's Zeitschr. xxxii 75.

1) What Mahlow suggests and Wiedemann approves (Lang. Voc. 162, Lit. Prät. 160) does not convince me in the least.

§ 979. Greek.

(1) -μι. εἶμι 'I go': Skr. é-mi. ἄη-μι 'I blow': Skr. vá-mi. Lesb. τίμα-μι 'I honour': cp. Armen. jana-m O.H.G. salbō-m.

(2) -ω. ἄγω: Lat. agō. Conjunctive εἰδέω -ῶ 'sciam': Lat. vīderō. Conj. φέρω 'feram': cp. Skr. Ved. árcā. In Homer the Conjunctive is extended by -μι, a re-formation: πτείνω-μι with indic. ἔκτεινα, ἐθέλω-μι indic. ἐθέλω, cp. ἐθέλλω § 987 and ἐθέλλω-σι § 995.

(3) -ν for -m. ἤγο-ν: Skr. dja-m. ἐ-τίθη-ν: Skr. dadadha-m. Optative θείη-ν τίθει-ν: Skr. dadh-yá-m.

-α for -η. Aorist ἔχε(F)-α 'I poured', ἔδειξ-α 'I showed'. The opt. form *φερο(ι)-α which Skr. bhárēya-m leads as to expect, is lacking. In its stead we find φέροι-μι, which is undoubtedly a re-formation (-οιμι: -οις like τίθημι: τίθης), and one or two cases in Attic of φέρουν, which stands to Skr. bhárāya-m as ἔφϋ-ν to á-bhūv-am.

(4) -α = Idg. -a in the Perfect. δέδορξ-α 'I have seen': Skr. dadárś-a.

§ 980. Italic. -mi and -a (Perfect) are not found.

(1) -ō. Lat. agō: Gr. ἄγω; Umbr. sestu 'sisto'. Lat. plantō for -a-(i)ō, Umbr. subocauu sobocau 'adoro' (-uu and -u = -ō)). Conj. (fut.) Lat. er-ō: Avest. Gath. aṇh-a; cp. § 918 Rem. p. 466.

(2) -m. Lat. Osc. s-u-m § 528 p. 91; add Osc. manafum, if it means 'mandavi', see § 874 p. 423. Lat. amā-bam: O.Ir. ba. Conj. Lat. ag-a-m. Opt. Lat. s-ie-m sim. -η seems to be lost.

§ 981. Keltic.

(1) -m aus -mi. O.Ir. cre-nim 'I buy' Mod.Cymr. pry-na-f for *-na-mi § 604 p. 145. scaraim 'I separate, separate myself' for *scarā-mi, caram 'I love' for *carā-mi § 584 p. 125.

1) As the Umbr. inf. stiplo(m) 'stipulari' etc. shows the group āo contracted in unaccented syllables (§ 1094. 7), it apparently follows that subocau is a new form instead of subocō* by analogy of stahu 'sto' and the like.

Forms like lēcim (beside -lēciu) and berim (beside -biur) are re-formed on the model of the verbs in -mi above mentioned. Compare § 976. 1.

Why is -m constantly doubled in Irish, thus shewing that the nasal was not spirant (mh) as in Cymric? This is no effect of the analogy of the Irish representative of Idg. es-mi* 'I am' (with mm for sm); because am (never written amm) has no claim to be considered such (see § 506 p. 72). "Can it be true after all that Irish -ām- when following the accent became -amm-?" (Thurneysen.)

(2) Idg. -ō. biu 'I am': Lat. fīō. no guidiu 'I beg'. -biur 'I bear': Lat. ferō. no charub 'I will love': cp. Lat. amā-bō. See I § 90 p. 85.

(3) Idg. -m. ba 'fui' for bhū-ā-m*: Lat. amā-bam (§ 584 p. 125). Conj. -ber 'feram' for bherā-m*; the absolute form bera is analogical, and no ground-form can be inferred for it.

Idg. -m seems to be quite lost.

(4) Idg. -a in the Perfect. ro sešlach 'I struck down' for se-slag-a*: cp. Goth. slōh.

§ 982. Germanic.

(1) Idg. -mi is common in West Germanic. Goth. im O.H.G. b-im b-in 'I am' for es-mi* (§ 507 p. 73). O.H.G. sestō-m 'sisto, I arrange' (§ 545 p. 103), salbō-m 'I anoint' (§ 585 p. 126), habē-m 'I have' (§ 592 p. 133), stā-m 'I stand' (§ 708 p. 240), ginō-m gei-nō-m 'I gape' (§ 605 p. 146).

Goth. salbō doubtless has not the secondary Idg. -m, but gets its ending from salbō-m -nd by analogy of batra: batra-m -nd. On Goth. haba see § 708 p. 238 f.

(2) Idg. -ō. Goth. batra O.H.G. biru 'fero' O.Icel. heito-mk 'I call myself', Goth. nasja O.H.G. neriu nerru 'I save'; on forms like O.H.G. hilfu see I § 661. 2 p. 517. In High German dialects, especially Rhine Frankish, the -n of verbs in -mi has been spreading to the thematic class since the 11th century; e. g. wirdon gihun instead of wirdo gihu, and so too O.Low Fr. wirthon (cp. § 976. 1).

(3) Idg. -m. Goth. i-ddja 'I went': Skr. á-yam; Goth. nasida O.H.G. nerita 'I rescued' Norse Run. tawido 'I made'. No trace is left of -un* = -m; it must have been once used in the opt. Goth. bairau; the origin of this form (O.Icel. bera) is very uncertain, see § 928 p. 474.

(4) Idg. -a in the Perfect. Goth. vát O.H.G. weiẏ 'I know': Skr. véd-a Gr. oîd-a.

§ 983. Balto-Slavonic. -a (Perfect) is wanting.

(1) -mi. Lith. es-mì O.C.Sl. jes-mĩ 'I am': on Lith. es-mì see § 510 p. 75. O.C.Sl. ima-mĩ 'I have' (§ 586 p. 127); reformation with -mĩ, bi-mĩ etc., see § 727 p. 257.

It is true the Lith. reflexive ending -mẽ-si (dũmẽ-si, velmẽ-s § 511 p. 76) contains the middle ending -mẽ = Gr. *-μα*¹ (cp. Pruss. asmaĩ),¹ and by I § 664.3 p. 523 it follows that -mẽ becomes -mĩ. Still it does not follow that -mi must always come from -mẽ; active and middle endings must have existed side by side, and only in the si-reflexive was -mẽ made regular on the strength of 1st sing. -ũ-s : -ũ, 1st pl. -mẽ-s : -me. Compare § 991 on dũsi : dũsẽ-s.

In Servian -m(ĩ) runs through all conjugations: first, beginning with the 13th century, -a-m, as čuva-m 'I protect' (cp. O.C.Sl. ima-mĩ); then -i-m, as hvali-m 'I praise' (cp. O.C.Sl. bi-mĩ); lastly -e-m, as nese-m 'I bear', which should be compared with Armen. bere-m (§ 978 p. 519), only moġu 'I can' and hoću 'I wish' kept fast to the old ending. The same is true of Slovenian.

(2) Idg. -ō only in Baltic; Lith. sukũ 'I turn' sukũ-s(i) 'I turn myself' (I § 664.3 p. 523), dũ'siu 'dabo'. On the spread of -u to stems in orig. -ā and ē, as Andau, see § 586 p. 127, § 593 p. 133 f., § 991.1.

(3) Idg. -m only in Slavonic. O.C.Sl. vezũ 'I transported' for -o-m: Skr. vāha-m, da-ch-ũ 'I gave' (§ 833 p. 370). Con-

1) No help can be got from O.C.Sl. -mi instead of -mĩ, which some might be inclined to regard as another instance of middle ending. Miklosich cites it as a very rare variant (Vergl. Gr. III² 63).

junctive veza = Lat. veha-m as indic. pres., see § 929 p. 474.
Idg. -m is quite gone.

2ND PERSON SINGULAR.

§ 984. Proethnic Indo-Germanic. On the imperative -dhi, and imperatives without any personal ending like Skr. bhāra, which we here disregard, see §§ 957 ff. pp. 497 ff.

(1) -si, Primary ending. ei-si* 'is': Skr. é-ṣi Gr. ἐῖ for ei-(n)ῑ*. Skr. bhāra-si O.Ir. beri for bere-(s)i* Goth. bairi-s 'fers'. Conj. Skr. bhār-ā-si. O.Ir. cari 'amas' for carā-(s)i*, Goth. salbō-s 'thou anointest'.

From √es- 'esse' two forms. 1. esi*: Skr. ási Gr. ἐῖ for i-(n)ῑ* Alban. jē for e(s)i* (G. Meyer, M. Hertz zum 70. Geburtstag, 1888, pp. 86 f.). 2. es-si*: Armen. es Gr. Hom. ἐσ-σι: On the relation of the two Idg. forms, see III § 356 Rem. p. 258. On Goth. is see § 990.1; on Lith. esi O.C.Sl. jesi, § 991.

(2) -s, Secondary ending. e-stā-s* from √sta- 'stare': Skr. á-sthā-s Gr. ἐ-σθη-ς; Skr. á-yā-s Goth. i-ddjē-s 'wentest'. bhēre-s*: Skr. á-bhara-s Gr. φείρε-ς ἰ-φείρε-ς Lat. ag-i-s O.Ir. do-bir O.C.Sl. veze; Goth. ōg-s 'fear thou'. Opt. bheroῖ-s*: Skr. bhārē-ṣ Gr. φείροι-ς Goth. bairái-s Pruss. imai-s 'take thou' O.C.Sl. beri; s-(i)jē-s*: Skr. syā-s Gr. εἶη-ς Lat. siē-s sī-s Goth. vitei-s 'scias'.

(3) -tha in the ind. perf.: Skr. vēt-tha Gr. οἶσθα 'knowest', O.H.G. gi-tars-t 'darest'.

§ 985. Aryan.

(1) -si. Skr. vák-ṣi Avest. vaši beside 3rd sing. Skr. váṣ-ṭi Avest. vaš-ti 'desires'. Skr. dādha-si 'placest', Avest. daḍa-hi. Skr. bhāra-si Avest. bara-hi. Conj. Skr. bhārā-si, Avest. barā-hi (also barāi with h dropt) O.Pers. vainā-hy 'videas'. Imperative Skr. sāt-si 'place thyself, sit' see § 910 Rem. p. 459 f.

Skr. ási Avest. ahi Goth. ahy 'thou art', see § 984.1.

(2) -s. Skr. dhā-s á-dhā-s Avest. dā from √dhē- 'to place', Skr. ákar for a-kar-ṣ* 'madest', Avest. var'š 'didst work' ground-form uerk-s*, sas 'didst say' ground-form kens-s* (§ 493

p. 52). Skr. á-dadhā-s Avest. daddā. s-Aorist Skr. ájaiṣ for á-jaiṣ-ṣ*, íchān for a-chānt-s-s* see § 816 p. 354. Skr. bhāra-s á-bhara-s Avest. barō O.Pers. gaudaya 'didst hide' (I § 558.4 p. 415). Conj. Skr. ás-a-s Avest. an̥h-ō, Skr. bhár-a-s Avest. bar-ā. Opt. Skr. bhárē-ṣ Avest. barōi-š, Skr. dadhýā-s Avest. daipyā.

(3) -tha in the Perfect. Skr. véttha Avest. Gath. vōistā (I § 475 p. 351), Skr. dadhā-tha Avest. Gath. dada-pa.

§ 986. Armenian. es 'art': Gr. ἐσ-σι. Hence beres 'fers', like berem following em (§ 978 p. 519).

Remark. The ending -r found in many tenses and moods Bugge thinks he can explain as -s + particle ra* = Gr. ἐσ, e. g. aor. ar-ar-er (pres. ar-ne-m 'I make') = Gr. ἤρ-αρ-ἐ-ς ἐα (Beitr. zur etym. Erläut. der arm. Spr., Christiania 1889 pp. 44 ff.). This particle he sees in the ending of the 3rd sing. imperf., as berēr alair toloir. However, it is not found elsewhere in Armenian.

§ 987. Greek.

(1) -si. Only left in Hom. and Syrac. ἐσ-σι 'thou art', with a variant εἰ for ἐ(σ)ι*, and in εἰ 'wilt go' for εἰ(σ)ι*. When the secondary ending -ς was added to these forms on the analogy of φη-ς 'sayest' and the like, arose the Hom. and Herod. εἰ-ς or εἰ̃-ς 'thou art' and Hesiod's εἰ-ς 'thou wilt go'; in the same way was produced 2nd sing. ἐλθεις, § 966 p. 507.

φέρεις 'fers' either for φερε(σ)ι* = Skr. bhāra-si with secondary -ς added (see the Author's Gr. Gr.² p. 145, and Fay in the Amer. Journ. Phil. xi 219 f.); or for Idg. bherēi-s* (by I § 611 p. 461), a form like Skr. áj-ai-ṣ (see footnote to page 61). The latter view, on which φέρεις is really injunctive, is to my mind likelier, because it explains at the same time the 3rd sing. φέρει in the simplest way (§ 995). The conjunctive φέρης sprang up by the side of φέρεις because of the existence of φέρητε beside φέρετε.

(2) -s. ἐβλη-ς: Skr. á-gla-s (§ 587 p. 127). ἐτιθη-ς: Skr. á-dadhā-s. ἤγε-ς: Skr. áj-a-s. Opt. φέροι-ς εἶη-ς. Observe the injunctive forms with indicative present use, Dor. Cypr. φέρει-ς Att. φί-ς τίθη-ς Lesb. φίλη-ς etc., § 909 p. 457.

(3) -tha in the Perfect. Only two original forms are left: — οἶσθα: Skr. vētttha 'knowest' and ἦσ-θα from ἐσ- 'to be'. The latter, which was afterwards used as imperfect (§ 858 p. 407), was the origin of many analogical forms, for instance ἐφησθα ἤμισθα τιθησθα conj. ἐθέλῃσθα opt. βάλοισθα εἴησθα. οἶσθα-ς ἦσθα-ς are of very doubtful authority before the Alexandrian age; οἶσθα-ς occurs in Herodas II 55. In the indic. perf. -a-ς was usual instead of -θα, e. g. τέτροφ-α-ς, also οἶδα-ς beside οἶσθα; this ending came from the aorist, and was recommended by the ease with which it could be added to consonant stems (§ 844 p. 386).

§ 988. Italic.

(1) -si cannot be traced. But since in the 3rd sing. -tī* seems very early to have become -t (§ 996), nothing prevents our deriving Lat. es 'art' and ēs 'eatest' from essi* and ētsi*.

(2) -s. Lat. vī-s (§ 505 p. 69), vel for vel-s* (loc. cit.); but in fer-s the -s is due to analogy. nā-s nē-s plantā-s vidē-s, amā-bās. agi-s farci-s, Umbr. heris heri heri 'vis, vel' (p. 68 footnote, and § 715 p. 248). Conjunctive Lat. er-i-s vider-i-s, ag-a-s ag-ē-s. Optative Lat. siē-s sī-s, Umbr. sir 'si sei 'sis'.

(3) Idg. -tha in the Perfect. Lat. vīdis-ti (inscr. also -tei) got its -ī either from the 1st sing. with the middle suffix -ī; or else the middle ending existed in Italic in the 2nd person too (-sī* for pr. Lat. -saī*) and -tī got its -ī from this, in the same way as -ši in O.C.Sl. beresi is a mixture of active Idg. -si* and middle Idg. -saī* or -sai* (§ 991).

§ 989. Keltic. -tha (Perfect) is lost. The ending of cechan 'cecinisti' is obscure.

(1) -si. O.Ir. beri 'fers' for bere-si* (I § 576 p. 431).

(2) -s. Injunct. comēir 'get up' for cóm-ecs-rec-s-s* (§ 826 p. 363) -bir 'fers' for bere-s* (I § 576 p. 431, § 657.5 p. 508).

In the a-conjunctive, berae bere and do-berae -e for a supposed berasi*; remember that even in the indicative the primary -i kept on intruding more and more into the conjunct flexion: only a few verbs, as -bir, kept clear of it.

§ 990. Germanic.

(1) -si. O.Icel. ber-r = pr. Germ. biri-zi*, O.H.G. biris = pr. Germ. biri-si*; similarly O.Icel. tem-r 'tamest' kalla-r 'callest' pr. Germ. -zi*, O.H.G. zemi-s salbō-s pr. Germ. -si*. Whether Goth. batri-s gatamji-s salbō-s have -zi* or -si* cannot be made out, as both pr. Goth. -z(i) and -s(i) must needs become -s (I § 660.5 p. 516). The breathed -s in West Germanic is thus explained: — in O.H.G. tuos gā-s, in O.H.G. and A.S. bis (ground-form bhy-i-si*, with i dropt on the analogy of forms like tuos biris, cp. I § 661 pp. 516 ff.), and in the present of Class II B (§ 532 p. 93), the vowel before s had the word-accent. Still the breathed s would probably not have become general even so, but that the pronoun þū* 'thou' so often adhered to the verb form, as in O.H.G. biristu, see I § 661 Rem. p. 519. Compare pr. Germ. -þi and -ði in the 3rd singular, § 998.

Whether Goth. is 'thou art' be Idg. esi* or essi* is not clear (§ 984. 1).

(2) -s: Goth. pr. Norse -z, pr.W.Germ. -z and -s. Goth. gatamidēs O.Icel. tamðer O.H.G. zemitōs A.S. temedes. O.H.G. zigi pret. 'thou didst accuse': Skr. á-diṣ-a-s § 893 p. 441, nī curi 'noli' § 909 p. 458. Goth. conj. ōg-s ('fear thou') § 917 p. 465. Opt. Goth. bairái-s O.H.G. berē-s A.S. bere; O.H.G. sī-s 'mightst be', Goth. bitei-s O.H.G. bizzi-s A.S. bite 'mightst bite', see § 893 p. 441. The constant use of affixt þū* 'thou' partly caused the secondary ending to be kept in West Germanic.

The O.H.G. compounds biris-tu tuos-tu (see under 1.) zemitōs-tu sīs-tu bizzis-tu were misunderstood, and in the 9th century people began to regard them as birist + du (thū) and so forth. This was due to kanst beside kanstu. Some part of this mistake is due to bist, which got its t earlier from the preterite-presents. In the same way we explain A.S. bireset beside bires, and the like.

(3) Idg. -tha in the Perfect. Goth. las-t 'thou didst pick' (pres. lisa) slōh-t 'didst strike' (pres. slaha) O.H.G. gi-tarst

'darest' (1st sing. gi-tar). By their analogy Goth. váist O.H.G. weist 'knowest' (1st sing. váit weiz), Goth. qast 'didst say' (pres. qiþa) with st instead of regular ss. Further, Goth. bar-t 'didst bear' skal-t A.S. scealt 'shalt' instead of bar-þ* etc. See I § 553 p. 406. The sole example of pr. Germ. -þa = -tha is A.S. pres. ear-ð ar-ð 'art', which must therefore be a transformat of pres. mid. ar-þēs* = Skr. ir-thās (§ 509 p. 75).

In West-Germanic and Norse -t spread from the preterite present to the Present: O.H.G. bis-t O.Icel. es-t 'thou art', wil-t 'wilt, wishest'.

In West-Germanic, the Perfect as an historic tense exchanged the form with -tha for that of the thematic aorist, as O.H.G. zigi = Skr. á-diś-a-s, whence followed intermixture with the optative perfect; see § 893 pp. 441 f.

§ 991. Balto-Slavonic. -tha (Perfect) is wanting.

(1) Idg. -si. Lith. ei-si 'goest', dūsi 'gives' for dū-t-si*. Whether Lith. esi is to be compared with Skr. ási or Gr. ἐσ-σι (§ 984 p. 523) is still uncertain.

Starting from esi, -i spread to the other verbs. dū'di instead of dūsi beside dū'(d)-mi dū'd-u, degì beside degmì degù, sukì beside sukù, vertì for vertjì* beside verczjù, fut. dū'si for dūsji* beside dū'-siu. Further, lindō-i*, which became lindai, beside 3rd sing. lindo which drew after it the 1st sing. lindau = lindō-u*; this adoption of i and ù by a-stems took place first in the present, whence it passed to the preterite a-stems because both had the same ending in the 3rd sing. and in the plural and dual (e. g. būvo 'he was' like lindo); from the a-preterite, -i and -ù then proceeded to the preterite with ē. See § 586 p. 127, § 593 p. 133, § 983. 2 p. 522. Another thing may have aided the change of dūsi to dū'di; — dūsi was also the 2nd sing. future,¹⁾ and thus also the present lindō-si* (cp. O.C.Sl. ima-ši) may have been exchanged for lindō-i*, because the former agreed with the 2nd sing. future.

1) elsi 'is' and ēsi 'ibis' are distinguished by accent.

The Reflexive in Lithuanian has always the middle endings -sė -ĕ, as desė-s (1st sing. dė(d)-mi § 546 pp. 103 f.), sukė-s vertė-s (for vertiĕ-s*, cp. te-vertė § 954 p. 494); similarly the old books have essie-gu i. e. esė-gu (-gu is a particle). In the same way we have Pruss. assai assei essei 'thou art' seggē-sai 'thou doest'. Still, although -ĕ had to become -i anyhow by rule, we must not assume that all instances of -i in the 2nd singular come from -ĕ. The truth is no doubt that both active and middle endings were in use together, and it was only in the si-reflexive, as we saw was the case with the 1st sing. -mi, that the middle ending became the rule; cp. § 983.1 p. 522.

Proethnic Slavonic had -šĭ = Idg. -si, e. g. in berē-šĭ* 'fers': Little Russian, Mod.Sloven., Serv., and Czech berēs. Along with this it had the middle -sĭ = Idg. -sai -sai in verbs with -mi: O.C.Sl. jesi 'art' jasi 'eatest' dasi 'givest', Little-Russ. jesy jisy dasy Mod.Slov. si 'art', Serv. jesi 'art', Czech jsi 'art'. By contamination of -šĭ and -sĭ, O.C.Sl. berē-ši ima-ši etc.

(2) Idg. -s can no longer be traced in Lithuanian, but in Old Prussian it can, — opt. imai-s 'take thou'. O.C.Sl. aor. veze: Skr. vāha-s, opt. vezi: Skr. vāhē-ṣ. As regards da 'gavest' for dō-s-s* see p. 830 p. 367, where also the origin of the 2nd sing. dastū instead of da is treated.

3RD PERSON SINGULAR.

§ 992. Proethnic Indo-Germanic.

(1) -ti Primary ending. es-ti* 'est': Skr. ás-ti Gr. ἔσ-τι Lat. es-t O.Ir. is Goth. is-t Lith. ės-ti ēs-t O.C.Sl. (Russ.) jes-tĭ. Skr. dāda-ti Gr. Dor. da-da-ti Lith. dū's-t(i) O.C.Sl. (Russ.) das-tĭ 'dat'. Skr. vā-ti Gr. ἄν-αι 'blows' Lat. ne-t planta-t O.Ir. carid 'loves' Goth. salbō-þ 'anoints' O.C.Sl. (Russ.) ima-tĭ 'hat'. Skr. śy-nd-ti 'breaks to pieces', Armen. baṛ-na-y 'lifts', Gr. daṁ-vrḡ-ai 'tames', O.Ir. lenid 'catches hold' (for li-na-ti*) O.H.G. gi-no-t 'gapes'. bhere-ti* 'fert': Skr. bhāra-ti Armen. berē Lat. agi-t O.Ir. beri-d Goth. batrī-þ O.C.Sl. (Russ.) berē-tĭ. Conj. Skr. ás-a-ti 'sit' Lat. (fut.) er-i-t.

(2) -t Secondary ending. ēs-t* 'erat': Skr. ās Gr. Dor. ἦς; e-gem-t* 'he went': Skr. á-gan Arm. e-kn; e-dhē-t* 'he placed': Skr. á-dhā-t Armen. e-d. Skr. á-dadhā-t Gr. ἐ-τίθη 'he placed'. § 994. Armenian. -e (Perfect) is wanting.

(1) The t of -ti becomes ĭ after vowels (Hübschmann, Arm. St. I 74, above I § 360 p. 276).¹⁾ berē 'fert' for bere-ĭ* bere-ti*, baṛna-y 'lifts' for baṛna-ti*, aláy 'grinds' for ala-ti*, xausi 'loquitur' for xausi-ĭ -ti*.

The -r of the 3rd sing. imperf., as berēr, is obscure; see § 986 Rem. p. 524.

§ 995. Greek.

(1) -ti. ἔσ-τι, ἄη-σι, Dor. δίδω-τι Att. δίδω-σι.

(2) -t dropt off (I § 652.5 p. 498). Dor. Arcad.-Cypr. ἱς 'erat'. ἐ-τιθή. Injunctive τιθή serves as indic. present in Lesbian, cp. 2nd sing. Att. τίθη-ς. ἔ-φερε. Optative ἵη, φέροι. Conjunctive Arcad.-Cypr. and other dialects φέρη, like Skr. bhárā-t.

The explanation of φέρει, which cannot be derived from φερε-τι*, depends on that of the 2nd sing. φέρεις. If φέρεις = φερει(σ)ι + σ*, φέρει has been coined as complementary on the model of φέρου : φέρους, ἔφερε : ἐφερες. But if φέρεις is a form like Skr. ájāi-ṣ, which I have preferred as more probable, φέρει must go parallel to Skr. á-śarāi-t 'he broke to bits'; then bherēĭ-t* was the ground-form. In any case it follows that φέρει had the secondary ending. Conj. φέρη is an ad-formate of φέρει, as φέρης of φέρεις. Compare § 987.1 p. 524. In Epic dialect -σι spreads from the unthematic indicative to the last named conjunctive form, e. g. $\epsilon\theta\acute{\epsilon}\lambda\eta\sigma\iota$ instead of $\epsilon\theta\acute{\epsilon}\lambda\eta$, cp. $\epsilon\theta\acute{\epsilon}\lambda\omega\text{-}\mu\iota$ § 979. 2 p. 520, $\epsilon\theta\acute{\epsilon}\lambda\eta\sigma\theta\alpha$ § 987. 3 p. 525.

(3) -e in the Perfect. $\alpha\lambda\delta\text{-}\epsilon$, $\gamma\acute{\epsilon}\gamma\omicron\nu\text{-}\epsilon$.

§ 996. Italic. e (Perfect) is wanting.

The endings -ti and -t are nowhere left unchanged. It is assumed that in all Italic dialects they became -t and -d: these remain in Oscan; in Umbrian -t remains (but the spelling varies, and we sometimes find -t and sometimes nothing, just as happens with other final consonants), while -d is dropt; in Latin, -t became the only ending, although instances of -d are found in old inscriptions. But an explanation has yet to be found why the -i of -ti (as of -nti in the 3rd plural) has disappeared without leaving a single trace. Compare I § 655. 7 p. 504.

(1) -t representing Idg. -ti. Lat. es-t Umbr. est Osc. est 1st. Lat. agi-t ama-t. Umbr. tišit 'decet' trebei-t 'versatur' habe habe 'habet'; Osc. faama-t 'habitat' stai-t 'stat', Marruc. fere-t 'fert', Vestin. dide-t 'dat'.

(2) -d representing Idg. -t. Thematic Preterite (§ 867 p. 414 f.): Lat. inscr. vhevshake-d 'fecit' fece-d; Umbr. řeře Osc. dede-d 'dedit' Osc. kúm-bene-d 'convēnit' aamanaffe-d 'mandavit' (§ 874 p. 422). Optat.: Lat. inscr. sie-d; Umbr. si si -sei 'sit', Osc. da-di-d 'dedat' Marruc. -si 'sit'. Long-vowel Conj. (cp. Skr. bhārá-t, O.Ir. -air-ema § 997. 2): Umbr. fašia 'faciat' kuraia 'curet' Osc. heriia-d 'velit', Umbr. heriiei 'velit' Osc. deivui-d 'iuret' Osc. fusi-d 'foret'; Osc. tadait like Skr. bhārá-ti, and Lat. mitat in the Duenos inscr., beside sied feced (unless we should read with Conway, Amer. Journ. Phil. x 452, mita(n)t).

In Latin -t early becomes the sole ending, fui-t amā-bat sie-t si-t, like -nt in the 3rd pl. Something may be ascribed to sentence-position, which would sometimes cause a change of -d to -t (e. g. fuit tum for fuid tum).

§ 998. Germanic.

(1) -ti. Goth. O.H.G. is-t. After sonants, liquids and nasals pr. Germ. -þi or -đi according to the position of the word accent (I § 530 p. 386). Gothic has only -þ, which may represent both -þ(i) and -đ(i) (I § 660.5 p. 516), e. g. trudi-þ 'steps' Class II B like Skr. tudā-ti, bairi-þ 'fert' = Skr. bhāratī. West Germanic has both forms, O.H.G. using -t = pr. Germ. -đi always, whilst A.S. has usually -đ = pr. Germ. -þi; O.H.G. biri-t hevi-t and the like (§ 720 p. 251) are regular and tuo-t analogical, A.S. đwđ đize-đ (loc. cit.) regular and bire-đ analogical.

(2) -t dropt in all Germanic dialects (I § 659.6 p. 513). Goth. i-đđja 'he went': Skr. á-ya-t. Goth. nasida O.H.G. nerita 'he preserved'. Optative Goth. batrái O.H.G. bere pr. Germ. bérai-đ*; Goth. vaurþi O.H.G. wurti 'he would become' pr. Germ. urđi-þ*.

(3) -e, pr. Germ. -i in the Perfect. Goth. skai-skaiþ O.H.G. sciad 'he separated': Skr. ci-chēda. In Gothic -i disappeared by universal rule. O.H.G. was nam and the like follow the lead of bant etc. (I § 661.2 p. 517). That the lost vowel had i-quality is still indicated, according to W. van Helten (P.-B. Beitr. xiv 282 f.), in the ē of words like O.Fris. wēt 'he knows' = Goth. vāit, which is due to mutation.

§ 999. Balto-Slavonic. -e (Perfect) is wanting.

(1) -ti in Baltic occurs only with a few unthematic stems;

in Old Russian both with these and with the thematic. Lith. ēs-ti ēst Pruss. ast (astits = asti tas 'est hic') O.C.Sl. (Russ.) jes-tŭ 'is'. Lith. eĩ-ti eĩt Lett. i-t 'goes' Pruss. ēit. Lith. dū'sti reflex. dū'sti-s O.C.Sl. (Russ.) das'tŭ 'dat'. O.C.Sl. (Russ.) bere-tŭ: Skr. bhāra-ti.

(2) -t dropt in both branches (I § 663.3 p. 521). O.C.Sl. aor. veze: Skr. vāha-t, s-aorist -ē 'ate' for ēts-t* (1st sing. -ēsū). Lith. injunctive used for indic. pres. and preterite: sāko 'says' būvo 'was', tūri has'. Optative Lith. te-vežē O.C.Sl. vezi: Skr. vāhē-t. Another example is Lith. vēža 'velit' for veža-t*. The a of this form, and of the 2nd pl. vēža-te and the 2nd dual vēža-ta, came in from the 1st pl. vēža-me and displaced e; this levelling was helped by present stems which had i all through, and those which had o in the plural, dual, and 3rd singular (tūri-me etc., sāko-me etc.); cp. O.H.G. Alemann. 2nd pl. bera-t, § 1015.

In Baltic the 3rd singular of all verbs served also for 3rd plural and 3rd dual. According to J. Schmidt (Kuhn's Zeitschr. xxv 595), the form yrà 'est' (from the ✓ of Skr. īr-tē, § 497 p. 57) was originally a substantive used predicatively ('existentia'), which did for all numbers; when this idiom became familiar, the 3rd singular of real verbs got to be used for all numbers alike. To my mind it seems likelier that the idiom is derived from that idiom of proethnic speech which allowed a neuter plural or dual subject to have a verb in the singular (cp. Homer's δοῦρα σέσηπε and ὄσσε δέδηε): this rule held in proethnic Baltic, and led by and by to using of the masculine or feminine plural in the same way.

In Lithuanian and Prussian, another ending besides these is found, namely -ai. Present Lith. pa-vystai 'withers' = pa-výst(a) and conjunctive (see § 909.3 a p. 457) te-lystai 'let him grow haggard' = te-lýst(a), Pruss. swintinai 'he sanctifies' = swintina (also -ei -e instead of -ai) turrei 'has' = turri. s-Future Lith. su-gausai 'he will or must get' = su-gaũs, turėsai 'he will or must have', in Prussian always used as conjunctive, as bousai 'be he' dasai 'let him give' (also -ei or -e instead of -ai). All these forms with -ai can be used for the plural. I regard -ai as something originally independent which has attached itself to the verb, the same which appears in the nom. sing. tasai as compared with tās (III § 414 p. 336). Perhaps, however, it was not -ai but -sai (see loc. cit.).¹⁾ In this case we must assume that it was first added to the future, which seems to have ended with -s = -s-t in proethnic Baltic (injunctive of the s-aorist), cp. § 828 p. 365 f.; and after the double s was thinned (būs-sai* becoming būsai*), -ai was mentally abstracted and then added to the present.

In Old Bulgarian we find instead of -tŭ the ending -tŭ i. e. -t + particle u (§ 909 p. 457), e. g. O.Bulg. jestŭ beretŭ, op. 3rd pl. satŭ beratŭ. Perhaps proethnic Slavonic had jestŭ and beret(ŭ) corresponding to Lith. ėsti and vėža, and levelling took different directions in the dialects.

In Old Bulgarian -tŭ spread from the present to the aorist, and thus we have pri-jetŭ instead of -ję; these aorist forms then came to be used for the 2nd singular. See § 830 p. 367.

1ST PERSON PLURAL.

§ 1000. Proethnic Indo-Germanic. The different languages show a vast number of endings, the original distribution of which can only be partly made out. Judging from Sanskrit, with its primary -masi -mas, and secondary and perfect -ma; from Old Irish, with -mi -me in absolute flexion, -m in conjunct; and from Old High German, whose -mēs properly belonged to the indic. present (with -m in indic. preterite and the optative), we should regard the forms with a characteristic s as being the primary of proethnic speech. Whether the vocalic suffixes and those ending in a nasal

1) This -sai may be identified with the Goth. sái O.H.G. sē, which Osthoff connects with Skr. sēd = sā id 'that same' (P.-B. Beitr. viii 311).

(such as Lith. -me and Gr. -μεν) represent Idg. secondary and perfect suffixes respectively, is not clear.

(1) Primary Forms.

(a) -mēs -mos. Perhaps originally -mēs e. g. i-mēs* 'imus', but -mos e. g. bhéro-mos* 'ferimus', cp. III § 228 p. 111 f. on the endings of the gen.-abl. sing. -es and -os. Skr. i-más bhára-mas, Gr. Dor. ἴ-μετς φέρο-μετς, Lat. ī-mus feri-mus, O.H.G. tuo-mēs bera-mēs. Perhaps we should add O.Ir. do-bera-m (for -mos*), Czech js-me nese-me (for -mes*) Serv. jes-mo plete-mo (for -mos*).

(b) -mesi -mosi, possibly for -mes -mos extended on the analogy of the other primary endings in -i. Skr. Ved. s-mási bhára-masi. O.Ir. ammi 'sumus' for esmesi* or s-es-mesi*, berme for beromi* beromesi*; but phonetic law would permit us to assume for this language -mēsi* (cp. above O.H.G. -mēs).

(2) Secondary or Perfect forms.

(a) -mē -mō. Skr. á-bhara-ma bhārē-ma perf. vid-má; Ved. also -mā. Osc. manafu-m comes in too, if it is 1st pl. ('mandavimus'), see § 874 p. 422. Goth. vitum O.H.G. wizzum, opt. Goth. batrái-mu vitei-mu (for -mē* or -mō*). Lith. reflex. sùko-mē-s, with variant sùko-me. Perhaps also O.Ir. do-bera-m (for -mo*), Czech js-me nese-me Serv. jes-mo plete-mo.

(b) -mem -mom or -men -mon.¹⁾ Gr. ἰ-φέρο-μεν φέρο-μεν ἰδ-μεν, O.C.Sl. aor. neso-mŭ. Perhaps also O.Ir. do-bera-m (for -mom* -mon*); but there is no trace of a final nasal. O.C.Sl. neso-my may be derived from -mōm -mōn.

§ 1001. It is a difficult question how far the -m- of our ending, and likewise that of the middle ending Skr. -mahē Gr. -μ+θα, had a sonant pronunciation (-mm-) in the parent language.

1) -mem -mom appear to deserve the preference to judge from Skr. -tam beside Lith. -ta O.C.Sl. -ta in the 2nd dual (§ 1031), and Skr. -āam beside O.C.Sl. -te -ta in the 3rd dual (§§ 1038 and 1040).

The following are cited from Avestic by Bartholomae (Kuhn's Zeitschr. xxix 273 ff.): 1st pl. aor. jim-ama from √ gem- 'go', 1st pl. pres. hišc-amaidē beside 3rd sing. act. hi-šax-ti (§ 540 p. 101), opt. jam-y-ama (§ 941 p. 486). For the Perf. examples are Avest. -ama in daidy-ama, Gr. -αμεν Goth. -um Lat. -imus O.Ir. -ammar, see § 844 p. 386. Lastly, for the Sigmatic aorist, Gr. -σαμεν -σαμεθα Lat. -simus, see § 820 p. 356, § 823 p. 361.

§ 1002. Aryan.

(1) Primary -mas and -masi. Both are kept in Sanskrit, but in Iranian only the latter is found. Skr. s-más s-mási Avest. mahi O.Pers. a-mahy 'sumus'. Skr. bhārā-mas -masi Avest. barā-mahi O.Pers. ḡahyā-mahy ('dicimur').

(2) Secondary and Perfect -ma, whose Vedic variant -mā may be compared with Goth. -ma Lith. -mė(-s). Skr. á-dhā-ma Avest. Gath. dā-mā from √ dhē- 'to place', Skr. á-kar-ma O.Pers. a-kū-mā from √ qer- 'make'; Avest. jim-ama (§ 1001). Opt. Skr. syā-ma Avest. x'yā-ma jam-y-ama (§ 1001), Skr. bhārē-ma Avest. baraē-ma. Further, the Aryan conjunctive always has -ma, by which the ind. and conj. pres. of thematic stems were distinguished): Skr. bhārā-ma Avest. barā-ma. Perfect śu-śru-mā su-sru-ma from √ kṣey- 'hear'; Avest. daidy-ama (§ 1001).

As in other languages, so in Sanskrit, the difference of primary and secondary endings was not strictly kept in the later language; thus we have in the Mahā-Bhārata imperf. a-paśyāmas 'we saw' and pres. paśyāma 'we see', and similarly 1st dual syāvas instead of syāva 'we both would be'.

§ 1003. Armenian. The ending of the indic. present suffix -mē is not clear; examples are ta-mē 'damus' bere-mē 'ferimus'; Bugge (Beitr. zur etym. Erl. der arm. Spr., Christiania 1889, p. 44) derives -mē from -mes + v (the particle u), cp. III § 313 p. 212 on the case-suffix -ē in dsterē meē etc. Still more obscure is the -ē of other tenses, as of aor. tuaē 'they gave'.

Remark. In explaining the endings of the 1st and 2nd plural (§ 1011) we must not forget the possibility of a personal pronoun being affixed, cp. Mod.Cymr. 1st pl. carwn Alban. 1st pl. jena § 1006. 2, O.Ir. 2nd pl. adib (§ 506 p. 72 f.). In considering the -i of the 2nd plural, where i seems to come from t for -te, we must also remember that the 2nd pl. may have imitated the ending of the 1st plural, cp. O.Ir. berthi Lith. sùkatė-s §§ 1014, 1016. Compare Hübschmann, Kuhn's Zeitschr. xxiii 12.

§ 1004. Greek. In Doric, -μες (primary) becomes universal. E. g. φέρο-μες ἴω-μες ἐ-στάσαμες ἀπ-εστάλακμες. Elsewhere -μεν (secondary), as φέρο-μεν etc.

§ 1005. Italic. Latin has always -mus for -mos* (primary), as t̄-mus agi-mus sī-mus momordinus. Examples of this person in the other Italic dialects are wanting, unless indeed Osc. manafum is 1st plural (see § 1000. 2 a p. 535).

§ 1006. Keltic.

(1) Primary. O.Ir. -mi for -mesi* (or -mēsi): ammi 'sumus' for esmesi* or s-esmesi* (§ 506 p. 72 f.), guidmi 'we beg' (1st sing. -guidiu). -mi became -me when the preceding syllable had no palatal vowel (1st and 2nd conjugations); thus berme for bero-mi* bero-mesi*, carme for carā-mi* carā-mesi*. Then comes confusion of various kinds; guidme beside guidmi, and tiagmi beside tiagme.

(2) Secondary. O.Ir. -m for -mo* or -mos*, hardly for -mom* -mon* (§ 1000. 1. a, 2. a and b., p. 535). Indic. pres. do-beram, no charam, do-lēcem, and so in the a-conjunctive, -beram -caram.

The primary ending -mi, as the frequent spelling -mmi -mme shows, had a hard, not a spirant m. This was irregular in forms with orig. vowel before the personal ending, and is due to the analogy of ammi, where mm = sm.¹⁾ But Cymric shows -wn in the pres. indicative, as carwn ('we will love'),

1) On the same principle, we find in Pali dadamha following amha for asma 'sumus', Prakrit cifṭhamha -mho following amha -mho; and in Prakrit there is a 1st sing. gacchamhi instead of gacchāmi. As regards the 1st plural something may be put down to the influence of the s-aorist ending (Skr. -s-ma), cp. Pali apacamhā beside apacimhā (E. Kuhn, Beitr. zur Pāli-Gramm., 109; Torp, Die Flexion des Pāli, 47).

i. e. -wf + the personal pronoun n-,¹⁾ and therefore had the regular spirant m; however, ym 'sumus' has hard m, for sm.

Of the secondary ending -m the reverse is true. -m in O.Ir. do-beram and the like is never written -mm, and therefore was spirant. Cymric however has -m, not -f, except in the indic. present; as conj. carom. As regards this Cymric -m Thurneysen writes: "It is possible that other forms with -sm- (s-aorist and injunctive) may have had something to do with the matter. There are many traces of s-forms in British dialects, which have not yet been properly explained".

§ 1007. Germanic.

(1) O.H.G. -mēs = Idg. -mēs* must, as the breathed -s shews, have originally belonged to the pr. Germ. unthematic present stems (cp. gā-mēs). It very soon spread to the hortative Injunctive, as bera-mēs (with variant bera-m like Goth. batra-m, see § 909 p. 458), and then to the Indic. preterite, bārumēs, and then to the Optative, bārīmēs. Compare Braune, Ahd. Gramm.² pp. 223 f., and the works there cited.

(2) Goth. -m = Idg. -me or -mo in vitum bērum batra-m. Goth. -ma = Idg. -mē or -mō in the optative: batraí-ma bērei-ma. The West-Germ. -m, O.H.G. wizzum bārum bera-m berē-m bārī-m, may be equivalent either to -m or to -ma in Gothic (I § 661.2 pp. 517 ff.).

§ 1008. Balto-Slavonic.

Lith. -mė = Idg. -mē (§ 1002.2. a) before the reflexive -si and -s: sùko-mė-s sùka-mė-s. The -me of sùko-me sùka-me ei-mė 'eamus' eĩ-me 'imus' may come from -mē by I § 664.3. p. 523. Perhaps however Idg. -me* and -mē* have run together into -me. The suffixes -ma -mo-s found in a few instances as variants of -me and -mė-s (Bezzenberger, in his Beiträge, II 268), and Lett. ei-ma 'we go' and 'let us go', are a re-formation in agreement with the dual -va -vo-s (§ 1030);

1) The personal pronoun is added in this way in the Albanian dialect of Škodra; e. g. jena 'sumus' instead of jemi. See G. Meyer, M. Hertz zum 70. Geburtstag, 1888, p. 89.

so too in the 2nd plural there is contamination with dual forms (§ 1016). Lett. -mi(-s) is to be connected with Pruss. -mai (as-mai 'we are' turri-mai 'we owe, should'), as also 2nd pl. -ti(-s) with Pruss. -tai -tei -ti (as-tai es-tei as-ti 'ye are' druwē-tai 'ye believe' turri-ti 'ye should'): the diphthong comes from the 1st and 2nd singular (§ 983 p. 522, § 991 p. 528).

The following endings may be regarded as proethnic Slavonic.

(1) -me = Idg. -mes or -me. Mod.Bulg. sme 'sumus' aor. nesoh-me. Little-Russ. dial. (in the Carpathians) vydy-me. Czech js-me 'sumus' jíme 'edimus' nese-me opt. nesme.

(2) -mo = Idg. -mos or -mo. Little-Russ. with the ind. present in -mi, ješ-mo jimo. Serv. and Mod.Sloven. also in other stems: Serv. jes-mo ijemo Mod.Slov. s-mo jěmo, Serv. and Mod.Slov. plete-mo opt. pleti-mo.

(3) -mŭ = Idg. -mom or -mon. In O.C.Sl. this is the usual ending: jes-mŭ damŭ nese-mŭ aor. neso-mŭ opt. nesě-mŭ dadi-mŭ. So in Great-Russ.: nese-m dadi-m 'damus'; Little-Russ. nese-m opt. neši-m; Pol. niesie-m (see below); Czech aor. nesecho-m imperf. nesjěcho-m.

(4) -my either from -mōm or -mōn (I § 92 p. 86 f.), or else modelled after my 'we' (cp. 1st dual -vě, as jes-vě, with vě 'we both', § 1030). O.Bulg. e. g. věmy beside věmŭ, vidi-my beside vidi-mŭ. Pol. wiemy, niesiemy beside niesie-m. East-Sorb. and Mod.Sorb. věmy.

It is uncertain how these endings were distributed in proethnic Slavonic. As regards -mo it should be observed that the accents justify an inference that it at first belonged, as it still does in Little-Russian, only to the indic. Present of verbs in -mi, and that it is only their analogy which produced Serv. plete-mo etc. The forms we find in modern dialects have been often affected by the fact that -mŭ ran into one with the -mŭ of the 1st singular; hence in Polish while niesiem exists beside niesiemy (1st sing. niose), we have only wiemy (1st sing. wiem) and działamy (1st sing. działam).

i. e. -wf + the personal pronoun n,¹⁾ and therefore had the regular spirant m; however, ym 'sumus' has hard m, for sm.

Of the secondary ending -m the reverse is true. -m in O.Ir. do-beram and the like is never written -mm, and therefore was spirant. Cymric however has -m, not -f, except in the indic. present; as conj. carom. As regards this Cymric -m Thurneysen writes: "It is possible that other forms with -sm- (s-aorist and injunctive) may have had something to do with the matter. There are many traces of s-forms in British dialects, which have not yet been properly explained".

§ 1007. Germanic.

(1) O.H.G. -mēs = Idg. -mēs* must, as the breathed -s shews, have originally belonged to the pr. Germ. unthematic present stems (cp. gā-mēs). It very soon spread to the hortative Injunctive, as bera-mēs (with variant bera-m like Goth. baira-m, see § 909 p. 458), and then to the Indic. preterite, bārumēs, and then to the Optative, bārīmēs. Compare Braune, Ahd. Gramm.² pp. 223 f., and the works there cited.

(2) Goth. -m = Idg. -me or -mo in vitum bērum baira-m. Goth. -ma = Idg. -mē or -mō in the optative: bairái-ma bērei-ma. The West-Germ. -m, O.H.G. wizzum bārum bera-m berē-m bārī-m, may be equivalent either to -m or to -ma in Gothic (I § 661.2 pp. 517 ff.).

§ 1008. Balto-Slavonic.

Lith. -mė = Idg. -mē (§ 1002.2. a) before the reflexive -si and -s: sūko-mė-s sūka-mė-s. The -me of sūko-me sūka-mė ei-mė 'eamus' eī-me 'imus' may come from -mē by I § 664.3. p. 523. Perhaps however Idg. -me* and -mē* have run together into -me. The suffixes -ma -mo-s found in a few instances as variants of -me and -mė-s (Bezzenger, in his Beiträge, II 268), and Lett. ei-ma 'we go' and 'let us go', are a re-formation in agreement with the dual -va -vo-s (§ 1030);

1) The personal pronoun is added in this way in the Albanian dialect of Škodra; e. g. jēna 'sumus' instead of jēmi. See G. Meyer, M. Hertz zum 70. Geburtstag, 1888, p. 89.

so too in the 2nd plural there is contamination with dual forms (§ 1016). Lett. -mi(-s) is to be connected with Pruss. -mai (as-mai 'we are' turri-mai 'we owe, should'), as also 2nd pl. -ti(-s) with Pruss. -tai -tei -ti (as-tai es-tei as-ti 'ye are' druwē-tai 'ye believe' turri-ti 'ye should'): the diphthong comes from the 1st and 2nd singular (§ 983 p. 522, § 991 p. 528).

The following endings may be regarded as proethnic Slavonic.

(1) -me = Idg. -mes or -me. Mod.Bulg. sme 'sumus' aor. nesoh-me. Little-Russ. dial. (in the Carpathians) vydy-me. Czech js-me 'sumus' jíme 'edimus' nese-me opt. nesme.

(2) -mo = Idg. -mos or -mo. Little-Russ. with the ind. present in -mi, jeś-mo jimo. Serv. and Mod.Sloven. also in other stems: Serv. jes-mo ijemo Mod.Slov. s-mo jěmo, Serv. and Mod.Slov. plete-mo opt. pleti-mo.

(3) -mŭ = Idg. -mom or -mon. In O.C.Sl. this is the usual ending: jes-mŭ damŭ nese-mŭ aor. neso-mŭ opt. nesě-mŭ dadi-mŭ. So in Great-Russ.: nese-m dadi-m 'damus'; Little-Russ. nese-m opt. neśi-m; Pol. niesie-m (see below); Czech aor. nesecho-m imperf. nesjěcho-m.

(4) -my either from -mōm or -mōn (I § 92 p. 86 f.), or else modelled after my 'we' (cp. 1st dual -vě, as jes-vě, with vě 'we both', § 1030). O.Bulg. e. g. věmy beside věmŭ, vidi-my beside vidi-mŭ. Pol. wiemy, niesiemy beside niesie-m. East-Sorb. and Mod.Sorb. věmy.

It is uncertain how these endings were distributed in proethnic Slavonic. As regards -mo it should be observed that the accents justify an inference that it at first belonged, as it still does in Little-Russian, only to the indic. Present of verbs in -mi, and that it is only their analogy which produced Serv. plete-mo etc. The forms we find in modern dialects have been often affected by the fact that -mŭ ran into one with the -mŭ of the 1st singular; hence in Polish while niesiem exists beside niesiemy (1st sing. niose), we have only wiemy (1st sing. wiem) and działamy (1st sing. działam).

Thematic. O.C.Sl. pres. nese-mŭ nese-vě as against aor. neso-mŭ neso-vě. The former follow the analogy of ĭo-stems such as znaje-mŭ -vě, where e is regular for o (I § 84 p. 80). In the aorist o remains, because there were no ĭo-stems in the aorist.

2ND PERSON PLURAL.

§ 1009. Proethnic Indo-Germanic. Only in Aryan do we see a pair of endings, one primary and the other secondary, Skr. -tha and -ta (cp. 2nd dual -thas and -tam). All the forms of European languages can be derived from the single one Idg. -te. Still it must be admitted that much darkness still hangs over the tenues aspiratae in European languages (cp. I § 553 pp. 405 ff., II § 81 Rem. 2 p. 243, Bartholomae Stud. Idg. Spr. I 44).

Again Aryan, and Aryan alone, shows a special perfect ending, -a, which may be related to the Gr. -τε as Skr. -ē to Gr. -ται in the 3rd sing. perf. middle, and may possibly be identical with the a of the Sanskrit endings 2nd dual -á-thur 3rd dual -á-tur (§ 1038).

(1) Primary Skr. -tha Gr. -τε etc. Skr. s-thá Gr. ἔσ-τε Lith. ēs-te O.C.Sl. jes-te. Skr. bhára-tha Gr. ῥέφ-τε O.Ir. do-beri-d Goth. baíri-þ Lith. vėža-te O.C.Sl. bere-te.

(2) Secondary Skr. -ta Gr. -τε etc. Pret. Skr. á-vida-ta Gr. εἶδε-τε O.C.Sl. (aor.) nese-te. Hortative Injunct. Skr. bhára-ta Gr. ῥέφ-τε Lat. agi-te O.Ir. beri-d Goth. baíri-þ. s-Aor. Skr. á-dhā-s-ta Gr. ἔ-δεῖξα-τε Lith. (injunct. as fut.) dė-s-te O.C.Sl. dě-s-te. Opt. Skr. bhárē-ta Gr. ῥέποι-τε Goth. baírái-þ O.C.Sl. berě-te.

(3) Perfect Skr. -a Gr. -τε etc. Skr. vid-á Gr. ἴσ-τε O.Ir. gegnaid Goth. vítu-þ.

§ 1010. Aryan.

(1) Primary ending pr. Ar. -tha. Skr. bhára-tha Avest. bara-þa. Skr. s-thá Avest. Gath. s-ta (cp. vōistā = Skr. véttha I § 475 p. 351).

(2) Secondary ending pr. Ar. -ta. Skr. á-bhara-ta Avest. bara-ta. Opt. Skr. bhárē-ta Avest. baraē-ta.

In Vedic we also meet with -thana and -tana, the latter very common with hortative forms: e. g. s-thána váda-thana i-tana puni-tána. -na is a particle, which, if my conjecture be right, is contained in other forms, namely 2nd sing. imper. Avest. barana and Skr. grhāṇā (§ 600 p. 143), and which may be akin to the -ni of the Aryan 1st sing. conj. in -ani (§ 977. 3 p. 518).

(3) Pr. Ar. -a in the Perfect. Skr. ca-kr-á (3rd sing. ca-kár-a 'he made'), Avest. hanhān-a from han- 'to present, earn' (§ 852 p. 402).

§ 1011. Armenian. All tenses and moods have -k̄ final; e. g. berēk̄ 'fertis' for bere-ik̄*, alaiḱ 'molitis', aor. ediḱ 'ye placed'. The ḱ of -ik̄ appears to be the same as t in -te; for further discussion refer to the Remark to § 1003, on page 536.

§ 1012. Greek. Always -τε: ἔσ-τε ἐρέε-τε φέροι-τε ἴστε τετρώφα-τε.

Remark. The -θ of the Perfect forms Hom. ind. πέποιθε (Aristarchus πέπασθε) imper. ἐγγόγορε ἄνωχθε is not the Skr. -tha, but a middle ending.

§ 1013. Italic. In Latin -te only in the hortative Imperjunctive (Imper.): fer-te agi-te.

Elsewhere -tis: es-tis agi-tis agā-tis si-tis vīdis-tis. That the relation of agite to age produced agitis beside agis (Osthoff, Zeitschr. f. österr. Gymn., 1880, p. 70), is less probable than that -tis (earlier -tes*) is really a dual ending (Skr. -thas Goth. -ts). Outside the imperative the forms with -te, which often elided their vowel, became too much like those of the 3rd singular; and so by the time that dual and plural had got confused and the feeling for the special dual sense of the endings in question was dulled, -tis was preferred to -te because it was clearer. Of course the relation of agite to age may have made it easier to use agitis as a plural of agis. In Lettic also, where as in Latin the dual number was discarded, the 2nd dual ei-ta remained in use as a plural form: 'ye go' and imper. 'go ye'. Compare further under § 967 p. 509, § 1034 on Umbr. futu-to 'estote', and § 1015 on O.H.G. beret 'fertis'.

On Pelign. lexe, which is apparently 2nd plural, see Thurneysen Rhein. Mus. XLIII 352.

§ 1014. Keltic. Ir. -d for -te in conjunct inflexion: do-berid 'datis', conj. of s-aorist for-tēsid 'succurratis, succurretis'. So in the imperative: berid 'ferte'.

The absolute forms have -thi for their ending (-the for -thi in the 2nd conjugation, as in 1st pl. -me for -mi, see § 1006 p. 537); e. g. ber-thi for berethi*, lēcthi for lēč-thi*, carthe for cara-thi*; by levelling, berthe (with a glance at berme too) lēcthe. This ending -thi is an imitation of -mi, as in Lithuanian sūka-tė-s imitates sūka-mė-s (§ 1016).¹⁾ On udib 'estis', see § 506 p. 72 f.

§ 1015. As far as the Germanic sound-laws go, either -the or -te may be taken as the form to start from. The consonant fared precisely like that of the 3rd sing. ending -ti, see § 998.1 p. 532. Goth. indic. pres. bairi-þ perf. bēru-þ opt. bairai-þ bērei-þ like the 3rd sing. pres. bairi-þ. O.H.G. ga-sihi-t 'ye behold' (Monsee or Mondsee "Fragments", see Braune Ahd. Gr.² p. 1) perf. baru-t opt. berē-t bāri-t like 3rd sing. pres. biri-t.

In the indic. present O.H.G. originally had -i for its thematic vowel; and this remains in ga-sihit and a few other forms from the authority just cited. Alemannic bera-t with -a- following the 1st and 3rd plural (cp. Lith. vėža-te § 999.2 p. 533), which served to distinguish 2nd plural from 3rd singular.

The commonest in O.H.G. is the form beret. With Kōgel (P.-B. Beitr. VIII 138) we may regard this as a dual form, either bhere-thos* (Skr. bhāra-thas Goth. baira-ts), or bhere-tom* (Gr. ῥερε-ρον), or bhere-tā* (O.C.Sl. bere-ta); cp. §§ 1031 ff.

§ 1016. Balto-Slavonic.

Lith. -te and -t, as ės-te vėža-te (on -a- instead of -e-, see § 999.2 p. 533) pret. vėžė-te. The ending -tė-s in the reflexive

1) Just in the same way faiz* diz* became faites dites in Old French by analogy of faimes and dimes (Neumann, Zeitschr. für rom. Phil., XIV 581, 584).

follows -mē-s beside -mē in the 1st pl. (cp. § 1014). The endings -to-s, sometimes found in place of -tē-s, and -ta in Lett. ei-ta 'ye go' or 'go ye', are dual; just as -ma and -mo-s in the 1st plural of Lith., which sometimes take the place of -mē and -mē-s, and in Lett. ei-ma, have the dual vowel (§ 1008 p. 538 f.). On Lett. -tī-s and Pruss. -tai -tei -ti, see the same place.

Slavonic: -te: jes-te nese-te aor. nese-te dē-s-te opt. nesē-te.

3RD PERSON PLURAL.

§ 1017. Proethnic Indo-Germanic. We here deal with the nt-suffix only. On Skr. perf. vid-úr and like forms see §§ 1076 f. and 1079.

(1) After Consonants -énti -ént and -ṇti -ṇt, which appear to be related in the same way as -és and -s of the genitive singular. Compare footnote to page 50.

(a) -énti and -ént.

Primary -énti. s-énti* 'are': Skr. s-ánti (Armen. en, cp. § 1019), Gr. Dor. ἐντι Att. ἐσσι, Umbr. s-ent Osc. s-et s-et, O.Ir. it O.Cymr. int, Goth. s-ind. d-énti* 'they eat' √ ed-: Skr. ad-anti O.C.Sl. (Russ.) jad-ęti. mṛ-n-énti* beside 3rd sing. mṛ-nđ-ti* 'crushes, grinds to dust' (§ 598 p. 141): Skr. mṛ-n-ánti. ṛ-nṛ-énti* beside 3rd sing. ṛ-néṇ-ti* 'excites' (§§ 638 f. pp. 176 f.): Skr. ṛ-nv-ánti.

Secondary -ént. s-ént*: Skr. s-án ás-an (cp. gm-án á-gm-an), with the particle u, s-ánt-u, Gr. Dor. ἦν for ḥ(σ)-εν*, O.Bulg. jad-ęt-ŭ with the particle u (but cp. § 1026). Skr. á-śr-ṇ-an, á-su-nv-an. Opt. s(i)-ént* 'may they be': Gr. ἔστω O.Lat. si-ent; of the same kind, apparently, is Skr. duh-ṛy-án, see § 941 p. 486, § 951 p. 493.

(b) -ṇti and -ṇt.

Primary -ṇti. dē-d-ṇti* from √ dō- 'give': Skr. dád-ati O.C.Sl. (Russ.) dad-ęti. In Greek -ᾷσι for the Perfect, as λε-λόγγ-ᾷσι.

Secondary -ṇt. The type dē-d-ṇt* is preserved in Aryan only as embodied along with the particle u in the Skr. dá-d-at-u.

In other cases -at* in Sanskrit is replaced by -ur (á-da-d-ur), in Avestic by -an (da-d-en). Another form which comes in place here is the O.Bulg. dad-et-ŭ 'dant' (but cp. § 1026), and another is O.Sax. ded-un 'they did' from √dhē-, if it be a reduplicated imperfect (§ 545 p. 103, § 886 p. 433, § 1025). Then again some forms of the thematic aorist appear to have had -nt originally, as we are led to believe by Skr. part. nom. sing. dhákṣat;¹⁾ and so perhaps O.C.Sl. -s-ę, as daṣę, belongs to the same group, and O.H.G. wissun if it is rightly compared with Gr. ῥσιν (§ 827 p. 365, § 907 p. 455). Lastly, our suffix should be claimed for the oi-optative: bhéro-i-nt*, instead of which we have in Skr. bhárēy-ur Avest. baray-en Gr. φέρου-εν Goth. baírái-na.

(2) After Sonants, -nti and -nt.

Primary -nti. uē-nti* 'they blow': Skr. vānti Gr. ἄεισι; Armen. ala-n 'they grind', Lat. ple-nt ama-nt, O.Ir. carit 'they love', Goth. salbō-nd, O.C.Sl. (Russ.) imaťi 'they have'. Long-vowel Conjunctive: Avest. patā-nti Gr. Dor. πέτω-ντι Att. φέρουσι. bhero-nti* 'ferunt': Skr. bhāra-nti Armen. bere-n Gr. Dor. φέρου-ντι Lat. feru-nt O.Ir. berit Goth. baíra-nd O.C.Sl. (Russ.) beraťi.

Secondary -nt. Gr. ἐ-μυγε-ν ἔγνο-ν, O.Bulg. imať-ŭ 'they have' (with the particle u). Long-vowel Conj.: Skr. bhārd-n, Osc. deica-ns 'dicant'. bhéro-nt*: Skr. bhāra-n á-bhara-n, Gr. qéro-ν ἔφερο-ν, O.C.Sl. bq for bhęo-nt* (§ 525 p. 88) aor. nesq.

§ 1018. Aryan.

(1) After Consonants Idg. -énti -ént and -ęti -ęt.

(a) -énti and -ént.

Primary -énti = pr. Ar. -ánti. Skr. s-ánti Avest. h-enti O.Pers. h-atiy. Skr. y-ánti Avest. y-einti. Skr. grbh-n-ánti Avest. ger^eur-n-enti. Skr. yuñj-ánti Avest. mer^enc-inti (I § 94 p. 89). Skr. kṛ-nv-ánti Avest. ker^e-nv-anti.

Secondary -ént = pr. Ar. -ánt. Skr. s-án ás-an Avest. h-en O.Pers. ah-a, Skr. áy-an O.Pers. ay-a. Aor. Skr. gm-án á-gm-an Avest. g'm-en; with a-stems of our Classes I and X Sanskrit adopted the ending -ur, as á-sth-ur á-g-ur from stha- and gā-; but in Vedic there remain a few examples of -an, as vy-āsthān (Bartholomae, Stud. zur idg. Sprachg. I 32 ff., II 64 ff.). Skr. á-śṣ-ṇ-an á-yuñj-an á-kṣ-ṇv-an. An Optative form of this kind is apparently Skr. duhīy-án; otherwise we have Skr. s-y-úr and Avest. h-yān = s-yā-nt*, no. (2).

1) For the 3rd plural of the s-Aorist with vowel gradation (§ 811 p. 348 f.), it is necessary to assume the ending -s-ént*.

(b) -ṇti and -nt.

Primary -ṇti = pr. Ar. -ati. Skr. dá-dh-ati Avest. Gath. da-d-aiti, Skr. sa-śc-ati bī-bhr-ati dávi-dyut-ati. Cp. part. nom. pl. dá-dh-at-as II § 126 p. 400. In the Avesta, -ati is usually exchanged for -anti, which showed the plural mark more clearly, as da-p-enti (similarly in the part. da-d-ant- instead of da-d-at-*); cp. mid. -antē instead of -aitē § 1067. 1.

Secondary -ṇt = pr. Ar. -at, which remains in -at-u as Skr. dá-d-atu 'danto', and also seems to be represented in its unextended shape by four Avestic examples from the Gathas, viz. da-d-aḥ za-z-aḥ jī-ger'z-aḥ daidy-aḥ (Bartholomae, Kuhn's Zeitschr. xxix 280 ff., 291 f.), but elsewhere it is lost. It should be remembered that whilst -ati corresponds to -anti and -nti, -at stood in sharp contrast to -an and -n; and therefore -at did not suit the general types of 3rd pl. in the Aryan verb. In Sanskrit this is replaced by -ur, as á-da-dh-ur á-bi-bhar-ur,¹⁾ s-aorist á-mats-ur á-tāriṣ-ur á-yāsiṣ-ur (cp. § 1017. 1. b), opt. bhārēy-ur. But in Avestic we have -an, in the same way as we have -anti instead of -ati: da-p-en (cp. da-p-enti) opt. baray-en.

(2) After Sonants, Idg. -nti and -nt.

Primary -nti. Skr. vā-nti Avest. vā-nti. Skr. bhāra-nti Avest. bara-inti O.Pers. baratīy, Skr. bhārāya-nti Avest. baraye-inti. The long-vowel Conjunctive in Avestic has -nti and -n, as patā-nti and patān, but only -n in Sanskrit — pātā-n.

Secondary -nt. This form retains its -t before the particle

1) Ved. abibhran I regard as a-bi-bhr-a-n, i. e. as a thematic form (§ 539 p. 99).

u: Skr. bhāra-ntu Avest. bara-ntu 'ferunto' (§ 909 p. 458). Elsewhere -n. Skr. á-bhara-n Avest. bare-n O.Pers. a-bara. The short-vowel conjunctive always has this ending: Skr. ás-a-n Avest. arāhen. In place of a-gā-n* (= Gr. ἑ-βᾶ-ν, beside 3rd sing. á-gā-t ἑ-βῆ) Sanskrit has á-g-ur, and similarly á-y-ur instead of a-yā-n* (3rd sing. á-yā-t), answering to the form á-dh-ur = Avest. Gath. d-arē. But Avest. dān beside d-arē makes us infer such forms as gān* = βᾶ-ν (Idg. gā-nt*) — dān : dā-ma following gān* : gā-ma — as in the optative, beside 1st pl. Gath. ṣ-yā-mā was coined 3rd pl. ṣ-yē-n = late Avestic h-yān (compare with this h-yā-rē, also with strong form of optative suffix).

As regards the 3rd pl. with -r (Skr. -ur Avest. -arē -arēs), see §§ 1076 f.

§ 1019. Armenian. The 3rd plural has -n always; this seems to represent a coincidence of -nti and -nt.

ala-n 'they grind' for ala-nti*: cp. Lat. juva-nt. en 'sunt' for s-enti*, but this must have been influenced by other forms of the paradigm (em es etc.), for by I § 63 p. 50 in* was to be expected (cp. Bugge, Kuhn's Zeitschr. xxxii 71). beren 'ferunt' follows en like 1st sing. berem : em § 978.1 p. 519.

etūn 'they gave', edin 'they placed', cp. Avest. dā § 1018.2 above. But why not etn* edn* by I § 651.1 p. 497?

§ 1020. Greek.

(1) After Consonants Idg. -énti -ént and -ṽti -ṽt.

(a) -énti and -ént.

Primary -énti. Dor. ἐντι Att. εἶσι instead of ἐντι* = Idg. s-énti* with smooth breathing following εἰμὶ etc.¹⁾

Secondary -ént. Doric and other dialects ἦν 'erant' for ḥ(σ)-er*: Skr. s-án ás-an; cp. § 502 p. 65 on the 3rd sing. ἦεν ἦν. *ἰδ-*Optative ἰδ-er εἰδεῖ-er τιθεῖ-er; O.Lat. si-ent; on El. συν-έειν refer to § 944 p. 487.

(b) -ṽti and -ṽt.

Primary -ṽti = Gr. -ᾶτι. Instead of ῥοτ-ατι* τιθ-ατι*

1) εἶσι 'eunt' in Theognis 716 is too uncertain to make it a ground for assuming pr. Gr. ἰ-εντι* = Skr. y-dnti. See Osthoff, M. U. iv 288 f.

δίδ-ατι* (Skr. bībhr-ati dādḥ-ati) we find (Dor.) ἴστα-ντι τίθε-ντι δίδο-ντι, as in (2). But -ατι is preserved in the perfect, as Dor. ἰθάκ-ατι (Hesych.), Phoc. ἰεργτεύκ-ατι Hom. λε-λόγγ-ασι, and I may suggest that this ending was taken from reduplicated present stems (cp. § 555 p. 108).

Secondary -ητ = Gr. -α is lost; all examples of secondary 3rd pl. took -ν. ἔ-τι-θε-ν ἔ-δι-δο-ν like τί-θε-ντι. Similarly φεῖπ-α(τ)* 'they said' = μέ-μν-ητ* gave way to φεῖπαν, thus following no. 2 (§ 557 p. 109). Again, -αν got into the s-aorist, where originally either -ént (with roots that had gradation), or -ητ, seems to have been the ending; e. g. ἴσ-αν ἔ-δειξ-αν (instead of φισσ-εν ἰ-διξ-εν*?) φειδ-αν* (instead of φειδ-α?*); on the last see § 1021. The οἰ-optative took over the ending of the ἰε-optative: φέροι-εν instead of φέροκ-α* following εἰν (El. -οιαν, e. g. παρ-βαίνοιαν, seems to have arisen by regular change from -οιεν as συν-έαν ἐπι-θείαν from -εεν -θεεν*); side by side with which Delphic has φέροι-ν, analogical like mid. φέροι-ντο (§ 1068).

(2) After Sonants Idg. -nti and -nt.

Primary -nti. ἄεσι 'they blow' for ἄφη-ντι*: Skr. vā-nti; Lesb. φιλεσι 'they love' δίψαισι 'they thirst': Lat. ple-nt vide-nt juva-nt. Conj. Dor. φέρω-ντι Att. φέρωσι (§ 923 p. 471). Dor. El. N.-W. Gr. φέρο-ντι Att. φέρουσι.

Secondary -nt = Gr. -ν. ἔ-δρᾶ-ν ἔ-τλᾶ-ν ἔ-γνω-ν ἔ-μυγε-ν ἔ-γνωσθε-ν for ἔ-δρᾶ-ντ* etc., whence also ε-φῦ-ν.

The vowel before the personal ending is sometimes long instead of short. The reason is undecided. Examples are Hom. μῦνθην Cret. διελέγην Hom. ἔφιν.

Remark. In Morph. Unt. i 72 f., I assumed in agreement with G. Meyer and others that the long vowel was taken from other forms of the paradigm, as for instance it must be explained in πλήντο ἄγνται and other like them. Solmsen now tries to make out a case for believing that -ην -ων etc. arose at the sentence-end, and that ἔλεγεν replaced the regular in-sentence form ἔλεγεντ* on the analogy of ἔλεγην (Bezz. Beitr. xvii 329 ff.).

These endings -ντι and -ν spread to all stems with gradation that ended in -a, -ē, or -ō. τι-θε-ντι ἐ-τι-θε-ν *ἔ-θε-ν*¹⁾, δι-δο-ντι ἐ-δι-δο-ν ἔ-δο-ν (cp. 1. b). Dor. φα-ντι Att. φᾶσι, φά-ν. δάμνᾱσι (δαμνῶσι) for δαμ-να-ντι* instead of δαμ-ν-εντι*. By analogy ῥήγνῶσι (ῥηγνῶσι) for φρηγ-νυ-ντι* instead of φρηγ-νυ(F)-εντι*.

§ 1021. The ending -αν, which developed first in Greek (§ 1020. 1. b), spread widely and was the model for many innovations.

(1) -αν instead of -εν and instead of -α became usual in the Indicative of stems which did not end in -ā, -ē, -ō. Some have been already mentioned: εἶπ-αν, ἴσ-αν ἔ-διξ-αν φειδε-αν* (by analogy, the ind. perf. γέ-γον-αν § 844 p. 386). So Boeot. παρ-εῖαν for -η(σ)-αν* (I § 72 p. 63) from ✓es- 'to be', Hom. Aeol. ἔχευ-αν (§ 504 p. 67 f.) and others. Also opt. δεῖξιαν instead of δεῖξει-εν* as we should expect (§ 944 p. 489).

In the tendency which exchanged -εν for -αν the middle ending -ατο may have had some influence, e. g. in ἔχυναν (instead of ἔ-χυν-αν*), beside which there once was a 3rd pl. middle ἔ-χυν-ατο* (cp. 3rd sing. ἔ-χυν-το).

That -εν remains in the Opt., as τιθεῖ-εν, must be put down to the strong stem τιθειη- (cp. ἔμυγεν : ἐ-μυγη-, ἔτιθεν : ἐ-τιθη-). Then τιθεῖ-εν propped up φέροι-εν despite the mid. φεροί-ατο.

(2) ῆ-αν* 'erant' (Boeot. παρ-εῖαν) under the influence of ῆσ-τε ῆσ-τον ῆσ-την became ῆσ-αν, which may be compared with ἔσ-μιν (§ 502 p. 65). Similarly φειδεσαν ῆδεσαν depend upon a lost φειδεσ-τε* (§ 836 p. 372); the form was once φειδε-αν* (cp. § 1020. 1. b). Then the ending -σαν became familiar, and was detached as a type, beginning partly with these, and partly with σ-aorists of the form ἔπηξαν (to whose system once belonged ἔπαμμεν* ἔπαχτε*, see § 820 p. 357); examples are ἔφα-σαν ἐ-τίθε-σαν ἔ-θε-σαν ἔ-γνω-σαν ἐ-μίγη-σαν ἐ-δικάσθη-σαν (Hellenistic also ἐλάβοσαν εἵπασαν and the like),

1) Although we must assume Idg. dh-énti* ē-dh-ent*, we can hardly venture to say that the Greek form is derived straight from this ground-form.

plpf. ἔστα-σαν, opt. εἴη-σαν, imper. ἔστω-σαν. The wider use of -σαν was assisted by a wish to make the number of syllables the same in 1st 2nd and 3rd plural (ἔφασαν : ἔφαμεν ἔφατε).

(3) On the analogy of ἵστα-ν to ἵστα-ντι, ἔτιθε-ν to τίθε-ντι, ἔ-διδό-ν to δίδο-ντι, a primary -αντι sprang up as complement to -αν. Beside *ἦαν 'erant' then stands the pres. Ion. ἔασι; we also have ἱάσι 'eunt', ῥηγνύ-ασι. Beside ἴσαν, the pres. (perf.) ἴσασσι ἴσασι 'sciunt' Dor. ἴσαντι (§ 863 p. 411). Also perf. δε-δί-ασσι τε-τρύφ-ασι Dor. τε-θέκ-αντι.

Doubtless something is due to the analogy of the middle -αται, as ῥηγνύ-ασι : *ῥηγνύ-αται (like εἰρύ-αται § 1068. 1. a), τετρύφ-ασι : τετράφ-αται. For the Perfect cp. also the ending -ᾱτι, § 1020. 1. b.

(4) Following ἱ-ασι beside ἱ-μεν, ῥηγνύ-ασι beside ῥήγνυ-μεν, δεδί-ασι beside δέδι-μεν sprang up τιθέ-ασι δίδό-ασι *ιστά-ασι ιστῶσι as 3rd pl. to τίθε-μεν δίδο-μεν ἵστα-μεν, Hom. βεβᾶ-ασι Hom. Att. *ἔστα-ασι¹⁾ ἔστᾱσι to βέβα-μεν ἔστα-μεν, Boeot. δεδό-ανθι (on the θ see § 1068). Similarly Boeot. ἀν-ίθειαν (εθειαν εθιαν), by which form the number of syllables in the 3rd plural was made to agree with the 1st and 2nd plural (as with -σαν, see no. 2. above).

Remark. Thess. imperf. ἐν-φανίσονεν aor. ἰδούσαν ἀν-εθελαῖν ἐταῦζαῖν are not yet properly explained. If their -εν -ιν = pr. Gr. -εν, their model must have been *ἦ-εν 'erant' (§ 1020. 1. a) εἰ-εν φέροι-εν; if again -εν (-ιν) is regular in Thessalian for -αν (Prellwitz, De dial. Thess., 9), they fall into line with Boeot. ἰθε-αν mentioned above. Solmsen conjectures that the endings -ον -αν were pronounced -ον -αν, to get an equal number of syllables with the 1st and 2nd plural, and that -ον -αν -αν are various attempts to write these sounds (Bezz. Beitr. xvii 336).

Late Greek new forms in the 3rd pl. are treated by Buresch in the Rhein. Mus., XLVI 193 ff.

§ 1022. Italic. In Umbro-Samnitic the endings *-nti and *-nt become -nt and -ns respectively, and are thus kept distinct. But in Latin the primary ending -nt was made universal in

1) This uncontracted form is wanting in Epic, because it did not suit the dactylic metre.

prehistoric times in the same way, though earlier, as the primary -t can be seen before our eyes usurping the place of the secondary -d (§ 996 p. 531). The form quotiēns: Skr. ktyat (III § 225 p. 106) makes it probable that Latin once had Umbr.-Samn. -ns = Idg. -nt*.

The complete disappearance of -i from -nti in Italic is remarkable; the same thing is seen with the ending -ti (§ 996 p. 531).

Along with -ns Latin must once have had a sentence doublet -n, if Johansson is right in saying that O.Lat. danunt is really dan* + the ending of legunt which it took by analogy (Akadem. afhandl. til Prof. S. Bugge, pp. 29 ff.); compare § 1023 on sēder-unt, and the O.H.G. and A.S. sind-un instead of sind, § 1025. Similarly ex-plēnunt prōd-inunt would stand for plen in (cp. the form int beside eunt, formed complementary to imū ūis as sint was to simus sītis, instead of sient). The same -n may perhaps be the ending of Umbr. staheren 'stabunt'.

Remark. I will not pass unmentioned Danielsson's conjecture (in Pauli's Altital. Stud. III 148) that -ns originally belonged to the indic. perfect only, and that -s is the same as we see in Avest. -ar's (§ 1077). Compare further Johansson, Bezz. Beitr. XVIII 49.

(1) The post-consonantal Idg. -ēnti -ént and -ṛti -ṛt run together into -ent(i) -ens in Italic.

(a) -ēnti and -ént.

Primary -ēnti = Ital. -ent(i). Umbr. s-ent Osc. set set 'sunt'.

Secondary -ént = Ital. -ens. Opt. Lat. si-ent instead of si-ens*; new form sint following sī-mus sī-tis, so also Umbr. sins sis with the secondary ending kept. Lat. viderint like sint.

(b) -ṛti and -ṛt.

Primary -ṛti = Ital. -ent(i). Since in Umbr.-Samn. the orig. -o-nt(i) has disappeared and given place to -ent(i) (see below), we may assume as 3rd pl. to dī-d-e-t 'dat' (§ 553 p. 107) the form dident*, which would be a parallel to Skr. dā-d-ati.

Secondary -ṛt = Ital. -ens seems to be lost.

(2) After Sonants -nti or -nt.

Primary -nti Ital. -nt(i). Lat. ple-nt fla-nt vide-nt ama-nt, Umbr. furfant 'februant'. Hence by analogy Lat. da-nt like (Ir. ē-đo-v § 1020 p. 548, i-nt (beside eu-nt). Lat. feru-nt su-nt: Skr. bhāra-nti O.Russ. sqŭi. Thematic Conjunctive Lat. eru-nt.

Secondary -nt = Ital. -ns, instead of which Latin has the primary -nt. Osc. fu-fa-ns 'erant' Lat. ama-ba-nt. Conj. Umbr. dirsa-ns dirsas 'dent' Osc. deica-ns 'dicant', Lat. dica-nt; Osc. herri-ns 'eaperent' tribarakatti-ns 'aedificaverint', Lat. age-nt agere-nt. Also, with -n for -nt, Lat. ex-plēn-unt etc. according to Johansson's explanation, for which see above p. 550.

In Umbr.-Samn. often -ent, where -ont is expected. Osc. fiiet 'fiunt'. Thematic Conjunct. of the s-Aor.: Umbr. furent 'erunt' Osc. censazet 'censebunt' (§ 824 p. 362), and these served as the model for fut. pf. Umbr. benurent 'venerint' Osc. tribarakattuset 'aedificaverint' (§ 872 p. 421). Of the same kind are perhaps Umbr. eitipes 'decreverunt' Osc. prufattens 'probaverunt', cp. the thematic 3rd sing. prufatted (§ 867 p. 416, §§ 872 f. pp. 420 ff.). The spread of -ent (-ens) was probably not due to the solitary form sent; probably there also existed ed-ent* 'they eat' O.Russ. jad-ęŭ, forms of the XIIth Present Class in -n-ent = Skr. -n-ānti, of the XVIIth in -ny-ent = Skr. -no-ānti (-nuv-ānti), and again the form did-ent* = Skr. dād-ati (see above, 1. b).

§ 1023. The Perfect in Latin shows the endings -erunt -ērunt and -ēre; to which we must add from inscr. ded-rot ded-ro C. I. L. i 173, 177, and some other forms which have been gathered by Deecke (De redupl. Lat. lingu. praeterito, pp. 17 f.). Though it is natural enough to derive -erunt, beside -is-tis -is-ti, from -is-ont(i)* (§ 841 p. 378), still the r of these 3rd pl. endings is doubtless connected in some part at least with the Skr. -ur, Avest. *-ar*⁶, Skr. mid. -rē, and others of like nature (§§ 1076 ff.). With the extension of the -r-form by -ont compare Skr. -r-anta -r-atē -r-ata (on the form -r-an, which looks as though it were most closely connected, refer to § 1078. 8). That there is no doubt of its being a middle -r-form extended by the active nt-suffix is shewn by the 1st sing. tutud-i (§ 1044), which has the middle ending. For further conjectures I refer to Osthoff, Perfect 210 ff., 609 f.; Windisch, Über die Verbalformen mit dem Charakter R, pp. 47 f.; Henry, Mém. Soc. Ling. vi 373 ff.; Zimmer, Kuhn's Zeitschr. xxx 281 ff.; Schweizer-Sidler and Surber Lat. Gramm. i² 139; Stolz, Lat. Gr.² 372 f.; Bartholomae, Stud. Idg. Spr. II 195 ff.

§ 1024. Keltic.

Primary Ending. Idg. -énti remains in O.Ir. it O.Cymr. int 'they are' for pr. Kelt. s-enti*, see footnote to II p. 196 (in the light of which I § 243. 3 p. 202 must be corrected). Elsewhere only Idg. -nti. O.Ir. berit: Gr. φέρο-ντι. carit for carā-nti*: cp. Lat. ama-nt. Conjunctive berit: Lat. fera-nt; cp. Mid.Cymr. gwelo-nt 'videant'. lenit 'they hold' for līna-nti*, as Gr. δάμνᾱσι (δαμνᾶσι) for δαμ-να-ντι* (§ 1020 p. 548), instead of Idg. n-énti*.

Side by side runs the Conjunct inflexion: indic. do-berat, in the oldest glosses -ot is still found, as tu-thegot = later do-thiagat 'they go away'; no charat 'amant'; conj. do-berat. Whether these are descended straight from forms in Idg. -nt (bero-nt* cara-nt* berā-nt*), or are middle forms with the Idg. ending -nto, has not been made out (see I § 657. 1 p. 506, and § 82. 1 p. 76); the second alternative however seems better. Zimmer, who identifies -berat with Gr. φέρο-ντο, explains the active function of this form by supposing that berit represents a confluence of two, bero-nti* and bero-ntai* (Kuhn's Zeitschr. xxx 236).

§ 1025. Germanic.

(1) After Consonants, -énti -ént and -yti -yt.

(a) Primary -énti = pr. Germ. -inþi. Goth. sind O.H.G. sint 'they are' for pr. Germ. sindi*, which is either the unaccented form of the word (cp. I § 669 p. 534) or has taken the place of the regular sinþi* = Goth. sinþ* O.H.G.

sind* on the analogy of batrand berant; O.H.G. also sint-un sind-un (O.Sax. and A.S. sind-un) with an additional ending following 1st pl. birum 2nd pl. birut. Secondary -ént is quite lost.

(b) Primary -yti is lost. Secondary -yt = Germ. -un is perhaps original in O.Sax. ded-un 'they did' O.H.G. wissun 'they knew' (§ 1017. 1. b p. 544). -un is always found in the 3rd pl. of both strong and weak Perfect, and also sometimes in the Present: e. g. Goth. skatskáid-un bër-un O.H.G. sciad-un bär-un, Goth. nasidēd-un O.H.G. nerit-un, Goth. vit-un O.H.G. wizzun (§ 508 p. 74), O.Icel. er-o er-u 'they are'. Perhaps these endings have been under the influence of the middle -undai* -unda* = Idg. -ytai -yto, which we may assume to have lasted down to protoethnic Germanic.

(2) After Sonants -nti and -nt.

Primary -nti. Goth. salbō-nd O.H.G. salbō-nt, O.H.G. habē-nt. Goth. baira-nd O.H.G. bera-nt; instead of the latter, Frank. berent, formed doubtless like the 1st pl. beremēs (instead of beramēs) under the combined influence of the 2nd plural beret (§ 1035) and present stems with -iō- (suoche-mēs -nt).

Secondary -nt. Perhaps it is old in O.H.G. conj. salbō-n like O.Ir. -carat 'ament' (§ 930 p. 476). Further, -nt*, but not original, in all optatives, as O.H.G. s-ī-n bār-ī-n, which are to be compared with Lat. s-i-nt instead of s-i-ent (it is hardly likely that sīn is for s-iī-inþ* = Idg. s-iī-ént*), and O.H.G. berē-n (instead of Idg. bhéroī-yt*), which falls in line with Gr. φέροι-ν (§ 1020. 1. b p. 547). Gothic in the optative shows -na, salbō-na bērei-na batrái-na; and the -n of Old Swedish must come from -na (cp. Kock, P.-B. Beitr. xv 244 ff.), while the W.-Germ. -n may possibly have once been followed by a vowel, now lost. This -na displaced -n = Idg. -nt* on the analogy of the 1st plural -ma (§ 1007. 2 p. 538). I suggest that in the 1st plural of these forms there were first two parallel suffixes -ma and -m, and that this fact produced -na beside -n; then the fuller form won the day in all persons.

§ 1026. Slavonic¹). The variation of (O.Russ.) -nti

1) In Baltic, the 3rd singular did for 3rd plural too; see § 999 p. 533.

and (O.Bulg.) -ntū (= nt + particle u) ran parallel to that of -tī and -t-ū in the 3rd sing., see § 999 p. 532 f.

(1) After consonants, -énti -ént and -ŋti -ŋt, both running into -etī -e.

(a) Primary -énti = -etī. O.C.Sl. (Russ.) jad-etī: Skr. ad-anti. Secondary -ént in O.Bulg. jad-et-ū (but cp. below).

(b) Primary -ŋti = -etī. O.C.Sl. (Russ.) dad-etī: Skr. dād-ati. Secondary -ŋt in O.Bulg. dad-et-ū like Skr. dād-at-u (but cp. below) and perhaps in the -e of s-Aorists, as O.C.Sl. daše (§ 1017. 1. b p. 543 f.

(2) After sonants, -nti and -nt.

Primary -nti. O.C.Sl. (Russ.) imaŋtī beside 3rd sing. ima-tī, beraŋtī saŋtī znaŋtī.

Secondary -nt. Aor. O.C.Sl. nesa, adjunct. ha for bhy-o-nt* (§ 523 p. 87), baŋa (§ 909 p. 458). With the particle u, O.Bulg. imaŋtū beraŋtū saŋtū znaŋtū.

On smrīdeŋtī -etū for -inti -int-u, see § 637 Rem. p. 176.

If in proethnic Slavonic the mi-presents had -ntī, the rest -ntū (jadetī — beraŋtū), and if levelling took place in different directions in the several dialects (cp. § 999 p. 534 on -tī and -tū in the 3rd singular), O.Bulg. jadetū could not be brought in evidence for Idg. -ént (1. a), nor O.Bulg. dadetū for Idg. -ŋt (1. b).

1ST PERSON DUAL.

§ 1027. Proethnic Indo-Germanic. The suffix began with u- and shows in its ending some kinship with the 1st plural suffixes beginning with m-. It can only be traced in Aryan, Germanic, and Balto-Slavonic.

(1) Primary forms -ues -uos and -uesi -uosi. Skr. s-vās bhāra-vas, Avest. Gath. us-vaht (3rd sing. vaš-tī 'wishes'). Also doubtless Goth. batrōs salbōs, cp. § 1029.

(2) Secondary or Perfect forms -uē -uō. Skr. á-bhara-vo. Goth. opt. batrāi-va; perf. bēru for bēru-u(i)* or -u(a), possibly for bēr-uui* or -uua with a form of suffix that makes a parallel to -ŋime -ŋimo (= Goth. -um ?); cp. § 1001 p. 535. Lith. pret. sūko-va refl. -ro-s, O.C.Sl. aor. vezo-vē (but cp. § 1030).

§ 1028. Aryan. In Sanskrit only -vas and -va, in Avestic only -vahī and -va are found. That Sanskrit has no -vasi, Avestic no -vō, may be considered an accident. For examples see § 1027; I add Avest. injunct. jvāva i. e. jīvā-va from Ar. jīv- 'to live' (Bartholomae Handb. § 91 a Anm. 4, p. 40).

§ 1029. Germanic.

The primary form appears to occur in Goth. batrōs (3rd sing. batri-þ) salbōs (3rd sing. salbō-þ), cp. 1st pl. O.H.G. -mēs. salbōs perhaps for salbō-ūs* (cp. Streitberg, Die germ. Compar. auf -ōz-, p. 9 as against I § 181 Rem. p. 159). Instead of bairōs we should expect bairáus*. To assume an Idg. ground-form berōyes* on the strength of Goth. bairōs, as Streitberg does (Zur germ. Spr., 108) seems to me to be open to criticism.

Secondary forms. Opt. Goth. batrái-va like 1st pl. batrái-ma. Perf. bēru see § 1027; similarly Norse Run. waritu for writ-u* 'we both scratched, or wrote'.

A neat conjecture is that of van Helten (P.-B. Beitr. xv 472), who sees a 1st dual injunct. aorist in O.Sax. wita 'come along, very well' orig. 'tendamus', for wita-w-*. Compare 1st pl. A.S. wuton 'come along' § 532 p. 94.

§ 1030. Balto-Slavonic.

Lith. ēs-va sūka-va reflex. sūka-vo-s, cp. 2nd dual sūka-ta sūka-to-s. -vō is a secondary ending like -mē (-mē-s -me) in the 1st plural. But -vō is doubtless not = Idg. -uō* (for which we ought rather to have -vā), but a transformation of the Idg. secondary endings on the analogy of the 2nd dual (cp. Slav. -va below).

O.C.Sl. -vě: jes-vě veze-vě aor. vezo-vě opt. vezě-vě. As representing Idg. -uē* we expect -vi (cp. mati 'mother' I § 76 p. 66). There seems therefore to have been an imitation of vě 'we two' (cp. § 1008 p. 539 on 1st pl. -my). The ending -va, rare in O.C.Sl., more common in Mod.Slov. and Czech, I prefer to regard as an imitation of -ta (2nd dual) than as representing Idg. -uō* (cp. above Lith. -va). In Mod.Slovenian, which has -vě and -va both, a difference of gender has developed between them, because it so happened that there were feminine words like raqē (III § 286 p. 194) and masculines like vlūka (III § 285 p. 193), and vē and va were grouped accordingly (cp. what is said of -tē in § 1036).

2ND PERSON DUAL.

§ 1031. Proethnic Indo-Germanic.

(1) Primary ending something like -thes -thos; observe that the aspirate rests on the authority of Aryan only; the same is true of the 2nd plural (§ 1009 p. 540). Skr. s-thás bhāra-thas. Lat. es-tis agi-tis (cp. § 1034). Goth. batra-ts (cp. § 1035).

(2) Secondary or Perfect forms.

(a) -tā. Lith. pret. sūko-ta reflex. -to-s, O.C.Sl. aor. veze-ta. And, no doubt, Umbr. futu-to 'estote' (§ 1034).

(b) -tom (also -tem?). Skr. ā-bhara-tam. Gr. ἐ-φέρε-τον.

§ 1032. Aryan. Skr. primary -thas: s-thás bhāra-thas; secondary -tam: ās-tam ā-bhara-tam. The Avestic forms in -pō and -tem, which answer to these, are used for the 3rd dual.

On Skr. -āthur in the Perfect, see § 1038.

§ 1033. Greek. The secondary ending -ρον drove out the primary in prehistoric times (cp. the levelling out of all but -μεν in the 1st plural, § 1004 p. 537): pret. ἦσ-ρον ἐ-φέρε-ρον, pres. ἔσ-ρόν φέρε-ρον.

A consequence of the use of -ρον for both 2nd and 3rd dual in primary tenses was that the same was done in historic tenses, where -ρον belonged properly to the 2nd dual and -τᾶν (Ion.-Att. -την) to the third. Thus we get ἐφέρερον for both persons, and by similar reasoning ἐφερέτην for both also.

§ 1034. Italic. Lat. es-tis agi-tis agē-bātis st-tis are probably dual forms; see § 1013 p. 541.

The secondary ending -tā may have taken plural use in Umbrian forms like futu-to 'estote', for which see § 967 p. 509, and § 1040.

§ 1035. Germanic. The primary ending is represented by Goth. -ts, which at the same time acted as secondary:

baira-ts (-a- instead of -i-, cp. O.H.G. 2nd pl. bera-t § 1015 p. 542) perf. bēru-ts opt. vilei-ts. On the -t of -ts — for which *-ps would be expected — see I p. 406 footnote 1, Kluge in Paul's Grundr. i 324 (§ 10. 1. b), and Johansson Kuhn's Zeitschr. xxx 554 f.

The O.H.G. 2nd pl. bere-t 'fertis', which cannot be explained as being for Idg. bere-t(h)e*, may be a dual form. As far as sound-laws go, it may be compared with any of these three, Skr. bhāra-thas bhāra-tam or O.C.Sl. bere-ta, see § 1015 p. 542.

§ 1036. Balto-Slavonic.

Lithuanian has the secondary ending -ta (reflexive -tō-s) = Idg. -tā as its only form: sūko-ta, sūka-ta (instead of suke-ta*, see § 999. 2 p. 533), ēs-ta.

So also Slavonic: aor. veze-ta opt. vezē-ta pres. veze-ta jes-ta. A few instances of -tē are found, as also in the 3rd dual, probably in imitation of -vē in the 1st dual; so by reverse attraction -va is found instead of -vē (§ 1030 p. 555). -tē in the 2nd and 3rd dual is used where the subject is feminine, as we saw in the case of -vē (loc. cit.).

3RD PERSON DUAL.

§ 1037. Proethnic Indo-Germanic. This person is only preserved in Aryan, Greek, and Slavonic (as regards Lithuanian see § 999 p. 532 f.), which makes it difficult to determine what suffixes were used in the parent language. The only thing certain is that -tām is nothing but secondary: Skr. ās-tām Gr. ἄσ-την.

§ 1038. Aryan.

Primary ending pr. Ar. -tas: Skr. bhāra-tas Avest. lāra-tō. Avest. yūidyā-pō 'they both fight' shows the 2nd dual ending.

Secondary, pr. Ar. -tām. Skr. ā-bhāra-tām. In Avestic always -tem, the ending of the 2nd dual, as ai-tem 'they both went', just as in Greek we see -ρον in place of -τῶν (§ 1039).

In the Perfect pr. Ar. -at̐r, Skr. -ātur Avest. -atar^o: Skr. ca-kr-ātur sēd-ātur da-d-ātur; Avest. yaçt-atar^o (from yat- 'to stretch, strive to reach'), beside this Gath. vaocātār^o (from vac-

‘to speak’), where a, we may conjecture, comes from the middle suffix -āitē (maman-āitē). The r-ending is undoubtedly borrowed from the 3rd pl. in -r (Skr. -ur Avest. -ar’, § 1077), and the Skr. -áthur of the 2nd du., e. g. cakr-áthur, is due to the use of both -thas and -tas (cp. O.C.Sl. pri-jētū as 2nd and 3rd Person § 830 p. 367). The a of -atur appears to be that of the 3rd sing. and 2nd plural perfect.

§ 1039. Greek. Primary -τον: ἑσ-τόν φέρε-τον. Secondary -τᾶν and -των: ἦσ-την ἐ-φερέ-την and ἦσ-τον ἐ-φέρε-τον. Cp. § 1033 p. 556.

§ 1040. Slavonic. -te and -ta are variants without any distinction: O.C.Sl. pres. and aor. veze-te and -ta, opt. vezě-te and -ta. -te may be derived from -tes*, cp. Skr. -tas. Whether -ta originally belonged to the 3rd dual or was the ending of the 2nd dual is not clear. Perhaps -ta must be identified with Umbr. -tā in etu-ta ‘eunto’, see § 967 p. 508. As regards a third form -tē (used with a fem. subject), see § 1036 p. 557.

MIDDLE ENDINGS.

1ST PERSON SINGULAR.

§ 1041. Protoethnic Indo-Germanic.

(1) Primary endings there appear to be two:

(a) -mai or -māi in unthematic stems: Gr. ἵ-στα-μαι hí-do-mai, Lith. reflex. vel-mě-s(i) Pruss. as-mai ‘sum’.

(b) -ōi in thematic stems (vgl. -ō in the active). Skr. thematic Conjunct. kṛ-ñáv-āi (3rd sing. kṛ-ñáv-a-tē). Norse Run. haite O.Icel. heite ‘I bid, call’. The same ending in the long-vowel Conj.: Skr. bhārāi (cp. § 918 Rem. p. 466).

(2) The Secondary endings are quite obscure:

(a) Unthematic Stems. Skr. á-dviṣ-i doubtless for -a (á-dviṣ-i: dī-dviṣ-ē = 1st pl. -mahi Gr. -μεθα: -mahē), but opt. dviṣīy-á bhārēy-a. Gr. ἐ-δό-μην δι-δοί-μην φερόί-μην (Dor. -μᾶν), recalling the Suffix of the 2nd sing. -thēs beside act. -tha.

(b) Thematic Stems. Skr. á-bhar-ē. Gr. ἐ-φερό-μην.

(3) -ai or -āi in the Perfect, is doubtless connected with the -a of Skr. dviṣy-á and the -i = -ə of Skr. á-dviṣ-i (cp. § 1054. 3). Skr. tutud-ē. Lat. tutud-ī. O.C.Sl. věd-ě.

§ 1042. Aryan.

(1) Primary ending. The -ai of the thematic Conj. is old: Skr. mán-ai Avest. Gath. mēn-āi beside indic. Skr. á-ma-ta, s-Aor. Skr. mā-s-ai Avest. Gath. mēngh-ai beside indic. Skr. á-mā-s-ta, Skr. kṛ-náv-ai beside indic. kṛ-ṇu-tē. Also -ai in the long-vowel Conj.: Skr. bhárāi Avest. barāi. So there was once indic. pres. bharāi* (cp. active indic. Avest. ufyā Gr. φέω like conj. Avest. an̥ha Gr. ἔω Lat. erō and conj. Skr. ārcā Gr. ῥέω § 976. 2 p. 517), which was exchanged even in pr. Aryan for bharai* = Skr. bhārē Avest. barē following the -ai of the unthematic Indicative, and the analogy of -sai -tai etc., for the purpose, I would suggest, of distinguishing the conj. and indic. moods.

Instead of -ai in the conj. Avestic has sometimes -an̥ē, a new formation based upon the active -āni and its termination imitating the middle -t as compared with act. -ti etc., e. g. var'sānē beside 3rd sing. var's-a-itē (s-aorist of varz- 'to work'), yazānē (beside yazāi) with 3rd sing. yazā-itē (from yaz- 'to offer').

Aryan -ai in the non-thematic indic. present: Skr. bruv-ē Avest. mruyē i. e. mruv-ē beside 3rd sing. brū-tē mrū-itē, Skr. duh-ē, Avest. γn-ē (✓ ghen- 'strike, slay'). This -ai I regard as borrowed from the perfect in place of orig. -mai* (vice versa we have in Greek perf. δέδο-μαι following pres. δίδο-μαι), just as in the 3rd sing. Skr. -ē (§ 1055), and in the 3rd pl. Skr. -rē (§ 1078. 1), came from the perfect to the non-thematic present.

(2) Secondary ending. Thematic Skr. á-bharē Avest. a-barē O.Pers. a-takšaiy (from takš- 'to shape, make all right').

Unthematic. In the Indicative Ar. -i for -ə: Skr. á-duh-i á-kr-i, Avest. Gath. aoj-ī (from aoj- 'to speak'), s-aorist Skr. á-ruts-i, O.Pers. a-darš-iy (from dar- 'to hold'). But in the Optative Ar. -a: Skr. tanvīy-á Avest. tanuya i. e. tanviy-a from tan- 'to stretch' (§ 940 p. 485), Skr. bhārey-a Avest. Gath.

vāuray-ā (from var- 'to choose'), Avest. mainya for manyay-a* (I § 643 p. 482) = Skr. mānyēy-a.

(3) Pr. Ar. -aḥ in the perfect; Skr. śu-śruv-é Avest. susruyē i. e. su-sruv-ē from √kleu- 'hear'.

§ 1043. Greek. Primary -μαι; on the analogy of ἴδομαι ἄρνυμαι we get φέρω-μαι φέρω-μαι and perfect έδω-μαι έτενυ-μαι, etc.

Secondary (Dor.) -μᾶν: έδιδό-μην έδεικνί-μην έ'ειξάμην τετεύ-μην τιθεί-μην φεροί-μην.

§ 1044. Italic. Only the perfect Idg. -aḥ or -oḥ remains, but it loses its middle meaning: Lat. tutud-ī: Skr. tutud-é, ded-ī: Skr. dad-é (§ 867 p. 414). Perhaps we should explain revertī beside revertor, assēnsī beside assentior as due to the originally middle force of -ī.

§ 1045. Germanic. Idg. -ði (§ 1041.1. b) in O.Icel. heite heiti 'I bid, call', beside Goth. hāita.

Remark. I cannot agree with Jellinek's conjectures in his Beitr. zur Erklärung der germ. Flexion, 1891, pp. 70 ff.

In Gothic the 3rd sing. hāitada does duty for the 1st sing. too; so also A.S. hätte is 3rd and 1st sing., cp. Goth. 3rd and 1st pl. hāitanda. On this use of the 3rd person for the 1st see Jellinek in the work just cited, pp. 103 ff.

§ 1046. Balto-Slavonic.

In Baltic Idg. -mai or -māi remains: Lith. reflex. velmė-s(i) (§ 511 p. 76), Pruss. as-mai 'I am'. Cp. § 983 p. 522.

The perfect -aḥ or -oḥ occurs in the single form O.C.Sl. věd-ě 'I know'.

2ND PERSON SINGULAR.

§ 1047. Proethnic Indo-Germanic.

(1) Primary ending -saḥ or -sāḥ. Skr. bhāra-sē, Gr. φέρσαι φέρῃ, Goth. batra-za; thematic Conj. Skr. maq-s-a-sē Gr. βίη-σ-ε-αι (Theogn.), long-vowel Conj. Skr. bhār-a-sē Gr. φέρῃαι φέρῃ. Skr. da-t-sē dha-t-sē, (Gr. δί-δο-σαι τί-θε-σαι, Lith. dūsi desė-s O.C.Sl. dasi).

The same ending in the Perfect: Skr. da-di-ṣē ri-rik-ṣē, Gr. δέ-δο-σαι λέ-λειψαι.

(2) Secondary endings -so and -thēs, the latter connected with perf. act. -tha (§ 984. 3 p. 523), and recalling Gr. -μᾶν (§ 1041. 2 p. 528). Originally it would seem that -so belonged only to thematic and -thēs only to unthematic stems.

(a) -so. Avest. bara-nha, Gr. φέρο φέρον ἐ-φέροτο ἐ-φέρον, Lat. sequere. Possibly also Idg. -se, see § 1082. 1.

(b) -thēs. Skr. á-di-thās, Gr. ἐ-δό-θης. s-Aor. Skr. á-śramiṣ-thās from śram- 'to grow tired' Gr. ἐ-κρεμάσθης from κρέμα-μαι 'I hang'. O.Ir. cluín-te 'exaudi'.

§ 1048. Aryan. On -sua in the imperative see § 968 p. 510.

(1) Primary ending, pr. Ar. -sai. Skr. bhára-sē Avest. bara-nhē. Conj. Skr. pṛchā-sē Avest. per'sd-nhē; on -sāi in the Skr. conjunctive, see § 922 p. 470. Skr. brā-ṣē kṛ-nu-ṣē, Avest. raosē beside 3rd sing. injunct. Gath. raostā (from rud- 'to grow'). Perfect Skr. dadi-ṣē.

(2) In the Secondary endings Sanskrit and Avestic do not go together; the former has only pr. Ar. -thās, the latter only pr. Ar. -sa. Skr. á-kṛ-thās á-dhat-thās á-dhūnu-thās janīṣ-thās, opt. vārydhī-thās bhārē-thās, pret. á-bhara-thās. Avest. a-yasa-nha (cp. Skr. á-yacha-thās), Gathic aoyā beside 3rd sing. aog'da (I § 482 p. 356), dā-nha (but Skr. á-dhi-thās), opt. daiḍī-ša baraṇ-ša (but Skr. dadhī-thās bhārē-thās).

§ 1049. Greek.

(1) Primary ending -σαι. ῆσαι 'thou sittest' for ῆσ-σαι* (§ 494 p. 54), ῖδο-σαι δάμ-να-σαι. φέρεαι φέρον,¹⁾ conj. φέρηαι φέρον. Perf. γέγραπαι δέδο-σαι μέμνη-σαι. That the 2nd sing. imper. of the s-Aorist, as λέξαι, comes in here, we saw in § 910 Rem. p. 460, § 969. 2 p. 511.

(2) Of the two secondary endings, -θης holds its ground in the Present of Classes I and X and in the s-Aorist, as ἐ-δό-θης = Skr. á-di-thās (3rd sing. ἔ-δο-το = Skr. á-di-ta) ἐ-κρύ-θης = Skr. á-kṣa-thās (3rd sing. ἔ-κρυ-το = Skr. á-kṣa-ta), ἐ-βλή-θης

1) On the supposed middle forms in -αι, see Meisterhans Gramm. d. att. Inschr.² 131, the Author, Gr. Gr.² p. 147.

(3rd sing. ἐ-βλη-το), ἐ-μείχθη; (3rd sing. ἐ-μεικτο for *ἐ-μεικ-σ-το. On these forms is founded the whole "Weak" passive aorist ἐ-δόθη-ν etc. See § 589 pp. 130 f.

The only suffix which remained in living use was -σθ; and this, as in Avestic, spread to unthematic stems. ἐ-φίε-σθ ἐ-φίε-σθ, injunct. imper. φέρε-σθ φέρον. ἔ-θρε-σθ ἔθρον (beside ἐ-τέ-θη), injunct. imper. θέ-σθ θού, ἦσο for *ἦσ-σθ, ἐ-δίδο-σθ, ἐ-γέγραψο ἐ-δέδο-σθ, ἐ-δείξα-σθ (ἐδείξω Dor. ἐδείξα), opt. θή-σθ φέροι-σθ.

The σ of -σαι and -σο of course dropt in pr. Greek after vowels (I § 564 p. 420 f.). In Attic on the analogy of forms such as γέγραπαι ἐγέγραψο, the σ was restored in the perfect, pluperfect, and unthematic present and imperfect, with a very few exceptions of which one is ἐδύνω: δέδοσαι δίδουσι ἐδέδωτο ἐδίδωτο ἴστασαι etc. Homer has still the unrestored forms, βέβληαι plpf. ἔσσο διζῆαι ἐμάρναο imper. παρ-ίσταο, side by side with δύνουσαι παρ-ίστασαι imper. ἴστασο. The aorist everywhere kept clear of this tendency: Att. ἔθον ἐδείξω.

In later times, the vulgar dialect used -σαι with thematic stems as well, e. g. in the N. Test. πίσει.

§ 1050. Italic. Latin keeps -so in the form -re (I § 81 p. 73): — seque-re: Gr. ἐπε-ο, rē-re vidē-re fabulā-re, conj. sequā-re.

Side by side with -re there is a variant -ris, found everywhere except in the imperative; e. g. sequeris. The reason for this formation, which is analogical, is that agis and age were associated as being both second person. In the older language, -re is still commoner than the other.

As regards sequere sequeris the student may further compare the remarks in § 1082 on Osc. vincter.

Inscriptions also have -rus, as spatiārus ūtārus. I offer the following conjecture as to this ending. We may suppose that at the time when spatiā-so* was the form, a suffix *-so-r arose answering to *-to-r -tur in the 3rd singular,¹⁾ and that

1) *-so-r *-rur beside *-so -re like O. Ir. -the-r beside -the (§ 1051).

*-rur changed to -rus following -ris. This I think more probable than supposing that -ris changed to -rus on the analogy of -ur and -tur. Compare further p. 577 footnote.

§ 1051. Keltic. Irish retains Idg. -thēs.

-the for *-thēs in the injunctive with imperative function, as cluīn-te 'exaudi'; this is found almost exclusively with verbs which are altogether or mostly deponent in flexion. See § 909 p. 458.

-ther, made up of -the + the deponent suffix -r, appears in the conjugation of deponents; e. g. pres. indic. -sechther 'sequeris' conj. -sechther 'sequeris'. In the s-aorist *-s-thēs became -sse, and with -r -sser; as ro-sudigser from sudigim 'pono', like Skr. janiṣ-ṭhas.

§ 1052. Germanic. Here only -sai can be traced, Goth. -za (cp. III § 263 Rem. p. 165 f., Hirt, Idg. Forsch. I 217): salbō-za cp. Gr. perf. τε-τίμη-σαι Lat. injunct. pres. amā-re; baīra-za (a as the thematic vowel, as in 3rd sing. baīra-da, comes from the plural baīranda in all probability): cp. Gr. πέρε-αι.

The ending -zau in opt. baīrai-zau is, like -dau in the 3rd sing. and -ndau in 3rd plural, obscure. Compare imper. at-steigadau liugandau, § 970 p. 511.

§ 1053. Balto-Slavonic. Here also the only suffix is -sai, with active meaning.

In Lithuanian, it occurs with unthematic verbs, as desē(-s) for det-sē*: Skr. dhatsē; Pruss. seggē-sai 'thou doest'. See § 991 p. 528.

In Old Church Slavonic, also with verbs in -mi, as dasi 'givest' for dō-t-sai*: Skr. datsē. See ibid.

3RD PERSON SINGULAR.

§ 1054. Proethnic Indo-Germanic.

(1) Primary ending -tai or -tāi. Skr. ās-tē Gr. ἦσ-ται. Skr. ḡ-nu-tē Gr. ὄρ-νυ-ται. Gr. ἄη-ται Lesb. ποίη-ται τίμᾶ-ται Goth. salbō-da. Skr. bhāra-tē Gr. πέρε-ται Goth. baīra-da.

Thematic Conjunct.: Skr. kar-a-tē mā-s-a-tē Gr. καρῖ-ε-ται ἀμείψ-ε-ται. Long-vowel Conjunct.: Skr. manyā-tē Gr. μαίνω-ται.

(2) Secondary ending -to. Skr. á-di-ta Gr. ἔ-δο-το Lat. da-tu-r. Skr. á-stō-ṣ-ṭa Gr. ἔμεικτο for ἔ-μεικ-σ-το*. Opt. Skr. dadhī-tá Gr. τιθεῖ-το Lat. duī-tu-r, Skr. bhārē-ta Gr. φέρο-το. Skr. á-bhara-ta Gr. ἔ-φ'ρε-το Lat. agi-tu-r. Conj. Lat. ferā-tu-r O.Ir. do-berthar.

-to also in Venetian: zo-to 'ἔδοτο', zonas-to 'ἔδωκ'ετο, donavit'. See p. 53 footnote 2. In Armenian Bugge (Idg. Forsch. I 440) sees -to in the -v of the 3rd sing. aor. II mid., as cnav 'natus est' for gēnā-to*, cp. 3rd pl. cna-n § 1066. I also conjecture -to in such forms as Lith. rims-ta, see footnote to p. 216.

On the strength of Osc. -ter beside Lat. -tur = -to+r, e. g. vincter 'vincitur', we should perhaps assume another Idg. form -te beside -to (and similarly in the 3rd pl. -nte beside -nto), see § 1082.

(3) -ai or -ei in the Perfect: Skr. ca-kr-ē da-dh-ē.

In § 1041. 3 p. 560 I said that -ē in Skr. 1st sing. di-dviṣ-ē is doubtless connected with -i = -ə in the 1st sing. á-dviṣ-i. If so, we must connect -ē in 3rd sing. didviṣ-ē with -i in 3rd sing. aor. mid. pass., as ai. á-vāc-i; all the more because the root-vowel so strikingly recalls the Skr. 3rd sing. perf. act. (u-vāc-a). Compare § 905 p. 453.

§ 1055. Aryan. As regards -ām and -tām in the Imperative, see § 968. 2 p. 510.

(1) Primary ending Ar. -taḫ. Skr. vás-tē Avest. vas-tē (from vas- 'to clothe oneself'), Skr. dhattē Avest. Gath. dazdē (I § 482 Rem. 1 p. 356). Skr. bhāra-tē Avest. baraitē O.Pers. gauba-taiy 'is called'. Conj. Skr. yam-a-tē Avest. yamaitē (from yam- 'cohibere'), Skr. yāj-ā-tē Avest. yazaitē O.Pers. gaubā-taiy; on -tāi in the Skr. Conj. see § 922 p. 470.

(2) Secondary ending Ar. -ta. Skr. á-brā-ta Avest. Gath. mrū-tā, Skr. á-ha-ta O.Pers. a-ja-ta. s-Aor. Skr. á-praṣṭa Avest. Gath. fraṣṭa from √prek- (§ 814 p. 352). Skr. á-bhara-ta Avest. bara-ta O.Pers. a-naya-ta 'was led'.

Opt. ai. bruvī-tā Avest. Gath. mrvi-tā Skr. dadhi-tā Avest. daiḥi-ta, Skr. bhārē-ta Avest. baraē-ta.

(3) Perfect Ar. -ai. Skr. da-dhr-ē Avest. Gath. dā-dr-ē, Skr. dā-dh-ē Avest. daiḍ-ē. The -i of Skr. á-vāc-i Avest. Gath. a-vāc-i may be regarded as in some degree the secondary ending of this -ai; see § 1054. 3.

It is not uncommon to find Ar. -tai and -ai interchanging, in consequence of the close connexion between Present and Perfect. Thus on the one hand we have Skr. iṣ-tē instead of iṣ-ē (Avest. is-ē, Goth. act. aiḥ, § 848. 1 p. 391).¹⁾ On the other hand, Skr. bruv-ē Avest. mruiyē i. e. mruiyē instead of mrū-tē mrūitē, Skr. śṛuv-ē instead of śṛnu-tē. There is the same confusion in the 3rd pl. (§ 1078. 1). Compare also act. nō-nav-a beside nō-navī-ti § 850 p. 398. There is nothing to prevent forms like Skr. bruv-ē from being called an unreduplicated perfect.

§ 1056. Greek. On the imper. -σθω see § 966 p. 506 f.

(1) Primary ending -tai (Boeot. -τη Thess. -ται I § 96 p. 90). ἵστα-ται φέρε-ται, conj. ἀμείψε-ται φέρη-ται. Arcad. -τοι instead of -ται, but (notwithstanding O. Hoffmann, Die griech. Dial. I 180 f.) this comes from the analogy of -το.

Even in pr. Greek perf. δέδο-ται πέπυσται following the present (cp. Skr. iṣ-tē instead of iṣ-ē § 1055. 3), just as δέδο-μαι follows δίδο-μαι (§ 1043 p. 560).

(2) Secondary ending -το (Cypr. -tv I § 80 p. 71): ἵστα-το ἐ-φέρε-το, opt. τιθεῖ-το φέροι-το.

§ 1057. Italic. Here we have -to with -r. Lat. da-tu-r: Gr. δό-το. sequi-tu-r: Gr. ἔπε-το. As to Osc. -ter see § 1054. 2 p. 564, § 1082.

§ 1058.²⁾ Keltic. Probably only -to.

First in the 3rd sing. of the t-preterite, as O.Ir. as-bert

1) Compare the change of Upper-Germ. er weiss to er weisst and of O.Fris. āch 'he has' (= got. aiḥ) to ācht.

2) Whoever assumes with Zimmer that the 3rd pl. act. berit represents both beronti* and mid. berontai* (see § 1024 p. 552) may also regard 3rd sing. sechidir and 3rd pl. sechitir as representing -tai+r and -ntai+r.

dixit', which is followed by 1st sing. -burt etc. after -t became part of the stem; see § 506 pp. 72 f.

Next, in the middle ending -thar for -to+r, as conj. doberthar: Lat. ferā-tur.

§ 1059. Germanic. Only -tai remains. Goth. hāita-da A.S. hätte for hāita-đai*, Goth. salbō-da. See § 1045 p. 560. -a- is the thematic vowel, as in the 2nd sing. hāita-za § 1052 p. 563.

The ending -dau in Goth. opt. bairđi-dau (also used as 1st sing.) is obscure. Compare bairđi-zau, loc. cit.

1ST PERSON PLURAL.

§ 1060. Protoethnic Indo-Germanic. We may suppose that -medhai or -medhəi = Skr. -mahē is the Primary, and medhə = Skr. -mahi Gr. -μεθα the Secondary ending, e. g. pres. Skr. bhārā-mahē pret. Skr. á-bharā-mahi Gr. ἐ-φερό-μεθα. Compare § 973 p. 515 f.

Goth. bairanda is doubtless 3rd pl. and not for bira-mda* -midai* (§ 1071).

As to -ṃmedhai (Avest. hiśc-amaiḍē), answering to act. -ṃmes, see § 1001 p. 535 f.

§ 1061. Aryan. Skr. -mahē -mahi with h = dh is to be explained like the imper. ending -hi beside -dhi, see § 960 p. 503.

(1) Primary ending Skr. -mahē Avest. -maiḍē. Skr. bhārā-mahē Avest. barā-maiḍē. Conj. Skr. saniṣā-mahē Avest. cināpā-maiḍē (beside cinas-ti 'he teaches' § 626 p. 163); on Skr. conj. forms like yūjāmahai see § 922 p. 470.

The same ending in the Perfect: Skr. numuc-māhē.

(2) Secondary ending Skr. -mahi Avest. Gath. -maiḍi. Skr. á-yuj-mahi, s-Aor. Skr. á-ga-s-mahi (from gam- 'to go') Avest. a-mēhmaiḍi (from man- 'to think', § 815 p. 353). Opt. Skr. bhārē-mahi Avest. barōi-maiḍi.

In late Avestic -maiḍē is also used as secondary (just the opposite in Greek, § 1062), e. g. opt. barōi-maiḍē.

§ 1062. Greek. Only -μεθα, the secondary ending, is kept, and used for both primary and perfect suffix as well as secondary. ὄρ-νι'-μεθα φερό-μεθα, ἐ-φερό-μεθα, φεροί-μεθα, perf. πενύσμεθα.

Homer. -μεσθαι with σ by analogy of -σθε -σθον -σθην.

Remark. V. Henry (Mém. Soc. Ling. vi 73 f.) thinks that Greek once had in the active φέρομε; ἐφερομε*, and at this period the type φερόμεσ-θα was produced on the analogy of ἐκίρομε-θα; after that -μεσθα was employed as secondary as well as primary.

Aeol. -μεθεν, only known through the grammarians, appears to be modelled upon -μεν (-μεθεν : -μεν = -σθε : -τε). Compare 3rd pl. Thess. -νθει-ν § 1068.

2ND PERSON PLURAL.

§ 1063. Proethnic Indo-Germanic. All that can be fairly inferred from Ar. -dhyaī (primary) -dhyaṃ (secondary) and Gr. -σθε (both) is that the original ending contained dh. It is phonetically possible to derive Gr. -σθε from -σθφε*. The original ending of the suffix may perhaps be that shewn by Aryan. It is possible that Gr. -σθον was orig. 2nd plural (-σθον = Skr. -dhvam), and turned into a dual because of the dual meaning of φέρετον; after which -σθε was made for the plural to match -τε.

Remark. The σ of -σθε is the most obscure part of this suffix. Three explanations are possible.

(1) The suffix originally began with -zdh-, which became Gr. -σθ-. In Aryan z dropt between consonants, and the type thus produced became general.

(2) It orig. began with -dh-. Then Gr. ῆσ-θε πένυσ-θε come straight from it. In mentally analysing these forms, σ was conceived to be part of the suffix; whence φέρε-σθε etc. On this supposition it remains doubtful whether such forms as ἔσπαρθε ἔσταλθε πεφύλαχθε still have the orig. suffix, without the intrusive σ, or whether they once had σ and it disappeared as it regularly would.

(3) There was a double suffix, with initial -zdh- or -dh-; and each of the two types was preferred by certain languages.

Compare Bartholomae, Rhein. Mus. XLV 153.

§ 1064. Aryan. On Skr. -dhvad imper., see § 965 p. 506.

(1) Primary ending Ar. -dhyaī -dhyaī: Skr. -dhvē, also -dhuvē in Vedic, Avest. -duyē i. e. -duvē. Skr. anḡ-dhvē

(from anák-ti 'he smears, anoints') Avest. Gath. mer'ng'-duyē (from marc- 'to destroy', § 626 p. 162). Conjunctive Skr. kāmáya-dhvē; as regards -dhvāi in the conj., see § 922 p. 470.

The same ending in the Perfect: bubudhi-dhvē.

(2) Secondary ending. Ar. -dhuam -dhuuam: Skr. -dhvam, also -dhuvam in Vedic, Avest. -dhwem -dūm (I § 159 p. 142). Skr. á-bhara-dhvam Avest. bara-dhwem. Avest. s-aorist Gath. prā-z-dūm from trā- 'to push through' (§ 813 p. 351).

Perf. πέφανθε beside 1st sing. πέφασμαι 3rd sing. πέφανται is doubtless a transformation of πέφασθε* on the lines of ἐσπαρθε beside ἐσπαρθαι; see § 862 p. 411.

3RD PERSON PLURAL.

§ 1066. Proethnic Indo-Germanic.

(1) After consonants -ṽtai or -ṽtāi and -ṽto.

(a) Primary ending -ṽtai or -ṽtāi. Skr. ás-atē Gr. Hom. ἦ-αται, Skr. dá-dh-atē pu-n-atē ta-nv-atē.

(b) Secondary ending -ṽto. Skr. ás-ata Gr. Hom. ἦ-ατο. Skr. á-kr-ṽv-ata, s-Aor. á-dṛkṣ-ata. Opt. Gr. γενοί-ατο.

(2) After sonants -ntai or -ntāi and -nto.

(a) Primary ending -ntai or -ntāi. Skr. bhára-ntē Gr. φέρο-νται Goth. baíra-nda. Thematic Conj. Skr. ma-s-a-ntē Gr. Hom. ἐπ-εντένο-νται (ἐπ-εντένω 'I arrange'). Long-vowel Conjunctive Avest. hacā-ntē Gr. ἔνω-νται. Gr. διζή-νται Lesb. ἡγο-νόη-νται τίμα-νται Goth. salbō-nda.

(b) Secondary ending -nto. Skr. á-bhara-nta Gr. ἐφέρο-ντο Lat. feruntu-r O.Ir. do-bertar. Conj. Lat. fera-ntu-r O.Ir. do-bertar. Gr. ἔμ-πλη-ντο Lat. im-ple-ntu-r planta-ntu-r.

-nto is conjectured by Bugge (Idg. Forsch. i 440) in the -n of the Armen. 3rd pl. aor. II mid., as cna-n 'nati sunt' for gēnā-nto*.

On account of Oscan forms of the 3rd plural like karanter 'pascuntur' beside Lat. -ntur = -nto+r, we should perhaps assume an Idg. form -nte -nte beside -nto -nto (similarly in the 3rd sing. -te beside -to), see § 1082.

(3) Perfect. What connexion there is between the Aryan forms, as Skr. du-duh-ré ja-gm-i-ré, and O.Ir. do-mēn-alar (Gr. τετραάπα-αται) is still a riddle. See §§ 1076 ff.

§ 1067. Aryan. On the Imperative in -atām -ntām see § 968 p. 510.

(1) After sonants Ar. -atai -ata.

(a) Primary ending -atai. Skr. vās-atē, indh-atē indh-ātē, Avest. mer'nc-aitē.

(b) Secondary ending -ata. Skr. á-gm-ata á-tanv-ata, Avest. Gath. dar's-ata (✓ derk-).

In Avestic -aitē -ata as a rule gave way to -antē -anta, which mark the plural number better; cp. act. daṣ-enti as contrasted with Skr. dádih-ati § 1018. 1. b p. 545. E. g. ānhantē dadentē ver'nvaintē (Skr. ās-atē dádih-atē vṛṇv-ātē), mravanta (3rd sing. mrāo-tā mrū-ta), opt. barayanta.

As regards O.Pers. ahata 'erant' it is impossible to say whether it ought to be spelt with a nasal or not (I § 197 Rem. p. 166).

(2) After sonants Ar. -ntai -nta.

(a) Primary ending -ntai. Skr. bhára-ntē, Avest. bara-ntē. Short-vowel Conjunctive Skr. nā-s-a-ntē (from nam- 'to bend, bow oneself'), long-vowel Avest. yazd-ntē. On -ntāi in the Skr. Conjunctive see § 922 p. 470.

(b) Secondary ending -nta. Skr. á-bhara-nta, Avest. yaze-nta O.Pers. a-baratā (read abarantā).

(3) In the Perfect we have an r-ending, Skr. -rē Avest. -rē, see § 1078. 1. Observe that in Sanskrit this ending crept into the Present like the -ē of the 3rd sing. (§ 1055. 3 p. 565). e. g. duh-ré sunv-i-ré.

§ 1068. Greek. On imper. -σθω -σθων -σθωσαν see § 966 p. 506 f.

(1) After consonants -αται -ατο.

(a) Primary ending -αται. Hom. ῆ-αται for ῆσ-αται*, κέ-αται for κελ-αται* (variant κείαται with κει- following κεί-μαι etc., see I § 130 p. 117 f.), εἰρύ-αται.

(b) Secondary ending -ατο. Hom. ῆ-ατο κεί-ατο εἰρύ-ατο. Opt. Hom. and elsewhere γινού-ατο ἐπι-φρασσά-ατο ἐπι-σταί-ατο, whose diphthongs οι and αι are to be explained like κεί-αται (a), δαινάτο = -νυι-ατο (§ 944 p. 487).

-αται -ατο are special favourites in the Perfect system, where they occur even in Attic prose; e. g. τετεύχ-αται γεγράφ-αται ἐ-τιτάχ-ατο (cp. § 898 p. 446).

Instead of τιθ-αται* διδ-αται* (Skr. dā-dh-atē) we have τίθε-νται δίδο-νται (2), as act. τίθει-ντι instead of τιθ-ατι* (§ 1020. 1. b p. 547).

(2) After sonants -νται -ντο.

(a) Primary ending -νται. φέρο-νται. Conj. φέρω-νται. διζή-νται Lesb. προ-νόη-νται.

(b) Secondary ending -ντο. ἐ-φέρο-ντο. πλή-ντο = πλᾶν-το* pres. πλάζω, ἔμ-πλη-ντο from plē- 'fill'.

Of the same kind are perf. μέμνη-νται δεδούλω-νται ἐ-μέμνη-ντο.

Wherever a long vowel precedes -νται -ντο it was previously short, as it should be (I § 611 p. 461). Compare opt. -πλήτο μεμνήμην § 944 p. 488. With φέρωνται cp. act. φέρου-ντι § 923 p. 471.

Both -αται -ατο and -νται -ντο overstep their proper boundaries in one or more dialects. In Ionic the former pair are applied to stems in ā, ē, or ō; as Hom. βελή-αται βελή-ατο instead of βέβλη-νται βέβλη-ντο, late Ion. πιπονέαται (for -ηαται) and τιθέ-αται διδό-αται, cp. act. τιθέ-ασι (§ 1021. 4 p. 549). On the other hand, -νται -ντο are added to stems in i and u in Attic and elsewhere, sometimes in Ionic itself; e. g. κεῖ-νται ἐκει-ντο λύ-ντο ἄγνυ-νται (should be ἀγνυ-αται*, cp. Skr. aśṇuv-atē) εἴρου-ντο, opt. γένοι-ντο τιθεῖ-ντο, with which compare 1st sing. ἔφει-ν (§ 979. 3 p. 520) and opt. 1st sing. φέροι-ν (ibid.) and 3rd pl. φέροι-ν (§ 1020. 1. b p. 547). Further, ῆνται ῆατο beside ῆαται ῆατο, since ῆμαι ῆμεθα (for ῆσ-μαι* ῆσ-μεθα*) were regarded as similar in structure to ἄγ-μαι etc.

Boeotian and Thessalian have ϑ in place of τ in the 3rd plural endings, as Boeot. ἐστροτεύα $\vartheta\eta$ (= Ion. ἐστρατεύαται) ἐβάλλον $\vartheta\omicron$ Thess. ἐγένον $\vartheta\omicron$; and Boeotian has ϑ in the active endings too, καλέον $\vartheta\iota$ διδόν $\vartheta\iota$. It may be suggested that ϑ came in from the middle endings -με $\vartheta\alpha$ and -σ $\vartheta\epsilon$, and in Boeotian had spread from the 3rd pl. middle to the 3rd pl. active.

In Thessalian we get -ν $\vartheta\epsilon\iota$ -ν as a primary ending, in which -ν probably came from the active; cp. § 1062 p. 567 on -με $\vartheta\epsilon\nu$. Example: ἐφαγγρέν $\vartheta\epsilon\iota\nu$.

§ 1069. Italic. Here we have -nto + -r. Lat. feru-ntur ama-ntur, Umbr. ema-ntur 'emantur'. On Osc. kara-nter see § 1066. 2. b p. 568.

§ 1070.¹⁾ Keltic. Here too we have -nto + -r, as O.Ir. do-bertar 'dantur': Lat. feru-ntur. Beside this -nto without -r is possibly contained in do-berat 'dant', see § 1024 p. 552.

§ 1071. Germanic. -ntai or -ntai in Goth. baira-nda salbō-nda, used for both 1st and 2nd plural (cp. § 1060 p. 566).

An obscure form is -ndau in the opt. bairāi-ndau (also used for both 1st and 2nd plural); cp. § 1052 p. 563.

PERSONS OF THE DUAL MIDDLE.

§ 1072. 1st Person. Aryan alone has any special suffix; Skr. prim. -vahē sec. -vahi, which if we judge by -mahē -mahi will be derived from *-medhai or *-medhāi and *-medhā. E. g. bhārā-vahē opt. bhārē-vahi; on -vahi in Conjunctive forms like sacāvahi see § 922 p. 470.

Greek. -με $\vartheta\omicron\nu$, only found in rare instances and questionable at that, is doubtless a transformation of -με $\vartheta\alpha$ made to match the ending of -σ $\vartheta\omicron\nu$.

§ 1073. 2nd and 3rd Person. Here there is hardly anything to do but to present the facts. Aryan alone shows suffixes that can have any claim to be regarded as original.

§ 1074. Aryan. Skr. primary 2nd dual -āthē 3rd dual -ātē, secondary 2nd dual -ātham 3rd dual -ātām in unthematic stems. Indic. pres. diviṣ-āthē -ātē, imperf. á-diviṣ-āthām á-diviṣ-ātām. It has the primary endings in the Perfect, cakr-āthē -ātē. In Avestic the same stems have the secondary 3rd dual -ātem = pr. Ar. -ātam*: a-srv-ātem von sru- 'hear'. In Vedic are other secondary endings, -īthām -ītām: 2nd dual injunct. aor. trā-s -īthām 3rd dual indic. aor. á-dh-ītām.

1) See footnote 2 to § 1058 p. 565, above.

Skr. primary 2nd dual -ēthē 3rd dual -ētē, secondary 2nd dual -ētham 3rd dual -ētām in thematic stems. Indic. pres. bhárēthē bhárētē, imperf. á-bharētham á-bharētām. On the Conjunctives bhárāithē bhárāitē see § 922 p. 470. In Avestic there is a 3rd dual indic. pres. vaenōiṣē, answering to the form of the Skr. 2nd dual; but injunct. 3rd dual jasætem.

Rarely Skr. -thē etc. without any preceding vowel in the ending itself. Skr. 2nd dual indic. perf. ci-kē-thē, 3rd dual indic. pres. patya-tē conj. aor. yam-a-tē, 2nd dual injunct. dī-dhī-thām. Similarly Avest. 3rd dual indic. perf. dazdē = dha-dh+taī*.

See further details in Bartholomae, Kuhn's Zeitschr. xxix 283 ff.; Jackson, Amer. Or. Soc. Proceed., Oct. 1889, p. CLXV.

§ 1076. Greek. Indic. pres. 2nd dual φέρε-σθον 3rd dual φέρε-σθον, imperf. 2nd dual ἐ-φέρε-σθον (ἐ-φερέ-σθην) 3rd dual ἐ-φερέ-σθην (ἐ-φέρε-σθον) answering to the active φέρε-τον etc., see § 1033 p. 556, § 1039 p. 558. Possibly φέρε-σθον was originally 2nd plural (§ 1063 p. 567), and caused -σθᾶν to be made on the model of -τᾶν.

ARYAN, ITALIC, AND KELTIC ENDINGS WITH R.¹⁾

§ 1076. In this section we discuss those endings of the Aryan, Italic, and Keltic branches which consist of, or contain, the suffix -r.

Remark. It is not impossible, but certainly it is unlikely, that the r which we noticed in the 2nd and 3rd singular in Armenian has the same origin (§ 986 Rem. p. 524).

1) These have been more fully treated by Windisch and Zimmer in their essays cited on pages 512 and 513.

Italic and Keltic are very much alike in these endings. Aryan is quite different; and it has not yet been shewn which best represents the parent language, or how the present variation came about. Perhaps r was originally a perfect suffix; for the perfect has peculiar endings in other of its persons. But whether r properly belonged to the 3rd plural, or denoted an indefinite subject or subjects, such as one says, one comes, or what, it is at present quite impossible to say. Certain r-forms in both Italic and Keltic appear to belong to the separate history of those branches.

I shall not indulge in any speculations as to the earliest value of this r. The latest discussion may be seen in Johansson's paper, Bezz. Beitr. xviii 49.

§ 1077. Aryan shows it almost exclusively in the 3rd plural (exceptions are the 2nd and 3rd dual perf. act. in -athur -atur in Sanskrit).

The Active voice has it in the 3rd pl. perfect, aorist, and optative, with exception of the 2nd and 3rd dual perfect.

First as regards the usage in the 3rd plural. Here -r sometimes is the only personal suffix and sometimes it is combined with s. Tracing the forms back to proethnic Aryan, we get four:

(1) -r = Avest. -r': opt. hyā-r' 'sint', a later re-formate with the strong opt. suffix -yā- (§ 1018. 2 p. 546).

(2) -r (the form taken by r before sonants) = Skr. -ur Avest. -ar' (I § 290 p. 233): perf. Skr. ās-úr Avest. ānsh-ar', aor. Skr. á-dh-ur Avest. Gath. d-ar', opt. Skr. sy-úr bhārēy-ur. But Skr. -ur may be equated with Avest. -er's (4).

(3) -r's = Avest. -r's: opt. daiṇyā-r's, a new form like hyā-r' (1).

(4) -r's = Avest. -er's: perf. cikōit-er's (§ 850 p. 397, § 852 p. 402). This form may also be the origin of Skr. -ur, compare gen. abl. Skr. matúr with Avest. ner's III § 235 pp. 125 f.

Exceptionally Skr. -ur appears in the indic. present as well, as duh-úr 'they milk'. But this formation, 3rd pl. mid. duh-ré and 3rd sing. mid. duh-ē, may if you will be called an unreduplicated perfect. In any case duh-ūr does not justify our assuming that r originally belonged to the indic. present.

The combinations Skr. -atur Avest. *-atar*⁶ in the 3rd dual, and Skr. -athur in the 2nd dual, are without doubt peculiar to Aryan; see § 1038 p. 557 f.

§ 1078. In the Middle and Passive r is found only with the 3rd plural, and only combined with other elements, added after it, which usually appear as middle and passive suffixes in other connexions.

(1) -raḥ in the 3rd pl. perf., and by analogy in the 3rd pl. present, is proethnic in Aryan. Skr. du-duh-rē da-dh-rē, pres. or unreduplicated perf. duh-rē (cp. duh-ūr § 1077); Skr. śē-rē Avest. saē-rē sōi-rē 'they lie' (cp. 3rd sing. śāy-ē beside śē-tē). In Sanskrit -rē is generally preceded by -i- = Idg. -ə-, regularly so in Vedic with a long stem-syllable (cp. § 844 p. 385), as īś-i-rē ja-jñ-i-rē (cp. Avest. vaōz-i-rem under 2.); so also pres. śṛṇv-i-rē (cp. 2nd sing. śṛṇv-i-ṣē § 853 p. 403). -irē became a new suffix and in classical Sanskrit was the only one used for the Perfect, as duduh-irē cikriy-irē (pres. śay-irē beside śē-ratē). By analogy of forms like duduh-rē and like jajñ-irē we have in Vedic duduh-rirē jagrbh-rirē, and others.

In Avestic -rē passed into the a-Conjunctive: ānha-rē beside indic. ās-tē 'sits'.

Ar. -raḥ seems to have the same relation to act. -r (ṛ) as -ntaḥ to -nt, 3rd sing. -taḥ to -t and the like.

(2) Further, -ram in the augmented preterite is pr. Aryan, as á-dṛṣ-ram a-sṛg-ram, Avest. vaōz-i-rem (§ 844 p. 385, § 854 p. 403). -ram is usually compared with the middle ending of 2nd pl. -dhvam.

The following r- suffixes appear in Sanskrit only.

(3) -ra in augmented preterite: á-duh-ra. á-duh-ra : duh-rē = á-duh-ata : duh-atē (duh-átē).

(4) -ratē and -rata: pres. duh-ratē śē-ratē, opt. maṣ-i-rata bharē-rata.

(5) Isolated: -ranta in á-va-ṛt-ranta.

(6) -rām and (7) -ratām in the Imperative: duh-rām and duh-ratām. Cp. duh-ātām § 968.2 p. 510. Lastly

(8) -ran in the augmented preterite, as a-va-vrt-ran ā-ca-kr-i-ran ā-dṛṣ-ran ā-śē-ran, and in the Optative, as da-dī-ran bhārē-ran. That the ending -an is the same as -an in the active (for -ant*) I cannot regard as proved at all. It may be some element not found elsewhere as a personal suffix, of like character with -s in the Avestic active ending -rēš.

§ 1079. As regards the r-suffixes in Italic and Keltic, the first remark to be made is that not one of them can be confidently held to have originally had an active meaning. All of them may be explained as originally deponent or passive (cp. § 1081 sub fin.).

The Latin suffixes of the 3rd pl. indic. perf. -erunt -ērunt -ere (with dedrot etc.) are at least in some degree akin to the Aryan r-forms. This has been already pointed out as likely in § 1023 p. 551. But there is no need to believe that the Latin forms have any such basis as the Aryan active forms of the 3rd plural perfect. Since the 1st sing. tutud-ī was properly middle, the 3rd plural may be derived from a middle type like that of Skr. -rē -ra.

The remaining r-forms in Italic and Keltic fall into two groups.

§ 1080. (I) Forms in Umbro-Samnitic and in Keltic where r appears to be the only personal suffix.

The Umbro-Samnitic forms seem best translated by aid of the indefinite one or they. Umbr. pihāfei(r) 'let them have appeased', Osc. sakrafir (with últiumam for object) 'let them have consecrated' (§ 874 p. 422, § 926.3 p. 473). Umbr. ferar 'let one carry', ier 'one will go' possibly for ier-er* i. e. e(i)-es-er* (§ 837 p. 374), benuso(r) 'one will have come' (§ 872 p. 421). With Zimmer and Conway, I formerly regarded these as 3rd plural active (Ber. sächs. Ges. der Wiss., 1890, pp. 214 ff.). But, as we infer from a comparison of sakrafir with sakrim fakiiadon the other Oscan inscr. of the same kind (Rhein. Mus. XLIII 557 f.), they may be 3rd singular deponent. Compare the active and deponent imperatives with -tu and -mu, used with indefinite subject in the ritual rules of the Iguvine Tables; and the Avest. 3rd sing. zazan-ti 'one trains, breeds' and others like it (Bartholomae, Ar. Forsch. II 82); and a great deal of illustrative matter may be found in Miklosich's essay on Sentences without a Subject (Subjectlose Sätze, 2nd ed. 1883). There is a third possibility. They may be 3rd singular passive, answering to Latin impersonal constructions (legitur 'one reads, they read'); Osc. sakrafir ultiumam would exactly correspond to Lat. legitur Vergilium, legendum est Vergilium (see Weisweiler, Lat. part. fut. pass., pp. 70 ff.). The last view is best; it is best supported by Keltic, as will now be shewn.

These Umbro-Samnitic forms run on parallel lines with the Keltic 3rd sing. passive; e. g. O.Ir. do-berar 'datur' (also -berr because of the two r's, but this syncope is not otherwise found — we only have -canar, for example; Zimmer, Kuhn's Zeitschr. xxx 252 takes a different view), whose absolute bye-form berir, like the 3rd pl. bertir beside do-bertar (§ 1082), I believe to be a new Keltic developement; imper. berar 'should be brought', Mod.Bret. quemerer (i. e. com-berer*) 'is taken', Mod.Cymr. ni chenir 'there will be no singing'. Zimmer's view that these Keltic r-forms, like the Umbrian and Oscan, are 3rd plural active, has not enough to support it.

Remark 1. Zimmer's attempts to prove that the active indefinite idiom with one is kept in Britannic (loc. cit., pp. 237 ff.) fail, according to Thurneysen. "They are proved to fail by the single fact that in expressions like 'he is killed' or 'one kills him' the pronoun which is the object can be left out, even in Cymric, thus shewing that the person is regarded as the subject. Furthermore, Zimmer forgets that the passive preterite to the r-forms in Britannic, as in Irish (and in Italic), is represented by the part. passive with -to-. This indicates that the r-form was regarded as a real passive, possibly in proethnic Keltic (or, if you will, in Italo-Keltic)."

Remark 2. If we assume these Italo-Keltic r-forms to be 3rd sing. deponent or passive, the question arises whether their -r came from -ro*, a form which may have stood to the middle ending -to* in much the same relation as Pali 3rd pl. socare 'they trouble themselves' to Skr. śocante.

§ 1081. (II) r in combination with other personal endings, active and middle, which always precede it (cp. Skr. 2nd and 3rd dual -athur -atur § 1077 p. 574).

These forms may be either deponent or middle in Latin. In Keltic, however, these two moods were distinguished in form; for in the deponent conjugation, r runs through all persons except the 2nd plural, but the passive forms only the 3rd singular and plural with such suffixes.

It is possible that once, in protoethnic Italo-Keltic, r was used only with middle endings; that in this use it came to be a medio-passive sign; and that it was afterwards added to middle or active endings with the effect of making them middle or passive.

§ 1082. (A) r added to Middle endings.

(1) Italic and Celtic 3rd pl. -nto+r. Lat. depon. sequi-tur sequo-ntur sequā-tur sequa-ntur etc., pass. agi-tur agu-ntur etc. Umbr. e. g. emantur 'emantur'. O.Ir. depon. -sechethar 'sequitur' -sechetar 'sequontur' perf. do-mēnatar 'putaverunt', pass. do-bertar 'dantur, dentur'; in the 3rd sing. indic. pass. this ending is shown only in the 2nd and 3rd Conjugations in Irish, as no charthar 'amatur' do-lēicther 'linquitur' (1st Conjug. doberar, conjunct. -berar and -berthar).¹⁾ The absolute forms sechidir 'sequitur' sechitir 'sequontur' bertir 'feruntur, ferantur' carthir 'amatur' lēicthir 'linquitur' etc. are analogical like berir 'fertur' (§ 1080 p. 576).

No satisfactory explanation has been given of the Umbr.-Samn. endings with e-vowels, which answer to Lat. -tur -ntur. Osc. vincter 'vincitur' sakarater 'sacratur' sakahīter 'sanciat' comparascuster 'consultus erit' karanter 'pascuntur', Pelign. upsaseter 'operaretur' or 'operarentur', Marruc. ferenter 'ferantur'. Umbr. herter herte herti hertei 'oportet' ostensendi 'ostenderentur'; for the form emantur, see above. The Oscan forms had undoubtedly a short e; and I venture to conjecture that parallel to -to -nto there were Idg. forms -te -nte (cp. 1st pl. -mo(s) -me(s), -mom -mem, § 1000 p. 535).²⁾ Umbr. hertei points to ē. Very well — we may suppose that there were variants -tē beside -te -nte, as we saw -mēs beside -mes in the 1st plural (loc. cit.). But herter is used in such a way that we may believe it to be conjunctive; and then we are led to ask whether its ē, and that of ostensendi (-i for -ē), be not the conjunctive suffix -ē-, which could easily creep into the personal ending when there was such a form as ferē-r* (cp. ferar).

1) See footnote 2 to § 1058, page 565.

2) If this be correct, there would be no need to derive the -re of Lat. sequere (op. Gr. ἑνε-ο) from Idg. -so*; it might be derived from Brugmann, Elementa. IV.

Remark. On Zimmer's view of these Umbro-Samnite forms (Kuhn's Zeitschr. xxx 277), which I regard as wrong, see Buck, Der Vocalismus der osk. Sprache pp. 79 f.

(2) Latin forms of the 2nd singular, like spatiārus possibly contain -ru-r* = -so + r*. See § 1050 p. 562.

(3) In Oscan censamur 'censemino, censored' r is seen combined with the Umbr.-Samn. mid.-pass. suffix -mōd*. -d was exchanged for -r. See § 967 pp. 508 f.

(4) O.Ir. -ther in the 2nd sing. of deponent verbs, e. g. -sechther 'sequeris', is derived from -the = Idg. -thēs*, which is preserved without -r in the imperative type cluin-te. See § 1051 p. 563.

§ 1083. (B) r added to Active endings.

(1) Italic and Keltic 1st sing. -ōr*, in Keltic only deponent. Lat. sequor O.Ir. -sechur 'sequor', Lat. gradior O.Ir. -midiri 'iudico', pass. Lat. feror capior. Lat. ferar beside Act. feram, ferrer beside act. ferrem; -r takes the place of -m.

Remark 1. It is of course not certain that -ōr* is the active -ō + r. It may be that Italo-Keltic had the 1st sing. mid. seqōi* (§ 1041.1. b p. 558), and that this was transformed to seqōr*, as in Oscan -mōd* -mud* became -mur (§ 1082. 3).

(2) Italic and Keltic 1st pl. -mor*, in Keltic only deponent. Lat. sequimur sequāmur sequēmur ferimur etc., O.Ir. -sechem-mar 'sequimur, sequamur' perf. do-mēnammar 'putavimus'. Whether -mor* was transformed to -mos* by exchanging -s for -r, or whether it was an extension of -mo* (cp. § 1000. 2. a p. 535), is doubtful. mm instead of m in Irish is due to the active forms ammi bermmi etc. (see § 1006 pp. 537 f.).

Idg. -se. ūtāris* would be related to ūtārus as Oso. vincter to Lat. vincitur Compare § 1050, page 562.

(3) In the Irish deponent perfect we have 1st sing. do-mēnar 2nd sing. do-mēnar beside the active forms 1st sing. cechan for ce-can-a* 2nd sing. cechan (§ 981.4 p. 521, § 989 p. 525). In 3rd sing. do-mēnair beside act. cechuin the non-palatal pronunciation of the n is a difficulty. Is this due to the analogy of other persons of the perfect, or because -gēnair comes from ge-gnā*?

Remark 2. Neither Italic nor Keltic have an r-form in the 2nd plural. Latin has sequimini ferimini (see II § 71 p. 165). The Irish deponents have the active ending, as -midid beside -midiur, do-mēnair beside dō-menar.

PERIPHRASTIC MIDDLE IDIOMS (REFLEXIVE).

§ 1084. In several languages, where the Idg. Middle (Skr. bhūra-tē Gr. φέρεται) either dwindled or quite died out, its place was filled by the combination of the Active (or some Middle form degraded until it could not be distinguished from the active) and an Oblique Case of the pronoun which answered to the active form in question, and which referred to it.

From a comparison of Sanskrit and Greek we may believe that this roundabout idiom was general at the time when the Idg. Middle was still in living use. For in Greek and Sanskrit both periphrastic reflexive and middle are used side by side; and this is true, both when the contrast between the subject and object is important, that is, when there is a contrast with some other person, which makes it necessary to lay stress on the person implied by the middle form; and also when the cases are not clearly shown by the middle, or where this could be understood as a passive, so that there was every need to make the expression as clear as possible. Thus we have Skr. yád yajamānabhāgā prāśnāty atmánam evā prīṇati (Taitt. Sāh. I 7. 5. 2) 'when he eats his share of the offering, he gets new life in himself' (otherwise it is his task to quicken others), néd atmánā vā pythivī vā hināsāni (Satap.-Brāhm. I 2. 4. 7)

'that I may not destroy either myself or the earth', Gr. ἐμοὶ δὲ δέκ' ἔξελον οἶω (Od. 9. 160) 'but for myself alone I chose ten (goats)', ἀποκρύπτω ἑμαυτόν 'I hide myself' beside ἀποκρύπτομαι 'I hide for myself' or 'I am hidden'. Often enough we find the middle used with the reflexive pronouns, as tābhir vāi sá ātmānam āprīṇīta (Tāitt.-Sāh. v 1. 8. 3) 'therewith he enjoyed himself', sá yajñām ātmānā vyādhatta (Māitr.-Sāh. i 9, 3) 'he changed himself into the offering', ἡ κακῶσαι ἡμᾶς ἢ σφᾶς αὐτοὺς βεβαιώσασθαι (Thuc. i. 33. 3), ὅτι Ξενοφίων βούλεται ἑαυτῷ ὄνομα καὶ δύναμιν περιποιήσασθαι (Xen. An. v 6, 17). Cp. Lith. būrną sau prausiū-s(i) § 1086.

§ 1085. The next step is represented in Italic and Celtic. Here the original Middle had got mixt up very much with the r-deponent (§§ 1081 ff.). E. g. Lat. sequitur O.Ir. -sechethar 'sequitur' = Skr. sácatē Gr. ἕπεται, Lat. re-minīscor O.Ir. do-muiniur 'I think' = Skr. mānyatē. But it partly gave place to the periphrastic reflexive, Lat. dedecore se abstinebat (ἀπείχετο), gloriam sibi peperit (ἐπορίσατο, ἐκτίσαστο), mecum reputo (σχοποῦμαι, λογιζομαι), O.Ir. no-m-moidim 'glorior' (Wb. 14°), lit. 'I pride myself', act r-an-glana 'si emundaverit se' (Wb. 30°). In Latin this idiom is often hardly distinguishable from the deponent, as immiscemus nos rei and immiscemur, castris se effundunt and effunduntur, relaxat se and relaxatur.

§ 1086. Next come Germanic and Balto-Slavonic, where the Idg. Middle with middle meaning had died out in prehistoric times. — In Gothic the forms remain but have passive meaning; in Balto-Slavonic there are forms of the 1st and 2nd sing. middle in the place of active forms, see § 1046 p. 560, § 1053 p. 563, and footnote to page 216 above. — Here then the Periphrastic Reflexive is regularly used in place of the Idg. Middle.

Remark. Regularly so used, but not always. Sometimes the Active form alone does duty for the Idg. middle, as Goth. ga-nisiþ 'he gets happily through, finds protection or health' as against Skr. násatē Gr. νέεται, Lith. sekū 'I follow' against Skr. sácatē Gr. ἕπεται (Lat. sequitur O.Ir. -sechethar), O.C.Sl. mīnjā 'I think' as against Skr. mānyatē (O.Ir. do-muiniur). In Gothic, verbs in -nan may represent the old Middle, as and-bundniþ 'he lets himself go, gets free, sets off' beside pass. and-bindada 'he is released' act. and-bindiþ 'he sets free'. There are more of the kind.

Gothic gavandja mik O.H.G. gi-went(i)u mih 'I turn myself towards, convert me, convertor, return'. Goth. skama mik O.H.G. scamēm mih 'I am ashamed'. Goth. ōg mis 'I fear' (for myself). O.H.G. furht(i)u mir, the same. Goth. gagimand sik 'they gather together', reflex. In Norse, about the 8th century, the pronoun affix itself firmly to the verb in a contracted shape (-sk for sik, dat. -ss for -ser). Then -sk and -ss were used for the 1st and 2nd persons as well as the third. However, in the oldest period we do find a 1st sing. -mk (for mik), as heito-mk 'I call myself' (where the ending -ō is kept, though it drops with heit 'I call'). This Norse type, much altered and obscured by sound-change and analogy, was also used as a passive. Compare Noreen, Aisl. und Anorw. Gramm. pp. 185 ff.; Paul's Grundriss I 518 ff.; Specht, Das Verbum Reflexivum und die Superlative im Westnord. (Acta Germ. III 1), Berlin 1891.

In Lithuanian -si (for sē*) became a universal reflexive, and coalesced with the verb, being used for all persons. It was originally only locative or dative, but afterwards came to be used for the accusative (III § 447 p. 385). -si at the end of words has now generally become -s. kelū'-s(i) 'I raise myself, get up' 2nd sing. kelē-s(i), and so forth. bijaũ-s(i) 'I fear'. džiaugiu'-s(i) 'I enjoy myself'. būrṇą prausiũ'-s(i) 'I wash my face'. Also būrṇą sáũ prausiũ'-s(i), like Gr. περιποιήσασθαι τι éavtῶ (§ 1084 p. 580). mūsza-s(i) 'they struck each other'. When a verb has a prefix, si stands between prefix and verb, as pa-si-kelu 'I raise myself, rise' (dial. also pa-si-kelũ-s). Compare Lett. bīstũ-s 'I fear' (in folk-poetry -si sometimes survives, and has not yet become -s); Pruss. griki-si 'they fall into sin' (III § 447 p. 385), with a variant -sin, obviously the accusative case, as etlāiku-sin 'let him abstain, forbear'. In O.C.Sl. we see the acc. sę answering to Pruss. -sin as a § 144 pp. 456 f., and § 156 pp. 470 ff. Their Suffixes, both formative and case-suffixes, have been described each in its proper place. It remains to pass them in general review, and to point out certain peculiarities which have not yet been touched upon, or others on which I have had reason to change my view.

1. VERBAL SUBSTANTIVES.

§ 1088. Nomina Actionis, which appear in more than one language as Infinitive, Supine, or Gerund.

(1) Root-Nouns. Dat. Skr. nir-ājē 'to drive out', Lat. ag-ī; in Greek this type may be represented by infinitives such as χεῖν-αι ἐνέγκν-αι (§ 504 p. 67 f.). See II § 162 pp. 489 f.

(2) -s- -es- between Root and Case-Suffix; this cannot be separated from the Noun-suffix -es- (-as- -s-) or -s- in the aorist. Dat. Skr. ji-ṣ-ē 'to conquer', doh-ās-ē 'to milk', Gr. δειξ-αι 'to show', Lat. da-r-ī (cp. loc. da-r-e ag-er-e). See II § 132 pp. 413, 414 f., 416, 418, § 162 p. 489 f., III § 251 p. 153, § 254 p. 155, § 272 p. 172, IV § 655 p. 190, § 824 p. 363.

(3) Suffix -men-. Dat. Skr. dā-man-ē Gr. δό-μεν-αι 'to give' Lat. 2nd pl. imper. da-min-ī; Skr. vid-mán-ē 'to learn' Gr. ῖδ-μεν-αι 'to know'. Loc. Skr. dhār-man 'to hold up' Gr. δό-μεν 'to give'. See II § 71 p. 165, § 117 p. 367, III § 251 p. 153, § 257 p. 158.

(4) Suffix -yen-. Dat. Skr. dā-ván-ē Gr. Cypr. δο-Feν-αι Keltic. Windisch, Zum irischen Infinitiv, Bezenberger's Beitr. II 72 ff. Loth, Le particip de nécessité en celtique, Mém. Soc. Ling. VI 66 ff.

Germanic. A. Denecke, Der Gebrauch des Infinitivs bei den ahd. Übersetzern des 8. und 9. Jahrh., Leipz. 1880. Paul, Zur Bildung des schwachen Präteritums und Participiums, Paul-Braune's Beitr. VII 136 ff.

Balto-Slavonic. W. Miller, Über den letto-slavischen Infinitiv, Kuhn-Schleicher's Beitr. VIII 156 ff. Schleicher, -tē (d. i. -tas) als Endung des Infinitivs im Litauischen, ibid. I 27 ff. Forssmann, Der Infinitiv im Ostromir'schen Evangelium, Festschr. des Protest. Gymn. zu Strassb. 1888 p. 245 ff. Miklosich, Das Participium praet. act. I (in Old Slovenian), Sitzungsber. d. Wiener Akad. LXXXI (1875) 83 ff. Idem, Das Partic. praes. act. auf ę statt auf y, ibid. 95 ff.

Att. δοῦναι 'to give'; Avest. vīd-van-ōi Gr. εἰδέναι for feid-fen-ai* 'to know'. Loc. Avest. rōiþ-wan 'to make run together', with which perhaps should be compared Greek Infinitives like as δοῦν = do-fen* (§ 1093. 4).

(5) -sen- i. e. s+en (cp. 2). Skr. loc. -san-i, e. g. sak-śan-i 'to be with'. With this probably goes the Gr. infin. type Ion. Att. φέρειν Dor. Lesb. El. φέρειν for φερε-εν*. See II § 114 p. 347.

(6) Suffix -ti-. Dat. Skr. pī-táy-ē 'to drink', see II § 100 p. 298, III § 249 p. 149, § 251 p. 153. The explanation of Avest. mrūtē is uncertain, see III § 249 p. 150, § 260 Rem. p. 161. Loc. Lith. dektē 'to burn', see III § 260 p. 161, Hirt, Idg. Forsch. I 27. The Lith. infinitive in -ti, as dū-ti 'to give', and the O.C.Sl. inf. in -ti as da-ti 'to give', are probably locative, standing for *-tēi or *-tei. But Lith. -ti may be derived from *-tī-ai (dative); this would become *-tīē, then *-tē, and lastly, because of the accent (cp. dat. δό-μεναι), -tī (cp. 2nd sing. verti for ver-tīē* § 991 p. 528) and would be related to Skr. -tay-ē (see above) as Pruss. -tw-ei to Skr. -tav-ē (7). And O.C.Sl. -ti may also be the Idg. locative -ē for -ēi (cp. Lith. dektē). See III § 260 p. 161, Hirt, Idg. Forsch. I 28, Streitberg, ibid. 271 und 289. It is wholly doubtful how we are to explain such Lith. infinitive forms as dū-tē; see III § 260 p. 161, Hirt, as cited pp. 27 f., Streitberg ibid. 271.

(7) Suffix -tu-. Dative Skr. dhā-tav-ē 'to place', Pruss. dā-tw-ei 'to give'. Locative supine Lat. da-tū O.C.Sl. da-tu 'to give', ground-form -tēu or -teu. Accusative Skr. dhā-tu-m Lat. sup. con-ditum Lith. sup. dē-tu (dē-tū, cp. opt. 1st pl. dētum-bime) O.C.Sl. sup. dē-tū from √dhē- 'place'. See II § 108 pp. 323 ff., III § 250 p. 152, § 261 p. 161 f.

(8) Suffix -o-. Accusative Skr. adverbial gerund abhy-ā-krādam 'approaching', Umbr. er-om Osc. ez-um 'esse'; Greek similar forms perhaps are aor. 2nd sing. imper. Syrac. λάβον 'take' Att. δείξον 'show' etc. (λάβον :

δαῖζον = Skr. -áj-ē Gr. χεῖ-αι : ji-ṣ-ē Gr. δεῖζαι = Skr. bhuj-yat : a-vyáth-iṣ-yāi). See II § 60 p. 114.

(9) There is a close connexion between the Aryan dative infinitive in -dhīai, as Skr. váha-dhyai 'to convey' (other suffixes with the same value are used, -dhēyāya -dhai and -dhē), and the Greek dative infinitive in -σθαι, as ἐπε-σθαι 'to follow'. See § 1089. 12, § 1093. 8, Bartholomae in Rhein. Mus. XLV 151 ff.

§ 1089. Aryan. Alongside of complete Infinitives we meet many other forms which stand on the line between infinitives and nomina actionis. Thus it is impossible to define sharply the infinitive in this branch. In what follows no attempt has been made to give complete lists, at least of what may be called Infinitives in posse.

But it is only in the older dialect that Sanskrit shows this rich variety of infinitive forms. The classical language knows only that in -tum (9).

(1) Root-Nouns, see § 1088. 1. Dative Skr. drś-ē Avest. dar's-ōi 'to see'. Locative Skr. drś-i 'to see'. Gen.-Abl. Skr. ā-tīd-as 'to pierce'. Accus. Skr. śúbh-am 'to shine, be magnificent', Avest. dām 'to place'.

(2) -s- -es- between Root and Case-Suffix; see § 1088. 2. Dat. Skr. ji-ṣ-ē 'to conquer' dōh-ās-ē 'to milk', Avest. av-aṇh-ē 'to help'. Gen.-Abl. Avest. aēnaṇh-ō 'to force'.

(3) Suffix -men-, see § 1088. 3. Dative Skr. dā-man-ē 'to give', Avest. stao-mainē 'to praise'. Locative Skr. dhār-man 'to hold up'; Loc. Skr. sávī-man-i 'to uplift', Avest. caš-mainē 'to behold' (so the new recension, in place of the form caš-mainē given in II § 117 p. 369).

Remark. The Avestic loc. forms caš-man etc., which we classed as infinitive in II § 117 p. 369 and III § 257 p. 158, comparing them with Cret. inf. δό-μην, are now denied to be infinitive at all by Bartholomae (Idg. Forsch. I 495 f.).

(4) Suffix -yen-, see § 1088. 4. Dative Skr. dā-ván-ē 'to give', Avest. vīd-van-ōi 'to know'. Locative Avest. rōiṣ-wan 'to cause to flow together'.

(5) -sen-, see § 1088. 5. Dative Avest. srao-šan-ē 'to hear'. Locative Skr. sak-śāṇ-i 'to be with'.

(6) Suffix -ter-, cp. Avest. dar'-prai, no. 11. Locative Skr. vi-dhartār-i 'to divide up, distribute'.

(7) Suffix -i-. Dative Skr. dyś-áy-ē 'to see'. See II § 93 p. 280, III § 249 p. 149, Bartholomae, Bezz. Beitr. xv 238.

(8) Suffix -ti-, see § 1088. 6. Dative Skr. pī-táy-ē 'to drink', Avest. ker'-tēē 'to complete'. Locative Skr. sātāi 'to attain' (III § 260 p. 159 f.). Instrumental Skr. at-i 'to help', Avest. fra-mrūiti 'to recite', see III § 249 p. 150, Bartholomae as cited 245 f. Gen.-Abl. Avest. darštōi-š 'to see'. Accusative Avest. astīm (= a-sth-ti-m*) 'to stand by'.

(9) Suffix -tu-, see § 1088. 7. Dative Skr. dhd-tav-ē 'to place' (cp. dātavāi no. 16). Gen.-Abl. Skr. dhd-tō-š 'to place'. Accusative dhd-tu-m 'to place', which, as has been said, is the only classical type of infinitive.

(10) Suffix -ino- -tyno-. Locative Avest. aiwi-šōi-pnē 'to inhabit', O.Pers. car-tanaiy 'to do'. See II § 69 p. 161.¹⁾ But these may be regarded as the dative from stems containing the suffix -ten-.

(11) Suffix -tro-. Dat. Avest. dar'-prai 'to hold fast' (cp. 6).

(12) Suffix -jo- (cp. -jo- as participial suffix § 1099. 3). Dat. Skr. bhuj-yāi 'to enjoy', also -yaj-yā 'to honour' like sakhyā, and -yājyāya 'to honour' like vākya (III § 246 p. 145), Avest. vaēd-yāi 'to recognise'. Skr. a-vyāth-iṣ-yāi beside the s-Aorist 2nd sing. mid. vyath-iṣ-ṭhas from vyath- 'to waver' (Bartholomae as cited, 229 f.). Loc. Avest. vereiḍyē 'to help on' (Bartholomae, as cited, 240). Acc. Skr. -vidya-m 'to find'.

The same suffix occurs in the Aryan inf. in -dhīai* (dative), as Skr. vāha-dhyāi Avest. vazaiḍyāi 'to convey, carry'. This form is a combination of the two noun-stems vaha- and dh-ya- ($\sqrt{dh}$), compare these other forms, also used as infinitive, vayō-dhēyāya vayō-dhāi 'for giving of strength' and śrad-dhē 'for cherishing of trust'. When vāhadhyāi had got associated with vāha-ti 'conveys, carries', Sanskrit formed iṣayā-dhyāi beside iṣayā-ti 'is strong', prṇā-dhyāi beside prṇā-ti 'fills', Avest. srāvayeidyāi beside srāvayeiti 'causes to hear', ver'n-dyāi beside ver'n-tē 'chooses' (§ 599 p. 142), mer'ng'-dyāi beside mer'nc-inti 'they destroy' (§ 626 p. 162) and the like. See § 1088. 9.

1) The connexion there assumed between the Latin gerund in -ndo and the Lithuanian participia necessitatis in -tina- now seems to me very dubious. See Remark to § 1103.

(13) Suffix -iā-. Acc. Avest. xwairyam 'to devour'.

(14) Suffix -t-īo- (cp. -t-īo- as a participial suffix § 1100. 4).
Dat. Skr. i-tyāi 'to go'.

(15) Suffix -uo-. Loc. Avest. dā-vōi 'to place, to give'.

(16) Suffix -teyo- (cp. Gr. διωκ-τέος § 1099. 4). Dat. Skr. dā-tavāi 'to give', also sār-tavā 'to stream' like sakhyā (III § 246 p. 145). See Bartholomae as cited 224 ff., where conjecture a is offered by way of explaining the double accent.

§ 1090. The Sanskrit Gerund (II § 108 p. 327) in -y-ā -ty-ā, as ā-gam-ya ā-ga-tya lit. 'with a coming' (III § 278 p. 182), and that in -tvā as śru-tvā lit. 'with a hearing' (II § 108 p. 327, III § 279 p. 183), are Instrumental. There is another group in -tvī, as bhū-tvī, which Bartholomae explains as locative (Bezz. Beitr. xv 227, 240, 241); a group in -tvāya, which is dative, e. g. dr̥ṣ-tvāya (see Bartholomae, pp. 239 f.); and an accusative "adverbial gerund" as abhy-ā-krāma-m 'approaching'.

§ 1091. Another class of verbal substantives in Sanskrit consists of the forms which are found in the well-known periphrasis with caḍdra ḍsa babhūva, the accusative in -ām, as vidām. See § 896, p. 445.

§ 1092. In Armenian, the Inf. has an l-suffix, as ta-l 'to give' from indic. ta-m. See II § 76 p. 202, Bugge, Etruskisch and Armenisch I 15.

§ 1093. Greek Infinitive.

(1) It is doubtful whether χεῖν-αι ἐνέγκ-αι and the like are the dative of Root-Nouns, to be placed with Sanskrit and Latin infinitives such as -áj-ē and ag-ī. See § 1088.1.

(2) Dative in -σ-αι, belonging to the s-aorist, e. g. δείξαι. See § 1088.2. Thess. aor. ὄν-γράφειν (Att. ἀνα-γράφαι) with ει = αι (I § 96 p. 90), and -ν added on the analogy of other infinitives.

(3) Suffix -men-. Dative -μεν-αι, loc. -μεν, e. g. δό-μεναι δό-μεν. See § 1088.3. By contamination of -μεν and -ειν (φέρειν) arose Rhod. -μειν, e. g. θέ-μειν. Cret. δό-μην is probably, like δό-μεν, Locative, with a strong-grade formative suffix; cp. Avest. loc. caš-maṇ, see III § 257 p. 158, IV § 1089 Rem. p. 599.

(4) Suffix -men-. Dative Cypr. δο-φειν-αι Att. δοῦναι 'to give', Att. ἀλῆναι 'to blow' for ἀλῆ-(F)εναι* (III § 251 p. 153). Forms like δοῦν (Theognis), ἐξ-εῖν (Oropus), Lesb. μεθ'ύσθην may perhaps be locative in -men like Avest. rōiḥ-wan. See § 1088.4.

(5) A Locative in -s-en* may perhaps explain Att. γέρεν for φερε-εν*. See § 1088.5.

(6) Doric and Arcadian infinitives in -ν, such as ἄρχεν ἀγαγέν, are obscure. See the Author's Gr. Gr.² § 146.5 p. 175.

(7) Perhaps the imperative in -ον (2nd sing.), as Syrac. λάβον (Att. λαβέ) Att. δείξον, are infinitive; see § 1088.8.

8) The medio-passive Infinitive in -σθαι is connected with the Skr. inf. in -dhyāi -dhēyāya -dhai -dhē, see § 1088.9, and § 1089.12. εἰδεσθαι for instance is the dative of a compound consisting of the noun stem φειδοσ- (εἶδοσ) + dhē- dh- √ dhē- 'place, do'; cp. ἐπεσ-βόλος and the like, II § 29 p. 50; the Skr. śrad-dh-ē corresponds exactly. After the second member of such compounds had sunk into a mere suffix, εἰδεσθαι was mentally analysed εἶδε-σθαι because such was the structure of the forms associated with it, εἶδε-ται and the rest. Then this supposed suffix -σθαι was added to other tense-stems, and became a type. It received its medio-passive meaning because this was the meaning of $-\mu\epsilon\theta\alpha -\sigma\theta\epsilon$ and similar personal endings with θ .

§ 1094. Italic Infinitive.

(1) Dat. of Root-Nouns, Lat. depon. pass. sequ-ī ag-ī, see § 1088. 1.

(2) Dat. in $-s-ī -r-ī = *-s-ai$, Lat. depon. pass. da-rī (O.Lat. dasī) fer-ri. Loc. in $-s-e -r-e -er-e = *-s-i *-es-i$, Lat. act. da-re es-se ag-ere. See § 1088. 2.

(3) In Old Latin, and later in poetic style, we meet with deponent or passive forms with the ending $-ier -rier$, having the same value as $-ī -rī$; e. g. ag-ier da-rier. In II § 162 Rem. 2 p. 490 f. an attempt is made to explain this type; and my attempt has been followed by others, those of Henry, Miodoński, and Miles (see footnote, page 595); compare further Stolz, Lat. Gr.² pp. 380 f. The origin of these forms is still not quite cleared up.

Remark. If we agree with Fr. Müller (Grundr. der Sprachwiss. III 2 p. 651) that $-er$ is the exponent of the deponent and passive, and that this was added to forms in $-ī$, we must suppose that it has been abstracted from forms like Osc. vincter 'vincitur' karanter 'pascuntur'. As pointed out in § 1082. 1, it is possible that the Latin language once had likewise these indicative forms in $-er$.

(4) An infinitive with formative suffix $-men-$ is probably to be seen in the Lat. 2nd pl. imper. in $-minī$, as da-minī sequi-minī. See II § 71 p. 165, § 117 p. 373, IV § 1088. 3.

(5) On the Lat. inf. fut. in $-tūrum$, as da-tūrum, see § 900 p. 448 and no. (7) below.

(6) An Infinitive type is also to be seen in forms like are in āre faciō, see § 578 p. 120, § 896 Rem. p. 445, § 899 p. 447.

(7) In Umbr.-Samn. the inf. pres. act. ends regularly in $-om$, as Umbr. er-om Osc. ez-um 'esse', Umbr. fašiu 'facere' stiplo 'stipulari' (for stiplā-om*), Osc. deikum 'dicere' moltaum 'multare' fatium 'fari'. See II § 60 p. 114, IV § 1088. 8, § 1103 Rem., Buck, Der Vocalismus der osk. Spr. 123, von Planta, Vocalismus der osk.-umbr. Dialekte 111 f., 272.

Postgate holds that the Latin inf. fut. in -tūrum represents the same type, and that its ending is -tū+erom*; see § 900 p. 448.

§ 1095. In Latin there are two Supines, in -tu-m (acc.) and in -tū (loc.), e. g. da-tum da-tū. The former occurs in Umbr., aseriato 'observatum' (-o(m) for -u(m), I § 49 p. 42). See § 1088. 7.

On the Latin Gerund with -ndo- see § 1103. 3.

§ 1096. Where other languages use the Infinitive, Irish has instead a group of nomina actionis which do not lose their noun character, and when an object is exprest, it is put in the dependent genitive (II § 156 p. 471). As a rule, each verb has some noun from the same root ready to be used as the infinitive; the strong verbs having nouns with the suffixes -men-, -ti-, -tu- and others (Zeuss-Ebel, Gr. Celt. 483 ff., Windisch, Bezz. Beitr. II 75, Ir. Gr. pp. 97 ff.), and the weak verbs usually nouns with -tu-, e. g. nertad 'a strengthening' beside nertiam 'I strengthen' (II § 108 p. 329). Most commonly these are used in the dative with do 'to', as Mid.Ir. do blith 'to grind, for grinding' (pres. melim) do nertad 'for strengthening'. This is as near as Irish ever comes to the infinitive of the other European languages.

For the infinitive in Britannic dialects, which differs from Irish only in unimportant particulars, see Zeuss-Ebel, Gr. Celt. 534 ff.

§ 1097. In Germanic there used to be in prehistoric times a noun with the suffix -ono- used in the accusative case as an infinitive; e. g. Goth. itan O.H.G. ezzan 'to eat' = ed-ono-m*, Goth. áihan O.H.G. eigan 'to possess, own'. These come very near the Skr. ádana-m neut. 'an eating', and Irish infinitive-nouns such as Mid.Ir. blegon 'a milking'. See II § 67 p. 153.

§ 1098. Balto-Slavonic. (1) -ti- forms the infn. stem in Lithuanian, where the infinitive ends with -ti or -tė, and in Old Church Slavonic, which has -ti; e. g. Lith. dė-ti dė-tė, O.C.Sl. dě-ti 'to place, lay'. There are also Lith. inf. in -tė (loc.), as dektė dėga 'it burns fiercely' (cp. Leskien, Bildung der Nomina im Lit., 404). See § 1088. 6.

(2) The Suffix -tu- occurs in the Supines Lith. dētū i. e. dē-tū (cp. opt. 1st pl. dētum-bime) O.C.Sl. dě-tū (acc.) and O.C.Sl. dětu (loc.), beside which observe Pruss. acc. dā-tun dā-ton and dat. dā-twei 'to give' used in the ordinary infinitive way (the more usual ending for this meaning is -t, as dā-t). See § 1088. 7.

(3) A verbal substantive in -ē is seen in O.C.Sl. vidē-achū 'I saw'. See § 903 p. 452.

2. VERBAL ADJECTIVES.

§ 1099. As already explained, no clear line can be drawn between Verbal Adjectives (Participle, Gerundive) and other Adjectives. I mention first such suffixes as are found in more than one language with verbal adjectives.

(1) -to-, part. perf., mostly passive. dhə-tó-s* 'placed, laid': Skr. -dhítá-s hitá-s Gr. θετό-ς Lat. crēditu-s Lith. dėta-s. Mid.Ir. do-breth 'datum est' Skr. bhṛ-tá-s 'borne'. Goth. vaiúhr-t-s Avest. varš-ta- 'done'. O.C.Sl. žę-tū 'cut, mown' Skr. ha-tá-s 'struck, killed'. See II § 79 pp. 218 ff., § 140. 3 and 4 p. 452 f.

(2) -no- -eno- -ono-, part. pret., mostly passive. Skr. pūr-ṇá-s 'filled', Alban. ṭene (Gegian dialect ṭan) 'said' for ṭons-no-* (G. Meyer, Kurzg. Alban. Gramm., p. 42 f., Alban. Stud. II 76, III 65 f.), O.H.G. gi-tān 'done' O.C.Sl. o-děnú 'done again, turned over', A.S. bund-en O.Icel. bund-enn Goth. bund-an-s O.H.G. gi-buntan 'bound', O.C.Sl. neš-enū 'borne'. See II §§ 65—67 pp. 138 ff., § 140. 3 p. 452.

(3) -iō-, part. fut. pass. (Gerundive). Skr. dṛś-ya-s dárś-īya-s 'conspiciendus, visible, worth seeing', Goth. un-qēp-s 'inexpressible' O.Sax. un-fōd-i 'insatiate' (cp. also Gr. ἀγ-ιό-ς 'venerandus' Lat. ex-im-īu-s 'eximendus, remarkable'). See II § 63 pp. 123 ff., § 140 p. 452.

(4) -teyo-, -tyo- -tuyo-, part. fut. pass. (Gerundive). Gr. διωκ-τεό-ς 'to be followed' for -τεφο-ς* (Hesiod φατειό-ς for qα-τεf-ιο-ς* ?), Skr. kar-tavyà-s 'faciendus' (implies kar-tava-*, cp. inf. in -tavāi § 1089. 16 p. 601), Skr. kár-tva-s kár-tuva-s 'faciendus'. See II § 61 p. 116, § 63 p. 127, § 64 p. 135, § 140 p. 452.

(5) -lo-. Armen. part. aor. act. and pass., gereal 'capiens', captus' from gerem 'capio', O.C.Sl. part. pret. act. II nes-lū 'having borne'. See II § 76 p. 212, § 140 p. 451.

(6) -ent- -nt-, part. pres., aor., and fut. act. Skr. bhārant- Gr. φέρων Lat. ferens Goth. batrand-s O.C.Sl. bery 'ferens', Lith. vėžė̃s 'vehens'. s-Aor. Skr. dhák-š-at- 'burning', Gr. πέψα- 'cooking'. sjo-Fut. Skr. dā-syá-nt- Lith. dial. dū-sius for -sians* High Lith. dū'sė̃s Gr. δώσων 'daturus'. See II §§ 125 f. pp. 394 ff., § 140 p. 451, IV § 491 p. 50 footnote.

(7) -mes- part. perf. act. Skr. ririk-vás- Gr. λελοιπ-ώς Lith. likė̃s 'having left', O.C.Sl. mlŭz-ŭ 'having milked'. See II § 136 pp. 438 ff., § 140 p. 451.

(8) -meno- -mono- -mno-, part. mid.-pass. Pres. Skr. yāja-māna-s Avest. yaza-mna- Gr. ᾰζό-μνο-ς from √jağ- 'honour', Pruss. po-klausi-manas (ī) nom. pl. fem. 'being heard'. Fut. Skr. dā-syá-māna-s Gr. δο-σό-μενο-ς from √dō- 'give'. Perf. Gr. δε-δό-μενο-ς. The suffix -ana-, which replaces this in Sanskrit with unthematic stems, e. g. pres. dā-dh-ana-s perf. ririk-ānā-s, may perhaps come from -ṇino-*. See II § 67 Rem. p. 152, § 71 pp. 163 ff., § 140 p. 451.

§ 1100. Aryan.

(1) -to-, part. perf. mostly passive. Skr. kṛ-tā-s Avest. ker'-ta- O.Pers. kar-ta- 'made', Skr. Avest. O.Pers. i-ta- 'gone'. See § 1099. 1.

(2) -no-, in Sanskrit, beside -to-, as pūr-ná-s = pūr-tí-s 'filled', bhinná-s 'split'. See § 1099. 2.

(3) -io-, part. fut. pass. (Gerundive), Skr. dṛś-ya-s dārś-īya-s Avest. dar's-ya- 'conspiciendus, visible'. See § 1099. 3.

(4) Skr. -t-ya- instead of -ya- (3) when the root ends in a short vowel, as kṛ-tya-s 'faciendus'. See II § 63 p. 123. Cp. infin. i-t-yaí beside bhuj-yaí § 1089. 12, 14 pp. 601 f.

(5) Skr. -ay-ya -āy-īya-, part. fut. pass., based upon the Infinitive in -āy, as śravāy-īya-s 'laudandus, praiseworthy'; next we have stuṣṭīya-s 'celebrandus, praedicandus' based upon the Infin. stu-ṣ-ē (§ 1089. 2 p. 599). Cp. Mod.H.G. der zu lobende, ein zu lobender from zu loben.

(6) Skr. -tva- -tuva- and -tavya-, part. fut. pass., kār-tva-s kār-tuva-s and kar-tavyā-s 'faciendus'. See § 1099. 4.

(7) Skr. -anīya-, part. fut. pass., derived from nomina actionis in -ana-m (II § 67 p. 150), as karaṇīya-s 'faciendus' from karaṇa-m 'a making', cp. gṛhamēdh-īya-s adj. of gṛhamēdhā-s 'house offering', tṛt-īya-s 'tertius' (II § 63 p. 122). These gerunds did not grow common until the later period.

(8) Skr. -ēnya- -ēniya-, part. fut. pass., as dṛṣṇīya-s 'conspiciendus', from an s-aorist yaṣ-ēnya-s 'cohibendus'. A suggestion may be offered that this form comes from the infin. with -ē; compare the remarks on -na- as a secondary suffix in Sanskrit, vol. II § 66 p. 142.

(9) -ent- -nt-, part. pres., fut., and aor. active. Skr. s-ánt- Avest. h-ant- 'being', Skr. vāha-nt- Avest. vaza-nt- 'vehens', fut. Skr. vak-ṣyā-nt- Avest. vax-ṣya-nt- from vac- 'to speak', s-aorist Skr. dhák-ṣ-at- from dah- 'to burn'. See § 1099. 6.

(10) -o-, part. pres. active. Skr. pra-mṛṇá-s 'destroying' with indic. -mṛṇá-ti, Avest. per'sō 'asking' with indic. per'sa-iti. See III § 198 p. 78.

(11) Skr. -u-, part. pres. active of s-Desideratives (§ 667 pp. 198 ff.), as dipsú-ṣ 'wishing to hurt' beside indic. dīpsa-ti, and from verbs in -āya-ti (§ 794 pp. 326 ff., § 795 pp. 330 f.), as bhājayú-ṣ from indic. bhājāya-ti. See II § 104 p. 314. With the latter participles compare those from denominative verbs, such as aśrayú-ṣ. II § 105 p. 319.

(12) Skr. -uka-, part. pres. active, formed from -u- (11) with -ka-, as śikṣu-ka-s 'sharing' (specially common in the Brāhmanas). See II § 88 p. 264.

(13) -ues-, part. perf. active. Skr. ci-kiṭ-vás Avest. ci-kiṭp-wah- beside indic. Skr. ci-kēt-a 'knows'. See § 1099. 7.

(14) Skr. -tavant-, part. perf. active, formed from -ta- (1) with -vant-, as krtá-vant- 'factum habens, πεποιηώς' (cp. the unique Avestic (vī-)ver'zda-vant- = ai. vyddhá-vant- from vardh- 'to help, exalt'). See II § 127 p. 406, Bartholomae, Stud. zur idg. Sprachg. I 14 ff.

(15) Skr. -māna- Avest. -mana- -mna-, part. mid.-pass. with thematic stems. Pres. Skr. bhāra-māna-s from bhar- 'to bear', Avest. bar'ze-mana- bar'ze-mna- from barz- 'to raise oneself, be high'. Fut. Skr. yak-ṣyá-māna-s from yaj- 'to honour' Avest. var'šya-mna- from varz- 'to work'. See § 1099. 8.

(16) Ar. -āna-, part. mid.-pass. with thematic stems. Pres. Skr. dá-dh-āna-s Avest. da-ḥ-āna- beside indic. Skr. dá-dhā-ti 'places'. Perf. Skr. ja-gm-ānā-s from gam- 'to go', Avest. vāver'z-āna- from varz- 'to work'. The ground-form of this -āna- is doubtful. See § 1099. 8.

§ 1101. Armenian.

(1) -lo-, part. aor., e. g. gereal 'capiens, captus', from the ç-Aorist gereceal (§ 905 * p. 453). See § 1099. 5.

(2) -aul (later -ōl -ol) forming nomina agentis and part. pres. act., e. g. geraul 'captor, capiens'. Bugge, Idg. Forsch. I 437 derives -aul from Idg. -a-tro- (II § 62 pp. 118 ff., § 119 pp. 376 ff.).

(3) Two part. fut., both with active and passive meaning, are made from the infinitive in -l + -i and -oç, as gereli and gereloç.

§ 1102. Greek.

(1) -to-, part. perf., mostly passive (but generally used as adj.) and gerundival (expressing capacity, possibility, or the like, II § 79 p. 220); e. g. δρα-τός 'skinned', λυ-τός 'capable of being set free'. See § 1099. 1.

(2) -teuo-, part. fut. passive, as διωκ-τέος 'fit to be pursued'. See § 1099. 4.

(3) -ent- -nt-, part. pres., aor., and fut. active, as λείπων λείψας λείψων from λείπω 'I leave'. See § 1099. 6.

(4) -ues- (-uet), part. perf. active, as λε-λοιπ-ώς. See § 1099. 7.

(5) -meno-, part. mid.-pass. from any mid.-pass. indicative;
 λειπό-μενο-ς λιπό-μενο-ς λειψά-μενο-ς λειψό-μενο-ς λε-λειμ-μένο-ς.
 See § 1099. 8.

§ 1103. Italic.

(1) -to-, part. perf., mostly passive (for the use of this participle with deponents see II § 79 p. 219 f.). Lat. scrip-tu-s, Umbr. screihtor pl. 'scripti' Osc. scriftas pl. 'scriptae'. See § 1099. 1.

(2) Lat. -tūro-, part. fut. active, as datūru-s. Possibly developed out of the inf. in -tūrum. See § 900 p. 448.

(3) Ital. -endo-, part. fut. passive (Gerundive.) Lat. ferun-du-s ferendu-s faciundu-s faciendu-s, juvandu-s, videndu-s, Umbr. an-ferener gen. 'circumferendi' pihaner gen. 'piandi', Osc. úpsannam 'operandam'. In the explanation suggested in vol. II § 69 p. 161 f. (cp. Bartholomae, Stud. idg. Spr. II 96) I went far astray, chiefly because the Lith. participles in -tina-s, which I compared, are probably analogical and belong only to Balto-Slavonic (§ 1106. 3). Of the explanations which I have met with in the meantime, those of Thurneysen, Conway, and Dunn (for references see footnote to page 596) in my opinion none will do.

Remark. Weisweiler's investigations (for which see same page) make it extremely probable that 'something to be done' is really the original meaning of this Gerundive; and that the Gerund (which is not found in our records of Umbrian or Samnite) is a mere outgrowth of the gerundive, such a phrase as virtūs colenda est suggesting colendum est (similarly patriae defendendae causa suggested dēfendendī causā) as an impersonal construction with similar meaning (colitur = cultiō fit, cultum est = cultiō facta est, hence colendum est = cultiō facienda est). And since the other Idg. languages, so far as we know, have nothing which we can compare with the suffix of the Italic gerundive, it becomes probable a priori that the gerundive grew up in Italy, and was based upon the infinitive of purpose, just as Mod.H.G. der zu lobende, ein zu lobende comes from zu loben, and Skr. śravāy-ya-s 'laudandus' from inf. śravāi* (§ 1100. 5 p. 102). On this I base the following conjecture.¹⁾

1) This was written before I learnt that Pott (Et. Forsch. II¹ 239 and II² 517) and Schröder (Kuhn's Zeitschr. XIV 354) had already analysed ferendus into feren-do-, and that in the final part of it, -do-, they saw the Mod.H.G. zu (Engl. to). But their view of the first part of feren-do- is untenable.

In pr. Italic it was customary to combine the accus. infinitive in -m, such as Umbr. fero(m) fasiu(m), with the postposition dō* or de* 'to' (cp. Lat. en-do indu, dō-nicum dō-nec, Avest. vaesman-da 'to the house', Gr. ἡμέτερον-δε ἡμέτερον δῶ, O.Ir. dō 'to' A.S. tō O.H.G. zuo and zi 'to', see III § 223 Rem. 3 p. 102, Fick, Wtb. 4 457), the combination meaning the same as our to with the infinitive. -md- must have become -nd- in pr. Ital. (cp. O.Lat. quan-de Umbr. pāne and the like, I § 207 p. 174); this isolated the inf. + postposition from the ordinary inf. in -m. Then these forms ending with dō or de were made the foundation for derivative adjectives in the o-declension, on the same principle as subjugu-s, anteno-vissimu-s, perfidu-s come from sub jugō, ante novissimum, per fidum (II § 15 p. 31, § 35 p. 62).

The explanation of the forms plendu-s videndu-s flandu-s arandu-s depends upon our view of the Umbr.-Samn. infinitive (Osc. fatium 'fari' censau(m) 'censere') Umbr. stiplo(m) 'stipulari' — -o(m) contracted from -ā-om). Firstly, these may be transformations of -ē-m and -ā-m on the lines of the thematic conjugation. In view of all that has been said in § 487 p. 41 f. §§ 578 ff. pp. 118 ff., and of infin. forms like Avest. dqm 'to place, give' (§ 1089.1 p. 599), plē-m* vidē-m* flā-m* arā-m* in the same sense as plēre, vidēre etc. would seem nothing strange. In Lat. plendu-s arandu-s Osc. úpsannam, then, we should see these older infinitive forms unchanged. For Lat. rotundu-s (beside rota) rubicundu-s (beside rubicāre Rubicō from rubico-) it would be needful to assume inf. rotō-m rubicō-m* (cp. aegrō-tu-s); rotundu-s for rotōndo-s* like latrunculu-s for latrōn-culu-s*. And the agreement in form between arandu-s videndu-s and part. pres. arant- vident-, whilst in ferondo-s* (ferundu-s) the vowel did not agree with ferent-, produced very soon, indeed in pr. Italic, the re-formate ferendo-s. Secondly: it is possible that even in pr. Italic the Oscan forms fatium censau(m) existed, in the shape -ē-jom* -ā-jom* (cp. 1st sing. pres. in -ē-jo* -ā-jo*),¹⁾ and so there were also in use -ē(i)on-do- -ā(i)on-do- (cp. Lat. faciundu-s beside Umbr. fasiu(m) 'facere'). Then the relation of ferondo-* to the participial stem feront-* (cp. eunt- etc. II § 126 p. 401) produced not only ferendo- following ferent- but also arando- videndo- following arant- vident-. In this case a simple explanation is possible for rotundu-s rubicundu-s.²⁾ They would go with rotāre rubicāre, and would come regularly from rotā(i)ondo-* rubicā(i)ondo-* through the intermediate stage of rotōndo-*

1) This would allow a simple explanation for Umbr. subocau in the formula sobocau suboco 'I entreat entreatingly'. It would be inf. like Lith. dektē in dektē dēga 'it burns up bright' (op. § 473 Rem. p. 17 f.). But it would be perhaps not acc., for -ā-jo-m*, but instr., for -ā-jo* ('with weeping'). For the ending of the 1st sing. subocau see § 980 p. 520.

2) What is gained by connecting the group in -cundu-s with the Greek κ -perfect I cannot see (op. Weisweiler, p. 41; Johansson, Beitr. Gr. Spr., 91 f.).

rubicōndo-* (cp. 1st sing. rotō for rotā-(i)ō*) — rotundus would mean 'that which goes rolling, rollable'. These then will have kept the older form of the infinitive more exactly than rotandu-s rubicandu-s, because they so soon became simple adjectives.

Of these two explanations I prefer the second.

The Lat. adj. in -bundu-s cannot be directly connected with the b-future, as is shewn by furibundu-s (beside furere) pavibundu-s (beside parere) and like forms. If we are not to start from nouns with the suffix -bho- -bhā- (II § 78 pp. 216 ff.), the best thing is to suppose that they are compounds containing -bhq-o- (from √bheq- 'to be come, be', cp. Skr. d-bhv-a-m). We then compare the Skr. vāha-dhyāi and similar compounds (§ 1089. 12 p. 600).

(4) -ent- -nt-, part. pres. active. Lat. prae-sēns Osc. prae-sentid 'praesente', Lat. sedēns Umbr. zeřef serse 'sedens'. See § 1099. 6.

(5) The part. perf. active with -ues- must have been living in Umbro-Samnite, because it was used to make the future perfect, as Umbr. dersicust 'dixerit'; cp. also Osc. sipus 'sciens'. See II § 136 p. 445, IV § 872 p. 421, § 1099. 7. p. 606.

§ 1104. Keltic.

(1) The -to- of the part. perf. (passive), which is contained in the pret. passive, e. g. Mid.Ir. do-breth 'datum est', was exchanged for -te -the, which consist of -to- + -io-; e. g. O.Ir. brithre brethe 'brought'. Cymric had in place of -to- the ending -(e)tic i. e. -t-īco-. See II § 79 p. 232 f., IV § 1099. 1.

(2) O.Ir. -ti -thi,¹⁾ part. fut. passive ("participle of necessity"); e. g. messi 'iudicandus' carthi carthi 'amandus'. Mod.Cymr. cara-dwy Cornish cara-dow.

Remark. The last who has discussed this participle is Ascoli (Sprachwiss. Briefe, 76 ff.); but he comes to no definite conclusion. Thurneysen writes: "I know no plausible explanation. Ir. -thi admits of no ending with orig. -os or -ā. British has for final the diphthong which has developed in stem-syllables from ei (or from ē in borrowed words), e. g. O.Bret. in-aatoe, a gloss, 'ineundum' (√ag-) Mod.Cymr. caradwy 'amandus'. The suffix perhaps originally had ā before the dental even in primary verbs, cp. Brit. aga-toi*, Ir. bethi for biathi* 'to cut' beside part. passive bithi (this word bethi I have wrongly explained in Kuhn's Zeitschr. xxxi 92), for-canti 'to teach' for canathi*. Its

1) The supposed ending -tī -thī is due to a scribe's blunder, dēnti 'faciendum' being written dēntī.

connexion with the stem of the part. passive, which came about in Irish with primary verbs, must then be secondary; it is not carried out in Old Irish. We should arrive at something like -ateivis* as the original ending."

§ 1105. Germanic.

(1) -to-, part. perf., mostly passive, in Weak Verbs and those Strong ones which had a weak preterite (§ 907 p. 454). Goth. salbō-p-s O.H.G. gi-salbō-t 'anointed', Goth. varh-t-s O.H.G. gi-worht -worht 'worked'. See § 1099.1.

(2) -no- -eno- -ono-, with the same function as -to- (1), only in Strong Verbs. O.H.G. gi-tān 'done', O.H.G. bund-en O.Icel. bund-enn Goth. bund-an-s O.H.G. gi-buntan 'bound' (II § 65 p. 138, § 67 pp. 151, 153). See § 1099.2.

(3) -io-, part. fut. passive, seems established for the earlier periods of Germanic as a participial suffix, e. g. Goth. un-qēp-s 'inexpressible', O.Sax. un-fōdi 'insatiate'. See § 1099.3.

(4) -nt-, part. pres. active. Goth. kiusa-nd-s O.H.G. chiosanti 'trying, choosing' (II § 126 p. 402). See § 1099.6.

§ 1106. Balto-Slavonic.

(1) -to- part. perf., mostly passive. Living in all classes of verbs in Lithuanian, as sūk-ta-s 'turned'. In O.C.Sl. however its use is circumscribed; an example of it is žē-tū 'chopped, hewn, mown' (II § 79 p. 236). See § 1099.1.

(2) -no- -eno-, with the same function as -to- (1), and in O.C.Sl. much the commoner; e. g. danū 'given' nes-enū 'borne, carried' (II § 67 p. 151, 154). See § 1099.2.

(3) A part. fut. passive is formed in Lithuanian and Slavonic from the part. in -to- (1), and in Slavonic from that in -no- -eno-, the further suffix used for this purpose being -yno- Lith. -ina- O.C.Sl. -ino-; e. g. Lith. sūk-tina-s 'fit to be turned' O.C.Sl. pri-jetīnu 'acceptable, pleasant', O.C.Sl. ne-iz-d-reč-enīnū 'inexpressible'. On consideration of what Leskien says in his Bildung der Nomina im Lit., 255 f., I now believe that the comparison of Lith. -tina- with the O.Pers. infin. in -tanaīy and the Lat. gerundive in -ndo- (II § 69. 2 pp. 161 f.) must be given up.

(4) O.C.Sl. -lo-, so-called part. pret. active II, e. g. nes-lŭ in neslŭ jesmŭ 'I have borne' (§ 903 p. 452). See § 1099. 5.

(5) O.Preuss. -mana-, part. pres. passive: madlas poklausimanas ast 'the prayers are heard'. See § 1099. 8.

(6) -mo-, part. pres. passive in Baltic and Slavonic; also part. fut. passive in Baltic. Lith. vėža-ma-s O.C.Sl. vezo-mŭ 'being carried', Lith. fut. vėdzi-ma-s. Add the so-called Lith. part. pres. active II in -da-ma-s, as sūk-dama-s 'turning', which is closely connected with the imperf. -davau (§ 908 p. 455) and must originally have been middle (deponent). Compare Umbr. persnih-mu 'precamino', II § 72.1 p. 166.

(7) -ent- -nt-, part. pres. and fut. active. Lith. vėžās O.C.Sl. vezy 'vehens', Lith. fut. dialectic vėszius for veszians*, High-Lith. vėszės (O.C.Sl. byšašteje byšęšteje 'futurum, τὸ μέλλον'). See § 1099. 6.

(8) -ues-, part. perf. active. Lith. milž-ęs O.C.Sl. mlŭz-ŭ 'having milked'. In Lith. also in the so-called part. imperf. act. in -davęs, belonging to the indic. in -davau (§ 908 p. 455). See § 1099. 7.
